SIX MEN KILLED, 27 MISSING AND 29 ARE INJURED IN FIRE IN ST. LOUIS ATHLETIC CLUB

Missouri Athletic Club Building Is Destroyed By Flames.

Woman in Taxicab Gives Alarm--Many Injured Jumping.

General Conflagration Is Threatened--Cause of Fire Unknown.

LITTLE HOPE FOR TWENTY-FOUR MISSING.

St. Louis, Mo., March 9.—Six persons are known to be dead and their bodies have been recovered and twenty-four are missing as a result of the Missouri Athletic club fire here today. These figures are given in a statement issued by a committee of the club which is seeking a record of every man known to have been registered at the club last night. For the twenty-four missing hope practically has been abandoned.

St. Louis, Mo., March 9.—Six are known to be dead, 26 or 27 are unaccounted for and it is feared perished, and about 29 were injured as a result of a fire which destroyed the seven-story building occupied by the Missouri Athletic club early today. The loss is estimated at more than $35,000.

The fire, which broke out about 2 o'clock this morning, still was burning at noon, and Fire Chief Swingley said it would be unsafe to send anyone into the ruins to search for the missing until tonight or tomorrow.

The building was owned by the Boatmen's Bank, which occupied part of the first floor. The bank opened temporary quarters today in a building four blocks away. In the vaults of the burning building, bank officials said, are $1,349,000 in currency and $27,000 in coin. This money, it is believed, is intact.

The building was fully covered by insurance. The loss to adjoining buildings is estimated at $16,000.

THREE KILLED IN CLARKSBURG FIRE

One Man's Death Due to Turning Hose on Escape Rope.

Clarksburg, W. Va., March 9.—Three men are believed to have been killed and three fatally injured in a fire which early today destroyed the Lowe building and seriously damaged the 10-story building of the Union National bank of Clarksburg. The cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

Marsh Cannon, district manager of the Philadelphia Gas company of Pittsburg, and Robert Hughill were trapped on the sixth floor of the bank building while endeavoring to save important papers for the company. They dropped a rope out of the window and had reached the fifth story when water, thrown by one of the engine companies, froze on the rope and they slipped off, dropping to the sidewalk. They will probably die.

Another man jumped from the top story of the Lowe building and was crushed. The dead are believed to have been burned with the Lowe building.

Vancouver, B. C., March 9.—The Canadian Pacific steamship Empress of Asia arrived today with 3,500,000 Chinese eggs consigned to points in the United States.

OFFERS SOLUTION OF THE IRISH PROBLEM

PREMIER ASQUITH.

FEARS WOMEN MAY HURT HIM

Sir Edward Carson Agrees to Hear Suffragette Plea.

Sylvia Pankhurst's Rearrest Starts Riot--Palace to Be Besieged.

London, March 9.—Sir Edward Carson, leader of the Ulster unionists in the fight against home rule, today surrendered to the militant suffragettes, who had been laying siege to his residence for several days. They had announced that they were determined to see him and obtain from him a promise of woman suffrage in case the north of Ireland could receive a government of its own.

Sir Edward has been ill but had recovered sufficiently today to attend parliament. Rather than risk bodily injury he sent out word at noon that he would receive the deputation before leaving for the house of commons.

Sylvia Pankhurst Arrested.

Suffragettes again engaged in battle with the police yesterday on their favorite field, Trafalgar Square, and in a pouring rain. The arrest of Sylvia Pankhurst for the sixth time under the "cat and mouse law" precipitated the conflict. In addition to Miss Pankhurst, seven women and three men were arrested.

Among those taken into custody was Miss Zelie Emerson of Jackson, Mich. Miss Emerson has been arrested several times for participation in suffragette demonstrations, and recently there were rumors that steps were being taken by the government to expel her from the country as an undesirable alien. Replying Feb. 26 to a question put in the house of commons as to whether this report was true, Reginald McKenna, the home secretary, declared that no such steps were being taken. He added, however:

"If Miss Emerson again commits an offense bringing her within the provisions of the alien act, the question of applying to the court for a recommendation for her expulsion will be considered."

Captured in Taxicab.

Sunday afternoon several women and men marched in procession to the square to attend a meeting of the Men's Federation of Woman Suffrage. Sylvala Pankhurst, who for some weeks had been hiding from the police, arrived in the square in a taxicab to deliver a speech, but detectives surrounded the cab and started it for Holloway jail before the militants realized what had happened.

When it was discovered that Miss Pankhurst had been abducted, the militants surged toward the government buildings in Whitehall, but a cordon of mounted police barred their way. Some of the women assailed the police with short sticks, but the marchers were soon dispersed.

Having received a refusal of an audience of King George, Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, has addressed another letter to the monarch. In this letter she declares her intention to lead a delegation to Buckingham palace to see the king.

Women threw circulars and attempted to speak in two theaters filled with fashionable audiences, but ushers dragged them out.

PICK HANDLES AND CLUBS FOR I. W. W.

Three Hundred Deputies Fight 600 From Kelley's "Army."

Sacramento, Cal., March 9.—Three hundred deputy sheriffs, armed with pickhandles, fought with double that number of Industrial Workers of the World, armed with clubs, in an attempt today to drive "General" Kelley's "army of unemployed" off the Southern Pacific right-of-way. A score of men were injured before the campers were routed.

CHOP ULSTER OFF IRELAND?

Asquith Suggests Nation-Wide Poll on Home Rule Extension.

Would Provide for Elimination of Ulster for Six Years.

London, March 9.—Premier Asquith today laid before the house of commons his proposed concessions to Ulster in regard to its position under the Irish home rule bill.

The announcement was to the effect that before the bill became operative, a poll should be taken of the parliamentary electors of each county, to decide whether there should be an exclusion of the Ulster counties from the provisions of the bill for a period of six years from the first meeting of the new Irish parliament. If the majority of the voters were in favor of this scheme, the county would automatically be excluded for the prescribed period.

Rush to Hear Premier.

For many years no such rush of members of the house of commons to secure seats for a debate had been seen as was witnessed today. All were eager to listen to Premier Asquith's announcement statement on the Irish home rule controversy.

Only on occasions when the king himself has opened parliament have such throngs gathered in the vicinity of parliament square, where they hailed with welcoming cheers the statesmen of the opposing political parties on their arrival.

The doors of the house were opened at 8 o'clock. Twenty members of parliament were waiting inside. Within two hours every seat in the house not reserved for members of the cabinet and under secretaries of state had been appropriated. Those persons holding tickets for the public gallery also appeared early on the scene.

CAN PRACTICE BEFORE U. S. SUPREME COURT

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 9.—Alfred Jaques of Duluth was today admitted to practice before the United States supreme court, on motion of Representative Hammond.

BURY VANDERBILT AT NEW DORP HOME.

Washington, March 9.—Funeral services for George W. Vanderbilt were held here today and his body was taken to New Dorp, Staten Island, N. Y., for burial at the old Vanderbilt home. The services were simple and brief and only close friends and relatives attended.

Senor Riano, the ambassador from Spain, C. D. Beadle, Arthur Willett, Gifford Pinchot, Overton Price, Henry White, Herbert Putnam, Charles D. Walcott, secretary of the Smithsonian institution and Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, were honorary pallbearers.

STREETS BLOW UP IN GOTHAM

Trolley Car Derailed, Basements Flooded, Windows Broken.

Flames Pierce Pavement on Fifth Avenue and Broadway.

New York, March 9.—The bursting of a 48-inch water main and a subsequent series of explosions of gas mains in the heart of the city Sunday lifted a trolley car from the tracks; shook buildings and flooded streets and cellars. Seven persons, passengers of the trolley car, were injured slightly.

All this occurred at the point where Fifth avenue and Broadway cross at Twenty-third street. The shoring in the new subway excavation is believed to have weakened the water main that broke. Two hours later traffic was resumed after fire engines had pumped out much of the water.

Blew Street Car Off Track.

Many cars had passed when one containing twenty persons stopped for a moment. As the motorman threw on the current a spark ignited escaping gas, it is believed, and the first explosion occurred. The car remained upright after being blown into the air and alighting on its wheels.

Three other explosions occurred at intervals, and thousands of persons fled to points of safety. Flames shot high into the air, and burned above the street level for several hours. The retaining wall of the fourteen-story Fifth avenue building bulged, and other buildings trembled, windows breaking in nearly every structure west to Sixth avenue. Fissures appeared in the street surface.

JULIA MARLOWE NOT IN HOSPITAL

Baltimore, Md., March 9.—Reports that Miss Julia Marlowe, the actress, was ill at a hospital here, were proved to be untrue today, when it was learned that Miss Marlowe was at her home in New York.

CHARLEMAGNE TOWER CREW LAND SAFELY.

New York, March 9.—The eighteen members of the crew of the Charlemagne Tower, Jr., adrift in a longboat, landed safely late Saturday afternoon at the Cedar Creek, N. J., life-saving station.

FORGER IS KILLED RESISTING ARREST.

Omaha, Neb., March 9.—G. H. Hooper, stock broker, 28 years old, was killed Sunday in resisting two detectives who were arresting him on a charge of uttering false checks. Hooper was wanted in many cities on forgery charges.

MILLIONAIRE SAYS SHE WOULD BLACKMAIL HIM

GENEVIEVE HANAN.

San Francisco, Cal., March 9.—Genevieve Hanan, or Mrs. Arthur N. Harris is the woman behind a charge under the white slave law made against J. Parker Whitney of New York and San Francisco. She says that while she was in New York she met Whitney and agreed to travel with him. She went with him to several places, landing finally in California. There he developed a preference for another girl, and Genevieve went to the district attorney and charged him with a crime under the Mann law. Meantime Genevieve had met and married rather hurriedly Arthur N. Harris of El Paso, but two days after their wedding she left him and she claims it was because she discovered that his divorce from his first wife was incomplete. Whitney, who is wealthy, says the case is a "hold-up."

Review of Case Is Denied Ryan and Twenty-three Others.

Nothing But Pardon Can Keep Them From Prison.

Washington, March 9.—The supreme court today refused to review the conviction in the "dynamiting cases" of Frank M. Ryan and twenty-three other members of the Iron Workers' union. Only a pardon now can keep the convicted men from the penitentiary.

Thirty-nine Convicted.

Leavenworth, Kan., March 9.—Thirty-nine men were found guilty in the Federal court in Indianapolis of conspiracy to transport explosives illegally, and sentenced to the Federal penitentiary here on Dec. 30, 1912. They were tried on evidence furnished by government agents who investigated the destruction of the property by explosions over an area stretching from Boston to Los Angeles. Immediately after sentence was pronounced six of the thirty-nine were given their liberty on suspended sentences. The other thirty-three were checked in at the penitentiary here on New Year's day, 1913.

Thirty-two of the men imprisoned, all save Herbert S. Hockin of Detroit, former secretary of the Iron Workers' union, appealed and the United States circuit court of appeals in Chicago granted them a writ of supersedeas on Jan. 3, 1913, and ordered their release on bonds of $10,000 for each year of sentence imposed. In the course of 1913 two of the thirty-two were paroled, and all save six of the remaining thirty were released from time to time as they furnished the required bonds.

New Trial for Six.

On Jan. 6 last, the United States circuit court of appeals in Chicago granted a new trial for six of the thirty, and denied new trials to the remaining twenty-four.

The names of the thirty-nine men originally convicted, their sentences and the disposition of their cases follow:

Seven years—

Frank M. Ryan, head of the iron workers' union, released from the penitentiary on bond Feb. 2, 1913.

Six years—

Washington Expects Governor to Make Full Report.

Laredo, Tex., March 9.—The mutilated body of Clemente Vergara, the Texas ranchman lured into Mexico by Mexican Federals, was secretly brought to the American side of the Rio Grande river early Sunday by a mysterious party of men.

Departing as silently as they had crossed the river, the men who disinterred the body from the Hidalgo, Mex., cemetery and bore it five miles over a rough trail to American territory, left no trace of their identity. Their act definitely established that Vergara was executed.

Vergara had been shot twice through the head and once through the neck. The skull was crushed as though from the blow of a rifle butt and the charred left hand was taken to indicate here that he had been tortured before being killed.

American Consul Garrett of Nuevo Laredo, Mex., and Capt. J. J. Sanders of the Texas Rangers, were the only persons on the American side who were told of the intended mission to Hidalgo. They went to the scene, forty-five miles up the Rio Grande from Laredo, found the body, as they had been told they would, and last night had it brought back to Laredo, pending an investigation the state will have made.

RIOTS ATTEND THE ELECTION IN SPAIN.

Madrid, Spain, March 9.—Disturbances in connection with the general parliamentary elections held yesterday in Spain are reported from various places.

A riot at Bonagalbon in the province of Malaga resulted in the wounding of two policemen and a score of citizens. One policeman is missing and probably was killed.

In the city of Bilbao also disorders occurred. The chief of Police and a number of rioters received severe injuries.

Refugee at San Francisco Recounts Flight From Mexico.

Villa Will Not Kill Terrazas, But Will Expose Him.

San Francisco, Cal., March 9.—Leincio Figueroa, an American refugee, is here today with his wife and five children, having arrived on the Pacific Mail steamer Newport from Mexico, with a story of persecution and brutality at the hands of Mexican Federals. He said he had been stripped of mining properties at Jalisco valued at $100,000, and that he was compelled to pay a ransom for the return of his 17-year-old son, who had been captured by Federal soldiers.

Figueroa and his family boarded the Newport at Manzanillo after they had found temporary refuge with the American consul at Guadalajara. Their clothing was in rags, he said. Their condition was relieved by the passengers on the Newport, who made up a purse, and the women did needlework to supply the family with clothing.

Supported Madero.

Figueroa related that he had come under the displeasure of the Huerta regime because he was a supporter of the Madero administration. He said that after he had been subjected to many abuses he learned that a price had been put on his head and he was to be assassinated.

"I fled with my family overnight," he said, "and when the soldiers arrived they burned my home and left my mining property a waste.

"A brutal captain in command of one company tried to make a captive of my daughter, Guadalupe, and force her into a mock marriage. She escaped by a narrow margin. We subsequently learned that soldiers were disguised as civilians and pretended to be friends trying to aid us. For days we were compelled to hide in the

TROOPS CHARGE ROMAN STRIKERS

Rome, March 9.—Squadrons of cavalry charged and dispersed crowds of turbulent strikers in the streets of Rome today, wounding several of the demonstrators.

The actions of the troops followed rioting between the strikers and police after an immense demonstration on the Piazza del Popolo. In these disturbances several persons were badly injured.

The ostensible reason for the strike was to protest against changes recently introduced in the hospitals. The authorities, however, believed the movement to be the outgrowth of a desire of the leaders of the workmen to test the strength of their organizations.

The entire garrison and police force were kept in readiness. Besides these, 15,000 men were brought in from the provinces. Every strategical point in the city was occupied with soldiers and cavalry patrolled the main thoroughfares.

Votes for Women

Ever since the world began, Man has considered himself the "Lord of Creation." Centuries of Evolution and Revolution have brought about conditions which have caused this "proud monarch" to pause and think a bit. The old order is changing. Yesterday women humbly asked—today they demand. A demand continuous and just will be recognized. Women! Insist that your rights be respected, that the "head of the house" be amenable to advice (and discipline). Demand that Friend Husband order not "just coal," but Pittsburgh PITTSTON, the Guaranteed Hard Coal. "Just Coal" may satisfy Friend Husband, who is away all day, but not women folks, who have to endure the annoyance and discomfort of inefficient fuel. Pittsburgh's PITTSTON is the woman's friend and helper. Morning, noon and night it does honest work. It will meet any emergency, whether it is 30 above or 30 below. It costs not a penny more than the ordinary hard coal. Pittsburgh's guarantee protects you from inefficient fuel and short weights.

INTERESTING PEOPLE WHO ARE DOING INTERESTING WORK HERE

No. 1.

PROF. N. F. CHAPMAN.

This is the man who sees that you have a fresh egg every morning on your breakfast table and is trying to have every hen in Minnesota lay two eggs to every one being laid now. He is the man who makes the Minnesota hens work overtime.

In other words N. F. Chapman is state poultry inspector, lecturer, and promoter of chicken culture in connection with the agricultural college of the University of Minnesota. He will be one of the lecturers on poultry subjects at the short course being offered at the Northeastern Demonstration Farm and Experiment station.

One of Mr. Chapman's hobbies is to persuade every farmer in Minnesota to raise 100 hens and keep that number the year round. By better care and developing a better grade of poultry, he says every hen in the state will lay two eggs in place of one being laid now.

Mr. Chapman's work is in all parts of the state, and he travels almost continuously, lecturing and giving demonstrations. He is trying to promote a boys' and girls' club in every farming comunity and teach the young the importance of poultry raising. The price of meat, he says, will not come down as beef raising is on the decline, and he would have eggs and poultry substituted for meats.

FARMERS GO TO SCHOOL

Seventy-five Are Registered for the First Short Course.

Lectures Will Cover a Wide Range of Practical Subjects.

Three counties, St. Louis, Lake and Carlton, were represented today at the opening of the first annual short course in agriculture, at the Northeast demonstration farm and experiment station of the University of Minnesota.

About seventy-five students residing near the demonstration farm and twenty-five from other points registered today.

The most progressive of Northeastern Minnesota farmers registered for the course said M. J. Thompson, who was in charge of the enrollment. Practically all of the students were from the farms, and are eager to gain knowledge as to how to better develop their land and raise better stock and crops. Many of them he says will take longer courses later.

The work today consisted mostly of registration although class sessions were held for those who were enrolled in time. The morning and afternoon sessions will consist largely of laboratory work and other forms of class work while most of the lectures will occur in the evening.

The two-weeks' course will cover a wide range of subjects. Practical work in poultry raising, fruit growing, stock raising, care of the soil, and other lines of work will be followed.

The Woodland car will be met daily at 8 a. m. at Hardy street. Persons missing this car are directed to go to the end of the line which is two and a quarter miles from the station. Guide boards will direct the way.

The Instructors.

The instructors will be of the best that can be furnished by the agricultural college of the University of Minnesota and St. Louis county. In addition to regular instructors there will be lectures on important topics. The lecturers will include Dean A. F. Woods, and others.

The work today included work on "Farm Development" and "Farm Planning Practicums" with Fred Ward and M. J. Thompson in charge. The program for the remainder of the week follows:

Tuesday, March 10.

9 a. m.—"Brushing and Logging Land," "Dairy Farm Management," A. J. McGuire.

1:30 p. m.—"Land Clearing," A. J. McGuire and assistants; land clearing practicums.

7:30 p. m.—"Evolution of a N. E. Minnesota Farm (illustrated), M. J. Thompson.

Wednesday, March 11.

9 a. m.—"Units of Soil Fertility," M. J. Thompson; "Soil Management," A. B. Hostetter; "Simple Principles in Drainage," E. K. Coe.

1:30 p. m.—Soils and drainage practicums.

7:30 p. m.—Farmers' club round table.

Thursday, March 12.

9 a. m.—"Field Crops in Lake Superior Region," E. J. Delwiche; "Oats and Rye in the Timbered Belt," K. D. Van Wagenen; "Corn for Grain and Ensilage," H. Pflughoeft.

1:30 p. m.—"Evolution of Small Grain Crop" (illustrated), H. Pflughoeft.

Friday, March 13.

9 a. m.—"Grasses and Legumes in the Superior Region," A. B. Hostetter; "Essentials in Successful Potato Farming," W. A. Dickinson; "Fighting Potato Pests," M. J. Thompson; "Muck Soils as Crop Producers," W. A. Dickinson.

1:30 p. m.—"Types of Dairy Cattle, Ring Work and Judging," W. A. Dickinson; potato practicums.

7:30 p. m.—"The Homesteader's Problem," D. B. Jewell.

Saturday, March 14.

9 a. m.—"Feeding Dairy Cattle," F. B. McLeran; dairy practicums; "Herd Improvement," F. B. McLeran.

1:30 p. m.—"Types of Dairy Cattle, Ring Work and Judging," G. P. Grout.

7:30 p. m.—Club meeting—Balancing the ration.

CITY WILL UNITE JOBS

Plan Is to Combine Street Cleaning and Sprinkling This Season.

Street cleaning will be combined with sprinkling in several districts in the city the coming season, according to the plan which has been outlined by Works Commissioner R. Murchison and Supt. of Maintenance J. G. Lawson.

Among these districts will be Fourth street and portions of Central and Grand avenues and Ramsey street in West Duluth. Besides sprinkling every day, the man who gets the contract will go over the pavements probably twice a week with a street sweeper. The commissioner said that some of the outlying districts might have "white wings" to help keep the streets clean this season. It is not expected that the new plan will entail any additional expense to the property owners.

For sprinkling and cleaning purposes the city has been divided into twenty-two districts. Of these fourteen will be sprinkled with water and eight with oil. The use of oil as a dust preventive is being steadily increased in Duluth. Last year there were four oil districts and this season the number is being doubled. Approximately 140,000 gallons of oil will be spread. Containing 40 per cent asphaltum, the oil not only lays the dust but acts as a binder, adding smoothness and durability to the surface of the highway. The oil will be laid by the works division by day labor but bids will be advertised and contracts let to the lowest bidders for the water sprinkling and cleaning.

More than 4,200 Scots left Glasgow the other day on the way to new homes in the United States.

A potato drying factory, similar to those in operation in Germany, will probably soon be installed in Rosalia, Wash.

Sudermann in Tabloid--Good Comedy Acts on Well-Balanced Bill.

Edgar Allen Woolf believes in "taking what he wants where he finds it."

Mr. Woolf prepared a sketch entitled "Wanda," which is one of the features of a very good Orpheum bill this week. Sudermann's "Magda" seemed to suit his needs, so he changed the heroine to a violinist to fit Miss Mabelle Adams' talents, changed the name to "Wanda," cut out a few superfluous scenes, and there you are—a first-class vaudeville sketch.

It would be interesting to know whether Mr. Woolf did it deliberately or just happened on the plot in his search for a story that would fit a young woman violinist. Stranger coincidences have happened in dramatic writing.

But where Mr. Woolf got his plot, the sketch is interesting, provides a good vehicle for Miss Adams' talents both as an actress and a violinist, and it is presented by a capable little company.

This week's bill is surprising. It contains no big headlined features, but it offers excellent entertainment throughout, with but one weak spot. The opening act by Miss Tillie Abbot is a passable acrobatic turn, but the attempts at comedy fall flat.

The hit of the bill is that sure fire comedy act, "The Piano Movers and the Actress," by McDevitt, Kelly and Lucey, two men and a woman. The men are eccentric dancers and clever comedians, and their antics at the piano kept the audience in shouts of laughter last evening. It is broad comedy, but clean, and it would be a pessimist indeed who could not find it amusing.

John E. Hazzard, who is headlined this week, is a monologist. Mr. Hazzard is especially good in dialect stories, and seems to be master of the German, negro and Irish dialects. His stories are new for the most part, well told and totally free from suggestiveness. He was well received last evening.

One of the most agile dancers the Orpheum has seen in many a month is Miss Helen Gladyings of the team of Cummings and Gladyings, who give an act consisting of songs and dances. The songs are indifferently sung, but the dancing is most exceptional, and the two young people had a hard time getting away from last night's audience.

Leon Kimberly and Halsey Mohr have a novel little turn which took well. The young men are gifted with voices above the vaudeville average and they offered a skit with the scene placed in a clubroom, and with a young bachelor and a newly married man arguing about the merits of the two conditions. Of course, the benedict wins. The songs are catchy, the number which tells of the "old hat rack" and the hats hung upon it being especially good. The turn was most deservedly popular.

The closing act this week is a most sensational "casting" turn by the Aerial Lloyds, four men who do some difficult tricks on the aerial trapezes.

The Orpheum motion pictures complete a well balanced, entertaining bill, which will continue all week with a daily matinee.

AT THE EMPRESS.

"The Last Round-Up" Proves to Be Good Melodrama.

Reminiscent of the old-time melodrama and typical of the shows popular on the American stage but a decade ago, is the production of "The Last Round-Up," which opened at the Empress theater yesterday afternoon for a four-day engagement.

The play of the plains, in which there is considerable gun play, tense and dramatic incidents, is exceptionally well staged. It is in tabloid form and well handled by the members of the cast, several of whom have been seen here in recent tabloid dramas.

Of course, there is the villain in "The Scorpion," a halfbreed Indian; the hero in Jim Forney, foreman of the ranch, and the humor of the play in the comedy character of "Lazy" Williams, the second cook and the man who is always tired over something.

The best bit of acting in the play is that of "The Scorpion," as portrayed by Charles L. Norman. He is so good in his part that at times the audience forgot itself and actually hissed at the halfbreed. He has the stage presence, speaks his lines well, and his rapid movements add to the effectiveness of his work. Whitney Collins as Jim Forney, foreman of the ranch; Edgar Schooley as "Lazy" Williams, Miss Blanche Epley as Bess Hughes, the foreman's sister, and Miss Marie Latimore as Bill's bride, are all deserving of mention.

Ernest Latimore as "Shorty" Rhodes was a weak spot in the cast. Ed Harmon as Bill Hughes also failed to get much out of the part of the "old man," owner of the ranch.

During the intermission the comedy motion picture, "The Sleepy Head," is presented.

"The Last Round-Up" will continue until Wednesday evening, with the regular daily matinees.

AT THE LYCEUM.

"The Traffic" and "Within the Law" Are Coming Attractions.

"The Traffic," Rachael Marshall's amazing play is booked for the Lyceum Tuesday and Wednesday. Miss Marshall, who is a great grand-daughter of Chief Justice Marshall and a colleague and fellower of Jane Addams, has written a drama which deals with the traffic in girls in a manner at once truthful, daring and dignified.

Here is what one Milwaukee critic said of it:

"A play for men and women who think, 'The Traffic' is also a play that promises to set all sorts of people to thinking. Of fine dramatic value, it has not failed to disclose in naked power and to depict in stirring scenes the squalid causes and the false glories of commercialized vice. It may shock the unimitated, but it will convince them, also and it will impress the most blase with its absolute authenticity and sincerity.

"A fine company of experienced and cultivated players has been selected for the local presentation of this extraordinary drama. Perfectly equipped and staged, presented in the most complete and the most legitimate manner, 'The Traffic' will not fail to shock. But it delivers only the shock of truth and with all the realism of its strong story there is not a situation or an utterance that is unclean, vulgar, or palliative of sin.

"The basic incidents of the plot are genuine and of record. The scenes will be recognized by everyone who knows about life in the cities. The gradual, logical and inevitable 'supply' of girls for the illicit market of lust and lechery is projected, and then come the closing scenes showing the spurious glory, the empty delights, the sordid splendors as well as the tragical retribution of 'the business' of the panderer as well as the less guilty members of 'the sad, soiled sisterhood.'"

"Within the Law," which is to be presented for a return engagement at the Lyceum soon with the same cast and production as seen before, has proven more than an American success as it is equally popular in England and Australia. One has to see the play to know the effect it has on the masses who understand the injustices of some of the department stores and the grafting interferences of some of the police. Every scene of the play has been verified in court—often the similarity has been remarkable. Only recently the heroine who works "Within the Law" was matched by the "Wolf of Wall Street." Removed from the coincidence to England and Australia the play stands upon its merits as one of the strongest melodramas ever written.

BOY'S INJURIES PROVE FATAL

Injured in an accident while coasting near his home at Alborn, Minn., on Feb. 27, John Johnson, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson, died at St. Luke's hospital early yesterday morning. He was brought to Duluth the day following the accident.

The boy was severely injured while coasting with several playmates, his sled running into a wagon. He was

LUNG MOTOR FOR FIRE DEPARTMENT

Safety Commissioner W. A. Hicken has purchased a lung motor and oxygen tank which will be installed at headquarters fire station. The cost is $126.

The outfit will be attached to the automoble of Assistant Chief C. W. Wilson in a specially prepared box now being made. This will make the machine immediately available in case need for it arises at any fires.

The lung motor is similar to the pulmotor, producing artificial respiration and reviving persons who have been overcome by smoke, electric shock, etc. A pulmotor was added to the equipment at police headquarters some months ago and it accompanies the patrol and emergency ambulance in response to accident calls.

Stop endless scuttle lugging!

When you married, it was far from your thoughts for your or her future that you would endure years of scuttle-lifting, fire-poking, clinker-sifting, blackening, smoke-pipe scuffling, etc. If now you look back on the years of your struggle with old-style heating, it must seem endless strife—a treadmill of distasteful drudgery and back-straining. Why continue it? Put a stop to it at once and forever by changing over to the ideal heating comfort and fuel economy guaranteed by an outfit of

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

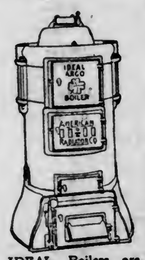

An IDEAL Boiler carrying one small but highly effective fire in the cellar calls for the least possible attention—in zero weather once in 8 hours, or in milder days once in 16 to 24 hours. All the rooms and halls of your home are kept evenly warmed with not one-tenth of the care-taking for one stove. The house is not littered with coal-dust, ashes and soot—which greatly reduces housework and gives longer life to decorations and furnishings.

With IDEAL Boiler and AMERICAN Radiators you can also have SYLPHON regulation, which automatically controls the boiler check- and draft-dampers—saves hundreds of stair journeys each winter. Keeps the house steadily at 70°—thus preventing underheating or overheating and fuel waste.

A No. 1-25-W IDEAL Boiler and 575 sq. ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $230, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include costs of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which are extra and vary according to climatic and other conditions.

Every year we reheat thousands of old homes, stores, schools, churches, public buildings. IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators give new life and value to old buildings—make them far more rentable and salable. These outfits are quickly and simply put in, without tearing up partitions or disturbing the folks. Stop punishing yourself and running the health risk of the coal-lugging, old-style heating. Prices are now usually the most attractive of the year and you get the services of the best fitters! Ask for free book, "Ideal Heating." Will gladly give you heating help worth having—puts you under no obligation to buy! Act now!

IDEAL Boilers are safer and easier to run than stoves, and their cleanliness reduces housework one-half. They will last as long as the building and need no repairs. Accept no substitute.

SELF-RELIANT HOME DOCTORS

is what women are called who all over this broad land make their annual collections of roots and herbs, and rely upon recipes which our pioneer mothers found dependable for different family ailments. In one of these recipes, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had its origin and so successful has it proved that there is hardly a city, town or hamlet in America where some woman who has been restored to health by its use does not reside.

OBITUARY

Frederick Townsend Martin, wealthy New York social worker and author, died at the Berkley hotel in London, March 8, from angina pectoris. Mr. Martin suffered a nercous breakdown last November. Recently he leased No. 6 Cumberland place, London, furnished, and intended to occupy it about the twenty-fifth of this month. It was his intention to spend a few months in London each year.

Frederick Townsend Martin occupied a high place in New York society circles, and his many activities were widely followed both there and broad. Member of an old New York family, brother of the late Bradley Martin and related to the nobility of England, Mr. Martin figured for years in the social events. But it was his views in regard to the relations of the rich to the poor, which he frequently expressed, which won for him as much prominence as any of his special activities.

Spoken of by many as the leader of society in New York and the successor of Ward McAllister, Mr. Martin was often to be found with his friends at a Bowery mission, entertaining the homeless and the hungry. It was one of his purposes in life, he said, to endeavor to help them on to better ways. Society was at first startled by this innovation, and then went to his aid.

Mr. Martin came into public notice in an even greater degree in 1911 with his advent into the field of authorship. In that year he published his first book, "The Passing of Derelict." Martin was born in Albany in 1864, was educated at Albany's Boys' academy, and was graduated from the Albany law school in 1872. He was the son of Henry Hull Martin and Anna Townsend Martin.

Mr. Parton located in New York city in 1865 and became a regular exhibitor at the National Academy of Design. He received the gold medal for the American Art association in 1886 and the Temple medal, Philadelphia.

He also won the gold medal competitive prize in the fund exhibition in New York in 1878 and received honorable mention at the Paris exposition in 1900.

FACES LARCENY CHARGE.

Restaurant Man Held for Robbing Drunken Man.

When Frank Heino was arrested Saturday evening on a charge of drunkenness, he told the police that he had been robbed of $100 while in a restaurant on Lake avenue south. The police investigated the story and on a warrant sworn out by Heino they later arrested Frank Maki on a charge of grand larceny.

Maki was arraigned in police court this morning and, asking for an examination, his hearing was set for 2 o'clock this afternoon. Maki denies the theft, although admitting that he knows Heino.

Heino was also arraigned this morning to answer the charge of drunkenness. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for this afternoon, pending the outcome of Maki's hearing.

GROWTH HAS BEEN STEADY

School Attendance Reflects Substantial Increase in Population.

Although the figures for February are not yet available, those of the preceding months of the 1913-14 school year show excellent growth in the enrollment of the independent school district of Duluth, indicating a healthy growth in population. It is generally accepted that the school enrollment is one of the best criterions in the growth of population.

The growth of the school enrollment for all of the Duluth schools up to the close of January, compared with the same period one year ago was 588. The enrollment in January, 1913, amounted to 13,249 and that of the same month this year was 13,937. Each month has shown a growth over the corresponding months last year, as the following comparative tables will show.

September	12,581	13,093
October	12,855	13,421
November	13,015	13,661
December	13,104	13,742
January	13,249	13,937

NO INTENT TO DEFRAUD

Arthur H. Burg Is Indicted as Result of Realty Deal.

Gave Deed Before He Had Acquired Title to the Property.

Arthur H. Burg, real estate dealer, 23 Fourth avenue west, was arraigned before Judge Dancer in district court Saturday afternoon on an indictment charging him with having made false representations with reference to a title to real estate. Mr. Burg entered a plea of not guilty and was released on his own recognizance. This morning he furnished a bond for $1,000 which was approved by the court. C. A. Knippenberg and A. B. Kenney are his sureties.

Mr. Burg was indicted under a section of the statutes which reads as follows: "Every person who shall falsely and fraudulently represent that he is the owner of any parcel or tract of land to which he has no title, and execute a deed of the same, with intent to defraud any other person, shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than two years, nor less than six months."

Under the indictment, Mr. Burg is charged with having on July 1, 1913, executed a deed to the west half of lot 359, block 123, Duluth Proper, Second division, to one Erick W. Lostrom. It is claimed that he had no deed to the property at the time.

Mr. Burg issued a contract for a deed to the property to one Arthur Stipe, Dec. 22, 1910, Mr. Stipe paying $100 down and agreeing to pay a balance of $1,000, the purchase price being $1,100. After Mr. Stipe had paid in about $600, he assigned the contract to Mr. Lostrom, who after making up the balance was given a deed to the property by Mr. Burg.

Mr. Burg's only claim to the property, it developed, was a contract for a deed running to himself from the Western Land association, which is represented by the firm of Kohagen & Hoopes. At the time the deed was executed by Mr. Berg to Mr. Lostrom, it is claimed that Mr. Burg still owed a considerable balance on his contract with the Western Land association.

While the grand jury was considering his case, Mr. Burg paid up the balance on the contract and secured his deed. It is understood that his defense will be that the transaction was not with intent to defraud and that the affair was open and above board. T. W. Hoopes, however, was called before the grand jury as a witness and a true bill was returned against Mr. Burg.

DULUTH NAG IS WINNER

Jim Henderson Defeats Dean Oakley in Final Contest.

Jim Henderson won the United States Horse Shoe company's handsome trophy by defeating Dean Oakley in the final of the harness horse races for the 1913-14 championship of the Head of the Lakes, paced Saturday afternoon.

Dean Oakley won the first heat of the races, which were paced on London road. The second heat was won handily by the little local horse, and at its conclusion the driver of Dean Oakley expressed the opinion that he had all the racing he cared for on one day.

Thus does the fine trophy go to the gallant little Duluth horse, which by its splendid performances has caused a sensation among the followers of the harness nags.

What makes the winning of the trophy so remarkable a feat is the fact that Jim Henderson is practically a green horse and has won against the very pick of the campaigners at the Head of the Lakes.

It is predicted that the little horse will go out this season and step the mile in around 2:10. If Jim Henderson comes up to the fond expectations of the horsemen around these parts, it will mean that another high-class harness horse has been turned out of this town.

FEDERALS AFTER FIELDER JONES

Negotiating With Former White Sox Manager for Brooklyn.

Chicago, March 9. — The Federal league was reported today to be negotiating with Fielder A. Jones, head of the Northwest Baseball league and former manager of the Chicago White Sox. President Gilmore was said to have wired to John R. Ward, head of the Brooklyn club in the new league, asking permission to sign Jones for manager of the Brooklyn club, should the negotiations be successful.

Although the report mentioned details of conferences between the Portland, Or., man and President Gilmore, no intimation of the salary offered Jones was made public.

CONNERY EXPECTS TO OWN THE CUBS

Difference With Taft So Slight as Not to Seem Impediment.

Chicago, March 9.—The difference between the bid made for the controlling interest in the Chicago National league club by John T. Connery and his friends and the price asked by Charles P. Taft for it is so light that Connery expects to acquire the stock in a few days. This was announced by Connery today, upon his arrival with Charles Comiskey and the returning world tourists from New York.

Connery said today he would soon form a stock company to share with him the control of the West Side club, but that he would be the club president.

President Comiskey reported himself as nearly recovered from the illness which attacked him while the tourists were in Italy.

Council Meeting Promises Little Excitement—Opposition to Civil Service.

The council meeting this afternoon promises to be quiet, compared with several which have recently been held.

Commissioner Hicken will withdraw the ordinance requiring bartenders to take out licenses costing $1 per year.

Mayor Prince will introduce a resolution stating that in the opinion of the council, secretaries should come under civil service. It is likely that this will fail of passage as three of the commissioners, Merritt, Hicken and Murchison, have expressed themselves as opposed to it.

The application of Karl Lehto for a transfer to himself of the saloon license of Mrs. A. K. Mattson at 150 South First avenue east, will likely be granted, as the police have reported favorably upon him. Another application for a transfer of the same license was recently denied.

An ordinance appropriating $870 for a portable rock crusher, fitted with a kerosene engine, for the use of the park department, will be given its first reading. An ordinance appropriating funds for lumber for maintenance purposes in the works division will be introduced.

An ordinance appropriating $1,200 to pay for the audit of the city's books and the revision of the accounting system will be introduced. Other ordinances will be advanced.

A petition asking that blocks 109 and 110, Sixth division of West Duluth, be designated a residence district, will be presented.

HEARING ON LAKE LEVELS

Detroit Meeting of International Joint Waterways Commission Begins.

Vital Questions for Lake Cities, Particularly Lake Superior's.

There opened in Detroit, Mich., today one of the most important meetings concerning conditions on the Great Lakes that has been held in many years, and one in which Duluth is deeply interested. It is the meeting of the international joint waterways commission of the United States and Canada appointed by the two governments to exhaustively inquire into the condition of the Great Lakes, their levels and the effect of sewage pollution on the inhabitants of American and Canadian cities.

A. H. Comstock, vice president of the Marshall-Wells Hardware company, is representing the Duluth Commercial club and the Duluth board of trade before the commission, and D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department of Duluth, is representing the city government.

It is likely that whatever conclusions are reached by the commission in regard to sanitary engineering will be crystallized into legislation by the American congress and the Canadian parliament.

It is understood that the first question to be discussed will be the dams in the Soo river. Vigorous protests will doubtless be made from harbor, dock and navigation interests, as well as from wholesale houses which have their buildings on the water line, against raising the lake level. Further protest will also be made from Duluth on the ground that Park Point would be practically eliminated, thus destroying this port as a harbor of refuge below the interstate bridge, if the lake level were raised. It is said that several days will be devoted to these hearings.

Wish to Be Sure.

Although Julius H. Barnes, while in Washington recently, was assured by the chief of the United States engineers that there is no intention to raise the lake level, communications from Commissioner Tawney did not indicate that he understood it that way, and to make assurance doubly sure the representatives mentioned were sent to attend the meeting.

Were the lake to be raised one foot the year round and two feet for five months out of the year it would mean the inundating of the basements of practically every wholesale house built on the water front, and would necessitate the rebuilding of every dock in the Duluth-Superior harbor. This, too, would be true of practically every port on this lake, and would involve, not estimating the flooding of millions of acres of land, a monetary loss of millions of dollars.

The subject of pollution of the lake waters will receive immediate attention from the commission. It is asserted by the sanitary experts attached to the body that the treaty between the United States and Great Britain regarding pollution is being violated from the Lake of the Woods to the St. Lawrence river.

Health and sanitary officials of practically all the cities bordering on the Great Lakes have protested against the present method of sewage pollution. They point out the great danger of epidemics from the microbe laden waters due to sewage permitted to flow into the lakes from the cities.

The situation has now reached a point where drastic measures may have to be adopted to prevent epidemic outbreaks of the most dangerous nature. It is not unlikely the commission will recommend to their respective governments the permanent prohibition of sewage deposit in the Great Lakes.

REPORTS OF LOCAL BANKS

Slight Decrease in Deposits Expected at This Season of Year.

National Banks Show Substantial Increase in Reserve Funds.

Duluth's national and state banks made creditable showings in their statements of conditions as they stood on March 4, made in response to the call of the comptroller of the currency. Though as compared with their statements of Jan. 13 there was a falling off in both deposits and loans and discounts, that is a natural condition at this season, when both items are at their low point of the year prior to the opening of spring activities in commercial and industrial directions.

Deposits in the banks here were shown to aggregate $23,705,919.81, of which $22,644,011.54 was held by the national and $1,061,908.27 by the state banks. In view of the decrease that always takes place at this season, owing to the drawing upon of funds to cover current obligations, a falling off of only $1,176,518.35 since Jan. 13 is regarded as very moderate. Beginning with next month, deposits are likely to be again on the upward trend.

As a result of the liquidation of grain loans and other commercial paper, current loans and discounts decreased to the extent of $1,441,929.52.

In the meantime the national banks have strengthened their positions in an increase of $209,124.78 shown in their reserve funds.

The salient features of the banks' statements in detail follow:

GOING HOME TO NORWAY

At Least 200,000 American Residents Will Visit Fatherland.

Duluth Will Be Represented By 300, Including Male Chorus.

At least 200,000 Norwegians in the United States are preparing to participate in the Norwegian centennary celebration at Christiania June 15 to Oct. 15.

In Duluth at least 300 Norwegians will sail together to take part in the celebration at Christiania this summer.

Among the Duluthians who are planning to sail for their fatherland are the members of the Normanna male chorus, who have been raising money for this trip during the last two years. The chorus, it is expected, will play a prominent part in the celebration at Christiania.

For those who are unable to go abroad local celebrations are now being planned for all cities in which there is a large Norwegian population. This is an annual custom for Norwegians, but, it is expected, that the celebrations in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the independence of Norway will exceed by far any of those ever held in this country.

Duluth Celebration.

In Duluth a celebration will be held on May 17, given probably at the Armory. Should it be found necessary, although complete arrangements have not yet been made, a double entertainment will be given that day, one at the Armory and the other at Lincoln park. It is hoped by the prominent Norwegians of this city to invite speakers of their own race from all parts of the West, and to make May 17 this year a red letter day for Duluthians to remember.

The Sons of Norway, Independent Order of Svithold and kindred organizations will combine in arranging for the celebration this year. Those members of the Normanna male chorus who do not go abroad will also take part.

A general state committee is now trying to raise $25,000 in Minnesota for the purpose of preparing the state exhibit for the celebration at Christiania and as a memorial gift to Norway. The many civic organizations and commercial clubs of the state are all joining in the campaign for funds, and it is expected that the money will be pledged very shortly. It is then hoped to secure the necessary appropriation from the state legislature and to refund the subscriptions made by private institutions and commercial organizations. Governor Eberhart is at the head of the campaign, as is Governor McGovern in a similar campaign in Wisconsin.

The legislature of North Dakota recently appropriated $10,000 for that state's participation in the celebration. On July 4 Governor Hanna in person, accompanied by his staff, will present a statue of Lincoln to Norway. The funds for this monument were collected privately.

The invitation to take part in the celebration has been accepted by the Luther college band, sixty-one students of the oldest Norwegian college in America, at Decorah, Iowa, who will sail May 5. The Norwegian Singers' union, an organization extending throughout the Northwest, will be represented at the midsummer song festival at Christiania by a delegation of 400 singers. The union will give concerts at Chicago, Washington and New York, under the direction of Emil Bjorn, before embarking for Norway.

The exposition at Christiania will be strictly national in character, and with but one notable exception, only Norwegian commodities and products of Norwegian industry will be admitted. That single exception is the "Over-Seas-Norway" exhibit, to which will be devoted an attractive pavilion. It will consist entirely of photographs, drawings, models, plates and statistical reports designed to throw light on the life and activities of Norwegians abroad.

Of closer interest to many are the histories of the Middle West states, which are being written for the exposition from the Norwegian point of view. This will show the part the Norwegians played in the early development of Minnesota, North Dakota and Wisconsin.

WRECKS NOT CAUSE.

About 1,000 Killed or Injured From Trespass on One Railroad.

Train wrecks did not cause the great loss of life on American railroads in 1912.

If there had not been a single train accident, if every machine had worked perfectly, if every employe had performed his work perfectly—nevertheless 497 persons would have been killed and 556 injured on the Pennsylvania railroad system last year; they were trespassing on the company's tracks in violation of the law. As thirty-four more trespassers were killed in 1913 than in 1912, it would indicate that the practice of trespassing is growing.

As one of the steps of its campaign to reduce trespassing, the Pennsylvania railroad has made an exhaustive investigation of every case where a trespasser was killed or injured. Practically half of those killed in 1913 while trespassing were useful citizens; only 250 of them were "unidentified, mostly tramps." All of the deaths and injuries to trespassers on the Pennsylvania railroad are classed in the interstate commerce commission's reports as steam "railway accidents."

Among the trespassers killed last year on the Pennsylvania railroad were farmers, bakers, a preacher, glass workers, carpenters, coachmen, a doctor, fishermen, laborers, mill workers, a soldier, a sailor, a stone mason, miners, shoe makers, teamsters, a student, Indians, a fireman, coke drawer, boys, employes of other railroads and others from a variety of vocations. Twelve of the victims were women.

IS LIGHTNING CALCULATOR

Rochester Man Amazes Duluthians in Local Hotel Lobby.

Instantly Gives Answers to Complicated Mathematical Problems.

We have a mathematical freak in our midst. His name is Albert Gamble and he comes from Rochester, N. Y. In one the hotel lobbies today, someone was told that Gamble was very rapid in multiplying figures.

"Mulitply 396 by 872," requested a bystander of Gamble.

"345,312" came the instant reply from Gamble.

He didn't stop to think—he didn't have time. Other people in the hotel began asking other questions, problems of multiplication and division, and the answers came just as rapidly.

"Some people say it is hypnotic influence," said Gamble. 'I don't know. College professors have examined me, but they have been unable to give any scientific reason for the rapidity with which I can perform problems.

"Ever since I was a mere kid I have been able to answer problems in figures. It seems to come natural to me. Like a flash the answer comes out. Some say that it is a peculiar sixth sense, or a sub conscious ability to perform mathematical problems; what it is, I don't know. The scientific men I have appeared before have never succeeded in satisfying me."

Unlike the majority of mathematical freaks, if you choose to call them that, Albert Gamble appears to be of normal mentality otherwise.

One of the scientific explanations of the wonderful ability to solve problems, is that real reasoning in the working out of the problem shoots up from the sub conscious mind. Gamble gives some credence to this theory, by stating that the answer is flashed to him.

Problems that would require a mathematical expert half an hour's work with pencil, this young man answers almost without hesitation.

CARRINGTON EXCITED OVER HAVING ROAD.

Carrington, N. D., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—A great deal of interest is aroused over the announcement that a Northern Pacific surveying crew was running a new line from Sanborn to this point. One statement is that the Northern Pacific intends to make a more important line out of the Turtle Lake branch and to give it shorter and easier connection eastward than running down through Jamestown, as is done at present. Another rumor is that the Northern Pacific will build a new connecting line in order to sell the Turtle Lake branch to the Great Northern as the eastern outlet for the Great Northern line from Lewistown, Mont.

SOO PLANNING ON SOME DOUBLE TRACKING

Crosby, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is reported here that because of the immense tonnage of iron ore to be shipped out of the Cuyuna range this season to the Head of the Lakes that the Soo line will be doubled tracked from Riverton to Iron Hub, and that work will probably be in progress within a few days.

Will Not Kill Terrazas.

El Paso, Tex., March 9.—Non-payments of the $250,000 ransom for Luis Terrazas, Jr., will not result in the execution of the prisoner, according to a telegram received here from Gen. Villa at Chihuahua.

Information as to the telegram came from rebel agents, but these added that Gen. Villa most certainly would expose Terrazas to the enemy's fire at Torreon unless the prisoner's father, Gen. Luis Terrazas refrains from political activity.

The younger Luis, it is asserted, has been held principally as a hostage to control, if possible, his father's efforts in behalf of Gen. Huerta.

The latter's decision to waive the matter of ransome came through representations made by Gen. Carranza, supreme chief of the revolution, and by theoy his agents.

Would Be Barbarity.

A telegram to Villa from Fedrico Gonzales pointed out that to execute Terrazas for non-payment of ransom would be a barbarity which, coming on top of the indignation aroused by the killing of William S. Benton, would seriously injure the Constitutionalist cause in the United States and Europe.

Gen. Villa indicated that the ransom had been largely a pretext to cover his real purpose of preventing, if possible, any aid reaching the Federals from the head of the Terrazas family.

"Gen. Villa is a man of his word," said a rebel officer, "and while the younger Terrazas is in no immediate danger, it is certain Villa will expose him to the firing line if his father lends further aid and comfort to the enemy."

Gen. Carranza's telegrams to Gen. Villa were not peremptory but were argumentative and pointed out that the sender was in the best position to judge the international aspect of the case.

Watch Snyman Case.

Great interest was manifested today in the case of Gen. W. B. Snyman, the former Boer general, who has been ordered from his 3,000-acre ranch, La Reina, forty-five miles south of Chihuahua, and the estate confiscated.

Snyman is accused of aiding the Federals and allowing them to use his ranch as recruiting headquarters, and there is said to be further allegations that he has not paid for his ranch. Friends of Snyman and his son, G. C. Snyman, now here, deny the charge is true.

A FINE PLACE.

Chicago Record-Herald: "What kind of place was that where you spent your summer vacation last summer?

"Fine."

"Did they set a good table?"

"No. It was about the worst I ever found anywhere."

"I suppose the rooms were very comfortable."

"They were just the opposite of that—little, hot, stuffy, dirty holes, they were."

"But I thought you said it was a fine place?"

"It was. I taught six beautiful girls to swim while I was there."

"EMPTY" GUN; BOY KILLED

Smithville Children Play Soldier With Fatal Result to One.

Seven-Year-Old Iver Odegaard Killed By Little Playmate.

While several small children were playing "soldier" in the home of Christ Mortenson of Smithville, Valdimar Mortenson, aged 8 years, picked up an "unloaded" shotgun and pointing at the crowd pulled the trigger, firing a charge of fine shot into the body of Iver Olson Odegaard, the 7-year-old son of Andrew O. Odegaard, at 5:30 o'clock last evening. The entire charge entered the left side of the boy's back and penetrated the lung. The boy died at 8 o'clock.

The gun had been brought into the house only a few minutes before by Albert O. Odegaard, the boy's older brother, who had been hunting rabbits during the afternoon on the hillside. He had stood it in a corner of the room where the children were playing, believing that the shells had all been extracted.

In order to make the play of soldier more realistic the young Mortenson boy had picked up the gun, saying "Look here what we got." He then pointed it at the crowd and the next instant it was discharged.

The agonizing shriek of the mortally wounded boy brought every member of the family to the room at once. Dr. D. E. Seashore was called but was unable to save the lad. Both families are grief stricken and the boy who did the shooting is in a hysterical condition.

The Odegaard family had been visiting at the Mortenson home during the afternoon and in addition to the children of the two families, some little ones from the neighborhood were present.

Coroner McComb was notified of the death and the body was taken to Richter's undertaking rooms. The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Harvey Webb Methodist church at Smithville. Rev. J. W. Lillico will conduct the services. Interment will be made in Oneota cemetery.

CHARGED WITH SHORT MEASURE

Bilsey & Peterson Held on Complaint of State Inspector.

Nels Bilsey and Oscar Peterson of the firm of Bilsey & Peterson, grocers, were arrested Saturday afternoon on complaint of a state weight inspector of selling short weight measures. The specified charge is that of selling one pound and 13½ ounces of dried apples for two pounds.

When arraigned before Judge Lanners Saturday afternoon both members of the firm pleaded not guilty. They will appear for trial this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

William Marshall of New Duluth came home drunk Saturday evening and after turning his wife out of the house he was arrested by Officer Anderson and Sergeant McDermott. In police court this morning he drew a sentence of twenty-five days to the workhouse or a fine of $25. Sentence was suspended on a parole for six months.

Emil Markat, who is charged with having assaulted Mrs. Louise Watsick, his neighbor, and having beaten her with his fists, will have his trial this afternoon before Judge Lanners. The assault is alleged to have taken place on the evening of Feb. 27.

"KID" RINK HAS AN EVEN CHANCE

Wade Wins Over Brown and Will Play Zauft in Finals.

Frank H. Wade and his "kid" rink has an even chance of winning all of the four remaining trophies at the Western Curling rink. This is the only rink at the club which is still playing in the events.

Saturday night the Wade rink won from Brown in the semi-finals of the West Duluth Commercial club event, and will now have to play Zauft in the finals. Tonight Wade will play Zauft in the Burns event, and if he wins, will have to play Iltis in the semi-finals. The Wade rink is in the finals of the Union Match and the Hendricksen event.

Royal League Masque.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Swedish Mission church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Greene street, have planned to entertain in the church parlors Thursday evening. An auction will feature the entertainment.

Good Templars of the city will be guests at a meeting of Morning Star lodge to be held tomorrow night at the Dormedy hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street. A class initiation will feature the affair.

Mrs. Charles T. Johnson, 907 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, will entertain Thursday afternoon for the Ladies' Aid society of the Westminster Presbyterian church. The hostess will be assisted by Mrs. William Cochran, Mrs. O. Evjen and Mrs. Arthur Johnson.

Mrs. Forbes, 425 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, will entertain Wednesday evening for the Young People's society of the West Duluth Baptist church.

The Mothers' club of the Fairmont school will meet in the school Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Watch repairing. Hurst, West Duluth.

Mrs. Charles Boyden, 4013 West Fourth street, will entertain Wednesday afternoon for the Ladies' Aid society of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church.

SIX ARRESTED FOR DISTURBANCE

Four Are Taken Following Complaint Made By Companions.

After Albert Switzer, 23, and Frank Olson, 20, were sentenced in police court Saturday on a charge of fighting on First avenue east and creating a disturbance, the police later in the afternoon arrested four other young men on a similar charge. It was through information given by the former two during their trial that the other arrests were made.

The young men, Fred Evans, 21; Victor Adamski, 19; Martin Andler, 21, and Neil Campbell, 21, all pleaded not guilty when arraigned in police court before Judge Cutting and their trials were set for 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. They were released on their own recognizance.

According to the testimony of Switzer and Olson they had a quarrel in the poolroom at 18 East Superior street and then went to First avenue east to finish the argument. They told the police that the other four young men were parties to the quarrel, but the latter assert they were only looking on.

FEW LODGERS ASK SHELTER

Warm Weather Reduces Number Applying to Police for Aid.

With the arrival of warm weather, lodgers at police headquarters are beginning to become scarce, and within a few weeks it is expected the free lodging room will close until next winter.

On Saturday night but seven men applied for lodging, while last night ten men were given free shelter by the police.

During the winter it is estimated that about 3,000 men have been given free lodging by the police in the large basement at headquarters, which has been fixed up especially for this department. The men usually come voluntarily to headquarters and there apply to the jailor in charge for a night's lodging. They are charged nothing for the shelter and are permitted to go their way each morning.

If a man continues coming to headquarters every night for a week, the police question him, and if his story warrants it, he is then arrested on a charge of vagrancy. In these cases the police court judges have usually sent the men out to the work farm for a period of from one to three months.

With the warm weather the men refuse to come to headquarters and prefer shelter in box cars or old sheds along the railroads. It is only when it is cold that they come to the police.

REPRESENTATIVE WHO WOULD BE SENATOR

GEORGE J. KINDEL.

George J. Kindel, member of congress from Colorado, has announced himself a candidate for the senate to succeed Senator Thomas. His platform will call for more equitable transportation rates and commercial equality for Denver and the rest of Colorado. Mr. Kindel says he has made up his mind he would rather be a dead candidate for senator than "a live fool representative."

CONGRESSMEN HEAR MICHIGAN MILITIA

Copper Strike Investigators Begin Work in Chicago.

Chicago, March 9.—Members of the house sub-committee who are investigating the strike of Northern Michigan copper miners arrived here today from Houghton Mich., and were prepared to hear the testimony of members of the Michigan National guard who did strike duty in the Copper country last summer.

Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, expected to appear before the committee to tell the story of his deportation from Hancock, Mich., last December. The congressmen hopea to conclude the taking of testimony either today or tomorrow and then return to Washington. Attorneys for the strikers and mining companies accompanied the committee to this city.

SOME USEFUL REMEDIES.

Pittsburg Gazette: When starting on a trip do not fail to put in the trunk a box containing some of the following remedies for illnesses which are liable to attack the traveler.

First, a small bottle of alcohol, as one teaspoonful mixed with two teaspoonfuls of water will give almost instant relief to pain in the stomach or nausea; some lemons, as undiluted lemon juice used freely will relieve car sickness, or tablets of black licorice will answer the same purpose. Nibbling cloves, inhaling vinegar or placing a sheet of writing paper against the stomach will cure seasickness, so take at least one of these remedies with you. Some sugar, as a cube of it soaked in lemon juice will allay the thirst. Sweetened lemon juice added to water is much safer for drinking than plain water on boats and trains. Take some sweet milk chocolates with you, as it will save you from a headache when meals are delayed. Take some salt, as one teaspoonful of table salt in a glass of cold water taken in the morning before breakfast is a good laxative. Half an hour afterward drink two or three glasses of hot water.

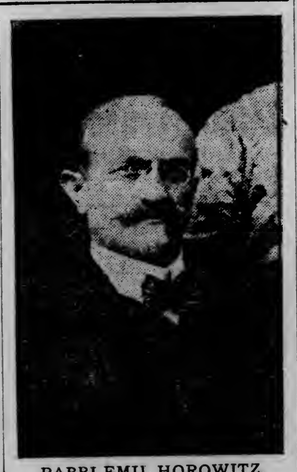

HEAD OF LOCAL HEBREW SCHOOL RESIGNS TO GO TO NEW YORK

Rabbi Emil Horowitz, superintendent of the Montefiore Hebrew school for the last two and one-half years, has resigned the local charge and will leave with his family on April 1 for New York. He said this morning that he has received several calls, but will not announce his decision as to which he will accept for several weeks.

Rabbi Horowitz is a graduate of a German college and came to the United States about sixteen years ago. Since then he has been engaged in educational work among the Jews in America. He has also been in charge of several congregations in the East, but of late years has been devoting most of his time to the schools.

When the Montefiore school sought to extend the scope of its work in 1911, the executive board extended a call to Rabbi Horowitz, who was then in New York, and he accepted. Under his direction the school has grown until last year it was found necessary to obtain larger quarters. In the fall the building next to Adath Israel synagogue at Third avenue east and Third street was obtained and improved into a school building. The structure is also used as a Hebrew social center.

Rabbi Horowitz said this morning that he has several calls, some from congregations, but that he will not decide until after a short stay in New York, where he will make his home.

Woman's Realm

Problems of interest to women wage earners were discussed yesterday afternoon in Memorial hall at the meeting called by Miss Victoria Ericson, deputy factory inspector of Duluth.

Miss Eliza P. Evans, secretary of the Minnesota minimum wage commission, told of investigations that are being made into the wages paid women and children who work in department stores, factories, telephone offices and other places where many of the employes are women and children. She told of conditions in St. Paul and Minneapolis. The average amount paid a week to 580 girls of those cities was $6.98. The average was brought up by unusually high wages paid to girls in a telephone office. Of these 580 girls, 427 who work in department stores receive an average of only $6.68. The average weekly expenses of the 580 girls was $7.12.

An attempt is being made to solve this economic problem by a committee of three working in conjunction with advisory boards composed of employers, employes and representatives of the public. It has been difficult to get employes to serve on the boards as they are afraid of losing their positions if they take part in the discussion of minimum wages. The minimum wage law provides that an employer shall not discharge a woman for activity in this line. When a minimum wage is decided upon it will apply to the whole state.

Boyle Speaks.

Senator James Boyle of Eveleth explained the workman's compensation law, also initiative, referendum and recall that will come up at the next meeting of the legislature. Although Mr. Boyle regards the compensation law as inadequate, he sees in it an improvement upon conditions under which about one workman out of every eight injured received recompense. The money spent in litigation when there is injury would easily compensate workmen if paid directly to them, was his position.

Senator Boyle added a few remarks to Miss Evans' explanation of the minimum wage law. He described it as based upon the assumption that no man or woman should work for less than will furnish the necessities of life. In Minnesota provision is made for only women and children. Speaking of the questions that have been raised regarding the constitutionality of the minimum wage law, he said: "It is as constitutional to protect persons from sickness and disease as it is to protect them from an assassin."

Mother's Pension.

Mr. Boyle explained the mother's pension law that provides a widow, under certain conditions shall receive from the state $10 a month for each child under 14 years of age.

Miss Agnes Peterson, superintendent of the state bureau of women and children, traced the changes in women's work that have been brought about by changes in sociological conditions. Until recently Minnesota was an agricultural state and women stayed at home and did the things their grandmothers and mothers had done, sewing, cooking and other activities that characterize all peoples in the agricultural stage. Conditions have changed and now women do all these things but they do them in different ways and outside the home. There are 150,000 women wage earners in Minnesota she said.

In 1907 a law was passed providing the appointment of a woman to investigate the conditions under which women were working. Investigations have led to the passage of laws regulating working hours, safety appliances and sanitary conditions of workrooms and factories. Miss Peterson urged the working women of Duluth to talk over their problems with Miss Ericson and told how the women of St. Paul come to her office to discuss matters of interest to them.

In addition to the interesting talks there was a musical program. Miss Ruby May Krause gave a Chopin number on the piano, Miss Margaret Linehan sang several selections and Miss Emily Smith played a violin solo.

After the program those present were guests at a luncheon provided by Mrs. Gustave Carlson.

Pure Food Lecture.

It has been decided that Dr. Harvey A. Wiley's lecture on "The Sanitary Handling of Foods" will be held in the First Methodist church. Dr. Wiley, who is known all over the country as a pure food authority and whose magazine articles are of interest to all women who have the health of their families at heart, will come to Duluth under the auspices of the Housewives' league. March 21 is the date set for the lecture.

Zenith Lodge.

Zenith lodge, No. 99, Degree of Honor, will entertain at five hundred Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Maccabee hall, 21 Lake avenue north.

Shakespeare Class.

The last act of Richard the Third will be read at the meeting of the Shakespeare class of the Twentieth Century club this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the library club room. Miss Mary Shesgren will read the part of Richard and Mrs. William Fisher the part of Henry Tudor.

BENEFIT CONCERT.

Matinee Musicale to Aid Normanna Chorus.

Instead of the regular Matinee Musicale program this afternoon, a concert featuring the Normanna Male chorus of this city and Mrs. Marie O'Meara of St. Paul, will be given this evening.

The object of the entertainment is to aid the members of the Normanna chorus in their efforts to raise the required fund for a trip to the Norwegian centennial celebration at Christiania this coming summer. Jens Flaaten will direct the chorus and vocal solos will be rendered by Mrs. O'Meara.

In addition, Mrs. Donna Riblette Flaaten, who is in charge of the program, will sing the old English air, "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes," with a specially prepared humming accompaniment by the large chorus. The arrangement for this number was prepared by Prof. A. F. M. Custance.

The members of the chorus are to be assisted this evening by several members of the Nordon male chorus of Superior.

Swedish Baritone.

Under the auspices of the Orpheus Singing society, Joel Mossberg, the prominent Swedish baritone and recently elected to the directorate of the western division of the American Union of Swedish Singers, will sing at the Pilgrim Congregational church Friday evening.

Mr. Mossberg is very well known to Duluth music lovers, having appeared here in a similar concert two years ago. He will be accompanied by Miss Mamie Swanberg of Minneapolis at the concert Friday, in addition to which the Orpheus Singing society will render several selections during the evening.

Plan Flag Day.

Miss Viola Palmquist entertained the Red, White and Blue society yesterday afternoon at her home, 1214 East Fourth street. It is the intention of the society to sell 6,000 United States flags June 13. The proceeds of the sale will be used to help equip the children's ward of the proposed city and county hospital. After the business meeting there was a social hour. Miss Alice Gow gave a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Dorothy McLean. Miss Nina Asbjornson played a piano selection and the hostess gave a reading. Twenty-two members were present.

Theater Party.

Herbert A. Lasch entertained at a theater party at the Orpheum Saturday night in honor of his cousin, W. H. Peterson of Rome, N. Y., who is on his way to Denver. Mr. Lasch's guests were:

Messrs.—
Edward Henneberry, Alex Lavin, H. E. Lindberg.

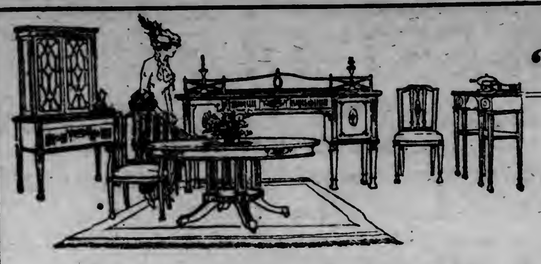

Misses—
Josephine Carruthers, Bessie Stephens, Lavina Campbell, Agnes Nillson, Matilda Smirks.

Miss Griffith Speaks.

"Our Neighbor" was the subject of the talk yesterday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. vesper service by Miss Gertrude Griffith of New York. A social hour following the services gave all present an opportunity to meet Miss Griffith, the national secretary of girls' work in the Y. W. C. A.

Engagement.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Schulte, 516 South Sixty-fourth avenue west, announce the engagement of their daughter, Cecilia Genevieve, to Andrew C. Dunn, formerly of this city but now of Winnipeg. The wedding will take place some time next month.

SURPRISED ON WEDDING DAY

Nine Former Schoolmates of Samuel Bank Come From Twin Cities to Attend Wedding.

Former school chums and class mates of Samuel Bank of Minneapolis and at one time of Duluth, were not content with merely sending congratulatory telegrams, but came in a body yesterday morning to attend the wedding last evening of Miss Esther Sosnovsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sosnovsky, 528 West Fourth street, to Mr. Bank.

The young men, nine in all, came unexpectedly and gave their old school mate a real surprise when they appeared at the wedding ceremony last evening.

Mr. Bank and his playmates were born in North Minneapolis. A club organized during high school days flourished for a time, but soon the young men sought other fields and the organization disbanded.

Mr. Bank came to Duluth to engage in business. He worked here for about two years and it was during this time that he met Miss Sosnovsky. About a year ago he returned to Minneapolis to engage in business for himself.

When the wedding was announced, the former school mates got together and decided to come here and surprise their old chum. Nine of them agreed to come and see the first of their number take the wedding vow.

The young men, who came to Duluth for the wedding are: H. B. Rosenberg, Mose Saxe, Charles London, Samuel Olesky, D. Strimling, Daniel Garber, Benjamin Labovitz, all of Minneapolis; Al Bank and Samuel Fink of St. Paul. Other out-of-town guests who attended the ceremony last evening were: Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Bank, parents of the groom; Miss Mary Bank, his sister, who acted as one of the bridesmaids; the Misses Frieda Silber, Esther Gross, Francis Gordon, Dora and Sadie Aronson, all of Minneapolis, and Miss Della Fink of St. Paul.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at the Adath Israel synagogue and was read by Rev. Dr. Kissen of St. Paul. Miss Sosnovsky was attended by Miss Esther Zurovsky as maid of honor and the Misses Minnie Velner, Rae Zurovsky, Eva Sosnovsky, Eva Oreck, Bessie Altman, Ida Oreck, Dollie Polinsky of Duluth, and Mary Bank of Minneapolis. Mr. Bank was attended by Dr. Samuel Gross of this city as best man and Messrs. Louis Zurovsky, Harry Altman, Harry Sosnovsky, Meyer Packer, Charles Finklestein, Abraham Averbrook, Abraham Oreck of Duluth, and Samuel Fink of St. Paul, as ushers.

Following the wedding ceremony, the bridal party and guests went to the Steinway hall, where a wedding supper was served to about 200 guests. Dancing was then enjoyed for the remainder of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Bank left last evening for a short wedding trip, and will be at home at the Leamington hotel, Minneapolis, after March 15.

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

No One Is Too Poor to Feed the Birds.

It is encouraging to note the response made to the plea during the cold snap to feed the birds. No one is too poor to contribute of their own fare to make a feast for the birds. If only the crumbs from the tablecloth are scattered out of the window or door, enough falls to the ground to make a meal for a saucy, twittering sparrow.

I took a railroad journey, which as railroads have a way of doing, skirted the poorer sections of several towns. Houses were poor and cheerless-looking; for the most part along the route of my travels, but hearts were not too poor to respond to the needs of the little feathered creatures whose meal times are not as regular as they should be, now that Mother Earth is covered with a mantle of snow.

Backyards, back piazzas, and window ledges presented larders, which the birds were not slow to benefit by, 'mid twitterings and many bird capers. Dry bread was the usual offering, though it was not uncommon to see a bit of meat tied to a shutter or a piazza support. Bones were another delicacy with which backyards were dotted in an effort to succor the birds.

Maybe you think the birds did not appreciate it. Maybe you think there is doubt of their hunger, but if you could have seen but one little patch of snow about ten feet in diameter, in the center of which reposed some crusts of bread and a greasy ham bone, your skepticism would have vanished.

If we have no more than a window ledge we can make it the repository of bread crumbs and scraps usually thrown away or we can buy such grains as the birds relish and scatter them about where they will be found readily.

Moreover the feeding of the little birds in winter affords an excellent opportunity to impress a lasting and important lesson. Every child should learn to be duly considerate of animals, birds and all crawling things. How easier can a beginning be made than by encouraging him to spread crumbs about the dooryard or upon the window ledge while he from the inside or a distance quietly watches the birds at their breakfast.

INDIGESTION ENDED, STOMACH FEELS FINE

"Pape's Diapepsin" fixes sour, gassy, upset stomachs in five minutes.

Sour, gassy, upset stomach, indigestion, heartburn, dyspepsia; when the food you eat ferments into gases and stubborn lumps; your head aches and you feel sick and miserable, that's when you realize the magic in Pape's Diapepsin. It makes all stomach misery vanish in five minutes.

If your stomach is in a continuous revolt—if you can't get it regulated, please, for your sake, try Pape's Diapepsin. It's so needless to have a bad stomach—make your next meal a favorite food meal, then take a little Diapepsin. There will not be any distress—eat without fear. It's because Pape's Diapepsin "really does" regulate weak, out-of-order stomachs that gives it its millions of sales annually.

Get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. It is the quickest, surest stomach relief and cure known. It acts almost like magic—it is a scientific, harmless and pleasant stomach preparation which truly belongs in every home.

EXIT THE TANGO; ENTER OLD DANCES

Hard Blow Given Modern Steps at Dance of Piper's Band.

The United States, with its latest ballroom steps, including the tango, hesitation, Argentine two-step and Brazilian maxixe, lost out in a competition against the "bonnie old dances of Scotia" at the ball given Saturday evening by the Clan Stewart pipers' band at the Foresters' hall, Fourth avenue west and First street.

At the ball Saturday evening the tango was not in it when it came to dancing, the century-old favorites of Scotland. The highland schottische and the many square dances and flings, still popular in Scotland, proved as popular with the dancers of Duluth Saturday.

Although many had expected the dancers to introduce the new American steps, not a single couple attempted them during the evening.

About 300 Scotsmen were present. The music was furnished by the pipers of the band recently organized by Clan Stewart. Next Wednesday evening the lodge will give its regular monthly dance at the Foresters' hall and on March 18, following an initiation of a large class, another dance will be given at the lodge hall.

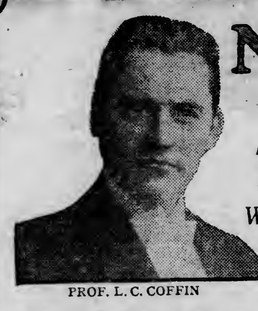

MUST BE SIMPLE.

Life: In a registration booth in San Francisco an old negro woman had just finished registering for the first time.

"Am you shore," she asked the clerk, "dat I'se done all I has to do?"

"Quite sure," replied the clerk, "you see, it's very simple."

"I'd ought to knowed it," said the old woman. "If those fool men folks been doing it all dese years, I might a knowed it was a powerful simple process."

This Grafonola, equipped with the new No. 6 Reproducer and tone arm, the VERY LATEST improvement, and the best; including 14 Double Records, 28 Selections—enough of the world's best music for an entire evening's entertainment—all on easy payments.

You cannot weigh a Grafonola in terms of dollars—it must be placed upon the same terms as patriotism, love of home, love of kindred; for its not the instrument itself that gives it worth, it's the atmosphere it creates in the home.

The songless home is apt to be the weak home; it's the home usually where people discuss whether life is worth living; it's the home where the boy and girl, finding no fund of happiness and amusement, seek their pleasures elsewhere—it's too often the average home where life is unrelieved by any ready-at-hand enjoyment. The songless home does not mould strong characters.

The coming of the Grafonola into such a home is more than the chance acquaintance who can entertain at times by a song or instrumental selection. It is the friend of all the family and can be drawn on for many a happy hour.

Do not fail to come in and let us show you the new improved Grafonola—it brings the actual life-likeness of the artists to your home.

Subscribers will confer a favor by making known any complaint of service.

When changing the address of your paper, it is important to give both old and new addresses.

The Duluth Herald accepts advertising contracts with the distinct guaranty that it has the largest circulation in Minnesota outside the Twin Cities.

The Herald will be glad to have its attention called to any misleading or untrue statement which may appear in its news, editorial or advertising columns.

MORE POWER, MORE PAYROLLS.

The Great Northern Power company announced in The Herald Saturday evening that demands for power from new industries have forced it to increase the capacity of its plant twenty-five per cent.

It would be hard to imagine better news for Duluth than this.

There is no better yardstick to measure industrial activity by than the consumption of power.

More power means more factories and bigger factories; more factories mean more payrolls; more payrolls mean more population and more business for everybody.

WATCH DULUTH GROW!

Maybe the next big discovery of science will be the scandalless railroad.

STILL MORE SUPPORT FOR THE 1915 MIDSUMMER FESTIVAL.

As announced in The Herald Saturday evening, two more organizations have unanimously and enthusiastically indorsed the midsummer pageant and festival plan—The Duluth Real Estate exchange and the Svea Glee club.

The support of the real estate exchange had been confidently counted upon because of its public-spirited and progressive character.

The Svea Glee club comes into line with a suggestion that should appeal strongly to the committee that will have charge of the program to be outlined later. This is that "all male choruses of Duluth be united to form one big chorus and give an open air concert."

Why not, indeed, have at least one day of the festival week set apart for a good old-fashioned Saengerfest, to be held in one of the beautifully wooded parks—say at Lester, Woodland, Lincoln park, Fairmount park or Fond du Lac? This to be participated in not only by local glee clubs and choruses, but by musical organizations from other communities—as many as could be attracted. Music is the breath of life to our Scandinavian and German neighbors. They make infinitely more out of it than the rest of us do, and the rest of us would be vastly better off if we made more out of it. A Saengerfest day would be a splendid addition to the festival program.

We have for years favored such a midsummer project. • • • In all these undertakings there comes a time to mark suggestions and propaganda with doing, to realize ideals. The Herald has urged 1915 as the date for this, and we most cordially join in this. Let it be 1915 and go to it. Duluth has the energy, the brains, the initiative and the money. Combine them and give such a fete as will at once place Duluth in the running with New Orleans, Los Angeles, Louisville and San Diego. Having started, there should be no turning back. —The News Tribune.

Now that's handsome, and we rejoice in it as it deserves. This cooperation is needed, and is most welcome. So far as its reference to The Herald is concerned, let's forget that. The Herald wants no credit for suggesting what has been suggested many times, what has been in the minds of all for years. It simply wants this festival to be a success, and it is sure it will be. It is not The Herald's festival, nor the News Tribune's, nor the Commercial club's, nor the Retail Merchants' association's, nor the Rotary club's, but DULUTH'S.

The News Tribune adds:

Now let The Herald just as cordially join in promoting the carnival of winter sports, which is to signalize Duluth this year as the center for winter sports, and we will for once have a united and happy newspaper family, as much of a novelty, perhaps, as either carnival.

We sincerely wish we could fall in line for the ice carnival plan. It would be very pleasant—and no doubt affecting—if we could. We cannot, however, for two reasons: First, because we do not wish to see Duluth repeat the fatal mistake of St. Paul and Minneapolis in seeking a kind of advertising which inevitably proves harmful; second, because an attempt to hold two great world-famous events a year would be a fatal division of energy, enterprise and money.

Let's push winter sports. Let's have big ski tournaments, big curling bonspiels, big hockey tournaments; let's revive tobogganing and snow-shoeing and skating: but let's not seek to make Duluth famous in a way that will associate its name abroad with the concepts of ice and snow and cold—especially as we are advertising that it is "Cool in Duluth" in summer.

Better by far to turn every available ounce of energy, so far as festivals are concerned, toward a mid-summer festival that will make Duluth famous as a summer resort and as the center of the greatest summer playground on earth. People drawn here for that will learn that Duluth is a place where labor is at its maximum efficiency twelve full months each year, that Duluth is pleasant and comfortable to live in the year around, and that here is the place above all places to work in and play in and be healthy and happy and prosperous in.

A Minot man has invented a contraption which it is claimed "will revolutionize the putting up of stovepipes." If there's any truth in the report, Minot is dead sure to be represented in the hall of fame.

THE ROSY PROMISE OF THE GRAIN FIELDS.

In the fields of commerce, manufacture and finance the spirit of the day is a spirit of hourly growing optimism.

In the field of agriculture—the foundation of it all—it is fair enough to say that never has there been a time in the history of the country when the indications were so rosily promising.

The largest acreage in history has been planted to winter wheat.

Never before at this time has the condition of winter wheat been so sound. There is utterly no sign of deterioration. The promise for a record-breaking winter wheat crop could not be greater.

In the spring wheat regions, not only of the United States but Canada, the outlook is also for the largest planted acreage in history. The abnormally late fall and mild early winter made possible more fall plowing than the country ever saw before—put more acres in readiness for the seed than ever before.

And, in connection with these promised great yields, behold the phenomenon of promised good prices.

Ordinarily, big yields mean low prices; and high prices usually are a mockery because they go with small yields.

This time, world-wide conditions assure good prices even in the face of record-breaking yields. The supply of last year's crop remaining is small, the world's demand is for all that can be expected from the 1914 crop.

For the farmer, the railroad, the merchant, for everybody—because everybody, in the last analysis, lives upon the farmer and prospers with him when he prospers and suffers with him when he suffers—the word today is "Cheer up—the best is yet to come!"

Prof. Taft says the courts are in bad because the newspapers influence jurors. Which rather brings to mind the old problem, "Why is the moon when it spins?"

A GOVERNMENT LABOR EXCHANGE.

The tendency is strong toward having the Federal government do something practical to equalize the labor supply throughout the country.

The other day The Herald printed on this page an article by F. W. Fitzpatrick of Washington, who as a resident of Duluth many years ago began, by a communication to this newspaper, the fight for postal savings banks which has now been won. In this article Mr. Fitzpatrick set forth vividly the need of such work, and the advantages of having the all-pervading influence of the Federal government back of it.

And that reminds us that if this project becomes a fact, as we hope it will, the credit for originating it will belong to Mr. Fitzpatrick, and to a communication from him published in these pages two years ago.

Every large employer of labor knows the need of such service. The farmers particularly know it. The phenomenon—it ought to be a phenomenon, though it isn't—of a labor surplus in one spot and a labor scarcity in another, is common enough. It exists almost every day. It is an injury to the workers, to the employers, and to the public interest.

This condition could in a large measure be cured by the work of a national labor exchange, which would supplement and not supplant the public work of this character now being carried on by many states, including Minnesota.

One of the recommendations of the national conference on unemployment recently held was that a Federal bureau of distribution be created under the department of labor, to establish employment exchanges throughout the country. This bureau would act as a clearing house of information and would further the distribution of labor.

Every man who is willing to work has a right to coin his willing energy into bread.

It is the duty of society, through government, to see that he gets that right.

Wherever the anomalous situation exists of men vainly seeking work in one place while employers vainly seek help in other places, it is an indictment of social efficiency, damning proof of a public neglect.

Machinery to cure this inefficiency and remedy this neglect will be good for employers, good for workers, and good for the public.

It's almost time for comparative figures on the respective acreage in Woodland and Lakeside.

From a Senator's Note-Book

From the New York Evening Post.

So I went to see the Schoolmaster. He greeted me warmly.

"Concerning this bill for the regulation of interstate baseball—" he said.

"Mr. Schoolmaster," I said, "let me make my position clear at the start. I am unalterably opposed to the bill."

"Your incisive statement of opinion affords me extraordinary pleasure," said the Schoolmaster. "That is why I sent for you. I want you to help me ascertain the truth. In my perplexity I have been saying to myself: 'What are the defects of a bill which elicit such vigorous opposition from a statesman of such exceptional insight and knowledge?' I was sure you could make things plain to me."

It struck me that he had a fine, clear eye.

"That is what I have been saying to myself," continued the Schoolmaster. "I have said, 'There must be some unanswerable argument which impels a man of that caliber to cling to a position which has been denounced as viciously reactionary by the leading newspaper of his state.'"

I said, "Mr. Schoolmaster, may I see the editorial in question?" He handed me a marked copy of my home paper. I was struck by the firm lines of his mouth.

"I have always admired definiteness of conviction," said the Schoolmaster. "I have been all the more impressed by your courageous attitude on the bill because of the numerous telegrams that have reached me from influential persons in your state protesting against your attitude."

"May I see the telegrams?" I said.

He handed me a sheaf of yellow telegraph sheets. I was struck with the sense of power in his long, lean fingers.

"Of course," said the Schoolmaster, "I have said to myself that you must take orders from your conscience and not from your constituents; and all the more because you have against you a majority of your own party, of whom a sufficient number have declared in favor of the bill to make its passage certain."

"How do I know that, Mr. Schoolmaster?" I said.

He handed me a batch of letters written on congressional stationery. I studied them a little while, and my duty became clear to me.

"Mr. Schoolmaster," I said, "I will vote for the bill."

He rose and paced the room, stopping in front of me.

"My dear senator," he said earnestly, "let me implore you not to be overhasty in this matter. It is less your vote I desire than your assistance towards my own enlightenment."

But I would not be dissuaded. "I am determined to fight for the bill," I said.

He pulled out his watch.

"Unfortunately," he said, "I have an engagement, else I would pursue the subject with you."

"My mind is quite made up," I said.

The Schoolmaster thought a moment.

"I think you have convinced me," he said. "It has been a pleasure to cooperate with you. Good-day."

He has a very strong chin.

The Little White Bride in the Picture.

Little white bride in the picture,
Queer is your old-fashioned gown;
Queer are your slippers and earrings,
And your ringleted hair falling down;
And your bridegroom so truly Byronic—
His white satin waistcoat's a dream;
There was skimmed milk, perhaps, in your era,
But you two, were surely the cream.

Poor Babes in the Wood, o'er your morning
Dark lowered the war tempest grim!
He fell 'neath its bolt at Manassas;
Your heart is still dreaming of him;
But gone were the servants and money;
And the babies a stair-steppy crowd;
So you bent your frail back to the burden,
And they even say, dear, that you plowed.

Your fingers, that scarce could embroider,
Sewed fast when the daylight was gone,
And the feet that had danced with the gayest
Were astir with the shivering dawn;
And whatever your burdens and heartaches,
You hid them with innocent guile;
So always the path of the children
Was bright with the glow of your smile.

Oh, long was the heart-breaking struggle;
But your square little chin held its own,
And your dark eyes were steady, unyielding,
As you matched the world's strength with your own;
And you won in the end, as was fitting,
You wonderful, weak-bodied thing:
For—all woman, all life, and all mother—
Your soul was the soul of a King.

When the gentleman rises from Georgia
In the halls of the nation today
I shall see but your eyes, little mother,
I shall hear but the words that you say;
And I pray, though the counterfeit throngs us.
The last of your stamp may ring true,
And prove in the time of his testing
To be worthy his country and you.

Royal Volunteers Seen in the Movies

From "Breaking Into the Movies," by Richard Harding Davis, in Scribner's Magazine.

When one cold morning late last fall our company sailed out of New York harbor, it consisted of three actresses, sixteen actors, two camera men, a business manager, a stage director, our star, Dustin Farnum, and Augustus Thomas (who, besides being the director general of the all-star corporation, was also the author of the scenario), and two miles of film. In my ignorance, for such an undertaking our expedition seemed inadequate. I did not then know that to the moving picture people all the world's a stage, and men and women merely actors. I did not then know that through the energy of Mr. Pratt, and the subtle and diplomatic urgings of the director general, volunteer actors by the hundreds would flock to our standard, that to assist us recruits would enlist from the sidewalks, from mountain passes, from the decks of ships, and from the most conservative of clubs and drawing rooms. I did not then know that to many people, of all conditions, to appear upon a film, to see themselves as they are seen by others, and to have their friends see them, is a temptation and an adventure. I had not calculated on a human weakness, on the vanity that even in the heart of the Congo leads a naked "wood boy" to push in front of your camera. That he will never see the photograph into which he has projected himself does not deter him. He desires only that his features, which he admires, may be perpetuated, that they may attain immortality, even the brief immortality of a strip of celluloid. But, whatever the motive, the fact remains that before we left Cuba, by the addition of "extra people," a few working for pay, the great majority out of courtesy, our cast of characters had grown from 20 to 2,000.

As Mr. Thomas arranged his scenario, the business of each scene and the wording of each insert were typewritten on a separate page of cardboard. There were duplicate sets of these cardboards bound in flexible leather covers by adjustable steel springs, one set belonging to Mr. Thomas, and the other to his assistant and stage director, William Haddock. Each page was as neatly ruled and as methodically planned as a ship's log. Each gave the number of the scene and act, and the "business" of that scene; and blank spaces were left for recording the time of day and the kind of sunlight by which that scene was photographed. In double columns were the names of the characters to appear in the scene and the costumes each was to wear. The costumes were described by numerals. The garments a man wore in the mines would be No. 1, his evening clothes 2, and if to his evening clothes a belt and revolver were added, that was counted as a new costume and described by a new number. At first it was confusing.

"Clay in No. 4," Mr. Thomas would read; "President Alvarez in No. 6, his wife in No. 5." It sounded as though he were condemning them to separate cells. But by his system Thomas saved endless confusion. As soon as he had decided what "location" he would use, it was necessary only to turn to the page that called for that location and at a glance he knew what actors were needed, and in what clothes they were to appear, and what part of the story they must carry forward.

In preparing a film play the scenes are not produced in the order in which later they appear upon the screen. Which scene will be photographed depends upon the location most available. For example, we were at sea and the scenario called for scenes on shipboard. Accordingly, for his stage setting Thomas borrowed the decks of the Royal Mail boat on which we happened to be passengers, and for his backstop the Atlantic ocean.

In the "out-of-doors" drama one man in his time plays many parts. In the legitimate drama the hero has only to read lines, and other lines inform the audience that he is brave, that he is daring, that in every out-of-door exercise he excels. For the spectators of the silent film such hearsay evidence is not possible. To them the actor may not explain in pantomime that he can climb a tree. He must climb the tree. They demand to be "shown." Farnum, who was making his debut in the film drama, illustrated this. When he played Lieut. Denton in Mr. Thomas' "Arizona" every one in the cast except the villain told the audience that in all the cavalry Denton was the finest officer and most daring rider. All Denton actually did in front of the audience was to comb his hair. But in the "out-of-doors" drama, with all out-of-doors to work in, Thomas did not give Farnum leisure to comb his hair. This time Thomas would not tell the spectators his hero was a rough rider, but on horseback sent him to jump precipices and scale ravines, and so proved it. It was fortunate for our star that he enjoyed the strenuous life. We gave him his share. And when we did not invent work he improvised. In one scene he escorted the wife of President Alvarez to the coast, where, under a heavy fire from revolutionists, a shore boat was to row her to a warship. When the picture was being taken, forty feet from shore, the boat, loaded with bluejackets, struck on a sandbar. The boat could not come to the lady, the lady could not go to the boat, and imaginary bullets were splashing around her. Farnum acted as a hero of a film drama must act. He lifted the lady to his shoulders, and, with the water up to his arm pits, plunged into the surf and carried her to the boat. It made a far better scene than the one we had rehearsed. But, if our hero had been a small man——?

A Word With City Newspapers.

St. Albans Messenger: When a metropolitan newspaper devotes considerable space on its front page theorizing on where Vincent Astor is going on his wedding tour, with the date of the wedding not even announced, we guess we are entitled to say that Mr. Jones has painted his henhouse.—Barre Times.

Amusing and amazing is the conceit of some of our bigger brothers of the city who fondly dream that all that there is in the newspaper business is theirs. While they poke fun at the country papers they forget that they themselves are open to the criticism of being the most provincial of all issues in the country. For gossip no country paper can equal that of the city. From front page displays of such matters as the Astor wedding trip, for instance, one might well think that the fate of a nation of a hundred million souls hangs in the balance on the move of this or that young man, who, by fortune of birth, has come into a swollen fortune which could not bear the searching light of modern thought on property acquisition. For it is true that some of the big city papers are fertile fields of gossip and driveling trivialities, and are deserts of useful information. In other words the country paper is more loyal to the newspaper ideal than the average metropolitan publication. Of course, there are notable exceptions.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Postmaster General Burleson is rarely seen without an umbrella clutched in his hand. The same may be said of Col. George W. Goethals, the Panama canal chief, whenever he is in this part of the country; but the most persistent umbrella carrier is Burleson. It takes a cloudless sky and an optimistic weather forecast to wheedle Burleson out into the open without his trusty umbrella right with him.

The other day, as he was walking down street, Burleson met Lindley M. Garrison, secretary of war. Garrison playfully started to pass him up without even a nod and Burleson acted shocked.

"Have I ever said anything against the war department?" asked Burleson.

"To tell you the truth," chuckled Garrison, "I did not recognize you without your umbrella."

Uncle Jerry Donovan, member of congress from Connecticut, looks like a fire-eater, but has a sense of humor. The other day a newspaper man caught him on his office phone, but mistook his voice for that of his secretary.

"Has Donovan got any news?" asked the correspondent.

"Of course not," replied Donovan; "that old guy never has any news. He scarcely knows he's alive."

"Huh. You're a nice, candid sort of a secretary, anyhow," observed the newspaperman.

"Why not?" asked Donovan. "What's the use of trying to make a bluff? Old Donovan doesn't even know what month it is. Go and strike a live one."

Representative William Schley Howard of Georgia sprung a little simile the other day to express his idea of the difficulties of a certain undertaking.

"That," says he, "would be just like climbing up a greased pole backward, carrying an armful of eels."

The full name of Representative "Hampy" Moore of Pennsylvania is parted modishly over on the left side, thus: J. Hampton Moore.

"What's the J. for?" asked a friend the other day.

"It's for a sort of prologue," replied "Hampy" right off the reel, and looking the inquirer boldly in the eye.

Representative Joseph A. Goulden of New York is believed to be the only man in public life who was present when Abraham Lincoln delivered his famous Gettysburg oration. He was born only six miles from the battlefield and walked over to get his first look at Lincoln. He had elbowed his way up close to the stand and was within a rod or two of Lincoln when he spoke.

"When I got back home after the exercises, my mother asked me what I thought of the president's speech," says Goulden. "I was 17 and therefore a little blase. But I admitted that it was a pretty fair speech. I told her as much of it as I could remember and she said:

"'That's a speech that will live.'

"And I guess she was right."

Senator Tillman starts out each day by kicking himself. He kicks himself before he even gets out of bed.

He does not do this, however, because he harbors any feeling of disgust or impatience toward himself.

Kicking himself is No. 1 of a list of rules he follows out daily. He believes these rules are largely responsible for his partial restoration to health, and nothing could induce Tillman to begin a day without first kicking himself viciously fifteen times with each foot.

He always has on hand typewritten lists of these exercises and rules of diet, and mails them or hands them out whenever he thinks they will be helpful.

In at least one respect the Tillman rules to health are vastly superior to almost any other we ever saw. For example, No. 8 begins: "Take a cold bath and rub down briskly, unless you do not like cold water or have not the facilities to do it."

You can see for yourself that there is some sense to a rule like that. That clause "unless you do not like cold water" gives one a reasonable amount of leeway and saves him from joining the great army of cold bath liars.

Representative Edmund Platt of New York is a Macaulay to Poughkeepsie. That is, he is the author of a history of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

W. J., alias "Fingy," Connors, an out-spoken citizen of Buffalo, N. Y., stood in the office of the secretary of the navy the other morning waiting for a congressman to introduce him to Secretary Daniels.

He got to looking at an immense globe that has been in the office for many years, showing all the countries of the great big world in which we live.

Connors noticed that Alaska was labeled "Russian America," indicating that the globe had been made before Alaska was sold to the United States a long, long time ago.

"See here!" burst out Connors, when he met the secretary, "'is this the most up-to-date blankety be-dashed globe you've got? If your coaling stations aren't marked any more accurately than Alaska, you'll be in a double-asterisked, hyphenated, billy-be-divvle of a fix if we ever have a war with anybody!

"And another thing, Daniels!" roared Connors, as he was about to stalk out, "why in the name of Jack Johnson don't you name a decent ship after Buffalo?"

A Plea for Suffrage

Jane Addams:

If woman would fulfill her traditional responsibility to her own children; if she would educate and protect from danger factory children who must find their recreation on the street; if she would bring the cultural forces to bear upon our materialistic civilization; and if she would do it all with the dignity and directness fitting one who carries on her immemorial duties, then she must bring herself to the use of the ballot—that latest implement for self government. May we not fairly say that American women need this implement in order to preserve the home?

Wanted a Rugged Rug.

The Tatler: Maj. Schnapps—I want a rug for the bar of the golf club.

Assistant—Yes, sir; you want something for hard wear.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Oh! Then There Is a Machine!

Madison Independent Press: That awful Ed Smith seems to be under fire all along the line. But it does not seem to bother him and he isn't making much noise. When the other fellows get through telling what they are going to do with his machine he'll quietly dump the whole outfit into that very machine and make sausage meat of them.

That's the Idea.

Gonvick Banner: With but the lone exception of one state, Minnesota for extravagance leads the nation. In a comparison of nine states in a recent issue of The Duluth Herald, our great state's share is credited as one-third of the total expenditures of the entire lot. Is it not high time for a reorganization of the state government in the interest of efficency and economy? By all means the voters should unite and pledge to elect at the coming election candidates who have "efficency and economy" as their main plank and are dependable.

Maybe!

Sunbeam Sunbeam: There would have been no question about Sam Iverson defeating Governor Eberhart for the Republican nomination if the other candidates had stayed out of the fight, and we are of the opinion that the people will eliminate the other ones at the election and give him votes enough to land the nomination.

Oh, Say Can You See By the Dawn's Early Light?

Luverne Herald: The passing of the Progressive party is largely due to just two things—the realization by the voters that they can't be Republicans and support Bull Moosers, and the realization of this fact by the Bull Moose office seekers. Accordingly, both are returning to the Republican fold.

What?

Madison Independent Press: So, Senator Clapp has changed his views. By the way, what were and now what are Senator Clapp's views?

Reforms Are No Picnic Excursions.

Aurora News: The recommendations of the economy and efficiency committee will be awaited with interest and will be fought bitterly by the great followers of patronage who have been taken care of in the many appointments from year to year. The system has been built up gradually—each legislature adding a plum or two—until it has become a heavy load upon the state, and its readjustment to a business basis will have to run the gauntlet of all known forms of log rolling through the legislature. Every citizen should inform himself of the findings of this committee so as to be able to support or reject its recommendations upon their merits.

Open Conference the People's Rights.

Albert Lea Tribune: Governor Eberhart informs a breathless world that should he conclude to make the run for governor again, he will conduct his campaign within the law. It is a relief to know that the governor does not intend to break the law. It would have a bad effect upon the public at large to have it published that the chief executive of the state was conducting his campaign in defiance of law. Of course the inference of the governor is perfectly plain. He would have the people believe that he is the sole honor of perfection, that it is those wicked Progressive Republicans who have dared to oppose his master, who are breaking the law by having a public conference to consider the best method in overthrowing the machine. The people have a right to meet and confer, and such a move is not in conflict with any law, primary or otherwise. The difference between the people and the governor, Ed Smith, Billy Hamm and representatives of the Steel trust, railroads and other special interests is that the former meet openly, while the latter meet behind closed doors and guard their doings from the public. In fact, their transactions would not bear the light of publicity.

Schools as a Social Center

New Orleans Times-Democrat: The New York city board of education has taken wise action in deciding to open school buildings to public entertainments, including dancing, at a nominal rental. Two ideas seem to have actuated the board in reaching this decision. First, that it was to the public advantage and welfare to hold such entertainments in the well-lighted and ventilated public schools, instead of in the dingy halls, ill-lighted, often insanitary, reeking of stale smoke and liquor, which are commonly in use; and, secondly, because the utilization of the school buildings for this purpose will more or less popularize them and tend to restore the old days when the schoolhouse was a social center of the community.

The action will have the best effect and influence in New York, particularly so in the congested tenement house section, more so, perhaps, than in most other cities. There are fewer available halls or meeting places in Lower New York, and the public schools are probably the best, most central and most sanitary buildings that could be used for meeting purposes. If anything is to be done toward encouraging social intercourse—and this is an important feature of life today even among the poorest—none can accomplish more in that direction than the boards of education by the tender of the public school houses for social as well as educational work.

These buildings are ordinarily in use only a very few hours of the day, and are closed evenings and nights when thousands are seeking places of entertainment of various kinds. They are the property of the public, and it would seem that they can and should be utilized to the advantage of the general public, provided this does not interfere in any way with their service as schools. The New York board of education believes that throwing them open to the general public to visit and enjoy would popularize them and make the people better acquainted with them.

The decision of the New York board is a revival of the old practice once universal throughout the country, where the school was practically the meeting house of the district at which all public gatherings were held. There is a tendency to revive the practice, and throughout the South and West the school buildings, which in most communities are the largest and best of any in use, are being used for other social purposes, and not for education alone. This has been agreed to in a number of Louisiana towns. The plan has worked well so far, with practically no complaints that the privilege of using the school buildings by others than the teachers and children has been abused.

There can be no better or more elevating social center than the school house.

Wanted the Stoppers.

New York Globe: There is a lad in a certain Scottish town who is noted for his shrewdness. The other day he was sent by his father to a neighboring public house with the following order:

"Please send to our house ten dozen of ale."

Now, it so happened that one of the publican's faults is a propensity to poke his nose into other people's business, and so, when he had read the order, he could not help ejaculating:

"Guid gracious, laddie, and whatever is yer fether gaun tae dae wi' sae muckle ale?"

For a moment Johnnie was puzzled, knowing that his father wouldn't like him to exactly tell the truth. Then an idea occurred to him and he quietly replied:

"I'm no verra sure, but I think he's gaun tae mak' a cork frame and he'll need the corks."

HIS "ESTIMATION INSIGNIFICANT."

To the Editor of The Herald:

In Monday night's Herald I notice where an infant of 19 years gets arrested for smoking a cigarette. A fine law, indeed, interfering with the rights of a person. "It is the law," replies Mr. Hicken, "and I must enforce and you must abide by it; but there are exceptions, such as the Metropole saloon license, for instance."

Nature's immutable and inexorable law, make a man of a boy in his "teens," but the framers of the Constitution disregarded this law and made it 21 years. Can man supersede the laws of nature? No. Then why cannot a minor smoke a cigarette or drink a glass of beer? Because, in my insignificant estimation, the lawmakers were thoughtless or ignorant.

I contend Mr. Hicken is head of the police partially in name and partially in reality. By this I infer he is ready to protect a minor from liquor and nicotine; but when it comes to long hours and unprotected machines he is as silent as a dead Indian. In the first case the title holds (according to present day intelligence), and in the rest it exists only in your imagination.

A minor is allowed to work and produce, but when it comes to taking a drink, voting or smoking a cigarette, it is another story. By what law (statute laws not meant) or authority has a man (21 years) a right to deprive a minor of these things.

Mr. Hicken, you would do well to cease to enforce this obnoxious law for these reasons: (a) A legislature cannot justly forbid a minor from smoking a cigarette. (b) It is a minor's own business if he smokes and not the legislature's or your's, Mr. Hicken. (c) By the law of nature, it is infringing upon the personal rights and liberties of an individual.

A minor past 18 years of age can get cigarettes at any time. If not in Duluth, they will go to Superior. Now, can you stop them? No, I guess not.

Thanking you for the above space, I am, yours logically,

F. M.

COUNTRY IS BACK OF PRESIDENT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

President Wilson's message to congress urging the repealing of the Panama canal tolls act is a source of gratification to all red-blooded patriotic Americans. It not only expresses the personal view of the president, but also expresses the unanimous opinion of the people as well.

Congress should repeal this act with all reasonable expedition.

POSTMASTER'S TERM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Kindly advise me through your Open Court the exact time that Postmaster Cook has been in service, also did he serve out an unexpired term of Guy Eaton? A READER.

Postmaster Cook's term—his alloted four years—expires June 30 of this year. He did not serve out an unexpired term of Mr. Eaton.—Editor.

WOMEN LAWYERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you please answer the following questions through the Open Court?

Do women, as a majority, succeed as lawyers?

What would be the best course for a girl, who must earn part of her expenses, to take to secure a good education in law? Could she teach school while taking a law course at a college? Is a complete high school course necessary for a lawyer?

Any other advice that you can give will be very much appreciated. Respectfully yours, "AMBITIOUS."

McGrath, Minn., March 3.

As to the success of women as lawyers, the question is too large to try to answer without thorough investigation. Undoubtedly many of them do succeed. As to the other questions, the best thing you can do is to write the state university law department. There is a night school there and many who work during the day attend it at night and get their diplomas. A complete high school education is not necessary, but desirable.—The Editor.

HERE IS THAT POEM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The poem asked for by George W. McKay of Kelsey, Minn., in your issue of March 5 is as follows:

I stood one evening by the blacksmith's door,
And heard the anvil ring the vesper chime,
Then looking in I saw upon the floor
Old hammers worn with beating years of time.

"How many anvils have you had?" said I,
"To wear and batter all these hammers so?"
"Just one," the blacksmith said, with twinkling eye,
"The anvil wears the hammers out, you know."

And so methought the anvil of God's Word
For ages skeptic blows have beat upon;
And though the sound of clanging blows is heard,
The anvil is unharmed, the hammers gone.

The poem is attributed to Juniata Rohrback of Washington, D. C., as its author. Respectfully yours,

T. STANLEY OADAMS,
Pastor First M. E. Church.

THAT WOODLAND AVENUE PAVEMENT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Before the property owners vote on material to be used in paving Woodland avenue, I would like to call their attention to a few facts, and to the mistaken made in the past by owners of property on our avenues who voted for a slippery pavement—many of them because it was cheaper.

There are very few people living in the paved avenues of the East end today who would not gladly double the amount expended on those pavements were the opportunity now offered—as the constant spectacle of falling horses, even with light loads, is heartbreaking. It is too late to remedy what has already been laid, but the city can and should prevent such a mistake occurring again. There is not a paved avenue in the East end today that any load can be hauled up on—only the dirt avenues are available. If Woodland avenue is paved with other than macadam or sandstone, it will be the same old story for the teamsters. They simply can't haul coal or any other load on that road, which is the main highroad to Woodland, and also is used entirely for all heavy trucking to the normal school, Kent road, and that whole district this side of the little pumping station on top of the hill.

If property owners on Woodland avenue from Fourth street to the pumping station desire to witness falling horses, then let them vote for concrete, cedar blocks, asphalt or some such pavement, all of which have proved so very slippery at all times of the year.

One argument against sandstone has been the expense. Then why not have the roadbed laid preparatory to sandstone and finished with crushed rock, oiled, which would last some ten to fifteen years, when sandstone could easily be laid. If people residing in Woodland wish a hard, smooth pavement, have it start from the hill top, but in the name of common sense, don't put down any such on that stiff grade to the pumping station. It will be years, if ever, before all the hauling to Woodland will be by way of car track on Fourth street, as there is too much filling required to widen the road; besides, as was said before, all the district of Kent road is dependent on Woodland avenue for hauling, as Twenty-fourth avenue is impossible above Fifth street, as it is.

We had Mrs. Crane, the expert on civic questions, visit Duluth some years ago to give us a dose on criticisms; among others was that we were ruining the East end, the residential district of the city, with too many hard pavements, when the more up-to-date cities were keeping as many roads macadam as possible on account of noise and beauty—that with crushed rock at our very doors why were we putting down hard, ugly pavements? What would she say to a suburban road being paved so? Better leave the old dirt road as it is, or resurface temporarily until property owners can find out what has been the experience of other cities.

AN ONLOOKER.

Duluth, March 7.

The point raised here surely deserves consideration. It cannot be a pleasant spectacle to anybody to see horses toiling painfully up heavy grades over slippery pavements, slipping and falling and bruising themselves terribly, merely that the pavements may fit somebody's idea of beauty. Woodland avenue from Fourth street to the hilltop, with its steep grade, is one problem; Woodland avenue beyond, where it is mostly level, is another. Surely it is wise for the city and the property owners to consider treating them separately. The suggestions in the above communication, it seems to us, should be taken into consideration by those who are interested in the paving of Woodland avenue.—The Editor.

THANKSGIVING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Could you please inform me who sets the day that Thanksgiving comes on and if this person can change the day which we are accustomed to celebrate? And oblige S. C. M.

Knife River, Minn., March 5.

Thanksgiving is not a statutory holiday in all states, although it is in many of them. It is usually observed on the last Thursday in November, a proclamation being issued first by the president and later followed by similar documents by the governors of the various states.—The Editor.

PROTEST FROM CARLTON.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Looking over The Herald I notice a speech made by Judge Windom and I am sorry to see that the Y. M. C. A. of Duluth had to listen to such bosh, as he there professed to know that $4,000,000 was spent in Duluth by the poor in maintainance of the liquor traffic. I came to Duluth in 1870 and since 1876 have lived in Carlton. I never have been in the liquor business and don't want to be, but I object to having our own little village called the cuspidor of Cloquet.

There is not a more quiet town than Carlton in this state. From an old-timer.

MOODY CHURCH IN CHICAGO DAMAGED.

Chicago, March 9.—Moody church, founded in 1858 by Dwight L. Moody and one of the oldest houses of worship in Chicago, was partly destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. The flames gained good headway before they were visible through the stained glass doors and windows.

The fire started from an overheated gas heater, which was left burning. It was confined to the rear portion of the building and the damage was estimated at $10,000.

William Stevenson, janitor, his wife and four children were asleep on the fourth floor and were aroused by firemen and assisted to the street. Many students in the Moody Bible institute adjoining left their rooms partially dressed and others carried out their effects. The institute was not damaged.

REPRESENTATIVE MEN FOR THE CONFERENCE

Mass County Conference in Preparation for Anti-Eberhart State Conference to Be Held in Duluth Next Saturday—State Politics at a Halt, Awaiting the Result of March 19 Meeting—Position of Peterson and Iverson.

State politics seems to have halted or is at least doing nothing more than marking time until the conference of anti-Eberhart Republicans is finished. After that comes the Democratic conference. The first takes place on March 19 and the second on March 31.

John E. Samuelson, county chairman of the anti-machine Republican organization, has just announced that the mass county conference slated for March 14 will be held at the Duluth council chamber at 8 o'clock next Saturday evening.

This is a thing that all Republicans who wish to see the present maladministration thrown out and a better one put in, should remember. It is important that there be a good representation and that proper representatives be sent to the meeting in Minneapolis. This latter matter is most important of all, for, to make the conference a success, its members must be truly representative of the people; otherwise its work will be nullified at the outset. St. Louis county is entitled to thirty-nine delegates in the March 19 conference.

State newspapers that are supporting Eberhart and the ring are attacking the conference, declaring it to be unlawful because of the fact that there is a primary which covers the case. One exchange rises for information, asking what, if the conference is unlawful, would the Eberhart cuckoo press lay against the fixing of a slate in the back room of a saloon by a few men? The question is pat.

As yet not much is being said about the Democratic conference. Much will depend on the outcome of the Republican conference. Dan Lawler in the field and refuses to be eliminated. Congressman Hammond is still talked of, despite late reports that he contemplates retiring from politics entirely as soon as his present term is over.

Anti-Machine Candidate James A. Peterson refuses to accept the decision of the conference of March 19 if Anti-Machine Candidate Sam Iverson is chosen, claiming, in a letter to Anti-Machine Candidate W. D. Lee, that Iverson is as much of a machine man as Eberhart, and that were Iverson governor, Ed Smith would be just as solidly the state boss as now. And just for that Sam Iverson came right back and said that he would pay no attention to the decision of the conference, that he is and will be a candidate up to and including the primary election day, June 16 next. One thing that would be interesting to learn is: Which of these two—or are both?—is a member of the Eberhart Aid society? Their stand certainly makes the present inefficient's chances much better. Their position is pretty well summed up in the following from the Albert Lea Tribune:

James A. Peterson has announced that he will not abide by the conference of the Progressive Republicans to be held on March 19, for the purpose of concentrating upon some one man to make the run at the primaries against the Smith-Eberhart machine. Simmering down to brass tacks, it means that Mr. Peterson has taken a critical view of the situation and believes that he will not be the man to be chosen at the conference, and that his personal ambitions and vanity will not be gratified, so he has decided to go it alone and let the interests of the people drift as they may.

And closely following Mr. Peterson's decision to this effect, comes the announcement of Samuel Iverson that he has decided to take the same course and gives Mr. Peterson's action as the excuse.

The action of these two men savors much of the fact that they have looked over the field closely, personally and through their agents and can find little hope from the people in the conference for them. To defy the people after the conference and continue in the field, would mean sure political death to them. It ought to be much different at this time. They have measured their size by practically declaring that their interests are superior to those of the people against the machine and that they are not willing to abide by the action of the people of the state in a conference.

The contest today is not one for this man or that man, but a contest of the people of Minnesota against a political machine controlled by the breweries, Steel trust and other special interests, which is working to keep the people divided so that it may be able to perpetuate itself.

It is up to the people to decide as to whether they will be led off as was the case two years ago.

The Minneapolis Journal favors a man who has not yet been mentioned, eliminating Lee, Iverson, Peterson and Elwell. Fred B. Snyder of Minneapolis has been hinted at and Senator Ole Sageng has been suggested and is said to be the dark horse in the Bull Moose stable.

It is claimed that before long Jake Ireus will come out with a statement claiming to be absolutely divorced from the Eberhart machine, discrediting its actions, etc. Maybe he will, but if he does Ed Smith will have dictated the statement. Henry Rines, however, is gaining strength every day and it is the general belief that he will have little difficulty in landing the state auditorship. The failure to shut him out by a legal technicality has greatly strengthened his position.

* * *

G. P. Jones, editor of the Bagley Herald, announces that he is a candidate for the nomination for representative in the Sixty-fifth district. Mr. Jones is a well known newspaper man and a most loyal booster for Northern Minnesota.

About the worst attack yet made on Daniel W. Lawler in the present campaign for the governorship has just been published by the Albert Lea Standard, one of the leading weeklies of Minnesota. H. G. Day, its editor, is one of the leading Democrats of the state, and the attempt involved is clearly to show that Mr. Lawler is by no means entitled to Democratic support, a belief in which Mr. Day is not alone. He frankly charges that Lawler has, time after time, thrown down the party and that he has no right to claim Democracy as his political home. The Standard takes Lawler's record from 1892 when he ran for governor on the Democratic ticket and attacks his course in each campaign since. It declares that in 1894 Lawler's friends and political allies raised money to support Knute Nelson for governor, fearing the election of Sam Owens. In 1896, the Standard asserts, he bolted Bryan and stumped the state against him and in 1898 he supported the Republican candidates. It also claims that Lawler in 1904 supported Bob Dunn against John A. Johnson, the Democratic nominee for governor. For the more recent years the Standard says:

In the spring of 1906 he forced himself upon the Democrats of St. Paul as their nominee for mayor and carried the subsequent election by a considerable majority over his Republican competitor. He served in the position of mayor for two years, and his administration is remembered largely because of the fact that he completely and thoroughly demoralized the Democratic organization in Ramsey county. In fact, the party in Ramsey has not yet recovered from that ill-starred administration. In 1908 he supported the Democratic state ticket and was chosen as a delegate to attend the national Democratic convention at Denver. It is authoritatively recorded, however, that he did not occupy his seat in the convention at any of its sessions.

In 1910, as a member of the Democratic state central committee, he attended the meeting of the committee at which James Gray was put in nomination for governor. On behalf of Ramsey county he seconded Mr. Gray's nomination, saying in effect, in a speech of indorsement, "It is said this man has some peculiar ideas concerning the regulation of the liquor traffic, and that these ideas will be offensive to the brewers. What of that! We hold no brief from the brewers." Apparently late in the campaign, Mr. Lawler secured his brief from the brewers, for he again appeared on the stump as an opponent of Democratic candidates, speaking throughout the state in behalf of the Republican candidate, Mr. Eberhart.

In 1912 he volunteered himself as a Democratic candidate for United States senator and was unopposed at the primaries. During that campaign he was principally distinguished for the fact that he occupied the position of mischief-maker, flooding the mails with charges and insinuations against other Democratic candidates on the ticket with him.

In all the years of Mr. Lawler's political activity, at least since he was a candidate for governor in 1892, he has not appeared upon the stump in behalf of any Democratic candidate, except in 1908, unless he himself was a candidate on the ticket, nor has he contributed a cent to a Democratic state campaign.

This is the record of the man who now has the assurance to pretend to be a Democrat, and the effrontery to foist himself upon the party as a candidate for governor.

Fairmont Sentinel: Congressman Hammond can be re-elected to congress and he owes it to the democracy of the Second district to remain at his post. The men who would lure him into making a race for governor have selfish ends in view and are not his true friends or true friends of the party.

Perhaps not, Mr. Day, but if the Republican conference fails to make good, as seems probabe, it is clearly up to the Democrats to provide a man such as it provided before in a pinch, to give the state a proper governor. The ...d district is less important than the state as a whole, and ... Wilson does not need Mr. Hammond's support so much as he did at first for he has the support of the whole country now.

PUTS ALL ON SAME LEVEL

Section Hand and Railway President Equal, Say Dr. Hovis.

All Honest Toilers Are Co-Workers With God, Says Preacher.

The hod carrier and the railway president, the washerwoman and the society woman, the menial and the genius, were all placed on the same level by Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church, in his sermon yesterday morning on "The Dignity of Labor." The real test of manhood and womanhood, he said, was not what a person did but the way it was done. All laborers, he said, who strive to do their best are co-workers with God.

Dr. Hovis chose as the setting for his sermon Longfellow's famous poem, "The Village Blacksmith," making the smithy and his life examples of what the laborer's life should be.

"The village blacksmith," said the speaker, " had all the essential requirements for a man worthy of admiration. He was an honest man, toiled from morn till night, week in, week out, he went to church and lived as he prayed, his example in the home was exemplary, and he was a mighty man, one whom all the boys admired and wished to emulate."

The village blacksmith, said Dr. Hovis is a personage fast becoming obsolete as the life of the village, is giving way to city life and with his passing the once prominent and highly respected position of the laborer has practically passed away.

"In the place of the village blacksmiths have come the man on the section, the man in the mine, and countless other toilers who are considered merely as a part of the vast army of workers. But they have their place in the silent history of our country and the great railway trains, the gigantic public buildings, the municipal improvements and conveniences, which make our life so enjoyable and comfortable, are the result of their toil just as much as they are the result of the dreams and plans of the engineer and architect. In this way the labor of the hands is dignified, and any man who works in the sewer and any woman who works at the washtub, putting heart and soul into their work is just as worthy as the person of genius and is a co-worker with God."

Dr. Hovis did not discuss labor unions or labor disputes, but rather pictured what the ideal position of the laborer should be.

MORGAN & CO. SHOWS NEW HAVEN DEALS

Firm Answers Elliott's Request for Data on Finances.

New York, March 9.—In the form of a letter to Howard Elliott, chairman of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company, J. P. Morgan & Co., has made public a statement of the financial relations between Morgan & Co., and the railroad and its allied railroads during the twenty years from 1894 to 1914 in which these relations were maintained.

The statement shows that during this period the Morgan house took part in the handling of the New Haven and subsidiary companies' securities of the par value of $323,082,803, from which the firm realized a total net profit of $350,365, being at an average rate of $17,000 per year.

The statement shows that on some of the purchases of New Haven securities, the Morgan firm sustained a net loss. The letter was in reply to one from Chairman Elliott requesting a detailed statement of the financial relations, written under date of Feb. 21.

Had No Interest.

The letter also states that none of the Morgan firms nor any member of them had any interest in the properties, such as Westchester, the steam railways, the trolley lines or any of its subsidiary companies, with the exception of the fact that the late J. P. Morgan inherited 1,222 shares of the stock of the South Bay Wharf & Terminal company, and later exchanged this stock for 814 shares of New Haven stocks.

The letter says that J. P. Morgan & Co. advanced to S. Oakleigh Thorne and afterward to the Milbrook company various sums aggregating $11,155,000, and that these advances were made by order of and account of the New Haven Railroad company. "In none of these transactions was there any profit or commission to our firms or to any member of them," says the letter, which adds that none of the Morgan firms or its members had any interest in the securities or properties purchased by the Milbrook company or in any enterprises or properties that afterward became a part of the New York, Westchester & Boston.

CABINET RESIGNS.

Crisis in Italian Colonial Policy the Cause.

Rome, May 9.—Premier Giolitti yesterday notified King Victor Emanuel of the resignation of his cabinet.

A dispatch from Rome, March 2, said that a cabinet crisis was expected after the government had obtained a vote approving the appropriation bill for the new colony of Libya, North Africa. Premier Gioletti; it was stated, considered that the making secure of this colony would be his crowning work, and that he desired then to retire and leave the reins of government in the hands of another. The Libyan budget was passed by the chamber of deputies March 4 by a vote of 261 to 83.

C. E. RUSSELL COMING.

Editor and Politician Will Speak to Duluth Socialists.

Charles Edward Russell, the well known author, lecturer and magazine writer, will lecture Wednesday evening at the Auditorium under the auspices of the Socialist party.

For years the articles by Mr. Russell in the various popular magazines have attracted nation-wide attention.

Mr. Russell was formerly city editor of the New York World and also was an editorial writer for the Evening Journal of the same city. His clear and vivid style of writing has won for him a host of admirers and those who have heard him lecture have invariably been highly pleased and impressed with his pointed and concise way of saying things.

Two years ago Mr. Russell was the standard bearer of the Socialist party in the state of New York, being candidate for governor. He was also the party's candidate for the office of mayor of New York city in the recent elections there, polling better than thirty thousand votes.

The lecture Wednesday evening is the second one of the series planned by the local Socialists, which will include the best and most prominent speakers in the movement.

Local Socialists have been highly pleased with the results of the large meetings that they have been holding in the Auditorium lately, and the response of the general public to the call for attendance, say the Socialists, justifies them in doing things from now on in a larger way. Negotiations are now under way for a date for Fred Warren, editor of the Appeal to Reason. The Socialists hope he can be secured for the observance of International Labor day, May 1.

Mr. Russell will speak in Minneapolis on March 10 and in St. Paul on March 12. His subject will be "Making Business Good."

THIS WEEK'S WEATHER

Washington, March 9.—Hope for a week of bracing, seasonable weather with generally fair skies, is held out by the weather bureau forecaster to practically every section of the country.

"No important storm is chartered to cross the country during the week," said the bulletin, "although a disturbance of moderate intensity will prevail over the Middle West Wednesday and Thursday and the Eastern states about Friday, the precipitation attending this disturbance will be generally light and confined to the northern states.

"There will be frosts at the beginning of the week in the Gulf and South Atlantic states, Pacific Central and Southern Florida."

THREE PARDONED; CANNOT BE FOUND.

Charleston, W. Va., March 9.—United States District Attorney W. G. Barnhart has in his possession pardons granted recently by President Wilson to Alfred and A. H. Mooney and Mrs. Frances Brown, who three years ago pleaded guilty in district court here to violating the pension laws. Each is over 76 years old and sentence was never passed, as it was feared neither would survive a prison term. When the case was called to the attention of the president he pardoned them, and Federal officers have since sought them to tell them of their good fortune. West Virginia, Virginia and Kentucky have been carefully searched but no trace of them has been found.

SHOULD MAKE CHRISTIAN BLUSH

Jews Have Nothing to Fear From the Production of "Merchant of Venice," Says Pastor, But Christians Have Cause for Shame.

That Christian people should be the ones to blush for "The Merchant of Venice" rather than the Jews, was the statement made by Rev. George R. Gebauer in his sermon on "Shylock" at the First Unitarian church yesterday morning.

Mr. Gebauer saw in Shylock a man who had been wronged. He spoke in part as follows:

"A short while ago I attended in one of our kinomatographic theaters the production of Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice." It brought back to my mind the golden days of the Shakespearen drama in this country, when Booth and Barrett and Irving took the part of Shylock, and when Ellen Terry acted as Portia. But no matter how presented it is a wonderful play, especially when we consider how utterly absurd the plot and the story is. The poet with the wand of his marvelous imagination turns the trivial into the charming and makes the impossible appear natural. And so the Merchant of Venice, so full of the impossible, is yet a drama filled with power of fascination, wit and wisdom. There are in it characters which will endure longer than some of the heroes of history. There is material for the student of human nature and religion. The play is by Shakespeare entitled 'A Comedy.' Doubtlessly it was written with the intent of tickling the ears of the groundling and with an eye to the box office, for the poet was also a business man. We may well imagine how the crowd jeered at the Jew, how the toughs yelled and stamped and whistled when fair and faithless Jessica ran away with her worthy lover Lorenzo in her 'new tailor-made gown.' What a huge joke for the crowd, that the girl robbed the old man of his jewels and his ducats, and best of all traded her dead mother's wedding ring for a monkey. And then what solid sport the old Jew was, especially in the fourth act, in the scene when his hatred overreaches itself in demanding the pound of flesh, and when breezy, cunning, charming, clever Portia beats the old man in his own game. And best of all, Shylock the Jew, the Christ-hater must become a Christian. All this was as good for the groundlings at the Globe theater as a cock fight.

"We wonder perhaps why the English people at Shakespeare's time took such an interest in the Jew, knowing as we do, that the Jews had been banished from England for 300 years. It is doubtful if Shakespeare himself had ever met a member of that race. Yet after all the Jew in all times was a wonderfully fascinating, puzzling personality; he had impressed himself most thoroughly upon the imagination of the Christian world, and it is but natural that a deep curiosity for him prevailed even in Jew-less England."

Not a Comedy.

"To me therefore, remembering the persecutions of the race, it is not a comedy, but one of the greatest of tragedies. I fully agree with Heine, when he writes: 'When I saw this play at Drury Lane, there stood behind me in the box a fair, pale Briton, who at the end of the fourth act exclaimed weeping,' 'the poor man is wronged.' When I think of those tears, I have to rank the Merchant of Venice with the tragedies, though the frame of the piece is decorated with the merriest figures of masks, satyrs and cupids.' I think few people will see this play without realizing the truth of Heine's judgment. Indeed it is all a mistake to believe that the acting of this play will arouse today an anti-Jewish spirit. No, it will affect the opposite. That is one reason that I should much regret to see the play withdrawn from the stage as is sometimes advocated by Jewish zealots. Certainly the play ought to bring the blush of shame upon the cheek of every fair minded Christian, no matter how he looks upon Judaism and the Jew. Yes if a man would get rid of any unreasonable antipathy against the Jew, there is no better antidote than the 'Merchant of Venice.' I do not know how far Shakespeare intended this deeper effect. It will seem to me as if the great humanity of the poet arose above the dramatist, and in the gay form of comedy he gave to humanity a deep tragedy.

"But after all at the bar of dramatic judgment does not stand Christian religion, but Christendom without religion, stands heathenish prejudice and bigotry in Christian garb. Yes it is well for us to realize what crimes have been committed in the name of him who said: 'love your enemies.' It is a good thing to see what evil results are apt to follow, when one book is declared to be God's only revelation, when one faith is declared to be the only saving one, when one Christ is held up as the only Saviour.

"The lesson for Jew and Christian to learn is, that God's elect is not this or that people, but all those who struggle after right and truth and love. That God has not left himself without witness in any nation, and that He has revealed Himself to many peoples through many holy books.

"And if we would overcome the prejudice of the narrow religionist, be he Jew or be he Christian we must meet him with a faith, that include his, though it be full of bigotry and prejudice. We musst overcome the evil of the world with good."

West End

PRIZES FOR GARDENERS

Herald and Commercial Club Donate Funds for Awards.

Children Will Select From Seven Varieties of Vegetables.

Special prizes amounting to $15 will be awarded children of the West end for the three best gardens entered in the West End Commercial club contest this summer. The money was given by The Herald and announced at the meeting of the general committee held Saturday afternoon. This money will be used as first, second and third prizes, being respectively $6, $5 and $4. These prizes will be in addition to those raised by the club committee, and will be awarded through the general committee.

Seven varieties of vegetables were selected as being desirable for children to center their energies upon. These are wax beans, beets, carrots, corn, cucumbers, peas and set onions. The contestants can choose any one, two, three or four varieties in entering in the contest. The awarding of the prizes on general results will be based partly on the skill in using the ground available, it being desirable that the space in between these vegetables be utilized in raising at least two crops of radishes or lettuce, or strawberries and flowers.

The general committee of the Commercial club will meet at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon with the committees representing the five schools of the West end, which have already entered. These school committees are composed of five children from each of the schools. The schools that will be represented will be the Bryant, Adams, Lincoln, Ensign and Monroe.

It is proposed by the general committee to raise at least $100 for prize money, in addition to that given by The Herald. This amount will be distributed equally among the five schools. Next fall a special prize offered last spring by L. A. Shonson, amounting to $10, will be awarded for the best strawberry bed, started last spring.

Mr. Simonson said this morning that arrangements had been made to supply children with strawberry plants at 1 cent each and that seeds would also be supplied through C. E. Roe.

Lodge to Entertain.

Members of the Fridhem Lodge, No. 43, Order of Svithoid, will entertain Friday evening at a social program in the Sloan's hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. A wrestling match between aspirants for the championship of the lodge will feature the program. The men to contend for the honors are Victor Isaacson and Oscar Carlson.

Girls Will Entertain.

The Young Girls' Society of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, will entertain at a literary and musical program in the church parlors Wednesday evening. A program of several numbers has been arranged.

Plan Social Program.

"Social Hygiene in the Schools" will be the subject of a paper to be read by Miss E. Astell at the meeting of the Mothers' club of the Merritt school, Friday afternoon. Mrs. C. Cameron will also read a paper on "Temperance," following which a discussion of this subject will take place under the leadership of Mrs. Joseph Gibson, president of the club. The musical part of the program will be given by pupils of the fifth grade.

WOMEN WILL PLAY.

Spaa Club and Bryant School Quints Plan Game.

Young women in the West end are much interested in the basketball contest to take place between a young women's team of the Spaa club and a similar organization from the Bryant school. The game will be played in the Spaa club rooms, 1608 West Superior street.

The Spaa quint has been organized since early last fall. This will be the first game that it has played with organizations outside of the Second Presbyterian church. The Bryant team has had only one other game outside of its own circle, that being one with the Lakeside team about a week ago. Several games will be scheduled between the two organizations this spring.

Surprise Party.

Mrs. A. E. Morrisseau of 219 North Eighteenth avenue west was pleasantly surprised at her home Saturday evening by a number of her friends. The evening being spent with games and music. The following were the guests:

BONDSMEN ARE NOT HELD LIABLE

Belated Action Against American Company Dropped By Court.

Non-performance of a contract for the erection of a building constitutes no cause of action against bondsmen for the contractor, unless suit is brought within six months after the building is completed, according to a ruling which Judge Cant handed down in district court Saturday afternoon.

The court holds that the American Bonding company is not liable for the alleged failure of John W. Hilliard, contractor, to pay laborers employed by him in the construction of a building for the Fitger Brewing company on block 4, Portland division, during the fall of 1908.

The contract between the brewing company and Hilliard was entered into Aug. 14, 1908. The bonding company guaranteed a faithful performance of the contract, delivering a bond of $10,000 to the brewing company.

Hilliard failed to complete the building according to the terms of his contract. It became necessary for the brewing company to take over the work. The building was finished at a cost for labor and materials to the brewing company of $2,122.50. The sum was paid by the brewing company and suit was started recently against Hilliard and his sureties to recover the amount.

Judge Cant Saturday dismissed the cause of action as to the bonding company on the grounds that the suit had not been instituted within six months after the building was completed. The court holds that a cause of action still exists against Hilliard.

ACCUSED OF THEFT; KILLS HIMSELF

One of Seven Men Arrested at Portland Commits Suicide.

Portland, Or., March 9.—Albert Howard, for thirty years an employe of Fleischner, Mayer & Co., who, with seven other men was accused of wholesale thefts of linens from the firm, committed suicide Sunday in a cell at the county jail by cutting his throat with a penknife.

Howard had been implicated by the confession of Harry Estes, a fellow employe of the firm, arrested with him. Estes said Howard never had profited by any of the thefts, but that he had connived at the removal of the stolen goods from the stockroom.

WILL HOLD HEARINGS ON WIRE OWNERSHIP.

Washington, March 9.—Postmaster General Burleson has announced that opinions of economists and authorities on public utilities that would be effected, will be sought before his department reaches a final decision on the proposed acquisition by the government of telegraph and telephone systems.

Although a tentative draft of a bill to carry out this proposal has been prepared, Mr. Burleson's statement pointed out that government ownership of telegraphs and telephones cannot yet be regarded as an administration measure, as President Wilson has expressed no opinion or intention regarding it.

GIVEN TWO HOURS TO PAY ALIMONY

Young Husband Raises the Money and Keeps Out of Jail.

When Sam Rose, 19, appeared in district court before Judge Dancer Saturday afternoon, he was asked to explain why he had failed to pay his 18-year-old wife, May Rose, temporary alimony during the pendency of the divorce action which she has begun against him.

Rose told the court that he "hadn't a sou," but the hard luck story didn't go. He was given two hours to raise a part of the alimony or go to jail for contempt of court. Rose was back at the stated hour with the coin.

Judge Dancer gave the young man to understand that it would be necessary for him to pay over $5 a week to his wife until the divorce action against him is disposed of.

AGED MISSOURIAN BEATS COFFIN TRUST.

Macon, Mo., March 9.—Arlington Simpson, 72 years old, was buried at Callao, Mo., Sunday in a coffin made of walnut lumber cut and prepared by his own hands. Simpson, who died Saturday at his farm near here, made preparations for his funeral months ago, getting ready the materials for his casket and arranging for its manufacture, in order, he said, to "defeat the coffin trust."

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

THE Help-Your-City Complaint bureau, conducted by the bureau of municipal research of New York, received 348 complaints in ten days. The mayor has promised to assist the bureau in handling complaints, and the bureau plans to follow up each one and show that conditions can be improved in this way. By this means it hopes to convince city officials that there is a demand among citizens for a city-operated, city-wide complaint bureau that will receive complaints on all matters concerning city service. Typical complaints were those of a man who protested that conductors should not wet their thumbs with saliva when tearing off transfers, but instead use a sponge which might easily be fastened near the box in which the fares are placed; while two persons called attention to cellar doors which are left open on the sidewalk throughout the city, making passage dangerous for pedestrians. A physician complained that he found difficulty in obtaining certain supplies at the health stations. Investigation showed that the supplies desired were not furnished because the official in charge of their distribution was away on his vacation. Another complaint suggested an inspection of the candy stores on the East side. Samples were purchased by the bureau. The candy was colored red, green, orange and yellow with cheap dyes dangerous to the health of children.

Duluth has no complaint bureau. "Kicks" are registered with whichever department they chance to be concerned. Many people have complaints which they would like to make, but not being sufficiently familiar with the administration, frequently do not know where to lodge them, the result being that they remain silent. And not uncommonly the person to whom the complaint is made makes no note of it and proceeds to forget it. Citizens notice many things which would be helpful to their officials if they could be brought to their attention. A properly organized city complaint bureau has much to recommend it.

LIGHTS CIGARETTE; TWENTY-FOUR DEAD.

Ekaterinoslav, Russia, March 9.—Twenty-four men were killed in an explosion of gas in a coal mine here Saturday. The explosion was caused by a miner opening his safety lamp in a gas-filled chamber to light a cigarette.

For Suffrage in Austria.

Vienna, March 9.—Hundreds of women's mass meetings in favor of woman suffrage were held Sunday throughout Austria. At all of them resolutions were adopted declaring that it was the general demand of women for the vote in parliamentary and local elections.

SEVEN KILLED BY "BLOOD REMEDY."

Los Angeles, Cal., March 9.—Three more men, Tom King, Willard Lawn and Clarence M. Mayham, are dead at the county hospital, apparently from the same cause. This, it is said, was the effect of a blood purifying remedy. To the total of seven deaths may be added one more, for Harry Lane is reported to be dying. All were said to have suffered from some form of blood poisoning, and the investigating physicians advanced the theory that some unknown chemical action had transformed the remedy into a poison.

Jury Trial

Overwhelming Verdict

A few months ago, a man in no way connected with the making of Postum or the marketing of coffee, wrote to quite a number of physicians all over the country asking their unbiased testimony in the case of Postum vs. Coffee.

The following excerpts from their letters constitute an overwhelming verdict

In Favor of Postum

"I have discarded coffee altogether in my family, and instead use Postum which we find makes a rich, delicious drink, without any of the deleterious effects attendant on the continuous use of coffee."

"Our family have been users of Postum for a long time. We were very liberal coffee drinkers, but were conscious that coffee was harming us—our nervous system, digestion and heart action—so we quit the coffee and began using Postum. Now we relish it far more than we did coffee, and are all relieved of the old coffee troubles. As a physician I have induced several families to quit coffee and use Postum."

"Postum—when it is desirable to leave off coffee on account of overstimulation or gastric disturbances."

"Postum has been used in my family nearly ever since it was placed on the market, and I recommend it to my patients. It is a nourishing drink. A great many families are giving their children Postum in place of coffee with best of results."

"I have used Postum in my family for years with the most satisfactory result,—so much so that we have practically abolished coffee, and with it the coffee headaches, nervousness, and lying awake the best part of the night."

"I drink Postum every morning, and recommend it to my friends who have 'nerves' and indigestion."

"No more coffee for me. I am using Instant Postum and advise my patients to do likewise. I prefer it to the best coffee, and have no more sour stomach attacks as I used to."

"For years I have been using Postum in the family and advocating it for my patients. I consider it to be exactly what its manufacturers claim for it. Postum is excellent in place of coffee where the latter is contraindicated. The food value of Postum plays an important part when compared with coffee."

"Have had many cases that could not drink coffee on account of its reflex action on the heart. Postum always supplies the place of coffee without the bad effects."

"I have used Postum for the past eight years in place of coffee. Before that I was troubled with frequent bilious headaches due to excessive use of coffee, and was then advised to use Postum. Since that time I have not had a single attack, which effect I attribute entirely to Postum. I frequently recommend it to others who experience equally gratifying results."

"Hardly a week goes by that I do not advise some patient with an irritable acid stomach and nervous heart to stop at once the use of all coffee and take up the use of Postum, and always with good results."

"I am satisfied that coffee is responsible in a great degree for the premature breakdown of our active men and women. They suffer from caffeine poisoning. Of the truth of this there is not the shadow of doubt. Our common sense tells us that the daily swallowing of caffeine — over-stimulating the heart and brain—will be followed by nervous depression, and finally by more or less disastrous results. I believe if people in general would use Postum as a beverage in place of coffee and tea their mental and physical condition would be much improved."

In the light of such testimony it would seem the part of wisdom to stop coffee and use Postum.

Postum is a genuine food-drink, made of whole wheat and a small percent of molasses. Contains the nutritious values of the grain, but is pure and absolutely free from the coffee drug, caffeine, or any other harmful substance.

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled to bring out its fine flavor. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble form. A teaspoonful stirred in a cup of hot water—with sugar and cream added—makes a delightful beverage Instantly 30c and 50c tins. The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

ANNIVERSARY OF BIG STORM

Worst Blizzard Recorded Here Occurred Twenty-two Years Ago.

Fierce Gale and Blinding Snow Blockaded Entire City.

Twenty-two years ago today occurred the worst—and some say the only—blizzard Duluth has ever had. Old-time Duluthians still recall with a shiver the blinding clouds of snow, the biting gale of sixty miles an hour, and the drifts piled from six to ten feet high in the streets. All traffic was at a standstill for more than two days, and a great many persons were snowbound in their offices unable to go home.

According to H. W. Richardson, local forecaster for the United States weather bureau, the storm began on the morning of March 9, 1892, with the falling of fine snow from the Northeast. At 1 p. m. the wind had greatly increased and by 3 o'clock had become a gale, blowing at the rate of fifty miles an hour with occasional gusts at sixty miles. The snow fell thicker and faster, and with the fierce gale clouds of snow were whirled through the air, making it impossible to see across the street. The temperature on the morning of March 9 was 5 above zero but by the evening of March 10, when the storm subsided, had dropped to 6 below.

The snow fall in 36 hours was 13 inches, and owing to the fierce gale, drifts were formed six to ten feet in height and packed so hard that pedestrians were able to walk over them after the storm.

All street cars were blockaded early in the forenoon on March 9 and later in the day all trains headed for Duluth were stopped. Because of the storm and drifts and stoppage of traction service great numbers of people in downtown offices had to spend the night there. In many cases the doors of office buildings were blocked by huge drifts so that the occupants of the building were imprisoned over night, making it impossible to get food at nearby restaurants.

A great amount of damage was done throughout the city by the blowing down of chimneys, breaking of windows, etc. A huge smokestack in West Duluth was thrown to the ground, killing one man and severely injuring three others. The total damage was estimated at $5,000.

As the storm began to abate crowds of men were put on the streets to cut through the drifts, working all night on March 10. No street cars were run until March 11 and few deliveries from the stores and markets were made even on March 11. The whole city was on short rations for several days.

This blizzard, while being the worst recorded in the Zenith City, is also the only one according to Mr. Richardson. Blizzards may come and blizzards may go in the Northwest and Canada, and old Medicine Hat and Winnipeg may be buffeted by blizzards, but Duluth is not in the blizzard zone, says the weather man.

WHEELER SPEAKS AT RUSH CITY MEETING.

Bert N. Wheeler of Duluth addressed a large meeting at Rush City yesterday evening in support of the dry town proposition. Rush City has been dry for a year, the last election being a tie, but when the supreme court got through with it the "drys" had won. Mr. Wheeler says that there is no question but that Rush City will remain dry as a result of tomorrow's election. He says that the meeting last evening was a very large one.

Watson S. Moore of Duluth spoke on the same subject at Barnum. The election will take place at Barnum also.

SIX MEN KILLED

man, both legs injured and left foot crushed.

U. M. Stott, St. Louis, left hip fractured, internal injuries.

B. C. Holmes, McConnell, Miss.

L. L. Leonard, lawyer, jumped, ribs fractured, feet crushed, hurt internally.

Lee Wolf, merchant, Carruthersville, Mo., contusions and possible fracture of spine in fall from second floor of fire escape.

David Blum, purchasing agent for department store, right foot fractured in fall from improvised fire escape he made of a sheet.

A. D. Herne, Chicago, superintendent of electrical supply company, right arm and right ankle fractured in jumping from sixth floor.

Edward T. Kaub, Chicago, salesman, abrasions and contusions on right hand and left knee; rescued by firemen who found him clinging to sixth floor window sill.

William Koerner, houseman at Missouri Athletic club, both feet fractured in jumping from sixth floor to roof of four story building.

F. W. Williams, New York, hands burned and head bruised.

T. C. Little, Chicago, knee wrenched.

Lee Walsh.

Charles Schmiel, Chicago, both legs broken, and internally injured in 25 foot leap from sixth floor.

John Dwyer, Engine Company No. 6, right leg fractured; caught under falling wall.

Number of Missing Uncertain.

Uncertainty as to the number of men in the building, when the fire broke out made it difficult to determine the exact number of missing. Jack Reisinger, night clerk at the club, said forty-five members had rooms at the club, and that the registration of guests brought the total number there for the night to seventy-five. Some of the regular guests, however, may not have been in their rooms when the fire broke out.

The cause of the fire is unknown. Assistant Fire Chief Lucker said he found the floor about the desk of the clerk caved in, but that an adjoining part of the floor seemed to have been blown upward, indicating that the fire was due to an explosion. A fireman who climbed a fire escape of the building six hours after the fire was discovered found the fire still burning on the fifth and seventh floors and the interior caved in.

The fire is believed to have started on the third floor of the building, which was occupied by the dining room. On this floor one man was found dead. The two others known to be dead jumped from a sixth story window.

Seen By Woman in Taxi.

The fire was discovered by a woman who was waiting with her escort for a taxicab. The name of the woman is not known. Looking out of the window of the clubhouse she saw the reflection of the flames in a plate-glass window across the street.

Rushing to the clerk of the Missouri Athletic club, she cried "Fire!"

The clerk, Jack Reisinger, and the night telephone operator, Norman Roe, began awakening the guests. Roe rang the telephone in ninety-eight sleeping rooms. Reisinger rushed to the turkish bath establishment to arouse any guests that might be there. Then he ran back to the first floor and tried to save the register of the club. In this he failed, he said. The register is believed to be lost.

Reisinger then rushed into the elevator, and went to the fifth floor. There he awakened Robert McGill and Mrs. McGill. Mr. and Mrs. McGill refused to leave the building until they had aroused the guests in thirty-eight rooms.

Heat Drove Watchman Back.

Meanwhile a fire alarm had been turned in, presumably by the night watchman of Boatman's bank. This watchman, Charles Bauchmann, was coming upstairs from the basement when he saw the reflection of flames on the walls and ceiling of the bank. After turning in the alarm he started for the Washington avenue, or main entrance of the club to arouse the guests. The heat in the lobby was so intense that he could not enter.

When the firemen arrived the building was ablaze. Men were jumping from windows in their night clothing, others were clinging to window sills around which smoke was pouring and others were climbing down fire escapes. Some were making ropes out of sheets and trying to escape that way.

While the firemen were fighting the blaze, flames burst from the third story windows, cutting off the exit of many men who were running down the fire escape on the Fourth street side. Streams of water were turned on the fire escape at the third floor, and as firemen called out encouraging words, many on the third floor descended through the streams of water to safety.

Wall Fell in an Hour.

After the fire had been burning an hour the wall of the Fourth street side collapsed from the fourth floor up. Firemen fell back to the wall of the building at the opposite side of the street and thus escaped the falling bricks. One fireman, however, was struck by a brick. His leg was broken.

Assistant Fire Chief Lucker said he heard three explosions as he reached the burning building. At first the theory was advanced that the explosions were the work of safe blowers who had tried to rob the bank. Later, it was suggested that what seemed to be the sound of explosions was the dropping of elevators to the basement of the building.

Dennis O'Leary, night clerk at the Felcher ' nearby, said that about the time the fire started he saw three men looking down at what appeared to be a manhole in the sidewalk in front of the Athletic club. A moment later, he said, there was an explosion.

Men Jumped From Windows.

When the firemen arrived a few minutes after the blaze was discovered the flames were shooting out of the roof and all the windows above the second floor. Men were jumping from windows. Others were climbing down ropes made of bedclothes tied together.

More than a dozen jumped several stories to the roofs of adjoining buildings and escaped with broken legs or less serious injuries. Those who escaped ran about the streets in bathrobes or nightclothes, apparently wild, until they were forcibly carried into neighboring hotels.

Heroism bordering on the supernatural was exhibited by firemen and guests at the club. The fire fighters time and again dodged one falling wall only to find themselves under another tottering mass of granite and brick.

Clung With Burning Hands.

Theodore Levy of Louisville, Ky., clung to a window sill until both his hands were scorched almost black. Just as he was about to let go a fireman grasped him about the waist and carried him down a ladder. At the city hospital Levy later declared two of the men who had been killed jumped from the window to which he clung until rescued.

All the municipal ambulances and police patrol wagons and automobiles were pressed into service to carry the wounded to the hospital.

Among those who were in the club at the time of the fire, but escaped, was Walter Fritson, financial agent of the St. Louis Federal league baseball club. Mordecai Brown, manager of the club, who arrived here from New York last night, remained at the club until a few hours before the fire was discovered.

Threatened General Conflagration.

As the walls and floors caved in they sent showers of burning embers as big as one's fist on to the roofs of the neighboring buildings, and for a time threatened to cause a general conflagration in the heart of the retail district. To prevent this, all the fire fighting apparatus of the city was brought to the scene.

The telephone operator, a young boy, remained at his post on the ground floor, even after the firemen began pouring water into the building. Many of the guests credited their escape to him.

At 6 o'clock this morning, four hours after the fire had been discovered, the blaze was believed to be under control. Half an hour later, however, boilers in the basement of the building began to explode and the firemen, under orders of their chief, withdrew from the street immediately in front of the building. It was feared the last two remaining walls would collapse and bury them.

Crowd Hampered Firemen.

The glare of the fire brought thousands of spectators to the scene, and they hampered the work of the firemen until driven back by the police.

Judge C. Orrick Bishop, assistant circuit attorney, roomed on the sixth floor.

"The roar of flames, crackling like giant firecrackers, awoke me," said Judge Bishop after his escape from the burning structure. "Thank God there was a fire escape in front of my window. I ran down the six flights. I saw several men jump and bounce off the sidewalk like rubber balls. I was slightly bruised coming down the fire escape."

The directors of the Missouri Athletic club appointed a committee of four to get a complete list of the missing, and of those who escaped. This committee established headquarters at the Press club and requested all those who were registered at the Missouri A. C. to notify them at once. The committee is headed by Walter Fritsch, a stockholder of the local Federal league baseball club.

Tell Stories of the Fire.

Stories of the fire were told at the city hospital by persons who were injured. L. L. Leonard said he was asleep on the sixth floor of the building when he was awakened by smoke. He ran into the corridor, but found the fire escape cut off by flames. He rushed back to his room and opened a window overlooking a store building on the west. Crawling out on the window sill he hung by his fingers on the ledge until the intense heat forced him to drop to the roof of the store building, two stories below. There he was picked up unconscious.

William Koener, head houseman of the club, was awakened by the shouting of the firemen. He ran into the corridor of the sixth floor and there saw a man directing guests to the fire escape. When he reached the fire escape the flames were playing about it so fiercely that he was forced back. He ran to the window from which Leonard was hanging, and finally the heat became so intense that he, too, was compelled to drop to the roof of the building two stories below.

Twelve Used Rope of Bedding.

About twelve men escaped from the fifth floor of the building by sliding down a rope made out of two sheets tied together. The story of the escape was told by Lewis Gaylord, an advertising man of New York. Gaylord was in a room on the west side of the fifth floor. When he took the room he examined the fire escapes and noticed that the roof of the next building, occupied by a seed company, was only fifteen feet below his window.

Gaylord was asleep when the fire broke out, but he was awakened by screams. Throwing on a bathrobe he ran into the corridor, which was filled with smoke, and he rushed to the stairway. The carpet on the stairs was ablaze, making escape by that method impossible. The elevator shaft was a furnace from top to bottom. He then started for a window opening on the roof of the steed store.

"I'm Blind—Don't Leave Me."

In the corridor he heard some one cry: "I'm blind—don't leave me here to die." Gaylord made out in the smoke the figure of a man groping his way along the wall. The man did not give his name. Gaylord led him to a room occupied by Henry Baker. Gaylord thought the man was blinded only temporarily by the smoke.

In Baker's room Gaylor and the unidentified blind man were joined by nine others. A young man took command of the situation and, tying two sheets together, fastened one end of the improvised rope to a radiator. The other end hung over the roof of the steed store below. The twelve men then climbed down the rope, hand over hand, and all were rescued from the roof of the store.

While the men were escaping, another man leaped into the room through the door and fell unconscious to the floor. He recovered quickly and escaped down the rope ladder.

Meanwhile the smoke began pouring into the room, forcing the men to close the door and cease calling other men to join them. J. R. Stephens was the last man to go down the improvised rope.

A dozen men who stood on the roof of the seed store, saw about twenty persons at the windows of the sixth and seventh stories of the Missouri A. C. One of these jumped to the seed store roof and broke his leg.

First Ladder Was Too Short.

Gaylord and others went to the edge of the roof and shouted for help. Firemen ran into the building, and going to the upper floor raised a ladder through a trap door to the roof. The men on the roof drew up the ladder and sought to rescue those at the windows above. The ladder was too short and another was sent up. Gaylord and the men with him on the roof descended to the floor below without waiting to see whether the men on the upper floors were saved. They thought, however, that all those who crowded to the windows were rescued.

Before leaving the roof Gaylord and another man picked up the man who had broken his leg, and dropped him through the trap door to waiting firemen.

MYSTERIOUS PARTY INVADES MEXICO; GETS VERGARA'S BODY

reports that Texas Rangers and friends of Vergara had acted together in crossing into Mexico and obtaining the body for burial by the family. Rumors had it that former employes of the Vergara ranch were responsible for the recovery of the body.

Consul Garrett also forestalled surmises that the Mexican authorities might have taken this means to return the body by saying that he did not believe they knew the body had been removed. He had never asked nor received any authority from them to return the body to Texas, he said.

Apparently the only clew to the identity of the men was a shovel left in the open grave in the Hidalgo cemetery. To it was attached a card inscribed: "Recuerdos" — "Remembrances."

Not Act of Rangers.

Austin, Tex., March 9.—Texas Rangers did not cross the Mexican border, nor participate in the expedition by which Clemente Vergara's body was secretly exhumed from Hidalgo, Mex., cemetery, and deposited by persons as yet unidentified, on the Texas side of the Rio Grande, before daylight Sunday morning, according to the official version of the Vergara incident from state capitol sources today.

It is claimed that this version was borne out by dispatches from Laredo, Tex., the nearest point to Hidalgo, where investigation could be made and transmitted by wire.

Sanders' Telegram.

Last night's statement that rangers recovered the body was based on the following telegram from Ranger Capt. J. J. Sanders:

"I proceeded to Hidalgo, Mex., obtained body of Vergara. Have it here.'

The telegram was dated "Laredo," but the word "here" it referred to was the point above Laredo on the Rio Grande where Vergara made his home. State officials accepted the telegram as meaning that Sanders actually entered Mexico. Governor Colquitt wired Sanders for details early today, and after talking to the ranger captain over the long distance telephone gave out the following statement:

Colquitt's Statement.

"Capt. Sanders, commander Company C of the Texas Rangers, at Laredo, advised me by telephone that he had recovered the body of Vergara. I wired him for full particulars. He advises me that he did not go into Mexico at all, but was informed that the body of Vergara would be delivered on the Texas side of the river at a particular place named at 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning, where he found it. As to who brought it across the river, he does not know. He had no assistance in this transaction, except from the family and relatives of Vergara, who fully identified the body."

The governor said today he did not know whether he would have a further statement to make until he could get additional facts. He declared unequivocally last night when it still was believed at Austin that the Rangers had actually crossed the border, that he had not issued specific instructions for them to cross.

The persons who exhumed the body from its Mexican grave have thus far kept their identity secret.

On Mexican Side.

The words of Capt. Sanders' first telegram, "I proceeded to Hidalgo," in the light of his later report to the governor, are capable of two meanings, it is said. Sanders is stationed at Laredo, forty-five miles from the point where the body was brought across the river near Hidalgo. To get the body Sanders and American Consul A. B. Carrett, at Nuevo Laredo, had to make the forty-five mile trip from Laredo. Hidalgo being one of the few places in that section large enough to have a name designating its location, Sanders' telegram has been interpreted as using the words "to Hidalgo" simply to indicate a section of the border.

Hidalgo is on the Mexican side of the river, close to the American side.

Expect Report to Washington.

Washington, March 9.—President Wilson expects a full report from Governor Colquitt and American Consul Garrett as to the manner in which the body of Clemente Vergara, an American citizen killed in Mexico, was returned to American soil.

After reading news dispatches, some saying Texas Rangers had crossed into Mexico and had availed themselves of permission by the Mexican Federal authorities to American Consul Garrett to recover the body, the president and Secretary Bryan conferred at length.

The president said afterward that no official information had been received; that he doubted very much whether Consul Garrett had any permission to take the body, and that he would await a full report from Governor Colquitt before making any comment.

The president pointed out that the Huerta government had supplied little information about Vergara, declaring simply that it would investigate, but expressing the opinion that Vergara had joined the Constitutionalists. Consul Garrett's dispatches have said Vergara came to his death at the hands of Mexican Federals.

No Word About Benton.

The president had no further advices today about the inquiry being made by the Constitutionalists into the recent execution of William S. Benton, a British subject, at Juarez.

On the subject of protection of foreigners in Mexico, the president indicated clearly that the American government would continue to use its good offices on behalf of subjects of those powers which had recognized the Huerta government and could not, therefore, deal with the Constitutionalists.

No information has been obtained as to whether Gen. Carranza has altered his attitude of denying to the United States the right to inquire for the welfare of nationals other than her own.

Incidentally, the president denied that the American government knew anything of a published report that Germany had warned Mexico that any injury to German subjects would be met with retaliation.

The president told callers that Germany's attitude toward the position of the United States in the Mexican situation had been satisfactory and that Germany had occupied a most dignified position throughout. He did not believe reports, he added, that Germany was disposed to complicate the situation.

Fall Gets Telegram.

Senator Fall of New Mexico today received the following telegram from Governor Colquitt, dated Austin, Tex., March 9:

"Am just in receipt of a telegram from Capt. Sanders of Texas Rangers, saying he had returned from Hidalgo, Mex., with Vergara's body, and now has it on American soil."

Acting Chairman Shively of the senate foreign relations committee conferred with President Wilson and then with Secretary Bryan about the Vergara case, and said afterwards that little official information had been received.

Rebels Plan Bank.

Agua Prieta, Sonora, Mex., March 9.—Constitutionalist officials announced today that organization is under way of a semi-official banking institution in Sonora state, which will be founded along constitutional lines. In view of the lack of actual money capital, stockholders will contribute mortgages on their lands.

It was said that the capital stock in this way would aggregate $2,000,000 gold. It is expected that other states under the Constitutionalists' influence will adopt similar plans of raising funds.

England Will Wait.

London, March 9.—The view of the British government is that it would serve no useful purpose to make representations to the government at Washington regarding the recognition of Gen. Huerta as provisional president of Mexico.

This announcement was made today by Francis Dyke Acland, parliamentary under-secretary of state for foreign affairs, in answering a question in the house of commons.

GROCERS OFF FOR ST. PAUL MEETING

Duluth Delegates Boost Geo. H. Schulenberg for State Presidency.

Grocers from Duluth and nearby towns will leave in a special car attached to the regular Great Northern train this afternoon to attend the annual state convention in St. Paul.

The delegation from this part of the state is boosting the candidacy of George H. Schulenberg of Luluth for president. They will be well supplied with literature and banners and an abundance of confidence. Mr Schulenberg is well known to the grocers of the state and his supporters believe that he will be elected to head the Minnesota organization. The first session will be held tomorrow and the last meeting will be held Thursday.

EARLE AND HIS NEW AFFINITY "GUILTY"

Romorantin, France, March 9.—Ferdinand Pinney Earle and his latest "affinity," Miss Charlotte Hermann of Rutherford, N. J., were found guilty of kidnaping Earle's 8-year-old son, Harold, from a private school at Lamotte Beauvron.

Earle was sentenced to two months' imprisonment and Miss Hermann to one month, both sentences to date from the time of their arrest in Normany. Both therefore were liberated. Earle also was fined $5 and Miss Hermann $3.

Mme. Fischbacher, the divorced first wife of Earle and mother of the boy, Harold, was awarded $1,400 damages.

CLAIM NEW LIGHT ON FRANK'S CASE.

Atlanta, Ga., March 9.—Evidence has been made public here which attorneys for Leo M. Frank sentenced to be hanged April 17 for the murder here of Mary Phagan, a factory girl, in April of last year, claim has placed the case in an entirely new light. Frank's lawyers, who are preparing to make an extraordinary motion for a new trial, asserted that they are in possession of proof that the mysterious murder notes which figured so prominently in the trial of the factory superintendent were written in the basement of the pencil factory, where they were found near the body of the murdered girl, and not in Frank's office, as claimed by the prosecution.

The date set for the execution is the prisoner's thirtieth birthday. The fact was not known until sentence was pronounced, when Frank, turning to a friend, remarked that he was born in Quero, Tex., on April 17, 1884.

TOWN ALL BURNS EXCEPT ONE SALOON.

Tacoma, Wash., March 9.—With the exception of one saloon, the entire business section of South Prairie, a town of 350 population, eighteen miles east of Tacoma, was destroyed Sunday by fire. The loss is estimated at $30,000.

Mission at Bemidji.

Bemidji, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—A two weeks' mission, for Catholics and non-Catholics, began in St. Philip's church here yesterday. Rev. Father McGrath, a Paulist missionary of Chicago, conducting the services. The first week will be given over to the Catholics and the second to non-Catholics, although those of either denomination may attend any of the services.

The Play == And Its Audience

Something About "The Traffic" and the Problem Which It Pictures, With a Few Pertinent Points Concerning People Who See the Drama.

THIS is not a dramatic criticism. It is not a dramatic review. But IT IS a significant article, telling of a dramatic presentation of the greatest problem confronting modern civilization. As Chairman of the Illinois Senate Wage and Vice Commission, Lieutenant Governor O'Hara is singularly qualified to discuss the subject herewith treated. And if he reviews audience more than play—why, so much more vital are his words.

By BARRATT O'HARA, Lieutenant Governor of Illinois.

THERE was much quiet weeping by the ladies and gentlemen who witnessed "The Traffic" the night I did. Silent sobs surreptitiously sobbed in what privacy one may acquire in the semidarkness of a playhouse, it is true; but sobs unmistakably and very nearly unanimously. When the lights went on suddenly at curtain drops I saw the handkerchiefs hurriedly drop as in a Chautauqua salute. I presume they carried the damp of human tears. Of my own knowledge, one did, and no one has a better right to declare the cargo of that particular bit of linen than have I.

In the midst of our weeping some one said, "Those who weep the easiest sometimes have the hardest hearts." The words were part of the play—a very pat part of the play, we thought—and we were enthusiastically sobbing in accord. Pause! "Those who weep the easiest sometimes"— Pshaw! We were too busy weeping to apply the line to ourselves.

Well?

A half hour later we crowded aboard a coach on the south side elevated at Congress street. We were a portion of the audience that had seen "The Traffic"—twenty of us perhaps, singly or in couples, strangers save that we had met on a common weeping ground. The coach was crowded. When most of us had found seats the supply exhausted itself. There remained only the straps. In tottered a woman alone—not a happy looking creature, possibly a scrubwoman, hurrying home from mopping on her hands and knees the marble floors of a downtown skyscraper where all types of men, the money changers, will tread tomorrow; past middle age, long past the danger age of white slavery.

The woman was poverty in real life, and the gentlemen who had sobbed at poverty in stage life did not offer her a seat and the ladies who had sobbed at poverty in stage life shrank from poverty in real life, and two of them (I saw them do it!) involuntarily swirled their party skirts a bit farther inward as she passed by.

"Those who weep the easiest"—

But all this has nothing at all to do with the play. I really have no business dragging it in. If I were a dramatic critic I fear I should lose my position for criticising the audience in lieu of the players. That is rude. Players are there to be lambasted or glorified. People who can afford the price at the door are immune, by gentlemen's agreement. Still, sometimes the audience needs lecturing the more.

"The Traffic" is described as "a sociological play in four acts by Rachael Marshall and Oliver Bailey." It is more than that. It is the story of a girl's descent into the pit—against her will. That is not a nice topic, and I imagine some of our good men and women who try to reform the world without soiling the lily white of their gloved hands will find much to criticise in the topic, if not in its presentation. Still, no clean minded young lady need remain away from the theater while "The Traffic" is being presented, for "The Traffic" is as clean as an antiseptic bandage, no matter how unnice the ailment beneath may be.

Some months ago numerous girls with painted cheeks appeared before an inquisitorial body, of which I was a member, and charged that certain economic conditions, that certain gentlemen who had paid less than a living wage, that certain daily brushes with the thing we call poverty had constituted the soul of the artist that applied the paint where the pink roses of girlhood should have bloomed. I remembered the night I saw "The Traffic" how certain men had angrily retorted that economic conditions never affected morality and that only girls who were born bad, who wanted to be bad and who would not be anything else went to the bad. In my judgment these critics should be sentenced to an indeterminate term of attendance at performances of "The Traffic."

I do not know Rachael Marshall and Oliver Bailey. I do not know the producers, the managers, the press agent, the property man or any of the actors who constitute the cast. I presume they are in the show business to make a living, or more, if they are able. I presume "The Traffic" was written, produced and is being acted for the purpose of making money. But I do not hesitate to recommend the show to the citizenship of Chicago entirely without reservation, even though such recommendation might induce a few more people to buy tickets at the box office and thus swell the profits of the managers. No more would I hesitate to recommend an afflicted friend to the best physician of my acquaintance merely because the learned doctor would charge a fee.

"The Traffic" is the most powerful play dealing with vice and wages that it has been my privilege to witness. It is powerful because true. Unlike "The Lure" and some others, it is not overdone. It might be a true story of a real girl here in Chicago, and I defy any one to maintain to the contrary.

I am chiefly concerned in "The Traffic" because it is true. I know a great many men and women will not take the time and the trouble to search out and see the tragedy of poverty enacted in real life. I think it is better they should see it in stage life when realistically depicted rather than not see it at all.

Agnes Berton works in a department store for $6 a week. At night she does piecework for a manufacturer of children's and women's garments. For sewing the buttonholes in twelve shirt waists she received 5 cents—usually. If she soils one shirt waist, however slightly, she is penalized 10 cents—that is, she must do two dozen shirt waists without any pay at all. Agnes lives with her sister in a single room in a portion of the city where the housing conditions are of the vilest. The sister is threatened with tuberculosis, and the doctor warns Agnes that little sister must go to the country for fresh air and wholesome food or she cannot live.

"Little sister must go to the country or die. Agnes must have the money. . . . Connors points the way."

Now, living in one room in a low tenement does not afford a girl much opportunity for social activity. You cannot blame her if the men she knows are of an uncertain character. When one is forced to pick unintroduced acquaintances on the streets and at cheap dance halls, one assumes a frightful gamble. The acquaintance may be an angel, but the odds are tremendously the other way.

Well, Agnes had two friends. One was an angel and the other was a devil. The angel happened to be a young doctor interested in sociological research and almost as poor as Agnes herself. The other was Vic Connors, a professional white slaver. Vic had followed Agnes home from work, had ingratiated himself in her confidence and had escorted her on a few occasions to a dance hall or a moving picture show. Agnes cared for the doctor much and respected Connors.

Little sister must go to the country or die. Agnes must have the money. There is one way open—Connors points the way. Stop right here, good reader, and place yourself fairly in the position of Agnes Berton. An orphan; little sister is the only relative in the world, the only one she loves and idolizes. Little sister will die unless her big sister makes the supreme sacrifice of womanhood.

Well, she packs little sister's trunk and sends her to the country.

That is really all there is to the play, although the plot progresses three acts further. It is about all there is to the play, just as it is about all there is to the girl when she takes that kind of a step. A year later Agnes Berton is as hard in manner and as dead in moral instinct as the hardest of her associates.

Somehow as I watched the third act of "The Traffic" I saw again the hideously painted face of the girl at Peoria, testifying that she had taken the "easiest way" because her father had been a drunkard and her mother had never enjoyed the ordinary comforts of a home. The girl at Peoria wanted her mother to "have something" before she reached the grave, and the girl at Peoria with the hideously painted face there in the richly furnished parlors of the Jefferson hotel was only nineteen too.

After witnessing "The Traffic" if you are serious minded enough to give a passing thought to the problem of humanity you will wonder which is the lowest in the vicious industry of white slavery—the employer who pays the girl less than a living wage or the professional white slaver who assails her in a position rendered weak by the starvation wage. The "cadet" who shows the girl no pity, who goes out deliberately to trap her as though she were of no more consequence than a rabbit or a wild bear, denounces the unscrupulous employer as inhumane and brutal. Beside him the professional white slaver feels himself an angel. The employer who underpays the girls working for him regards the professional white slaver as a miserable scoundrel, fit only to be hounded to earth. He boasts of his contributions to all efforts looking toward the extermination of the white slaver.

Strange, isn't it, how always the kettle is calling the pot black?

"The Traffic" seemed to me to be capably acted. I presume a dramatic critic would name the actors and actresses, patting them each and all on the shoulder, so to speak, with a critical verbal slap. I shall do nothing of the sort, because the players are infinitesmal in the presence of a theme as great as the world itself. The players are of no more importance than are you and I and countless millions of other lives that will be created and lived before we have learned that poverty is as inexcusable as Asiatic cholera and have found just how to eradicate it.

DULUTH CAPTAIN GAINS HIGHEST HOCKEY HONORS OF HIS LONG CAREER

JOE LINDER.

TOURISTS BACK HOME

White Sox Players Reach Chicago—Banquet Before Training Camp Journey.

World's Champions Go to Jacksonville—McGraw and Others South.

Chicago, March 9.—Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago American league baseball club White Sox players who made the trip around the world, and nearly 100 Chicagoans who went to New York to welcome home the tourists, arrived here early today from New York on a special train.

After a banquet to be given in their honor tonight the players will join their teammates at Paso Robles, Cal., the Sox training quarters. Sam Crawford, Tom Daly and Jack Bliss did not return on the special.

Crawford went to his home in Detroit and Daly went to his home in Boston. Jim Scott, the pitcher, planned to leave immediately for Landers, Wyo., where his brother is dead.

Manager Callahan, Weaver, Slight, Faber, Daly and Benz will leave Chicago Wednesday for the training camp. Leverenz, Schafer and Egan will go to West Baden before joining their camps. Tris Speaker planned to go to his home in Texas for a short visit before joining his squad at Hot Springs.

Steve Evans, who jumped to the Federal league last Saturday, returned to Chicago on the special train and will join the Brooklyn Federals at Columbia, S. C., after a few days' visit at his home here.

Philadelphia, March 9.—The regulars of the world's champion Athletics left Saturday for Jacksonville, Fla., to join the other members of the Philadelphia American league team in training there under Manager Connie Mack. The party was headed by Ira Thomas, who was yesterday appointed captain of the champions, succeeding "Danny" Murphy. The latter goes to the Baltimore International league club. Others in the party were Catchers Schang and Lapp, "Chief" Bender, "Stuffy" McInnes, "Eddie" Collins, Amos Strunk, "Rube" Oldring and "Eddie" Murphy. "Jack" Barry, who was injured while practicing with the Holy Cross team at Worcester, Mass., several days ago, will join the Athletics in a few days and Frank Baker will go South in about a week, being detained at his home in Trappe, Md., by illness in his family.

New York, March 9.—A party of six members of the New York National league team, headed by Manager John J. McGraw, left yesterday for Marlin, Tex., to join the main body of Giants in the training camp there. Besides McGraw, four other members of the squad were returning world tourists: Larry Doyle, Fred Merkle, Jim Thorpe and Mike Donlin. The other was R. I. Cotter, a catcher McGraw is planning to try out at Marlin.

Oakland, Cal., March 9.—Hal Chase, first baseman of the Chicago Americans, joined his teammates here yesterday and went into the lineup in the afternoon against the San Francisco club. Chase has been playing winter ball in San Jose and is in good condition.

RIFLE SHOOT RESULTS.

Michigan Aggies Lead in Intercollegiate—Warren in Interclub.

Washington, March 9.—A new college record, and what is regarded as virtually a world's record for rifle shooting in the class, was made by the Michigan agricultural college with a score of 994 out of a possible 1,000, in the ninth week's match for the intercollegiate championship of the United States. The previous record was 988. The Michigan boys continue in the lead in Class A. A member of this team, M. R. Freeman, made a possible score of 200, the individual record. Washington state college leads Class B, and in Class C, the University of Illinois is at the top with nine straight victories.

The eleventh week of the inter-club rifle shoot finds Warren, Pa., still undefeated in Class A with the district of Columbia and Cleveland ties for second place. Warren was high gun for the week, making 997 out of a possible 1,000 within one point of the record. Other high scores were Birmingham and Cleveland, each with 996. In Class B, King's Mills holds the lead with Stillwater, Minn., and Boston as runners up.

PUBLIC CHARY OF WOLGAST'S RETURN

Ritchie Favorite in Light Betting for Thursday's Battle.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 9.—Rejuvenation of Ad Wolgast and reported overconfidence of Willie Ritchie have failed to dethrone the latter as the favorite in betting for their ten-round bout here next Thursday. Ritchie is at the long end of the odds, but betting has been light despite its being a match for the lightweight title.

When the match-makers of the local club, which will stage the bout, signed the two, Wolgast's recent defeat of Joe Rivers, the Mexican, and other indications that he had "come back," made them believe that he will be able to put up a great fight to regain his lost laurels. The public generally does not share this belief, but certain authorities credit the Michigan man with ability to "surprise Ritchie." Wolgast has been holding off from several good offers that he might get "big money." This he succeeded in doing for the Milwaukee club has promised him, it is understood, an alternative of 40 per cent of the gate receipts.

Ritchie, a comparatively new comer in the higher circles of the boxing world, won the title of lightweight champion from Wolgast at Daly City, Cal., Nov. 28, 1912. A foul decided the combat in the sixteenth round.

MEETING FOR HANDBALL MEN

There will be a meeting of the handball players who are desirous of representing Duluth in the series with St. Paul for the state championship late this afternoon in the physical director's office at the Y. M. C. A.

It is very important that all of the players wishing to take part in the tournament for the state title be present.

On Saturday afternoon Devine and Pete Petkoff eliminated Lauterback and Kingston from the tournament. The former pair won the series, 21 to 5 and 21 to 0.

Interest in the approaching series for the highest honors of the state, both in the doubles and singles, is increasing. It is naturally desired that the best players of Duluth represent the Duluth Y. M. C. A. and for that reason a special request is made that all those interested attend today's meeting.

Many Bowlers Complete.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 9.—Hundreds of bowlers from all parts of the country are here for the opening today of the fourteenth international tournament of the American Bowling congress. The tournament will last for sixteen days, and more than $20,000 in prize money will be distributed. There are entered for the contests 450 five-men teams; 954 two-men teams and 1,926 individuals.

DULUTH AND WINNIPEG TO FORM HOCKEY LEAGUE

President Jones of Curling Club Springs Idea of International Body.

William R. Bawlf of the Victorias Heartily Seconds the Suggestion.

At a banquet given to the members of the Duluth and Winnipeg hockey teams at the Kitchi Gammi club, following the game of Saturday evening, Stephen H. Jones, president of the Duluth Curling club, made the first move in the organization of an international hockey league that may be formed during the coming summer.

William R. Bawlf of the Victorias heartily seconded the proposition of Mr. Jones, and in an enthusiastic talk stated that immediate steps should be taken toward the placing in the field a league that would include some of the best teams on both sides of the international boundary line.

"No one here can realize at this time the great benefit the game of this evening has accomplished to the sport of hockey," said Mr. Jones. "We have tried to build the game up in Duluth, and a win over the great Victorias is a great boost for the sport.

"What I would like to see, and what we would all like to see, is the organization of an International Hockey league. Our relations with the Winnipeg team have cemented the good feeling of sportsmanship and immeasurably increased the interest in the game. We believe that the organization of an international league would create still greater interest and would result in some of the best hockey in the entire country."

Mr. Bawlf heartily seconded the belief of President Jones. He declared that it was the desire of the Victoria officials to have Duluth come to Winnipeg next season for a series of games, and that now that the International Hockey league had been suggested, it would be favored and supported by those interested in hockey.

Would be a Great League.

With Duluth and several other teams of this side of the boundary line composing the American end of the league, and the best teams of Winnipeg representing the Canadian end, anyone the least familiar with the game can see the possibilities of the proposed organization.

In the matter of creating new interest in hockey, the visit of the Victorias has been a great boon to the game in Duluth. The greatest interest of the entire season has been centered in the two games played between Duluth and the Victorias, and in the event of the organization of the International Hockey league, there is little doubt but that the interest in the great winter sport will be increased to a degree corresponding to the interest shown in the game in the Western Canadian metropolis.

During the banquet speeches were made by several members of the two teams. Every speaker paid his respects to the spirit of sportsmanship that has been the dominant feature of the two games played between the Duluth and Winnipeg teams.

It is the belief of those present at the banquet that the idea set forth by President Stephen H. Jones and so heartily seconded by Mr. Bawlf will result in the organization of a hockey league that will result in bringing the game to its highest development and will also result in renewed interest in the sport.

"Ham" Baker Is Effectively Checked By a Great Defense.

BY BRUCE.

The Duluth Curling club hockey team defeated the great Victoria seven of Winnipeg Saturday evening by the score of 5 to 4.

The first score was registered by Duluth in ten minutes of play. A mighty shout arose and the vaulted roof rang with the reverberating echoes of the din that shook the big building.

In a little over two minutes another Duluth score was made. People leaped to their feet—or on other people's feet—and threw away hats and made the welkin ring. The second shout was greater than the first.

Then came the other score. The volume of the din knew no bounds. When steers are stampeded they gather mad momentum. That is the way the volume of sound increased, until the lungs of 2,000 people gathered contagion of enthusiasm and wildly yelled for the team that was turning back the great Vics and winning one of the greatest games that we have ever seen on this side of the international line.

Seven Stars Aligned.

Prodigal Jack Mahan played like a fiend with a stick in its hand. But so did Joe Linder. So did Russell Barkell. Well so did Arnie Olson and Bill Bogan and Uncle Nick Kahler and Belleck.

It would be unfair to select any particular star from the Duluth team. It is fair to state that the presence of Jack Mahan made a lot of difference. The prodigal played one of the greatest games the fans have ever seen here. But this same statement goes for every member of the home team.

In the matter of team work the curling club seven clearly outplayed the visitors. The visitors failed to show the combinations expected of them—for the simple and very effective reason that the superb defense of the locals broke up attempted formations before the Vics had the opportunity to get started.

The great majority of followers of the Duluth team looked eagerly forward to the best exhibition upon the part of the team that it had ever shown. The curling club team outdid itself and passed the furthest mark of all expectations by showing itself one of the best teams on the American continent.

"Hiant" Baker Is Stopped.

It would be foolish to state that Hamilton Baker did not play a fine game—he did; but the Baker boy was checked at most stages of the game and proved in no wise the effective point winner of the previous contest.

Duluth was watching "Ham" every second of play and he made but little progress. On defense the star of the visitors loafed at intervals.

Caldwell was one of the stars of the Vics. The same is true of Lovett and Bass Baker. The goal tender and Lovett played a really remarkable defensive game and prevented the local score from being larger only by some wonderful stops.

Uncle Nick Kahler made the first score of the game as the ten minute mark was ticked off. The score was made from scrimmage. Nick got the puck as it bounded out from a hot mix-up directly in front of the cage and shot it by the vigilant Baker.

During all this time the puck had been in the Winnipeg territory most of the time.

Barkell had been playing a wonderful game. Shortly after the first score Russell got the puck near the goal in another scrimmage and shot it in. The locals were rushing the visitors and the second goal showed the superiority in both aggressiveness and team play.

The third and last Duluth goal of the first half came in 14:45 and was registered by Barkell. Arnie Olson took the puck from a point on the Winnipeg side of center, and at a rather difficult angle shot it over to Barkell, Russell lofted the rubber in and the shot was one of the prettiest of the evening.

Little Caldwell made the first score for the visitors just before the call of time for the first half.

Romeril took the puck up the ice for a beautiful rush and just to the side of the cage passed the rubber to Caldwell, who drew Belleck aside by a feint and slipped the puck in.

Winnipeg Comes Fast.

In the second half the visitors played their greatest game.

Barkell scored in two minutes of play. Russell made the cage from far out on the ice and it was a beautiful shot.

Joe Linder figured in the next Duluth score. Joseph came out from behind his own goal and took the puck down the sidelines, dodged the Vic forwards and just at the side of the hostile net neatly passed the puck to Barkell, who shot it by the outdrawn Bass Baker. She was some play, made with machine-like precision.

Caldwell made the second score for the Vics. Caldwell made his score from scrimmage, shooting it by Belleck as the rubber shot out.

"Hammy" Baker came into his own by making the final two scores for his team. The first came at the end of thirteen minutes of play, when Baker took the puck from the Duluth side of center ice, dodged Bogan and shot from an angle slightly to the side of the net.

The final cage of the visitors came five minutes before the ending of the

FEDERALS OFF FOR SPRING TRAINING

Tinker's Men Leave for Shreveport; St. Louis and Kansas City Rosters Announced; Evans and Doolan Desert to Outlaws.

Chicago, March 9.—Joseph Tinker, manager, and two score ball players last night departed for Shreveport, La., to start the training season of the Chicago Federal league team.

A special train took the party and carried in addition to the players, trainer and others directly connected with the team, President Gilmore of the Federal league, President Weeghman and Vice President William Walker of the local club, as well as a number of newspaper men and a score of friends of club officials.

President Gilmore reiterated his decision of war on the American and National leagues just before the train left.

"The policy of respecting the contracts of organized leagues in the search for players is a thing of the past," he said.

He announced that henceforth the league would make overtures to such players as it wished regardless of their standing with organized ball.

He notified E. E. Gates of Indianapolis, counsel for the league, to begin suit in the Federal courts against the Philadelphia team to get redress in the Killifer case.

St. Louis, Mo., March 9.—Mordecai Brown, manager of the St. Louis Federal league baseball team arrived here last night and gave out the following list of players:

Catchers—Mike Simon, formerly with the Pittsburg Nationals; Grover Hartley, New York Americans; Harry Chapman, Atlanta Southern league.

Pitchers—William Morgan, Salt Lake City; Edgar Willett, Detroit Americans; E. Bushman, Highland, Ill.; G. Williams, St. Louis; Mordecai Brown, manager; J. Herbert, Cincinnati; Otis Crandall, New York Nationals; Bob Groom, Washington Americans; Harry Cooper, who last year pitched for the St. Louis Federals under the name of King; William Jenney, St. Louis.

Third base—J. J. Mathes, Utica, N. Y., New York State league.

Second base—Alvin Bucher, Jersey City, New Jersey, International league.

Shortstop—Al Bridwell, Chicago Nationals.

Outfielders—Ward Miller, Chicago Nationals; Eddie Tobin, St. Louis Federals last year; Fred Kommers, Pittsburg Nationals; Dell Drake, Kansas City American association.

The team is scheduled to depart for its training camp in Monroe, La., Tuesday.

Kansas City, Mo., March 9.—A list of the players of the Kansas City Federal league baseball team was announced last night. Among them are:

Easterly, catcher, formerly with the Chicago Americans; pitchers, Packard, Cincinnati Nationals; Baumgardner, St. Louis Americans, and Blanding, Cleveland Americans; infielders, Stovall, manager, formerly with St. Louis Americans; and Ferring, Columbus American association.

New York, March 9.—The Federal league promoters have announced that they had signed Mike Doolan, formerly of the Philadelphia league club, and Steve Evans of the St. Louis Nationals. Doolan has been allotted to the Baltimore club of the Federal league, while Evans will play with Brooklyn.

President Baker of the Philadelphia Nationals stated that he had endeavored to hold Doolan in line with excellent offers, and that he had reached an understanding with Manager McGraw of the New York Giants whereby Doolan would have been traded to the National league pennant winners of 1913.

Doolan, however, could not be persuaded to reject the proposals of the Federal league.

ENGLISH THINK BASEBALL IS MUCH TOO PERFECT.

New York, March 9.—Although the English sport writers are loath to admit that baseball is superior to cricket, they were quick to perceive and praise the brilliant skill in the handling of the ball and the excellent team play of the Giants and White Sox in the recent game played at London.

In fact, some of the writers were inclined to the opinion that the play was too mechanically perfect.

THE LANPHER HAT

LARS HAUGEN WINS AT CHIPPEWA FALLS.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., March 9.—Lars Haugen of Chippewa Falls carried off premier honors at the ninth annual ski tournament here yesterday, his two winning jumps measuring 135 feet and 143 feet. Ideal weather attracted more than 2,000 spectators to the meet, which was participated in by thirty-eight riders. A feature of the day was a somersault on skis performed by Axel Hendrickson in a standing jump of 119 feet. Earl Gunderson of Chippewa Falls, national boy champion, won the events in his class. Summary:

Professional—Lars Haugen, Chippewa Falls, 295; Thor Knutson, Chicago, 290; E. Landvick, Stoughton, 280. Long standing jump, Axel Hendrickson, Blair, Wis., 132 feet.

Amateur—Melvin Hendrickson, Eau Claire, 274; Thomas Hagen, Eau Claire, 241; Hans Hanson, Minneapolis, 236. Long standing jump, Thomas Hagen, 112 feet.

Boys—Earl Gunderson, 238; Martin Hagen, 222; Howard Shelley, Chippewa Falls, 179.

Gymnastic Society Contest.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 9.—The fifth annual championship contest of the Northwestern Gymnastic society will be held at the University of Minnesota armory on the evening of March 21. More than 225 men, representing nineteen university and colleges, will compete for plaques, cups, medals and certificates, offered by the society.

contest. Baker was playing with desperate rushes. He seldom got started, but at that the star of the visitors was doing better than in the first half.

Baker got the puck on the side lines and slightly past center ice, carried it to a position just in front of the cage and shot it in.

This ended the scoring. The great throng of spectators that filled the huge enclosure were literally on tip-toe. One more score would have in all probability caused extra time. And the Vics were coming strong. But in the midst of the tension the clang of the bell rang out and one of the greatest of all games was ended.

CHANCE FOR GREAT TENNIS IN AUGUST

Davis Cup Matches Will Bring World's Leading Racket Wielders.

New York, March 9.—With draws made and tentative dates selected for the Davis cup international tennis tournament matches, it is possible to estimate the task that confronts the United States players if they would successfully defend the trophy regained in England last season. With the exception of South Africa, all of the countries which entered the tournament in 1913 will be represented by teams this year. The challenging nations consist of the British Isles, France, Germany, Canada, Australasia and Belgium.

The United States, as defenders of the cup, stand out and will play the team which comes through in the challenge round on Aug. 13, 14 and 15.

Since the majority of these nations will nominate about the same players which competed in 1913, the results of the matches a year ago form an excellent basis upon which the outcome of the preliminaries can be forecasted. In the upper half of the draw Canada and Australasia, meet in the first round with Germany, Belgium and the British Isles opposed in the initial round, with France standing out to meet the winner. With Australasia and the British Isles separated by the halves of the draw, it is reasonable to presume that these two countries will come through the preliminary rounds and meet in the final for the right to play the defending team. A year ago Australasia was represented by S. N. Doust, H. M. Rice, and A. B. Jones, while British Isles used J. C. Parke, C. P. Dixon, H. Roper Barrett. The Australasian team for the coming tournament will consist of A. F. Wilding, the conqueror of Maurice McLoughlin at Wimbledon for the world's singles championship; Norman E. Brookes, the equal of Wilding when he ceased to play two years ago, Stanley Doust and A. W. Dunlop. In the general world's tennis rankings, Wilding and Brookes are always rated among the first three while Doust and Dunlop seldom rose above eighth place. The English players, Parke, Dixon and Barrett also rank with the leading players of the world, sharing these honors with McLoughlin and R. Norris Williams, of the United States team.

According to the tentative plans of the entering countries, British Isles, France and Belgium will play their ties abroad. Canada, Australasia and Germany will hold their elimination series in this country. Assuming therefore Australasia and British Isles meet in the final round, as appears probable, the test match will be played in the United States followed with the challenge round at New York, Boston or Newport on Aug. 13, 14 and 15. This will necessitate the presence in this country of Wilding, Brookes, Dunlop and Doust from Australasia; Dixon, Parke, Barrett and one other player for England and probably Oscar Kreutzer, Otto Froitzcheim, Herman Kleinschroth, and F. W. Raehe for Germany.

When the names of McLoughlin, Williams, Wallace F. Johnson, Harold Hackett, F. B. Alexander, T. C Bundy, Malcolm D. Whitman, W. A. Larned, C. F. Touchard, W. J. Clothier, R. D. Little, Clarence Griffen, John Strachan, and William Johnston, all commended as Davis cup team possibilities, are included in this list, it will be seen that the United States is to witness one of the best gatherings of world-famous tennis players in many years for the international matches and the national championships which follow a week later.

BENEFIT FOR BRYANT AT THE AUDITORIUM.

There will be a benefit for Frank Bryant tomorrow evening at the Auditorium. The money taken in will be used to defray the expenses of the Northwestern roller skating champion to the world's meet, which will be held at Detroit, Mich., the present month.

The little local star will skate against the best men in the world and his friends believe that he will make a grand showing. Bryant has been training for several months and is in fine condition.

In the series of exhibitions of tomorrow evening Frank will skate against a relay of the best skaters in the city. In addition to the match in which Bryant will appear there will be a race between the crack amateurs of the city. Skating will follow the contests.

TROUT FRY FOR RUSH CREEK

Car of 300,000 Embryo Speckled Beauties Passes Through City.

Planting Will Be Under Direction of Inspector T. J. Storey.

A car of trout fry, containing about 300,000 of the embryo speckled beauties, is scheduled to reach Duluth today from the state hatchery at Glenwood. Tuesday it will be hooked to a Canadian Northern train and hauled to Shaw, where the fry will be emptied into Rush creek, which flows from Rush lake.

They will be planted under the direction of T. J. Storey, inspector of game wardens for this part of the state. Inspector Storey says that Rush creek has almost the dimensions of a river, and if stocked will be one of the best trout streams in Northern Minnesota.

Last week a car containing 158 cans of fry was hauled along the Alger line and planted in streams along the road, including the Beaver and the Big and Little Split Rock. It is estimated that the 158 cans contained from 300,000 to 350,000 fry. The week previous a similar shipment of fry was planted in Lester river. This consignment was intended for Rush creek, but had to be planted here because of the breakdown of the fish car. They couldn't have been safely kept until the next day, and as a result of the accident Duluth reaped the benefit.

In the last two or three years Northern Minnesota has been receiving generous treatment at the hands of the state game and fish commission, its lakes and streams having been given more fish fry in that time than during all other years combined.

Inspector Storey said this morning that announcement of the appointment of Fred B. Myers of Biwabik as a member of the game and fish commission was welcome news to the sportsmen of Northern Minnesota. He stated that this is the first time that this part of the state has had one of its citizens on the board, although it is the home of the greatest part of the game in the state.

ALLAN CUP SERIES OFF

Monarchs Refuse to Defend Cup Against Kenora.

Barring of Star Player Causes Stir in Hockey World.

Winnipeg, Man., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was no game played here Saturday evening between the Monarchs, winner of the Winnipeg City league title, and the crack Kenora team of Kenora, Ont.

The game was called off at 1 o'clock Saturday when W. Northey, secretary of the Allan cup committee, decided that Dick Irwin, the star center of the Monarchs was ineligible.

Irwin has competed in all of the games played during the season. Therefore like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky came the announcement that the most dependable player of the pennant-winning Monarchs would not be allowed.

The directors of the Monarch club immediately went into executive session. The meeting of the executives of the Monarchs started at 4 o'clock Saturday morning. The question was considered from all angles and finally it was decided that for the best interests of the game the Monarchs would refuse to play without the services of Irwin.

May Cause Split.

Here there is grave apprehension regarding the ultimate result of the split over the barring of Irwin. It is held that the eligibility of the Monarch star should have been determined before the star of the Winnipeg City league games, as every one of these games is in itself an Allan cup contest.

Irwin played one game with the Strathconas of the Independent league before the opening of the city league and since that figured in every game of the Monarchs. At that time it was ruled that Irwin was eligible to play. It was considered that the Independent league was simply a feeder for the larger league. But at the last moment Secretary Northey of the Allan cup trustees ruled that Irwin was not eligible, because of his former connection with the Strathcona team, holding that the independent league has a distinct standing and that players could not be switched during the season.

The whole affair is a regrettable muddle and its outcome is regarded gravely by the lovers of hockey. Some are going far enough to state that the mixup may mean the end of the Allan cup series.

The logical sequel to the decision of the Allan Cup trustees is the re-claiming of the trophy by the Winnipegs, the team which lost the cup to the Monarchs. Secretary Northey refused to consider the question of Dick Irwin's eligibility early in the league season, forgetting the fact that every game in the Winnipeg league is as much an Allan cup contest as that which was to be staged tonight. Consequently Winnipeg would be perfectly justified in retaining the trophy and demanding that the past league season be declared null and void by the Allan cup trustees, or, rather, holding that the city championship at all events did not carry with it Allan cup honors for the present season.

PROMOTING THE PUBLIC HEALTH

Insurance Companies Active in Preventive Work, Says Health Bulletin.

That insurance companies have become so active in promoting public health is not so surprising as that their activity has been so long delayed, is the declaration of the health department bulletin for February.

It states that the insurance companies, have come to be among the greatest agencies promoting good health and furthering the knowledge that preventive measures are infinitely more valuable than cures.

"It happens the community's and the company's interests are identical and it is the duty of all health officials to work with all voluntary agencies for the accomplishment of public health benefits," says the bulletin. "So far as our local department is concerned we eagerly embrace the opportunity to ally ourselves with such an agency or with any other agency, the fulfillment of whose purpose is promotion of the public health.

"Public health or good health propaganda cannot be too widely circulated nor can too many people be interested in carrying them out, Insurance companies are becoming something more than mere business organizations, they are becoming social institutions and their perfect organization renders them peculiarly fit for this greater and, if possible, more humanitarian function.

"The men behind this movement know, that it is much easier to prevent illness than it is to restore to perfect health those who have been afflicted. No repaired machine is funtionally as perfect as it was originally. Preventive measures are, therefore of much more importance than curative ones. It has taken us a long time to find this out, but we have learned our lesson by hard knocks and disastrous consequences and it has sunk deep into our national life so that we are not apt to forget it."

CARDINAL GIBBONS OPPOSES PROHIBITION.

New Orleans, La., March 9.—"Prohibition never will be enforced in a Christian country," said Cardinal Gibbons, in a statement made public here. Cardinal Gibbons was paying his annual visit to his brother, John T. Gibbons, of this city.

"While I am an ardent advocate of temperance, I am intuitively persuaded that prohibition cannot be enforced in this country," continued Cardinal Gibbons. "It is calculated to make hypocrites and lead to the manufacture of illicit whisky, replacing the good material with the bad, while at the same time robbing the government of the legitimate tax."

KENTUCKY OIL EARNINGS BIG.

Lima, Ohio, March 9.—The Standard Oil company of Kentucky has made public a statement which shows earnings of 100 per cent on its old capitalization of $1,000,000, which now is increased to $3,000,000, and starts the new year with an initial quarterly dividend of 5 per cent. A million dollars also is added to the surplus, and the book value of the stock now is placed at $157 a share.

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS

Public Hearings By Federal Commission to Start This Month.

Will Embrace Main Divisions of Inquiry Directed By Congress.

Washington, March 9.—Public hearings in important industrial centers from New York to San Francisco will be held during the spring and early summer by the United States commission on industrial relations.

This announcement was made today by Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the commission. The hearings, said Mr. Walsh, will embrace in their scope all the main divisions of the inquiry directed by congress.

Among the cities that probably will be visited are New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Patterson, Scranton, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, Wheeling, Charlotte, Greenville, Atlanta, Birmingham, Nashville, Louisville, New Orleans, Detroit, Indianapolis, Cleveland, Chicago, Houghton, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Paul, Denver, Trinidad, Dallas, Houston or Galveston, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, Butte and Lead.

Subjects of Inquiry.

Through examination of witnesses competent to speak for employers, trades unions, other labor organizations, unorganized employes and the general public, the commission hopes to obtain information concerning the industrial situation that will lead to constructive recommendations.

Some of the subjects to be inquired into in each city are irregularity of employment; possibilities of ending irregularity and increasing production through scientific management; the activities of trades unions and employers associations; and the extent and operation of governmental machinery for regulating the conditions of industry, including the relations between employers and employes.

Successful methods of maintaining harmonious relations beneficial to both employers and employes will be inquired into particularly, with a view to their adoption in other centers where no such methods have been tried.

Eminent authorities in subjects to be included within the scope of the inquiry have joined the staff of the commission and are now aiding in planning the hearings.

Witnesses desired by the commission will be summoned under the authority granted it by congress, and volunteer testimony will be welcomed.

Plan For Hearings.

Announcing the plan for hearings, Chairman Walsh said:

"The commission will carefully avoid acting as a board of mediation and conciliation, and will not allow itself to be drawn into local controversies or recognize such controversies unless in doing so it can obtain information that has more than local and temporary significance.

"Every interest will be given a hearing. The commission will strive to put aside all bias and prejudice. It will urge others to do the same, in the hope that the industrial problem may be studied in the light of reason. The open mind will be our watchword, and shall endeavor to provide a forum where men representing all factions can meet in the common purpose of finding a way out from bitterness and strife. To accomplish this we shall need the co-operation and help of all concerned. We shall ask those who meet with us at the hearings to come not as employers or employes, but as men belonging to the same human family.

Suggestions Wanted.

"The hearings are to be undertaken as one means of carrying out the instructions of congress to inquire into the industrial situation and to report our conclusions and recommendations.

"The commission wishes in particular to invite the help of every person who has a constructive suggestion. Such suggestions will be especially welcome when they are supplemented by testimony as to the successful carrying out of the ideas they embody."

According to present plans the hearings will begin the latter part of March.

REPORT THIS WEEK ON TOBACCO PROBE.

Washington, March 9.—The attitude of the department of justice toward the Metropolitan Tobacco company of New York, the distributing agent of producing concerns which made up the old "tobacco trust," probably will be determined during the present week in conferences here between H. Snowden Marshall, United States district attorney at New York, Attorney General McReynolds and G. C. Todd, assistant to the attorney general in charge of trust prosecution.

Mr. Marshall has been conducting an investigation of the Metropolitan's activities for several months, but so far has made no report of his conclusion to the department. He is expected to report in person within a day or two. Charges by independent tobacco dealers that the Metropolitan's methods of distribution maintained the monopoly of the old American Tobacco company, dissolved by the supreme court, led to the investigation.

Teach Police Women Jiu Jitsu.

Chicago, March 9.—Chicago police women will be taught jiu jitsu to fit them for emergency encounters, it is announced by James Gleason, superintendent of police.

CONVULSIONS AND BRIGHTS DISEASE

An established recovery in chronic Bright's Disease with albumen, dropsy, retinitis and convulsions should interest physicians.

G. W. Kirkpatrick of the Globe Milling Company, 148 Laguna St., San Francisco, was in bed believed to be at the point of death for nearly nine weeks. Dr. Proctor told his wife he was liable to die at any moment. There was dropsy and the eye symptom and he had reached the convulsion stage. In making one of the tests, after boiling, Dr. Proctor dropped the tube. On picking it up he found the sample had not run out. It had solidified, showing almost solid albumen. The doctor administered Fulton's Renal Compound. This was in 1905. Patient's appearance at our office well and hearty in 1913 is answer as to the results and their permanence.

The ability of Fulton's Renal Compound to reduce albumen in many cases of Bright's Disease is not a matter of opinion but a FACT IN PHYSICS, and we will mail formula for albumen test that will show the percentage of albumen from week to week. As the albumen declines improvement commonly follows, recoveries having been reported in thousands of cases. Formula and literature mailed on request. John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco. CANDIDATES ARE GIVEN INNING

Several Seeking Chisholm Jobs Tell Where They Stand.

Chisholm, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mass meeting at Finnish opera house Saturday night drew a large crowd. Several candidates took seats on the stage but fourteen failed to accept Chairman Harris' invitation to do so.

J. H. McNiven, progressive and M. J. Thompson, independent candidates, outlined their policies if elected. Charles French, seeking the treasurership, outlined where he stood. Phil Grennier, candidate for treasurer, spoke as did Capt. Leo Mitchell, who is running on the Progressive ticket. Joseph Austin, Progressive candidate for president, made a telling speech, recounting what had been accomplished in Chisholm. William Conley, Progressive candidate, also spoke.

Progressive Platform.

The Progressives' platform on which Joseph Austin is running for president, William Conley for recorder and J. H. McNiven, Leo Mitchell and F. W. Anderson for treasurer promises: Economy and efficiency; band concerts and other amusements; to make Longyear lake suitable for various sports; to purchase supplies at home; to establish a bureau of complaints; to provide library books in all languages; to establish playgrounds, public scales, drinking fountains, public market and regulate sales days; to improve alleys; to readjust water rates; to extend sewers, water mains and sidewalks; to make minors securing drings illegally equally liable with person giving it; to curb reckles driving; to secure pure water; to let all village work by contract; to establish eight-hour day on village work.

DISTRUST OF BANKS BLAMED FOR MURDER

Erick Lake's Refusal to Deposit Money Caused His Killing.

Eveleth, Minn., March 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—That a distrust of banks was the cause of the death of Erick Lake at his farm at Morcum is the opinion of his friends here. Lake was not known as a troublesome or quarrelsome man and robbery is the only motive that can be found for the crime. Lake received several hundred dollars some time ago in a timber deal and it is not known that he ever disposed of it. A belt about his waist inside his clothing and the fact that his clothing was opened, strengthens the theory that he was robbed.

Deputy Sheriff Investigated.

Deputy Sheriff Artie O'Dea of Virginia is at the scene of the crime, conducting an investigation. Tavo Huttula and two men who boarded at his place and who told the finder of the body, Herman Katola, a story about Lake becoming demented and asking to be shot, will be questioned and arrests are expected.

It is thought that if the guilty men are arrested and questioned that they will break down and confess as the perpetrators of the crime showed a lack of cleverness in trying to arrange things at Lake's cabin to give the impression of suicide.

SOCIALISTS NOMINATE.

Village and Township Ticket Named in Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 9.—The Socialists have come into the field with a full village and township ticket. The village ticket is: President, John Longhurst; trustees, C. C. Miller, Charles Hammer and Andrew LeFebre; recorder, R. W. Cook; treasurer, William Wheaton; justice of the peace, H. Wardall; constable, N. T. Cook.

The following is the township ticket: Supervisor, Emil Litchke; clerk, Jake Zininger; treasurer, William Ashton; justice of the peace, F. W. Sickenger; constable, F. J. Wahl.

SEEK CLUB MEETING.

Chisholm to Invite Federated Women's Clubs There Next Year.

Chisholm, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ladies' Art and Study club at their regular bi-monthly meeting Saturday afternoon, decided to invite the Northern Minnesota Federation of Woman's clubs to hold their annual convention here in May, 1915. The president, Miss Nellie Z. Peterson, appointed Mrs. Frank L. Austin and Mrs. William Conley as delegates to the convention to be held May 5 and 6 at Cloquet. Mrs. Austin was instructed to make the response to the address of welcome at Cloquet and to invite the federation to meet here in 1915.

Mrs. Charles E. French and Miss Margaret Palmer were appointed a committee to look into the matter of a city clean-up day and to confer with Supt. Vaughn regarding the matter of school children assisting in the work.

Mrs. Fred Lang read a paper on Rembrandt, followed by papers by Mrs. Edward Freeman on "Painting in the Netherlands," and by Mrs. Ferd Drotning on "The Drama."

VIRGINIA TO GREET BISHOP

Banquet Will Be Given Bishop Quayle Tuesday Afternoon.

Virginia, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bishop William A. Quayle of St. Paul will lecture at the First Methodist church tomorrow evening on "Shylock and David." His visit to Virginia, which was once postponed because of the death of his daughter, is looked forward to with unusual interest in Methodist circles, it being the first visit of a Methodist bishop to this section. It is expected that many of the denominations from all parts of the range will be here to give him a hearty reception.

Bishop Quayle will be entertained at a banquet at the Ormonde hotel at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, at which the members of the Head of the Lakes Methodist Ministers' association, which includes Duluth and the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges, will be present.

MARBLE NOMINATIONS.

R. P. Fitzgerald Heads Village and Peter Zingg Township Ticket.

Marble, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the village and township caucus the following nominations were made: Village officers, mayor, R. P. Fitzgerald; clerk, R. S. Curran; councilmen, Fred Eckman, John C. McKusick, Dr. J. P. Caldwell; constables, L. A. Farr, H. Eisenberg; justice of the peace, G. W. Prescott, W. J. Barkla. Township officers, clerk, J. C. Appleget; supervisor, Peter Zingg; treasurer, E. H. Winberg; justice of the peace, W. J. Barkla; constables, G. A. Farr, H. Eisenberg.

It is expected A. E. Perries will run independent for village trustee and David Vervillijea will run independently for township clerk.

Karkeet are seeking the treasurership; Joe Sever, Frank Hill and Vincent Mikulich are after the office of justice of the peace, and Steve Polisich, Andrew Thomson, Antton Anttila and Victor Nopola are candidates for constable.

WIN CLOSE GAME.

Two Harbors Quint Beat Duluthians in Nerve-Wrecking Contest.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a basket ball game the local city team defeated the C. A. C. team of Duluth Saturday evening, 27 to 23. The game was very exciting and interesting on account of the score being so close throughout the game. During the first half it appeared to be an even shake as to which team would win out, as the lead was seesawed back and forth, but the first period ended with the locals in the lead by the score of 15 to 12. In the second half the visitors were unable to take the lead at any time, and although the locals gained but one point in the last half they put up a better game.

Victory for the locals was due to the stellar work of the entire team. Every man on the team played well. The work of Johnson for the locals was the principal feature.

Currie for the visitors kept the guard busy keeping track of him. He succeeded in getting four baskets.

Following is the line-up:

Duluth.		Two Harbors.
Currie	f	Graves
Lavalle	f	Sullivan
Tourvelle	c	Woodward
O'Brien	g	Johnson
Dougherty	g	Filiatrault

Referee, McPheeters.

Baskets were made as follows: Currie, 4; Lavalle, 1; Tourvelle, 2; O'Brien, 2; Dougherty, 1; Graves, 2; Sullivan, 2; Woodward, 1; Johnson, 4; Filiatrault, 1. Free throws—Currie, 3; Woodward, 4; Graves, 1.

TOURISTS LIKE LAKE VERMILION

Tower, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Vermilion lake shore line and the islands which dot its surface are being inquired about daily by parties who are anxious to secure sites for summer homes or speculate.

Many people from the South annually visit the locality, some spending two or three months each season at the leading hotels and resorts. The fame of the lake has reached every nook and corner of the nation.

The opening of the season is eagerly awaited which it is hoped will be early. Many new boats will be ready for the water with the opening of navigation.

Nashwauk Home Damaged.

Nashwauk, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cruthers on Third street was badly damaged by fire Saturday morning. The fire started from a defective stove pipe in the ceiling and burnt along the rafters. The firemen did excellent work, the building was slightly damaged and the household effects of the family were partially destroyed by water. The damage is estimated at about $20 and the structure is owned by Mrs. C. A. King of Buhl.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

WARMER

The balmy weather was welcome for over Sunday and many took advantage of it to take plenty of outdoor exercise, even though the walking was pretty wet under foot. Today is again ideal and the promise is for even warmer weather tonight. As compared with other and supposedly more favorable parts of the country the winter resort center seems to be switching up this way. This is the anniversary of the famous blizzard of 1892.

A year ago today was gray and soft. The sun rose this morning at 6:33 o'clock and will set at 6:05 this evening, giving eleven hours and thirty-two minutes of sunshine, seven minutes more than Saturday and four minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours light snow or rain fell over the Lake region, Lower Missouri, Mississippi and Ohio valley states, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Eastern Canada. Rather cold weather prevailed Saturday and Sunday nights in Northern Minnesota, Western Ontario and Manitoba. The temperature changes have been generally unimportant in most districts. Killing frosts occurred last night in Eastern South Carolina and light frosts in Florida."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 9.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Wisconsin—Increasing cloudiness tonight, probably becoming unsettled Tuesday; slowly rising temperature.

Minnesota—Unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday; probably light snow; warmer in east portion tonight.

Iowa—Cloudy and probably unsettled tonight and Tuesday; warmer tonight.

North Dakota—Unsettled weather tonight and Tuesday; probably snow; colder in west portion tonight and south portion Tuesday.

Montana—Cloudy and colder tonight; Tuesday, fair.

Lower Michigan—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday.

Upper Michigan—Cloudy tonight and Tuesday; rising temperature Tuesday.

GRIGGS CANDIDATE; MURPHY NOT TO RUN

Virginia, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—O. H. Griggs of Virginia has formally announced his candidacy for the senate from the Sixty-first district as predicted in The Herald and will file some time during the present week. Mr. Griggs' announcement followed a statement by Mayor M. A. Murphy that he would not become a candidate.

FAREWELL BANQUET FOR SALVATIONISTS

Virginia, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—A farewell service was given at the Salvation army barracks last night for Captain and Mrs. C. A. Richter, who left today for Oshkosh, Wis., where Capt. Richter takes charge of the army work. Adjutant Pierce, Capt. Belden and Lieutenant Johnson, all of Minneapolis, will succeed Capt. Richter in Virginia and have already arrived to assume their duties.

ELY COUPLE WED.

Ely, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.) — Saturday evening at 9 o'clock Fred Childers and Miss Ebba Swenson were married by Rev. E. F Stitt at the home of Mr. Childers' sister, Mrs. Peter Schaefer. Mr. Childers has made his home here since boyhood, being now employed by the Oliver Mining company at the Pioneer mine, while Miss Swenson has for the past three years been principal of the Savoy school. The young couple were attended by Miss Bess Welr, Mrs. Childers' associate teacher at the Savoy school, and Elias La Beau. The rooms were tastefully decorated, the color scheme being blue and white. Only immediate friends were present at the service. They will make their home here.

Tower, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Tower-Soudan high school quint defeated the Ely high team in a game of basket ball here on Saturday night by a score of 15 to 11.

GETTING DISPLAY READY.

North Dakota to Make Game Fish Exhibit at Frisco.

Cando, N. D., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. R. W. Main, state fish commissioner, has spent a part of the winter in arranging a permanent exhibit for the museum at the state hatchery at Birchwood. It will be first used, however, at the Panama exposition at San Francisco. The captain has mounted a deer he killed several years ago with a number of specimens of prairie chickens, grouse, ducks, geese and other game birds and animals of the state and made a collection of grasses and grains for the exhibit. After the Panama show these will be taken permanently to the state fish hatchery.

BACK TO RED WING.

Leo Gorman Must Finish His Term at Training School.

Leo Gorman, 17, arrested Friday afternoon on a charge of petit larceny, has broken his parole from the Red Wing training school. He will be returned to that institution today.

Young Gorman is the son of James Gorman, 125 West Second street. On Friday afternoon he went to the home of Miss Mercy Haskins, 2601 West Huron street, to collect a $4 bill due his father, a plumber. Miss Haskins charged that while her back was turned, the boy took $10 from the table. Gorman was committed to the Red Wing training school several months ago because of a similar offense.

ABOUT 700 AT FREE CONCERT

Grade Pupils Make Good Showing in Musical Program.

Miss Clara Thomas Speaks on Music in the Public Schools.

An audience of more than 700 listened with enjoyment to the singing of a number of pupils from the grade schools of the city at the free concert at the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon.

First honors must be awarded to the Adams school, whose seventh and eighth grade pupils gave an excellent rendering of Parks' clever setting of James Whitcomb Riley's "Goblin," and "Lift Thine Eyes," from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." These numbers were sung in parts entirely unaccompanied. The pupils showed appreciation of the compositions and sang in excellent tune with due attention to shading and with clear and distinct enunciation.

Three good numbers were also given by the seventh and eighth grade pupils of the Longfellow school, to the accompaniment of one of their fellow pupils, and a very creditable showing was made by a boys' chorus from the Adams school.

Miss Loretto O'Gorman, who was in excellent voice, gave an artistic rendering of Cadman's, "As in a Rose Jar," giving as an encore, "Rose in the Bud." The organ selections comprised among other interesting numbers a "Deutsche Tanz" by Beethoven, showing the versatility of the great composer, and Wagner's quaint and characteristic 'Huldigungs' Dance," or "Dance of the Dwarfs."

Miss Thomas Is Speaker.

The speaker was Miss Clara Thomas, music supervisor, who gave an interesting and enlightening talk on "Public School Music."

Beginning with the statement that until recently public school supervisions had been usually placed on the defensive, she said that nowadays they were in a position to put the general public on the defensive with the question: "Why do you not support us in our work?" She described how methods had changed from the old-fashioned charts and exercises. She played over some of the uninteresting and tuneless exercises of bygone days, and read some of the words of songs that used to be forced on the pupils, contrasting the "good" songs given them today with the "goody-goody" moral-teaching effusions of the past. Today the early training is given by note songs, simple, but good, instead of technical exercises. Later on enough of the latter is given to enable the pupils to read music intelligently. The public schools are not conservatories of music. Their aim is to encourage pupils to like good music, to read good music, and to absorb the moral effect that good music must always create. Music study is essentially practical in that it, like the other arts, helps to satisfy the innate love of the beautiful; its deep-breathing exercises assist the pupil's physical development; it affords good mental training, and trains the emotions to the enjoyment of that which is best in music, counteracting the questionable effects of some of the modern "popular" songs. Miss Thomas looked forward to the time when the high school would class music as a major study, and enable pupils who wish to specialize in that way, the same opportunities as are given in art and science.

Indorse Manahan Probe.

Hillsboro, N. D., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of 800 farmers held here Saturday, with George Loftus of Minneapolis as the principal speaker, resolutions were passed indorsing the Manahan resolution for the proposed investigation of trading in grain futures.

The gathering also passed resolutions urging an inquiry into the transportation question, raised by elevator companies, who claim they have been overcharged on certain rates.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine become cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross Drug Store, 13 West Superior street.

WHY DOCTORS NO LONGER CLAIM TO "CURE" PEOPLE

A few years ago it was a common thing for the family doctor to say, "I will cure you in a few days." This cheerful prophecy often gave the patient new hope and courage but it is no longer good form. Doctors still "cure" malaria and a few other troubles in which their medicines have a direct or "specific" action on the virus of the disease. In other cases they simply give supporting medicine and keep up the strength of the patient until nature effects a cure.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure chlorosis and other trouble due to thin blood because they have a specific action on the blood, building it up, purifying and enriching it. This direct action on the blood also makes them the best supporting and strengthening medicine. If you are thin and weak, breathless after slight exertion, if you have palpitation of the heart, gas on the stomach, cold hands and feet, if you are nervous and easily irritated and show other signs of weakened vitality, try these strengthening pills at once and let the rich, red blood cure you. Get a box today at the nearest drug store and begin at once to build up your health. Write now to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."

SHIP KELLEY'S ARMY BACK TO THE COAST

Sacramento Refuses to Feed Horde Marching to Washington.

Sacramento, Cal., March 9.—Three national guard companies were standing guard today to see that "General" Kelley and 1,700 unemployed men obey orders when a special train is made up to carry them out of the city. Citizens plan to transport the men back to San Francisco, and have raised a fund for this purpose.

The state troops will take no part in the movement of the men unless the police and deputy sheriffs are unable to handle the situation.

Kelley has been notified that he is expected to take his men aboard a train. The marchers, who left San Francisco last week for the purpose, it was announced, of marching to Washington, D. C., have been camped on Southern Pacific property.

"General" Kelley, in command, said the men were becoming desperate from hunger, and that if food were not furnished them by today, he could not control them any longer. This city refused to feed them.

The "army" has been reunited after a schism due to disagreements over leadership.

ONE PLEADS GUILTY.

Eight Indicted By the Grand Jury Deny Guilt.

When arraigned before District Judge Dancer in district court Saturday afternoon, eight out of nine defendants pleaded not guilty to indictments returned by the March grand jury. J. W. McDonald, negro, asked the court to allow him to consult an attorney before he committed himself. His plea will be received later.

Pleas of not guilty were received from Mike Oblin, Isaac Negulin, Peter Kaich, Dan Koruga and George Yurcovich, jointly indicted on two counts for highway robbery. John Sayne and Emil Buboiz, accused of grand larceny in the second degree, and Frank Fisher, charged with burglary in the third degree.

THROW AWAY YOUR EYEGLASSES!

A FREE PRESCRIPTION

You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eyestrain or other eye weakness? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days, everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses. It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona, fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one Optona tablet, and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you even a little take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

FIX STATUS OF REDSKINS

Department Ruling as to Where Indians Stand in North Dakota.

Must Either Be Wards of Government or Citizens of State.

Fargo, N. D., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Indians who hold their land in severalty and have patents from the government are citizens of the state within the boundaries of which they reside and can't claim to be wards of the government, is the new ruling of the department of the interior relative to certain Indians and half-breeds in the Turtle Mountain section of this state. There has always been more or less misunderstanding and dispute over this matter. Indians on the Fort Totten and other reservations have voted. They were eager to avail themselves of those rights, but some of them still wanted to cling to Uncle Sam and have the tribal rights under the government. The ruling eliminates this joint position assumed by some of the red men of the state. They must in the future be either government wards or sovereign citizens of the state and there will be no half way ground.

CANNOT STOP SERVICE.

North Dakota Supreme Court Rules Against Phone Company.

Bismarck, N. D., March 9.—According to a decision of the supreme court public service corparations cannot arbitrarily cut off the supply when a dispute arises between the company and the consumer, and the latter is entitled to have his rights investigated by the courts and an injunction will be granted to prevent cutting off such supply. The ruling was brought out in the case of a telephone company endeavoring to cut off telephone service in Great Northern depots in four towns on the system. Telephones were installed with the only consideration being the right to install, and when the legislature passed a law compelling the railroads to maintain a phone in its depots the company endeavored to cut off the service.

BESSESEN OUT FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

Harvey, N. D., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. J. Bessesen, former state senator and later a candidate for the congressional nomination, announces his candidacy for lieutenant governor against A. T. Krabsel of Traill county, the present lieutenant governor, who is also a candidate for renomination. It is stated that Bessesen was induced to enter the race by U. L. Burdick, the insurgent candidate for governor.

Not After Fourth Term.

Mandan, N. D., March 9.—M. H. Harmon has been county auditor for three terms. He insists that is a sufficient length of time and he will not again seek the place. He is backing the candidacy of Lee Nichols, his chief deputy. E. H. Wuerst of Mandan and O. H. Kuhl of Glen Ullin are other candidates for the place.

CHILDREN HATE OIL, CALOMEL AND PILLS

"California Syrup of Figs" Best for Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

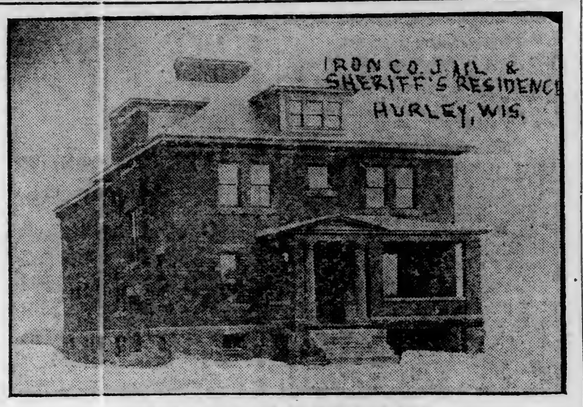

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

IRON COUNTY, WIS., NEW JAIL

ALSO SHERIFF DUFFY'S HOME.

Hurley, Wis., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Duffy of Iron county is proud of the new jail recently completed here at a cost of $22,000, which also will be his official home during his incumbency of the office. He will move in this spring. It is solid brick and substantial in every way.

BEMIDJI SAWMILL IS BEING REBUILT

Confessed Firebug Held in Hope He Will Implicate Others.

Bemidji, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reconstruction of the Bemidji Lumber company sawmill, which burned March 5 at a loss of $100,000, has been started and a modern mill of the same capacity as the destroyed structure will be in operation by July 1.

Henry Warner, the former Turtle River justice of the peace, who is in the county jail on his own confession that he burned the building, is being held in the hope that he will furnish further information, and although he insists that he is guilty his attorney, appointed by the court, Chester A. McKusick, refuses to sanction the plea and Judge Stanton has held that the plea cannot be accepted, unless recommended by the man's attorney.

Keller Investigating.

Charles F. Keller, state fire marshal, was here Saturday, and Sam F. Fullerton, deputy fire marshal, is now in Bemidji. The capture of Warner resulted from tracks in the snow leading to the mill. With this clew, S. C. Bailey, the Bemidji inspector of game wardens, succeeded in establishing so strong a case against Warner that he admitted his guilt and said he was ready to go to Stillwater and begin his term at once.

BRAINERD STORE FIRE.

Customer Dropping Lighted Cigarette Blamed for $19,000 Blaze.

Brainerd, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Levant's department store was nearly wiped out by fire Saturday morning, starting, it is believed, from cigarettes carelessly dropped by a customer. An hour after closing in the evening, the smoke sifted up from the main floor of the store to the flats on the second floor and soon the tenants of two flats and the roomers, twenty-eight in all, had to flee for their lives. Levant's stock was damaged by fire and water about $19,000. The furniture in two flats was badly damaged. The building owned by Con O'Brien is considerably damaged. The fire department had the fire under control in ten minutes.

SANDSTONE CAUCUS.

Sandstone, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The nominees chosen at the village caucus held Saturday night at the town hall are: H. P. Webb, for chairman of the village council; James Carolan, N. A. Stenmark and James Robertson, trustees; Oscar Askiund, treasurer; Chris Rudisuhle, recorder; J. H. Tomhave, justice of the peace; Claus Freeman, constable.

For the town of Sandstone, Chris Heisler was re-nominated as member of the board of supervisors; Peter Lindberg, treasurer; William Sandwick, clerk, and Albert Eitens, justice of the peace.

BEMIDJI ELKS PLAN FINE HOME.

Bemidji, Minn., March 9.—Bemidji Elks have secured sufficient funds to erect a $40,000 home and work will begin, if a suitable site can be had, this spring. At its annual election of officers James L. George, county auditor, was named to succeed Thayer C. Bailey as exalted ruler. Other officers chosen were: Esteemed leading knight, H. H. Mayer; esteemed loyal knight, Scott T. Stewart; esteemed lecturing knight, F. A. Wilson; secretary, Oliver C. Neilson; treasurer, L. F. Johnson; trustee, three years, N. W. Bowser; tiler, Charles Bailey. A class of sixteen were initiated, the new members including six from International Falls and five from Park Rapids. Judge Wright was one of the new members.

SANDSTONE SESSION.

Farming Experts Are Holding Forth in Pine County Village.

Sandstone, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—A three-day short course in agriculture and home economics begins today and the state instructors and a car of livestock will demonstrate to the farmers of this section what can be done at farming on a scientific basis. Prof. Colliver, the local instructor in agriculture of the high school, will make the session a beneficial one to all who attend.

NEIL WILL URGE MORE PUBLICITY.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—President E. Neil of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial clubs will be one of the principal speakers at the annual meeting of the North Dakota federation, to be held here March 16 and 17. The main theme for discussion will be that of greater state publicity.

Drops Dead at Escanaba.

Marquette, Mich., March 9.—John F. Ryan of this city, secretary and treasurer of the United Life Underwriters Insurance association, dropped dead on a street car Saturday morning in Escanaba. It is supposed that his death was due to heart disease. Mr. Ryan was about 55 years of age. He made his headquarters in this city, having an office in the Nester block.

Rheumatism IN THE HIPS and Down the Legs—That's Sciatica

Those sharp darting pains that characterize sciatic rheumatism should be treated in the blood. And by using S. S. S. you get entirely rid of it.

S. S. S. has the peculiar action of soaking through the intestines directly into the blood. In a few minutes its influence is at work in every artery, vein, and tiny capillary. Every membrane, every organ of the body, every emunctory becomes in effect a filter to strain the blood of impurities. The stimulating properties of S. S. S. compel the skin, liver, bowels, kidneys and bladder to all work to the one end of casting out every irritating, every pain-inflicting atom of poison; it dislodges by irrigation all accumulations in the joints, causes acid accretions to dissolve, renders them neutral and scatters those peculiar formations in the nerve centers that cause such mystifying and often baffling rheumatic pains.

And, best of all, this remarkable remedy is welcome to the weakest stomach. If you have drugged yourself until your stomach is nearly paralyzed, you will be astonished to find that S. S. S. gives no sensation but goes right to work. This is because it is a pure vegetable infusion, is taken naturally into your blood just as pure air is inhaled naturally into your lungs.

You can get S. S. S. at any drug store. S. S. S. is a standard remedy, recognized everywhere as the greatest blood antidote ever discovered. If yours is a peculiar case and you desire special information, write to The Swift Specific Co., 310 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

"CONSERVE SOIL," SAYS J. J. HILL

Tells North Dakotans They Should Prevent Farms Getting Barren.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—James J. Hill, addressing 400 business men and farmers of the Northwest at an agricultural banquet here Saturday evening, maintained that the time was coming when North Dakota lands—particularly those of the Red River valley—would yield profits of 10 per cent on a valuation of $150 an acre.

Mr. Hill urged the necessity of conserving the soil for future generations. Recounting the experience of Eastern states, where agricultural values have dwindled, Mr. Hill said that the Northwest need not undergo similar experiences. One of the most helpful signs of the time, in the opinion of Mr. Hill, was the interest shown in farming by the business men.

Wisconsin Man Talks.

Dean Russell of the Wisconsin agricultural college pointed to progress that is being made agriculturally in that state, and he contended that North Dakota could do equally as well.

Governor Hanna of North Dakota recounted the agricultural progress made by the state during the last two years. Others who responded to toasts were Allan Albert of Minneapolis; J. H. Worst of Fargo; F. L. McVey of Grand Forks; W. C. Magivny of South St. Paul; P. L. Howe of Minneapolis; George T. Slade of St. Paul; Joseph Chapman of Minneapolis; A. J. Glover of Fort Atkinson, Wis.; W. C. Allen of Aberdeen, S. D., and Dan Wallace of St. Paul.

FINE FERTILE MEETING.

Farmers' Short Course Held There Is Pronounced Success.

Fertile, Minn., March 9.—Superintendent C. G. Selvig of the Crookston school of agriculture aided by various farming experts conducted a most successful farmers' short course here last week. Friday evening the feature was a big banquet at which 200 farmers and others feasted, while short addresses were made.

A splendid spirit has been displayed at all the sessions held there this week, with a large audience at every session. Fertile did nobly in entertaining the crowds and providing for their comfort.

STATE INSPECTION LAW TEST STARTED.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 9.—The validity of Minnesota's oil inspection law will be tested in the state courts in a suit brought here by the attorney general against the Van Tilburg Oil company of Minneapolis, to compel the payment of $1,600 oil inspection fees which the company has refused to pay since August. F. A. Van Tilburg, president of the company, said yesterday that it has invited the test of the state law on advice of an attorney, but that the independent oil dealers are by no means opposed to oil inspection.

To Head La Moure Schools.

La Moure, N. D., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. J. S. Bjornson, deputy superintendent of schools of Grand Forks county, will be superintendent of the La Moure schools next year, having been elected at the annual meeting of the board of education. Prof. Martin Anderson of the University of Wisconsin, will be head of the agricultural department. Prof. Bjornson, formerly was located at Inkster and Walhalla, N. D.

Say Woman Raised Check.

Minot, N. D., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. James Pulver of Kenmare, aged 23, is accused of raising a check from $8 to $18, which was given her by C. Tscharner, of Kenmare.

Preus To Speak at Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Insurance Commissioner Preus will talk on "Fire Prevention and Fire Insurance Rates" at the Commercial club meeting tomorrow.

Elevator Tax Not Reduced.

Bismarck, N. D., March 9.—The county board unanimously decided not to pay back any of the taxes paid Burleigh county by the Great Western Grain company for an elevator they own at the station of Burleigh to the east of the county. Tax Commissioner Wallace had written a letter to the county auditor recommending that he present the matter to the board and that the elevator company taxes be refunded on a 50 per cent basis.

Farmer Bound Over.

Mott, D. D., March 9.—One of the most depraved cases reported to Hettinger county authorities is that of Bert Jackson, aged 21, a farmer living near here, who is alleged to have been intimate with four sisters ranging in age from 14 to 28, one of whom he eventually married. Juvenile Officer Blake procured his arrest and he was held for trial in $800 bail in default of which he was remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

Failed to File Lien.

Bemidji, Minn., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—In his case against E. E. McDonald, for the recovery of $3,000, interest and costs, which he claimed was due him, asserting that while acting as his attorney, E. E. McDonald, failed to file a mechanic's lien within the legal time limit, in the building of the Rex hotel, George Kreatz won, the jury voting, 10 to 2, for the amount asked for. The case was tried in district court, now in session, before Judge C. W. Stanton and is a retrial, having been returned by the supreme court.

Minot Homicide Trial.

Minot, N. D., March 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charged with killing Edon Amundson, aged 12, Charles Baldwin is on trial in the district court here under a change of venue from Williams county.

The killing of young Amundson took place on a street of Williston, and the prosecution maintains that Baldwin is liable to punishment for manslaughter on the grounds of criminal negligence.

ORDER WAS NOT OBEYED

Deputy Building Inspector Reports on Fatal Elevator Accident.

Says He Ordered Safety Appliances Installed May 23 Last.

Had the Spalding hotel officials complied with the notice served upon them May 23, 1913, to make improvements to their freight elevator as required by the city ordinance, Zalman Levine would probably not have fallen to his death down the elevator shaft a week ago last night, according to Adolph Anderson, deputy building inspector.

The records of the building inspector's office show that written notice was served last May, nearly a year ago, that to comply with the ordinance the freight elevator should be equipped with a slack cable stop, a safety floor stop for locking the operating table while loading or unloading, with a brake of sufficient strength to hold the car at any point, and with automatic or self-closing gates.

Deputy Anderson has made a re-investigation and reports that these deficiencies still exist. He expresses the belief that Levine walked into the elevator shaft, believing the elevator to still be there, and adds that this would have been impossible had the elevator been equipped with automatic or self-closing gates as required by the ordinance. It appears that Levine had gone to the 300 floor for towels, using the freight elevator. When he left the elevator the machine started upwards of its own accord and was not there when he returned.

Mayor Prince said this morning that a warrant may be issued for the arrest of those responsible for the failure to comply with the safety requirements of the ordinance.

The hotel management has written a letter to Building Inspector S. M. Kielley setting forth the particulars of the accident as nearly as it could ascertain them. The ordinance specifies that such notice shall be filed with the building inspector whenever elevator accidents occur. The penalty for violation is a fine of not to exceed $100 or imprisonment for not more than eighty-five days.

"Every elevator in the city, both passenger and freight, will be given a minute examination," said Mayor Prince this morning. "If the ordinance is followed the possibility of accidents will be reduced to a minimum and many needless accidents will not occur. Written notices will be served wherever infractions are found. These will be followed up after a reasonable time has been allowed to make the necessary changes and where no attention has been paid to the notices arrests will be made."

C. P. CRAIG WILL BE CHIEF SPEAKER

Will Tell Public Affairs Committee of Efficiency Work.

The public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club will hold its regular meeting at the clubrooms tomorrow night. The chief feature of the meeting will be an address by C. P. Craig on the work of the state efficiency commission.

Mr. Craig's address is looked forward to with much interest as the work of this commission is one of the most important undertakings now under way in the state.

In addition to this address there will be routine business and reports by various sub-committees.

BIG CLASS OF NEW MEMBERS

First Presbyterian Church Adds Ninety-four to Its Rolls.

All records of the First Presbyterian church for membership were broken yesterday when ninety-four were admitted to full membership at the morning services. Classes of 50 to 60 have been admitted at one time before, but the number yesterday almost doubled that taken in at any one time before.

When asked for the cause of such a large number coming in at one time, Dr. Yost, the pastor, said: "It is due to the every-day work of the church and the Sunday school. Most of the new members have been in attendance before, and the preparatory work has been gradual."

When asked if the "Go to Church Sunday Movement" had caused persons to unite with the church, he said that as far as he knew such had not been the case yet to any notable extent. More than 45 new members have been added to the congregation since Dr. Yost took charge three and a half years ago.

LET MRS. BOOTH TALK TO CONVICTS

Folsom, Cal., March 9.—Maud Ballington Booth of the Volunteers of America, spoke to 1,200 convicts in the open prison yard at Folsom penitentiary yesterday. FALL DEMANDS ARMY ACTION

Republican Senator Insists on Intervention in Mexico.

Says American Doctrines and International Law Support Him.

Washington, March 9.—Urging the use of the army and navy of the United States for the protection of Americans and other foreigners in Mexico, which he said would prevent war, Senator Fall, Republican, of New Mexico, addressed the senate today and gave a list of sixty-three outrages upon Americans, including murder and rape, concerning which the senator said he had personal knowledge.

Specific charges that more than 100 Americans and other foreigners have been killed, murdered or outraged during the last three years of the revolution in Mexico were laid before the senate by Senator Fall, in the course of his speech, in which he urged armed intervention—not for war, but for protection of non-combatants—and assailed the administration's policy.

Gave Original List.

Senator Fall's list gave names, dates and circumstances and was gathered from his own sources. The Benton, Vergara and Bauch killings and the deaths of fifteen Americans in the Cumbre tunnel disaster are included in those since March 4, 1913.

Secretary Bryan, when he heard of Senator Fall's charges, said he would make no statement until he had read all the senator's speech, and would for the present leave the administration's defense to senators.

"With the solemn declaration that we do not war upon the Mexican nation or people," said Senator Fall, "that it is not our purpose to acquire territory, upset their laws, nor overturn their constitution, and an invitation to the masses of the Mexican people to cooperate with us; we should immediately direct the use of the land and naval forces of this government for the protection of our citizens and other foreigners in Mexico, and lend their assistance to the restoration of order and maintenance of peace in that unhappy country.

"Authority and Precedents."

"I might cite authority after authority and pile precedent upon precedent as justification under international law for such action, but I will only read from the message of the martyred McKinley, with only the suggestion that we insert the name 'Mexico' in lieu of that of Cuba or Spain."

Mr. Fall read a portion of President McKinley's famous war message, and then referred to President Wilson's refusal last autumn to transmit information relative to Mexico to the senate on the ground that it was incompatible with the public interest.

"Abraham Lincoln thought it not incompatible with the public interest to fully inform the senate concerning communications between this government and that of France," said he.

"Grover Cleveland thought it not incompatible with the public interest to forward to this body all papers and correspondence concerning the arrest, death, etc., of various Americans in Cuba, as will be seen by reference to his special message."

"Legion of Intoxicated Demons."

Senator Fall, picturing conditions in Mexico, included a vivid statement he had received today from Emeterio de la Garza, who came to Washington last year in the interest of the Huerta government. From De la Garza's letter, Senator Fall read:

"'Those who now rule in Mexico, both at the Aztecan capital and that of the revolution, are by their bloody deeds a legion of intoxicated demons, who are courting flat failure.'"

A large portion of the letter which followed that was a detailed attack on President Wilson's Mexican policy.

"The government and the revolution, both of them, are unhealthy and have gone mad, as their aim is none other than to thwart civilization and re-establish barbarism," the senator read from the letter.

Mr. Fall called up a resolution, introduced last summer, but unacted upon, reaffirming a plank in the Democratic platform of 1912, as follows:

"The constitutional rights of American citizens should protect them within our borders, and go with them throughout the world; and every American citizen residing or having property in any foreign country is entitled to and must be given the full protection of the United States government, both for himself and his property."

Quoted Opinions.

He quoted opinions of international law to justify intervention, not for war, but for protection, and also cited numerous instances of such intervention on the part of the government in other countries.

"Mr. President," he demanded, "is not our Monroe doctrine, our American doctrine, and our safety as a nation in jeopardy now?"

Senator Fall declared the United States had "politically intervened" in Mexico ever since John Lind was sent with an ultimatum to Huerta, and further declared the United States owed a duty to its own citizens and to Spain, England, France and Germany, whose citizens had been murdered or outraged.

"We owe a duty to the Mexican people themselves; and we owe a duty to humanity which we cannot escape," he said. "To deter action is to aggravate the conditions and invite more serious consequences."

A list of outrages upon Americans and other foreigners in Mexico was submitted by Senator Fall.

SHORTAGES CAUSE ARREST OF MANY

State Weights and Measures Department in Active Crusade Here.

During last week seventeen arrests were made by the police on information given them by members of the state department of weights and measures, who are conducting a spirited crusade against violations of the state laws.

On complaint of C. A. Montgomery of the state department, who is now making his headquarters in Duluth, fourteen saloonkeepers or their bartenders were arrested last Tuesday on charges of selling pint bottles of whisky that contained less than 14½ cubic inches, the required amount according to the state law. All but one saloonkeeper pleaded not guilty and their trials were set for tomorrow afternoon.

A. H. Andresen, also of the state department, caused the arrest Friday of a grocer and meat dealer for giving short weight in butter and sausage, respectively. They pleaded not guilty to the charge when arraigned and their trials were set for Wednesday.

Last Saturday a local candy dealer was arrested on the complaint of Mr. Montgomery for selling a pound box of candy that contained but 14 ounces. He pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs or twenty days. He paid his fine.

RESIGNS FROM LAND OFFICE; WILL MOVE TO PORTLAND, OR.

Charles F. Hartman, register of the United States land office, submitted his resignation to the secretary of the interior at Washington, Saturday, and will sever his connections with the Duluth office April 1. Mr. Hartman will remain on duty the remainder of this month, and in the meantime his successor will be appointed. Mr. Hartman's term has already expired, but he has been holding office until his successor is named.

Mr. Hartman will go to Portland, Or., where he will make his home. He will practice as a land attorney and also engage in the land business. Mr. Hartman's two sons are already in the conracting business in Portland and his wife is also there awaiting her husband.

Mr. Hartman and his family have lived in Duluth many years and are widely known and have a large number of friends here.

The Federal court for the Western district of Wisconsin will open tomorrow. Judge Sanborn will preside. The Federal grand jury will also open its session tomorrow. Several criminal cases will be considered.

Waives His Hearing.

Harry Goldfine, who was brought back yesterday from Elizabeth, N. J., to answer a charge of grand larceny, waived a hearing this morning in municipal court. He will be given a hearing in the court next Monday morning. He is alleged to have stolen 150 pounds of butter from a car in the Northern Pacific railroad yards.

Open on Sunday.

William Du Vall, a saloon keeper on Tower avenue, was arrested yesterday by Sergeant Dwyer on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday. The saloon is said to have been doing a thriving business when the officer entered the place. Du Vall put up $100 bail for appearance in police court today. The arrest yesterday is said to be the start of a crusade against violation of the Sunday closing law in Superior.

Pioneer Dies.

Mrs. Catherine Garrity, 81 years old, 336 West Second street, a resident of Superior for a half century, died yesterday after an illness of several months. Mrs. Garrity and her husband, Thomas Garrity, were among the first settlers to make their home in Superior, and on their arrival here built their home out of logs hewn from huge timbers.

Mrs. Garrity leaves four sons and three daughters. They are: Charles P., John P., Thomas F., Joseph H., Mrs. Philip Sheridan, Mrs. George H. Murray and Miss Mary Garrity. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from St. Francis Xavier Catholic church, with burial in Nemadji cemetery.

Fraternity Hall Planned.

A four-story building which will be called "Fraternity Hall" is being planned for Superior. The building is to be designed as a place of meeting for many of the Superior lodges. The first floor will be arranged for stores, second for a dance hall and the third and fourth floors for lodge halls. W. H. Whitney and other prominent Superior men are said to be behind the scheme.

HOBOES AND DRIFTERS.

Unlike the "hobo" of the East, the "drifter" in the Southwest is usually a work-seeker, either an agricultural laborer or a sick man searching for light work. But he is "passed on" from one city to another, writes Leon Stern in The Survey, "because there is a feeling that in this country of abounding prosperity there is a chance for every one, and he, too, will find his opportunity perhaps in the next town."

"In Oklahoma I met a man," says Mr. Stern, "who had worked his way from the apple country in Arkansas to the apple ranches in Northern California, and was then making a return trip. In times of wide-extended drought, or at seasons' ends, the agricultural drifters' problems become very serious."

Immigrant agricultural laborers will not work long when not among their own people, though their settlements are far apart. The two most prosperous Italian agricultural colonies are 500 miles apart, one near New Orleans and the other in Texas. Of Lithuanian colonies, one is in Arkansas and the nearest other one far distant in Texas.

Drifters are often attracted by the widespread advertisements by railroads and commercial clubs. These are meant for the colonists with funds, but the bait draws numbers of work seekers who come practically penniless and fill no definite need.

Railroad shop workers, factory hands, mechanics and casual laborers are also found among the drifters. A skilled worker sometimes finds to his consternation that his work is unknown and not needed, and he must turn to casual labor.

Frederick S. Atwood, grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias of Minnesota, is blind, having lost his sight several years ago. Despite this handicap, he has continued in active work for the order and is now serving his second term as grand chancellor. He travels extensively and generally alone.

RAILROAD LOSES CASE

Valuable Right-of-Way Was Left Unused Too Long.

Title Reverts to Former Owners—Road Must Condemn Again.

A legal fight for the possession of a mile of abandoned railroad right-of-way within the city limits has been won in the district court by the Norton estate over the claims of the Northern Pacific Railway company.

Judge Ensign, in a decision handed down Saturday holds that because the railway company has failed to operate over the right-of-way since it took possession in 1902, it has lost all claim under a right-of-way deed and that the strip of land has reverted to the possession of the fee owner, the Norton estate.

Under an order of the court in connection with the decision, a permanent injunction will issue against the Northern Pacific enjoining the company from taking any further steps to build or maintain a line over the old right-of-way in question or from asserting any claim to ownership. The court's decision, unless reversed by the supreme court, will mean that if the Northern Pacific desires to re-establish possession of the old right-of-way, it will be obliged to resort to condemnation proceedings. Judge Ensign has granted a forty days' stay of proceedings in order that an appeal from his decision may be taken to the supreme court if desired.

Land In Dispute.

The right-of-way, which is the bone of contention in the action, starts at a point near Kingsbury creek at Seventy-second avenue west and follows a general southwesterly direction for about one mile until Ironton is reached, the old road bed paralleling that of the present Northern Pacific Fond du Lac short line.

The Duluth Transfer Railway company, which operated over the line between 1893 and 1902 when it was taken over by the Northern Pacific, the Bankers Trust company, the Farmers Loan & Trust company and the Guarantee Trust company, three surety companies, were made co-defendants in the action with the Northern Pacific, but were in default at the trial last May. The real fight is between the Northern Pacific and George W. Norton, sole and surviving executor under the will of the late George W. Norton, his father.

In its decision, the court finds that the late George W. Norton, at the time of his death, July 18, 1889, was the owner of the strip of land in question. On Nov. 23, 1893, the executors of the Norton estate executed a deed conveying an easement for right-of-way purposes to the Duluth Transfer Railway company.

The Duluth Transfer Railway company, the court finds, operated over the right-of-way until 1896, when it went into the hands of a receiver. Under the receivership of John Eliot Bowles, it was operated between 1896 and 1902. During the month of January, 1902, a committee of bondholders of the transfer railway company organized the Duluth Transfer Railroad company and took over the property of the transfer railway company. During the month of May, 1902, the property and rights of the bondholder's company was taken over by the Northern Pacific.

Abandoned in 1902.

The court also finds that during the year 1902, the Northern Pacific Railway company took up the rails and ties down the bridges and trestles, which constituted an abandonment. On Dec. 1, 1912, two days before the suit to quiet title was instituted by the Norton estate, the Northern Pacific took possession of the property and relaid the rails. The bridges were not rebuilt, however.

With reference to this move on the part of the railroad company, the court in its findings says: "On or about the first day of December, 1912, and about two days prior to the commencement of this action, the answering defendant, without the consent of the plaintiff, entered upon a part of said strip of land, not for the purpose of building or operating a railroad thereon, but with the intent of heading off an attempt on the part of another company from acquiring said strip of land for railroad right-of-way purposes by condemnation."

The contention of the Northern Pacific at the trial was that the title secured by the Transfer company in 1893 vested an ownership in fee of the land with the railroad company and that by virtue of that instrument and the fact that the transfer road has passed into the control of the Northern Pacific, the company was within its rights. The court holds however, that the instrument given in 1893 did not convey a fee interest in the property, but an easement for railroad right-of-way purposes only. The court finds that this instrument is a cloud to the title of the land which should be removed and orders it cancelled of record.

The Norton estate contended at the trial that the action of the Northern Pacific in taking up the tracks and abandoning the bridges after it had secured control in 1902 was an act of abandonment. The plaintiffs claimed that this act constituted a forfeiture of the easement granted in 1893.

The Norton estate was represented at the trial by Attorney A. L. Agatin, and the Northern Pacific was represented by Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell. The strip of land involved is seventy-five feet wide.

WIDOW WANTS A SETTLEMENT

Stella C. Wold, 21-year-old widow of Charles H. Wold, electrician and ticket seller for the Mesaba Electric company who was electrocuted on Jan. 6, 1914, at Chisholm, has petitioned the district court to order a settlement of her claim for wrongful death under the terms of the new employers' liability act. She claims that the Mesaba Electric company refuses to settle in accordance with the schedule provided for in the act.

Judge Martin Hughes of Hibbing has set March 28 as a date for a hearing. Mrs. Wold claims that her husband was receiving $80 a month and that she is entitled to receive 35 per cent of his monthly wages during the period of her dependency, not exceeding 300 weeks. The Wolds had been married scarcely a year when the fatal accident occurred. Wold came in contact with a live and uninsulated wire and was almost instantly electrocuted.

FARRAR SCORES BIG HIT IN CHARPENTIER'S OPERA "JULIEN"

FARRAR AND CARUSO.

FARRAR IN "JULIEN."

The new opera of Charpentier, "Julien," which was produced at the Metropolitan opera house, New York, created a sensation. It was the first time the work has been done outside Paris, where it has made a great success. Its success there is unexplained. The management of the Opera Comique shrug their shoulders and admit that they do not understand why it should be popular. Yet it is. And if the attitude of the first night audience in New York is any criterion, it will be popular here.

The work is supposed to be a sequel to the same composer's "Louise," which has been sung here for several seasons. In fact a great many of the musical themes from "Louise" reappear in the newer opera, especially the carnival themes, which make the last act with its mad Montmartre fete a resounding picture long to be remembered.

PAVING IS A PROBLEM

City Commission Again Considers Route to West Duluth.

The city commission held another informal meeting at the mayor's office this morning to consider the puzzling problem of street improvements, with particular reference as to what can be done towards providing a street to West Duluth.

From present indications it appears unlikely that either the Oneota street or the Grand avenue routes will be paved this year. The opinion of some members of the commission was that the property owners on the Oneota street route would not pay the heavy assessments which would have to be made, as the cost would be too much in excess of the benefits. Relative to the Third street job the city's share would be so much above the sum available that the council felt it could not be seriously considered. If First street, Vernon street and Grand avenue were improved, the city's share would be $96,000, or $42,000 more than the total amount available for the permanent improvement fund this year.

The sentiment of the commission was that either Superior street should be improved to Twenty-ninth or Thirtieth avenue, or First street and Vernon streets should be paved. With one of these improvements and Grand avenue resurfaced the conditions for traffic would be vastly bettered, as Superior street is to be paved between Fifteenth and Twenty-fifth avenues. This would leave some funds available for badly needed street improvements in other parts of the city and would save the city the possibility of getting into serious difficulties which seem probable should either the Oneota street or the Grand avenue pavements be attempted.

ANOTHER CUT IN JAP NAVAL BUDGET

Upper House Lops Off $20,000,000 Besides Former $11,000,000 Cut.

Tokio, March 9.—A recommendation to reduce the Japanese naval estimates by the sum of $20,000,000 was carried by the budget committee of the upper house of parliament today. This was done in spite of the protest of the premier, who expressed the opinion that such a diminution would seriously hamper the national defense.

Today's proposed reduction was in addition to an $11,000,000 curtailment of the naval estimates by the lower house.

Newfoundland has for several years steadily increased its agricultural production.

WOMEN IN THE COURTS

Needed on Juries and as Police and Court Officers—Better Justice for Women Prisoners.

By LOUISE DE KOVEN BOWEN,
President of Juvenile Protective Association, Chicago.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau).

We have been in the habit of thinking of our law courts as places where justice is dealt out by men to men only, where men are brought who have been arrested by policemen, interrogated by men captains or sergeants, and guarded in prison by men jailers. In addition, men are brought into court by men bailiffs, tried by juries of men, sentenced by men judges and cared for by men in the institutions to which they are committed.

We do not often think of the thousands of unfortunate women who are brought into our courts. In spite of their numbers and their great need for special care, our legal machinery is still largely in the hands of men, although many eminent lawyers and jurists are feeling the need of man-an's help and sympathy in dealing with women.

Women's Disadvantages.

From the time of the arrest of a woman to the final disposition of her case she is at a disadvantage. In the police stations of Chicago the women are herded together, the innocent with the guilty, the clean with the unclean, the young girl with the prostitute. The sleeping accommodations are vile.

When the woman appears for her preliminary hearing she is tousled and untidy as the result of having been without proper toilet accommodations, and is therefore apt to create an unfavorable impression.

Arrests of women should be made, if possible, by women police. Women prisoners should be placed under the supervision of a police matron. When the time comes for their trial they should be accompanied to the court-room by women who can explain the legal procedure to them and stand beside them when they are subjected to the harassing questions so frequently put to them by attorneys.

Chicago has done away with its old police courts and in their place has municipal courts with judges elected by the people. Under the able leadership of Chief Justice Olson these courts have been socialized and specialized. He has designated branches to be known as the court of domestic relations and the morales court.

The court of domestic relations deals with offenses involving the mother and the child, and in this court the woman first tells her story to one of the social secretaries of the judge. Both are women; and these secretaries are often able to settle cases without bringing them into court. In one year the first social secretary of this court settled out of court with the co-operation of other agencies in the city, 2,776 cases, thus saving much publicity and mortification to a large number of people.

The women who come to this court are often obliged to bring their children with them. These children are looked after by a trained nurse in a comfortable nursery.

In the morales court of Chicago are heard the cases of women charged with improper conduct. Here an effort is made to find out the reason for their downfall and, if possible, through advice, encouragement, or employment to give them another chance to lead a decent life. There is a woman physician connected with this court, and the Juvenile Protective association keeps a woman officer in the criminal court to advise and assist the women and young girls who are brought there as witnesses or as prisoners.

Women On Juries.

In all cases pertaining to women and children, women should sit as jurors, as they do in Norway and Sweden and are beginning to do in the equal suffrage states in America. A story comes to us from one of the states in the West where women were sitting as jurors in a criminal case. The district attorney told the women that he considered the evidence unfit for them to hear and advised them to withdraw. They did so and the prisoner got off free. The other women of the town, however, made such a vigorous protest against this neglect of duty on the part of their own sex that when the district attorney made the same request the following day to the women who had been summoned as jurors in another case, one of them announced that if every other woman went out she would stay to hear the case and the others immediately followed her example. Finding that the women were resolved to do jury duty, the prisoner immediately pleaded guilty and threw himself upon the mercy of the court.

A large percentage of women in our reformatory institutions are mentally deficient. At the Bedford Reformatory for Women the percentage of inmates who are mentally deficient is 37; the Industrial School for Girls at Lancaster, Mass., gives 50 per cent; the Maryland Industrial School for Girls at Baltimore puts it as high as 60 per cent, while three reformatories for men and boys in New York, New Jersey and Illinois, give respectively 37, 33 and 20 per cent, an average of 30 per cent for the three men's and boys' reformatories against 49 per cent for the three reformatories for women and girls.

If women commit crimes because of mental deficiency it would seem more than ever necessary to have them examined by a psychopathic expert and committed—not to prisons—but to such women's reformatories as Bedford, whose scientific treatment and humane care, under the able leadership of Miss Katherine Bement Davis, now commissioner of correction in New York city, has made it one of the few hopeful spots in our wretched prison system.

Laws Unjust to Women.

In Illinois, where we have many good laws, there are a number that are unjust to women. The age of consent, for example, is fixed at 16. We do not consider a girl old enough to dispose of her property until she is 18 years old, but we do allow her to consent to her own ruin at the age of 16 years.

The adult delinquency law in Illinois should be so amended that a wife could testify against her husband in the violation of such a law. As the law stands at present, the husband can force his child to all kinds of disreputable acts—even immoral acts—and yet the testimony of the mother, anxious to save her child, is not admitted.

Seduction in Illinois is not a felony; it is only a misdemeanor—a breach of manners, as it were. The penalty for seduction, stealing a girl, may be as light as a $1,000 fine or one day in jail. The penalty for pandering, selling a girl, may be as light as a $300 fine and six months in jail.

Rape is a felony but it may be punished by only a year in prison; yet in Illinois if a man steals a horse or a mule, the minimum punishment which may be inflicted is three years in the penitentiary.

If an unfortunate girl is betrayed by a man and a child is born, according to the laws of Illinois, if she can prove the paternity of the child, she can collect from the father of the child $550 for the education and care of the child, the payments extending over a period of ten years. A marriage before conviction bars all prosecution and many men, when they find that they must pay, make the girl an offer of marriage. She eagerly accepts, hoping that this will end her troubles, and then the man promptly deserts the following day, goes to another state, and is never heard of again.

We should have laws such as exist in Norway and Sweden where, if a man is found to be the father of an illegitimate child, he can be made to support the mother before confinement, pay for her care when the baby is born, and for the support and education of the child until he is old enough to care for himself.

Even before the women of Illinois were given the frenchise, in addition to the women connected with the court of domestic relations and the morals court, sixty-one women probation officers were connected with the juvenile court of Cook county; a woman assistant to the judge of the same court heard in chambers the cases involving the chastity of girls; six women are now acting as probation officers for adults; ten women have been apointed on the police force and, when needed, are assigned to the courts; women nurses employed by the judge of the county court visit cases involving the insane; and women investigators are an important factor in the court where cases of non-support are heard.

In spite of this advance, however, we can only hope for full justice to women when enfranchised women have a voice in matters of this kind and are interested in giving to women prisoners every opportunity for justice and later for reformation.

Sale of School and Other State Lands

State of Minnesota, State Auditor's Office.

St. Paul, March 2, 1914.

Notice is hereby given that on April 15, 1914, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the office of the County Auditor at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the state of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

Terms: Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from dato of sale to June 1st, 1915, must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance is four per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year; provided, the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid within ten years from date of sale, the rate of interest will be computed at five per cent per annum.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at the time of sale. Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

Not more than 320 acres can be sold or contracted to be sold to any one purchaser.

Agents acting for purchasers must furnish affidavit of authority. Appraisers' reports, showing quality and kind of soil, are on file in this office.

Lists of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the State Commissioner of Immigration at St. Paul, and of the County Auditor at above address.

SAMUEL G. IVERSON,
State Auditor.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of four hundred and ninety-seven dollars, which is claimed to be due, and is due, at the date of this notice, and the further sum of four hundred and forty-three and 75-100 dollars declared to be due upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Elmon D. Harding and Minnie Harding, his wife, and Henry W. Schultz and Bertha Schultz, his wife, Mortgagors, bearing date the 1st day of January, 1912, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 17th day of June, 1912, at 11:15-60 o'clock A. M., in Book 266 of Mortgages, on page 504; and whereas said mortgage contains a clause whereby it is provided that if default be made by the said mortgagors in any of the provisions in said mortgage, it shall be lawful for said mortgagee to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due, and the sum of $440.00 and interest has been due and not paid for some time, and there is another note for $440.00 and interest maturing on Jan. 2nd, 1915, and the said mortgagee has elected and hereby does elect to declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage due, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz.:

The southwest quarter of the northwest quarter, the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter, and lots two and seven, in Section seventeen (17), in Township sixty-four (64) of Range twelve (12), in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 27th day of April, 1914, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the said debt of nine hundred and forty and 75-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

WHEAT FIRM UP TO CLOSE

Day's Market Holds Strong on Bullish Government Crop Report.

Flaxseed Sells Higher, With Good Demand and Advances in Cables.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 9.—Wheat held strong up to the close. May wheat closed ⅜c up and July ¼c up. May durum closed unchanged and July unchanged.

Oats closed ⅝c off at 36⅜c. Rye closed 2c off at from 53c to 55c for the best grades, and barley unchanged at from 44c to 66c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 90⅜@90½c and calls at 90¾c bid.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 36¾c bid and July at 37⅝c.

The government crop report on reserves of wheat in growers' hands was interpreted as moderately bullish by operators, and the market held strong during the first three hours of today's sessions. Liverpool cables were also stronger and foreign advices were to the effect that Europe is anxious on account of the smallness of the American reserves, and had placed some buying orders this morning at fractionally under the market. No export business was reported, but a better Eastern inquiry was met with on this market.

May wheat opened ⅛c up at 91½c, and it stood at that figure at the final hour after selling a shade higher. The July option opened ⅛c up at 92⅛c and it also held on that basis. May durum opened unchanged at 90¾c and it weakened fractionally.

The American visible supply report, showing a decrease of only 642,000 bu in wheat supplies for the week, exercised a bearish influence. The continued good news coming to hand regarding the splendid condition of the winter wheat plant and the outlook for a bumper crop, also had some effect in restraining commitments.

A continued run of grain here from North Dakota points is expected between now and April 1 to escape taxation and that will swell receipts.

Receipts at Minneapolis were 476 cars for the two days against 823 last year. Duluth receipts were in better volume, being reported at 74 cars against 50 a year ago, and there were on the track for the day 161 cars of all grains.

Arrivals here last week were 289,000 bu of all grains and shipments, including quantities taken out by the mills 217,000 bu. Outside of the grain afloat the amount in store in the houses here is about the same as a year ago.

Flaxseed is Firm.

Trading in flaxseed was firm today and quotations changed only fractionally. Final prices were ½c up in May and ¼c up in July.

Fair demand was reported from traders with crushers in the market for small lots.

Foreign cables were higher. Buenos Aires closed ¾c up; Antwerp 1¼c up, and London 2¾d up.

May flaxseed opened unchanged at $1.57 and closed ½c up at $1.57½. The July option opened unchanged at $1.58¾ and closed ¼c at $1.59.

Baker's Chicago correspondent wired: "Twenty-five million bu of wheat fed to animals, 10,000,000 bu more wheat and flour exported than last year, leads us to look for higher May wheat in April, when foreigners get the Argentine and Australian decreased crop effect. We look for May to widen further over July here, and expect Minneapolis May to sell over Chicago."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool—"The easier American and weaker market in Winnipeg Saturday were offset here by the American government report, and following the opening there was speculative support which advanced prices ¼@¼d. Manitoba and Plate offers are steady and a better demand from the continent was noted. World's shipments were liberal with a good amount to the United Kingdom and private reports received here confirm highly favorable American crop prospects, and these, served to check the advance. At 1:30 p. m. the undertone was steady, ½d higher. "Corn opened unchanged and later July advanced ¼d with moderate covering."

That growers in the Northwest marketed their wheat unusually freely last fall is evidenced in the small proportion of the grain remaining on the farms on March 1, as shown in the last government crop report.

In Minnesota there was estimated to be still on hand 19,700,000 bu against 22,800,000 bu last year; in North Dakota there was 15,000,000 bu against 30,200,000 bu a year ago, and in South Dakota 9,200,000 bu against 13,110,000 bu, making the total for the three states 43,900,000 bu compared with 66,110,000 bu in 1913.

Minnesota stood second to Iowa in the quantity of oats stores in farmers' hands, having 49,500,000 bu. North Dakota growers had 27,200,000 bu, South Dakota 18,100,000 bu and Wisconsin 37,400,000 bu.

The winter wheat crop, after making every allowance for abandoned acreage, promises to be the largest this country has ever produced. After summarizing reports received from correspondents, the Security National bank of Minneapolis places the aggregate at 550,000,000 bu.

Regarding the crop outlook the bank summary says:

"It is easy to say that the business for the later months of this year will depend largely upon crop conditions because we all know that this must be true. This year, however, even more depends upon the crops than is usually the case. Business is slowly but surely improving and easier money is helping general conditions. Present reports indicate good soil and plant conditions over practically the entire winter wheat, rye and oats area. There are a few million acres that were planted to provide early spring pasturage, and it is not expected that we will harvest much more than 32,000,000 acres of wheat and 2,500,000 acres of rye. Allowing for the deterioration which we have had on the average for the past ten years, we should have a winter wheat crop of between 525,000,000 and 550,000,000 bu.

"At this date there is every reason to believe, barring usual happenings, that the 1914 winter wheat crop will set a new high record."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Gains on Government Report Wiped Out By Selling.

Chicago, March 9.—General selling of wheat by commission houses today wiped out gains due to a moderately bullish construction of the government report on farm reserves. The selling did not develop, however, until the market had made a fair advance. Large world shipments and perfect conditions for the domestic winter crop counted against the bulls. Opening prices were ⅛@⅜c higher, and there was a slight additional upturn before the reaction set in.

A decrease in the visible spply figures led afterward to a light rally. The close was steady at the same as Saturday night to ⅛@¼c higher.

Reserves the smallest since 1904 had only a temporary strengthening effect on corn. Shipping conditions remained disappointing. Although prices at the outset were a shade to ¼c higher, the market soon went under last night's level.

Stop-loss orders and absence of support increased the weakness. The close, though was steady, ⅜c off to ⅛c up, compared with Saturday night.

Sentiment regarding oats was almost universally bearish on account of government figures on farm stocks being much larger than expected. A sharp break came right at the start, and there was no sign of any important rally.

Higher prices for hogs carried provisions upgrade. Grain weakness, however, brought about a subsequent fall.

London Stocks.

London, March 9.—American securities opened easy and most of the list declined under the lead of Canadian Pacific during the forenoon. Later a better tone prevailed and stocks hardened in sympathy with the strength in St. Paul and Chesapeake & Ohio, which were bought by New York. The close was steady.

STOCKS ARE IRREGULAR

Prices Advance at Opening But Upward Movement Temporary.

Coalers Develop Weakness and Whole Market Falls Back.

New York, March 9.—Bullish traders succeeded in changing the direction of the market today from the course followed late last week, but progress upward was only temporary. Early irregularity was caused in part by foreign selling, but the strong showing made by St. Paul and some of the Eastern railroad shares pulled up the whole list.

The upturn facilitated by suppression of liquidation in Chesapeake & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio and other stocks was brisk. Trading was active on the upward swing, and the market made good headway until the coalers began to develop weakness. Reading and Lehigh, in particular were sold heavily the latter reacting 3 points. As these stocks sagged the whole market gradually fell back. St. Paul and New Haven lost their gains and at the noon hour the average was under last week's close. Bonds were heavy.

St. Paul recovered 1¾ of its recent severe loss today. Texas Company rose a point. Mexican Petroleum lost 1 and Kansas & Texas reached a new low figure at 16⅝. Changes in general were irregular, with a hardening tendency after the first transactions.

Traders bought stocks on the theory that a rally was overdue and prices hardened. United States Express jumped 5 points. A subsequent reaction of 2 points in Lehigh Valley stopped this upward movement.

The decline in the market facilitated covering of some large short contracts and prices rallied from ½ to 1 point. Liquidation of the various Rock Island bonds was on a large scale. The collaterals fell 1¼, refunding 2¼ and debentures 4½ points.

Prices drifted idly in midafternoon but the undertone grew steadily firmer.

The market closed easy. Chesapeake & Ohio fell swiftly in the last few minutes. The rest of the list went off fractionally in sympathy.

WASHINGTON WILL DEMAND PUNISHMENT OF VERGARA'S SLAYERS

Matter Is Discussed at Cabinet Meeting—No Clash With Texas.

Official Report on Recovery of Body Made By Gen. Bliss.

England Reminds Subjects in Mexico of Warning to Leave.

VERGARA NOT TORTURED.

Laredo, Tex., March 10.—Reports that Clemente Vergara, the Texas ranchman who was lured across the border into Mexico and killed, had been tortured before he was slain were exploded here today when an examination of the body by state officials disclosed that Vergara's left hand had not been burned, as Capt. J. J. Sanders of the State Rangers had officially reported.

Washington, March 10.—No conflict will arise between the Federal government and the state of Texas over the recovery of the body of Vergara, the murdered American ranchman. Further steps demanding the punishment of Vergara's assassins will be taken.

That was the status of the case after a cabinet meeting today.

The officially accepted view was that Vergara was lured across the border and murdered and his body subsequently recovered by his own friends—not Texas Rangers—who crossed into Mexico as private individuals and not as an armed expedition.

After today's cabinet meeting, at which Consul Garrett's report was read, Secretary Bryan made the following paraphrase of Mr. Garrett's telegrams:

"Consul Garrett went with Capt. Sanders of the Texas Rangers and a deputy sheriff to Palafox, Tex., last Saturday for the purpose of making further investigation in the Vergara case.

Went to Ranch.

"They went to the Vergara ranch and examined witnesses who saw the horses belonging to Vergara taken by the Mexicans, and who also saw Vergara cross the river, and those who saw him captured. The investigation kept them up late Saturday night, when they reached Coleman's camp, two miles above Palafox, where they ate supper and concluded to remain over night.

"About 4 a. m. they were informed that Vergara's body was on the Texas side of the river. Consul Garrett aroused the chauffeur of his automobile and went five or six miles away, to a point opposite San Enrique's ranch, about three miles below Palafox. Mr. Garrett there found the body, with a number of relatives of Vergara, who also had been notified to come and identify the body.

"Mr. Garrett was informed that a small party of Vergara's friends had gone over the river at 2 o'clock a. m., exhumed the body and brought it across. Mr. Garrett adds that the Texas Rangers had no hand in bring-

BIG INCREASE IN UNFILLED TONNAGE

Nearly Half Million Tons More Than One Month Ago.

New York, March 10.—The unfilled tonnage of the United States Steel corporation as of March 1 totals 5,026,440 tons, an increase of 412,760 tons over the preceding month.

NEW POWDER BLOWS 12-INCH GUN TO BITS

Ton-Weight Breech Block Is Hurled Through Concrete Wall.

New York, March 10.—Unable to withstand the energy of a new powder, a 12-inch gun at the Sandy Hook proving grounds exploded yesterday, sending its 2,000-pound breech block through a thick concrete wall, while parts of the barrel were hurled a half a mile out to sea. Lieut. Chase Pendelton, who with eighteen men had taken cover in a shelter trench of which the concrete wall was a part, sustained slight cuts about the leg when he was struck by a fragment of steel. Several of the men were thrown from the platform on which they were standing.

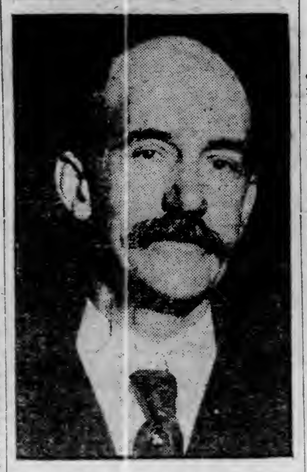

ENGLISH ARMY AVIATOR KILLED

Salisbury, Eng., March 10.—Capt. Syril R. Downer of the Northamptonshire infantry regiment, was killed today by a fall with his aeroplane, while flying over the military aerodrome on Salisbury plain. He had only recently been detailed for service with the army flying corps.

COURT SUSTAINS MELLEN DEMURRER

Bridgeport, Conn., March 10.—The demurrer of counsel for Former President Charles S. Mellen of the New Haven railroad, charged with manslaughter as the result of a train wreck in October, 1912, was sustained by Judge Tuttle in the superior court here today.

HEADS THE DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE IN NEW YORK

WILLIAM CHURCH OSBORN.

New York, March 10.—William Church Osborn has succeeded to the chairmanship of the Democratic state committee of New York. The change is said to be in accordance with the views of President Wilson and Governor Glynn, and is intended to make the state committee independent of Tammany control.

FARGO JEWELER DIES IN ARKANSAS

Became Despondent After Wife Secured Divorce Last Summer.

Fargo, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Martin Hagen, pioneer jeweler, is dead at Hot Springs, Ark., where he had been for several weeks. He was the senior member of the Hagen-Newton company. Last summer his wife of a few months, formerly Miss Lou Graham of Duluth, secured a divorce with considerable alimony, following which Hagen became very despondent. He has a brother in Wisconsin, a sister at Larimore and a nephew in Fargo.

MARTIAL LAW IN CEARA STATE, BRAZIL

Strikers Parade Streets, Threaten People and Loot Houses.

Rio de Janeiro, March 10.—Martial law was proclaimed today throughout the state of Ceara. Federal troops have been placed on guard at the principal commercial and private houses in Fortaleza, the state capital, owing to the outbreak of a strike. Martial law was proclaimed in this city several days ago.

The commander of the troops at Fortaleza telegraphed to the minister of war today that trade was at a standstill and the strikers were parading the streets, threatening the populace and breaking into private dwellings.

The local authorities of the state of Ceara are powerless to enforce order, and the Federal commander reports that a force of rebels is encamped about sixteen miles from Fortaleza.

CIGAR MAKERS MUST STOP LICKING TIPS

Practice Is Found to Prevail in Pennsylvania--State Calls Halt.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 10.—Notice was given today by Commissioner Jackson of the state department of labor and industry, that cigar makers must stop the practice of placing the tips of cigars in their mouths during manufacture. This notice is the result of inspections recently made by the division of hygiene of the department, which in a number of counties found that operatives were wetting the tips of cigars with their lips.

"The practice of licking or wetting the end of the cigar seems to be a more or less prevalent practice and one which is not only unsafe to the operative, but certainly undesirable for the smoker," said Dr. Jackson.

CALL OFF GENERAL STRIKE IN ROME

Rome, March 10—Awed by the display of soldiery and checked by several cavalry charges, which frustrated attempts at disorder, the workmen of Rome who yesterday had declared a general strike decided today to resume work. Before this announcement was made at noon, a body of strikers trying to march to the ministry of the interior was dispersed by the police, who fired several volleys into the air.

A number of strikers were wounded and one is reported killed in the encounter. The police fired volleys into the crowd. After the strikers had dispersed, the wounded were taken inside the ministry of the interior for treatment.

Muncie Votes "Dry."

Muncie, Ind., March 10—Muncie decided against having saloons by a majority of 462 votes in the local option election.

HOPE FOR HOME RULE

Step Toward Some Agreement Seen in Asquith's Proposal.

No Two Parties Agree Yet, But Prospects Are Better.

London, March 10.—The possibility of the settlement of the Irish home rule controversy was today again in the forefront of popular interest. The opinions of the various parties as to the effect of the concessions offered in the house of commons yesterday by Premier Asquith differed widely.

The Unionists as a rule expressed themselves unsatisfied with the suggested method of voting by counties on the exclusion of Ulster or portions of it from the operation of the home rule bill. Nationalists, on the other hand, declared that the cabinet had gone to the limit toward conciliation.

The independent opinion of the country seems inclined to the feeling that the concessions offer an opportunity for conciliation, and this feeling is strengthened by Sir Edward Carson's counter offer on behalf of the Ulster conference, providing the limitation on the exclusion of the northern counties to a period of six years be struck out.

Big Step Made.

It is pointed out here in parliamentary circles that the recognition by the cabinet and the Nationalists of the principle of the exclusion of the counties of Ulster if they vote in favor of it, even if the exclusion be only temporary, is a great step in advance from last year's policy of "full steam ahead."

This attitude of the cabinet and the Irish Nationalists, it is argued, allows for negotiations during the three weeks for which the debate of the home rule bill has been adjourned.

King George is believed to have had a hand in inducing Premier Asquith to make the proffered concessions, and it is contended that if his majesty continue his activity in this respect the two parties may be enabled to bridge over the differences separating them.

Two Stumbling Blocks.

The stumbling blocks in the way of a settlement of the Irish question are the "die hard" Unionists, who want a general election at any cost in the hope of defeating the government, and also the Nationalists who follow William O'Brien and are opposed to any kind of exclusion being granted to Ulster. It is very doubtful whether John Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, can carry the members of his party any farther than they have already consented to go in the way or placating the Ulster Unionists.

Lord MacDonnell, a Liberal peer, who was permanent undersecretary for Ireland from 1902 to 1908, said today that the government proposals seemed to furnish a basis for a settlement. Lord Dunraven, Conservative Irish peer, expressed doubt whether Premier Asquith's offer would bring about a satisfactory solution.

RATES ATTACKED BY SOUTH DAKOTA

The Charges From Florida Points Are Declared to Be Excessive.

Washington, March 10.—The state of South Dakota, through its railroad commission, today attacked before the interstate commerce commission the freight rates on oranges, lemons, limes, grapefruit, kumquats and pineapples from Florida points to destinations in South Dakota. The present rate of 84.2 a hundred pounds is declared to be excessive and discriminatory.

USES KNIFE ON PAINTING

Suffragette Slashes $500,000 Picture in London National Gallery.

Mrs. Pankhurst's Friends Attempt Rescue After Riot at Glasgow.

London, March 10.—May Richardson, a notorious militant suffragette, did great damage today to the famous Velasquez picture known as the "Rokeby Venus," which is hung in the National gallery, Trafalgar square.

The picture was purchased for $225,000 in 1906 and presented to the nation. Art experts have estimated its present market value at $500,000.

The woman entered the gallery and attacked the picture with a sharp knife, making six or seven bad cuts across the canvas. She was arrested.

Avenging Mrs. Pankhurst.

After her arrest, Miss Richardson said:

"I tried to destroy the picture of the most beautiful woman in mythological history as a protest against the government for destroying Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, who is the most beautiful character in modern history."

The police magistrate committed Miss Richardson for trial at the sessions and refused to grant bail.

Hawes Harison Turner, secretary and keeper of the national gallery, told the magistrate that the selling price of the picture had been depreciated by the outrage by as much as $75,000.

The prisoner harangued the court at length. She said:

"Reginald McKenna, the home secretary, has turned the criminal code into a farce. This is the tenth time I have been brought before a magistrate this year. He cannot coerce me and cannot compel me to serve a sentence. He can only repeat the farce of releasing me."

May Richardson has been sentenced to several terms of imprisonment since

GIRL FOLLOWS ACTOR HOME; TAKES POISON

Attempts Suicide After Being Sheltered By His Family.

New York, March 10.—Edith Rockfell, said by the police to belong to a well to do Chicago family, took poison today in the apartment of Frank W. Kahl, an actor, who said that the girl had followed him there from the West. She has slight chance of recovery. Kahl lives with his mother and sister. When the girl came here they gave her shelter and communicated with her relatives in Chicago.

HEAVIEST SNOW OF THE WINTER AT ALBERT LEA.

Albert Lea, Minn., March 10.—The heaviest snow storm of the winter has been in progress over Southern and Western Minnesota since early today and at noon was continuing unabated. Snow to the depth of seven inches fell during the forenoon at Mankato, Ortonville and other points.

DEAD IN FIRE NUMBER 31

Three More Bodies Taken From Blazing St. Louis Ruins.

Officials Say Building Was Poorly Equipped—Newcomb Denies It.

St. Louis, Mo., March 10.—Firemen today entered the ruins of the Missouri Athletic club, which was destroyed by fire early Monday, and recovered three additional bodies. This brings the total number of bodies recovered to ten. Of these, six have been identified. Twenty-two bodies are believed still to be in the ruins.

As water still was being played on the ruins and some parts of the interior still were ablaze, the men could not go very far in the ruins.

Early investigation showed the vaults of the Boatmen's bank, which occupied the two first floors of the building, to be intact. Covered by tons of brick, granite and twisted steel, the vaults hold safe more than $1,300,000 in currency, about $27,000 in coin and many million dollars' worth of stocks and bonds.

New York Banker Dead.

One of the bodies recovered today was identified as that of E. P. Williams, a banker, of New York. The body was fully dressed and unmarred. Apparently he had been suffocated.

The other body was burned beyond recognition. It was found in the same room on the sixth floor in which Williams' body was found.

The name of William R. Borders, president of the bank of Sparta, Sparta, Ill., was added to the list of missing today.

A message was received at police headquarters today inquiring as to the safety of John Day. This message was sent by D. E. Robinson of Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Day was not listed in previous reports of missing.

Supposed Victim Telephones.

Joseph Wolfson of Caruthersville, Mo., who was reported last night as among the missing, is safe. He called up the committee of the Missouri Athletic club today.

CARY IS OUT AFTER 'DAWDLING' TEACHERS

Calls State Conference on How to Get Efficiency.

Madison, Wis., March 10.—Believing that the securing of competent teachers is one of the gravest problems in the educational system, State Superintendent C. P. Cary today called a meeting to be held here April 10 and 11 to determine upon possible remedies of the situation.

"Our teachers are mostly women who teach but a few years, then drop out of the ranks," says Mr. Cary in his letter inviting attendance. "It would seem that it is highly desirable for those to teach so limited a time to be ready to start much as men do when they are to run a 100-yard race. The teachers who 'dawdle' and try for a year or more to 'find themselves' may be found almost anywhere that one cares to look."

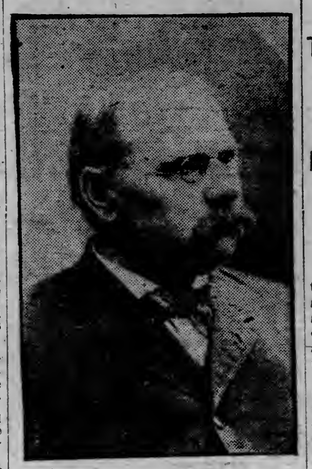

Mr. Cary suggests that representatives be present from the training schools, colleges, normal schools and university, together with city and county superintendents. The sessions will be held in the assembly chamber. This is said to be the first conference of this kind ever called.

THINKS PRESS IN NO DANGER

Untermyer Defends Bill to Regulate Stock Exchanges.

Says the Opponents of Measure Admit Its Necessity.

Washington, March 10.—Samuel Untermyer of New York today appeared before the senate banking and currency committee in reply to arguments against the bill he has fathered for the regulation of stock exchanges.

Instead of the bill "Russianizing the press," as claimed by Senator Hitchcock, Mr. Untermyer declared it merely empowered the postmaster general to exclude from the mails any publication containing the quotations of an exchange not incorporated in accordance with the state law.

"Permit me to say that the power and momentum of the press are increasing at such a rate that the danger is that the press may 'Russianize the people,'" said Mr. Untermyer.

Regulation Necessary.

Mr. Untermyer further declared that opponents of the bill had been forced to admit that Federal regulation of stock exchanges was necessary. For state incorporation and postal supervision, as proposed in the senate bill, the opponents had failed to point out an effective alternative, he said.

"Mr. Milburn, speaking for the New York stock exchange, suggested that a bill similar to that under which lotteries were suppressed, that would deny the use of the mails and telegraph for the distribution of fictitious and unlawful transactions, would answer the purpose," continued Mr. Untermyer. "To me it is manifest that it would be about as valueless as a blank piece of paper. Anybody can detect a lottery ticket, but Mr. Milburn fails

OMAHA HOLDING SPECIAL ELECTION

Omaha, Neb., March 10.—The voters of Omaha today expressed their desires on four questions at a special election. The new home rule charter drafted by a commission authorized by the last legislature was an issue, as were also an ordinance compelling the street railway company to sell seven tickets for 25 cents and a proposition to erect a garbage crematory.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

Samuel Untermeyer testified on the stock exchange regulation bill before the banking committee.

Senator Tillman asked for an investigation of charges that a coal trust discriminates against Charleston, S. C.

Committees in charge of trust bills hurried consideration of the measures for early action.

HOUSE.

Met at noon.

Debate was resumed on the agricultural bill.

Committees in charge of trust legislation began speeding up their work.

Interstate commerce committee reported revised Sims bill to repeal Panama tolls exemption.

Judiciary committee dismissed as "uncorroborated" the charges of Wade H. Cooper of Washington against Associate Justice D. T. Wright, supreme court of District of Columbia.

Employe of Detective Agency Testifies as to Copper Country.

Tells Congressmen of Deliberate Actions By His Fellows.

Michigan Militiamen Defend Themselves at Chicago Hearing.

Chicago, March 10.—Henry Batters, testifying today before the congressional investigation of the Michigan copper strike, said that he was one of forty-five men imported into the strike district in October by a detective agency of New York.

He declared that while they were on their way to the Copper country they were told by "Capt." White, in charge of the men, that he hoped these boys would "learn the ropes" so that the mine companies would need to hire more men as guards.

Batters explained that these instructions were taken to mean that the "boys" were to incite the strikers to acts of violence.

"What did you do personally to provoke violence?" asked Congressman Howell.

"Personally I did nothing of that sort," replied the witness.

Fired Into House.

He said, however, that many acts calculated to provoke the strikers were committed by other men. He said that one of the guards, a man named Curry, stood outside and fired into the boarding house of Mrs. Benson, at Mohawk, with the idea that the company would decide that the house should be guarded and that it would be a "soft beat" for Curry.

The witness said that Robert Aiken, a guard, beat three men who had been arrested by other private detectives. Batters said that on one occasion a strikers' parade was stopped by "gunmen," who walked through the paraders' ranks and endeavored to incite the strikers to some overt act in resistence.

"Do you admit that you belonged to an organization engaged in such

THREATEN TO KILL JUDGE AND OTHERS

Special Guard Given Principals in Terre Haute Trials.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 10.—Fear that threats to kill the court officials and witnesses in the election fraud cases at Terre Haute, made in anonymous letters, will be carried out, have prompted Judge Charles Fortune of the Vigo county circuit court and Special Prosecutor Roach to appeal to Governor Ralston for protection, and suggest the calling out of the state militia.

Since the conviction of William Huffman for election fraud last week, the special judge, witnesses and court officials have been threatened with death. While conferring with Governor Ralston, Judge Fortune was notified by telephone that a man summoned before the grand jury in Terre Haute had confessed that only the presence of armed guards had prevented an attempt to dynamite the jurist's home Sunday night.

ROOSEVELT MAY CHANGE TO WILSON

Roosevelt, L. I., March 10.—A meeting of the citizens of this town will be held Wednesday to determine whether its name shall be changed to Wilson or Providence. The whole town is wrought up over the question.

Thomas Mulrannen, the oldest inhabitant of the town and considered the leader of political sentiment, consented to the change of name to Roosevelt to honor a distinguished neighbor, but now he is urging another name.

"I will propose to change the name to Wilson," he said. "If that is opposed we will make it Providence and live in hope."

SARDINE PLANT ON SEA OF GALILEE.

Jerusalem, March 10.—A company is about to be formed for the establishment of a fish-curing and sardine factory on the shores of the Sea of Galilee.

For the last year or two great shoals of sardines have appeared in these waters, and it is thought that a remunerative industry could be formed if only a concession could be obtained for a long term of years at a uniform rate. Representations on the subject have already been made to the Turkish authorities.

Saloon Keeper Pleads Guilty and Escapes With a Fine.

Original Charge of Selling to Blacklisted Man Changed.

By pleading guilty to a charge of selling liquor to an habitual drunkard, instead of the original charge of selling to a "blacklister," Telesfore Pinsonnault, saloon keeper at 1920 West Superior street, will probably escape losing his saloon license at the hands of the city commission.

In violating the order regarding the sale of liquor to a "blacklister," a saloon license is mechanically revoked. But in the present case, Pinsonnault is merely guilty of selling to an habitual drunkard and although it is a violation of a city ordinance, the saloon keeper can hardly be held responsible for every habitual drunkard in the city. It is not likely that the commission will revoke his license.

Pinsonnault pleaded guilty to the new charge this morning and was fined $100 or sixty days in the county jail. He paid his fine.

The West end saloon keeper was arrested last Friday afternoon on the complaint of Miss Anna Pavey, sister of Charles Pavey, 1828 West Second street, who was placed on the "blacklist" several weeks ago. The order was sent out to all saloon keepers by Chief Troyer and when Miss Pavey reported that her brother had obtained some liquor in Pinsonnault's saloon, the arrest of the saloon keeper followed. He pleaded not guilty to the original charge when arraigned following his arrest.

It is interesting to note that each saloon keeper has a list of thirty names on the blacklist almost constantly and it is a hard task to keep track of all these men during rush hours. Many of these men have the same names and this also adds to the hardship. It was for this reason that Pinsonnault was allowed to plead guilty to the charge of selling liquor to an habitual drunkard, rather than place his license in jeopardy, with the charge of selling liquor to a "blacklister" hanging over him.

CITY WILL TAKE STOCK

For First Time Value of Its Assets Will Be Estimated.

"Property Account" Will Hereafter Be Part of City Bookkeeping.

For the first time in its history Duluth will have an intelligent approximate valuation of its assets.

City Auditor B. J. Campbell is compiling the inventories submitted by the various departments and will supplement these with statements which are now being prepared. Among the latter will be appraisals of all the pavements and walks in the city, now being prepared by the city engineering department, the aerial bridge and the water and light department. The latter has been under way for some time under the direction of E. W. Kelly, the department's engineer.

The auditor will then open up a property account as an integral part of the city's bookkeeping system and this will be kept up to date. The inventories submitted by the departments give statements of all the buildings and other property owned by the city. Should any omissions be discovered they will be promptly added. The valuations will allow for depreciation or other damage as well as for improvements. In the revised accounting system these will be considered as city assets.

The city's books are now being audited by J. S. Matteson of the accounting firm of Matteson & MacGregor. He will direct the preparation of the annual report and co-operate with the auditor in revising and modernizing the accounting system.

Anti-Machine Conference Committee Refutes Misleading Statements.

Urges Anti-Eberhart Republicans to Unite and Overthrow Him.

The committee in charge of the anti-machine conference of Republicans to be held in Minneapolis on March 19, has issued a statement in refutation of certain misleading assertions made by the machine papers.

The committee wishes to make matters clear in order that the anti-Eberhart Republicans of the state may act intelligently at the county conferences to be held next Saturday to elect delegates to the state conference. The statement follows:

"The conference was not called in the interests of any one candidate or set of candidates. The movement is bigger than the personality or candidacy of anyone.

"The anti-machine forces, standing together, have it within their power to overthrow the machine.

"The object of the conference is to unite the anti-machine forces upon a candidate for governor. With that object in view the conference will assemble in Minneapolis on March 19, and the committee calls upon all anti-machine Republicans to attend the county conferences of their respective counties and otherwise aid in this movement.

"The conditions which called forth the conference movement were never more apparent than just now. The necessity of uniting the forces opposed to the political machine that dominates the party was never more urgent.

"The man indorsed by the conference will be the man nominated as the Republican candidate for governor.

FORGETS TO GET MARRIAGE LICENSE

Farmer and Friend Get Drunk on Way to Clerk's Office.

Isaak Johnson, 31 years old, a farmer living in Lake county, started yesterday afternoon for the county clerk's office to get a marriage license. He was accompanied by Charles Mattson, a cook at a Finnish boarding house on South First avenue east, who had agreed to act as interpreter. The pair never got to the courthouse but, instead, landed in jail last evening on a charge of drunkenness.

Johnson told the court this morning that if sentence would be suspended, he would go right back to his fiance, whom he brought with him to Duluth, and if she would still have him, he would go right over to the clerk's office and get the marriage license. Mattson also agreed to go with him and act as interpreter. Judge Cutting took their word and suspended sentence in each case.

According to Johnson's story, he came here yesterday morning with his fiance for the purpose of obtaining a license and later getting married. They went to a Finnish boarding house and it was from there that he and Mattson started for the county clerk's office.

While on the way they agreed to take a drink in celebration of the event. They soon forgot all about the license. They were arrested by Patrolman D. Olson and brought to police headquarters where they spent the night.

COUNTERCLAIM AGAINST DOCTOR

Dr. Walker, Suing for Fee, Is Charged With Malpractice.

Although Dr. A. E. Walker is plaintiff in a lawsuit which was brought to trial before Judge Cant and a district court jury this morning, he will be obliged to defend himself against a charge of malpractice which has been counter-claimed by Rudolph Morck, defendant.

Dr. Walker a few weeks ago brought an action in municipal court to collect a $25 bill from Morck for medical services furnished the latter's wife during the month of July, 1913.

Morck, in answering, counter-claimed that, owing to the "careless, negligent and unskillful" treatment of the physician, an infant child which was born to his wife, died a few hours after birth. He is asking for $3,000 damages.

The case was transferred to the district court for trial, owing to the fact that more than $500 is involved and it is out of the jurisdiction of the city court.

A VALUABLE SUGGESTION

IMPORTANT TO EVERYONE

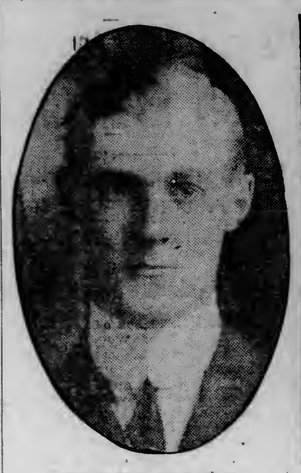

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

During the winter months especially, when we live an indoor life, the kidneys should receive some assistance when needed, as we take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than Nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, annoying bladder troubles, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, sallow complexion, rheumatism, may be weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

Many physicians claim that an herbal medicine containing no minerals or opiates has the most healing influence. An ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcels Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Duluth Daily Herald.

BOYS OF DULUTH WILL ENTERTAIN "DADS" AT DINNER

RICHARD CULLUM, Toastmaster.

IRVING GROVER, One of the Speakers.

The boys' department Y. M. C. A. has had many different kinds of banquets in its club rooms, but the most important one ever held will be Friday evening when fathers and sons will meet around the banquet board.

The committee has planned to make this an annual affair and they expect that every seat will be spoken for.

Every member of the boys' department is asked to invite his father to the affair, and places will be reserved in the order the names come in. The banquet will be served at 6:30. Richard Cullum, chairman of the social committee, will act as toastmaster. Willard Thorp will give the address of welcome to the "Dads." Irving Grover will talk on the kind of a "Dad" a fellow likes. W. S. Moore will talk on the kind of a boy a "Dad" likes to have. Dr. Robert Yost will give the closing talk on "Father and Son." A unique program has also been arranged.

CIGAR MAKERS USE SANITARY METHODS

Wetting of Tips With the Lips Not Practiced in Duluth.

Local cigar makers declare there is no need of any health official issuing an order in Duluth against the practice of wetting the tips of cigars with the lips, as has been the case in the state of Pennsylvania.

There is nothing like that done in Duluth, declared several of the local cigar makers.

In the Keystone state the head of the bureau of public health has discovered that in several cities the cigar makers are in the habit of wetting the ends of cigars with their lips. The head of the health bureau of Pennsylvania has threatened to put the shops out of business where the practice was discovered.

"In some of the sweat shops where the cheaper brands of cigars are made, this filthy practice is resorted to occasionally," said one of the local cigar makers today. "But we don't do this sort of thing in Duluth. We use a preparation for sticking the ends of the cigars. Any employe in a local factory detected in the act of wetting the end of the cigar with his lips would be discharged."

Several other employes of local factories corroborated the testimony in this respect. According to the testimony of the cigar makers, the managers of the local plants are even more severe in their demands for cleanliness than the inspectors of the factories.

BOOKKEEPER WINS ACTION FOR SALARY.

J. L. Benz, who brought suit in district court to recover $500 from the Duluth-Husa Copper company for back salary as bookkeeper, today was awarded a verdict for the full amount sued for and $27.08 interest since April 19, 1913, when he presented his bill for services to the company. Benz was employed by the company between Jan. 1, 1910, and Oct. 1, 1912. The jury returned its verdict at 11 o'clock this morning after being out but a short time.

Big saving will be made by taking advantage of Forward's removal sale of furniture.

ASSAULTS BRIDGE TOLL COLLECTOR

Remembering who drove the automobile in which were four men, one of whom attacked him and took his watch, Joseph Meader, toll collector on the interstate bridge, came to police headquarters this morning and reported that fact to Chief Troyer. Detective Irvine and Sergt. Roberg were detailed to investigate the case and the result was the arrest of George T. Gray, on a charge of assault in the third degree.

According to Meader's story, Gray and a party of three men were coming over the bridge about 4:30 o'clock this morning. He stopped the machine and asked Gray for 10 cents as toll charges. The latter, he claimed, gave him a dollar, but when Meader declared he was unable to give any change, the toll collector said this morning that Gray pulled his coat and grabbed his watch. The machine then drove off, he asserts.

But Meader remembered that Asa Lyons was driving the car and with this fact to work on, Detective Irvine and Sergt. Roberg soon learned who were in the car. Gray was then arrested on a charge of assault in the third degree. He pleaded guilty when arraigned following his arrest and was fined $25 and costs or twenty days in the county jail. He paid his fine.

Meader lives at 221 North Twenty-seventh avenue west.

APPEAL TO PRESIDENT

Friends of Fred Mooney Will Submit Petition for Pardon.

Local Labor Leaders Still Believe Duluth Man Is Innocent.

The case of Fred Mooney of Duluth, convicted structural iron worker, will go to President Wilson. Following announcements from Washington that the supreme court had refused to review the cases, the wife of the convicted Duluth man began consulting local labor leaders for the purpose of having an appeal for pardon forwarded to the president. It was decided to have some local attorney draw up the appeal at once.

W. E. McEwen and practically all of the labor leaders in Duluth, believe Mooney innocent of any part in the McNamara dynamiting cases. The appeal will be based on several facts, namely: that insufficient time was given his case by the court and that the wrong interpretation was given to two letters written by Mooney while he was secretary of Duluth Local No. 32, of the structural iron workers.

"I thoroughly believe Mooney innocent," said Mr. McEwen today. "Otherwise I would not make the slightest effort to have an appeal made. He has always been a hard working man, and while he was secretary of the local union his wife did a large part of his correspondence. Mooney was illiterate and it was an easy matter to misinterpret his letters.

"I believe the facts in the case were never placed before the court that convicted him and only a short time was given to the trying of his case. It would be an outrage to send him to jail without first being sure that he had an adequate trial to prove if he were innocent.

"The conviction was based almost entirely on two letters. The points that were the basis of his conviction are said by Mooney to have been entirely misinterpreted by the court. It is the intention to place all the facts in the appeal that he may have a fair and complete hearing."

POSTOFFICE TOTAL LOSS FROM FIRE

Letters, Cash and Building at Sundby Destroyed By Flames.

The home of Al Kemp, four miles north of Pike Lake, known as the Sundby postoffice, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. The fire was caused from an overheated cook stove.

The flames gathered headway very rapidly and nothing was saved but the stamps in the postoffice. Several letters belonging to farmers in the district are said to have been destroyed as well as money order blanks and some cash.

The fire attracted the attention of farmers for miles around, but they were unable to render any assistance. Outhouses including the barn, chicken coop, woodshed and storage shed for farm implements were saved.

The family found shelter for the night with neighbors. The loss is placed at about $1,200.

WILLISTON MAN IS FINED $500

Convicted of Manslaughter in Running Down Boy With Auto.

Minot, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles Baldwin was found guilty of second degree manslaughter in connection with the death of Edon Amundson, aged 12, and escaped with a $500 fine under the jury's recommendation. Baldwin, while driving an automobile, ran down Amundson, who was riding a bicycle on Williston street. The jury was out eight hours.

Two File Expense Accounts.

St. Paul, Minn., March 10.—Secretary of State Julius A. Schmahl filed his first expense account as a candidate for renomination on the Republican ticket yesterday. The only money he has paid out was the $50 filing fee. Victor L. Johnson, candidate for congress in the new Tenth district, has spent $269 in the past month.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN BROOKLYN BURNS

New York, March 10.—Fire late last night almost caused the destruction of St. Luke's Protestant-Episcopal church, on Clinton avenue, Brooklyn. The church was one of the stateliest edifices in that borough. The loss is estimated at $400,000, and includes a $75,000 organ.

DENIES PENNSYLVANIA JUGGLED ACCOUNTS.

Philadelphia, March 10.—A telegram denying charges that the maintenance accounts of the Pennsylvania Railroad company have been manipulated and that the road has attempted in its statements to mislead the public today was sent to Chairman Clark of the interstate commerce commission by President Rea of the company.

POST OPERATED ON.

Undergoes Major Operation After Dash From the Coast.

Rochester, Minn., March 10.—C. W. Post, the millionaire manufacturer of Battle Creek, Mich., who was rushed to this city aboard a special train from Los Angeles, Cal., for surgical treatment, today submitted to a major operation. Although no official report was issued as to his condition, it was understood that it was considered favorable.

SICK HEADACHE, COSTIVE, BILIOUS, IF LIVER IS TORPID---DIME A BOX

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy stomach.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets—or merely dosing yourself every few days with salts, pills, castor oil and other harsh irritants? Cascarets immediately cleanse and sweeten the stomach, remove the sour undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night straightens you out by morning—a 10-cent box keeps your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and you feel bully for months. Don't forget the children.

SUES OWNER OF BUILDING

Hotel Proprietor Says Business Was Damaged By Cold Rooms.

Alleging that the good will and business of the Frederick hotel has been seriously damaged by the failure of the owner of the premises to properly heat the building and keep it in repair, the Haley Restaurant company, proprietors of the hotel, today started suit in district court against Mathilda Zein for $5,000 damages. Mrs. Zein, widow of the late Jacob D. Zein, is the owner of the premises.

The proprietors allege that the roof of the building became leaky and that the owner would not repair it, and also that although it was agreed in the lease that she should heat the building the pipes were often cold and that the hotel lost a great number of customers as a result.

Drink Habit Destroys Happiness and Business

Because It Wrecks Homes and Renders Men Unfit for Business.

A drinking man's home is usually an unhappy one, for drunkenness destroys home life. Excessive drinkers are not tolerated in business because they are unreliable and are not trusted by business associates. This means business ruin.

If the craving for drink has become stronger than the will power to resist and you are in danger of losing home and business, you should take the Neal Treatment at once. It is a harmless vegetable remedy that will remove the craving and necessity for alcoholic liquors in three days, without the use of painful, dangerous hypodermic injections.

You have tried a drinking life, now try a sober one and have a happy home and a successful business during the coming years. It is up to you. Send and get our new booklet "The Modern Method of Treatment for Alcohol and Drug Addiction." We mail it in a plain sealed wrapper, free on request.

BIG PENNSYLVANIA MORTGAGE APPROVED

Stockholders Authorize Directors to Create Such Instrument.

Philadelphia, March 10.—The Pennsylvania Railroad company stockholders at their annual meeting today authorized the board of directors to create a mortgage under which bonds may be issued in such amount and at such times as may be required properly to finance the company.

This is in line with the announcement by the company last October. The mortgage is to cover "the whole or such portions of its railroad property and franchises as the directors may authorize," and the aggregate amount of the bonds, "at any time outstanding, shall not exceed the par value of the then outstanding capital stock of the company."

President Samuel Rea, who presided, read a statement in which he denied published reports alleging that railroads had manipulated their accounts to show increased costs of operation.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT GOES TO JURY

Saari Bros. Demand $40,000 From Cloquet Timber Concern.

The damage suit brought in district court by Saari Bros., Eveleth, against the Cloquet Tie & Post company, competitors, in which the plaintiffs are seeking punitive damages in the sum of $40,000 for logs and timber booms belonging to them which were swept away and lost by reason of alleged wrongful action on the part of the Cloquet concern, will go to the jury this afternoon after having been on trial since Feb. 23, before Judge Dancer.

John and Jacob Saari, brothers and copartners, as plaintiffs, allege that they and the defendant company were both using the Mudhen river, a tributary of the St. Louis, during the spring of 1912, to float their timber products to Lakanen and from there to Cloquet. It is alleged that on May 26, 1912, when the plaintiffs had a large quantity of timber products at Lakanen in storage and sorting booms, the defendant company sent a big lumber drive down the river and swept their property away.

A large number of witnesses have testified in the case. O. J. Larson is attorney for the plaintiffs and Fryberger, Fulton & Spear are representing the tie and post company.

RICHEY IS NAMED A STATE DELEGATE

J. N. Richey of Duluth has just been appointed by Governor A. O. Eberhart to act as one of the twenty-five men who will represent Minnesota at the fifth annual meeting of the National Negro Educational congress to be held in Oklahoma City, July 7 to 10.

Governor Eberhart has selected the representatives for this meeting from among the most prominent men of the negro race in the state, and the appointment is a recognition of Mr. Richey's excellent standing and influence in this part of the state.

Mr. Richey is one of the oldest residents of Duluth and has been prominently connected with the city's development. He is a member of the Old Settlers' association and other organizations at the Head of the Lakes.

WILL BEGIN THE CRIMINAL CASES

Quintet Held for New Duluth Hold-Up to Face Jury.

Trial of criminal cases for the March term of district court will probably begin Thursday, according to the county attorney's office. At that time, it is expected that the quintet jointly indicted for holding up two New Duluth men on the night of Feb. 20 will be brought to trial.

On the night in question, William Downes and Rudolph Baich were waylaid by five gangsters and relieved of what cash they had on hand. The following day, on their complaint, Mike Oblin, Isaac Neguin, George Yurcovich, Peter Kaich and Dan Koruga were arrested, charged with the crime of highway robbery. The grand jury indicted them jointly on two counts.

Downes and Baich told the police that they met the five men in a Commonwealth avenue saloon. Downes, who was drinking with Baich, invited the strangers to join in a "friendly glass" and tossed a ten spot to the barkeeper, who returned $9.50 in silver. This was shortly before closing time.

The two men claim that as they were nearing the Missabe bridge on Commonwealth avenue on their way home to the "model city" where they were employed, they were attacked by their acquaintances in the saloon. Fearing to return to New Duluth that night after the robbery, they did not tell their story to the police until the next morning.

TEXAS IS DEALING DIRECT WITH MEXICO.

Fort Worth, Tex., March 10.—Governor O. B. Colquitt, addressing the Texas Cattle Raisers' association here today, declared he had formed the policy of opening negotiations directly with the Mexican authorities for the righting of wrongs to Texans.

ELEVATOR BURNS.

Damage Is Estimated at About $400,000.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 10.—The Connecting Terminal A-1, 1,000,000-bushel elevator owned by the Connecting Terminal railroad, was destroyed by fire last night. The loss, covered by insurance, was placed at about $100,000 by Charles Strasmer, general agent of the company.

Water for Farmers.

Williston, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Every opportunity will be afforded farmers owning land under the Williston irrigation project to utilize the advantage of water supply during the coming year, according to W. S. Arthur, acting project manager, under authority from the department at Washington.

TAKE SODA FOR SOURNESS, GAS OR INDIGESTION

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that Indigestion is caused by Hyperacidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach much like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy, misery in the chest, we belch up gas, gas, gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

To get instant relief he tells us to get a package of 10 grain Sodagen tablets at any pharmacy and take one or two tablets any time, followed by a tumbler of water which promptly neutralizes this irritating acid; stops fermentation; absorbs the gases and sweetens the entire digestive system.

A local down-town druggist states that these 10 grain Sodagen tablets are an old favorite antacid constantly prescribed because of their harmlessness, being simply a compound of Soda, Calcium Carbonate and Magnesia U. S. P.

PAVING PLAN IS REVISED

Commissioner Announces New Schedule of Work for Year.

Three Big Contracts Formerly Contemplated Have Been Abandoned.

Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the division of public works, has revised the city's street improvement program for the coming season.

Noticeable by reason of their absence are the paving of Woodland avenue, or any part of it, the paving of Grand avenue from Vernon street to Fifty-fourth avenue west and the paving of West Superior, Jenswold and Oneota streets from Thirtieth avenue west to Forty-sixth avenue west. These three featured the first schedule which was prepared, but because of various difficulties they have been definitely abandoned for the present season.

The work now outlined for this summer includes the paving of West Superior street from Fifteenth to Twenty-fifth avenues; the paving of West Superior street from Twenty-fifth to Thirtieth avenues; the paving of Twenty-ninth avenue west from First alley to First street; the paving of West First street from Nineteenth avenue to Thirtieth avenue; the paving of Vernon street from Grand Forks avenue to the west line of Bryant's addition; the improvement of Vermilion road from Fifth street to Forest Hill cemetery, and the construction of the Duluth Heights sanitary sewer. Commissioner Murchison stated this morning that he has had estimates of these prepared and that unless unforseen obstacles arise this work can be done and the city meet its share with the funds which it will have available.

The First street paving will connect with Vernon street, and these, with the resurfacing of Grand avenue from Fifty-fourth avenue west to Vernon street and the paving of Superior street, will provide a greatly improved thoroughfare between the downtown section and the western suburbs. The improvement of Vermilion road would provide a good outlet for the Woodland district, although it would not be as satisfactory as Woodland avenue.

The contract for the paving of Victoria street from Woodland avenue to Hartley road was let last year and will be completed this year by the National Surety company, which took over the contracts of P. McDonnell, of which this was one.

Woodland avenue could not be paved its full length because of lack of funds and yesterday afternoon a petition protesting against the improvement of the section between Fourth and Victoria streets was filed with the council, practically stopping any work this year.

Oneota street was given up for several reasons, among them being the claim that the city could not collect its assessments because they would be greatly in excess of the benefit to the property, the absence of much needed underground work and the limited money available. West Third street was out of consideration because the petition specified that the assessments should not exceed $175 per 50-foot lot.

Commissioner Murchison hopes that the changes which have been made will not have to be altered and that the amended schedule will go through without encountering difficulties. In changing the program he has adhered as closely as possible to the schedule which was announced some months ago.

It will be your loss if you don't attend Forward & Co.'s removal sale.

NEW HEAD SOUGHT FOR GREAT NORTHERN

Louis Hill Will Not Retain Presidency of the Road.

St. Paul, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. W. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railway, will not continue to hold the title of president of the road, and a new executive, probably from some other road, will be elected to that position in the near future, according to today's dispatches.

Although it was intimated by officials of the road after the recent meeting of the board of directors, at which the resignation of Carl R. Gray from the presidency was accepted, that L. W. Hill had been elected president, and although he himself made the statement that presumably he would became president, it became known today that this arrangement is only temporary.

That no choice of a new president was made at once is taken to indicate that the three vice presidents of the Great Northern who presumably are in line for promotion, have been eliminated as possibilities. No intimation is given of the quarters in which a new executive will be sought, but the statement that the change will be made is given by good authority.

MAY BE NO HALTING OF COAL MINING.

Pittsburg, March 10.—Van Bittner, president of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, and a member of the Philadelphia joint conference of miners and operators which recently failed to agree on a working scale for the bituminous field, held out the hope of representatives of the district in convention here today that there would be no suspension of work April 1.

"I am of the opinion," he said, "that we will have another meeting with the operators from Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania and we are hopeful of getting a contract that will prevent stoppage of work in the mines."

DULUTH PHONE REPORT FILED

Old Company Makes Its First Public Service Statement.

Net Earnings Given as $19,418; Plant Valued at $1,082,803.

The Duluth Telephone company filed its first public service report with City Auditor B. J. Campbell this morning, as required by section 84 of the city charter, except that the time specified is the first Monday of February. No action to collect the penalty of $100 per day is likely.

The total value of the Duluth plant to Jan. 1, 1914, is given as $1,082,803.19, of which $201,986.50 was added during the last year.

The value of the real estate to Jan. 1, 1913, is placed at $48,663; other parts of the plant at $821,712.91, and farm lines at $10,440.78, making a total of $880,816.69. During 1913 the real estate added is placed at $89,680.03; other additions at $100,876.75, and additions under course of construction Dec. 31, 1913, at $11,429.72, bringing the aggregate to $1,082,803.19.

The total gross earnings are given as $208,361.97 and the total expenses as $188,943.84, leaving the net income $19,418.13.

The total gross exchange revenue is stated at $186,299.14. The gross originating tolls are shown as $88,-251.35, of which 25 per cent, or $22,-062.83, is credited to the revenue of the local exchange and added to the gross revenue exchange to ascertain the gross earnings.

Among the expenses is a charge of $42,557.75 for depreciation. Other expenses include: Repairs, $23,737.08; stations remodeled and changed, $15,-053.09; traffic expense, $45,566.43; commercial expense, $30,267.42; advertising, $1,115.77; uncollectable accounts, $1,718.91; general expense, $10,766.20; legal expense, $1,148.74; taxes, $6,429.86; insurance, $1,284.66; rights, privileges and use of property, $9,298.93.

Under debts, obligations and encumbrances the only item listed is outstanding stock, $100,000. The assets and liabilities of the Duluth Telephone company were assumed by the Northwestern telephone Exchange company. The 2,000 shares of stock are owned by persons outside the city and all but a few shares stand in the name of three trustees. No value is placed upon the stock.

GRAVE CHARGE MADE IN DIVORCE ACTION.

Denying the paternity of one of the children born to his wife, David Linna, 27, Virginia, today started suit for divorce in district court aganst Ida Linna, 27, on the grounds of adultery. They were married on Aug. 25, 1906, in the parish of Uurainen, province of Waasa, Finland. Linna alleges that on July 15, 1909, his wife had wrongful intercourse with August Wirtanen while they were living in Finland. Linna charges that Wirtanen is the father of one of the children born to his wife and asks the court for the custody of the other.

VETERANS TO ENTERTAIN

Camp McEwen Will Hold Meeting Wednesday Evening.

John G. McEwen camp, No. 6, United Spanish War Veterans, has planned an entertainment for its members and members of the Ladies' auxiliary, No. 2, for tomorrow evening at the Memorial hall of the courthouse. The celebration will also include the initiation of a class of fifteen new members.

A campaign for new members was recently begun by the camp. It is planned by the members to have a large turnout and to take an active part in the celebration of Memorial day this year.

The program following the business session tomorrow night will include musical numbers, addresses and other features. Refreshments will also be served.

OPPOSE TEACHING OF EUGENICS IN SCHOOL

Catholics of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan Adopt Resolution.

Sheboygan, Wis., March 10.—A resolution protesting against the teaching of eugenics in schools was adopted by the State Federation of Catholic Societies of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan in convention today.

"We are convinced that this will not decrease, but increase the spread of immorality," the resolution states, adding:

"As a remedy against the spreading of immorality, we suggest a sound training of the young people to a good character on a Christian basis. We are fully aware of the evil brought about by the teaching of eugenics, and we appeal to all Catholic societies of the state and all friends of morals that they use all their influence to prohibit the teaching of eugenics and prevent further adoption of similar measures."

NEW ACTION AGAINST McDONNELL BONDSMEN

Another action against the bondsmen of P. McDonnell, bankrupt contractor, was started in district court this morning, when the National Iron company filed suit against the National Surety company, surety for McDonnell, on the Fourth street paving job. The National Iron company alleges that it furnished the contractor $218 worth of material for which it has never been paid.

CLAIM INFRINGEMENT OF PATENT RIGHTS.

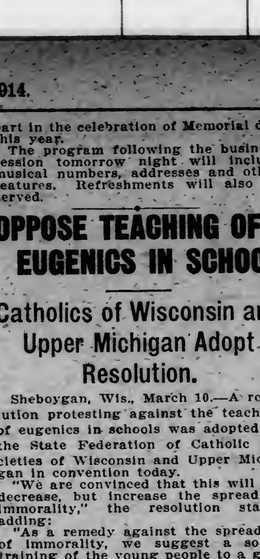

Judge Page Morris is today hearing an application for an injunction against the Great Northern railroad made by Phillip Oberst and Victor Linley of Superior, who ask the court to restrain the railroad from using a car-loading device which the complainants say they have patented and now jointly own. Oberst claims that he secured a patent on the device in 1899 and that in 1903 he sold a half interest to Linley. The railroad contends that it is using a device patented by Martin Feeny. The plaintiffs allege that the device was used by the Great Northern in Superior during 1912.

WANT "TEMPLE OF PEACE" FOR PRESS

Ogdensburg, N. Y., March 10.—The erection of a press memorial hall at Brookville, Thousand Islands, as part of the program for the celebration of a century of peace between the United States and Great Britain, is being urged by the St. Lawrence River Press association. It is suggested that the edifice be known as "The Temple of Peace" and that it be made the "common ground" on which newspaper men from the United States and Canada could meet to discuss professional matters and questions entering into international relations.

PERFECT Health and Strength

—in men, a condition those possessing it are frequently most careless with, yet a priceless boon to those lacking it, can only be found in the vigorously healthy system. With the sufferer from some special, private ailment—or Chronic disease—there is not only the disease itself to cure, but the lack of vitality and nervous force due to defective nutrition that may only be regained through some special agency. Thus the Progressive Medical Doctors, with their latest scientific healing apparatus, which possesses a tremendous rejuvenating potency, have been successful even in cases where the patient had given up in despair. Thus the treatment proved the turning point to health in such cases. Nutrition was at last supplied, the wasted system built up and the former health and strength restored. If you are afflicted, visit us and let us show you ample testimony from cured patients.

CLOUGH DISCUSSES STOCK REGULATION

Says He Does Not Object, But Sees No Need for It.

Washington, March 10.—Col. W. P. Clough of New York, chairman of the directors of the Northern Pacific railroad, told the house committee on interstate commerce that he was not opposed to Federal regulation of railroad securities, but that he could not see any special necessity for it. He also declared that congress should go slowly and carefully in any such regulation.

Col. Clough said regulation of securities was not a new proposition, that it was being tried out in various states. He commended the Wisconsin law for security regulation, but said there was nothing in the present railway situation to justify haste along this line.

President Wilson conferred with Representative Clayton, Carlin and Floyd, the house judiciary subcommittee on trust legislation, discussing the proposed bills dealing with holding companies, interlocking directorates, trade combinations and agreements.

A proposal to consolidate all four bills into one general anti-trust law amendment bill was discussed, but nothing was finally determined.

To Put on Flesh and Increase Weight

A Physicians' Advice

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by Boyce drug store and other good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Widow Receives Income From $100,000 Under Ante-Nuptial Agreement.

Real and personal property valued at $674,500 is estimated to be the fortune left by the late Joseph Sellwood, president of the City National bank and a prominent mining man, who died, aged 67, at his home in this city on Feb. 24 last.

In probate court yesterday afternoon Richard M. Sellwood, son and executor under the will, filed a petition asking that the last testament of his father be admitted to probate.

The exact amount of property left by the late Mr. Sellwood will not be determined until after an inventory of his estate has been taken. As estimated in the petition for the admission of the will, the estate consists of personal property valued at $619,500 and real estate worth $55,000.

The personal property is listed as follows: Household goods, $3,500; stocks, $325,000; wearing apparel, $500; notes, bonds, etc., $150,000; miscellaneous, $140,000. The realty consists of the following: Homestead worth $20,000; city lots with buildings, $20,000; city lots without buildings, $10,000; unimproved acreage, $5,000.

The will was executed by the late Mr. Sellwood at his home, 1802 East Superior street, on Jan. 21, 1914, in the presence of two witnesses, John Monaghan and Bert W. Maxeiner.

Richard M. Sellwood, son; La Rue S. Mershon, daughter, and Ronald J. MacLeod, a personal friend, are named in the will as executors to carry out the provisions of the will. It is requested that proper books of all transactions of the business of the estate be kept by the executors.

Ante-Nuptial Agreement.

Under the terms of an ante-nuptial agreement, Mrs. Martha E. Sellwood, formerly Martha E. Triggs, is given the Sellwood homestead in Endion division for life or until she remarries. Under the same conditions she will receive an income from $100,000 worth of stocks and bonds bearing 6 per cent interest, payable quarterly. Upon her death or remarriage, the property will all go to Richard M. Sellwood, son, and La Rue S. Mershon, daughter.

No provision is made in the will for Ophelia G. Leithhead, daughter. This is explained by a statement to the effect that she has received money from time to time during her father's lifetime and now has property amply sufficient for the support of herself and her family. Leslie M. Leithhead and Jim Leithhead, grandsons, however, will each receive $1,000.

Other grandchildren of the late Mr. Sellwood will also receive $1,000 each when they become of age. Joseph Sellwood, Jr., a nephew, is given his home in Endion division, where he now resides. A diamond ring and a painting of the deceased are left to Richard M. Sellwood, his son, with the understanding that upon the latter's death they shall pass on to his son, Richard M. Sellwood, Jr.

With the exception of a $1,000 bequest to Lucy Sellwood, a niece now living in England, the balance of the estate is to be divided equally between Richard M. Sellwood and La Rue S. Mershon, his children.

The Will.

The provisions of the will are as follows:

"First: I direct that the contract with Martha E. Triggs be carried out fully with my wife, Martha E. Sellwood, formerly Martha E. Triggs.

"Second: I direct that all my debts and funeral expenses be paid as soon after my death as can conveniently be done.

"Third: I give and bequeath to my grandchildren, Richard M. Sellwood, Jr., Joseph G. Sellwood and Francis Sellwood, $1,000 each, to be paid them as they become of age.

"Fourth: I give and bequeath to each of my grandchildren, Leslie M. Leithhead and Jim Leithhead, $1,000 each in stocks or bonds or bills receivable of which I may be possessed at the time of my death, to be selected by my executors.

"Fifth: I give and bequeath to my nephew, Joseph Sellwood, Jr., the home that he now lives in on lot 4, block 56, Endion division of the city of Duluth.

"Sixth: I give and bequeath to my son, Richard M. Sellwood, my diamond ring and oil painting of myself, and at the death of my son, Richard M. Sellwood, they shall be given to his son, Richard M. Sellwood, Jr.

"Seventh: I give and bequeath to my niece, Lucy Sellwood of Camborne, Cornwall, Eng., $1,000, to be paid to her as soon as convenient after my death.

"Eighth: I give and bequeath all the rest and residue of my property, real and personal and mixed, wherever it may be found or situated at the time of my death, one-half to my son, Richard M. Sellwood, and one-half to my daughter, La Rue S. Mershon. I have not herein devised any part of my estate to my daughter, Ophelia S. Leithheal, for the reason that I have heretofore given her money and property from time to time which, in my judgment, is ample for the support of her and her family.

"Ninth: I hereby authorize and empower my executors hereinafter named to sell and dispose of any real estate of which I may be possessed at the time of my death at public or private sale, on such terms and conditions as they may deem proper, and to execute, acknowledge and deliver all proper writings, deeds, conveyances and transfers therefor.

"Tenth: I nominate and appoint my son, Richard M. Sellwood; my daughter, La Rue S. Mershon, and my friend, Ronald J. Macleod, all of Duluth, Minnesota, executors of this, my last will and testament, and I request that neither of them shall be requested to give bonds for the performance of their duties. I further request that proper books shall be kept of all transactions of the business of my estate.

"Eleventh: I hereby revoke all former wills and testamentary dispositions heretofore made by me."

Ante-Nuptial Agreement.

On April 4, 1910, the following ante-nuptial agreement was entered into between the late Mr. Sellwood and Martha E. Triggs, now his widow:

"The said Joseph Sellwood in consideration of the promise of Martha E. Triggs to marry him and on a consummation of said promised marriage and of the agreements herein contained covenants and agrees that he will upon his decease cause to be set aside $100,000 worth of stocks, bonds or mortgages bearing 6 per cent interest per annum; the income from which shall be paid to her quarterly, as near as can be, as long as she lives and remains my widow. I also give her my house and lots 1, 2 and 3, block 56, Endion division of Duluth, with all the furniture and furnishings therein for her sole use and benefit as long as she lives or remains my widow.

"At her death or remarriage all the securities held by my executors for her benefit shall be divided equally between my surviving children and my grand-son, Joseph S. Morrow. And the house and lots with all the furniture and furnishings shall be given to my grand-son, Joseph S. Morrow, and the said Martha E. Triggs in consideration and of the covenant of said Joseph Sellwood herein contained, does covenant and agree to and with said Joseph Sellwood, his executors, administrators and heirs that she will upon the death of said Joseph Sellwood take and receive the interest from the securities, and house and furnishings, hereinbefore named in full of all rights and dower in or to his estate and in full of all rights, interest, claims or allowance in law or equity into or upon his estate, real or personal, which I might or could have or be entitled to but for this agreement, and that on the assurance to me by my executors that the above named securities are set aside for my benefit I will release, quit-claim and discharge to his representatives or heirs all rights of dower and every and all other rights, claims, interest in law and equity, which I might or could have to his estate or property or any part thereof, but for this agreement; to which covenants and agreements we mutually bind ourselves, our executors and assigns."

Big saving will be made by taking advantage of Forward's removal sale of furniture.

CLAIMS DAMAGES FROM RUBBER "TRUST"

Automobile Association Sues for Threefold Sum of $450,000.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 10.—Alleging that six rubber companies, two incorporated under the laws of New York and four under the laws of Ohio, have combined and conspired together to monopolize the rubber trade, and that as a result its business has been damaged to the extent of $150,000, the Automobile Co-operative Association of America, a New York corporation, has filed suit here in the United States court for recovery of threefold damages, or $450,000, as provided for in section 7 of the Sherman anti-trust act.

The defendants named in the petition are the B. F. Goodrich company of Akron, Ohio; the B. F. Goodrich company of New York; the Diamond Rubber company of Akron, Ohio; the Firestone Tire & Rubber company of Akron; the Republic Rubber company of Youngstown, Ohio, and the United States Tire company of New York.

Three officials of each of the Ohio companies are also named as individual defendants.

NEW DIRECTORS FOR PERE MARQUETTE

Detroit, Mich., March 10.—In line with the recently announced plans of the receivers of the Pere Marquette railroad to rehabilitate the corporation, stockholders of the road met here and elected a new board of directors. Eleven of the fifteen men elected reside in Michigan cities reached by the Pere Marquette. The other directors chosen are F. H. Prince and E. V. R. Thayer of Boston, and F. W. Stevens and William H. Porter of New York. No other business was transacted and no new plans for the roads' future were announced.

Probe Would be Costly.

Washington, March 10.—Investigations of the Pere Marquette railroad and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, as proposed by resolutions pending in the house, would cost, according to estimates by the interstate commerce commission, between $60,000 and $75,000.

The resolutions were referred to the commission by the interstate and foreign commerce committee, with a request for an opinion upon them and figures as to their probable cost. The commission expressed willingness to make the inquiries if directed to do so, but indicated no enthusiasm for the task.

Be there on Thursday at 9 a. m.—a real Bankrupt Sale conducted by a responsible store

The "Golden Rule" Store in Superior failed last month. It was a big failure due to buying the best merchandise in quantities much too large for their limited outlet. Roth Brothers of Superior purchased the entire stock and fixtures for $102,000, and the Columbia Clothing Co. took over the Men's and Boys' Clothing and Furnishing Departments. We were given less than a week to remove the goods from the Golden Rule Store on Belknap street, and, not wishing to mix our own new Spring merchandise, we removed this stock to the basement of our Duluth Store. Today we are ready to announce for

Thursday, a Big Bankrupt Sale in the Columbia Basement

Corner Third Avenue West and Superior Street

This high-class merchandise costs us but little more than half the usual manufacturers' prices, and as The "Golden Rule" was in business less than three years, it is indeed a stock seldom put in a "Bankrupt Sale." In fact, if we held on to it and would feed it into our own stores, we could realize a very handsome extra profit in course of a season or two, but "as bought, so sold" is an old Columbia maxim, so we'll give you people a whack at it. That's the whole story. Now it's up to you to buy as quickly as we picked up the whole $20,000 stock. You can have your share at the same big discount. THE COLUMBIA.

RUSH WORK ON STEEL PLANT

Corporation Has Spent $500,000,000 in Construction Since 1901

Many Adverse Conditions to Contend With in Last Five Years.

Less money is being spent by the United States Steel corporation in new construction at present than at any period since its organization thirteen years ago. Though such is the case, it is intimated that work upon the building of its Duluth plant will not be curtailed in any way, but it will be pressed through to completion at as early a date as possible.

The Steel corporation has been expending between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 a year on new work and in improving its plants up to a year or two ago. In 1913, however, its expenditures on that account were less than $15,000,000, and they were also far below the average last year.

It is thought by trade experts that the large amount of money, amounting to approximately $500,000,000, expended by the corporation in new construction since 1901 has been of less benefit to its shareholders than to consumers and wage-earners. It has enabled it to decrease the cost of its output, though employes are drawing larger wages. Within the last two or three years prices of steel products are figured out as having averaged $5 and $6 a ton below what they were up to 1907. Returns show that the corporation made less money last year on an estimated output of 12,500,000 tons than it did when it was producing about 9,000,000 tons annually.

Adverse Conditions.

It is considered that the United States Steel company has had more adverse conditions to contend with during the last five years than any other concern in the country.

Among the unfavorable developments, the following are enumerated by the Wall Street Journal.

Suit of the government to dissolve the corporation.

Increase in taxes since organization from around $2,000,000 to close to $11,000,000.

Cancelation of the Hill ore lease, which weakened the corporation's standing in the matter of raw supplies.

Increased wages, which have added between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000 to the annual expenses of the corporation.

Tap line ruling, which may deprive the Steel corporation of $7,000,000 of revenue annually.

Forced reduction of freight rates on ore carried by Steel corporation roads.

New trust legislation, which may force radical changes in United States Steel corporation's policy, even if the government suit is decided in its favor.

Expenses of the corporation have increased close to $7,000,000 annually through pensions, profit-sharing, sanitary and welfare work, etc.

Delay in decision of interstate commerce commission in the matter of increased freight rates, which has forced down prices and made it more difficult for the steel companies in this country to advance quotations.

THIS NEW MEDICINE SAVES YOU MONEY

We are druggists right here in your town and make a living out of the drug business, but it is because people have to have drugs and not because we like to see people suffer—we don't. Our duty is to render the best service we can, and when someone is ailing, we are interested in seeing them take the best medicine there is for their particular trouble. We don't recommend "cure-alls," as we don't believe there are such things. We don't want you to spend more than you have to. Some of you get small wages, and when you're sick, none at all, and you should get the most you can for your money.

We recently came across a new remedy for increasing strength and building up people who are run-down and emaciated. We know that a slight trouble sometimes grows into a serious one, and, to stop it in the beginning, will save you money in the end. This new compound is called Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion. It is the best remedy, when you are run-down, tired out, nervous—no matter what the cause. It doesn't merely stimulate you and make you feel good for a few hours, but takes hold of the weakness and builds you up to a healthy, normal condition. It is a real nerve-food tonic and builder of good blood, strong muscle, good digestion. It contains Hypophosphites, which tone the nerves, and pure Olive Oil, which nourishes the nerves, the blood and the entire system. Pleasant to take. Contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs. We promise that if you are not perfectly satisfied with it, we'll give back your money as soon as you tell us. Sold only at the 7,000 Rexall stores, and in this town only by us. $1.00. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

STEEL BUSINESS IS RUNNING HEAVIER

Both Production and Shipments Are on the Increase.

Iron and steel plants of the country are estimated to be operating this week on a basis of between 70 and 75 per cent of maximum capacity. Production and shipments are reported to be running much heavier than a month ago, and it is figured that the plants have specifications on their books equivalent to a month's run.

The trend is now said to be towards heavier production, with the mills in receipts of better inquiry for all classes of products. While the pig iron markets have been quiet everywhere, prices have not softened at any point. Furnaces in operation are advised to be fairly well sold up.

Pending decision of the interstate commission in their application for an increase in freight rates, the Eastern railroads are holding off in their purchases of rails and equipment, but some orders are being placed to cover immediate requirements. It is intimated that some of the Western lines, including the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern, have inquiries out for substantial tonnages of steel rails.

Charles M. Schwab, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, is beginning to take a more cheerful view of the trade outlook. In the course of a recent interview he said: "From letters and telegrams I have received in the last few days, I believe conditions are improving, and I hope they will continue to do so. I have been a little pessimistic but I trust that I have been wrong in that."

NEW HAVEN TO DROP PEACE OVERTURES?

Washington, March 10.—Despite persistent reports that the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad officials had determined to abandon negotiations for a peaceful dissolution of their system, it is believed here that Chairman Elliott and counsel for the road will come to Washington within a few days to take up the threads of the untangling where they were dropped a week ago. If the New Haven board of directors has decided that it prefers to fight an anti-trust suit rather than negotiate with Attorney General McReynolds, the department has not been taken into the railroad's confidence.

PROSECUTION OF OLSSON DROPPED

Tacoma, Wash., March 10.—The case against Leonard Olsson, a member of the Socialist labor party and of the Detroit wing of the Industrial Workers of the World, whose citizenship was revoked by Former District Judge Cornelius H. Hanford because Olsson, replying to a question in court, said that he was not "devotedly attached" to the Constitution of the United States, was discontinued by District Judge Cushman on motion of United States District Attorney Allen.

To Become College President.

Aberdeen, S. D., March 10.—George W. Nash, president of the Northern Normal and Industrial school of South Dakota, located here, has tendered his resignation to take effect at the conclusion of the present school year. Dr. Nash has accepted the presidency of the state normal school at Bellingham, Wash.

AT ONCE! CLOGGED NO STRILS OPEN, HEAD COLDS AND CATARRH VANISH

Breathe Freely! Clears Stuffed-up, Inflamed Nose and Head and Stops Catarrhal Discharge. Cures Dull Headache.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

NEW DISCOVERY QUICKLY ENDS KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES

Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses Are Taken

If you are bothered with backache—or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon, no matter what else may have failed to cure you.

It is a positive fact that the new discovery, Croxone, promptly overcomes such diseases. It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for ridding the system of uric acid, removing the cause and curing the troubles.

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood. It neutralies and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder; and puts the kidneys and urinary organs in a clean, strong healthy condition.

More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate long standing cases, while it cures the most annoying forms of kidney, bladder trouble, and rheumatism in a surprising short time.

You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. An original package costs but a trifle at any first class drug store. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.

NORTH DAKOTAN ON PERUVIAN OUTBREAK

Grand Forks, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The recent revolution in Peru was the "most bloodless and most effective revolution on record in South America," according to Reuben O. Stee, a former North Dakota university student, now engaged in engineering in that country. Mr. Stee says there is general satisfaction at the changed conditions in Peru, and he believes the country will show material commercial progress when the policies of the new government become effective.

LANDS ARE EASILY SOLD

D. & I. R. Road Expects to Exceed Its 20,000-Acre Record.

Inquiry in Northern Minnesota at High Tide, Says Official.

From present indications, the Duluth & Iron Range railroad's land department will pass during the present season, its last year's record of 20,000 acres of farming lands sold to settlers. Many settlers are reported to be coming in to locate on tracts disposed of last fall, and numbers of land-seekers are already arriving.

"Inquiry for Northern Minnesota acreage is better now than I have ever seen it," said D. M. Cole, sales manager of the railroad's land department this morning. "We have been doing business steadily since the first of the year, and a gratifying feature now is that it seems to be comparatively easy to dispose of land in this end of the state. During the last two months we have had farmers here from Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, and as far East as Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Generally speaking they have bought without raising any question as to the values, as they seemed to be satisfied on that score.

"There has been a noticeably increased interest in dairying of late, and that is being undoubtedly already helped along through the recent decision of the interstate commerce commission forcing the lake lines to afford refrigerator service on their boats for the carriage of butter and eggs from Duluth down to Buffalo. Dairying is being taken up more extensively in St. Louis county, and it looks as if some fresh creameries will be established this season. The next point to have a creamery is likely to be Meadowlands, where the requisite support has now been practically guaranteed.

"To promote the industry we have arranged to bring in additional stock this spring from Southern Wisconsin and Southern Minnesota, which will be sold to St. Louis county settlers on such easy terms of payment that they should be able to make the increased product of their dairies meet the outlay."

It was intimated by Mr. Cole that the company has decided to open up additional lands for settlement this season at Meadowlands, Kelsey, Wallace, Floodwood and in Aitkin county. New roads are being built into all of these districts, enabling easy outlets for the transport of products to markets.

the beginning of the woman suffrage militant movement.

Dropped Scroll on King.

She was arrested at Bristol on July 4 last year for dropping a scroll of paper on the knees of King George as he was driving through the city. After she had served three months imprisonment she was arrested again in November for burning a house at Hampton, but immediately started a hunger strike and was released a few weeks later in a serious condition of health.

The National gallery was closed by the authorities after the outrage today. Many of the public art collections, such as those at Hampton court palace, and especially galleries where valuable porcelain is on exhibition, were closed a year ago on account of militant outrages, and have not been opened since.

Strong detachments of militant suffragettes today picketed every London railway terminus at which Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst might arrive when she reached here from Scotland. Squads of suffragettes were also stationed outside the entrances to Holloway Jail.

Try to Rescue Leader.

Glasgow, Scotland, March 10.—Bands of determined militant suffragettes waited at all the railway stations in Glasgow today in readiness to fight for the rescue of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst. The militant leader, however, who was arrested last night, while speaking in St. Andrews' hall, was removed from the station house to a suburban railway station early in the morning in order to avoid the attentions of her supporters.

Mrs. Pankhurst was carried from the cell to a waiting automobile on a stretcher, and the motorcar then dashed off at high speed to a station on the main line of the railway, where she was carried on board the express train for London.

It is assumed that the militant leader will be placed in Holloway jail.

Flowers Hid Barbed Wire.

Many of the policemen who assisted in Mrs. Pankhurst's arrest last night suffered severe scratches from the barbed wire which had been stretched across the platform from which she was speaking.

The wire was concealed by floral decorations, and proved efficacious with the aid of masculine supporters of the suffragettes, using flower pots, chairs and anything they could lay their hands on as missiles in holding back the men for a few minutes.

Finally, when the police stormed the platform, a number of women produced clubs from under their cloaks and used them vigorously against the attacking party. In the midst of the fighting, several blank cartridge pistols were fired and miniature bombs exploded. Frightened by the detonations, many women fainted.

The police succeeded in seizing Mrs. Pankhurst and dragging her off the platform and through the hall to the street. Here a desperate effort was made to rescue her as the police forced her into a taxicab and drove away to the police station.

SAYS GUARDS WERE TOLD TO INCITE MINE STRIKERS TO RIOTS

business as that?" asked Congressman Switzer.

"Well, yes," replied the witness.

"Were these men known as gunmen?"

"Yes. They were strike-breakers and gunmen."

On Other Similar Jobs.

On cross-examination, Batters admitted that he had worked for various organizations in the same capacity for the last seven years.

The defense of the Michigan National Guard was concluded. Capt. R. O. Ragsdale, United States army instructor, observed the conduct of the men. He said that at first the men seemed to look on the situation as a joke and the discipline was not of the best, but later the men settled down and he considered their conduct excellent.

Maj. H. B. Britton testified that the strikers grew more and more violent. John Mitchell, the labor leader, will be given a hearing by the committee in Washington some time next week.

Members of the house sub-committee who have been investigating the copper miners' strike in Michigan and the coal miners' strike in Colorado, expect to return to Washington tonight. It may be several weeks before their reports can be completed and presented to the lower house.

The congressmen investigating the Michigan strike expected to conclude their inquiry today by hearing testimony from Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, regarding his deportation from Hancock, Mich., last December. Members of the Michigan militia who did strike duty in Michigan last summer appeared before the committee yesterday and answered charges of drunkenness and brutality, made by the strikers.

The committeemen who investigated the Colorado strike arrived in Chicago yesterday and probably will return to Washington on the same train with members of the Michigan committee.

Guardsmen Denied Charges.

The officers and men of the Michigan National guard who were on duty in the Copper country during the early days of the mine workers' strike and who appeared before the congressional investigating committee yesterday, denied all charges of violence and other unlawful acts preferred against them by the strikers.

Brig. Gen. Perley L. Abbey, former chief of staff, testified that it was the governor's wish that the situation should be handled with great forbearance toward the strikers, and that he had tried to carry out this policy.

"During the first few days," said Gen. Abbey, "the trouble seemed largely due to disgruntled men outside the guard lines throwing stones. After that the trouble was the interference with men going to work."

Gen. Abbey denied that he had issued any order that morning parades of strikers should be stopped.

Denied Trampling Flag.

Several witnesses took the stand to refute charges that the militiamen had trampled the American flag underfoot in stopping the strikers' parade at Red Jacket early on the morning of Sept. 13.

Capt. Frank Blackman of Company L, of Jackson, who issued the orders that the strikers were to be stopped if they attempted to march upon private property, said that he was a block away when he noticed that the parade had halted. He rushed up, he said, and found that a lieutenant of cavalry was trying to get the paraders to move on, but they insisted on going down a side street, and upon private property.

Nick Stevanic, one of the flag-bearers, came up from the rear and struck him in the breast with the flagstaff extended horizontally, the captain declared, whereupon the latter struck the striker in the eye. Two or three other flag-bearers, he said, were using their flagstaffs to prod mounted militiamen and their horses. In this manner the flags were torn. He declared that one of the paraders threw his flag into the dirt and left it.

Tried to Spear Him.

Lieut. Clarence L. Miller of the signal corps testified that he and eight mounted soldiers were accompanying the parade and that Sergeant Stauchman had stopped it under orders when the leader attempted to march down a side street. He said the leading flag-bearer attempted to spear him with the flagstaff and a lively mixup occurred. The next thing he knew the flag was on the ground, badly torn. He saw no soldiers strike the flag at any time.

"Wasn't it the purpose of the soldiers to accompany the parades to incite the men to some act of violence?" asked O. N. Hilton of counsel for the strikers.

"It was not," replied the witness. "It was to prevent clashes between paraders and non-union men on the way to work."

Gen. Abbey said he was away when the flag incident occurred, but that he had instituted an investigation upon his return. The board of inquiry had reported that the militiamen were justified in their actions, and that they had not been guilty of desecrating the flag. The report was admitted into the record over the objections of Hilton.

Blackman Defends Himself.

Capt. Blackman denied the charge of William H. Palmatier that he had ordered men under him to strap up a woman sympathizer who was in a crowd which was interfering with non-union men he was escorting home from work at Centennial in September.

He said that one soldier was struck with a rock thrown by sone one in the crowd, and that the woman in question had tried to take the soldier's rifle away from him. "The soldier became excited and wanted to strap up the woman, but we would not permit him to do so." Capt. Blackman also denied that he had ever seen soldiers strike women with sabers or press bayonets against strikers or women sympathizers.

John H. Dunnewind, city editor of the Detroit Free Press, testified that he was a reporer for his paper in the copper district during the early days of the strike. He said he had never seen any rowdyism or drunkenness in any camp, and had seen only three or four militiamen intoxicated, and that this was when they were off duty. He said he had never seen any cases of brutality committed by soldiers, but had witnessed an assault upon a soldier by a striker. He said women frequently paraded with the strikers.

Shot Into the Air.

Lieut. John A. Course of Company C testified he took a squad of soldiers to Wolverine on July 31 to assist deputy sheriffs to arrest Louis Fodar, a striker. A crowd collected around the house, and the militiamen had fired a few shots into the air to frighten the crowd away. Mrs. Fodar had testified that the soldiers had fired shots into the kitchen. The witness also denied that he had seen any woman dragged out of the house by the hair, as Mrs. Fodar charged she had been treated by Under-Sheriff Hellgila.

Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, was present throughout the hearing. Two plain clothes men from the city police department also were there, ostensibly to afford protection to the labor leader. Two special officers from the copper district said they were there to protect attorneys for the mining companies.

WILL TELL ABOUT EFFICIENCY PLANS

Members of State Commission Will Speak at Commercial Club.

At the monthly meeting of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, to be held tonight, the members will hear directly what is being done by the efficiency commission appointed some time ago by the governor and of which Charles P. Craig of Duluth is chairman.

Not only will Mr. Craig, who is also a member of the public affairs committee, give an address, but Prof. E. Dana Durand, statistician of the commission, and T. T. Hudson, another Duluth member, will also be heard. Prof. Durand occupies the chair of the newly established department of statistics at the state university and his services have been offered and accepted by the efficiency commission.

The outline of the commission's work, what it has accomplished to date and what it hopes to do will be dealt with by the speakers. John Stone Pardee of Duluth, secretary of the commission, will be present and may give an address also.

The public affairs committee will meet at 6:15 for dinner, after which the regular monthly business meeting will be held and that will be followed by the talks on the commission's work.

The meeting, like all others of the committee, is open to anyone interested, and free except for the dinner.

to explain how fraudulent or fictitious or manipulated quotations are to be detected unless some machinery is to be supplied for the purpose of safeguarding the mails against being used for their dissemination."

No Effort to Prohibit.

Mr. Untermyer stated that prevention and punishment of manipulations were the chief aims of the bill, and that it did not seek to prohibit speculation.

Mr. Untermyer's motives in pressing the senate banking committee for favorable action on the stock exchange regulation bill was questioned today by Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, of Nebraska, at the hearing. Untermyer, Senator Hitchcock said, had refused to answer questions about his connection with the sale of Kanawha and Michigan railroad stock, either for himself or for some other person.

"Cloud the Issue."

Mr. Untermyer said he believed the matter was brought up to obscure the issues involved in the pending bill, but declared the charges that he or his clients had been involved in an improper transaction in the stock named had been inspired by the publicity department of the New York stock exchange.

Mr. Hitchcock announced that he would have "some very pertinent questions to ask" when the committee resumed later in the day.

was burning, are attributed to escaping gas by H. C. Henley, chief of the fire prevention bureau. Mr. Henley said that on examining the ruins he found the gas meters, fed by two six-inch mains, had been melted by the intense heat. To escaping gas he also attributed the rapid spread of the flames.

Denies Any Dereliction.

Norton Newcomb, president of the Missouri Athletic club, said:

"We always have complied with the orders of the building and fire departments. If there has been dereliction of duty, I feel it is the fault of the inspectors."

Before Mr. Newcomb's statement Fire Chief Swingley said today that six or seven months ago he warned the management of the Missouri Athletic club that the club building was not safe for sleeping quarters.

"I found conditions particularly bad on the three upper floors," said the chief. "The building was not constructed for hotel purposes, but for a business house. The walls of the rooms were built of tongue and grooved lumber, which attracts, instead of resisting, flames. The building had no sprinkler system. That was taken out when the building was converted into a clubhouse."

James A. Smith, former building commissioner, said today that he refused to approve the southwest fire escape because it ran directly across the windows. "I held," he said, "that in case of fire, flames bursting from the windows would cut off escape. That is exactly what happened."

Had Ordered Stairways.

Former Building Commissioner Smith said, after personally inspecting the clubhouse, he had ordered the board of governors to put in two fire stairways.

"The governors objected," said Smith, "saying that to do so would ruin their lobby. So I cited them into court. The club had good friends at court and the judge was inclined to compromise. After interminable wrangling I succeeded in getting the club to put in a proper fire stair, enclosed in concrete, with correct fire doors on each floor.

"I found the egress into one of the fire escapes opened into bedrooms. I ordered the doors of these rooms taken off, so that the escape, such as it was, might easily be reached in case of fire.

"I fought this case for three years. I was harassed at every step with changes of venues, continuances, compromises."

Ed Bornmueller, secretary of the club, said the members often had discussed the danger of fire.

"Still, we could not jump into the street," he said. "We had to stay somewhere, and we expected no such tragedy. The building was provided with enough fire escapes, we thought, as well as hose reels, fire buckets and extinguishers on every floor."

The body in the morgue, identified yesterday as that of Allen R. Hancock, was identified today as that of L. F. Ruff, department manager for the Simmons Hardware company of St. Louis. This identification was made by Ruff's brothers-in-law and by a friend from Chicago.

A box containing diamonds, pearls, a watch, a will and leases, the property of George H. Allen, who escaped from the fire, was recovered in Allen's room on the sixth floor today.

Drake-Towner Electric Line.

Drake, N. D., March 10.—An electric line may be constructed between here and Towner in an effort to get more direct and speedier connections with the county seat. At present it requires two days for residents of the lower half of the county to go to the county seat, and they have to go via the Soo to Minot, then by the Great Northern to Towner.

HAVE GOOD HEALTH

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the Old Reliable Spring Tonic.

Don't let the idea that you may feel better in a day or two prevent you from getting a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla today from any drug store and starting at once on the road to health and strength.

When your blood is impure and impoverished it lacks vitality, your digestion is poor, and all the functions of your body are impaired.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest known blood tonic. It will build you up quicker than any other medicine. It gives strength to do and power to endure. It is the old standard tried and true all-the-year-round blood purifier and enricher, tonic and appetizer. Nothing else acts like it, for nothing else has the same formula or ingredients. Be sure to ask for Hood's, get it today, and begin taking it at once.

Tuxedo—the Most Enjoyable and the Most Healthful Smoke

THE most enjoyable smoke is a pipe. But many men deny themselves this pleasure because they have had unhappy experiences with pipe tobaccos.

Likely you have paid 35 cents to 50 cents for a tin of "fancy mixture," and it burned your mouth or throat, or was unpleasantly strong.

Too bad—but you got the wrong tobacco. The hundreds of thousands of men who have tried

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

have found the answer to their smoke problems. Tuxedo is the mildest tobacco made. It cannot bite the tongue or dry the throat.

And it's economical. There are 40 pipefuls in a ten-cent tin. You can't get any better tobacco because nothing better grows than the mellow, perfectly aged Burley leaf used in Tuxedo.

If you try Tuxedo for a month and cut out other smokes, you will not only have had the best month of smoking you have ever had in your life, but you will have made a mighty big saving in your pocket-money!

ing the body over, but went there to view it when notified."

Bliss Reports to Garrison.

Secretary Garrison received today from Brig. Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, commanding the American border forces, the following report on the Vergara case, by Capt. H. P. Howard of the Fourteenth United States Cavalry:

"Investigation shows Vergara was taken from the Hidalgo cemetery Saturday night by relatives of Vergara and hired Mexicans. Capt. Sanders states positively no Texas rangers crossed the border. He met the body at a landing opposite San Enriqué with Undertaker Convery, Sunday morning. Convery brought the body to Laredo, 7:30 p. m. Sunday. He states there were no signs of burns on the body. Found four bullet holes. Neck chafed but not broken. Body decomposed but pants match coat left at home by Vergara. Identification seems reliable. Recovery of body said to have cost S. T. Hill, brother-in-law of Vergara, $40. Body being held at request of Adjt. Gen. Hutchings. No excitement."

Two Investigations Being Made.

Austin, Tex., March 10.—No further information on the identification of the party of Texans who recovered Clemente Vergara's body from its Mexican grave was expected today, pending conclusion of the official investigations now in progress by both Federal and state authorities. Governor O. B. Colquitt is out of the city on a two-day trip to Fort Worth.

Henry Hutchings, state adjutant general, has begun at Laredo an investigation ordered by Governor Colquitt, who did not make public what specific instructions, if any, he gave Hutchings. It is known that the stories of torture, based on the reported charred condition of one of Vergara's hands, will receive attention in this investigation.

There still was no intimation, so far as known here, from Capt. J. J. Sanders of the Texas Rangers as to the identity of the person or persons who he has claimed informed him he would find the body on the American shore of the Rio Grande river at 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Sanders' official reports also are blank as to the identity of those who made the night trip into Mexico.

Reported Hand Burned.

The burning of Vergara's hand, which apparently is discredited in Gen. Bliss' report to Washington today, was reported as a fact by Capt. Sanders of the Texas rangers, whose official statement read:

"One hand was burned to a crisp."

Statement at Mexico City.

Mexico City, March 10.—The foreign office insists that the body of Clemente Vergara was delivered to Americans on the international bridge spanning the Rio Grande between Laredo, Tex., and Nuevo Laredo, Mexico.

The government stated that if any persons were guilty of illegally putting Vergara to death, it will endeavor to mete out punishment for the crime.

The British foreign office, replying to the recent protest of British subjects here against the killing in Juarez of William Benton, reminds them that they had been warned to leave the zone in which there was danger. The British legation here, in transmitting the reply, said:

"British subjects in Mexico have already been notified of the danger of remaining in such districts as are in a state of disturbance, and in which their protection would be a matter of difficulty; but his majesty's government will continue, as hitherto, to take such steps as are open to secure the protection of British lives and property in Mexico, as well as redress for injuries which the government deeply deplores."

EXCURSION FROM CANADIAN TWINS

Port Arthur and Fort William Men Will Visit Duluth.

It is planned by the boards of trade of Port Arthur and Fort William to run a big excursion to Duluth early this summer on the occasion of the going into service of the Naronic, the new passenger steamer of the Northern Navigation company. The proposal is being taken up enthusiastically by business men of the Canadian lake cities, and it is intimated that a number of new features of entertainment will be introduced.

As announced by F. W. Fraser, president of the Fort William board of trade, the object of the excursion will be to bring about more neighborly relations between the cities at the American and Canadian heads of the lake. "As you know," he said in the course of an interview yesterday, "we are to have many things in common shortly, including baseball, a new international highway, and a railway linking up the two ports. There are besides several other things to be developed."

Lawyers May Indorse Spalding.

Jamestown, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota State Bar association, at its annual meeting here shortly, will be asked to indorse Chief Justice Spalding for re-election.

Several county bar associations in the state have already indorsed him. Justice Spalding is without opposition.

Beware of ointments offered as "just as good as Resinol"

If you have any skin trouble, you want Resinol. You want it because you have known about it for years, because your friends and neighbors have used it successfully, and because you know that physicians have prescribed it for nineteen years in the treatment of eczema, rashes, ringworm, pimples and other distressing eruptions.

You do not want a "substitute" or something that a dealer tells you is "just as good as Resinol." You do not want it because you know nothing of its value. It has nobody's endorsement and for all you can tell it never did anyone any good at all. If a dealer tries to force a "substitute" on you, it is for a very good reason of his own—read about it in the next column.

Most druggists sell Resinol gladly. Small jar 50c, large jar $1; Resinol Soap 25c per cake. For trial size free, write to Dept. 43-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

This is why they do it

When a clerk tries to make you take a "substitute" for Resinol, or any other standard article, don't blame him, blame his employer. The clerk probably would rather sell you the genuine Resinol, because he knows even better than you that doctors prescribe it and that it does heal skin troubles. Also, it is easier to give you what you want than to argue you into buying something you DON'T want.

But because some cheaply-made imitation pays a few cents more profit, an unscrupulous dealer here and there gives his clerks a commission if they can force you to buy it instead of real Resinol. He overlooks the fact that the imitation may do you more harm than good; or perhaps he just doesn't care, as long as he gets your money. How do you feel about it? Almost every town has its "substituter," look out for him.

Breathe Through The Nose

Nose breathing is essential to good health. Drawing the air through the nose warms it, strains out the dust and presents it to the lungs in a fit state, guarding the lungs against chilling and the bad effects of dirt. The lungs need plenty of fresh air every day, to properly oxidize the blood. Plenty of oxygen in the blood burns out the dross and renders it ready for excretion. Then with the proper laxative health can be easily maintained.

Tonic-Laxative

Next to fresh air is the importance of regular bowels. In all cases of sluggish bowels a tonic laxative should be used. To combine tonic qualities with a laxative is the latest achievement in medical science. Laxatives naturally depress. The tonic element removes that objection. Peruna should be in every household because it fulfills every quality to make it an effective tonic laxative. Many people who have used Peruna are able to say truthfully, "I am now enjoying perfect health."

SWEDISH FOLK TO CELEBRATE

National League Begins to Plan for Summer Event.

The annual meeting of the Swedish American National league, an organization composed of a committee of five men from each of nine Swedish societies of the city for the purpose of celebrating Midsummer's day, was held last night at the Bricklayers' hall, Nineteenth avenue west and First street. Reports from officers in charge of last year's celebration were given and new officers were elected.

O. W. Olson, who last year served as treasurer of the league was elected president. The other officers chosen are: Jacob Gronlund, vice president; J. C. Larson, secretary and Charles Boostrom, treasurer.

The organizations represented at the gathering are: Sons of Sweden lodge No. 170, Order of Vasa, the Svea Glee club, Orpheus Singing society, Zenith City band, Lodge No. 255, order of Vasa, Fridhem lodge No. 45, Svithoid order; North Star lodge No. 11, I. O. G. T.; S. H. & E. P., and lodge No. 243, Vasa order.

It is the plan of the society this year to have one of the biggest celebrations ever held by the Swedish people of the city. Wednesday, June 24, will be the day celebrated. An all-day program is to be arranged, which will have for some of its features, a parade from the vicinity of the county courthouse to Second avenue east returning on Superior street west to Twenty-fifth avenue and thence to Lincoln park.

At the park a program of speeches, music, dancing and picnic program will be arranged. The speakers' committee will try to secure some of the most prominent Swedish speaking citizens in the country for the program.

Another meeting of the league will be held in about two weeks at which time the committees to handle the various details of the affair will be appointed. It may be probable that one or two other Swedish societies will seek admission to the league at that meeting.

The league has a balance on hand amounting to $181.03, according to the report given last night. The celebration last year cost the league $902.74. This year it is proposed to raise over $1,000 and numerous features of entertainment not given by the society before will be secured this year.

LEG CRUSHED BY SWITCH ENGINE

Tony Klaryk Struck While Crossing N. P. Railway Tracks.

Tony Klaryk, 25 years old, 1609 West Michigan street, was struck by a Northern Pacific switch engine while crossing the railroad yards at Fifteenth avenue west last night. His right leg above the ankle was badly crushed making it necessary to amputate it just below the knee. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital, where he was attended by Dr. C. L. Haney.

According to statements made by members of the switching crew, Klaryk was crossing the tracks carrying a large bundle of drift wood. He did not see his danger until the switch engine was almost upon him. He stumbled on the track, his right leg remaining on the rail.

PROGRAM FOR GARDEN CONTEST

Pupils and Commercial Club Committee Hold Conference.

Fifteen boys representing the Bryant, Lincoln, Ensign, Adams and Munroe schools met yesterday afternoon with the West End Commercial club's general committee and agreed on the program of procedure for carrying out the garden contest during the coming summer. The boys, three of whom are from each of the schools, will list the names of the contestants from their schools as well as take record of what each boy or girl intends raising in his or her garden.

It is expected to have within the next two weeks the name of every one of the contestants. These names will be classified according to school district and also according to what produce they intend to raise.

After all who wish to enter the contest have been listed, short courses will be given to the boys and girls in general gardening. These courses will include lectures on how to prepare the soil, plant the seed, care for the plants when they begin to sprout and numerous other subjects. The committee is making arrangements to get experts on these subjects to give talks to the children.

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

By Donald McCaskey, M. D.

Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine

YES; THERE IS HELP FOR YOUR NEURASTHENIA

A great many inquiries reach me from nervous sufferers. Many of these have with great detail carefully explained their disordered condition. I shall pick one especially definite letter. It is from a lady. She asks:

"Is there no help for the American disease, neurasthenia? For twelve years I have suffered from shattered nerves. Now, at the age of 50, I am almost an invalid. My symptoms in detail are: First, a trembling and unsteadiness of the lower limbs. This, however, is entirely imperceptible except to myself. Second, there is a weakness so great at times that even the slightest excitement causes me to feel exhausted. Third, there is a palpitation of the heart. This occurs after any emotional disturbance or slight exertion. Fourth, there is a loss of appetite. I have no inclination for any nourishment, but what little I do eat causes no disturbance. Fifth, is the worry symptom. This with me is one of the most marked symptoms. I have a morbid desire to be alone. Sixth, I am very irritable. My nerves are in such a state that I give rise to explosive fits of temper and frequently have to cry until I am utterly exhausted. Seventh, I have no headaches; my liver is active and my bowels regular and I am fairly well in every other way except my nerves. I have no desire to attend to my household duties, although I always was fond of my home circle and all its attendant responsibilities."

This lady is so exceedingly sensitive that she has asked me when signing her name to "please give only my initials"; but she needn't bother, I'll not even quote them, but will send her a carbon copy of this letter. She can recognize her own letter.

First of all, you must get a change. This is absolutely vital. No excuses will do for a moment. Make yourself a sleeping bag. Use canvas and line it with a blanket or two. Then sleep out of doors. If you have no facilities, make them. Build a balcony out of your window. Sleep there. You must get a change. It will be the best nerve food for you in this wide world, and will be far and away a better thing than a trip to Europe or Japan. (The lady lives in California.) Such trips afford a great change, but there is an attendant excitement and restlessness that is too wearing at your advanced stage of life. At least for the present.

Put the night air—the stimulating, invigorating, out-of-doors medicine into your system. You will not sleep out of doors more than a few nights before the bigness of the heavens and the wonder of the stars, the beauty of the sunrise and the songs of the birds awakening at dawn will begin to get into your thoughts. This is the sort of change you need. It is the sort of change the wealthy business man takes when he goes on a camping trip or a hunting trip into the mountains for a few weeks away from the monotony and the strain of his office-desk business. Only he pays big money for his vacational change. You can improvise yours right at home. Do it. Don't tell me of all the reasons why you can't or oughtn't or shouldn't or mustn't. Forget them from this very minute. Start for the carpenter right away. Likewise get the sleeping bag made.

In so far as your nervousness is purely functional and not organic, you will entirely recover, but you must not force yourself to eat such stimulating foods as gravies, meats, eggs or cheese. Live on graham bread, Boston brown bread, wheat in all of its various forms and cook yourself some gems or muffins made from pure bran. Cook them yourself. You'll get up an appetite if you are really interested in what you are doing or what you plan to do for the pleasure and comfort of others.

Do something for somebody every day. Try to plan an agreeable surprise for some loved one around you within your family circle. Get out in your yard and plant some onions or cultivate some lettuce or string beans. Hoe weeds. Get on the job early in the morning when the real glory of the day is at its best. Did you ever think of taking on a little responsibility and keep a few chickens? Watch the old hen and get some fun out of seeing the little peeps hustle for cover when the old mother calls them. A change is your best medicine. Write me again in detail after three months.

RATES ARE IN DISPUTE

Shippers and Lake Lines Disagree on Refrigerating Charges.

Either Three or Six Vessels Will Be Equipped for Dairy Products.

At the meeting between shippers of dairy products and representatives of lake lines, held yesterday morning and afternoon, it was not fully decided as to how many boats will be equipped with refrigerating equipment for the care of dairy products shipped from the Northwest, but that will be decided by the three lines involved—the Anchor, the Mutual and the Western—within a week or two. One or two boats of each line will be so equipped, most likely one, until it is found how many will be necessary. The equipment will be available at the opening of the lake shipping season.

The only point over which there was dispute was the matter of charges for the use of the refrigerating equipment. The matter of cost of installing the equipment did not enter into the discussion as published this morning, for with this feature the conference had nothing to do, the Interstate commerce commission having ordered the installation of sufficient equipment for the use of shippers of dairy products, regardless of the cost, that being up to the transportation companies alone.

But the matter of rates did come up. The transportation representatives insisted that an extra charge should be made for the refrigerating service, but the shippers insisted that the cost is included in the rates fixed by the interstate commerce commission.

No agreement was reached on this point and it may be that it will have to be settled by the Interstate commerce commission. Those attending were:

H. S. Noble, assistant manager of the Mutual company; M. J. White, assistant to the general manager of the Western Transit company; S. D. Barlow, general freight agent of the Western; A. C. Jones, superintendent of the Anchor line; Mark Baldwin and Henry Bridgeman of the Bridgeman-Russell company; A. M. McDougall, general manager of the Northern Cold Storage & Warehouse company, and G. Roy Hall, secretary of the traffic commission of the Commercial club.

WOMEN VOTING IN ILLINOIS PRIMARY

Springfield, Ill., March 10.—Women in hundreds of villages and small cities throughout the state today participated for the first time in the selection of nominees for municipal offices in local primaries.

In many of the towns no petitions had been filed, and blank ballots bearing only the party designation greeted the newly enfranchised voters on their arrival at the polling places.

In more than a hundred municipalities the local option question is to be voted on at the regular village election April 21, and in these places there was noticeable activity today among the women, who are expected to be a deciding element in the wet or dry contest.

Cando Hopes For Creamery.

Cando, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Business men are relying on the agitation over the state to assist in the reopening of the creamery at this point. At present the plant is idle. This is due to the fact that many people acquired the habit of shipping cream to Devils Lake and other points until the supply for the local creamery became so small the plant could not be profitably operated. An effort will be made to get the shippers to sell their supplies to the local institution.

APPEALS FOR SEX RETICENCE

Dr. W. W. Lawrence Approves Editorial in Saturday's Herald.

That the presentation of sex plays for the purpose of increasing box office receipts under the guise of teaching morality and the custom of the present day of babbling over sex problems is of inestimable harm to the young, was the theme of Rev. W. W. Lawrence, pastor of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church Sunday night when he preached on "The Danger Zone." On his sermon he quoted from the editorial in The Herald of Saturday on "The Repeal of Reticence."

Rev. Mr. Lawrence agreed with The Herald that the old-time reticence in regard to the discussion of sex problems was a good thing and said such subjects should always be discussed judiciously rather than having plays, magazines, and various other media blatantly heralding these discussions before the public as a money-making proposition. The speaker deplored the discussion of sex problems for "box office" purposes, and said the plays and films dealing with the white slave traffic were bound to have an evil effect upon the young who paid to have their curiosity satisfied.

In closing he seconded the appeal of The Herald for a return of the old-time reticence, a thorough knowledge of sex problems, not taught at so much "per head," but coming through the instruction in the home.

7,652 Idle in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 10.—The number of unemployed in Milwaukee is only 7,652, according to the statistics gathered by the police department, and this number is being lessened daily.

Of the idle 6,830 are residents, while only 822 are from out of the city. The report shows that there are only 962 professional drones in the city.

Cattlemen to Pay Taxes.

Shields, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cattlemen who have grazing leases on the Standing Rock reservation are to be compelled to pay taxes before the removal of their herds. The government has ordered them off by July 1. The cattlemen have been assessed taxes for state but not for county purposes. These taxes are due but not delinquent, but in view of the possibility of early removal of the herds the officials of Morton county, acting for the state, are making the tax collections.

CONVICTED, DELAYS THE LAW 900 DAYS

Embezzler of $140,000 Finally Is Taken to Sing Sing.

New York, March 10.—William J. Cummins, one time head of the defunct Carnegie Trust company, who was convicted nearly three years ago of larceny of $140,000, was taken to Sing Sing prison from the Tombs today to serve out a sentence of not less than four years and eight months and not more than eight years and eight months.

By appeals and other technical legal moves, counsel for Cummins kept him out of Sing Sing for nearly 900 days after his conviction. He now will appeal to Governor Glynn for a pardon on the ground that he rendered assistance to the state in the hearings regarding the trust company.

ONE OF TRIPLETS ILL.

North Dakota Infant Named for President's Daughter Is Sick.

Valley City, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the Gunderson triplets named for the three daughters of President Wilson, is seriously ill, and public subscriptions are being taken in an effort to save the life of the little one. The parents are in poor financial circumstances, and so much interest has been created in the triplets that the illness resulted in a public movement for her care.

When Jessie Wilson was wedded, an announcement of the wedding was received by the triplets.

Have A Case Sent Home

IT'S a mighty fine thing to have a case of beer in your cellar. It provides for an ever-ready beverage for meals, lunches, etc. or for mere refreshment of the most healthful kind.

Fitger's Beer

is particularly well adapted for the home on account of its purity and extra healthfulness. If you could spare the time to be shown through the brewery and bottling house you would understand why it is so good. Physicians recommend it as a tonic and builder of good, rich blood. For convalescents and nursing mothers it is the ideal liquid food.

Woman's Realm.

A large audience heard the Normanna chorus and Mrs. Frank O'Meara, contralto soloist, at the First Methodist church last evening. The concert was under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale.

The Normanna chorus showed the results of excellent training and long and faithful practice. Throughout all their numbers they were true to both tone and time. The Norse songs were especially suited to the temperaments of the singers and whether requiring reverence or a burst of patriotic spirit were given in excellent style.

Although Mrs. O'Meara had a bad cold, she proved that the many enthusiastic reports of her beautiful voice had not been exaggerated. She was obliged to omit two of her numbers but in the latter part of the evening she was in better voice and her "Der Jager" and "Fruhlingszeit" were given with great charm.

Mrs. Donna Kiblette Flaaten's "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," with humming accompaniment by the Normanna chorus, was received so enthusiastically that Mrs. Flaaten was obliged to appear again. She sang as an encore the second stanza of Ben Jonson's "I Sent Thee Late a Rosy Wreath."

Magnus Pederson, soloist of the Normanna chorus, took part in "Den Store Hvide Flok." The brilliant "Varde" with a solo by Hans Norley was the last Normanna number.

Mrs. J. N. McKindley was the accompanist.

COLORED WIGS.

Woman May Choose Her Hair This Year.

There was fashionable colors for not only spring gowns and millinery, but also for spring wigs.

The time has come when a woman may choose the hue of her hair just as she does that of any article of dress. Nile green, crimson and purple wigs are the latest fads in fashionable circles of Paris and New York. Regardless of eyes and complexion, a woman may have the kind of locks she has pined for all her life. Golden ones that rival the best efforts of peroxide, Titian, black and all shades of brown are possible but the bizarre colors are the ones that are popular. "Wear colors that go well with your hair" will be changed to "Wear colors that harmonize with your wigs."

The story that appeared in "Godey's Ladies' Book" of long ago about the mysterious woman whose marvelous changes in appearance were finally explained by her supply of various colored wigs may be taken for the theme of a "best seller."

Green, purple, red and blue wigs have not appeared in Duluth, but there is no telling when the local customs collector will be called upon to tax rainbow hair from Paris.

Duluthians returning from New York say that blue or green wigs no longer create a sensation in certain cafes.

FOR SHRINE GIRLS.

Aad Patrol Will Entertain at Dancing Party.

A week from Friday evening the Arab patrol of Aad Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will give a dancing party at the Masonic temple in honor of the Shrine girls, who have done so much to make Aad Temple famous throughout the country. The members of the patrol, attired in white fatigue uniforms, will act as escorts of the guests and as floor managers.

During the evening the patrol will give exhibitions of fancy drilling and the new formations which will be gone through in the competitive drill at Atlanta, Ga., in May during the meeting of the imperial council of the order.

WILL NOT FEDERATE.

Garden Flower Society Votes Against National Affiliation.

The movement to federate the Duluth Garden Flower society with the general federation of women's clubs was lost by one vote yesterday afternoon. Mrs. R. P. Boyington, president of the organization; Mrs. F. L. Barrows, treasurer of the state federation, and other prominent members have been eager for their club to join the national federation, but there are other members who say the Flower Garden society is too small to join, and that as a local body it is devoted to local interests. These objections were met by the assertions that smaller bodies are in the federation and that most of the federated clubs are local in their interests.

At the last regular meeting it was decided to put the matter into the hands of the executive board. This program was not carried out and the question was voted on at the open meeting yesterday which was attended by a very small number of members. It is possible the proceedings of yesterday's meeting will come to naught and the matter be arranged by the executive board as was originally intended.

The Flower Garden society has shown that hybrid perpetual roses can be raised in this climate. It has brought two lecturers to the city, distributed 1,000 leaflets on floriculture, and has worked along other lines to beautify Duluth. The society is exerting its influence on Minnesota and adjoining states. On Thursday evening the president, Mrs. Boyington, will speak at Moose Lake on "Standardizing the Home."

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"The Traffic."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—"The Last Round-Up."

Amusement Notes.

"The Traffic" will be presented at the Lyceum tonight, tomorrow and Thursday.

Briefly told, "The Traffic," in its early scenes, reveals the Berton orphans, Agnes and Elsie, struggling against poverty in their tenement home. Agnes, the elder, strong and beautiful, earns $6 a week in a factory. Elsie, the younger of the orphans, is tubercular and Agnes is informed that unless the child is sent to the country, death is inevitable. Grim experience has taught Agnes that there is only one way for her to earn money that means the salvation of her sister's life. She flutters piteously, like a child in a cage, but finally surrenders to the urging of a procurer.

The scenes following are not pleasant to contemplate. They are weird, morbid, gloomy—but compose a forceful presentation of the white slave trade in its worst phase.

"The Traffic' goes straight to the causes, the methods, the motives and the results," says one critic. "It hits first at the industrial causes which most reformers and moralists overlook. It is a terrible arraignment of grasping employers of unskilled labor, but it is also a fearful reflection upon good society which is forever sermonizing about 'morality' instead of doing justice—plain ordinary business justice—to girls and women who are eager to do honest work for honest pay.

"The Traffic' neither suppresses a single truth nor injects a single exaggeration in accomplishing its astounding effects. Father and son, mother and daughter, pastor and churchgoer, teacher and student, society woman and wage-earner, reformer and wanton, banker and laborer, side by side and each with a thought for the other's rights and disadvantages may here look on and hear an actual phase of life in their own day and generation that will cause them to pause, to think and—perhaps to look into one another's eyes with a new sense of justice if not of charity and unselfish interest."

"I have never been able to master the Swedish dialect," said Mr. Hazzard. "I am proud of my Swedish blood, and know a little of the language, but I have never been able to get the dialect."

Mr. Hazzard has gained some little fame as an author, and has had published two books of verse and a novel. The latter he frankly admits was a failure, but the books of verse sold well.

Manager Abrahamson of the Empress theater, in speaking of the dramatic offering there, says: "In choosing 'The Last Round-Up' as a local attraction I believe I have secured one of the most pleasing dramatic shows I have played this season. It is a real cowboy play, one that holds the interest of the public to the very end. Unlike most Western dramas, 'The Last Round-Up, is a sane, cleverly told story with an abundance of good clean comedy. Robert Sherman, the producer, has spared no expense to make this his most notable production and every scenic effect that could possibly be used has been provided. The fact that this play was staged under the personal direction of Whitney Collins, the author, is a further guarantee that it is properly presented."

"The Last Round-Up" is the attraction at the Empress theater for the first half of this week.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Petty Meanness Is a Common Trait.

The small meannesses are legion. You see them and I see them every day. Very probably we mentally pat ourselves on the back when some small act particularly impresses us with its pettiness, and thank our lucky stars that it is not in us to be guilty of such a thing. But fortunately for our conceit, we never see ourselves as others see us.

I pass a business man of means every day. I know him only by sight and reputation. More than once I have observed him as he held up a newsboy and leisurely scanned the headlines on the first page. It was a penny paper, and the sight of that grown man detaining a newsboy while he read the headlines was one that established the man's caliber immediately.

Another mean habit has to do with newspapers. Have you noticed those who, morning after morning, make a practice of picking up a paper that someone else has discarded? This class is best observed on the trains. When the terminal is reached certain ones may be seen to slyly help themselves to their favorite as though they were ashamed of it, as no doubt they are.

There are but few who have not seen the person who slips into a seat in a trolley car and quite by accident, apparently, but usually by design, spreads a paper or book so that it covers his face and then ignores the conductor. This is effectual many times, but sometimes an alert conductor will enforce his "Fare, please," upon the absorbed passenger and get the nickel required.

One very common weakness is the refusal to point out errors in checks made out by waiters and waitresses in hotels and restaurants. I have heard men express great satisfaction at the saving of a paltry dime on a check that amounted to $4 or $5 and then turn around and tip the waiter liberally.

Higher up in the social scale the same pettiness prevails. Men and women of education and culture, who would scorn to do things which are surely not more dishonest, think nothing of cheating the customs, not only once in a life time, but once or twice a year. It is a matter of principle with some of them.

It is hard to understand this very common failing in human nature, for common it is. If you will consider your own characteristics it is quite probable that you will find you have one or more small peculiarities of this nature that it would be well to try and correct.

PURIM WILL BE OBSERVED

Jews Throughout the World Will Celebrate Thursday as Feast Day.

Services Commemorate Deliverance From Massacre in Ancient Persia.

Purim, one of the minor festivals in the Jewish religious calendar, which is based on the story told in the book of Esther and the celebration of which commemorates the deliverance of the Jews of Persia from total annihilation, will be observed Thursday and Friday by the Jews throughout the world.

The orthodox Jews observe Purim by holding a special service in their synagogues on Wednesday evening and Thursday and Friday mornings. This includes the reading of the book of Esther, followed by a general celebration in commemoration of the deliverance of the Jews. These services will be held at the Adath, Israel synagogue, Third avenue east and Third street.

At Temple Emanuel, Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits will conduct a Purim service Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Next Sunday afternoon the children will present a dramatization of the story of Esther at the temple. The children portray the parts of the characters prominent in the book of Esther, while the plot of the dramatized story closely adheres to the Biblical tale.

Book of Esther.

The book of Esther is known as one of the Five Scrolls, which are contained in the third division of the Bible called Sacred Writings. The story is one of the most interesting in the Old Testament.

Haman, the prime minister of King Ahasuerus, taking offense at the lack of deference shown him by Mordecai, the Jew, in revenge, plots the destruction of all the Jews. The king unaware that Esther, the queen, was a Jewess, granted Haman's request and ordered that on a certain day chosen by lot (or Pur, which means casting lots), all the Jews of the kingdoms of Persia and Media should be destroyed, and their property taken as spoils. At the intervention of Esther, the king withdrew the decree, ordered Haman, the intriguer, to be executed and appointed Mordecai as prime minister in his stead. The very days on which the general massacre of the Jews was to have taken place were now changed into days of joy and feasting, and give the name Purim.

Accuracy Questioned.

Although the historical accuracy of the book of Esther has been called in question and some scholars ascribe the origin of this feast to an old folk-festival that was celebrated in Persia at the early spring season, still whatever its origin, Purim has been celebrated by the Jews for over two thousand yars as a festival of joy and thanksgiving. It served to recall the repeated deliverances that have come to Israel in the midst of the most dire persecutions that threatened its destruction. Together with the general spirit of jollification, there also grew up the beautiful custom of sending gifts to friends and especially to the poor on this day. This custom is called Sh'lach-Monos.

THE NEED OF A CITY AND COUNTY HOSPITAL.

What is to become of a person of small means—such as any city is full of—when he is taken ill in a boarding house or a home ill-equipped for the care of the sick?

For instance, a day laborer living in a boarding house. His meager wages allow little margin for saving, but even if he has been improvident his need in case of illness is no less an appeal to humanity.

What is to become of such people when they are taken ill?

The hospitals are full, practically, all of the time. Anyway, this sick man without savings has no money for hospital bills.

Do you know what happens in such cases now—the only thing that can happen? The sick man goes to the poor farm! Though the poor farm never was intended as a public hospital, though it is necessarily ill-equipped for such work, that is the only place to take him if the hospitals are full.

The only alternative is to keep him where he is, and do the best possible for him there, even though it is dangerous.

For instance, a man living at the Bethel recently fell ill of a pleurisy. There was no place to take him, and he was left there. He had as good care as the Bethel could give, but the Bethel is not a hospital, and a hospital was what that man needed. A couple of weeks in a hospital would bring about a complete cure. The danger of not getting such a case into a hospital is that the pleurisy may easily develop through neglect into tuberculosis.

One of the many arguments for a city and county hospital may be derived from this instance by comparing the cost of treating this case in a public hospital with the cost of handling it if tuberculosis developed—comparing a couple of weeks illness with the months and perhaps years of suffering and expense and danger of contagion involved in a case of tuberculosis.

If there were a city and county hospital—as there should be—that sick man would be cured promptly and returned to his work. He would not have to suffer either the peril of neglect or the ignominy of a stay at the poor farm.

Look out for another earthquake when news of that four hundred and twenty word presidential message reaches the interior of South America.

THE RED RIVER VALLEY ASSOCIATION.

Says the East Grand Forks Record: "The Duluth Herald refers to the recently organized Red River Valley Development association as 'the Red River Valley secession.' As a matter of fact, there was no secession, as that term is commonly understood. The Red River Valley counties comprising the new association have interests at such great variance with the northeastern section of the state, where the Northern Minnesota Development association has been most active, that it was deemed advisable to organize a valley association. There will be no antagonism to the old association on the part of the new. On the contrary, it is hoped and expected that the two organizations can accomplish more working as two bodies to the same end than under the old arrangement, where an attempt was made to amalgamate interests that would not amalgamate."

Perhaps the term "secession" was not very happily chosen. Certainly there was in the sheering off from the N. M. D. A. of the Red River valley counties no such spirit as is ordinarily associated with the term. We are certain that the move was made conscientiously, and for the best; and we hope sincerely that it will work out for the best.

We have already given our best wishes to the new organization, and we renew them.

Still, though we may be mistaken,—it has happened that we were,—it has seemed to us that in union there is strength, and that Northern Minnesota, despite its variety of interests, could achieve more working as a unit than it can as two units, especially as its purpose is the same—development. Interests may vary, but the purpose is the same.

Before there was any thought of a division of the forces of Northern Minnesota, The Herald had urged closer co-operation between the various development associations, and if not unification at least co-ordination of efforts. It may be, as the Record says, that Northwestern Minnesota and Northeastern Minnesota can accomplish more working separately than they could working together; but how interests that could not amalgamate in one association can be expected to amalgamate better in two is not clear.

And it had been our belief that the two sections of Northern Minnesota DID amalgamate pretty well. The Red River valley counties always did their share. The association meetings were frequently held there—the spring meeting of the N. M. D. A. is slated for Thief River Falls now. The vice president of the association, Mr. Conger, and the treasurer, Mr. Foote, live in Polk county. A member of the executive committee lives in Clearwater county. There are Red River valley members on every committee of the N. M. D. A. This looks to us a good deal like pretty successful amalgamation.

However, that is all over, and there is no use crying over spilt milk.

We have thought that there should be fewer development associations rather than more, more "Minnesota" and less "Northern," "Northeastern," "Northwestern," "West Central" and "Southern" Minnesota. But what's done is done.

As we have said before, we shall hope that it will work out for the best, that the two northern associations will work with greater harmony and larger results than the one could, and that everything may work out for the glory and greatness of Minnesota.

And even though our feeling toward the Red River valley counties that have left the old home is something like that of a parent toward children that have gone out from the household into the world to shift for themselves, we have nothing but good wishes for their success and prosperity.

The people of Copenhagen are reported to be eating less meat than they used to. Which would seem to be partly explained by the statement that more horse meat is being sold there than ever before.

THE RAILROADS AND THE LAKES.

The Toledo Blade, commenting on the recommendation that the government take over the regulation of traffic on the Great Lakes because the railroads control lake package freight lines, says that it may be all right to do this, "but it is silly for a committee of congress to cause it to be done by means of presentation of buncombe about injurious railroad control of water rates."

The Blade bases its criticism on the fact that "freight rates on the Great Lakes have declined steadily until there is no transportation business in the world, of magnitude approximating that of the lakes, whose freight rates are so low, railroad control or not." And then the Blade submits the following table showing how freight has been carried "more and more cheaply in spite of more costly organization and equipment, rising wages, higher fuel, greater expense for ship supplies:"

Year.	Freight Charges per ton mile, in mills.
1888	1.5
1890	1.3
1894	.99
1897	.83
1898	.79
1901	.99
1904	.81
1907	.80
1912	.67

Does that sound to you like a pretty strong case against the congressional committee and its findings and recommendations? Does it incline you to agree with the Toledo Blade when it says that if railroad control has brought about such results as these, then let's have some more railroad control?

If it does, then you, like the Blade, are mistaken; for these figures, to those who know conditions on the Great Lakes, form the strongest kind of an argument FOR the committee's findings, and not against them.

What brought general freight charges on the Great Lakes down was the vast amount spent by the government in improving channels and harbors. Freight charges have come down on the great bulk traffic in coal, grain and ore, which is NOT controlled by railroads.

But, to paraphrase the Blade, "in spite of" the fact that the government has spent millions in cheapening lake transportation by permitting larger vessels and larger cargoes, and "in spite of" the fact that the consumers have had enormous benefits from these improvements so far as traffic not controlled by railroads is concerned, the rates on merchandise traffic, which IS controlled absolutely by the railroads, HAVE GONE UP!

Prior to 1900 conditions were so chaotic that it is practically impossible to establish a basis for comparison. But since that year, when the process of getting package freight business into railroad control began, the rail-and-lake rates on merchandise from New York to Duluth have increased eleven per cent, and the lake proportion has increased about FIFTY-SIX PER CENT.

Where there is no rail control of lake traffic, there has been an astonishing reduction in transportation costs.

Where the railroads do control lake traffic, there has been an astonishing increase in transportation costs.

In other words, through railroad control of lake package freight the people have been robbed of the benefits of cheaper water transportation, and the railroads have been able in a large degree to rid themselves of the danger of competition from cheap water transportation by the simple process of making water transportation dear.

We do not believe that the Toledo Blade holds a brief for the railroads which have acted the role of highwayman on the Great Lakes. It is simply misinformed and hasty.

No, Maximilian, in spite of the common belief that it occasionally knocks, you would hardly be justified in calling Opportunity a knocker.

War Is Not Comedy

Columbia, S. C., State: You sit over your breakfast coffee and read with something of pleasure that Villa has caught and executed Castillo, who, before had trapped and burned to death some fifty human beings.

For a long time we have been reading this sort of stuff over our coffee, and the executioners and the victims are neither of them better than flies to excite our sympathy by the fact of their deaths.

So soon we become accustomed to war. Let one individual shoot another in front of the Columbia postoffice and the tongue of the town would wag as with a hundred thousand clappers to its bells of comment and gossip.

Let Villa stand 100 Federals against a wall and shoot them dead—or the other way around—and it is: "Please pass the eggs."

The better politics seems to be that we should let this drama at our very doors work itself out without contributing any American blood—to say nothing of money—to its realistic features; but do not, for that reason, consider it a comedy.

People who stand up to be shot, and people who are willing to shoot them, must have something of earnestness behind it all which we may concede—if we cannot understand.

The Making of a Dramatic Critic.

Henry L. Mencken in the Atlantic: Aspiring, toward the end of my nonage, to the black robes of a dramatic critic, I took counsel with an ancient whose service went back to the days of "Our American Cousin," asking him what qualities were chiefly demanded by the craft.

"The main idea," he told me frankly, "is to be interesting, to write a good story. All else is dross. Of course, I am not against accuracy, fairness, information, learning. If you want to read Lessing and Freytag, Hazlitt and Brunetiere, go read them; they will do you no harm. It is also useful to know something about Shakespeare. But unless you can make people read your criticisms, you may as well shut up your shop. And the only way to make them read you is to give them something exciting."

"You suggest, then," I ventured, "a certain—ferocity?"

"I do," replied my venerable friend. "Read George Henry Lewes, and see how he did it—sometimes with a bladder on a string, usually with a meat axe. Knocks somebody in the head every day—if not an actor, then the author, and if not the author, then the manager. And if the play and the performance are perfect, then excoriate someone who doesn't think so—a fellow critic, a rival manager, the unappreciative public. But make it hearty; make it hot! The public would rather be the butt itself than have no butt in the ring. That is Rule No. 1 of American psychology—and of English, too, but more especially of American. You must give a good show to get a crowd, and a good show means one with slaughter in it."

State Dynamite for Farmers.

Buffalo Inquirer: Every day or two some new proposition to put government into business bumps into attention.

Among the latest is the proposition that the state of Minnesota furnish dynamite to stump-blowing settlers.

Northern Minnesota has thousands of acres of "cut-over" lands. All that is the matter with that land is the stumps. Dynamite is a good stump eradicator. But dynamite costs 16 cents a pound. It is estimated the state can make and sell it at a quarter of that price. The theory is that, if the state will provide cheap dynamite, settlers will blow out the stumps and turn a waste region into rich farming territory.

Minnesota is already well advanced in the practice of doing things for the farmers. The state's prison binder-twine factory is declared to be the best equipped in the country. Its output supports the prison and earns enough more, as Richard Barry relates in the March Century, to give every convict a small daily wage. The state is also developing a farm machinery factory.

A state in the dynamite business may be something new, but state aid to farm settlement is old. If state binder-twine and farm implements, why not state dynamite for blowing stumps?

4,000 Per Cent Profit.

Collier's: In his last annual report City Smoke Commissioner Roberts of Cleveland, Ohio, points out that the damage resulting from the unregulated burning of one ton of bituminous coal in a modern city is fairly reckoned at $1. From this it follows that the establishment of smoke-prevention work by the city pays enormous dividends in community betterment; Mr. Roberts expresses it as "4,000 per cent profit." This is the old lesson made plain again: dirt and carelessness are not cheap, but enormously expensive. To prevent dirt and carelessness is not a fad, but just hard business sense. Our cities are learning it year by year.

Unrest in the Copper Country

Edward S. Martin in Life.

If one tries to assemble the factors in the copper miners' strike the result includes: An impression that the company's rule has had in it too much of benevolent feudalism, an impression that the miners cannot sufficiently manage their own lives, that petty bosses can make too much mischief, that complaints about them cannot be successfully lodged, that the manager most complained of (MacNaughton) is too much concerned about the output and not intelligent enough about the outputters, that the men are (possibly) too hard driven, and, not unreasonably, dissatisfied with the conditions under which they live.

On the other hand, one receives the impression that the owners have been attentive in providing for their employes' needs, that the strikers (Finns and Croatians mostly) are hard to handle and full of Socialistic preferences, and that the strike is due, not so much to special troubles, as to the ailment which we call "the general unrest."

The owners are reputable people, the chief officers of the company being grandsons of the great Agassiz, who had no time to make money. Grandfather Agassiz was a biologist. His subject was life, including human life. If he could visit the Michigan peninsula he would be very much interested, and would, possibly, found a museum there, and have petty bosses in glass jars, and other nice specimens. And one would like to hear his conclusions after he had made due studies, and his ensuing lecture to his grandsons.

We believe Grandfather Agassiz could fix up the copper miners' troubles. No doubt he would want Charles Moyer in a glass jar for a museum specimen almost immediately. It is pretty generally appreciated what sort of a speciment Charles is. The Outlook's contributing editor has specified him (along with Bill Haywood) as an undesirable citizen. He is the agent of the Western Federation of Miners, that very hard concern which made so much trouble in Colorado, and is out to make trouble wherever it can. If we had a comfortable house and the Western Federation of Miners acquired rights of residence in the cellar, we would get right out of that house, and go and live in a tree. No decent concern wants Moyer's Federation on its premises. It is like having the Mafia in the back yard.

However, there are few things in life more desperate than a despotism of respectable characters. It is a kind of despotism that other respectable people are loath to meddle with, for it has few visible sores, and its pains are inward pains. But man requires more than bread, schools and institutional alleviations, even with the movies thrown in. He needs air and elbow-room for his spirit. He does not do well in a cage, even though his supplies of birdseed and water are never overlooked. A despotism of respectable characters is something like a well-ordered cage.

The office of specimens like Moyer and Haywood is to upset benevolent and other despotisms which prudent people will not meddle with. They are professional raisers of hell, but they cannot practice their profession to much purpose except where there is some hell due to be raised.

Laissez Faire

Kansas City Star:

"Mr. Dooley" has compared the standpat mind to the mind of the politician in a convention. It thinks that "the temporary organization of society should be made permanent."

Whether in national lawmaking, or in city building, or in whatever it is, the progressive citizen knows that a temporary condition should not be and must not be and cannot be permanent.

Immigration Has Checked Rise in Wages.

From "The Immigration Problem," by J. W. Jenks and W. J. Lauck; published by Funk & Wagnalls: As regards the effect of the employment of recent immigrants upon wages and hours of work, there is no evidence to show that the employment of Southern and Eastern Europeans has caused a direct lowering of wages or an extension in the hours of labor in mines and industrial establishments. It is undoubtedly true that the availability of the large supply of recent immigrant labor has prevented the increase in wages which otherwise would have resulted during recent years from the increased demand for labor. The low standards of the Southern and Eastern European, his ready acceptance of a low wage and existing working conditions, his lack of permanent interest in the occupation and community in which he has been employed, his attitude toward labor organizations, his slow progress toward assimilation, and his willingness seemingly to accept indefinitely without protest certain wages and conditions of employment, have rendered it extremely difficult for the older classes of employes to secure improvements in conditions or advancement in wages since the arrival in considerable numbers of Southern and Eastern European wage earners. As a general proposition, it may be said that all improvements in conditions and increases in rates of pay have been secured in spite of their presence. The recent immigrant, in other words, has not actively opposed the movement toward better conditions of employment and higher wages, but his availability and his general characteristics and attitude have constituted a passive opposition which has been most effective.

How Nature Made the Prairie Long Ago.

Breeder's Gazette: Long and lovingly did brooding Nature hover over the Western prairies. Long ages ago she planed off the angles of them. While the Pharaohs built pyramids the prairies yet bided their time. Robed in thick carpets of grass and flowers, they gathered year by year their riches of vegetable mold. Richly brown is the good earth of the prairies, yielding readily to plow and harrow. Now we see everywhere the snug homestead, tree embowered, and near by a red barn. Here on the prairies is found the true and ancient democracy of America, the aristocracy of worth, high appreciation of the nobility of earnest endeavor and great friendliness of men.

Mark Where He Stands.

Acton, Ont., Free Press: Ten years ago the Free Press editor could buy ten dozen new laid eggs with a year's subscription. Now he is able to purchase only three dozen with that dollar. Eggs have gone up but subscription remains the same. See where we stand in the matter of the high cost of living.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—An interesting bit of phenomena is Speaker Clark's way of greeting a visitor in his private office.

When he is engaged in thought, the speaker slides down in a big leather chair until he is sitting on the small of his back, and gazes abstractedly at a newspaper spread across his lap.

A visitor enters. Champ looks up, draws his eyes down to a narrow little owl-like slit and drawls: "Come in."

Now, the way he says that "Come in" indicates just how welcome the visitor is.

If he says it almost pleasantly that indicates only a moderate feeling of hospitality and the visitor would better not tarry too long. But let us suppose, on the other hand, that the speaker stretches out his "Come in" into an unusually long drawl—with a slight rising inflection on the "come" and a slow downward inflection to the "in"— and that, in addition, his tone is one seemingly of great vexation. Suppose, further, that he also drawls a prolonged "Sit down-n!"—as if to say: "What in thunder are you standing there for, when there are chairs?"

In that case the visitor is plenty welcome and can stay as long as he sees fit. For the speaker reserves his gruffest tones for those he likes best.

Representative Humphreys of Washington got up in the house one bright, crisp afternoon last month and painted a dismal picture of the woe and desolation wrought by the Democratic party. If one accepted Humphreys' predictions, it looked like a question of an absurdedly short time until practically every business institution would be forced into ruin, and a store or factory with its doors open would be so unusual as to be pointed out from the sightseeing vans.

A day or so after that, Humphrey's wife set out on a little shopping expedition, and the first store she tried to enter was locked up without so much as a placard on the front door. She tried another big store, and another, and they, too, had been locked up, presumably by the sheriff. All was woe and desolation, just as her husband had predicted. Sadly she went home to tell her husband that his dismal forecasts had already come true.

"No," said Humphreys, gloomily, "I fear we can't blame the Democrats for the closed doors today. This is Washington's birthday."

One cannot always tell when one is getting one's self into a serious scrape.

When Representative Samuel Smith of Michigan was serving on the District of Columbia committee, one of the district commissioners came and asked him to introduce a bill they had drawn up to stop the flying of kites within the District of Columbia. The idea was to eliminate the danger of fires from kites sent up with lanterns on the tail.

Somebody on the committee had to introduce the bill, if it was to be passed, and Smith innocently dropped it in.

He thought no more about it until he got home for the fall campaign and then he found that there was the very divvle to pay.

The opposition had learned of the kite act introduced to congress under Smith's name, and were busily making it appear not only that Smith was opposed to letting little boys have the simple pleasure of flying kites, but that the bill was all he could think of in the way of helpful legislation.

Smith barely escaped being defeated that year and all on account of the kite bill that he had carelessly allowed to be wished on him.

Visitors to the White House one morning recently found Joseph P. Tumulty, the president's secretary, seated at his desk with a newspaper before him, laughing and chuckling at a great rate. After a few minutes he began to get control of himself again and was able to tell what he was laughing at.

Here is the explanation:

For several weeks and even months, while the tariff bill was pending, a certain New Jersey woolen manufacturer was an almost daily visitor at the White House. He was on intimate terms with all the New Jersey delegation and Secretary Tumulty, and there was nothing for Tumulty to do each morning but listen to the tale of woe the man had to tell. It seemed that the new tariff bill was going to wreck the man's business and place him and his family on the street corners, each with a little tincup for kind pedestrians to drop pennies into. When the tariff bill finally passed, the man departed with the air of one who has just suffered a total loss.

Tumulty had forgotten about his Jersey friend and his misfortunes until he chanced to pick up a Jersey City paper on the morning referred to and read a certain inconspicuous little item. It said that Tumulty's friend was just about to break ground for a $1,000,000 addition to his factory.

Good Judgment.

Walt Mason in Judge: As down this weary world we're drifting, it's good to preach that creed uplifting of "Sunshine in the Heart;" it's good to soothe the worn and weary, and wear a smile that's broad and cheery in office, mill or mart. My sunshine creed I'm still expounding, I try to make the folks surrounding me cheerful as the birds; and yet I wisely choose my victim—one man, when Faith has sorely kicked him, won't stand for cheerful words; another, if you mention smiling, will hit you with a piece of tiling or chase you out of doors; a third will say the law should take you and with the rack and thumbscrew break you, for you're the prince of bores.

I never hand my optimism to one who has the rheumatism in fifty-seven joints; he does not care for cheerful phrases while he his lamentation raises and all his bones anoints.

When I see rich men right before me, a longing oftentimes comes o'er me to quote my almanacs; but I suppress this friendly yearning on finding that they're just returning from paying income tax.

I never quote the Sunshine thinkers to one whose hair is full of clinkers from toiling with the grate, who has all kinds of coal and ashes among his whiskers and mustaches, who has his scowl on straight.

I do not cry, "Cease not your singing'" to one who from the walk is flinging five hundred tons of snow. Experience has made me clever; I would not mock his stern endeavor or multiply his woe.

If man returns home from his labors each eve to hear his next-door neighbors start up their phonograph and play the same old tunes immortal—I do not ask that man to chortle and sing and dance and laugh.

Oh, man must use his judgment daily, as he goes through this old world gayly dispensing words of cheer. It's well to brighten up this drab age; but if you miss your mark, a cabbage may catch you in the ear.

Duluth and The Herald

Bouquets and Brickbats from the State Press.

No Chance, Brother!

Mankato Free Press: The Duluth Herald is afraid that some fiend incarnate with malice aforethought will toss the state-wide primary election law into Lake Superior.

Duluth Is Always Working for the Best for the Most.

St. Peter Free Press: The city of Duluth is now making an effort to bring about a divorce of the ownership of the railroads and the boat lines, which, it claims, works to the detriment of healthy competition and to a great extent prevents a desirable traffic on the lakes.

There can be no dispute about this conclusion. The combination of the lake and land traffic is nothing but a scheme to cut out competition and thus put the owners in position to exact unreasonable profits from all the territory at the Head of the Lakes.

Bad Advertising.

Madison Western Guard: The people of Duluth are agitating the question of an ice carnival this winter. St. Paul tried out the ice carnival idea a quarter of a century ago and found that it was poor advertising. People in the Northwest do not care to travel very far to see mountains of ice and snow—they would rather get away from them. An ice palace is a pretty thing to look upon, but the thought of it right now gives us the chills.

Heaven Forefend.

Anoka Union: The Duluth Herald is becoming noted for knowing more than any other newspaper in the state.

He Is, Indeed.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: C. A. Congdon of Duluth writes from Los Angeles that he will not be a candidate for state senator, as he is leaving the country for several months. He is one of the ablest men ever sent to the legislature from the Zenith City and is a member of the "efficiency committee" recently appointed by the governor.

Commercializing Salaciousness.

Mesaba Ore: The Ore can readily indorse the able editorial of the Duluth Herald in which it talks in a refreshingly plain way about all of this "white slave" slush that is being fed in copious doses to the people—and which is being licked up as fast as it comes, with the tongue of society lolling out for more.

According to The Herald, there is no such thing as the organized white slave traffic we read so much about in the newspapers, but that instead the misdirected activities of warped purity societies and bone-headed menials of law is being coined into cold cash in big sums by the smart chaps who know the salacious likings of humanity, and who have cooked up savory flesh-pot messes and are presenting them to an hungering public under the guise of "education."

The youth of the land does not need such instruction—it will find a way if so bent without the blazed trail given by such impossible pictures and plays as are now permitted in nearly every city in the country.

It is a money-making scheme, pure and simple, and there is no room in it for anything good.

A Duluth Victory

The Western Architect: The Duluth Evening Herald has been congratulating that city upon what it terms a "Duluth Victory." Discussing the postal savings bill that journal tells something of the history of this legislation and of how the subject has been kept before the public, agitated, and finally brought to consummation very largely through the efforts of a former Duluthian, Architect Fitzpatrick of Washington, D. C. If Duluth and The Herald are proud of that gentleman's persistence and public spirit, certainly are we, too. We know something of the discouragements and opposition that stood in his way in that splendid undertaking. Postal savings is one of the best legislative acts that this or any other congress can pass. It will do more for our people than any other currency reform measure and bring them closer to the government than can any other legislation. Mr. Fitzpatrick has done wonders in originating and keeping everlastingly at many other reforms and improvements, fire prevention, the city beautiful scheme, educational reforms; he has brought many of them to a head, but this last accomplishment seems the more notable because in the others he has had to overcome prejudice and apathy, while in this case there was not only all that but also the entire banking influence, the power of millions, solidly arrayed against him. Duluth and Washington, the architectural profession, should be proud of him.

This Is Her Garden.

This is her garden; in it day by day
She lived and worked, with patient, tender care
Marshalling her flowers in orderly array
Till beauty clad the earth that once was bare.
This fringed, spice freighted pink, she planted here;
Blue burning larkspur, and the honey phlox,
And these proud ranks that high above them rear
Their satin spires, the stately hollyhocks.
Here once again they fill with brilliant bloom
Long summer days, while through the summer nights
They penetrate the warm, moth-haunted gloom
With fragrant promise of unseen delights.
Again her garden blooms, its fountains spill
Their wonted laughter over marble brims
As in those other summertimes, but still
A sense of emptiness its beauty dims.
The pansies as I pass lift wistful eyes,
Each lily shakes a disappointed head,
And all the rustling garden, longing, sighs
For one who will not walk there, being dead,
Yet surely here, if to this world return
Spirits released, might come her gentle shade
To comfort those who with the flowers still yearn
For her lost presence in the heaven she made.
But no, not even here, her soul set free
From mortal care would love to earth recall,
For in this very garden, it may be,
She buried sorrows undivined by all
Who knew her air serene and tranquil grace.
Unsummoned let her rest, while empty stands
Save of her memory this garden space;
A prayer of beauty wrought with loving hands.

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

F. W. G. Boettcher has on exhibition at his home in the Munger block at West Duluth a dancing doll combination upon which he has applied for a patent. The device is intended for exhibition in store windows for advertising purposes. It is operated by electricity. Mr. Boettcher is quite a genius and has invented a combination scroll sawing machine and lathe, a burglar alarm whistle and other useful articles.

A large number attended the meeting of the St. Louis County Republican club at the city hall last evening. The annual election of officers took place, and George E. Arbury was chosen president and S. E. Peachey secretary. W. A. Cant, L. M. Wilcutts, O. W. Baldwin, E. J. Luther and J. H. Norton were appointed a committee to select delegates to the league meeting which will be held at Minneapolis on March 28, when Governor McKinley of Ohio will deliver an address, giving the keynote for the campaign in the Northwest. The names of thirty-seven delegates were reported and approved, and George E. Long, Frank Burke and Harry Armstrong were appointed a committee to arrange for transportation. Duluth is entitled to 500 seats and an effort will be made to fill them.

T. W. Hugo has been honored by election as an honorary member of the National Association of Marine Engineers. Mr. Hugo was a marine engineer for twenty-five years and is the first man to be given an honorary membership in this association.

The Central Gun club has elected officers as follows: J. W. Nelson, president; Dr. Day, vice president; L. M. Gunderson, treasurer; H. L. Heisler, secretary; H. Little, field captain; Robert Moore, lieutenant. The Spirit lake grounds will be retained and a set of Paul North electric pull traps will be purchased.

T. B. Hizar for several days past has been acting as assistant clerk in the city clerk's office.

William Milles, one of the janitors of the Lyceum building, fell from a ladder yesterday while cleaning windows in the entrance and broke his left leg near the ankle. He is a married man and lives at the East end.

J. T. Smith, who has conducted a news stand and book store at 526 West Superior street, has made an assignment to F. E. Barrow for the benefit of his creditors.

S. S. Smith went to Fargo, N. D., yesterday on a business trip lasting several days.

D. B. Smith has filed notice of application to the district court for an order appointing a receiver for the Smith & Coulter Spice company. He claims to have been frozen out by Manager C. L. White and wants him deposed. The defendants answer that Smith is simply trying to defeat the collection of a note given in payment for stock.

The Timid Child.

Lippincott's: An eccentric city superintendent was seated awkwardly at his office desk, his head poked forward from his stooping shoulders, his elbows doubled up, his back bent, and his feet twined round the side-rounds of his chair, when two ladies entered, bringing a 6-year-old youngster for admission to school.

"The dear child is so timid, Mr. R.," said the grandmother. "We couldn't think of sending him alone."

"Yes, Mr. R.," said the fond aunty. "The boys have been telling him that you whip little fellows, and he is so timid—so shy and sensitive that——"

She was interrupted by the timid youngster, who had all this time been attentively studying the superintendent's doubled-up proportions.

"Say, stand up, will you?" he said. "I want to see how tall you are."

Upon Much-More.

Much-more provides and hoards up like an ant,
Yet much-more still complains he is in want.
Let much-more justly pay his tythes,
then try
How both his meale and olle will multiply.

SOME VIEWS ON CARRYING REVOLVERS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In looking over The Herald lately, especially since Patrolman Mooney was shot, I see a great deal of talk about carrying firearms. I have thought of sending in my views for some time. In an editorial The Herald asked very plainly: "What use has anyone for carrying a revolver?" or something similar. I haven't got the issue I speak of right here just now, although I have got some pages of The Herald that are over two years old in my possession. I had thought for a while of putting my answer under different heads, such as "Why a Policeman Carries a Revolver," "Why a Burglar Carries a Revolver," or "Why the Ordinary Man Carries a Pocket Weapon." But recently I came onto an old copy of the National Sportsman, dated May, 1908. In it I found an article entitled "Carrying Firearms,' which I was sure very many people would agree with. So if the editor is willing, if The Herald has the space and if its subscribers have the patience, I believe I will send in at least a part of it, which I consider the best, although it contains almost too many words for a person who is lazy with the pen like I am:

CARRYING FIRE ARMS.

I notice that many people are clamoring for further restriction on the sale and carrying of revolvers, having in doing in view the laudable object of restraining the burglar, highwayman and assassin, from carrying arms to further his nefarious designs. Now is this consummation so devoutly to be wished for? Since the earliest history of man thugs, robbers and assassins have gone on their missions of murder and robbery, armed and in the dark; depending for their success on the unpreparedness or weakness of their victims. Never has this been truer than today, as witness the number of latest pattern automatic pistols and revolvers of large calibre and effectiveness taken from yeggmen and housebreakers in the last few months. When holdups are occuring with such frequency, is it best policy to enact such laws as will assure the ruffian that the lawabiding citizen is unarmed and that the only one to fear is the policeman, probably on some remote portions of his beat, and he too must not shoot till in a life or death struggle? Is it fair to the respectable American citizen, that he should be barred from defending his person and property in the same manner in which he may be assailed? Is it liberty and equality, for him to be deprived of the right of bearing arms in his native land (when he does not do so to the terror or injury of the public), when every lawbreaker and alien carries pistols and knives, bludgeons and sandbags? Would the effect of such enactments be to abolish crime or foster it? How many of your readers who are supposed to carry pistols and are known to be quick and skillful shots, are held up? Have we become a nation that dare not trust arms in the hands of her best citizens? I know the frequency of "shooting affairs" has caused much comment and a remedy is wisely sought for by our lawmakers, but I am sure that a careful examination will show that the class that does the shooting defy and would evade any law that would tend to hamper them in this respect. If we make it a criminal offense to be found intoxicated with arms in one's possession, we shall take a long step in the right direction. The history of shooting affairs outside the motives of robbery and revenge, will find the moving spirit to be rum. An objection that some mythical familiarity with arms breeds contempt, does not seem to be well founded, for it has passed into a maxim that, "No one fears a weapon like its master." I fully believe every boy should be thoroughly taught the construction and operation of fire arms by one competent to instruct, rather than allow him to sail forth on a voyage of discovery by himself, with a well developed curiosity to know if "it is loaded." I have been familiar with most all kinds of firearms the most of my life, and am not considered very "gun shy," but never feel particularly at ease while an ignorant or drunken person is flourishing and experimenting with firearms. Any man of intelligence can be easily and quickly taught by one understanding the arm to carry it safely, handle it readily and shoot quickly, but to go at it without knowing anything of the mechanism and trusting to luck in a pinch, is not conducive to safest results. One may say the police are paid for our protection. Now let me say that I believe the United States has the finest police force in the world; but it is impossible for one to be always at hand, and he is often expected to perform impossibilities. If the American citizen with the sanction of instead of being handicapped by the law, can aid a little in his own protection, the public will not suffer thereby.

H. W. HARMON.
Effingham, N. H.

Now, Mr. Editor, ladies and gentlemen, I wish to say that I agree with almost everything that Mr. Harmon has said, especially in regard to that part about intoxicated people handling or carrying firearms. There is also another sort of being whom he has forgotten to mention. I refer to those who are so very quick tempered that they seem to get so angry at times that they lose all control of themselves. I have had fellows tell me this as a fact—not about somebody else, but about themselves. They said there were times when they felt sure that if they had a small weapon handy they would very likely have used it, but yours truly has never got as far as to reach that point yet. Well, gents, I would like to write a little more on this subject, but I think I better leave some more to be said another time, don't you? So I will ring off for now. Let us hear from others on this question. I hope the editor can make out this scribble. Your truly,

GEORGE W. McKAY.

THE WOODSMAN'S SIDE OF THE CASE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I note in the Saturday evening paper where a prominent lumberman makes the statement that they are offering the best of board and accommodation to men and paying the best of wages. Now, I would like to know who or what company this man represents and what he calls the best of wages and accommodations. Does he call $26 and $30 a month good wages? There are very few camps, mighty few camps, that don't work their men twelve to fourteen hours a day, make them walk two, four or five miles to work and eat their dinner outside, sometimes so cold that the food freezes before it reaches the mouth. Then again, they have men for foremen who storm, swear and tear around and curse the men. Now, I don't mean every camp and foreman is this way, but in 75 per cent of the camps this condition exists. Then the statement that the best of board is offered is absurd. That condition doesn't exist on this line or a good many other lines which I could name. There are a good many other things I could name, showing that the men are treated, as a rule, worse than curs, and then the lumbermen wonder why they can't keep men. I am ready to back up the statement and I am sure that this lumberman can get all the help he needs if he really has all these things he offers.

TYING A KNOT IN THE LION'S TAIL

To the Editor of The Herald:

I see by your paper where Mayor Prince is asked to use his influence with our congressmen for the purpose of inducing them to vote away $100,000 to help England celebrate the 100th anniversary of peace between England and America. Well, God help us and save us from our friends, the Anglomaniacs. I sincerely hope our mayor has more respect for himself and the citizens of Duluth than to do anything of the sort, and in fact I know he has. Let me see, we whipped England in 1776 after she had carried on eight years of as brutal a war as she knew how. We whipped her again in 1812 after she burned our capital. We made her pay $15,000,000 in 1865 for having stuck her nose into our family quarrel when she tried to help the South disrupt our Union. She paid that $15,000,000 rather than fight the third time, knowing what she would get and we blufled her again when she was about to land troops in one of our South American republics. England did not fight in 1865 because she was afraid and she backed down in 1884 for the same reason. Now she has the impudence to ask us to appropriate $100,000 to celebrate 100 years of peace she would have broken if she dared to.

We have a pro-British, bloated multi-millionaire Scotch-English-American by the name of Carnegie, who is using his millions to make of us a "Re-United States" "The British-American Union." Citizens of Duluth, what do you think of it? Are we tired of the United States of America? Do we prefer a "British-American Union"? If so, send the news to Washington that we are tired of the United States of America. Send the news to Washington that we, the citizens of Duluth, are in our second childhood. Hurry the news to Washington that we are a bunch of cowards and we want the protection of John Bull, the biggest bluffer on God's green earth. Yours very truly.

ONE VIEW OF THE MEXICAN SITUATION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Huerta will not be recognized by the United States, for he is branded as a murderer of his people and not fit for the position he now holds.

Furthermore, when Villa has succeeded in gaining possession of Northern Mexico, our president (although I am not opposed to him) takes off the embargo on arms, which was done merely to help Villa.

Now, if Villa does win, and overthrows the Huerta government, who will rule Mexico? Villa's follower, Carranza, of course. Who is Carranza? Who is Villa? Carranza a follower of Villa and Villa a brigand, a murderer; anything but a good corrector.

Then will our government recognize the Mexican government.

I say stop right here. On with the embargo on arms. Huerta, who has been asked to resign, must resign.

Give Villa and Carranza twenty-four hours to leave Mexico and make them go. Then with a committee composed of Americans and Mexicans, reform the laws of Mexico, which must be at fault to allow such outrages as are now enacted not only on the Mexicans, but also on our good American citizens from the good old U. S. A.

INDUSTRIAL JUSTICE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

When our city government put the new wage scale into effect some worthy employes received a very small increase in their wages and some that were just as worthy were not so fortunate. Low wages is good business according to the old standard, but is it good business when a large part of the money paid to city employes immediately finds its way into the hands of our business men? The new gospel of industrial justice that was put into actual operation among the 20,000 employes of one of our large manufacturers recently is worthy of serious consideration. Permanent prosperity must have a foundation and be built from the bottom up and not from the top down.

BILLIARD HALL OWNERS REPLY TO "FATHER."

To the Editor of The Herald:

We are not much surprised to hear from a father who has tried to keep his boy out of billiard rooms, as we expected to hear from more.

If you think billiard rooms throughout the city are not a good place for your boy, set an example for him. He is trying to follow the footsteps of his father. As he learns that you are of a sporting disposition, that's what he wants to be. Be good yourself and probably he will not frequent our places. A man must be good himself in order to have his son be the same. You are a betting man and want to bet $50 you can find boys ranging from the years of 12 to 18 frequenting billiard rooms along Superior street. A betting man is a gambler and you certainly would rather see your boy playing billiards or pool than throwing his money away betting.

We are not running a Sunday school nor do we intend to. But we are going to enforce the rules we laid out and not hoodwink anybody, and you can investigate if you want to. If we were of a betting disposition we would take your bet, but we are living up to the law. No gambling is allowed.

The police of Duluth visit our places at least ten times a day and they would certainly let us know if there were any youngsters playing in our places. About the running of poker games, you know more about it than we do. Why not notify the police department?

If your boy is not of age and you don't want him to frequent our billiard rooms, why don't you notify us to keep him out? We would be glad to grant your request.

That's why we organized, so you would stop looking down on us.

We must admit there were some who did not conduct their rooms in a proper way. But now they must live up to the rules we laid out or must give us the reason why they don't and we will take that in our own hands.

Now, Mr. Father, another thing: Why shouldn't you allow your boy, if he is 18 years old or better, in our billiard rooms?

If he is a member of the Y. M. C. A. he starts to learn the game there. You allow him to play there. What's the difference. There are good and bad young men in both places and if he wants to gamble in a game of pool he can do it just as well in the Y. M. C. A. as in one of our places.

We enforce the laws because if we didn't we would probably lose our licenses, where the Y. M. C. A. has no license and has nothing to lose.

If you answer this little letter of ours we wish you to be a gentleman and sign your name so we can see you and do something for you in behalf of your boy. Yours respectfully,

DULUTH BILLIARD ROOM PROPRIETORS' ASSOCIATION.

CAN SUCH THINGS BE?

By SAVOYARD

Washington, March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The woman in scarlet finds one moment of supremest and extremest satisfaction—when some unfortuitous circumstance makes a lying scandal that says the woman in ermine "is not better than she might be." Hence it is that the G. O. P. is as hilarious and as triumphant as the pullet that has successfully laid her first egg over the sneaked-in clause of the Baltimore platform favoring that corrupt subsidy to that opulent and insatiate monopoly, "the American merchant marine," when it was granted free tolls for its ships in the coastwise trade, passing through the Panama canal. Some of our Republican brethren would shake their tails if they were of the canine species as they contemplate this Republican and monopolistic heresy in a Democratic manifesto.

Themselves believing in the thing, Republicans impute it to the Democratic party for atrocity, and in miles and miles of disgusting cant Republican newspapers are determined that the robber subsidy shall be fastened on the Democratic party for accepted Democratic doctrine. Now here is an enormity that the G. O. P. wanted to do for forty years and was afraid to do:

"Vice is a monster of so hideous mien
As to be hated has but to be seen,
Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

This beggar had been carted into every Republican congress for years and years. My grand and magnificent friend Ed Carmack, smote it and it withered once, and now the Democratic party, over the protest of the Democratic president, is besought to accept this deformed brat and transform it into a child of the party of Jefferson and Jackson, of Wilson and Bryan. Forbid it Heaven! There are some dregs of old Whiggery in the Democratic party that should be purged from the system.

Col. Henry Watterson is constantly the subject of eulogy on the part of a fanatic Republican writer in the Washington Star, who puts the praise on the colonel several thicknesses when he would be particularly denunciatory of Col. Watterson's party. The colonel has got himself in the middle of a mighty bad fix politically if that sort of stuff goes. If commendation of Watterson is consonant with villification of the Democratic party it is time the colonel were taking an observation and ascertaining his bearings. There is an old, a homely, an admirable saying of the English squirehood—"Love me, love my dog." The relation between partisan and party in politics should be equally intimate and affectionate as that between hunter and hound.

Under the caption, "Watterson's Regrettable Absence," this writer in the Washington Star, gloating over the atrocity of free tolls, observes that had Watterson been there this heresy would not have crept into the platform. If that is true it is a misfortune that the colonel was not there. It is doubtful, though, if Col. Watterson would have mended matters—his walk in politics is too telescopic for such a little matter as tolls, which sneaked in because the thing was microscopic. The party was too busy dealing with the highwaymen to notice the pickpocket.

While eternally eulogizing Watterson this writer cannot refrain from slandering President Cleveland, and for the hundredth time he brings out that old calumny that Cleveland "ran away from his grand free trade message of 1887." He makes out Cleveland to be a weak, pusillanimous, vacillating, impotent sort of a man, and doubtless he thinks Grover Cleveland was all of that; but Mr. Cleveland will not live that life in history.

I heard John G. Carlisle say, when he was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president against Mr. Cleveland in 1892, that there was not one word of truth in the charge that Mr. Cleveland, by thought or deed, ever receded from the stand he took in the message of 1887. He did not say so, for then he shut up like a clam, but I am as confident of it as can well be that Arthur P. Gorman assumed to speak for Mr. Cleveland when he had no more authority to do so than I have to stand for the pope. When I represented that to Mr. Carlisle he was silent, for his was a tongue that could not deal with personal detraction any more than it could utter untruth.

There was this about Mr. Cleveland—he never rose to a personal explanation. The victim of more lying malice than any man of his day, he left his record for mankind. To paraphrase:

Leave History unfettered every fact to scan;
Let Truth point to deed and not to man.

Mr. Cleveland's subsequent conduct as president showed that as a tariff reformer he was of the school of Morrison and Carlisle; of Mills and W. L. Wilson now represented by Woodrow Wilson and W. J. Bryan and gloriously triumphant.

Everybody knows that free tolls is a subsidy. Indirectly it takes money out of the public treasury to bestow it on a special interest, that is a monopoly, under the guise that the monopoly will voluntarily return to the people what congress has bestowed on it in the way of cheaper freight rates.

Bah! Monopoly does not act that way. If the money it gets from the people is to be returned to the people this monopoly would not be so greedy to get the subsidy.

In choice phrase here is what President Wilson thinks about it:

"My Dear Mr. Marbury: I have your letter of Jan. 30 * * * with regard to the question of canal tolls, my opinion is very clear. The exemption constitutes a very mistaken policy from every point of view. It is economically unjust; as a matter of fact, it benefits for the present at any rate only a monopoly; and it seems to me in clear violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. There is, of course, much honest difference of opinion as to the last point, as there is, no doubt, as to the others; but it is at least debatable, and if the promises we make in such matters are debatable, I for one do not care to debate them. I think the country would prefer to let no question arise as to its wholehearted purpose to redeem its promises in the light of any reasonable construction of them rather than debate a point of honor."

And that is what Mr. Caesar thought should be the character of Mrs. Caesar. Pretty sound philosophy that!

PRIEST RUNS A CREAMERY

Rev. Father Eli Theillon More Than Spiritual Adviser at Gentilly.

Paid $20,000 to Farmers in His District Last Year.

An interesting figure is Rev. Father Eli Theillon of Gentilly, Minn., one of the pioneer priests of Northern Minnesota, who was a Duluth visitor today. Father Theillon was in Duluth conferring with Architects Holstead & Sullivan on the plans for a new church to be erected for his parish this year.

Father Theillon finds time between caring for the spiritual needs of a parish of more than 100 families to manage a co-operative creamery that last year turned out over 130,000 pounds of cheese and returned to the farmers nearly $20,000. Father Theilion organized the Gentilly Dairy association nineteen years ago, and it has grown under his personal management until it is one of the most prominent examples of farm co-operation in Northern Minnesota.

"We claim to make some of the finest cheese in the Northwest, and we have ample basis for our claim, for we have repeatedly won first prizes at the Minnesota and North Dakota state fairs," said Father Theillon today. "We have about fifty members of our association, and they really co-operate, as we receive, manufacture into cheese and sell all of the surplus milk production of our members.

"In our last season of eight months from April 1 to Dec. 1 we received 1,296,387 pounds of milk, which produced 131,057 pounds of cheese, or one pound of cheese to each 9.75 pounds of milk. Our patrons received an average price of 27.65 cents per pound of butter fat. The total receipts from the cheese were $21,121.57; we paid to our members $2,149.31, and we have a balance in the treasury of $219.24.

"I have one cow, seven-eighths Holstein, from which I received about $120, and some of my neighbors in Gentilly, having one cow each, had even better returns. Some of our members received more than $1,000 from the milk delivered to our creamery, and it must be remembered that the milk production is only a small part of the farm production as a whole. We sell our cheese all over the West and have never had any difficulty finding a market. This year I hope to install a separator to separate the fat in the whey, and that will mean a saving of $1,200 yearly in by-products."

Father Theillon has been pastor at Gentilly twenty-five years. He was situated there before the Duluth diocese was organized, and he is now attached to the Crookston diocese.

"The Crookston diocese under Bishop Corbett has made wonderful strides," he said. "The country is settling up rapidly and the Catholic population is growing accordingly. Of course, in the Red River valley we have been prosperous for many years, but drainage, road building and railroad building are opening vast new areas that will add to the farm production of Northern Minnesota. The territory embraced in the Crookston diocese has a great future and will soon be one of the most prosperous sections of the state."

GIRLS! LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR NO DANDRUFF---25 CENT DANDERINE

Hair Coming Out? If Dry, Thin, Faded, Bring Back Its Color and Lustre.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine, from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

HALL IS CONFIRMED TO SUCCEED PROUTY

Washington, March 10.—The senate confirmed the nomination of Henry Clay Hall of Colorado as interstate commerce commissioner to succeed Charles A. Prouty.

RIOT STARTS AT REVIVAL SERVICE

New York, March 10.—Police reserves from three precincts were called last night to restore order among some 5,000 persons who had failed to gain admittance at Carnegie hall, where "Billy" Sunday, former baseball player and now an evangelist, made an address dealing mainly with the modern mission of the church. About 8,000 managed to get into the auditorium in a manner that was nothing short of a riot.

The police had to interfere with drawn clubs, and before order was reestablished ambulances had to be brought to the scene. Several women fainted in the crush, and a few persons were badly battered.

A tussle of would-be auditors with ushers and attendants of the hall added to the excitement.

THREE EXAMINATIONS IN CIVIL SERVICE

Three civil service examinations will be held on March 30 and another on April 15 to fill government positions in the United States and the possessions.

Information regarding the examination may be obtained from the civil service department at Washington, or from E. M. Barker, superintendent of the registry department at the postoffice, who is local secretary of the examining board.

The positions for which examinations are to be held and their respective salaries follow: Laboratory assistant, $1,200; assistant map printer, 75 cents per day; shoe and harness maker, $660 per year; and mechanical draftsman, $900.

PREMIER VICTOR IN SPANISH ELECTION

Madrid, March 10.—Eduardo Dato, the Spanish premier, won a sweeping victory in the general elections. He will continue to hold office, with a majority of the chamber of deputies of nearly one hundred over all possible combinations. Out of the 404 deputies the ministerialists obtained 10 of 358.

WOMEN CAN HARDLY BELIEVE

How Mrs. Hurley Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Eldon, Mo. — "I was troubled with displacement, inflammation and female weakness. For two years I could not stand on my feet long at a time and I could not walk two blocks without enduring cutting and drawing pains down my right side which increased every month. I have been at that time purple in the face and would walk the floor. I could not lie down or sit still sometimes for a day and a night at a time. I was nervous, and had very little appetite, no ambition, melancholy, and often felt as though I had not a friend in the world. After I had tried most every female remedy without success, my mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and gained in strength every day. I have now no trouble in any way and highly praise your medicine It advertises itself."—Mrs. S. T. HURLEY, Eldon, Missouri.

Remember, the remedy which did this was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For sale everywhere.

It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means have failed. Why don't you try it? Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

HOW I CURED MY SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

A Friendly Scientist Showed Me How to Cure It Forever

I WILL TELL YOU FREE HOW TO GET RID OF YOURS TOO

For a long time I was sorely troubled by a hideous growth of Superfluous Hair on my face and arms. My face was indeed a sight from the exasperating growth and I grew almost to hate myself for my unsightly appearance. There are many things advertised for Superfluous Hair, and I think I tried them all but never with any result, except to waste my money and burn my skin.

But, notwithstanding all my years of disappointment, today there is not a sign of Superfluous Hair on my face, arms or anywhere else. I got rid of it through following the advice of a friendly scientist, a Professor of Chemistry at an English University. The treatment he advised is so thorough, simple and easy to use that I want every other sufferer in America to know about it. It worked such a change in my appearance and my happiness, that I gladly waive my natural feelings of sensitiveness and will tell broadcast to all who are afflicted how I destroyed every trace of hair, never to return.

If you are a sufferer and would like to have full details, just send along your name (stating whether Mrs. or Miss) and address and a (two-cent stamp for return postage and I will send you in full detail the advice and instructions which resulted in my own cure after all else failed. Address your letter, Mrs. Kathryn Jenkins, Apt. 653 B. C. No. 264 Purchase St., Boston, Mass.

NOTE: Mrs. Jenkins as her photograph shows, is a lady of refinement, and for years was well-known as a Society Leader in Scranton, Pa.

SEVENTY-FIVE TAKING COURSE

Students Form Farmers' Club; Interesting Features Are Planned.

Students and instructors began the regular grind of work this morning at the northeast demonstration farm and experiment station of the University of Minnesota Practically all registrations were made yesterday The total number of students will be about seventy-five

The work taken up today consisted of discussions of brushing and logging land and dairy farm management A. J. McGuire and Percy Vibert were in charge.

Tonight there will be a stereopticon lecture on "The Evolution of a Northeastern Minnesota Farm" by M. J. Thompson.

At last night's session a farmers' club was organized among the students. This club will have charge of the evening sessions to a large extent during the remainder of the course. All the officers of the new club have had experience in farm club work.

Rudolph Paulson of Adolph was chosen president; Henry Cruse, vice president; Arthur Fichtner, secretary-treasurer.

The evening sessions are expected to be of great interest and be largely attended. A question box will be conducted each night.

Big saving will be made by taking advantage of Forward's removal sale of furniture.

MANDAMUS IS DENIED SULZER

Albany, N. Y., March 10.—The application in behalf of Former Governor Sulzer for the issuance of a writ of mandamus against State Comptroller Sohmer to compel him to pay Mr. Sulzer the salary of governor from the time he was removed from office last October, was denied by Supreme Court Justice Chester. Counsel for Mr. Sulzer appealed to the appellate division, which is expected to render this week a decision that will pass the case onto the court of appeals without deciding upon its merits.

SAY WAITRESSES MAKE $15 A WEEK

Testimony Is Given Regarding Chicago Restaurant Strike

Chicago, March 10.—A waitress who works three hours a day and gets a salary of $3.50 a week, will make an average of $15 to $18 a week with the help of her tips, it was testified in the court proceedings concerning the attempted boycott of a downtown restaurant by members of the waitresses' union. Waitresses employed by the concern in question said that a girl working six hours a day at a wage of $5 weekly would earn $25 a week.

The "vampire" system, by which waiters are hired by the head waiters and the cooks by the chef, was discussed. Waiters must keep paying the head waiters in order to hold their jobs, it was said, but the system was declared to be firmly established.

The restaurant keeper is seeking an injunction to prevent waitresses from picketing in front of his place. A delegation of business men protested to the mayor against the continual disturbances of the boycott. When policemen would attempt to arrest a picket, it was said, the women would promptly sit down on the pavement and a crowd would gather to see her picked up and carried to the patrol wagon.

Reports on West Virginia.

Washington, March 10.—The report of the senate sub-committee which investigated the West Virginia coal strike was filed in the senate yesterday by Senator Swanson of Virginia, chairman of the committee. His report, while characterizing conditions in the strike field as "most deplorable," makes no recommendations, the committee explaining that the resolution authorizing the investigation conferred on it no power to recommend remedial legislation.

INTERESTING PEOPLE WHO ARE DOING INTERESTING WORK HERE

No. 2.

Making useful citizens from society's driftwood is the mission of Fred Ward, superintendent of the joint county and city work farm which was estabalished recently six miles west of the city on the Pike Lake road.

It is a big mission and Mr. Ward is handling it in a big way. Mr. Ward in the first instance is a practical farmer, having served the county in the capacity of agricultural agent before taking up the position he now occupies at the head of the new correctional institution.

Mr. Ward believes in the open air treatment for misdemeanants. He contends that, so far as is possible, there should be a breaking away from the time-worn practice of punishing law offenders by confining them in crowded jails in idleness.

A new and far more humane system of dealing with criminals is what Mr. Ward and others engaged in the same line of work, are trying to establish throughout the country.

In the newly established quarters at the joint county and city work farm, half a hundred men are now serving time, but not in idleness. Under the direction of Mr. Ward and his assistants, every man is put to work out in the open.

Every day every prisoner does a man's work, eats a man's share and sleeps an allotted time. And when he has served his time, he usually feels that he has not lost it. In some cases, he has learned how to work, and he is ready to take a men's job, instead of coming out weakened morally and physically by long confinement in a cell.

DULUTH'S PAVING PROGRAM IS GIVEN ANOTHER JOLT

Property Owners Petition Against Paving of Woodland Avenue.

Contractors Object to Condemnation of Lake Shore Strip.

Another bump was added, to the city's battered paving program when a big petition protesting against the improvement of Woodland avenue between Fourth and Victoria streets was filed with the council yesterday afternoon.

This practically precludes the probability of Woodland avenue, or any section of it, being paved this year. This job was one of the first on the list of those contemplated for the present season.

Stewart G. Collins, who presented the protest petition, stated that the signers represent approximately 8,800 feet of frontage out of a total of about 10,280 feet. Such an overwhelming protest makes it impossible for an effective petition asking that the work be done to be secured.

Among the reasons given by Mr. Collins for the protest were: The desire of the owners to have the underground work done this season and the paving postponed until 1915; their objection to paying advance assessments, and the fear of some that sandstone might be ordered, which would be the most expensive and result in heavy assessments.

Two Resolutions.

By recently passing two resolutions relative to Woodland avenue the council opened the way for the filing of the protest petition and caused the delay which it was sought to avoid. The first resolution ordered Woodland avenue paved its whole length, as petitioned for, but specified that because of shortage of funds only that part between Fourth and Victoria streets should be paved this season. It is believed that this would have been all the action necessary. The second resolution ordered the paving of Woodland avenue from Fourth to Victoria streets under that section of the charter which authorizes street improvements without petition. But the same section also gives the property owners sixty days in which to file a protesting petition and the filing of the nearly unanimous protest yesterday shows that they lost no time in taking advantage of it.

Want Riparian Rights.

Whitney Bros. sent in a communication suggesting that the city repeal the action which has been taken by the council looking towards the condemnation of a strip of land along the lake shore east of First avenue east, from the mainland to the canal. By this means the city's intention is to secure the riparian rights, which would enable it in the future to construct a breakwater and secure a big piece of extremely valuable made ground. Whitney Bros. assert that this would deprive them of their riparian rights, thereby causing them much damage. They state that if the city wants a dumping ground it can be secured by placing cribs 300 feet from the shore line, which would be done by the property owners. The matter was referred to Mayor Prince.

The communication of the Fifth Ward Hillside Improvement club, protesting against allowing further use of the rifle range on the ground that it constitutes a menace and a nuisance, was referred to Safety Commissioner Hicken.

A resolution was passed declaring approximately five blocks of Stearns avenue east of the mouth of Lester river vacated without restriction. The city yesterday received a deed to the property which was promised in exchange for the vacation and which will be used as part of the Congdon boulevard.

The petition that blocks 109 and 110 of the Sixth division of West Duluth be designated as residence district was referred to the city attorney for examination as to its sufficiency.

Adolph Egdahl filed application for a saloon license at 502 West Superior street. Safety Commissioner Hicken announced that the license for this place would not be granted to Gust Egdahl, although he has been in the saloon business here for many years, as he has been a resident of Superior for at least eight years. He said that saloon licenses will be issued only to bona fide residents of Duluth.

Norman Smith applied for a transfer to himself of the license at 517 West Michigan street, now standing in the name of Martin Smith, his father. A. Grenager asked for the license at 520 West Superior street, being a transfer of Martin Smith's license at that location. Some weeks ago the council was asked to transfer these licenses and two others to the Martin Smith Liquor company, a corporation, but the applications were denied upon the ruling of the city attorney that this could not be done. The intention was to avoid loss of the license under the state law which provides that saloon licenses shall become void upon the death of the licensee.

C. N. Inforzato asked for a renewal of his license at 1502 Commonwealth avenue. Inforzato was in a bit of limelight before he secured his saloon license at Gary last summer.

There was a wide variance in the bids received by City Clerk C. S. Palmer for miscellaneous license tags. The National Stamp & Printing company bid $178.20 and the Duluth Badge & Printing company bid $606.50. The former will get the contract and an ordinance making the necessary appropriation was introduced yesterday.

Action upon the petition for the condemnation of an alley from Seventeenth avenue east to the center of block 37, Endion division, was laid over a week. The property owners who will benefit will be asked to appear before the council next Monday. The council estimates that the condemnation will cost several hundred dollars and it will not be made unless those who benefit will stand the expense.

Upon the recommendation of the health director a sanitary sewer was ordered in Fifty-eighth alley west from a point about fifteen feet north of Raleigh street to a connection with the Polk street outlet sewer. The health director stated that the conditions are such that the lack of sewage facilities is a menace to the public health.

Buy a Scarifier.

The contract for a scarifier for use by the works division was awarded to the Austin Western Road Machinery company on its bid of $450. The scarifier is a machine with several downward projecting iron prongs which tear up street surfaces and is used principally in resurfacing.

Safety Commissioner Hicken withdrew the ordinance to license bartenders, which roused such a storm of opposition.

The council authorized the expenditure of $325 to purchase one-half of a 10-acre tract owned by John Heltman adjacent to the work farm. The county will pay for the other half.

Ordinances appropriating $18,000 for sprinkling, $875 for a portable rock crusher for the park department and $5,000 for lumber for maintenance purposes of the works division were given their first reading.

The smoke ordinance, making it unlawful for any chimney to emit dense smoke more than six minutes in any hour, was given its second reading.

An ordinance appropriating $1,800 to pay one-half the cost of a bridge over Keene's creek between the boulevard and the Getchell road, was given its third reading and passed.

The resolution of Mayor Prince giving it as the opinion of the council that secretaries should come under civil service was turned down, Commissioners Merritt, Murchison and Hicken voting against it.

A resolution was passed authorizing the expenditure of not to exceed $1,200 for the audit of the city's books, of which $700 will be paid from the general fund and $500 from the public utility fund.

FATHER WIRTH'S HEIRS MAKE PLEA

Washington, March 10.—Whether vows of poverty of the Order of St. Benedict or other religious orders are void as against public policy, is argued in briefs filed in the supreme court.

On behalf of a niece and nephew of the late Father Wirth, priest of a church at Springfield, Minn., attorneys contended the vows he took to the order were void as against public policy, and that his property, consisting of the income from the sale of books he had written, should go to the heirs. They contended that the civil courts would no more enforce such an agreement than enforce an agreement to surrender one's life to another.

Attorneys on behalf of the order pointed to its achievements as showing it was not against public policy.

Plea For the Order.

"Through its followers and disciples," it was argued, "Christianity firmly was planted in various parts of England, the greater part of Central Germany was evangelized, the German church was founded, and the Teutonic races were converted. Education has been and now is among the recognized and principal works of the Benedictines in America and other countries.

"It is to the credit of the American nation that no legal or illegal authority has hitherto disturbed this order in its peaceful pursuit of doing good. Nor has the right to live its community life in its own way and in accordance with its own rules as to its property rights ever been questioned hertofore."

HEIR TO THRONE OF BRUNSWICK DUE

Berlin, March 10.—Horace Roumbolit, counsellor of the British embassy here, has been ordered to Brunswick, where the arrival of an heir to the throne is expected shortly. The young duke of Brunswick, with the duchess, who formerly was Princess Victoria Louise of Prussia and is the only daughter of Emperor William, took up his official residence in Brunswick several months ago.

The presence of a British official is in accordance with the ancient custom which renders necessary the certification of the birth of a member of the British royal family. The duke is a British prince. The German empress already has arrived in Brunswick.

REPLIES TO RAILROADS

Clifford Thorne Opposes Proposed Advance in Rates.

Insists None Should Be Allowed Pending Valuation Work.

Washington, March 10—On behalf of eight western states, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, North Dakota and South Dakota, and the National Livestock association, Clifford Thorne, chairman of the railroad commission of Iowa, protested to the interstate commerce commission against the proposed advance of railroad freight rates in Eastern territory.

In arguing against the proposed increase, Mr. Thorne explained the people "heartily favor the elimination of all free services and favored shippers."

"Mr. Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, and his associates," Mr. Thorne said, "are here demanding immediate relief from a situation which they claim is intolerable. There is no crisis whatever in the railroad business which will prevent a denial of this 5 per cent advance from being followed with an intelligent, orderly, fair investigation of the whole subject of special services."

Physical Valuation First.

Thorne contended that until a physical valuation of railroad properties had been made, the reasonableness of returns received by the roads could not be determined.

"It is true," said he, "that labor costs have gone up, that some supply costs have gone up and that some rates have gone down. On the other hand, many supply costs have gone down, and many rates have gone up."

Railroading, he declared, had been revolutionized in the last fifteen years, and the net revenues of the railroads in the Eastern territory for 1910, 1911, 1912 and 1913 were greater than for any preceding year in their entire history.

"Last year," he said, "their net revenues were more than $100,000,000 greater than in 1900. They tell us their properties have been running down. They spent more per mile on maintenance, structures and equipment last year than for any preceding year. They are maintaining properties better than ever before.

"Credit Not Ruined."

"The railroads claim that their credit has been ruined and that their securities are no longer attractive to investors. As a fact, their securities sell as high as those of any other companies on the market at the present time."

In support of his contentions, Mr. Thorne presented to the commission elaborate data compiled by statisticians working under his direction.

Ask Your Doctor

Is alcohol a tonic? No! Does it make the blood pure? No! Does it strengthen the nerves? No! Is Ayer's Sarsaparilla a tonic? Yes! Does it make the blood pure? Yes! Does it strengthen the nerves? Yes! Ask your doctor about this.

HELEN KELLER SAYS SHE HEARD SINGER

Los Angeles, Cal., March 10.—Helen Keller, the deaf and blind young woman, says she firmly believes she has at heard a sound—the high note of a singer, Minnie Saltzman Stevens, who sang for her several times. Until last Sunday, Miss Keller said, she was not certain that the vibrations of the singer's voice had made an impression on her dormant ear drums, but that after a series of experiments ending Sunday night she was convinced that she was really able to hear.

"I know now I can hear," she declared, "and I am so happy!"

Miss Keller left for a short trip to surrounding cities and will return Thursday to repeat the experiment of listening to the singer without the usual aid of her hand upon mouth and throat.

FORMER "KING OF GOLDFIELD" BROKE

Los Angeles, Cal., March 10.—Lawrence M. Sullivan, the "king of Goldfield" in the boom days of the Nevada mining camp, and reputed then a multi-millionaire, surrendered himself to a township constable here on a warrant charging that he had defrauded Mrs. Laura Rogers out of $5,000. Mrs. Rogers alleged that after obtaining all her money, supposedly for investment, Sullivan induced her to part with her jewelry also. Sullivan was held in bail of $2,000.

Seven years ago Sullivan was virtual ruler of Goldfield, and at the head of a score of mining companies, in addition to banking and other operations. The collapse of the boom swept away his fortune.

PIMPLES LIKE BOILS DISFIGURED BABY

On Head, Arms and Hands. Then All Over Body. Cried Continually. Itched and Burned. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

R. F. D. No. 2, Jeffersonville, Ill.—"When my baby was three weeks old the top of her head, her arms and hands broke out with a number of small red blisters which itched and burned causing her to scratch them. The blisters looked like heat when they first began to break out and they would get about as large as a pea. They would then fester and look like boils. Then they began to appear all over her body. She cried continually with them. She was very restless and lost much sleep at night. She would scratch them until they would bleed and she was terribly disfigured. Her clothing stuck to the blisters on her body.

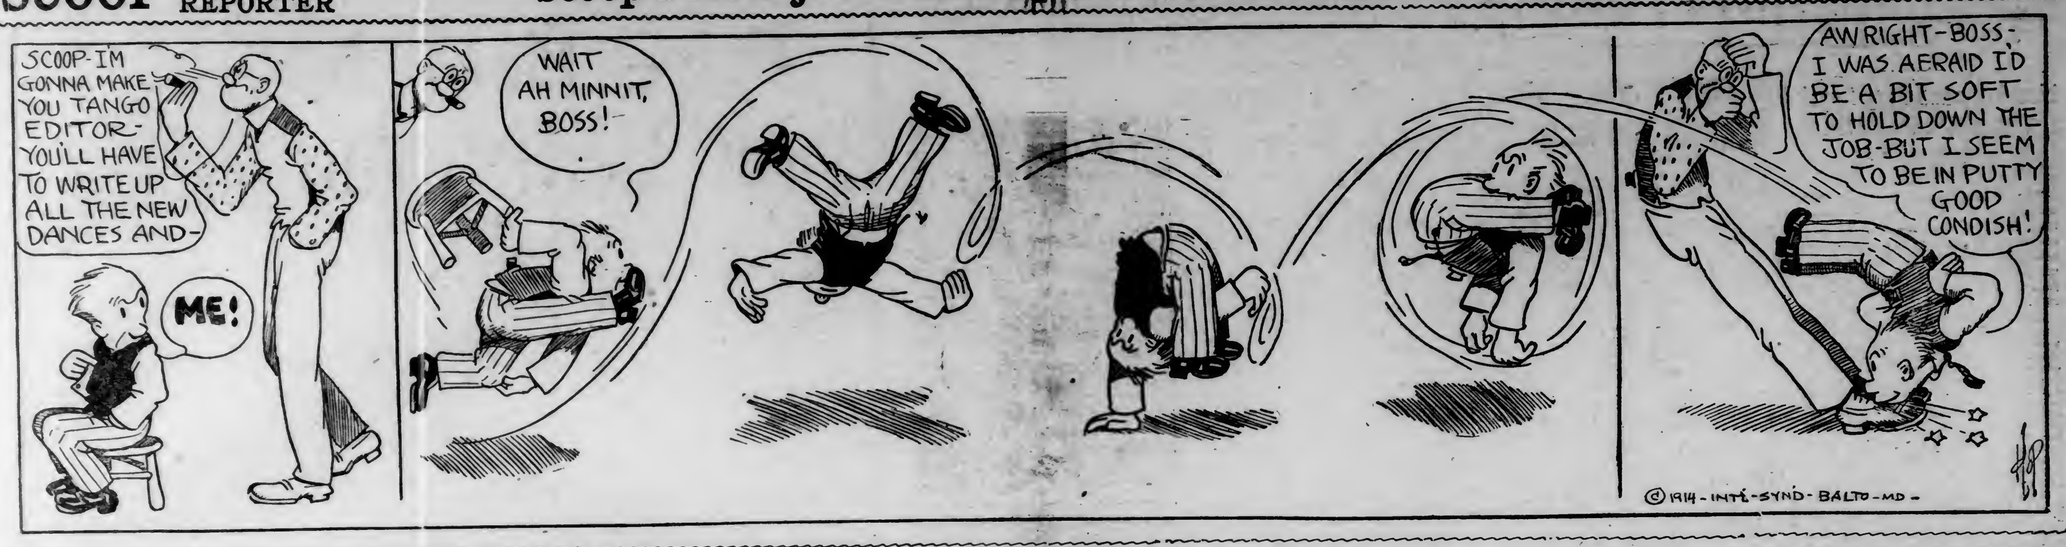

"I saw the Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertisement and with but little faith I decided I would try them so sent for a sample. The first treatment relieved her so much that I just kept on using Cuticura Soap and Ointment, used only one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and the cure was complete." (Signed) Mrs. Edith Seager, Oct. 4, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment have proved most valuable for the treatment of pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness of the face and hands, dandruff, itching, irritated scalps with dry, thin and falling hair, as well as for irritations and chafings of infancy and for all purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

BUSY SEASON IS PLANNED

Red River Valley Farm Association Not to Be Idle Next Summer.

Schemes for Further Development of Valley Will Be Undertaken.

Crookston, Minn., March 10.—The Minnesota Red River Valley Farm Development association recently organized here is preparing for an active summer's work. A meeting is to be held soon when active working plans will be mapped out, and the various committees named that will vigorously push the work assigned.

President Welter of Moorhead with the other officers, and the executive committee, plan vigorous action next summer, in order to take advantage of the present optimistic spirit, and to keep in motion the progressive agencies started at the Farm Crops show here last month.

Following out the resolution passed at the time of the organization of the association, a special committee will be named which will co-operate in every way to make the Red River Valley summer meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association a big success, with the largest attendance ever sent by the Valley counties in the history of the parent organization.

To Work Out Problems.

The efforts of the Valley association will be confined entirely to working out problems peculiar to the conditions presented in the Red River valley.

The real estate men of Crookston, who organized last week, will cooperate with the immigration committee of the Valley organization.

Another committee will work with the other development associations in connection with problems of a general nature, and which cannot be handled by a central committee better than by the different organizations separately.

NOTES PAYABLE "AFTER DEATH"

Ancient Attempt to Defraud Old North Dakota Woman Fails.

Mott, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Martin Klein and Otto Thress settled with Mrs. Elizabeth Kolbus after she had testified in her suit against them for recovery of her property. She was aged and could not speak the English language. She alleged they induced her to deed them the land and they gave her notes in payment. When she endeavored to dispose of the notes it was found they were not due until "after her death."

Settle When Sued.

She brought suit against them and after giving her testimony the defendants offered to settle, paying her $1,400 and the costs of the action. After her testimony there was considerable indignation against the men.

THIRD CANDIDATE FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

COL. J. H. FRAINE.

Grafton, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. H. Fraine of this city, who was speaker of the last house of the North Dakota legislature, today threw his hat into the ring as a candidate for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket.

"I am entering the race independent of any other candidate," said Speaker Fraine. "I have been considering the matter for some time, delaying decision till I was fully satisfied that conditions were such as to warrant fair assurance of my success."

Speaker Fraine's entrance into the race follows the announcements made, within the last few weeks, of Lieutenant Governor A. T. Grabael, and of Former State Senator Henry J. Bessesen, of Harvey. Mr. Fraine is colonel of the First regiment, North Dakota National Guard, and is a veteran of the Philippine war, serving as major of the Second battalion of the North Dakota regiment during that conflict.

SAWYER COUNTY BOON.

Pickle Concern Contracts With Farmers to Raise Cucumbers.

Couderay, Wis., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—A representative of the Wisconsin Pickle company has been canvassing this part of Sawyer county with the view of establishing pickling stations. He has already secured enough acreage in Birchwood to assure that village of a station and stations may also be put in at Radisson and Winter, near here, if the required number of acres can be secured, if not they will place buyers on the ground, purchasing all that will be raised and ship the cucumbers to the nearest station until enough farmers can be secured to sign up for the 100 acres required for the erection of a pickling plant. The new industry will mean a great deal to the farmers in this county.

BEUM PERSISTS HE IS INNOCENT

Minneapolis, Minn., March 10.—"It's pretty tough," was the comment made by Charles N. Beum of Minneapolis, one of the men convicted at Indianapolis in 1912 of conspiracy to transport dynamite on interstate passenger trains with other leaders of the Iron Workers' union, when told that his appeal to the United States supreme court for a new trial had been denied. His sentence was for three years imprisonment.

"I am going down to the Federal prison feeling that I am perfectly innocent, and I'll serve my time and come out of prison feeling the same way," Beum said.

EBERHART TO SPEAK.

Governor Will Address East Grand Forks Short Course Gathering.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local short course is now in full swing and will continue the balance of the week. Governor Eberhart will speak Friday night.

The organization in charge of the week's work follows: President, James Cummings; secretary, L. H. Hauser; treasurer, J. R. Johnson; farm crops committee, D. B. Ferguson, William M. Huggins, A. A. Olson, Oscar Wick and L. M. Braden; live stock, M. L. Enright, J. T. Sullivan, J. W. Coulter and L. Sullivan; home economics, Mrs. P. J. McCoy, Miss Lillian Pearson, Mrs. William Robertson and Mrs. C. A. Newhouse.

The Commercial club committee working with the school organization is headed by Judge T. A. Sullivan and includes N. J. Nelson, J. R. Jacobi, J. H. McNichol and John Vosler.

MOORHEAD CANNERY BENEFIT TO FARMERS.

Moorhead, Minn., March 10.—A big opportunity will be offered Clay county truck farmers when the new canning factory is opened in Moorhead. At a conservative estimate the plant will consume during the coming season 250 tons of vegetables, all of which, because of the perishable nature of the stock, must come from territory within a comparatively short radius of the county seat.

NEW MAHNOMEN SCHOOL

Edifice Will Be Properly Dedicated on Next Friday.

Mahnomen, Minn., March 10. — The splendid new high school just completed here will be officially dedicated next Friday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon Prof. J. H. Hay of the Thief River Falls schools, and S. A. Challman of Minneapolis, high school commissioner, will be the principal speakers. For the evening meeting Prof. Samuel Quigley, of the college of education, Minnesota university, and State Supt. Schulz, will be the speakers. There will be some musical numbers by local talent. A very interesting program is being arranged by Principal Jackman and the teachers.

UNIVERSITY RUNS STATE.

Madison Lawyer Says Too Many Commissions Increase Taxes.

Madison, Wis., March 10. — That the state university rules the state through feeding the commissions, which in turn furnish places of power and profit to the output of the university, is the main substance of a statement issued here by T. C. Richmond, a local attorney, a life long Republican and political adviser.

He attributes the present high rate of taxes to the influence of the university and existence of the commission, and prescribes a series of remedies, notable of which is a return to the old time state convention and a complete reorganization of the board of university regents to include the ablest educator, business man and lawyer available, and two ablest women in the state, all to serve at an adequate salary.

NORTH DAKOTA GOOD.

Restricted Districts and Gambling Reported Out of Business.

Devils Lake, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is not a restricted district in North Dakota, according to F. L. Watkins, superintendent of the North Dakota Enforcement league, speaking at the prohibition rally here last night, at which Superintendent P. J. Youngdahl, of the Minnesota Anti-Saloon league, was the principal speaker.

Mr. Watkins also said the new state law against gambling had resulted in putting 5,000 gambling devices out of business.

Mr. Youngdahl declared the North Dakota prohibition law was a big force in aiding in the prohibition movement in Minnesota. He predicted success for the county option forces in the next sesssion of the Minnesota legislature.

Bathgate Couple Divorced.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charging cruel and inhuman treatment Mrs. Norman Watson of Bathgate yesterday before Judge Kneeshaw successfully maintained her suit for divorce from Norman Watson, who is said to be in Winnipeg. It is said the defendant figured in an incident with a girl who died from an illegal operation in Minneapolis but this did not figure in the divorce proceedings.

SCOTTISH RITE MEETS AT FARGO

Fargo, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Masons of high degree are in Fargo today to attend the winter reunion of the Scottish Rite bodies. There will be a large class of candidates from all over the state and the degrees from the fourth to the thirty-second will be conferred, many of them with fitting ceremony on the large stage in the auditorium of the Masonic temple. This is the sixty-eighth reunion of the Rite bodies in this valley. Arrangements are being made for a big meeting of the Shriners in June.

$60,000 School for Ladysmith.

Ladysmith, Wis., March 10.—This city is arranging for the building of a $60,000 high school. The building will have an auditorium, gymnasium and automatic sprinklers for fire protection.

Boy Blackhander Sentenced.

Barron, Wis., March 10.—Charles E. Gilbertson, 14 years old, living with his uncle, R. J. Bartrum, near Chetek, Wis., wrote Dr. George Malcolm of Chetek a "blackhand" letter demanding $1,000 in cash. On being arrested he confessed, and was sent to the industrial school for boys until he is 21 years of age.

Elected College Dean.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. Vernon P. Squires, for seventeen years member of the faculty of the University of North Dakota, yesterday was elected dean of the college of liberal arts, succeeding Dr. M. A. Brannon, president-elect of the University of Idaho.

Dr. Leonard D. Bristol, formerly of St. Paul, will become director of the state public health laboratory, succeeding Dr. C. F. Reudiger, who has resigned to take up work at La Salle, Ind. Dr. Bristol comes from the Syracuse university.

Dr. R. T. Young was elected director of the state biological station at Devils Lake, over which Dr. M. A. Brannon has heretofore presided.

Small Town Adopts Commission.

Ray, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ray is the smallest town in North Dakota with the commission form of government. The vote for the adoption of the system was about 5 to 1 in its favor. As soon as the charter arrives the new officials will be elected.

Aged Ones at Dinner.

Fond du Lac, Wis., March 10.—Seventeen guests at the dinner last night celebrating the ninety-fourth anniversary of Richard Kaye represented a total of 1,275 years. Kaye is a pioneer resident of Wisconsin and his guests were all Wisconsin pioneers. Their ages ranged from 70 to 93 years.

Estate For Unitarians.

Madison, Wis., March 10.—The will of Mrs. Emma E. Mercer filed here for probate leaves the bulk of the estate, after a term of years, to the First Unitarian society. The estate amounts to about $16,000.

"Requested" to Leave.

Shields, N. D., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Feltus, a local blacksmith, said to have been implicated with a girl of 17, and his wife have left here for Montana. It is said they were "requested" to leave because of the scandal growing out of his alleged associations with the girl.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Lake Linden—The grand lodge officers of the Fraternal Order of Eagles have indorsed the plan of Lake Linden aerie to unite with Hubbell aerie. The aeries voted on the proposition several weeks ago and everything was arranged then.

Baraga—The Zenith Lumber company elected the following officers: President, Thomas Nevins of East Orange, N. J.; vice president, George Nester; secretary and manager, Frank Nester; treasurer, Thomas Malloney of New York.

Marquette—Although the early part of the winter was marked by unusual thaws that threatened the ice industry, the cut this season has been larger, and the quality of the ice better than for several years past, according to Louis A. Riedenger, manager of the Lake Superior Ice company, which has just completed its 1914 harvest.

Escanaba—F. D. Davis, former superintendent of the Negaunee schools, who for a number of years past has been one of the district agents for the Detroit Life Insurance company, making his headquarters here, was recently elected to the position of Upper peninsula manager of the company.

Republic—William J. Irwin has received official notice of his appointment as postmaster here. He will not take over the duties until the first of next month. E. Erickson, the present postmaster, has held the office for the past sixteen years. Although Mr. Irwin has made no announcement it is thought that Hugo E. Erickson, the present assistant postmaster, will be retained.

Munising—Andrew Swizak, aged 28 years, and single, received injuries at the paper mill here from the effects of which he died in the hospital. It is said the man was handling a big stick or a piece of scantling when somehow he got tangled up with a pulley which went to pieces and a fragment of this struck him.

Negaunee—A box car loaded with wood, which was being run into the Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company's storage shed, was derailed by ice between the rails, and the services of a number of section men were required to get it back on the track.

Iron Mountain—Rev. Father Corcoran of Iron Mountain is critically ill with pneumonia at his home here.

Ontonagon—Every lumber camp in this vicinity is working to its fullest capacity in an endeavor to get their logs banked before the breakup.

Ironwood — The Elks elected these officers: Exalted ruler, R. A. Douglas; esteemed leading knight, William Tolan; esteemed lecturing knight, Herbert Jussen; esteemed loyal knight, F. F. Thalner; inner guard, J. R. Brown; outer guard, John Erickson; secretary, Don Patterson; treasurer, E. A. Gamble; esquire, Dr. Robert Mullen; chaplain, Charles Smeeth.

Marquette — The board of education decided that in the city budget for the next fiscal year the board will ask for $55,000, which is the same sum as last year. This amount will, it is expected, be large enough to permit the board to retire $10,000 in bonds.

Ishpeming — William Sellwood, a former resident, who now conducts a hotel in Salt Lake City, Utah, is visiting in the city, having come here from Duluth, where he was called by the death of his brother, the late Capt. Joseph Sellwood.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—The suit of Catherine Michaels, orphan, against the Southern Wisconsin Railway company for $5,000 for alleged injuries has been continued until next term in the circuit court. Miss Michaels was getting off a South Madison car last May. She claims she received injuries for which she asks damages.

Green Bay—After lingering between life and death for a week, Mrs. H. J. Malchow, who fired a bullet into her heart, died March 8. She had instituted divorce proceedings against her husband, an auto salesman, the day before she attempted to kill herself. The woman was 25 years old and mother of two children.

Madison — Attorney General Owen held that the 1913 law appropriating $2,000 for a state game farm in Northern Wisconsin, does not permit expenditure for transportation of deer and elk from Yellowstone park. The department of the interior offered the state fifty elk. Transportation would cost $10 a head.

Milwaukee—The Milwaukee Wochenblat, a Yiddish paper and the only publication devoteed solely to Jewish news in Wisconsin, is published in Milwaukee. The first issue appeared Friday. Isadore S. Horwitz, Milwaukee, is the publisher of the new weekly that will be devoted to the uplift of the Jewish peoples and their interests.

Beloit—After being given shelter in Miller & Adams' stockyards office John and Thomas Mayer, Freeport, Ill., stole brass from the scaler and were on Saturday sent to state prison for fifteen months.

Grand Rapids—Supt. C. W. Otto of Marshfield has been re-engaged by the school board as superintendent of the public schools of the city at a salary of $2,100 per year. This is an increase of $100.

Green Bay—A crusade for Sunday closing of saloons in Green Bay has taken definite form during the last week and as a result eleven saloon keepers have already been arrested under warrants sworn out and signed by women of the city. The eleven saloon keepers, who appeared in court last week, all pleaded not guilty, and intimated that they will fight the Baker law.

Grand Rapids—The Weinberg Construction comopany of this city is planning to build a factory for the manufacture of sash, doors and interior finishing goods at a cost of $25,000. The site selected is on the Soo line in West Grand Rapids.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Crookston—J. E. Mahoney has purchased the house on Central avenue near the high bridge in Highland Park and he is to raise chickens and other farm products. He has an adjoining two acres and expects to import some blooded stock of chickens for it in the near future and will move there in the course of a month.

Stillwater—Damages in the sum of $7,300, of which $300 are for medical attendance, are sought in an action commenced in district court by James W. Wilson against the Omaha Railway company. It is alleged in the complaint that Mr. Wilson, who lives in Oak Park, had his neck sprained, his face cut and wounded Aug. 3 last.

Park Rapids—The bean house of Winship & Vogtman closed last week for the season, having shipped about seven carloads of beans which represent the disbursement of $18,000 among the producers of this vicinity.

Motley—Ira Felton, who has purchased the Trolson farm in Cass county arrived recently with two cars of stock, machinery and other goods from Owatonna.

Fergus Falls—Anna Tabery has been granted a divorce in the district court from her husband, Ferdinand Tabery, on the ground of cruelty. She is 3 years of age and he is 51, and they were married in Wadena last August. Shocking allegations of abuse are made in the complaint.

St. Hilaire—John Scholin was awarded the contract for erecting the Swedish Lutheran church parsonage. Work will be commenced as soon as weather conditions will permit.

Hallock—Bishop Morrison of Duluth will visit Hallock on Sunday, March 19, when he will fill the pulpit of the Episcopal church and conduct confirmation services for a class of six.

Holt—Wolves have been giving pretty strong concerts in this vicinity every night lately. The Skoglund brothers brought in two which they had killed near Ringbo, and Alfred Olson shot one just south of town.

Moorhead—George S. Barnes, Jr., who will operate the Barnes farm, or that portion which comes to him under the arrangement intered into by the heirs of the late George S. Barnes, has purchased the big herd of Holstein cows owned by D. S. B. Johnston at Marion, N. D. It is rumored that the price paid for the herd was $25,000.

Minneapolis—Firemen carried three persons to safety from a fire that destroyed the interior of the grocery store of H. J. Finman, 1419 Eighth street south, Sunday morning. Mrs. John G. Carlson, sleeping on the floor over the grocery, and the two children of Mr. Finman, Ralph and Wilson, were taken into the street in their night clothing. The combined loss is estimated at $2,50.

Little Falls—The German-American National Bank of Little Falls, one of the oldest banks in this section, of which C. A. Weyerhauser is president, is occupying its new $25,000 home.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Fargo, N. D.—Hans Bly, who was brought before Judge Pollock in district court charged with non-support of his family, was given his freedom on his promise to brace up and become a good citizen.

Plaza, N. D.—The explosion of a gasoline lamp in the Mandagn drug store here resulted in the destruction of the drug store, the postoffice and the office of the Carlson Land company, with a total property loss of $10,000.

Fargo, N. D.—Arthur P. Chandler died March 8 at his home on Tenth street and Fifth avenue north after several weeks' illness. The deceased was one of the pioneers of this city.

Lansford, N. D.—There are now seventy paid-up members of the local Commercial club. The officers are campaigning for a rooster of 100 members.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The Elks elected the following officers: Exalted ruler, B. N. Abrahamson; esteemed leading knight, William Morrow; esteemed loyal knight, Frank Robertson; esteemed lecturing knight, Ray Durick; secretary, F. A. Brown; treasurer, J. D. Turner; tyler, Jack Bartness; trustee, three years, F. D. Cameron; representative to grand lodge, Robert Spriggs.

Williston, N. D.—A. W. Cascaden has disposed of the Wills hotel to William C. Messenger of Ray.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Rev. E. M. Broen of Mayville and Rev. C. J. Brun of Fergus Falls Sunday wound up the four weeks of revival meetings which have been held by many evangelists for the Bethel's Lutheran church of this city and East Grand Forks.

Minot, N. D.—The clearings during last week amounted to $143,245.73, while those of the previous week were $115,309.09, thus showing an increase of more than $27,000.

Willow City, N. D.—Willow City may secure an electric light plant. For some time there has been discussion about a municipal plant, but that plan did not meet with much favor. Robert Hunt now seeks a franchise and the matter is to be taken up at the next session of the council.

Lead, S. D.—His head blown off with a shotgun as he sat in his home here, Louis Shegrin, a miner, aged 37, is believed to have committed suicide, although there is no apparent reason for the act. He came here four years ago from Webb City, Mo.

Lidgerwood, N. D.—In the cleanest and most exciting basket ball game of the season, Wahpeton high school defeated the Lidgerwood high school by the score of 34 to 21.

Mandan, N. D.—Michael Tschida, who made complaint against Henry Bechtold, charging him with threatening to kill Mrs. Bechtold, his wife, finds himself likely to become the defendant in a $10,000 civil damage action because he ceased the role of a peacemaker. Bechtold has retained counsel to begin such suit, charging malicious prosecution.

Mandan, N. D.—Five full days will be devoted to the Missouri Slope Agricultural exposition this year, and the exposition will be particularly noteworthy because it will be the twentieth annual fair held here. Sept. 28 to Oct. 2 are the dates for the exposition.

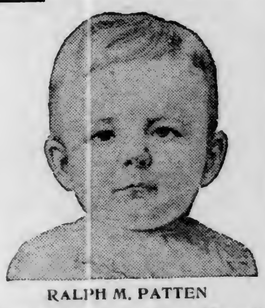

Watch Carefully the Child's Diet

Start Them Off Right With a Good Laxative and Then Watch Their Food

Mothers are often unconsciously very careless about the diet of their children, forcing all to eat the same foods. The fact is that all foods do not agree alike with different persons. Hence, avoid what seems to constipate the child or to give it indigestion, and urge it to take more of what is quickly digested.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation it should immediately be given a mild laxative to help the bowels. By this is not meant a physic or purgative, for these should never be given to children, nor anything like salts, pills, etc. What the child requires is simply a small dose of the gentlest of medicines, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, in the opinion of thousands of watchful mothers, is the ideal remedy for any child showing a tendency to constipation. So many things can happen to a constipated child that care is necessary. Colds, piles, headaches, sleeplessnes and many other annoyances that children should not have can usually be traced to constipation.

Many of America's foremost families are never without Syrup Pepsin, because one can never tell when some member of the family may need it, and all can use it. Thousands indorse it, among them Mrs. M. E. Patten, Valley Junction, Iowa, who is never without it in the house. Mrs. Patten says that Syrup Pepsin has done wonders for her boy Ralph, who was constipated from birth but is now doing fine. Naturally she is enthusiastic about it and wants other mothers to use it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter size being bought by those who already know its value, and it contains proportionately more.

RALPH M. PATTEN

Everyone likes Syrup Pepsin, as it is very pleasant to the taste. It is also mild and non-griping and free from injurious ingredients.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington street, Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Cheap and Easily Made, But Ends a Cough Quickly

How to Make the Very Best Cough Remedy at Home. Fully Guaranteed.

This pint of cough syrup is easily made at home and saves you about $2.00 as compared with ordinary cough remedies. It relieves obstinate coughs—even whooping cough—quickly, and is splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, spasmodic croup and hoarseness.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. Tastes good.

This takes right hold of a cough and gives almost instant relief. It stimulates the appetite, and is slightly laxative—both excellent features.

Pinex, as perhaps you know, is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and the other natural healing pine elements.

No other preparation will do the work of Pinex in this mixture, although strained honey can be used instead of the sugar syrup, if desired.

Thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada now use this Pinex and Sugar Syrup remedy. This plan has often been imitated, but the old successful combination has never been equaled. Its low cost and quick results have made it immensely popular.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MOTHER AND CHILDREN BUILT UP AND RELIEVED OF COUGHS BY FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

Grateful Because It Restored Children's Health and Strength.

Grateful for the good health that she and her children enjoy, Mrs. C. Wesp sends the following letter from Long Island: "I have used Father John's Medicine for myself and my two children with excellent results and I can recommend it to all sufferers. My children and myself were troubled with coughs and were run down, but now we are in the best of health. I would not be without it in the house. It is the best tonic for building up the system." (Signed) Mrs. C. Wesp, 28 Juniper avenue, Middle Village, L. I.

Remember that you endanger the health and even the lives of your little ones when you give them patent medicines depending for their effect on dangerous drugs and alcohol. Without these drugs or alcohol Father John's Medicine relieves colds and gives new strength and health. Not a patent medicine.

Father John's Medicine is for sale in Duluth by William A. Abbett, 205 West Superior street, 101 West Fourth street, 932 East Second street, also Boyce Drug Store, 331 West Superior street; Wirth Drug Store, 13 West Superior street, and practically all other drug stores in the city. If you have any difficulty in getting Father John's Medicine from your druggist, write to Father John's Medicine, Lowell, Mass., enclosing $1 for a large bottle by express, prepaid.

ROTARIANS FOR FESTIVAL

Live Business Body Appoints Committee for Midsummer Affair.

The Rotary club held its regular weekly meeting at the Hotel Holland last evening the meeting being preceded by a dinner which was largely attended. It was the first meeting held under President G. H. Bate and the rest of the newly elected administration.

Aside from perfecting the organization for the year, the chief business was the indorsing by the club of the summer festival proposed to be held each midsummer, beginning with 1915, and the appointment of a committee to act in conjunction with the general committee being formed. This committee consists of J. B. Crane, chairman, Charles H. Mackintosh and G. H. Bate. The club went on record unanimously in favor of the midsummer festival and will bend every effort to bring it about and make it a success.

Another matter that was talked over was the establishing of a central market place such as is maintained in Kansas City and other places. A committee will be appointed to investigate this. Charles H. Mackintosh was reappointed editor of the Spokesman and W. F. Henry associate editor of the Rotarian. The committees appointed by the president last evening were:

Civic—E. F. Burg, chairman; W. C. McCarter, J. T. Armstead, H. Bridgeman, George D. Lucore.

Grievance—J. H. Opperman, chairman; W. W. Bowe, F. A. Sheridan, August Milek, P. R. Mork.

Entertainment—W. C. Allen, chairman; S. T. Dingman, George Fairley, Thomas Walker, R. D. Black.

Judiciary—F. E. Randall, chairman; C. W. Kelley, H. D. Clow.

Finance—J. H. Dight, chairman; A. Fitger, J. S. Matteson.

Membership—C. E. Tweed, chairman; E. W. Russell, Jesse Norton, A. B. Kenney, J. T. Finkelson.

AUTOMOBILE FOR SUBURBS

Will Greatly Increase Efficiency of Police Department.

The efficiency of the police department at New Duluth and Gary likely will be increased soon by the addition of a four or five-passenger automobile.

The three men now stationed in the far western suburbs have a large amount of territory to cover, and with the increase in population this is steadily becoming more difficult. It has been especially hard to take prisoners from Gary to the station at New Duluth. This will be made much easier with the machine at their command. Not only will the men be able to afford protection to a much greater amount of territory, but hurry-up calls can be answered in a much shorter time.

The need of an automobile has been felt since early last summer. It will be impossible at least for some months, to place more men in that district, but it is believed that the necessity for the increase will be largely obviated by providing the automobile.

Superior

City Is Growing.

According to the report of the health department Superior made a net gain of 25 in its population during February. There were 68 births and 43 deaths recorded. The reports also shows that there were 14 marriages performed in the city during the month.

Grand Jury Convenes.

The Federal grand jury opened its session this morning at the courthouse with nearly 200 witnesses present to testify regarding the illegal sale of liquor on the Indian reservation in Northern Wisconsin. These illegal liquor sales will be the principal cases to be brought before the jury.

"Hot" Campaign On.

Yesterday was the final day for filing of candidates for supervisors and constables. The primary election will take place on March 24. Several political meetings are being scheduled by the candidates for the next two weeks and it is expected that the campaign will be one of the "warmest" held in the city in several years. The voters will have to register next Tuesday in order to vote at the primary.

WOULD REFORM ALL BILLS OF LADING.

Washington, March 10.—Senator Cummins' amendment to the interstate commerce law, to define liabilities of common carriers for freight, was tentatively approved by a senate committee today, with amendments.

Carriers would be held liable for the full actual value of property, notwithstanding any limitation in bills of lading or receipts, and it would be unlawful to incorporate in bills of lading any limitation of time within which notice of loss or damage to property must be given or suit therefor be begun until the interstate commerce commission has affirmatively acted.

For Rough, Wrinkled, Freckled, Pimpled Skin

As March winds, flying dust and dirt are apt to injure any complexion, this information will be of special value right now. If you have any cutaneous blemish, don't use paint, powder or anything else to cover it up. Too often this only emphasizes the defect. Besides, it's much easier to remove the disfigurement with ordinary mercolized wax. Applied nightly, the wax will gradually remove freckles, pimples, moth patches, sallowness, red or yellow blotches or any surface eruption. The affected cuticle is absorbed, a little each day, until the clear, soft, youthful and beautiful skin beneath is brought wholly to view. Ask the druggist for one ounce of mercolized wax and use this like you use cold cream. Remove in morning with soap and water. Many who have tried this simple, harmless treatment report astonishing results.

If bothered with wrinkles or furrows, a wash lotion made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel will prove wonderfully effective—Advertisement.

FLORISTS VICTIMS OF A SWINDLER

Stranger Gets $16 and Flowers for Worthless Check.

Elschen Brothers, florists, 121 West Superior street, were victimized by a swindler who worked an old confidence game this morning.

They received a telephone call from a person who represented himself as Rev. J. W. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church. The man telephoning paced an order for $4 worth of flowers and directed that they be delivered as quickly as possible to the church. He asked that the messenger be given change for a $20 bill.

When the boy reached the church he was met by a man who took the flowers and $16 in change, tendering in exchange a check for $20. Suspecting that a swindle had been perpetrated upon them as soon as the boy returned to the store, the police were notified. The officers said that the check, which bore the signature of "Charles B. Hanson" and was drawn on a Minneapolis bank, was undoubtedly bogus. The police obtained a good description of the man from the messenger boy and are searching for him.

Because advantage is so easily gained through the inexperience of the boys who generally act as messengers or make deliveries the same scheme has often been successfully worked in other cities.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

BUFFALO LEADS IN BOWLING SCORES

The Buffalo team of the Western Transit company made the highest score in the morning play of the annual bowling tournament of the company, which is being played off today on the Grand alleys.

The Buffalo team in its three games in the play of the forenoon established a fine record. The Chicago and Duluth teams also rolled well. The finals for the championship of the Western Transit company and also for the possession of the cup are being rolled this afternoon.

Bowlers here state that the Duluth tournament is one of the most successful that have been held in the history of the company.

This evening the annual banquet of the railroad and steamboat bowlers will be held at the Kitchi Gammi club.

GERMANS CRITICIZE AMERICAN WORK

RIVADAVIA.

It is reported that the great Rivadavia, built in the United States for the Argentine republic, is a failure. This report comes from Germany, where there was much jealousy over the award of the contracts for this ship to Americans, and is denied by the builders of the ship. The Rivadavia has not yet been accepted by the Argentine government.

MAY AIR THE MOYER CASE

Congressmen Get List of Witnesses Heard By Grand Jury.

Houghton County Detective Tells Who Testified in Inquiry.

Chicago, March 10.—Evidence which the grand jury of Houghton county, Mich., heard regarding the deportation from the copper strike district of Charles H. Moyer may be made public before the congressional investigating committee. After admitting a list of witnesses before the grand jury, the committee recessed and said it would decide later whether to hear statements made by those persons.

The evidence went in over the protests of counsel for the mining companies. The lawyers objected to a question by O. N. Hilton, chief of counsel for the Western Federation of Miners, when he asked Ernest J. Nichols of Grand Rapids, Mich., to give the names of persons "who had participated in the outrage on Moyer."

"High-handed Outrage."

"Someboay committed a high-handed outrage, and if we can find out who did it, I think we should," said Chairman Taylor of the committee.

Nichols said that his information was in the form of statements gathered from prospective witnesses before the grand jury. He said he obtained these statements while working as a detective in the prosecutor's office of Houghton county. He acknowledged distant relationship to George Nichols, the special prosecutor, who conducted the grand jury hearings.

Allan F. Rees, of counsel for the companies, said if the committee admitted the accusations against alleged members of the mob, it ought to return to Houghton county and give persons so accused a chance to answer the charges.

"I don't think it likely," said Hilton, "that the committee will be bulldozed by any such statement as that."

"This committee is not going to be bulldozed by you or anybody else," retorted Chairman Taylor, addressing Hilton.

Named the Witnesses.

Nichols finally was asked to name the witnesses and he gave Andrew Hollister, a British policeman; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hall, Hancock; Elmer Johnson, a railroad employe at Houghton; Albert Newman, F. F. Johnson and Harry Reed, Calumet; and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marcotte of Houghton.

Preceding Nichols, the committee heard former employes of two detective agencies testify against the methods of their former employers, and also listened to the concluding evidence in defense of the conduct of militiamen in the strike zone.

James Elleridge McAvoy told the committee that he was employed as a detective to go to the Copper country and get affidavits of non-union men as to assaults by strikers. He testified that when he arrived in Houghton in September, he was instructed by James Waddell, head of the agency, to "go the limit" in obtaining affidavits, and that it was his understanding that he was to get them in any manner he could, and "cover himself up as nicely as possible."

McAvoy said he refused to use such methods.

Edward Collins of Chicago, a guard, testified that he saw three strikers beaten up in the sheriff's office by three guards. He was unable to give the names of the men that were beaten.

STABBING AFFRAY VICTIM MAY DIE.

Virginia, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county authorities are probing a stabbing affray that occurred about 11 o'clock Monday at Station 21, on the Mesaba Electric railway about half way between there and Virginia during a drunken row among some Montenegrins, when one man, whose name is not known, was badly cut under the eye and may die. He is in the hospital at Buhl. Mike Grogich and Mike Obachan are under arrest. They claim they were passing and were attacked.

ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS

Common Sense Advice By a Distinguished Specialist.

"Acid" stomachs are dangerous because acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach, thus hindering and preventing the proper action of the stomach, and leading to probably nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble from which people suffer. Ordinary medicines and medicinal treatments are useless in such cases, for they leave the source of the trouble, the acid in the stomach, as dangerous as ever. The acid must be neutralized, and its formation prevented, and the best thing for this purpose is a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a simple antacid, taken in a little warm or cold water after eating, which not only neutralizes the acid, but also prevents the fermentation from which acidity is developed. Foods which ordinarily cause greatest distress may be eaten with impunity if the meal is followed with a little bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist, and should always be kept handy. ARMED MEN HOLD UP CANADIAN BANK.

Bellingham, Wash., March 10.—Seven armed men held up the bank at Abbotsford, B. C., on the international boundary line, a few minutes after the bank was opened today, and got away with gold and currency estimated at $2,000. The bandits escaped in an automobile.

PRINCESS' FINANCES FINALLY ARE SETTLED

PRINCESS LOUISE OF BELGIUM

Princess Louise of Belgium, whose affairs have taken up much of the time of the courts of Belgium since the death of Leopold, her father, has now got them all settled, to the great relief probably of the Belgian people. Louise was the oldest of the daughters of Leopold. She was brought up to be as extravagant as he. She was married in 1875 to Prince Philip of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, but the marriage was dissolved in 1906. During and after her marriage, the princess contracted many debts. Her father, who had no love for his children, tried to cut off their inheritance, and it is in litigation over his estate that the three children have spent much time in court. They finally succeeded in getting a substantial slice of his wealth. Princess Louise just celebrated her fifty-sixth birthday. She still is a fine looking woman.

QUININE VS. MOSQUITOES

An epidemic is a serious matter in West Central Africa, where the missionaries' stores of medicines have to be brought from afar and are likely to be drawn upon in all sorts of emergencies. Miss Janette E. Miller of Detroit, one of the American board's workers at Chiyaki, West Central Africa, writes:

"Everybody, nearly, is sick here now. The present epidemic seems to be a virulent type of malaria which bends the head and neck back and always ends fatally unless enormous doses of quinine are taken. It looked serious enough when we saw the last dose of quinine go and the quarterly shipment from America had not been heard from. I suppose our station would have been a cemetery, like some of the villages around us, if we had not succeeded in getting some quinine from the Portuguese.

"Even the oxen are sick. A number have died and the rest have about as much tail as a rabbit. They vaccinate the beasts on the tail, and if the vaccination takes too strongly (it's a choice between tail and ox. But if they don't vaccinate they lose ox, tail and all. If you see a bob-tailed ox on top of an ant mound you must not think it is a goat, even if he does climb like one.

"Dr. Moffat is doing everything he can to eliminate mosquitoes, and so malaria. The water for the station will soon be piped underground, and as soon as funds are available it will be carried down to the village in the same way."

It is a notable fact that the five medical missionaries of the American board in Angola, West Central Africa, are of the opinion that malaria can be completely eliminated by proper sanitary environment.

A NEW NAME FOR DIRT.

The Pathfinder: A Washington housewife employs a negro servant girl who sweeps and dusts on the theory that you don't have to worry about the dirt you don't happen to see. The other day her mistress was making an inspection of a bedroom which the girl had just cleaned up in preparation for an expected guest who was known to be very fastidious. The woman looked under the bed, and saw there a very visible deposit of fuzz and dust. Calling the girl to the spot she pointed this deposit out to her and asked: "What do you call that, Pearline?"

"What does I call dat?" asked the shifty maiden, in the effort to gain time. "What, don't you know what dat is? Dat ain't dirt. It's house moss, ma'am; yas'm—dat's jes' house moss."

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

FOR years and then some more fragrant years the question as to the superb superiority of Gans or Nelson or the pertinacious Kid Lavigne has been one that has started arguments and fractured all of the better known rules of debate. Till the day comes when higher thought stuff will have chased all of the pugilistic chatter out into the back hills, this will be one of the great questions of agitation.

J. H. Herman managed fighters before he found the mighty Zbyszko. He has seen most of the great fighters and most of the great fights, including the terrific tilt between Kid Lavigne and black Joe Wolcott. His judgment should be firm, smoothly polished and unemotional.

List to Jack:

"Gans was the greatest of all the lightweights in the history of the world. He had the old 'con' when he fought that wonderful battle against Nelson. If he had been right he would have killed Nelson—and, get me—the Nelson of several years back was one of the toughest of all time.

"Gans is my first choice and then comes Lavigne. The little Michigan boy would have beaten Nelson—cause he was a terrific hitter and he was as tough as the battler.

"Lavigne was one of the greatest of all time; but in Gans the ring produced one of the masters of motion, a great hitter and a wonderful boxer and a wonderful ring general. They made the black boy lay down for McGovern—but he was one of the greatest of all time. Tommy Ryan was the best of all time."

Hand It to Trepanier.

IN lauding the members of the Duluth Hockey team let us stop and hand several of the bouquets to "Muster roll" Bill Trepanier. Bill is one of the best athletes in our fair young city. But in the domain of the trainer's art Bill has flamed forth in green tights and a golden spear. We have always professed a likeness for Bill, for one evening he mauled an enemy of ours around the mat. Now we want to devote part of the afternoon to saying that Bill is there. Charley McLennan asked us to write this, or something along the same line. We were going to do it anyway. Two heads with but a single thought—not quite that, but both wanting to praise Bill.

Down at the banquet on Saturday evening Bill made a speech. Some speech, William. The muster roll incident is one that should be made into a vaudeville sketch.

But all kidding aside, the serious and fortunate fact is that Trepanier has put the members of the Duluth Hockey team in the best possible shape and has assisted largely in closing the season in a burst of glory.

Training men is one of the hardest tasks imaginable. The fact that every visiting player and officials remarked upon the wonderful condition of the Duluth hockey players is praise eloquent of the work that has been done by our trainer.

Turning the Other Cheek.

MR. R. LESLIE MURRAY has associated himself with the wrestling game. We are glad to see it. We hope he makes good and makes some money. He should put on a good show.

Little Les came into our midst and turned loose his batteries of knocks. He knocked hockey at the go off and then gave dear old wrestling an awful slap on the wrist. But let all that go. Life is too short.

We hope that the show at the Lyceum on March 19 will be a corker. Johnny Tillman is a fine little boxer and his exhibition should be instructive and interesting. There will be no "bunkin" in this show—cause Mr. Murray is behind it.

We hope Les gets some money, that the rest of the people in it get some, including the wrestlers—and we hope and believe that it will be a dandy entertainment.

Wrestling is one fine sport when rightly conducted, and this coming show will be, no doubt.

Beell and Americus.

AT Kansas City during the coming week the wrestling fans over the length and breadth of the country will await with interest the outcome of the long planned meeting between Fred Beell of Marshfield, Wis., and Americus of Baltimore. These are the two men Frank A. Gotch recommended as the most fit to wrestle it out for the American championship. From the advance news that has come out of the city by the raging Kaw, one of the largest crowds that has ever witnessed a wrestling contest in the United States will be on hand.

No matter the winner, he will make a great opponent for Jess Westergaard, if the big Iowan recovers his wrestling form during the present season.

Up here we have never seen so improved a grappler as the huge Swede. He is the class of the big fellows of this country—and pitted against the winner of the Beell-Americus contest the fans would see about the cream of the mat talent of this country in action and more than this, the meeting would decide the man most eminently entitled to be called the leader of the wrestlers of this country.

Westergaard, according to the somewhat grudging statement of Zbyszko, is one of the greatest of all wrestlers. Beell is so great that it is the height of superfluity to dilate on this fact, so patently and eloquently has it been demonstrated.

Americus is one of the best—and this despite the defeat at the hands of Fristensky. The Bohemian hurled the Baltimore man to the floor in the first mixup and early put him out of business. Americus was beaten right there, but he went on because he is one of the gamest and would not give up.

CATHEDRAL AND CENTRAL

Fast Teams Will Meet in Basket Ball Contest.

Followers of Central high and the Cathedral high school basket ball teams are worked up over the game that will be played this evening between the two teams. The game will be played at the Cathedral gymnasium and is expected to prove one of the best that has been scheduled for this season.

For several years the grade of basket ball played by the Catholic boys has been steadily improving. At the beginning of the season the officials of the team started out to place the strongest quint possible in the field, and the showing of the Cathedrals is a testimonial of the success of the efforts.

Coach Schilling of Central has been working with a green team. His quint is now in the best form of the season and the members are confident of taking the measure of the Cathedral boys.

With both teams confident of success and also evenly matched, it begins to look as if the game will be about the best of the year.

OLDHAM AND HURDON WIN

Finals in Manley and Herald Curling Events Are Played Off.

Harry Hurdon's rink captured The Herald trophy last evening by defeating Guy Warren's rink in the final game of that event. Ron MacLeod's rink won the Manley trophy through the defeat of the Dinham rink. Hurdon's score was 11 to 8 and MacLeod's 11 to 7.

The finals of last evening mark the first two completed trophy events of the season.

John Oldham's rink went into the semi-finals of the Universal event through the sensational defeat of the Brewer rink.

With the score even on the last head and Brewer laying shot, John made a perfect draw to the button and won out by the score of 12 to 11.

From now till the close of the season all of the remaining games will be rushed.

Win Twelve Straight.

Lafayette, Ind., March 10.—The University of Wisconsin last night defeated the Purdue basketball team, 27 to 13 in the last game of the Big Nine conference. Wisconsin won the Big Nine conference championship without a defeat, the Purdue game which closed the conference being Wisconsin's twelfth straight victory.

DON MARION SIGNS WITH THE FEDERALS.

From Milwaukee comes the information that Don Marion has gone to the Federal league. What club the former Duluth pitcher has joined the dispatch fails to state.

Marion just missed being one of the greatest pitchers of the game. The big boy had more stuff than any pitcher who ever showed in these parts. When he went to the Cardinals the vast majority of the local fans were of the opinion that Marion would shine in fast company. Failure to realize that baseball in these modern days is a serious business was possibly responsible for the failure of the giant to make a name for himself.

SCRAP OVER FRANCHISE.

Freeport in W.-I. League and Wausau May Sue.

Appleton, Wis., March 10.—The directors of the Wisconsin-Illinois league met late yesterday at Appleton and adopted the schedule of the coming season. The schedule provides for 126 games, the season opening May 6 and closing Sept. 13.

The question as to whether Wausau or Freeport would get the franchise was settled when President Weeks said that Freeport had wired the option money on the last day of the option.

Wausau backers say that Freeport did not exercise their option and that they will take the matter to court before they will surrender the franchise. The schedule adopted names Freeport as the team to hold the franchise.

Vienna, Austria, March 10.—Lieut. Esner, a military aviator and a non-commissioned officer who accompanied him as a passenger, were killed yesterday at the Aspern aerodrome when their aeroplane fell.

FAST GAMES ARE PLAYED

Northerns and Lakes Defeat Kelleys and Bagleys at Hockey.

At the curling club rink last evening the Lake Hardware hockey team defeated the Kelley seven by the score of 4 to 2, and the Northerns defeated the lowly Bagleys by the score of 5 to 2.

The win of the Lakes makes the pennant prediction certain. The Northerns were expected to win from the Bagleys, as the latter team has not shown any ability during the season and has been repeatedly defeated.

It looks as if the Northerns will finish the season in second place. The hardware men have played a strong and consistent game and have kept in the hunt all of the year.

While the Kelleys played a fine game the combination play of the Lakes and the very clever exhibition of stick handling proved sufficient to win. In addition to these qualities of offense, the defense of the Hardware men was also very strong.

Despite the fact that the Northerns won, it required ten minutes overtime to decide the result of the game. The Bagleys showed the most pep of the season and made the tool handlers go some.

The league season will come to a close this week.

The lineups:

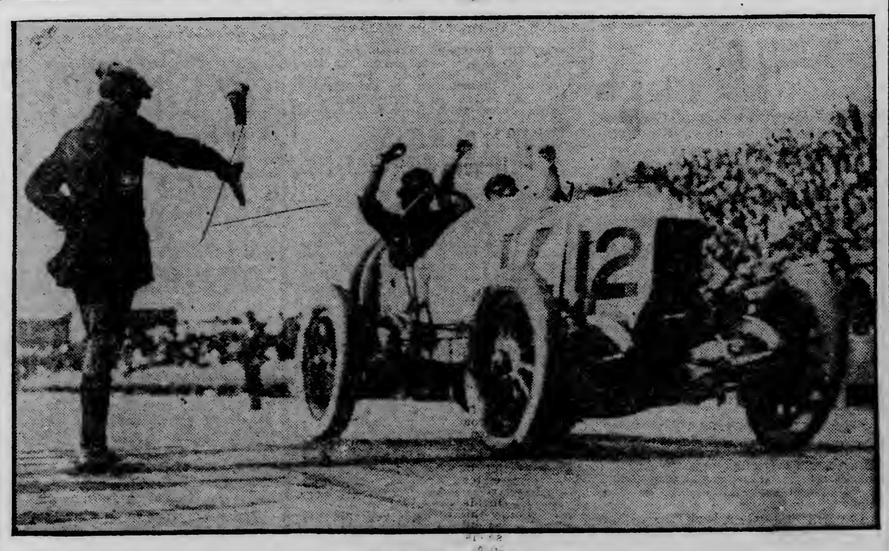

Lakes—		Kelleys—

ROWING SQUAD SO LARGE THAT MEN ARE DROPPED

Jimmy Ten Eyck Finds It Necessary to Weed Out Material.

The Chances Are That the Senior Four Will Not Try for Eight.

BY BRUCE.

What do you know about this? Coach James E. Ten Eyck of our "millionaire" boat club has been obliged to turn away some of the candidates for the crew.

This is the first time in the history of the club that there has been so great an abundance of material that some of the less desirable men were turned away for the present season.

Coach Ten Eyck explained today that about 150 men reported. When this vast multitude was lamped and shrewdly given the once over, James chose the sheep from the goats and bade the less physical fit to come around next season.

In the matter of numbers the coach is better qualified for rowing success than ever before. It will require time and experimenting, however, to determine just how good the material is.

Work Has Begun.

Anyone unfamiliar in the least with the strenuous work of coaching a lot of candidates for prospective United States champion crews, should meander some early evening over to the machine room of the Y. M. C. A. The trip will prove both instructive and interesting.

On the machines the novices learn the rudiments of rowing. They learn to shoot their hands, to get their back into the stroke and to row in the proper way—the way that saves the heart and lungs and stomach as much as possible.

Go over some evening and watch James give the beginners the first instruction in the way to row in winning form.

It begins to look now as if the majority of the old men will be back. Roy Kent is going to row this season, according to his statement of yesterday. Joe Lathrop may be lost, as Josephius is a real traveling gentleman.

Cliff Thorburn has stated upon sundry and divers occasions that he is through with the game. Angus Grant also says that he will not be out this season. However, as there is some very good last year's junior material for the senior eight, the club is going to put a corking eight on the water.

The junior eight is going to prove one of the big problems. Naturally it follows that the junior four will be another of the worries of Ten Eyck.

There will be the graduated bantams to count upon, but even so there will be eight new places to fill—and it is hard to teach the novice how to row.

The Senior Four.

For years past Duluth has not been represented in the senior four event at the Northwestern International regattas. This season it will be gloriously different. The Horak tribe will be there with bells.

Joe Horak, Max Rheinberger and Dug and Phil Moore compose the best four in America—according to some of the followers of the rowing game.

As bantams these boys made a joke out of the 1912 race at Winnipeg. As juniors these chaps made even more of a joke out of the junior four-oared race at St. Paul. As seniors—but that history has not as yet been written.

It is early as yet to forecast, but it has been stated that James will row this bunch only as a four and not ask any of the bunch to work out for the senior eight.

From the members of the Winnipeg hockey team news was gathered of the desire of Con Riley to send an eight to the English Henley. In that event it may not prove possible for our senior four to meet the Winnipeg senior bunch. But after all Con's ambitions may not be realized and in that event we are extremely likely to read of the meeting of our senior four and the crack Winnipeg Rowing club's four, and the winner of this will be eminently qualified to go to England and compete for the highest rowing honors in the world.

Go over some afternoon and watch the work of the squad of oarsmen under the direction of Ten Eyck. Jimmy is starting the work for what all of us hope will be another glorious year, and it may, or should, interest you to behold the manner in which it is done.

TRAFFIC BOWLERS HERE FOR ANNUAL TOURNEY

Bowlers from Buffalo, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis are here today participating in the play for the cup offered by General Manager Douglas of the Western Transit company.

The tourney of the railroad and steamship men is being played on the Grand alleys. There are about fifty agents of the company from the cities named here for the play.

Last year the annual tournament of the Western Transit agents was held in Buffalo and the trophy was won by the Duluth club. This season the team representing Duluth is confident of winning the emblem.

Three games will be played during the early part of the day and two will be played this afternoon. The highest total of pins will count in the victory.

Noon luncheon was served to the visitors at the Spalding hotel and this evening there will be a banquet to the visiting officials at the Kitchi Gammi club.

The annual bowling tournament of the employes of the Western Transit company has become one of the looked for events of the year. All of the cities where the company has offices look forward to securing the tournament.

The presenting of the challenge cup by General Manager Douglas a number of years ago started the bowling league. As the tournaments became larger, interest increased.

MIKE CANTILLON DEFENDING SUIT

Claims to Have Been "Bunked" in Purchase of Hunting Dogs.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 10.—Federal league activities and the early approach of the spring training season faded into insignificance in the minds of baseball enthusiasts yesterday. Their attention was transferred to the district court, where President M. E. Cantillon of the American association local team is defending a suit for $250, the alleged value of two bird dogs he purchased from Leo McDermott of Benson, Minn., in the fall of 1912. The trial will probably be completed today.

Cantillon admits the purchase of the dogs at the price named, but says that while the dogs might have been all right for herding sheep, they were utterly worthless for hunting birds.

Among the witnesses for Mr. Cantillon are a number of members of his baseball team, including Dave Altizer, Otis Clymer and Claude Rossman.

CLOSE CALL FOR MORDECAI BROWN

Lived at Athletic Club But Left Shortly Before 5 o'Clock.

St. Louis, Mo., March 10.—Twenty-one members of the St. Louis Federal league baseball team under the chaperonage of Mordecai "Miner" Brown, their manager, will depart tonight for Monroe, La., the club's training camp. Nine players reported to Brown last night and a dozen others are due to arrive today.

Pitcher Edgar Willett, formerly with the Detroit Americans, and Catcher Parry Chapman, formerly with the Atlanta Southern league team, have been at Monroe several days supervising the work of putting the diamond in shape.

Brown was in a most nervous state all day as a result of the fire which destroyed the Missouri Athletic club, of which he was a member. Brown, who usually makes his home at the club, left a few hours before discovery o fthe fire which is believed to have cost two-score human lives.

"All the clothes I have in the world are now on my back," he said, as he was making preparations to depart. "I left all my things at the club and they went up in smoke."

TWO MORE ROSTERS OF FEDERAL TEAMS

Indianapolis, Ind., March 10.—W. H. Watkins, business manager of the Indianapolis Federal league club has announced the 1914 roster of the players and the clubs with which they played last year as follows:

Manager, William Phillips; pitchers, Fred Falkenberg, Cleveland Americans; George Mullin, Detroit Americans; Earl Moseley, Boston Red Sox; Fred Harter, Three-I; and George Kaiserling and Harry Billiard, Indianapolis Federals. Catchers, William Rariden, Boston Nationals; George Texter, Indianapolis Federals; first base, M. T. Dolan, Indianapolis Federals; and F. L. Roney, Cleveland Federals; second base, Carl Vandergrift, Indianapolis Federals; shortstop, James Esmond, Cincinnati Nationals; third base, W. D. McKechnie, Pittsburg Nationals; outfielders, Everett, Booe, Pittsburg Nationals; Ben Kauff, New York Americans; D. J. Rousch, Chicago Americans; Albert Shear, Brooklyn Nationals; Vincent Campbell, Pittsburg Nationals two years ago; and Al Kiser, Indianapolis Federals.

Young players, W. H. Warner, Alamo, Tenn.; J. F. Potts, Cleveland; Joe Swetonic and Bert Weedon, Trainer, Charles Huber.

Manager Phillips arrived from his home in Pennsylvania yesterday and completed arrangements for the departure of the players for the spring training camp at Wichita Falls, Tex., today. The players will have a special car. Falkenberg and Mullen and Catchers Texter and Rariden are already in Texas. A few other players, including Frank La Porte, a second baseman, are expected to sign with the club later.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 10.—Manager Larry Schlafley of the local Federal league club has announced the lineup of his team. It includes thirteen players who have had major league experience and eight from the minor leagues.

Bowling Tournament Opens.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 10.—The fourteenth annual international tournament of the American Bowling congress opened here last night with sixteen local five-man teams competing. Lang's No. 14 team rolled high score last night, totaling 2,568.

Play Seven-Inning Tie.

Tampa, Fla., March 10.—The Chicago and St. Louis Americans played a 5 to 5 tie here yesterday afternoon, the game being called after the seventh inning to permit the clubs to catch a boat.

Levinsky Beats Coffey.

New York, March 10.—Battling Levinsky of Philadelphia outpointed Jim Coffey, the "Dublin Giant" in a ten-round bout here last night.

RUSSIAN SCHOOLS CLOSED TO JEWS

Cambridge, Mass., March 10.—Addressing the Menorah society at Harvard university last night, Herman Bernstein, secretary of the American Jewish committee, asserted that the Russian government was energetically enforcing illiteracy among the Jews. Forced by public opinion to abandon the policy of massacres, those in authority had closed the doors of the schoolhouses against the Jews, he said.

Wisconsin State Bank Call.

Madison, Wis., March 10.—The controller of banking has issued a call for a report on the condition of state banks and trust companies at the close of business on March 4.

ON THE IRON RANGES

ALICE TO BENEFIT BY TROLLEY LINE

Hibbing Suburb Would Forge Ahead, It Is Predicted, With Service.

Hibbing, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Though the intentions of the Mesaba Electric road as to their extension to Alice and Nashwauk are somewhat problematical there is no uncertainty about the effect that such a move would have on the future of the newly acquired suburb and there is, it is reported, a quiet strain of real estate dickering already going on that augurs well for the future of that section.

A prominent contractor has been asked for figures on two large flat buildings to be erected in Alice, in case the road made the extension, and that several land owners are contemplating the erection of small cottages on their lots, if the road goes through.

At the present time Alice is one of the most desirable of the many suburbs of the village but the problem of transportation has proved a difficult one and unless the resident owns an automobile, motorcycle or a plain bike, he is liable to have a disagreeable plod during the stormy weather.

Demand For Houses.

There is today a bigger demand for furnished and unfurnished rooms, small flats and cottages than at any time in the history of the village.

The building up of Alice would reduce the rentals in the village proper. The water and light board and the council are both making every effort to have all improvements made in Alice during the coming summer. Ditches are being dug now for the waterworks and sewer pipes and by the time the new well south of the village has been sunk the connections will be ready to make. The suburb has already been platted and while the white way has not been extended, the residents satisfying themselves at present with the arcs taken from the business streets of the village, the houses are all furnished with ample "juice."

ST. PAUL MAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Is Struck By Missabe Passenger at Kelsey, Dying at Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—O. H. Nelson, foreman of construction work on a state ditch at Kelsey, was brought to the Mora hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from a fractured skull and a crushed foot, the results of being struck by a Missabe train at Kelsey.

Body Taken to St. Paul.

Nothing could be done for him and he died within a few hours after reaching the hospital. His wife and stepdaughter took the body to St. Paul for burial. The deceased, who was 49 years of age, lived in St. Paul, although working much of the time on the range.

He either failed to see the passenger train or misjudged its speed and believed he could cross ahead of the engine.

DISCUSS OWNING ELECTRIC PLANT

Eveleth Commercial Club Members Consider Matter; Also Road Building.

Eveleth, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annexation of the territory adjacent to this city which includes the Fayal and Rowe mines was discussed at a meeting of the Commercial club last night.

The club desires to see considerable road work done in the town. The present administration in Fayal town is rather conservative in making road ories and the county will not build roads in a town as wealthy as Fayal.

Club members who spoke last night reasoned that if Fayal would not take advantage of its high valuation to build roads and the county would not build because of its wealth the city might as well annex the mining property which adjoins the city and make the town poor enough so that the county commissioners will consider the building of its roads.

Election May Change Things.

The matter was dropped for the present and the results of today's election in the town may alter conditions.

A committee of five was appointed by the club, consisting of Chas. Jesmore, A. E. Pfremmer, J. C. McGilvery, Solomon Sax and Mayor J. J. Gleason, to wait on County Commissioner Niel McInnis and seek his aid in obtaining a county road south from Eveleth to connect with the township line road which is six miles distant.

The club discussed the city of Eveleth furnishing electricity as a municipality by buying the present plant, buying a new plant or contracting for current. The club did not go on record as favoring either of the three plans named.

The obtaining of a larger theater for the city was also discussed and a committee put to work on the proposition. A stock company may be formed among the business men to build a suitable play house or a bonus may be raised and offered to some one to erect a theater.

How to Make Your Hair Beautiful

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders Stops Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff and Makes the Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous and Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "hair tonics" in the world is a simple old-fashioned home recipe consisting of plain Bay Rum, Lavona (de composee), and a little Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home in a few minutes, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see. Get from your druggist 2 oz. Lavona, 6 oz. Bay Rum and ½ drachm Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and pour in an 8 oz. bottle. Then add the Lavona shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a soft cloth. Draw this cloth slowly through the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. Apply night and morning. A few days' use and you cannot find a single loose or straggling hair. They will be locked on your scalp as tight as a vise. Dandruff will disappear and itching cease. In ten days you will find fine downy new hairs sprouting up all over your scalp and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity.

Any druggist can sell you the above, the prescription is very inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its result.—Advertisement.

ARREST SUSPECT IN MURDER CASE

Pave Huttala Taken on Suspicion of Having Killed Lake.

Virginia, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pave Huttula, 36 years of age, a Finn working near Markham, twenty-seven miles from Eveleth, was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Witte and Mollan of Virginia on a charge of murdering Erick Lake, the shacker who was found dead in his cabin Tuesday night.

Huttala was brought to Virginia. The deputies found the accused at a neighbor's house, about two miles from Lake's cabin. He professed his innocence and has been keeping a strong front since his arrest.

Find Shot Gun.

Before leaving the scene of the crime the officers searched for clews. They found a shotgun and an empty shell and are confident the crime was committed with the firearm. Parts of another shotgun were found in a stove in Lake's shack. A cap was found under a mattress on his bed.

All the exhibits were brought to Virginia and will be used in the case. It is thought that the cap found was not worn by the deceased on the day of his death, and much depends on the recovery of his other cap. The authorities believe his headgear will be found after the snow disappears.

The officials investigating the case have reached the conclusion that Lake was murdered outside of his cabin and that he was taken into his home by the murderer. They also believe he was shot first and then attacked with a knife. One of the doctors in the case believes Lake may have been cut about the throat after the gun shot, which entered his abdomen, had caused his death.

No Reason for Suicide.

The suicide theory advanced by a few of Lake's neighbors is scouted by the authorities. It is said that Huttala is among those who have advanced the suicide theory and that he claimed Lake was demented. This has caused some suspicion to be cast on Huttala.

Lake's friends claim he was contented and never despondent. He had large sums of money and was never in want. Lake's pocketknife and watch were found. No trace of the money he is said to have had, has been found, as far as is known.

Huttala is a batchelor and his cabin is about four miles from the Lake shack. The burned shot gun found in Lake's stove is believed to have been put there by his assailant, and that the gore on the firearm was destroyed by the fire. An abrasion was found on the victim's head and it is thought it was caused by a blow from the gun.

DULUTH MINISTER AMONG SPEAKERS

Rev. Dr. Hoffman to Address Men's Banquet at Coleraine.

Coleraine, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Elaborate preparations are being made for a men's banquet at the village hall Wednesday night. The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church has in charge the spread and the men of the church have planned an intellectual feast to follow the 8 o'clock dinner. Dr. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church, Duluth, will speak as well as Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth, ex-Senator C. C. McCarthy of Grand Rapids, Dr. M. P. Burns, district superintendent, Duluth.

It is expected that Rev. Thomas B. Grice of Virginia, a former pastor at Coleraine, will also talk.

Good music will be furnished. There has already been a large sale of tickets at $1 per plate and it is expected that about 100 men will sit down at the banquet tables in one of the finest appointed auditoriums in Northern Minnesota. Rev. Thomas B. Shorts, the pastor of the local church, is at the head of the committee on entertainment.

MAY SELECT HIBBING.

Quint May Go to Northfield If Aurora Will Not Play Game.

Hibbing, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The refusal of the Aurora basket ball team to meet the Hibbing five on neutral ground may result in the cancellation of the game that was supposed to have been scheduled for this week and compel the judges in this district to pass on the merits of the two teams purely by comparative scores, in which case Hibbing would be selected to represent the district at the Northfield meet. Aurora having been defeated by Virginia, a team that in turn lost to the locals.

The Aurora gymnasium, it is claimed, is too small for a fast game and the Hibbing management submitted a proposition to meet at Virginia. This the other range team refuses to do stating that they will play only on their home field.

Aurora's Side of Controversy.

Aurora, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was much disappointment here last night when it was announced that the Hibbing-Aurora basket ball game had been canceled by the Hibbing school. The game had been announced, bills posted and tickets sold, when the Hibbing people called Aurora by telephone and canceled the game. This action leaves the right of any team to represent the range at Northfield next week disputed.

FUSE DOES NOT WORK.

Otherwise There Might Have Been Dynamite Tragedy Near Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., March 10.—Richard Ledecock, shift boss at the Minorca mine, and forty miners narrowly escaped death a few nights ago when men thought to be discharged miners placed three sticks of dynamite under the "dryhouse." The fuse "died" before reaching the explosive.

Ledecock, a member of the Salvation Army, is said to be strict with his men and has discharged several within the past month.

Some dynamite is missing from the mine supply and it is thought the men stole the explosive. A close watch is being kept to prevent further attempts on the lives of the miners.

SAY GRAND JURY WILL MAKE PROBE

Reported Affairs in Itasca Townships Were Illegally Conducted.

Hibbing, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rumors of an investigation by the grand jury called in Itasca county of the affairs of the townships of Carpenter and Bearville are current here today following a trip by Sheriff Riley yesterday to that section of the county, where it is understood subpoenas were served on eight of the officials.

It is claimed that the basis of the investigation will be payments to members of the boards for services rendered and supplies.

Paid For Road Work.

In the town of Bearville it is charged that $1,481.49 has been paid to members of the board for road work, contrary to the law. In Carpenter township it is charged that $456.62 has been paid to board members for supplies. These figures it is claimed were secured from a recent report made by an employe of the state examiner's office.

Others details were criticized in the report and may be subjected to scrutiny when the grand jury takes up the subject.

Sheriff Riley could not be found while here to verify the report but a telephone message to Bearville revealed that the papers had been served.

While here Sheriff Riley served subpoenas for two witnesses in the case of State vs. W. G. Close in which the defendant is charged with illegal possession of a deer.

CASTING VOTES IN RANGE TOWNS

Hibbing, Chisholm, Biwabik and Other Points Having Election.

Hibbing, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village election being held here today has not developed much excitement up to noon. The contest appears to center around the office of treasurer, there being five candidates against Treasurer McEachin, who seeks re-election. Judge Brady is unopposed for municipal judge, while Mayor Power, the present councilmen and other village officers appear to have a walkaway. The township fight promises to become livelier as the day advances. The Australian ballot is being used in today's election for the first time.

Warm Chisholm Election.

Chisholm, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village election here today is the liveliest in the history of the village, nearly three score candidates for the various positions being in evidence. Joseph Austin, who heads the Progressive ticket, and those running with him feel confident of election, but it is possible there may develop some surprises because of the warmth that has developed during the campaign.

The campaign closed last night with a redhot mass meeting, sort of in opposition to that held Saturday night. Lawyer Sims presided and M. J. Thompson was the first speaker. Gust Anderson candidate for president spoke ten minutes and was followed by Minty Trimontin, candidate for reelection as recorder, who went after the Progressive platform redhot.

Candidate "Needs the Money."

Matt Borlin, also candidate for president, spoke and got many friends. Joe Jakse, Thomas Dunlevy, Henry Fugere and Phil Grenier also spoke, the latter raising the laugh when he said his campaign was "I need the money."

B. E. Culver, candidate for recorder, followed, as did Ed Thonen, who spoke in Finnish. There were calls for Joseph Austin, the Progressive candidate for president, who came forward amid applause and spoke for twenty minutes repudiating many of the things said against him. While Mr. Austin was talking a brass band was started playing outside to detract attention, but he proved equal to the contest and held the audience well.

The polls close this afternoon at 4, and the vote promises to be heavy.

Lively Biwabik Election.

Biwabik, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The election being held here today is a lively one, made so by the Socialists putting up a ticket at the last minute in opposition to the caucus ticket. Except that the Socialists have no candidate against J. E. Riley, the present village clerk, and the caucus nominee for the clerk's position. It was only in the last few days that the caucus ticket was known to have opposition by the Socialist ticket.

The two tickets are giving Biwabik one of the warmest campaigns there has been in years. The office of village treasurer is the one most aspired for, there being four candidates, and in the last day or so J. J. Kelly has withdrawn from the field for that office.

The two tickets are as follows: Socialist—President, J. H. Zimmerly; trustees, Matt Vidas, Frank Anderson and Alex Haglund; treasurer, Emil Peterson; justice of the peace, no nomination; constable, William Wiertala.

Caucus ticket: President, Guy A. Richards; trustees, Peter O'Donnell, M. Glassner, Jr., J. G. Neimi; clerk, John E. Riley; treasurer, Frank Lundeen; justice of the peace, J. R. Gillpatrick; constable, William O'Hara.

Besides there are several independent candidates. L. S. Milos is in the field for trustee. Hugh M. Glass and Fred Lofquist are out for village treasurer.

The township election is also on in full force. Especially so with the clerkship office. Joseph P. Ahlin and W. G. Dundas, both of McKinley, are after the clerk's job. Mr. Ahlin is the caucus as well as the Socialist candidate. While Mr. Dundas is the present clerk and is out for re-election.

Can't Help But Admire Babies

Every Woman Casts Loving Glance at the Nestling Cuddled in its Bonnet.

A woman's heart responds to the sweetness of a pretty child, and more so to-day than ever before since the advent of Mother's Friend.

This is a wonderful external help to the muscles and tendons. It penetrates the tissues, makes them readily yield to nature's demand for expansion, so there is no period of pain, discomfort, straining, nausea or other symptoms so often distressing during the anxious weeks of expectancy.

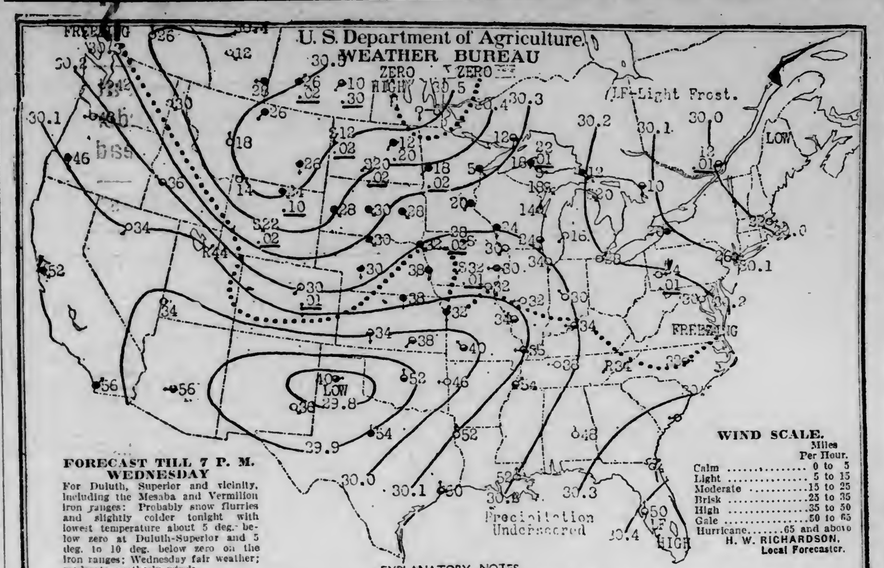

Mother's Friend thoroughly lubricates every nerve, tendon and muscle involved and is a sure preventive for caking of the breasts.

And particularly to young mothers is this famous remedy of inestimable value. It enables them to preserve their health and strength, and they remain pretty by having avoided all the suffering and danger that would otherwise accompany such an occasion.

You will find this splendid remedy on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle.

Write Bradfield Regulator Co., 234 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their instructive book for expectant mothers.

BIG SUIT SETTLED.

Milan Janovich Drops His Action Against Contractors.

Hibbing, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The big damage case of Milan Janovich vs. Butler Bros., stripping contractors, to recover $50,000 for injuries sustained in work at the Grant mine, near Buhl, will not be tried as a settlement has been effected out of court.

The settlement was effected for $11,600.

Two other cases settled in which the amounts were not given were those of Nick Obradovich and Mike Markovich against Butler Bros.

HIBBING CLUB TO DISCUSS SATIRE.

Hibbing, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—An interesting program dealing with "Satire" has been prepared for regular meeting of Chautauqua Reading circle as follows: "Definition of Satire with Illustrations from the literature of different nations," Herbert Blair; "Early Roman Satire with readings from Ennius," Mrs. R. W. Elliot; Addison's, "An Essay on Fans," Spectator, Mrs. J. F. Knowlton; "Summary of Scheffner's "Death of Satire" in Fortnightly Review of June, 1913, Bertha C. Stiles.

EVELETH CHILD IS BURIED AT DULUTH.

Eveleth, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Elizabeth, the 2-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Schulz, died here from intestinal trouble. The funeral was held from the home this morning, Rev. Phillip A. Schwarz of the Presbyterian church, officiating. The body was taken to Duluth on the noon train for burial in Forest Hill cemetery.

VIRGINIA WOMAN'S FATHER IS BURIED

L'Anse, Mich., March 10.—Under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias, the Knights of Maccabees, and with Rev. Mr. Knowles of Houghton officiating, the funeral of Duncan Robertson, aged 58, an old resident who lived here in the boom days and later lived at Houghton and Winona, Mich., was held here yesterday afternoon. He died here Saturday of rheumatism. He was an engineer by trade.

Mr. Robertson is survived by his wife, three sons and two daughters. The sons are Thiel of Houghton, William, a student at the Ferris institute, and Willar of L'Anse. The daughters are Mrs. Charles Miron of Virginia, Minn., and Nora, a student at the Marquette normal. There are also two sisters and five brothers—Mrs. George O. Couch and Mrs. W. M. McLaren of Swan Lake, Man.; Donald of Port Elgin, Ont.; John of North Dakota, Alexander of Winnipeg, William of Moosomin and Robert J. of Saskatoon.

Two Mountain Iron Tickets.

Mountain Iron, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two tickets, the village and the people's, are being voted for today. The people's ticket has the following candidates: President, G. A. Apuli; trustees, D. A. Mitchell, George Cannon and Leonard Charmoli; clerk, George Eilertson; treasurer, B. U. Merritt; constable, J. S. Henderson.

The village ticket follows: President, Patrick Hagen; trustees, D. E. Burley, D. C. McGregor and Ivar Matson; clerk, George Eilertson; treasurer, B. U. Merritt; justice of the peace, A. F. Hertenstein and John Beck; constable, Charles Murphy.

Two Hibbing Deaths.

Hibbing, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eller, the 17-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Larsen of Center street, died after a lingering illness due to a complication of diseases. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Swedish Lutheran church, Rev. Idstrom officiating.

Agda, the 5-weeks-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erick Smith of 122 North street, died yesterday morning after a week's illness of bronchial trouble.

May Add Bowling Alley.

Hibbing, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The possibility of a third bowling alley in the village is now mentioned in connection with the improvements that are to be made by M. H. Greenblatt on the building occupied by the Olympia Billiard hall on Third avenue.

Murphy to Reappoint Coffey.

Virginia, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Patrick Coffey, a member of the police and fire commission, will be retained as a commissioner, according to Mayor Murphy, who is to appoint three commissioners to succeed the present commission of five members, which was voted out of office at the recent city election when the voters decided in favor of the charter amendment providing for the reduction of the body.

Hibbing Meetings.

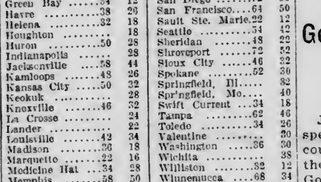

Hibbing, Minn., March 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Luther League of the Swedish Lutheran church will meet Thursday evening in the church parlors. After the usual program refreshments will be served.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church will meet next Wednesday afternoon at the church parlors.

Going Into South America.

Hibbing Minn., March 10.—Charles Burg of this village expects that his father, E. D. Burg, will leave today for Colombia, South America, with a party of miners and expects to be gone two years or more.

The party is in search of gold, one of the miners having returned with a vivid description of a big mine that he located.

COOLEY TALKS ON EARLY DULUTH DAYS

Good Program Features Meeting of the Samaritans.

Jerome E. Cooley was the principal speaker at the meeting of Duluth council, No. 3, Modern Samaritans, at the Knights' of Pythias hall. W. D. Gordon, formerly of Duluth, but now of Minneapolis, spoke briefly in a humorous vein on his early recollections of Duluth. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Piper of Duluth gave an exhibition of the tango and other modern dances.

Mr. Cooley's talk covered many of the prominent points of interest regarding the early history of Duluth, tracing its development from 1870 to the present time. His references to some of the present well-known business men of the city and their early experiences were of great interest.

He said he first saw Lake Superior on July 4, 1870 from a country road where Superior street now is. St. Croix avenue at that time was the principal thoroughfare, and a marsh covered all the space from Michigan street to the canal.

He referred also to the construction of many old landmarks then important buildings, but which have long since disappeared.

He said Bernard Silberstein was one of the early merchants, coming here from Marquette. Traveling on foot he got stuck in the mud up to his knees in Duluth and couldn't go any farther. He then spoke of many other early settlers and their hardships in the early days.

In closing, he spoke of Duluth as one of the coming great cities of the continent and a synonym for commercial, industrial, educational and moral progress.

Next Monday night the Samaritans will hold a St. Patrick's day celebration at the K. P. hall.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN WORK

Efficiency Commission Encouraged By Newspapers, Says J. S. Pardee.

John Stone Pardee, secretary of the efficiency commission recently appointed by Governor Eberhart, is in Duluth today to attend the monthly meeting of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club this evening. Mr. Pardee says that the work of the commission is attracting widespread attention, not only in this state, but in other commonwealths; and he feels much encouraged over the attitude of the state press, which, he says, is commenting favorably on the organization and work of the commission.

"We are sending matter for publication to 150 papers," said he this morning. There are 600 papers in the state and it is to be seen how many feel interested in the work. We send one letter a week to the weekly papers and have a special service to the dailies."

Mr. Pardee says that the Minnesota efficiency commission is the pioneer in the movement and that it is being copied by other states. Illinois has named such a commission and so has Iowa and Washington; while one is now being formed in New York.

"The further we get into the work," said Mr. Pardee, "the larger the proposition appears, and many avenues of work are opened to us."

GREAT LAKES GIVE MODEL TO COMMERCE

Secretary Redfield Urges Laws to Promote Maritime Trade.

New York, March 10.—Secretary of Commerce Redfield, in an address last night before the Brooklyn Institute of arts and sciences, urged the enactment of more liberal laws to permit the United States to regain its maritime trade.

"The success of American-owned vessels on the Great Lakes has been remarkable," he said. "It is a fact that more vessels pass through the river and canal which unites Lakes Huron and Superior than through the Suez canal.

"In all that has been said about the Panama canal, one great factor has been forgotten. The canal will make it possible for vessels to make profitable a continuous journey around the world.

"The carrying of our exports has provided golden harvests for the foreign ship owners. If we can apply to ocean transportation the same American ideas in specialized ships which have been such a brilliant success on the Great Lakes, there is little doubt of our doing as well on the sea as we once did.

For Inland Waterways.

"The proposition to create deeper waterways along an interior line on the Atlantic coast, and thereby unite by water transit the cities of this section of the country, is an excellent one. I am in favor of it. A proposition for buying the Chesapeake & Delaware canal, is now pending at Washington. I look for the time soon to come when this and other similar projects will be developed, to the great general gain."

To prove the prosperous condition of the United States, Secretary Redfield presented statistics showing that the United States cultivates twenty-seven acres of land for every person employed, as compared with five to seven acres per person in Europe.

HOPE TO REMOVE BAN.

Students Would Dance Late Steps in Modified Form.

By eliminating all of the objectionable features of the new ball room dances, the juniors at Central high school hope to secure the revocation of the ban placed upon them by the school authorities.

At a meeting of the junior class yesterday afternoon the subject was discussed at length by the members.

A TONIC FOR DYSPEPTICS

When food lies undigested in the stomach it ferments and gas forms. This gas distends the stomach and presses on the heart, causing a pain that sometimes arouses fear of heart trouble. The condition in which gas forms is caused by a low tone of the digestive organs and a lack of rich red blood resulting in deficient nerve force. It is a condition that calls for a tonic.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic for the blood and nerves, have been used with great success in the treatment of this form of stomach trouble. Cold baths in the morning followed by brisk friction with a rough towel will help as they stimulate the circulation but a tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by building up the blood, restoring the nerve force and making the stomach able to do its work gives the most lasting benefit. With their use the appetito increases, digestion becomes normal and improvement in the general health follows with certainty.

You are trying no experiment when you take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They cannot harm the most delicate system.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the nearest drug store. A copy of the diet book "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

MARKET HAS A REACTION

Wheat Sells Higher With Good Buying By Operators at Close.

Flaxseed Is Slightly Off on Light Volume of Trading.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 10.—The market closed strong with a burst of buying. May wheat closed ⅞c up and July ½c up. May durum closed ¼c up and July ¼c up.

Oats closed unchanged at 36¾c. Rye closed unchanged at 53@55c for the best grades and barley unchanged at from 44c to 66c.

At Winnipeg May oats closed at 36⅝c and July at 37⅝c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 90⅞c bid and calls at 91⅝c bid.

Lower Liverpool cables, and light demand from any quarter contributed to a weak market in wheat today. The European visible showed a decrease of just 588,000 bu and the world's visible decrease was small for the season at 2,800,000 bu.

All the American markets showed fractional declines during the first three hours' trading. May wheat opened ⅛c off here at 91⅝c and it weakened ⅛c more up to the closing hour. The July option opened ¼c off and it also declined ⅛c further. May durum opened unchanged at 90¾c and it declined ¼c.

Eastern inquiry was below par today and there were no advices of anything having been worked for export. Boston wired that expert bids on winter wheat were about 2c under cost. New York reported a fair inquiry for Manitobas and hard wheat. Argentine corn for import into this country was offered at ½c lower than last week.

According to gossip, Armour was a heavy seller of both May and July wheat options at Chicago today. It was intimated that operators there are expecting a wider discount on the July option on account of the brilliant early prospects of the winter wheat crop. Milling demand for cash wheat was slow today at both Minneapolis and Chicago.

The spurt in wheat marketing through the Northwest continues. Inspections at Duluth were 104 cars today compared with 116 last year. Stocks in the elevators here showed an increase of 4,000 bu in the two days, bringing them up to 13,261,000 bu. Supplies of all grains in the houses here are now 20,134,000 bu, an increase of 39,000 bu in the last two days.

As a result of the high cash premiums paid, Minneapolis is still getting a strong run, but as millers they are not as eager for supplies as they were, it is thought the flow that way will show a diminution within the next few days. Receipts at that market today were 303 cars against 395 a year ago.

Shipments mainly from interior elevators are now coming into Winnipeg more freely. Arrivals there today showed an increase over last year, being 311 cars against 217 then.

Flax Slightly Off.

Trading in flaxseed was quiet again today. The exception of some selling orders led to a break of ½c in the first few minutes trading, and then quotations rested. Operators were apparently content to play a waiting game and did show any disposition to increase their commitments. Better buying appeared near the close, and final prices were just fractionally off.

Winnipeg was comparatively strong, prices up there showing moderate gains. The foreign markets were about a standoff, with Buenos Aires ⅛c off; Antwerp unchanged and London ⅛c up.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.57½ and closed ¼c off at $1.57¼. The July option opened ¼c off at $1.58¾ and closed unchanged at $1.59. At Winnipeg May flax closed at $1.37⅝ bid and July at $1.40⅜ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Said a Duluth board of trade operator today: "Foreigners are more independent than I thought they would have been a short time ago. I think though that they will be forced to come to us more freely for supplies before long. With estimates of the Argentine wheat surplus being now revised down to 36,000,000 bu, it is revealed that the crop there was practically a failure. They are beginning to realize that more fully."

Chicago public and private elevator stocks—Wheat total 6,141,000 bu, increase, 4,000 bu, against 7,197,000 bu last year; corn, 10,705,000 bu, increase, 460,000 bu, against 7,697,000 bu last year; oats, 10,000,000 bu, decrease, 68,000 bu, against 4,834,000 bu last year.

The Minneapolis cash market was slow except for very choice offerings. The mills picked their wheat. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at ½@2c over May, and velvet chaff at ½@1c over May. Flour sales were still reported small. Mill feed was very strong on account of the light output of the mills. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold at from 90⅞c to 92⅜c and No. 2 northern at from 88⅞c to 90⅝c.

Broomhall's special Russian news said: "Weather is generally mild and damage reports are coming to hand as to winter killing and reseeding. River navigation has reopened, but on the Azoff the floating ice prevents arrivals at Southern ports where they are very light. At Baltic ports arrivals are liberal. Opinions regarding reserves differ materially, but the light comparative shipments and small arrivals now with firm offers, is leading to apprehension, and doubts are expressed that the large estimates will not be verified. The Volga districts now report scarcity of holdings."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The market opened with pressure in March which was ⅜d lower and other months unchanged to ⅛d lower. The late strength in the American market was offset here by free offers of Manitoba, weaker spot and favorable crop reports. Following the opening there was further pressure which resulted in an additional decline of ¼d. Reports from Australia are favorable and private reports state that stocks there are liberal and there is a disposition to re-sell Australian cargoes arriving. At 1:30 p. m. the market was easy, ¼ to ⅝d lower.

Corn—Opened with July ⅛d lower and later it further declined ⅛d with the undertone easy. The weakness in spot and freer Plata offers together with the decline in Buenos Aires led to profit taking."

European visible—Wheat, 81,912,000 bu against 82,500,000 bu last week, decrease 588,000 bu.

Weather in India was reported favorable. Offers were very light with prices above an export parity.

Foreign crop summary: United Kingdom—Weather is favorable but recent rains have hindered sowing. Supplies of native wheat are fair.

France—The general crop outlook is considered favorable, but considerable re-sowing is necessary as a result of winter killing in the north.

Germany—There are no complaints. The weather is seasonable.

Russia—Crop advices are of damage in parts and arrivals for shipment continue light. The weather is mild.

Roumania—The crop outlook is favorable and the weather spring like. The movement to ports is light.

Hungary—There are few if any complaints heard regarding the new crop. Beneficial rains have fallen.

Italy—The crop outlook is generally satisfactory. The weather is seasonable.

North Africa—The outlook is favorable with further rains.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "It was the gossip that lower prices would prevail in oats, unless new buying power makes its appearances. Bears regarded the government reserve as in their favor, also the fact that the cash article was offered for shipment at cost but the buyer must guarantee to take them out at once to make room for corn."

In line with the higher range in flaxseed quotations, the American Linseed company has advanced its oil prices 1 cent, which makes the present quotation for Western brands 52@53c a gallon. Calcutta seed oil remains unchanged at 70c a gallon. The present firm market in flaxseed will, it is believed, result in the seeding of a much larger acreage in the West than would have been the case had the range remained where it was three months ago around $1.37 a bu. It is pointed out that with the bulk of the crop marketed before the close of navigation, purchases by crushers at the higher basis have been comparatively light while the effect of the sharp advance in promoting production in the spring will be far reaching.

It is figured out by well posted Duluth operators that there are ample supplies of the seed in the country to cover all requirements till the marketing of the new crop.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Opens Lower and Little Trading Is Done.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 10.—The Minneapolis wheat market opened slightly lower today. Trading was small and the range narrow during the entire forenoon, varying but ⅛c. The tendency was lower. Weather conditions in the Northwest were reported favorable, although receipts were considerably below those of a year ago.

Wheat: May opened 90⅛ to ⅜@½c; high, 91⅛c; low, 90⅜c; closed 91⅛c. July opened 91⅞@92 to 91⅜c; high, 92@92½c; low, 91⅜@91¾c; closed 92⅝c bid.

Flax, $1.54¼@1.57.

Flour was in increased demand today. Prices unchanged. Shipments, 63,847 bbl. Barley, 43@67c. Rye, 55@56½c. Bran unchanged.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Good Weather and Bearish Cables Make Wheat Sag.

Chicago, March 10.—Wheat sagged today owing to bearish cables and to weather auspicious for the domestic winter crop. Prices opened ¼c to ⅝c lower, and showed but little sign of any power to rally.

Withdrawal of selling pressure allowed the market later to react on account of shorts covering. The close was strong, ⅝ to ¾c above last night.

Fine weather and lower cables had a weakening effect on corn. Resting orders to buy at a decline, however, prevented any radical setback. Opening figures, which varied from ⅛@¼c off to a shade advance, were followed by a reaction, but the market again turned easy.

Falling off in receipts at interior Illinois points with better cash demand here and at Buffalo, helped later to turn the market up grade. The close was strong at ⅝@½ to ⅝@¾c net advance.

Sellers rushed to unload oats. Demand, however, was slow, the large reserves on farms still seeming to exert a decided influence.

Provisions sympathized with the weakness of coarse grain. First sales ranged from last night's level to 7½c lower, and later was inclined to hang around the bottom figures.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Market Weak at Times But Buying Orders Come in Steadily.

Large Increase in Steel Tonnage Figures Has Bullish Effect.

New York, March 10.—Although the market exhibited weakness at various points during the morning, its general action convinced the bulls that it had been thoroughly liquidated. Despite successive bear raids on Lehigh Valley, Chesapeake & Ohio and Sugar, all of which fell sharply, buying orders came in steadily, giving the impression that the shorts were taking on stocks under cover of forced selling elsewhere.

European buying in Steel and railroad shares indicated the abatement of foreign liquidation which has been a depressing influence for some time. The advance of various specialties continued. The spectacular rise of United States Express was carried further, the price touching 86½, compared with 54 a fortnight ago.

Bonds were steady.

Gains were the rule at the opening of today's market, which showed a moderately strong undertone. Canadian Pacific advanced 1⅝, and Chesapeake & Ohio, which was especially weak toward yesterday's close, rose a point. Lehigh Valley was again inclined to react.

The market made some additional advance as a result of the large increase in United States Steel tonnage figures and the heavy over-subscription to the Third avenue bond issue. Chesapeake & Ohio rallied briskly on official assurances that current earnings were at the rate of 7 per cent annually.

Speculation was languid and traders were disinclined to follow the movement of special stocks. Prices were maintained above yesterday's close.

The market closed strong. The general list became stronger, a number of stocks rising a point or so.

WILL USE "MOVIES" AS PULPIT AID

Rev. W. H. Farrell Will Give Series of Illustrated Sermons.

A series of five illustrated sermons will be given Sunday evenings by Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the Asbury Methodist Episcopal church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street. The first of the series will be given next Sunday evening when he will speak on "Seeking the Lost."

Stereopticon slides as well as motion pictures will be used to show various points in the sermon. Songs thrown on the canvas will also feature the service. The songs will be sung from these instead of the books.

The other subjects will be as follows: March 22, "Light From Holy Hills;" March 29, "The Great Physician;" April 5, "Rock of Ages," and April 12, "Unto Him, the Gathering."

NEARING AN END.

All Curling Events But One Down to Finals.

Following a game tonight betwen the Wade and Ittis rinks in the Burns' event, every trophy event will be down to the finals. Last night Wade won from Zauft in this event by a score of 14 to 13.

The finals for the Burns, Union Match, Hendricksen and Commercial club events will be finished this week if the games can be arranged with the skips of the various rinks.

The club has arranged to provide band music for skating tonight. This will probably be the last night on which the band will appear for the skaters.

MAN FINED FOR BEATING WOMAN.

Emil Markat, who was charged with having assaulted his neighbor, Mrs. Louise Watsick, during a quarrel over the draining of water through their property, was fined $30 and costs, amounting to $40.60. Several witnesses testified that Markwat had told them that he would do bodily harm to the woman if she banked up a drain he had arranged, which was pouring the water into the basement of the woman's house.

WOULD ADMINISTER HIS SON'S ESTATE.

Joseph Detlaw, 9 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, yesterday afternoon petitioned the probate court for letters of administration on the estate of his son, Fred Detlaw, who died March 3 last at his home in this city, aged 19. The boy left a life insurance policy for $500 payable to his estate. His mother and father are heirs.

Moe Funeral.

The funeral of Louis Moe, 56 years old, 304 South Fifty-ninth avenue west, who died Sunday night at St. Luke's hospital, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Wadena street. Interment will be made in Oneota cemetery.

Funeral Wednesday.

The funeral of Iver O. Odegaard, the 7-year-old boy who was accidentally shot Sunday afternoon will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from the Harvey Webb Memorial M. E. church of Smithville. Rev. J. W. Lillico will officiate. Burial will be made in Oneota cemetery.

Demand Jury Trial.

The cases of Nels Bilsey and Oscar Peterson, who were arrested Saturday on complaints of the state weight inspector for selling short weights, were transferred to the up-town municipal court. The men demanded a jury trial.

WILL DISCUSS IMPROVEMENTS

Street and Police Betterment Will Be Club's Themes.

The New Duluth Commercial club will meet this evening at the Maccabee hall and discuss a number of proposed improvements for the western suburbs. It is proposed to also take up the matter of securing additional police protection for both suburbs and an attempt will be made to get a mounted policeman as well as a patrol wagon.

Residents of the district say that the police have on many occasions failed to make arrests because of the inability to take the prisoners from the Gary suburb to New Duluth. The distance between this point and the police station is more than a mile, and that it has been out of the question for a lone policeman to take "drunks" between these points. The only two saloons in the suburb are located a mile from the police station.

An agitation for the improvement of a number of streets, particularly Commonwealth avenue will be started. It is claimed that a large amount of improvement will have to be made to the street before a street car line can be laid on it. Zimmerly avenue will it is claimed also have to be graded before the line could be extended, and citizens of New Duluth hope to have these things accomplished by the time the suit between the city and the Duluth Street Railway company now pending decision in the court, is decided.

Have Pleasant Surprise.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Ellefson of Proctor were pleasantly surprised last evening in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Ellefson. Games and music featured the entertainment. There were thirty-six guests present. Mrs. Ellefson was presented with a handsome set of table linen.

West Duluth Briefs.

Members of the Royal league will be entertained this evening at a masquerade party at the West Duluth Commercial club.

Misses Mary Frank, Myrtle Boudin and Edith Larson of West Duluth will leave for Finland, where they will spend three months visiting relatives.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carl Anderson, 110 South Sixty-seventh avenue west.

Mrs. Carl Anderson will entertain the Dorcas society of the Elim Swedish Lutheran church, at her home Thursday evening.

Miss Agnes Elr, 617 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, returned from Portage, Wis., where she attended the funeral of her uncle who died Saturday.

Music at the Western Curling rink tonight. Everybody welcome.

Members of the Degree of Honor lodge, No. 85, will meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at Gilley's hall, from where they will go in a body to Dormedy's hall to take part in festivities planned by West Duluth lodge, No. 146, A. O. U. W.

JURY TRIALS FOR SALOON KEEPERS

Thirteen Are Accused of Selling Short Measure Pints.

O. J. Larson, attorney, who has been retained by the thirteen saloon keepers arrested last Wednesday morning on a charge of selling "short" pints of whisky to C. A. Montgomery, state inspector of weights and measures, appeared for the defendants when their trial was called in police court this morning.

Mr. Larson asked for a jury trial, and the thirteen saloon keepers will be tried when the regular jury calendar is called next Tuesday morning. The men all pleaded not guilty to the charge, with the exception of Thomas Cote, 723 West Superior street, when they were arraigned following their arrest last Wednesday morning. Cote will not be sentenced until after the trials of the other twelve men are finished.

The thirteen saloon keepers are accused of having sold pint bottles of brandy that did not measure up to the standard of 14½ cubic inches to a pint, most of them being below 11 inches, the inspector asserts.

The saloon keepers who will be tried before a jury next Tuesday morning are: Fred McCaskill, Lenox hotel bar; Frank Kohnen, 1002 Garfield avenue; Fred Helinius, 320 Lake avenue south; Carl Lahto, 150 South First avenue east; Gust Slipala, 326 Lake avenue south; Eugene Frolin of Brolin & Pernala, 205 West Superior street; Ole Sanstead, 212 Lake avenue south; Charles J. Johnson, 527 West Superior street; Alphonso Letourneau of Letourneau & Forest, 525 West Superior street; Mike Moran, 505 West Superior street; Albin Ilenda, 411½ West Michigan street, and Hans Johnson, 613 West Superior street.

POSSE HUNTS THREE BOYS IN ILLINOIS

Fugitives From State Home Shoot Farmer Who Halts Them.

Aurora, Ill., March 10.—Bells were rung and shots fired in the air today in the little village of Big Rock, Ill., twelve miles west of Aurora, in a call to arms of farmers who organized a posse to drive three boy desperadoes out of a woods just west of the village.

The boys, William Frence of Chicago, 16 years old; George Fairchild of Jacksonville, Ill., 16 years old, and William Boorkman of Jacksonville, Ill., 16 years old, escaped last night from the state home for boys at St. Charles, Ill., and fled the twenty miles across country to Big Rock, where today they shot Elmer Dean, a farmer, through the throat when he tried to apprehend them.

While Dean was being picked up the boys fled for the woods west of town and were soon lost to view.

Grand Marais Caucus.

Grand Marais, Minn., March 10.—The causus held to nominate candidates for village offices to be voted for today named the following:

President of the council, George Leng; trustees, Ed Nunstedt, James C. Scott and Axel Berglund; justices of the peace, George H. Durfee and Matt Johnson; constables, Chris Johnson and C. J. Johnson.

The following caucus committee was named for the ensuing year: P. E. Alm, Fred Paine and John Woods.

The license question is being voted on.

LEGAL NOTICES.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF— BARVAS REALTY COMPANY.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, That we, the undersigned, do hereby associate ourselves together for the purpose of forming a corporation pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 58 of the General Statutes of Minnesota for the year 1913, and do hereby adopt and sign the following certificate of incorporation.

ARTICLE I.

The name of this corporation shall be "BARVAS REALTY COMPANY."

The general nature of the business of said corporation shall be as follows, namely: To take, lease, purchase or otherwise acquire, and to own, hold, use, sell, convey, exchange, lease, mortgage or otherwise dispose of and generally deal in both improved and unimproved lands and real estate wherever situated, and any right or interest therein; to construct, erect and operate thereon houses, store and office buildings, tenements and structures of every description, and to rebuild, repair, enlarge, improve and alter existing houses, buildings, tenements and structures of every description, and to buy, sell, own, use, manage, mortgage and lease the same or similar structures; to survey, sub-divide, plat, cultivate, improve and develop lands for purposes of sale or otherwise, and generally to do and perform all things needful and lawful for the development and improvement of the same for residence, trade or business purposes; and to construct, lease or operate docks, warehouses, elevators, public halls or hotels.

The business of the corporation is and shall be from time to time to do any one or more or all of the acts hereinbefore set forth, and in furtherance thereof said corporation shall have the power to borrow moneys and to issue bonds or other obligations therefor and in payment for any or all property purchased or acquired by it, or for any other objects or purposes in and about its business, and to mortgage or pledge any or all property, which may be acquired by it, to secure any bonds or other obligations by it issued or incurred.

The principal place of transacting the business of this corporation shall be at the City of Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE II.

The period of the duration of this corporation shall be thirty (30) years.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators of this corporation are: Frank Crassweller, Arthur H. Crassweller, and Elmer F. Blu, all residing at Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE IV.

The government of this corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of three (3) directors, each of whom shall be stockholders, who shall be elected annually at the annual meeting of said corporation, and who shall at the first meeting of said board held after said annual meeting elect the following officers, namely: a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer. Any two of said offices may be held by the same person, with the exception of the offices of President and Vice President.

The annual meeting of said corporation shall be held on the second Wednesday in January in each year.

The names and addresses of those composing the first Board of Directors until the first election are as follows, to-wit:

Frank Crassweller, Arthur H. Crassweller and Elmer F. Blu, all of Duluth, Minnesota; and until the first annual meeting and until their successors are elected and have qualified. Frank Crassweller shall act as President, Arthur H. Crassweller shall act as Vice President, and Elmer F. Blu shall act as Secretary and Treasurer.

ARTICLE V.

The amount of the capital stock of this corporation shall be Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000.00), which shall be divided into five thousand (5,000) shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each; and such capital stock shall be paid for either in money or property as the same may be called for by the Board of Directors of said corporation.

ARTICLE VI.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which said corporation shall be at any time subject shall be Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000.00).

IN WITNESS WHEREOF We have hereunto set our hands and seals this 6th day of March, 1914.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

BUSINESS MEN OF DULUTH!

PURCHASE ASTOR ESTATE ON THE ST. JOHN RIVER IN FLORIDA.

FOR SALE.

9,500 acres of choice fruit and truck lands, located on the St. John river, in Lake county, Fla. About 140 miles south of Jacksonville. Cheap river and railroad freight rates, good roads, artesian wells; an old and well-tried section. Many orange groves and truck gardens flourish in our midst, proving to the new settler what has been done by others can be done by him. Land 40 to 65 feet above sea level, affording good natural drainage. Sold in 10-acre tracts at $30 per acre and upward. No interest; no taxes. On terms of $1 per acre down and $1 per acre per month. Call or write for literature. Duluth-Florida Land company, room 5, Phoenix block, Duluth, Minn. Agents wanted.

ATTENTION.

An exhibition of the wonderful products of the Lake Worth County Florida farms is being shown at 317 West Superior street continues for four days. Oranges, grape fruit, cocoanuts, potatoes and other products too numerous to mention are shown. These fruits and vegetables prove the value of these lands. This tract of land is situated in the southeastern part of Florida, only a few miles from the sea and on the railroad which runs direct from Palm Bealch to Miami, thus assuring a ready market for farm products. Get away from the cold of Minnesota; go to the beautiful South, where it is always summer. Not only pleasure is found there, but a profitable business in farming one of these Lake Worth county farms. See

G. L. McLAUGHLIN,
202-3 First National Bank Bldg., immediately for information. Tomorrow may be too late.

COLONIZATION TRACT,

AITKIN COUNTY, MINN.

10,000-ACRE TRACT, NEAR MILLE LACS LAKE; RAILROAD RUNS THROUGH LAND. WE CAN DIVIDE THIS TRACT IF DESIRED. THIS IS A FINE PROPOSITION. PRICE $10 PER ACRE; $2 PER ACRE CASH. CAN MAKE VERY EASY TERMS FOR BALANCE OF PAYMENTS. HALF MINERAL RIGHTS RESERVED. APPLY—

ANCHOR REALTY COMPANY,
600-601 TORREY BLDG.,
Melrose 5890. DULUTH, MINN.

WILL SELL UNDIVIDED INTEREST in a 40-acre apple orchard located in Bitter Root valley, Montana. This orchard is full 6 years old and will bear its first commercial crop this year. The owner won't dispose of the entire 40 acres, but will sell undivided interests to about one-half of it as follows:

1-acre tracts at $400 per acre.
5-acre tracts at $375 per acre.
10-acre tracts at $350 per acre.
20-acre tracts at $300 per acre.

Owner also guarantees that this year's upkeep will not cost you more than $20 per acre, which should easily be returned from crop.

This is a snap. Ask anyone owning orchards in Bitter Root valley—plenty of them in Duluth. Write B 169, Herald.

CARRANZA PROMISES U. S. CONSUL HE WILL PROTECT FOREIGNERS

Some Threatened Attacks Are Abandoned—No Benton Report.

Constitutionalists Propose Sixty-Acre Farm for Every Soldier.

Diaz in Washington—Men Who Went to Mexico Missing.

Washington, March 11.—Consul Simpich at Nogales reported to the state department today that he had assurances from Carranza that lives and property of Americans and other foreigners would be protected, and that all molestations of foreigners would be avoided throughout the Nogales district.

Carranza issued the orders upon Consul Simpich's protest, under instructions from Secretary Bryan, against rebel depredations on George Beveridge's ranch and the Ganahl hacienda in the Nogales district.

Carranza has further promised that there will be no more assaults like that on the son of Silas King at Caco.

The authorities at Tampico have promised the immediate release of an American named Byrd, held near that city.

Consul Letcher at Chihuahua reported that the threatened seizure of the ranch of W. D. Snyman, a British subject, had been settled.

No Report on Benton Case.

No new reports have been received at the department on the Benton, Bauch or Vergara cases.

Secretary Bryan, who last night renewed his demand for the punishment of Vergara's slayers, said today he would continue to transmit to Charge O'Shaughnessy all the evidence gathered in that case.

George Rutledge, Mexican Northwestern railroad superintendent, for whose whereabouts inquiry had been made at the state department, was safe and well at Juarez yesterday, according to a report from Consul Edwards.

MILITIA BREAKS UP STRIKE TENT COLONY

People "Homeless in Snowstorm," Union Men Wire Congressmen.

Washington, March 11.—Chairman Foster of the house mines committee that investigated the Colorado coal mine strike, today received the following telegram from officers of the United Mine Workers union in Colorado:

"Twenty-three militiamen, under orders of Adjt. Gen. John Chase, demolished strikers' tent colony at Forbes, Colo. Men, women and children are homeless in a blinding snowstorm. Inhabitants of the upper tent colony ordered by militiamen to leave their homes within forty-eight hours or be deported."

Mr. Foster said the committee had been shocked by conditions in the strike area.

CARSON'S PLAN FOR IRELAND DISCUSSED

Asquith and Others Meet Nationalist Leaders in Conference.

London, March 11.—The offer of Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, to submit the government's proffered concessions in connection with Home Rule to an Ulster convention, provided no limitation was placed on the period of exclusion of the case of Ulster counties, was the subject of a lengthy conference between cabinet ministers and Nationalist leaders today.

The party, at the premier's official residence in Downing street, included Premier Asquith, Augustine Birrell, secretary of state for Ireland; David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer; John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists; John Dillon and other prominent Nationalist members.

The concessions offered to the Unionists by Premier Asquith on Monday provided that before the home rule bill for Ireland became operative, a poll should be taken of the parliamentary electors of each of the nine counties of Ulster to decide whether there should be a period of six years from the first meeting of the new Irish parliament.

WESTERN UNION RAISES DIVIDEND

J. P. Morgan Resigns From the Board of Directors.

New York, March 11.—The directors of the Western Union Telegraph company today declared a quarterly dividend of 1 per cent, putting the stock on a 4 per cent basis. Since 1908 the annual dividend rate had been 3 per cent.

J. P. Morgan resigned from the board of directors. Edwin G. Merrill, president of the Union Trust company of New York, was elected to the board to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of William H. Moore.

IS OUSTED FROM CLUB "FOR GOOD OF PARTY"

CHARLES F. MURPHY, Leader of Tammany Hall.

SUPPOSED DEAD MAN SAID TO BE FORGER

Dakota Bankers Among Alleged Victims of C. S. Cooper.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 11.—C. S. Cooper, under arrest in San Antonio, Texas, as a forger, is alleged by the manager of a bank detective agency to be wanted here for illegal check and draft operations which netted him several thousand dollars. According to the same authority Cooper, who was believed to have been drowned in the Hudson river two years ago, has been operating for fifteen years in many states. Banks in various parts of the country have paid him close to $50,000.

Cooper was arrested at San Antonio on a charge of forgery alleged to have been committed at Cordell, Okla. Banks, however, in New Hampshire, New York, New Jersey, North and South Dakota, Arizona, Texas and California also suffered. He is said to have operated extensively against Los Angeles and Pasadena banks, and those in San Diego, California, Tucson, Arizona and El Paso.

EXCURSION BOATS ON LAKES 'UNDERMANNED'

Victor Olander So Testifies Before Congressional Committee.

Washington, March 11.—Victor Olander of Chicago, secretary of the Great Lakes Seamen's Union, testifying today before the house marine committee in behalf of the La Follette seamen's bill, charged that excursion steamers on the Great Lakes carried crews too small for manning lifeboats and that the inspection service was inclined to be influenced by the steamship companies.

He cited the case of one ship certificated to carry 250 passengers in winter and 1,417 in summer, which was permitted to carry 3,600 passengers within five miles of land. The vessel, he said, was required to carry only five deckhands.

SUFFRAGETTES BURN ALL TOWN BUILDINGS

Thousands of Dollars Damage Done Near Nottingham.

Nottingham, Eng., March 11.—A suffragette arson squad early today set fire to and destroyed all the buildings belonging to the town corporation at Bulcole, six miles northeast of this city. The loss is many thousands of dollars. Suffrage literature was found strewn about the vicinity.

TURKS IN AMERICA BEYOND PORTE'S GRIP

Sultan Loses Test Case Over Rug Merchant's Estate.

New York, March 11.—The sultan of Turkey today lost a test suit to establish his right to control the property of Turkish subjects who died in the United States. Through the Turkish consul general here, his majesty sought to take and distribute as public administrator the estate of Hovhannes S. Tavshanjian, a wealthy Turkish rug dealer, who died in New York. The state supreme court today decided against him, sustaining a demurrer entered by Tavshanjian's executors.

Suffragists in Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., March 11.—Headed by Jane Addams of Chicago, the executive board of the National Woman's Suffrage association today began a series of meetings and conferences with local and state suffrage leaders.

READ MURPHY OUT OF CLUB

National Democratic Club Leaders Act "for Party's Good."

Gaffney, Foley, Darlington and Plunkett Also Dropped.

New York, March 11.—The ousting of Charles Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, and several of his followers from memberships in the National Democratic club created a stir in political circles today. The ostensible reason given the heated debate over the matter at the club last night was that Murphy was behind in his dues.

Judge Edward F. O'Dwyer, president of the club, who has been leading the fight against Murphy, introduced a resolution calling for the elimination of the Tammany leader and the others, but this resolution was not formally adopted, as the point was raised, and upheld by the presiding officer, that under the rules the men were automatically dropped as they had not paid dues for two months.

Offered to Pay.

Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany Hall, appealed against the ruling and tendered a check for the money due. When the check was refused he asked for a vote. Seventeen members of the board of governors were present, and they decided against the appeal, 10 to 7.

In the course of the debate, Smith said the men named would not submit to such humiliation.

"The names were picked out for an obvious purpose," he said, "and we will have them restored to the rolls."

Judge O'Dwyer replied that he could give a very good reason for the club's action.

"They were dropped," he said, "for the best interests of the club and the Democratic party."

Besides Murphy, James E. Gaffney, Murphy's political and business associate; Thomas F. Foley; Thomas H. Darlington, former health commissioner; and George W. Plunkett, former state senator, were dropped.

Glynn Elected Member.

Twenty new members were elected to the club, including Governor Glynn, Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port of New York, and Thomas Tumulty, brother of the secretary to President Wilson.

TWO BRITISH ARMY AVIATORS KILLED

Three Deaths in Two Days Follow Boast of English Superiority.

Salisbury, Eng., March 11.—Two more officers of the British army flying corps were killed here today. Capt. C. R. W. Allen of the Welsh regiment and Lieut. J. E. G. Burroughs of the Wiltshire regiment, while flying over the military aerodrome on Salisbury plain, were hurled to the ground from a high altitude owing to the collapse of their aeroplane.

Boasted of Safety.

London, March 11.—In recording the three fatalities to British army aviators within two days, the London newspapers say they make a tragic sequel to the congratulations expressed to the country last week by Col. Seely, secretary of war, on the fact that no deaths of army aviators had occured within a year. The secretary attributed this record to the superior safety of British aeroplanes and declared that flying now was safer than voyages in submarines.

DANISH CROWN PRINCE IS FIFTEEN YEARS OLD

CROWN PRINCE OF DENMARK.

Copenhagen, March 11.—Crown Prince Christian Frederik celebrated his fifteenth birthday today. His father succeeded to the throne less than two years ago, and as he is only 43 he probably has many years to serve.

ENGLAND HIDES ALL HER ART TREASURES

Action of Suffragette Causes Panic Among Custodians.

London, March 11.—The damaging yesterday of the famous Velasquez painting known as the "Rokeby Venus," in the National gallery, by May Richardson, a notorious militant suffragette, will prevent American and other tourists from seeing many of England's art treasures during the coming season. The lord chamberlain today announced that the state apartments in Windsor castle would be closed "until further orders."

A similar notice was issued by the trustees of the National gallery and of the celebrated Wallace art collection, Kensington palace and Hampton court palace, which are visited yearly by thousands of foreigners, also closed their doors, and the $20,000,000 collection of Oriental porcelains and bronzes bequeathed to South Kensington museum in 1905 by the late George Salting has been locked up.

The custodians of all public art treasures were today in a state of panic, as heretofore every fresh suffragette demonstration has been followed by imitators. This explains the alarm that other women armed with hatchets may be abroad.

Large forces of special guards have been placed on patrol duty in the British and the South Kensington museums.

Questioned in Commons.

The closing of public art galleries on account of outrages by militant suffragettes was the subject of a question in the house of commons today. Reginald McKenna, home secretary, in reply, promised to confer with the authorities in order to see whether it was not possible to arrange for efficient police protection, so as to avoid the complete closing of public institutions.

$75,000 FIRE AT LADYSMITH, WIS.

Ladysmith, Wis., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire last night entirely destroyed the plant of the Metrasha Woodenware company here, excepting the lumber yards and dry kilns. The loss is $75,000, insured. The plant will be rebuilt and made larger.

SEEK BODIES IN FIRE RUINS

One Hundred Men Clearing Away Debris at St. Louis.

Match or Stub Thrown By Smoker May Have Caused Disaster.

St. Louis, Mo., March 11.—One hundred men working under the city's twenty-four bridge carpenters today began digging away the ruins of the Missouri Athletic club, under which lie buried twenty to thirty-five bodies of members who lost their lives in the fire which destroyed the 7-story club building Monday morning. Ten bodies were found yesterday and the day before.

At the same time an investigation into the causes of the fire was opened by a coroner's jury, with a view to placing responsibility for the greatest death toll of any fire in the city's history.

Fire officials and the building commissioner declare they warned the club management that the building was a fire trap, but that suggested improvements were not made. The joint committee's inquiry into the truth of these charges will be followed by a general investigation of the fire escaping and fire prevention facilities of all theaters, clubs and hotels in the city.

Lays Fire to Smoker.

Tom Rowe, who was in charge of the check room of the Missouri Athletic club on the night of the fire, said today he thought the fire was caused by the throwing of a lighted cigarette or a match into a curtain by some member of an after-theater supper party. Ten minutes after the supper party left the building, Rowe was told, a waiter smelled smoke in the dining room, but did not investigate.

Building Commissioner McKelvy said

SIX PROMINENT LAWYERS INDICTED

Extortion, Blackmail, Embezzlement and Subornation of Perjury Charged.

Omaha, Neb., March 11.—A grand jury has returned to Judge English in the district court, indictments against six well-known attorneys, three charging extortion and blackmail, two embezzlement and one subornation of perjury.

Irving H. Baxter, former United States district attorney and district judge and at present law partner of Former United States Senator Norris Brown, is charged with extortion and blackmail, as are R. H. Olmstead and Thomas Brady. All three appeared as counsel at different times for Nellie Rysley Paul, who recently lost a damage suit against Arthur D. Brandeis, a millionaire merchant of this city. Mrs. Paul also was indicted on a similar charge.

Subornation of Perjury.

Clinton Broome is charged with subornation of perjury in a $50,000 suit brought for the adjudication of an estate of a wealthy Omaha woman. T. P. Matters and Carroll Wright were charged with having embezzled funds of clients, the former $3,500 and the latter $220.

The indictment against Baxter charges him with having extorted from Brandeis $7,500 to prevent publicity being given to charges made by Mrs. Paul that her son had been mistreated by the merchant. Olmstead is charged with having extorted $27,500 on the same account. Brady was the attorney in the $250,000 Mrs. Paul's attorneys in the $250,000 damage suit, in which a jury returned a verdict for Mr. Brandeis.

LET COPPER MINERS VOTE ON CONTINUING STRIKE, SAYS MOYER

PRO[illegible] UNION WILL OUT OF MICHIGAN

CHARLES H. MOYER, President of the Western Federation of Miners.

Western Federation Will Not Interfere, Says Chief Official.

Congressional Committee Ends Investigation Into Strike.

Hears Union President's Own Story of His Deportation.

Chicago, March 11.—"We will sanction the calling off of the copper mine strike if the men themselves want to do it," declared Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners here today. Moyer recommended a referendum vote to determine whether the strikers desired to waive their demand for recognition of the union, to surrender their union cards and return to work.

The men could make their own individual terms with the mining companies, said Moyer. As far as the Western Federation was concerned, he asserted, that organization was willing to accept the changes in working conditions which the companies have made since the strike, and would be content to have the strikers return to work with the understanding that they could do so without prejudice.

Will Not Interfere.

Moyer said he wished to make it plain that the men on strike could take any action they desired, without interference from the Federation.

Allen F. Rees, senior counsel for the mining companies, said the men would be taken back without prejudice upon surrendering their union cards, and that places doubtless would be found for all except those who had been engaged in acts of violence.

Charles E. Mahoney, vice president of the Western Federation of Miners, who was operated on here yesterday for appendicitis, had a bad night, according to his physician, and will be in danger for several days.

Mahoney had a high temperature after the operation and was weak today. Charles H. Moyer, president of the miners' organization, passed the

THIEVES SHOOT TWO MONTREAL OFFICERS

One Constable Is Dead and Another Dying of Wounds.

Montreal, March 11.—All over the city and in the surrounding suburbs the police were hunting today for four burglars, who early today shot and killed Constable Bourdon and fatally wounded Constable Guyon. The officers tried to stop the thieves while they were escaping after robbing a butchershop at St. Laurent.

LAKE AND RAIL RATE HEARING POSTPONED

Commerce Commission Also Will Inquire Into Terminals.

Washington, March 11.—The interstate commerce commission today announced, in connection with the proposed 5 per cent advance in freight rates by Eastern railroads, a hearing in this city March 23, "regarding the storage of freight at terminals and loading and unloading carload freight."

Hearings heretofore announced for March 12, 13 and 14, on lake and rail rates have been postponed until April 2, 3 and 4. They will be held here.

LINCOLN RELICS SOLD AT AUCTION

Plate, Knife and Fork, Lamp and Chair Are Disposed of.

New York, March 11.—A blue ironstone china plate used by Abraham Lincoln in his home in Springfield, in 1837, brought $42.50 last night at the Norton antique lamp sale. An old knife and fork, steel with bone handles, sold for $62.50. Lincoln's law office lamp sold for $160 and an old chair used by him brought the same price.

These four Lincoln relics were taken by Dr. C. A. Quincy Norton, with other relics, from the Lincoln log cabin, which was exhibited in New York in 1866, in lieu of fees which were to have been paid him for lecturing at the cabin.

MISSIONARY IS MURDERED

Chinese Brigands Sack and Burn City of Lao Ho-Kow.

Kill Dr. Froyland and Wound Several Other Foreigners.

Pekin, March 11.—Brigands today sacked and burned the city of Lao Ho-Kow, killed Dr. T. Froyland, a Norwegian missionary, and wounded several other foreigners, including Rev. O. M. Sama, another Norwegian.

A force of 500 brigands obtained entrance to the city by means of treachery from within. They immediately plied torch and sword all around. They burned down the Asiatic Petroleum and Singer buildings and looted the British & American Tobbaco company's premises. Afterward they proceeded to the arsenal, where they secured 700 rifles, several field guns and much ammunition.

Two thousand coolies were impressed by the brigands to carry off their loot.

Lao Ho-Kow, which is a river port on the Han Klang, is an important mission station in the province of Hu-Peh.

Three missionary societies have representatives there. One of them is the Norwegian Lutheran China Mission association, with headquarters in Norway, which had a staff of three men, two of them with their wives, and three other women. Dr. T. Froyland, who was killed by the brigands, and Rev. O. M. Sama, who was wounded, represented this society.

Another society is the China Inland Mission, whose headquarters are in London, Eng., and which has a staff in Lao Ho-Kow of one missionary and his wife, with three other women.

The third society is also British—"Christian Missions in Many Lands." It has a staff in Lao Ho-Kow of two missionaries with their wives.

ST. LOUIS MAN MAY BE IN RESERVE BOARD

Walker Hill Is Being Considered for Such Position.

Washington, March 11.—Walker Hill, president of the Mechanics-American National bank of St. Louis, is being considered for a place on the Federal reserve board which will administer the new currency system. He is accounted one of the leading bankers of the Middle West. White House officials said today no selection had been made.

ORGANIZER OF MANY BANDS IS SUICIDE.

WALTER WILLIAMS DIES IN CANADA

Efforts of Duluth Man to Regain Health Are Unavailing.

Word has been received here by John Williams of 517 West Second street informing him of the death last Saturday of his son, Walter Williams, at Rumsey, Alberta, Canada, where the latter had moved with his wife and child two years ago from Duluth in hopes of regaining his health. He died of tuberculosis.

Mr. Williams was very well known in Duluth, having been born here thirty-three years ago. During his earlier years he was employed at the American Exchange National bank. When he left Duluth for Canada in the hopes of regaining his health, Mr. Williams was cashier for the Duluth & Iron Range railroad at the Endion station. Shortly previous to that he was station agent for the same road at Ely.

Besides his widow, who was Miss Alfreda Eyning of Duluth, Mr. Williams is survived by a 4-year-old daughter, Ruth. His father, John Williams of Duluth, and two sisters, Mrs. W. S. Kempton of Lakeside and Mrs. Fred Moller of Brooklyn, N. Y., also survive him. He was a member of the Ely lodge, Knights of Pythias.

The funeral was held yesterday, with interment at Rumsey.

ISSUE WRIT IN SALOON CASE

Judge Cant Grants Petition of Charles Sholund's Bartender.

Sheriff Must Show Cause for Detaining Henry Johnson.

A new phase in the Sholund liquor license episode developed yesterday when District Judge Cant, acting upon the petition of Henry Johnson, bartender for Charles Sholund, 191 East Michigan street, ordered issued a writ of habeas corpus directing John R. Meining, sheriff, to show cause why Johnson is being detained as a prisoner at the county jail. The writ is returnable Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Johnson was arrested on March 4 by two police officers while selling liquor over the bar at Sholund's saloon after the Sholund license had been revoked by the city council. At that time, a writ of certiorari was, and it still is, pending in the supreme court, returnable April 7 at St. Paul. The writ of the high court is for the purpose of reviewing the actions of the council in revoking the Sholund license.

Sholund and Johnson took the position that the writ of the supreme court stayed proceedings and assumed that the saloon might be conducted until the decision of the high court had been announced. Liquor was sold openly by Johnson at the saloon on March 4 until his arrest. When brought before Judge Cutting in municipal court Johnson was fined $50 or given thirty days in the county jail. Johnson took the sentence.

In his petition for a writ of habeas corpus, Johnson sets up that his arrest, trial, conviction and imprisonment are illegal and that he is being detained contrary to his rights as a citizen under the state and Federal Constitutions.

When Johnson was arraigned in police court, his attorney objected to the jurisdiction on the grounds that the constitutionality of the Hicken liquor ordinance, under which the arrest had been made, was at issue in the supreme court. This objection was overruled. In his petition, Johnson also claimed that he was refused a jury trial.

Although the writ is directed against the sheriff as custodian of the prisoner, it is expected that the real contest will be between the city attorney's office and attorneys for Sholund. The constitutionality of the Hicken code, under which the city council found authority for closing the East Michigan street saloon, is attacked and will be made an issue in the habeas corpus proceedings.

TRIPLE CAPACITY OF WORK FARM

Commission Decides on Improvements on City and County Farm.

Accommodations for prisoners and officers of the new joint county and city work farm will be increased to nearly three times the present capacity, as a result of action taken yesterday at the regular monthly meeting of the work farm commission. Authority was given Fred Ward, superintendent, to make the improvements.

The temporary buildings which were erected to house the prisoners and officers will be enlarged and extended so as to accommodate 130 prisoners and twenty officers. The present capacity is forty-eight prisoners and ten officers. The work will proceed at once, as more room is needed.

Superintendent Ward was authorized to purchase another team of horses and such equipment as he deemed advisable for breaking ground and for plowing and seeding purposes in the spring. Operations will be started within another month.

FRANK FEELS SURE HE NEVER WILL HANG

More Evidence in His Favor Is Said to Be Found.

Atlanta, Ga., March 11.—Leo M. Frank declares he is more confident of obtaining a new trial than at any time since his conviction on the charge of having murdered Mary Phagan. An extraordinary motion for a new hearing will be filed some time before April 17, the date recently set for execution.

Frank's renewed hopefulness is believed to be the result of activities by his counsel and agents in a concerted effort to unearth new evidence. Interest in Frank's fight for life likewise appears more widespread than ever. This interest extends throughout the entire country, as shown by scores of letters received daily by counsel for the defense and prosecution from all parts of the United States.

The head of a detective agency has been personally engaged to work on the case. According to general report, the services of this man and his agents have been opposed by two private citizens of Atlanta.

Since renewed activities were begun in the case, several affidavits have been made public by the defense, and other evidence has been disclosed which will be embodied in the extraordinary motion for a new trial.

While the state is said to have been equally active, it is understood that little additional evidence will be made public until the motion has been filed by the defense.

MAYOR'S SON WEDS JANITOR'S DAUGHTER.

Butte, Mont., March 11.—Edward Duncan, son of Mayor Lewis J. Duncan (Socialist), married Mamie Moe, daughter of Edwin Moe, janitor of the city hall. News of the wedding came as a shock to the Duncans, particularly the mayor's wife.

NO PERMIT TO DAM THE SOO

International Commission Postpones Action—Discusses Lake Pollution.

Another Scheme to Divert Water at Chicago Is Up.

Detroit, Mich., March 11.—The international joint commission in session here to consider questions affecting various interests along the Great Lakes and connecting rivers has postponed decision as to the construction of a dam which a power company proposed to construct in the St. Mary's river.

In spite of declarations by government engineers and officers of the power company that the proposed dam would not seriously affect the level of Lake Superior, opponents of the project were not convinced, and they succeeded in obtaining an extension of time in which to gather further evidence in support of their contention that the lake's level would be raised to such an extent that great property damage would ensue. It is hoped to have this evidence ready for presentation when the commission meets in Washington April 7.

Discuss Pollution.

Today the commission was to consider in executive session the pollution of the water of the Great Lakes.

"The meeting will consider plans for remedying the pollution rather than to consider the effect of such pollution," said Commissioner Casgrain of Canada. "Just how far we shall go with these plans we do not know, but if anything is made public, it probably will be at a later date."

The American members of the commission, before which citizens of the two countries may appear to present personal protests against any project and receive immediate decision, are James A. Tawney of Minnesota, chairman; Obadiah Gardner, Maine, and R. B. Glenn, North Carolina. The Canadian members are Thomas Chase Casgrain, Henry A. Powell and Charles A. MacGreath.

Another Chicago Scheme.

Washington, March 11.—Secretary Garrison, at the instance of the British ambassador, has called upon the army engineers to report on the possible effect upon the level of the Great Lakes of a measure now pending before the house, which would permit the diversion of a greater amount of water from Lake Michigan into the Chicago canal in connection with the proposed extension of the Chicago park system.

The ambassador, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, in a note to the state department, said the proposed legislation would encroach upon Canada's navigation rights, guaranteed by a treaty between the United States and Great Britain. He urged that in many respects the present petition of the South Park commissioners of Chicago and the Illinois Central railroad is on the same basis as the previous application of the sanitary district of Chicago, which was disallowed.

Great Britain's position has been brought to the attention of the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce by Secretary Bryan.

MINNESOTANS GO TO JOLIET PRISON

Danville, Ill., March 11.—Edward and Walter Gassoway, formerly prominent business men of Milford, Iroquois county, pleaded guilty in the Federal court yesterday to violating the bankruptcy law. They were sentenced to Joliet prison for one year each. They were charged with perjury in swearing to false schedules and sequestering property when they went into bankruptcy. They now reside in Minnesota.

FIRST ACTION BY THE HOUSE

Senate Will Take Up Panama Canal Tolls Later on.

Sims Bill Already Reported Favorably By Committee.

Washington, March 11.—Action on the proposed repeal of the toll exemption provision of the Panama canal act will be concluded in the house before the senate committee on interoceanic canals begins formal consideration of the controversy.

This was determined after a canvass of members of the senate committee, who believe that the matter should take its course in the lower house before consideration of any bill or amendment is undertaken by them. Senator O'Gorman, chairman of the committee, who will lead the fight within the party ranks against repeal, said he did not expect to call the committee together until the house has acted.

Should the house fail to pass the repeal, which administration leaders say is wholly improbable, the matter would not be dropped in the senate. Senator Root has a repeal bill pending before the committee, and an amendment to the Panama canal act was introduced last week by Senator Chilton which would accomplish the repeal by giving the president absolute authority over canal tolls, even to assessing charges where exemption is provided for American coastwise ships.

Sims' Bill Reported.

The house committee on interstate commerce favorably reported the Sims bill to the house yesterday, revised so as to repeal all features of the existing exemption clause. It probably will be taken up in the house within a few days.

The committee had eliminated after the provision that the canal tolls shall not exceed $1.25 per net registered ton, the words "nor be less other than for vessels of the United States and its citizens, than the estimated proportionate cost of the actual maintenance and operation of the canal" and substituted the words "than 75 cents per registered ton."

Representatives Knowland of California, a Republican member of the interstate commerce committee, declared that this action "forever forecloses the United States' fight to pass a battleship, revenue cutter, collier, lightship or other government craft through the canal without the payment of toll."

BILLINGS COUNTY IN DIVISION FIGHT.

Medora, N. D., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Billings is slated for another bitter county division contest. The advocates of Slope county are planning a series of meetings in Southwestern Billings to create sentiment favoring a renewal of the campaign.

Four years ago there were two propositions to divide Billings county, one by creating Golden Valley and another for Slope county. Both received a majority of the votes cast but the commissioners declared each proposition lost. The people of Golden Valley carried their fight into the supreme court and won. Those in Slope county let the matter go by default and will now be compelled to make the fight again and without the co-operation of Golden Valley.

GO GENERALLY DRY.

No License Scores Many Victories in Southern Minnesota.

Winona, Minn., March 11.—No license victories were recorded generally in the cities and villages of Southern Minnesota in the elections yesterday. Fountain went dry by 48 majority, Lanesboro by 72 majority, Spring Valley by 85 votes while Rushford also voted dry. Stewartville in Olmsted county is the only town thus far reported here which was carried by the liquor forces.

One Grand Sweet Song

Scientists tell us that somewhere far out in space all the sounds of the earth—the songs of revelry—cries of the distressed—groans of the oppressed—blend into one grand harmony, like the notes of some great organ. Time and distance have eliminated all discords. But that is too far off to suit us. We want to hear those grand harmonies here and now, when we arise in the morning, when we come home at night, at our work, in our pleasure. Well, why not? It can be done. Begin with yourself. Remove the annoyances, the petty bickerings; relieve the nerve centers and you have it. Take advantage of your opportunities; when you can buy Pittsburgh's Pittston, the guaranteed hard coal, at no higher cost than ordinary coal, do it, and you'll add one note to the grand harmony. It is one grand sweet song in the home where Pittsburgh's Pittston, the guaranteed hard coal is. Thousands of people are congratulating themselves this cold weather that Pittsburgh's Pittson is on the job.

PREUS TALKS TO BRAINERD CLUB

Insurance Commissioner Speaks Upon Fire Insurance Protection.

Brainerd, Minn., March 11.—J. A. O. Preus, state insurance commissioner, spoke at a meeting of the Commercial club on fire insurance, fire protection and fire insurance rates.

Half a billion dollars, an amount equal to one-third the assessed valuation of Minnesota or South Dakota, is annually lost to American people by fire, he said. If spread about the country like a poll tax, it means $5 per capita loss. Sixty-five per cent of the fires were due to carelessness. Spontaneous combustion, said Mr. Preus, was often a reaction between over insurance and a light stock. He mentioned the agency system, drawing 20 per cent on the premiums, and many of the agents anxious for the premiums without any regard to the risks taken. Mr. Preus wanted no competition in insurance rates. He stated how the inspection company made rates on property.

Favored Board of Appeals.

He was in favor of a law, however, which provided a board of appeals, to which an appeal could be taken from a rate bureau's figures, if necessary. At present there was no review, the rate bureau was supreme. He contrasted the experience of Wisconsin, in state life and fire insurance, with that of private companies. He explained co-insurance and its benefits. All the insurance companies are under the supervision of the state of Minnesota, said Mr. Preus in closing. None has become insolvent in the last three years. Mr. Preus made a favorable impression on the many who came to hear him at the Commercial clubrooms.

EX-PROSECUTOR AND SHERIFF INDICTED.

Rock Island, Ill., March 11. — Lawrence M. Magill, former state's attorney, and O. L. Bruner, sheriff, have been indicted jointly charged with bribery and conspiracy. They were accused of accepting $100 from Martin Nolan for releasing him from the county jail, where he was held pending trial on a charge of disorderly conduct. The jury voted five indictments charging Bruner with various offenses.

Magill characterized the indictments as outrageous.

Magill has declined to furnish the county board with a report of the financial operations of his office as state's attorney unless his two predecessors are called upon to furnish similar statements.

BAY STATE SENATE APPROVES SUFFRAGE.

Boston, March 11. — The proposed amendment to the Constitution which would give women right to vote passed the state sensate 32 to 2, with one pair. This is the first time such an amendment has ever passed either branch of the legislature. It now goes to the house, but before it can become law must be acted upon favorably by two successive legislatures and then be accepted by the voters.

FESTIVAL IS APPROVED

Public Affairs Committee Joins in the General Movement.

Takes Action Toward Having City and County Hospital Built.

The midsummer festival was unanimously approved last evening at the monthly meeting of the public affairs committee, and a motion made to have President R. B. Knox appoint a committee of three, of which he himself is to be a member, was adopted. Several speakers expressed the idea that the proposed midsummer festival will be a fine thing for the city and will fill the desire long expressed for some sort of pageant to attract attention to the city as the nation's greatest summer resort. The matter came up when a letter from the Duluth Retailers' association was presented, directing attention to the movement which has become general and has been approved by almost every organization in the city.

Although informal invitations have been sent to the Detroit board of commerce to have the members visit Duluth on their annual cruise during the coming summer, the public affairs committee last evening formally sent an invitation to the Detroit body, and it is expected that when the cruise is made in June or July, Duluth will be one of the points visited.

Dr. E. L. Tuohy, chairman of the committee on public health, reported in favor of the public affairs committee appointing a committee to act with the Woman's council in starting the machinery to obtain a city and county hospital. This was done, and Dr. Tuohy, Judge Bert Fesler and Arthur Barnes were named.

This was not done, however, until a lively discussion had followed Dr. Tuohy's introductory talk. A. C. Le Duc did not believe such a hospital necessary, in view of the fact that the city and county as a whole are amply supplied. Dr. Tuohy and President R. B. Knox, however, pointed out that patients such as a city and county hospital would care for are not wanted in hospitals operated by private organizations, and that the poor farm is no place for them.

G. Roy Hall reported on the various phases of rate matters, speaking of the hearing that is to take place in the Twin Cities on March 23 before Commissioner Harlan of the interstate commerce commission, of the postponement of the hearing for a general advance in freight rates of 5 per cent, of the conference a few days ago regarding the refrigerating service in lake vessels, and of the advance in intrastate rates under the Cashman law, which have just gone into effect.

George D. McCarthy reported for the publicity committee, telling of the extensive series of articles being published in outside newspapers and technical journals, and of the new Duluth folder which will be distributed by April 15. C. P. Craig, chairman of the agricultural committee, spoke of the short agricultural course being held at the demonstration farm, and said that seventy-five students are in attendance. J. B. Crane spoke on smoke prevention, and expressed the belief that the inspector recently appointed will shortly show results.

There will be only one more meeting of the public affairs committee before the annual election of the club, and Chairman Barnes urged that there be a full attendance in April, and also that annual reports be prepared at once.

UNIQUE RELIGIOUS SERVICE PLANNED

Greek, Russian and English Churches Will Join Forces.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 11.—A unique religious service will take place in St. John's Episcopal church here tomorrow night. The Eastern Orthodox churches will join with the Anglican churches will join with the been held in this country. It is said here that not since A. D. 900, the year of the great schism, have these churches joined in a similar service.

Father Pantelaief of the Russian church will be in charge, assisted by Archimandrate Rev. Dionysius Papadates of the Greek Orthodox church and Bishop C. B. Brewster of the Episcopal diocese of Connecticut. Portions of the service will be in Russian, Greek and English.

PERPETUAL MOTION SEEKER IS SUICIDE

Los Angeles, Cal., March 11.—Harrassed by the difficult task of solving the problem of perpetual motion, Gerald Bryner, a cabinetmaker who came here recently from Switzerland, committed suicide with a rifle. Before shooting himself Bryner tested the weapon by firing it through his window. The bullet shattered the window of a crowded street car, grazing the arm of a passenger and causing a panic. Search followed, with the result that Bryner's body was found.

DULUTH AS OCEAN PORT

Public Affairs Committee Joins in Move for Channel to Sea.

Refuses to Join Great Lakes Cities' Conference as It Stands.

Two actions in relation to the Great Lakes and waterways taken by the public affairs committee of the Commercial club at its monthly dinner and meeting last evening, may have a strong bearing on water transportation on the Great Lakes and a passage to the sea. One was the decision to join with the Chicago Association of Commerce and similar bodies at Milwaukee, Detroit and Cleveland in sending a delegation to Washington to confer with Secretary of State Bryan for action looking toward the deepening of all interlake passages and the creating of a deep waterway canal paralleling the St. Lawrence rapids, at as early a date as possible.

The other was the decision of the public affairs committee against having the club become a member of the recently formed Great Lakes Cities' Waterways conference, and to stick to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of which it is now a member and from which it is deriving great benefit.

At the conclusion of his address on the deep waterways matter, Chairman Julius H. Barnes made the statement:

"I believe that within fifteen years and possibly in ten years from now we will be loading vessels at Duluth docks bound for salt water."

Mr. Barnes reminded his audience that within three years the Erie canal will be deepened to twenty-five feet and that soon the Welland canal will be enlarged. He presented a letter from H. C. Gardner, chairman of the committee on waterways of the Chicago Association of Commerce on the deep waterways matter, and it was because of this letter that the motion was adopted to have the club appoint delegates to act with the Chicago association delegates. The letter follows:

Chicago's Action.

"Our committee on waterways held a meeting yesterday, and today presented its report to the executive committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce. After consideration the executive committee passed the following resolutions:

"Resolved, That we are heartily in favor of building the necessary canals having a depth of not less than thirty feet at Welland and paralleling the St. Lawrence rapids, and we believe that if the Dominion of Canada will build and maintain these canals it is only fair and equitable that the United States undertake by treaty at its own expense to build and maintain the necessary channels of equal navigable depth between Lakes Erie, Huron and Superior; also at its own expense the necessary works for controlling the lake levels.

"Resolved, That this matter be taken up promptly with Secretary of State Bryan, either by correspondence or by visitation of a committee, according to the judgment of President Defrees.

"It is proper to say in this connection that the executive committee had before it the Townsend resolution passed by the United States senate, reading as follows:

"Resolved, That the president be, and he hereby is, respectfully requested to enter upon negotiations with Great Britain or the Dominion of Canada with a view to an international agreement for the concurrent or co-opcrative improvement of navigation in waterways used, or which can be used, in common for the commerce of Canada and the United States.

"After the meeting I had an interview with President Joseph H. Defrees, and it was decided that the best way to present the matter to Secretary Bryan is by visitation. He appointed Mr. Rittenhouse and myself to go to Washington for that purpose. He also asked me to write this letter to you, and to write similar letters to the chamber of commerce at Milwaukee, Detroit and Cleveland, suggesting that they take similar action and appoint delegates to go to Washington with our delegates.

"I am writing this to you, and will take advantage of your kind offer to bring the matter before the Duluth chamber of commerce without delay. I hope favorable action will be taken, and that you will be chosen as one of those delegates to go to Washington. I cannot, of course, at this time name the date for meeting Secretary Bryan, but will say it is quite urgent because during the very first days of April, a large delegation of Canadians advocating the St. Lawrence-Welland route as against the Georgian bay route will go to Ottawa. I hope we can meet Secretary Bryan, and arrange so that our influence will be felt in Ottawa before the Canadian delegation arrives there."

Refuses to Join.

Mr. Barnes, who attended, as a delegate from the public affairs committee, a recent meeting at Buffalo, N. Y., where the Great Lakes Cities' Waterway conference was held, made his report last evening. He said that he believes the matter will not work out as desired. Fourteen cities were represented, some of them very minor ones and it was decided that nothing would be done until the plan proposed could be reported back to the cities having delegates present, and then reported back to the conference next September. The thing to which Mr. Barnes objected was that no plan for any city or cities broached could receive indorsement unless two-thirds of the delegates—each city being entitled to one—would vote in favor of it. Mr. Barnes pointed out that if the nine larger cities, comprising a total population of 4,500,000 desired a certain piece of legislation indorsed, the five smaller ones, comprising about 100,000 population, could block it. He made no recommendation but there was no mistaking his opinion in the matter. A motion to keep out of the conference and remain with the national chamber of commerce was unanimously carried.

Mr. Barnes, during the evening told of meeting in Washington, two wholesalers from Minneapolis, who were nothing short of vehement in their denunciation of the lake and rail victories that Duluth has been scoring over the Twin Cities.

Persecuting Twins.

"When they found out who I was," said Mr. Barnes, "they told me that if Duluth did not desist in its 'persecution' of the Twin Cities, the wholesalers of the latter intended building a railroad of their own and also a lake line of their own—not coming to Duluth however. I told them that they might build fourteen roads around Duluth if they wished, for instead of the 21-cent differential to which they now objected we were going to get 28 cents, and they could save money by moving their business to Duluth, where it rightfully belongs."

He declared that all Duluth should insist upon is water transportation on a reasonable basis, which would be at cost, plus a reasonable return on the investment. He declared that at the coming hearing, where roads will be permitted to show their loss or gain, he expects that there will be some juggling of figures, for he believes the roads involved are piling up about all the costs they can.

Mr. Barnes expressed the belief that in view of the fact that there are no independent carriers, congress should be asked to permit the interstate commerce commission to allow the using of Canadian bottoms, and that the commission should be permitted to raise as well as lower rates to regulate discriminatory conditions.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Agent, Wirth's drug store, 18 West Superior street.

ST. LOUIS TRUNK STRIKE IS OVER.

St. Louis, Mo., March 11.—The strike of trunkmakers declared here several weeks ago, was declared at an end by union leaders last night. Their announcement followed a mass meeting of 125 of the strikers at which a motion to call the strike off was passed. Friction between two rival unions is given as the cause of the workmen's return to work. About 300 trunk and valise makers walked out a few weeks ago, demanding recognition of their newly formed trunk union. The walkout paralyzed the operations of three factories.

ESTATE OF $11.60 GOES TO PROBATE.

La Crosse, Wis., March 11.—The smallest estate ever probated in Wisconsin was probated here today. It amounted to $11.60, and was the property of Young Swan, a Winnebago Indian. The heirs are Young Swan, Sr., and his wife. The court appointed the elder Young Swan administrator and fixed his bonds at $20, which is also a record for low.

OREGON OPTION ELECTION UPHELD

Salem, Or., March 11.—The last hope of the saloon men to have invalidated the local option elections held in a number of towns in Oregon last November, vanished when the state supreme court yesterday refused to grant a rehearing in the test case of W. B. Wiley vs. the county court of Washington county. The elections were attacked on grounds of alleged technical violations of election laws.

THE "EAR OF DIONYSIUS."

Wide World Magazine: Sicily is rich in Greek antiquities. Some of the best are clustered together on the outskirts of the old town f Syracuse. A very popular one is the "Ear of Dionysius," in the Latonia del Paradiso, an old quarry used as a prison by the Greeks. The walls of this quarry are over a hundred feet high, and lean inward at an angle of about thirty degrees—all chisel-work done by innumerable slaves. The idea was to prevent any possibility of escape on the part of the hapless prisoners confined here, and as a further precaution Dionysius had chiseled out in the solid rock a vast cavity, very similar, as seen from without, to a human ear, by means of which he is said to have listened to the conversation of the captives. The interior of the cavity is in the shape of the letter "S," and gradually tapers until at the extreme summit you may perceive a small hole through which the daylight comes. It was here that Dionysius did his eavesdropping.

The acoustic properties of this "ear" are extraordinary, the slightest whisper being distinctly audible, while a loud noise, like the slamming of the door which gives access to the "ear," produces a rapid succession of deafening reports.

WE CAN NOW SUPPLY THIS HAIR PREPARATION

Our big Harmony Laboratories in Boston have caught up with their orders now and so we won't have to disappoint any who are using Harmony Hair Beautifier and want more of it, or any who have been advised by your friends to use it. We can now fill all demands, even if it becomes even more of a rage than it is now.

Harmony Hair Beautifier is just what it is named—a hair beautifier. It is not a hair dye or hair oil—but a dainty, rose-perfumed liquid dressing to give the hair its natural gloss and brightness, wavy softness, rich beauty. Easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil, and will not change color of the hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick and thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet-smelling cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only by us. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

BOYS ARE STARVED INTO SURRENDER

Aurora, Ill., March 11.—Three boy fugitives from the state home at St. Charles, Ill., who defied a posse of farmers in the woods near Big Rock, Ill., all day, surrendered to the sheriff last night. The boys, William French of Chicago, George Fairchild of Jacksonville and William Boorkman of Jacksonville, had eaten nothing, they said, since leaving the home at St. Charles Monday night, and were driven out of the woods by hunger.

Elmer Dean, a Big Rock farmer who was shot through the throat when he tried to apprehend the boys early in the day, is in an Aurora hospital, where it was said he has a slight chance for his life. The boys refused to say who fired the shot that had injured Dean. Unless the sheriff can learn which one shot Dean, all will be held here in jail until it is learned how seriously he is wounded.

FIGHTING FOR FREE WHEAT

Canadian Grain Growers Bring Every Possible Pressure to Bear.

Are Now at the Mercy of the Canadian Elevators.

Grain growers of the Canadian Northwest propose to make it a fight to a finish for the removal of wheat and flour duties and the securing of free entry into the American markets. Pressure is being brought upon the Dominion government to introduce the necessary legislation to that end at the present session of parliament.

Farmers up there are anxious to secure the competition of American buyers in marketing their wheat, as at present they are at the mercy of elevator men and operators at Winnipeg and Fort William. It is claimed that while they get the market price on their straight grades of wheat, advantage is taken of them in grain running at all off-grade. In support of this contention the mayor of Swift Current gives an instance of where a grower who was offered only 32 cents a bushel for his wheat at Fort William, afterwards marketed it at Minneapolis at 87½ cents a bushel.

How Farmer is Stung.

He tells the following story of the transaction:

"In October, 1913, a farmer living near Beverley, Sask., had a fire get into a straw pile on his farm, and before it was extinguished it scorched a pile of wheat which he had lying on the ground. In hauling this wheat to market he got a little of it mixed through the pile, but in so small a quantity that our elevator man did not notice it. However, when the wheat was shipped to Fort William the inspector at Winnipeg graded the wheat 'No. 2 northern wheat rejected, mixed with fire burnt,' and with 2 per cent dockage. When the car reached Fort William the terminal elevators refused to take it at all, and our representative could not get a bid on the wheat at first, but did finally get an offer of 32 cents a bushel for it. This we refused to accept, and in the meantime the C. P. R. got after us to get the car unloaded, so we ordered it back to Swift Current.

"When the car came through Winnipeg on its return journey to Swift Current the inspection department graded it again, but this time the grade was straight No. 2 northern, with 2 per cent dockage. When the car returned to Swift Current we examined it the best we could, and found 'one' kernel of burnt wheat in it. We immediately sealed the car up and billed it to Minneapolis, and on the twenty-third of December it was graded No. 1 hard, with one pound dockage, and sold for 87½ cents, while on the same date No. 2 northern was selling in Winnipeg for 78 cents or a fraction under.

"Why should the inspection department at Winnipeg grade this wheat on the 16th of October No. 2 northern rejected mixed with burnt, and on December 8 grade it straight No. 2 northern? Had it improved on its trip to Fort William and back? Was there any difference in the offer of 32 cents and 87½ cents, the selling price? All the above statements can be proven. The system that is used at Winnipeg is 'rotten,' and the Western farmers are paying the fiddler. If your wheat is No. 1 without a doubt, you may get a fairly good deal at Winnipeg, but if the wheat is a little 'off' you are at the mercy of the wolves."

TWO NEW FEATURES FOR SHORT COURSE

Daily Reading Hour and Students' Prize Contest Started.

Two new and interesting features were introduced yesterday at the short course being given at the demonstration farm and experiment station of the University of Minnesota. These were in the form of a reading period each day and a prize contest for the students.

Director E. J. Thompson says that the reading period will cover a half hour each day during which the students will look over farm literature and periodicals pertaining to conditions in the Northwest. This work, he believes, will do a great deal to stimulate interest in scientific farming.

The prize contest will end this week. Each student will be asked to draw a diagram of a model farm including buildings and other improvements. The one who has the best diagram will be given a year's subscription to one of the best farm papers.

Tonight the boys will conduct a question box and parliamentary drill. Sides will be chosen for the drill.

DECIDES TO ATTACK TOBACCO COMPANY

McReynolds Will Proceed Under the Sherman Law.

Washington, March 11.—Attorney General McReynolds has decided to prepare a suit against the Metropolitan Tobacco company of New York, under the Sherman anti-trust act.

The decision was based upon evidence of alleged restraints of trade by the Metropolitan company laid before Mr. McReynolds by F. Snowden Marshall, United States district attorney at New York and his assistant, C. A. Thompson, who has had charge of the investigation of the case.

The principal complaint against the Metropolitan company is alleged discrimination against independent tobacco dealers. The Metropolitan acts as the distributing agent for producing companies that made up the old tobacco trust, and while it will be the principal defendant in a suit brought by the government, the producing companies would necessarily be parties to the action.

The question of criminal prosecution of the officials of the company was not settled.

LLOYD GEORGE NOT CENSURED BY HOUSE

London, March 11.—The house of commons last night, by a vote of 304 to 240, refused to pass what virtually was a vote of censure of David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer. The resolution was proposed by Sir John Randles, Unionist member of Manchester, northwest, who moved "that the house contemplates with regret the repeated inaccuracy of the chancellor of the exchequer and his gross and unfounded attacks on individuals."

As brought out in the debate, the individuals chiefly concerned in the resolution are titled Conservative land owners with whom Mr. Lloyd-George got into controversy in his land campaign speeches.

GARRETT CHAIRMAN OF PERE MARQUETTE

Detroit, Mich., March 11.—William A. Garrett of Chicago, was chosen chairman of the new board of directors of the Pere Marquette railway, according to official announcement by receivers of the road. His appointment became effective immediately and it is understood he may be later chosen president of the company. The board of directors was re-elected Monday.

Mr. Garrett is now vice president of the Chicago & Northwestern.

Red River Land Values.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Land values in the Red river valley are being maintained at a high point this winter, thirty sales in Grand Forks county within the last twenty days being at prices better than $75 an acre and as high as $90 an acre. In one instance the price was $98, the land involved lying adjacent to a small town.

DEATH REVEALS DEACONESS' WEDDING.

Wilton, Conn., March 11.—Harold G. Weston, member of a prominent family, died here yesterday. Announcement also was made that Mr. Weston left a widow, who was Miss Alice Ward De Witt, a deaconess in Trinity parish, Hartford. Mr. Weston had been in ill health for years. On Saturday he expressed a wish to be married and Miss De Witt was summoned. The ceremony was read by a local clergyman.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the elliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross drug store, 13 West Superior Street.

D. S. T. U. DEBATE IS POSTPONED

Series of Matrons' Silver Medal Contests Is Arranged.

Because of the sickness of one of the contestants the debate on the question, "Which Has the Greater Influence, Heredity or Environment?" to have been held yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Duluth Scandinavian Temperance union, did not take place. The subject will be debated at the next meeting of the society to be held Tuesday, April 14.

The meeting yesterday afternoon was held at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. Mrs. E. Gustafson, presndent of the society gave an account of the recent convention held in Minneapolis. An address on "Our Future Citizens" was also given by C. W. R. Wermine, pastor of the Swedish Methodist church.

Arrangements were made for holding a series of Matrons' silver medal contests this coming summer. The first contest will be held at the Bethel Swedish Baptist church of the East end. Mrs. L. W. Linder is superintendent of these contests and expects to announce the date within a few days.

ASK $1,000 YEARLY FOR PARK UP-KEEP

West End Clubs Will Make Appeal to the City Officials.

An expenditure of $1,000 annually for placing Central park in condition will be asked of the city by the residents of the West end. The request is to be made by the residents through the West End Hillside Improvement club, and the West End Commercial club.

Central park is said to be one of the best situated parks for recreation purposes in the city. Its location gives those who visit it not only a good view of the city both east and west, but also of the lake and harbor.

The park property lies between Fourteenth and Seventeenth avenues west, north of First street to a point above the boulevard. Most of this property is said to be barren rock but can, it is said, be made one of the prettiest spots in the city.

It is claimed that an expenditure of about $1,000 annually in improvements will make the place one of the most desirable parks in the city to visit in a few years. The city will also be asked to rebuild the embankment at the lower end of the Twin Lakes, destroyed during a heavy storm a few years ago.

NO PUBLIC PARK FOR HERMANTOWN

Farmers Say the Grounds Would Be Rendezvous for "Beer Parties."

Hermantown will not have a public park or playground this year. At the regular spring election, held in the town of Herman yesterday, the proposition was voted down by three to one. The total vote was: Yes, 25; no, 86.

The town election resulted as follows: Supervisor for three years, Otto Witte, 82; T. O. Fichner, 31; town clerk, J. R. Brady, 72; Edwin Johnson, 40; treasurer, H. Halvorson, 111; justice of the peace, Eric Lindberg, 113; constable, Frank Polzin, 113.

The question of the town purchasing a plot of ground near the center of the town of Herman for park purposes was strenuously opposed by many of the farmers on the ground that such a place would only become a rendezvous for Sunday "beer parties" from the city. It was asserted that in some parts of the farming communities near the city places of a like nature were being used by crowds of men in the summer for holding these parties, and the residents of the town contended that they did not want anything like that in their neighborhood.

TWO FIRE CALLS.

Flames Are Quickly Extinguished; Damage Is Slight.

Engine Company No. 2 responded to two calls on Garfield avenue last evening. The first call was to 600 Garfield, where a blaze was discovered near the purifying rooms of the city gas plant shortly before 6 o'clock. The damage amounted to about $100.

Shortly before 9 o'clock the company responded to a call at 1101 Cox avenue on Rice's Point. Sparks from a chimney had set fire to the roof. The damage was slight.

SEAMEN'S WAGES SAME 69 YEARS.

Washington, March 11. — Andrew Furuseth, president of the International Seamen's union, told the house merchant marine committee that the average wages of seamen the world over have been stationary the last sixty-nine years. He said stewards and firemen, drilled in pulling boats in fine weather, could not be relied upon to save life or even successfully lower boats in a storm, and that vessels should carry two able seamen for each lifeboat.

EXPLORER WILL GIVE LECTURE

Member of Scott South Polar Expedition to Tell Experiences.

Washington, March 11.—The first lecture in the United States by any member of the ill-fated Scott South Polar expedition is to be delivered before the National Geographical society here on Friday by Commander E. R. G. R. Evans, second in command of the expedition and the last man to bid Capt. Scott goodby. He was in charge of the last supporting party, turning back northward at latitude 87 deg. and 34 minutes. They did not think at the time that the three cheers proposed by Commander Evans would be the final appreciation Capt. Scott and his four companions would ever know. The explorer will tell of Capt. Scott's successful endeavor to reach the pole and of his heroic death while returning. Commander Evans will arrive in New York on the Oceanic tomorrow and will come direct to Washington.

Explorers returning to the United States from the fields of their achievements express a desire to present themselves first before the National Geographic society at Washington. Among those who have delivered their first American lectures before the members of the society are: Admiral Robert E. Peary, on his return from his victorious conquest of the North pole; Capt. Roald Amundsen, after his discovery of the Northwest passage and later when he had planted the Norwegian flag at the South pole; Col. Roosevelt, on the return of his South African hunting expedition, and Lieut. Shackleton, after discovering the magnetic South pole.

Commander Evans nearly died from scurvy while returning north. He was dragged on a sledge by his two companions for forty miles until a heavy snowfall made it impossible for the sledge to be moved. One of the men marched for eighteen miles, with nothing to eat but a few biscuits, and sent back a rescuing party which arrived just in time to save Evans' life. But three meals were left in their larder when relief came.

ANOTHER REVIVAL OF LOBBY INQUIRY.

Washington, March 11.—Another revival of the senate lobby investigation was ordered yesterday. Clarence W. De Knight, a Washington lawyer, was summoned by order of Chairman Overman to appear Thursday and testify concerning reports of alleged activity at the capitol with reference to army and navy pay bills, contracts and other legislative matters.

FREE SEEDS WIN.

House Refuses to Give Up Time Honored Practice.

Washington, March 11.—Congressional distribution of free seeds for the farmers of the country was attacked unsuccessfully in the house during consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill. An amendment by Representative Sumner of Texas to place seed distribution in the hands of the department of agriculture was voted down after a lively debate, in which members from agricultural districts resented characterizations of seed distribution as "graft."

MILLIONAIRE IS SENT TO ROCK PILE

Portland, Or., March 11.—Five days at hard labor on the city rock pile was the sentence for speeding given W. C. Barker, millionaire clubman, in the municipal court here. Expecting to be let off with a fine, Barker pleaded guilty to speeding his automobile fifty miles an hour within the city limits.

Riverton Man Punished.

Brainerd, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—In district court chambers before Judge W. S. McClenahan, a Riverton man, Ole Angvick of Riverton, pleaded guilty to the charges of selling liquor without a license and to keeping an unlicensed drinking place. He was fined $50 on each charge and the costs were assessed at $19.50. Judge McClenahan suspended sentence pending good behavior. He also took into consideration the fact that the man had been thirty-five days in the county jail.

INFANT PERISHES.

Child of Max Schlintz Burns to Death at Meadowlands.

Meadowlands, Minn., March 11.—The 1½-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Max Schlintz was burned to death here about noon yesterday when fire broke out in the Schlintz home, from unknown origin and burned the dwelling to the ground. A Missabe switching crew discovered the fire and gave the alarm. Mr. Schlintz was working in the greenhouse while Mrs. Schlintz was outside in the rear of the dwelling. There were three children in the house and another was in school. Two of the children in the house were rescued but the baby could not be reached. The fire made such rapid headway that all attempts to get the baby out failed. There is no adequate fire fighting appliance here. The house was entirely destroyed. The loss was covered by insurance.

Brainerd to Hear Lawler.

Brainerd, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Daniel W. Lawler of St. Paul will be the orator at the St. Patrick's day entertainment given at the Gardner auditorium on March 17.

MEALS HIT BACK? DYSPEPSIA, GAS, SOUR STOMACH?—PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Try It! In Five Minutes Indigestion Goes and Stomach Feels Fine.

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress gone. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas, acid, or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach doctor in the whole world, and besides, it is harmless.

Millions of men and women now eat their favorite foods without fear—they know it is needless to have a bad stomach.

Get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store and put your stomach right. Stop being miserable—life is too short—you're not here long, so make your stay agreeable. Eat what you like and digest it; enjoy it, without fear of rebellion in the stomach.

Pape's Diapepsin belongs in your home. Should one of the family eat something which doesn't agree with them, or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement, it is handy to give instant relief.

Woman's Realm

Motion picture films dealing with the white slave traffic, the roller skating rink, and the public dance hall were given as the three chief causes for the downfall of girls at a meeting of the Twin Ports Social Service club at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. Representatives numbering about forty from all the charitable and welfare organizations of Duluth and Superior were present, and Mayor W. I. Prince was one of the speakers.

The general discussion regarding the downfall of girls was brought about by the foregoing statement, which was brought about by Jessie E. Mauck, superintendent of the Bethel Home for Women, who spoke of her rescue work for girls in Duluth. She said that the cause of the downfall of girls who came to the Bethel was generally one of these three things.

The effect of the motion picture theater brought forth various opinions but there was a tendency to defend the theater in its general work. The elimination of films dealing with white slavery and Kindred subjects was given as the solution of the problem now facing the theatrical managers.

Mayor Prince was of the opinion that a great deal of the immoral effects of the amusement places in Duluth was due to improper management. Too little amusement, he said, was just as potent a factor in causing the young to grow wrong as improper amusement. Proper management and wholesome amusement, he said, would do much to solve the problem. To illustrate how a good thing may be abused by poor management or lack of management, he cited the case of the warming sheds at the ice rinks in the city during the winter. The sheds, he said, were a good thing, but without management the privileges given boys and girls at the rinks were abused. The motion picture theaters of the city were given his hearty approval except for the displaying of improper films.

The films dealing with the traffic in vice came in for considerable censure by various speakers. The general opinion was that curiosity to learn of sex problems was being capitalized by theatrical managers and producers.

A banquet was served previous to the speeches at which Supt. Burt of the Lake Superior Mission presided.

Representatives were present from the Duluth Associated Charities, the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., the Bethel, Bethel Home for Women, Municipal Lodging house and health department, and the mayor, truant officer, probation officer and others, were also in attendance.

CHARITY BALL.

Sisters of Israel Hold Their Annual Dance.

The Sisters of Israel entertained at their annual Purim charity ball last evening at Coffin's dancing academy The affair was attended by 600 persons, a large number having come to the ball from Superior and range towns.

During the evening a contest was held to decide the most popular woman at the ball and following a close vote between Miss Leona Cohen of Superior and Miss Minnie Veiner of Duluth, the former won out with a scant 75 majority. The votes were sold at 1 cent apiece, the receipts going into the charity fund of the Sisters of Israel society.

Lavick's orchestra furnished the music for the evening.

Progressive Cinch.

Miss Marie Hubert of 323 West Vernon street entertained the Versanti club Sunday evening. The prizes for progressive cinch were won by Miss Lydia Bouffard and Miss Lennette Haubner. Those present were:

Talk on Teeth.

At a meeting of the Mothers' club of the Lester Park school yesterday Dr. C. A. McFadden spoke of the care of the mouth and teeth, telling of the recent examination of 100,000 school children in New York, of whom 95,000 were found in need of dental care. He said there are few cases of illness that cannot be traced to cavities in the teeth.

J. T. Watson spoke of the educational work in the Woman's Council that has made out door recesses and weekly fire drills obligatory.

The next meeting of the club will be held April 14.

Skating Party.

Miss Ramona Hoopes of Glen Avon entertained six guests at a dinner and skating party last evening.

Noon Hour Program.

During the noon hour at the Patrick factory yesterday Miss Josephine Carey spoke on "How to Listen to Music." Miss Maude Matteson sang and Miss Loretta O'Gorman gave several piano numbers. This was the first of a series of programs that will be given at the Patrick factory under the educational department of the Matinee Musicale.

SOCIETY WOMEN TEACHING DANCING TO SHOP GIRLS

ELSIE DE WOLFE.

Elsie de Wolfe, formerly well known as an actress and before that as a society woman, is much interested in the introduction of modern dances into the schools. Some of them in modified form have been allowed by the school board. Miss de Wolfe is concerning herself also with the teaching of dancing to working girls and the regulation of the dance halls in which they find amusement. Miss de Wolfe is a great friend of Ann Morgan, who is also interested in this philanthropic work.

Glee Club Coming.

Duluthians are promised a musical treat next week when the University of Minnesota Glee club will give a program that ranges from the "Soldiers' Chorus" from "Faust" to "Swing Along," a rollicking negro melody that makes you want to keep time with your feet and whistle an accompaniment, or at least hum it.

The glee club is composed of the best male voices in the University of Minnesota. From about a hundred applicants Prof. Carlyle Scott, head of the department of music and director of the Glee club, picked thirty-two men who practiced faithfully all fall. From this number Mr. Scott chose twenty who were to represent the university. After the second elimination the club began work on its concert program and had daily rehearsals.

The club will give Minnesota college songs that have been composed by students and alumni. These songs always please and arouse a feeling of good fellwship.

For Bridegroom-Elect.

The One-O-One club of 101 East Fourth street entertained last evening at an informal affair in compliment to one of its members, Richmond B. Loring, whose marriage to Miss M. Slining will take place this month at Gladstone, Mich., the bride's home.

The evening was spent at cards and music, after which light refreshments were served. During the evening the members and guests presented the prospective bridegroom with a library lamp. Those present were:

Mesdames—
Florence E. Miller.
Misses—
Gertrude Kane, Ruby May Krause,
Louise Emerson, Ethel Logan,
Ethel Grenier, Jennie Logan,

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"The Traffic."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—"The Last Round-Up."

AT THE LYCEUM.

"The Traffic" Opens Three Days' Engagement Before Big Audience.

Anybody, who during the last two or three years, has waded through a sex problem novel; anybody who has watched the motion picture film flicker out its tale of the sodden underworld; anybody who has trailed his mind through the nasty sex stories of the magazines; anybody who has read in the yellow journals of the crusades against the "white slave" trade—whatever that is—knew exactly what was to be discussed last evening in "The Traffic," which opened a three-days' engagement at the Lyceum theater before a big audience.

It was discussed.

Amusement Notes.

Few plays of recent years have been so enthusiastically praised by the exacting dramatic critics as Bayard Veiller's absorbing human interest drama of modern metropolitan life, "Within the Law," which will come here for a return engagement at the Lyceum, Friday and Saturday. The same production with precisely the same cast seen here earlier in the season has been rebooked for this city.

"This play," says Acton Davies in the New York Evening Sun, "is set forward on the program as a melodrama, and the man who writes the advertisements calls it a 'drama of the minute.' It is both. The killing that is done during the course of the narrative is accomplished with a revolver that shoots smokeless powder and is rigged with a Maxim silencer, the first one to be used on the American stage.

"'Within the Law' has a story back of the shooting, in which a young girl goes to prison while not guilty, comes out after serving three years and evolves a scheme for making society 'give up' without actually breaking the written statutes."

No less authority than David Belasco, the famous theatrical producer and manager, after witnessing "Within the Law," said "I consider the play to be of the most admirable intensity, vibrant with life, and its treatment of certain present day conditions quite unique."

The play is a world wide success and won a solid hit here on its appearance earlier in the season.

Miss Jane Gordon, the talented and beautiful young actress of undisputed charm, as "Mary Turner," will again lead the cast under the managerial sponsorship of the American Play company.

"Song pirates have a harder time of it in England than they do here," said Joe McDevitt of the team of McDevitt, Kelley & Lucey, who are the comedy hit of the Orpheum bill this week.

These three performers have just returned from a tour of England with their comedy skit, "The Piano Movers and The Actress."

"In England," said McDevitt, "the performers do not use published songs as a rule. A song is written for some particular performer, or he buys it from the composer, and it is looked upon as his property. The audience protect him too. They are wise audiences over there, and if one performer attempts to sing another's song, the audience knows it, and they do not hesitate to boo him. 'That's Brown's song' they'll yell, and boo him off the stage. If a performer gets a song that's a hit he'll sing it for years, for they like the old stuff best over there, and after a while the audiences will begin to join in the chorus and help him sing it.

"In this country conditions are far different. Any performer takes any material he finds. Often in New York I have seen two acts using the same song on the same bill, and you will hear the same song in a dozen different theaters the same week. The performer has no protection whatever, and as fast as he changes his songs, just so fast may they be copied or stolen. That is one good feature about the amusement business in England that I would like to see copied. There are many others I would not like to see over here."

A very pretty story of the loves and hates of the men and women of the Western plains is ably presented in the splendid tabloid, "The Last Round-Up," which will close at the Empress theater with the three shows today. A company of competent players and scenery to faithfully reproduce on the stage the wildness of the free West, make "The Last Round-Up" a story often interesting and alluring nature. The story relates the intense bitterness of a half breed against a white man who has defended a defenseless women against his insults. The story is a powerful one rich in exciting situations and bright and breezy comedy.

For the last half of the week at the Empress theater, a fine vaudeville bill of four high classy acts has been booked. Headlining the program will be The Four Valdares marvels on the bicycle. Their feats are both of the hazardous and comedy nature requiring considerable agility and nerve to perform. Crawford and Broderick, termed as "The Broadway Girl and Boy" have a novel singing and talking act full of surprises. Gendower and Mannion will present their comedy sketch, called, "Christmas On the Comstock." The La Rocco Brothers will give some musical selections on the violin and harp. They are experts on these instruments and offer a variety of songs and pieces. To complete the bill the feature film. "Baffles' Gentleman Burglar," a comedy picture of very funny situations will be projected.

Preventable diseases in the first six months of 1913 are estimated to have caused losses in Chicago aggregating $10,326,742.

NEW SHADES IN MILLINERY

Tango red and tango green will be popular shades in spring millinery. Nearly every year there are many red hats among the advance straws; the red is generally of a fiery hue but this year a softer shade, known as tango, has the field.

Many of the hats shown at an opening yesterday had either a feather, bow of ribbon or some form of "stick-up" to give height. Simplicity is a characteristic of many chic models. Head sizes are small to conform to the close fitting styles of hair dressing.

A new straw, Cuban, is on the market. A charming French hat of dark Cuban straw in tri-corne style was edged with a narrow band of curly ostrich feathers. A dash of color was supplied by bright flowers at two of the points. Several dress hats had tops made of plaques, there being absolutely no rims. The trimming was placed between the top and the bandeau. A dainty pastel green hat, something of the sailor shape, was made of crepe, a material that will be used in spring millinery. An attractive dress hat in the show window was of white lace. A cluster of shaded flowers was on the left side and black velvet streamers gave a coquettish note.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Early Marriages Are Most Always Advisable.

Early marriage has its ardent advocates. Some mothers and fathers, supposed to be old-fashioned, do not beat about the bush in their endeavors to settle their daughter's matrimonial fate at the earliest possible moment. In such families, sons, too, are usually urged to take wives unto themselves as soon as they can manage a tiny home.

But this class is a small one—not in the least representative. The tendency is to discourage early marriage, on the part of the sons at least, which means that the daughters of men must abide their time, whether it is their pleasure or not to do so. The fact that young men are in schools and colleges, still wholly dependent on their parents, is all the time serving to delay matrimony. Unless parents are willing to help support the young married pair for a few years, marriage for a man under 30 is coming to be considered more and more an impossibility.

This applies alike to the young man who is trying to acquire a higher education and to the other young man who early puts his abilities to the practical test. Most of them are advised by their elders to refrain from matrimony until they are earning enough to support a wife, which amount ranges all the way from $1,200 to $12,000 annually, according to the ideas of the advisers.

Even though our girls are willing to become wives at the age of 18 and 20, husbands for them among men they would select are not forthcoming these days.

Yet now and again, the subject of earlier marriages is seriously discussed, and advisedly, with marriage deferred more and more. A few days ago a physician made it a matter of discussion, urging earlier marriages in the name of morality, arguing that it would be better for a father to support a son and his son's wife than have the son remain unmarried.

I think that marriage, except from its frivolous side, is too little discussed in the average family. Young people who are being brought up ambitiously, who in the event of marriage will have to practice many economies for which their present home training makes no allowances, are not given proper advice.

This is an injustice all around. Boys and girls suffer alike by the standards set up by parents without a thought for the humbler beginning the young folks must make together. If this were borne in mind and young men and women prepared in their own homes to make the start in matrimony that means will allow, marriage would not be as long delayed or as disastrous a venture as it often proves.

NEW COLUMBIA No. 6 REPRODUCER

Most wonderful improvement in tone reproduction in years, giving all shadings such as over and under tones and inflection in voice natural as life.

The needle arm is one solid piece like a tuning fork carrying tone complete to diaphragm. It has no springs, the resistance of which must be overcome. It has no rubber bushing on back to obliterate finer vibrations which make up the over and under tones.

The diaphragm is one-third larger, lowering the pitch and making tone more mellow and pleasing to the ear.

All GRAFONOLAS are now equipped with this new improvement. Come in and hear them!

A PLEA for Oak Furniture. Oak is the foremost American wood in quality and beauty of grain.

The decline a few years ago in the use of oak furniture was because of the abuse of this beautiful wood by makers who produced it in meaningless designs and who finished it improperly.

With the advent of Flanders furniture, Oak assumes its proper place. Flanders in design bridges the gap between the severe simplicity of Mission styles and the more classic designs. In finish Flanders receives the same treatment that was accorded Oak during the early 17th century, as shown by the museum pieces in the Old World.

The Berkey & Gay Furniture Company of Grand Rapids, Mich., were responsible for "Flanders" introducing it from Holland and Germany in the Spring of 1909. Come in and examine it and learn its story.

RACE SUICIDE IS UNKNOWN

Births in St. Louis County Outnumber the Deaths 2½ to 1.

One Township Reports Fifty-Eight Births and Two Deaths.

The town of Vermilion Lake, St. Louis county, gives the lie to all talk of race suicide.

That community's vital statistics for the year 1913, show that there were fifty-eight births and only two deaths during the year. Vermilion Lake township is located in 61-16.

St. Louis county, as a whole, however, cannot approach the mark made by the Vermilion Lake homesteaders.

Vital statistics for the year 1913 for St. Louis county, excepting the city of Duluth, have been prepared by Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health, and have been forwarded to J. P. Johnson, clerk of the district court, who will record them.

The statistics show that outside of Duluth in the county, the births outnumber the deaths by more than 2½ to 1. The report shows that during the year there were 3,186 births and 1,198 deaths, or an increase of 2,931, which may be charged to the stork. Outside of the city of Duluth in the county during the year 1912, there were 2,925 births and 895 deaths.

In the village of Costin, Iron Junction and Spina and in the townships of Buyck, Beatty, Cedar Valley, Colvin, Cotton, Field, Fine Lake, Fredenburg, French, Kelsey, Morcom, Normanna, Owens, Prairie Lake and Sturgeon, no deaths occurred during the year 1913, according to the statistics of the state department.

In the village of Iron Junction, and the townships of Fern, Fredenburg, French and St. Louis, no births were reported. The committee reporting no births and no deaths were the village of Iron Junction and the towns of Fredenburg and French. The same report was turned in for French for 1912.

The report follows in detail:

THREE-LEGGED CALF OFFERED O CIRCUS

The fame of the Jingling Bros.' circus, which will perform at the Duluth Y. M. C. A., March 23 and 24, is spreading to other states through the publicity given by M. M. Hanna, the local manager of the big shows. Today Mr. Hanna received a letter from Ponca, Neb., offering a three-legged calf for the menagerie. The letter follows:

"Manager Jingling Bros. circus,

"Duluth, Y. M. C. A.

"Dear Sir: I hear you are going to have a big circus at the Y. M. C. A., March 23 and 24. I have a three-legged calf, 1 year old, which I would let you have if there is enough money in it to make it worth while. Please answer. "Yours truly,

"E. J. McKIVEGAN."

Mr. Hanna has decided to call a meeting of the directors to see if the calf cannot be purchased.

DELAYED MOTOR PROVES COSTLY

Company Sues Fisherman But Jury Finds in His Favor.

Delay in the delivery of a motor boat engine cost Gust Mattson, a North shore fisherman, a season's profits. In district court today a jury awarded him $393.54 from the Campbell Motor company, which sued him for an unpaid balance for the engine.

The Campbell company brought suit on two notes, one for $100 and the other for $130, which had been indorsed by Fred Holmberg, agent for the company, who was joined as a defendant in the action brought against Mattson.

Mattson ordered the engine on Oct. 29, 1912. It was not delivered until Nov. 30, 1912, although the purchase was conditioned upon delivery before the herring season came on. The season for fishing herring started Nov. 10 and continued for about twenty-five days.

Mattson waited for the engine for his fishing boat for some time and finally was obliged to employ another boat. He managed to collect only eighteen tons during the entire season and as a result he claims that he suffered a loss of nearly the entire season's profits.

The jury was instructed that it might take into consideration the amount Mattson owed the company for the engine in determining his loss, if they found in his favor. Judge Ensign was the trial judge.

Suffrage Voted Down.

Richmond, Va., March 11.—The house of delegates today rejected the woman suffrage bill by a vote of 74 to 13.

SLIGHT RAISE CONTEMPLATED

City's Delegate Says Six-Inch Change in Lake Level Is Sought.

Mayor W. I. Prince received a letter today from D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department, who is representing the city administration at the hearing of the international waterways committee at Detroit.

Manager Reed states that the first day's session developed that the intention seems to be to raise the level six inches, but not two feet, as was announced. He asserts that this would not cause the damage which was first expected, but that it would make the situation worse in time of storm.

The city's representative said that the objectors were not prepared to present their testimony in the same shape as an exper who had prepared for the hearing and that their intention was to ask for a continuance in order to better prepare themselves to lay their case before the commission. He added that the people urging that the raise be allowed admitted that they had not studied or considered the effect which the raise would have upon the western end of the lake.

"Judging from the letter of Mr. Reed, it is well that the cities which would be affected by the raising of the lake level did not rest on the statements that under no consideration would this be allowed," said Mayor Prince this morning. "I am glad that Duluth is represented, as the issues involved, including both the raising of the lake level and the pollution of the drinking water, are so vitally important that the city should be closely in touch with all developments concerning them."

WIDOW OF MINER WILL GET $1,661.23.

Marija Markovitc, 20-year-old widow of Para Markovitc, 24, who was accidentally killed a few weeks ago at the Dale-Uno mine near Hibbing, will receive $1,661.23, which has been collected for her benefit by Edgar Prochnik, Austrian consul, from the Oliver Iron Mining company.

The widow and a 1-year-old daughter reside at Bickolelo, Community Garcen, district of Brod, Austro-Hungary. The settlement with the Austrian consul was made under the terms of the workingmen's compensation act and was approved today by Judge Ensign in district court.

The court required the Austrian consul to give a $2,000 bond for handling the money.

DOCTOR GUILTY OF GRAND LARCENY

J. W. McDonald, Colored, of of Minneapolis, Admits His Guilt.

James W. McDonald, Jr., negro, who alleges that he is a Minneapolis physician, when brought before Judge Dancer in district court late yesterday afternoon, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with grand larcency in the second degree. The court deferred sentence until later in the week.

McDonald was arrested on Jan. 20, charged with having secured a $120 diamond from the Henricksen Jewelry company of this city on a worthless piece of paper. He is also wanted in Minneapolis on charges of having passed worthless checks.

When first arraigned in court, under the indictment, McDonald declined to even inform the court what his true name was. He said that he desired to consult his attorney before he committed himself.

Judge Dancer appointed Attorney John Swinland to look after the interests of the prisoner. Yesterday on the advice of Attorney Swinland and after considering the matter carefully, McDonald decided to plead guilty to the indictment.

WATER FRONT IS STILL PULSELESS

No Tugs or Vessels Moving Yet—Booth Boats Not Out Yet.

A few days ago there were prospects that tugs might get out into the harbor and break ice in slips for the movements of boats. There are several unloaded boats in the harbor that are under charter to take grain down to Buffalo at the opening of the season and there was some negotiation on for their moving under the spouts at the elevators; but this is off for the price appeared to be too stiff. No negotiations are under way at present and it is believed that it will be some time yet before tugs will be moving boats.

The only loading known just now is at the Itasca elevator, where the steamer Dimick is finishing a load of wheat started last fall. No others are in prospect yet.

The Booth Fisheries company cannot say when its boats will start out. These are usually the first harbingers of spring navigation, but as yet no announcement is available.

Limbert's Arts and Crafts Furniture

Limbert's Modern Dutch Arts and Crafts Furniture is built for the requirements of modern use. Comfort, utility and durability, together with structural perfection and beauty of design, are the prime motives. In its solidity and permanence it reflects Dutch sturdiness and thoroughness, in the beauty of its patterns and richness and color harmony of its leather and finishes, it preserves the mastery of Dutch Art.

In building Limbert's Holland-Dutch Arts and Crafts Furniture only the soundest structural devices are employed and no structural imitations are tolerated. Carefully made mortise and pinned tennon joints, solid dowel construction and keyed braces hold the parts together, and Limbert's Furniture is guaranteed to stand up as long as the oak of which it is made will last. We illustrate here a few of the sound structural methods employed.

"CLEANED UP" IN DULUTH

Swindler Found Rather "Easy Pickings" in the Zenith City.

Four Men Paid for Job of Washing Automobile on Tour.

Several Duluthians and the police department are looking for "J. V. Sulton," who is alleged to have pulled off several clever swindling deals here yesterday and to have left the city with a well filled purse for his day's operations. Eischen Bros., florists, and four men who were seeking work at Michigan street employment agencies were the victims.

According to the report of the National Employment agency Sulton called up that office from the Y. M. C. A. asking if a man could be secured to wash an automobile while on a trip in Colorado. A permanent job was offered with the additional inducement that the man secured should be given $60 a month and expenses. No one, however, could secure the job without paying a fee of $60.

A young man, whose name is not known, was sent by the National agency to see Sulton. The young man explained that he had only $25 but he was willing to pay that down to secure the job. Sulton is said to have taken the money and promised him the job. Sulton is said to have then explained that he must go to Superior on business but would be back about 4 p. m. The young man waited at the Spalding hotel for the return of Sulton until after 6 o'clock without success, and then decided that he was the victim of a swindle. It is said that two other men paid Sulton $60 for the same job and one other a considerable sum. The National agency reported the cases to the police today.

Eischen Bros., florists, lost $16 also, as reported in The Herald last evening, as the result of the innocence of their messenger boy.

OFFERS BILL FOR U. S. GRAIN GRADING

Lever of South Carolina Says Houston Has Indorsed Plan.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 11.—Representative Lever of South Carolina, chairman of the house committe on agriculture, today introduced a bill for the Federal inspection and grading of grain. It authorizes the secretary of agriculture to fix grain grades and to establish the standard and quality of all grades, and forbids the shipment in interstate commerce of any grain that does not conform to the grades and standards fixed by the department.

The bill also authorizes the secretary of agriculture to commission employes of state and municipalities who are now engaged in grading grain, as Federal inspectors.

Mr. Lever said that the bill had the indorsement of the department of agriculture and also of representatives of the farmers' organizations who appeared before the committee on rules on the Manahan resolution last week.

CHAUFFEURS MUST QUALIFY

City Would Set an Example in Careful Driving.

Chauffeurs employed by the city cannot have defective sight or hearing or have other afflictions which might interfere with the proper handling of the automobiles in their charge.

This decision was reached by the city civil service commission at a meeting held at the city hall this morning. The full commission, consisting of W. B. Getchell, J. L. Cromwell and George B. Parker, was present, and after considering the subject concluded to include examinations for chauffeurs in the next civil service examination, which will be held March 28.

The tests will be in addition to those of the state. The state board pays particular attention to the applicant's knowledge of the rules of the road and the mechanics of the buzz carts. The city examination will be concerned largely with the applicant's physical qualifications. In order to come under the city regulations chauffeurs must pass both the state and the city examinations. The sentiment of the civil service commission was that the city should set an example of competency in the driving of automobiles.

The question of whether or not inspectors should be brought under civil service was discussed. The opinion was that as this work is generally of a temporary nature and the head of each division is held directly responsible for the quality of the job, they should not be made amenable to the regulations.

In addition to chauffeurs the tests of March 28 will include examinations for lieutenants for the police department, clerks, stenographers and rodmen, chainmen and axmen.

Tomorrow will be the

SCIENTIFIC NATURE CURES FOR DISEASE OF VITAL ORGANS

Catarrh, Indigestion, Stomach, Liver, Bowel and Kidney Trouble Speedily Conquered.

As the stomach in health is a veritable galvanic battery, generating magnetism or heat and force, so the liver is the chemical laboratory and regulator of the human body. The heart is the great pump which sends the blood to the various organs to build up necessary vitality. The function of the lungs is to give out carbonic acid gas and absorption of oxygen. The kidneys eliminate urea and purify the blood. An active liver is essential to health, as it removes the poison from the blood and forms bile, which serves as cathartic, aids digestion and promotes nutrition. All the organs work together in harmony like a watch. When one is out of order the whole machinery is out of gear. Then disease sets in, because of a weakened condition of some organ. Kidney Disease is found in persons whose blood is impoverished and impure. This weakens the nerves which make the kidneys perform their function of filtering the uric acid from the blood. Then this uric acid is absorbed by the blood and is circulating around to every organ in the body. Sooner or later sickness comes on, such as cold chills with backache, fever, swelling of ankles. Urine is highly colored or red from heavy sediment or milky white with albumin, the most vital elements of the body. When these conditions are allowed to continue the result is one or more of the following diseases: Rheumatism, Dropsy, Gout, Diabetes, Kidney or Urinary Troubles. The kidney tissues break down and pass away cell by cell. That is Bright's Disease or Consumption of the Kidneys. Electro-Vito-Tox-Absorb eliminates all poisons from the system where all drugs have failed. This treatment is nature's own panacea for restoring all the organs of the body to a healthy, normal condition.

ENNES GOES TO WESTERN MARYLAND

Other Changes Reported in Offices of Great Northern.

S. Ennes, superintendent of the Mesaba division of the Great Northern railway with headquarters at Superior, has gone to Baltimore, Md., where he will act as general superintendent of the Western Maryland road. Mr. Ennes received his appointment through Carl R. Gray, former president of the Great Northern and now president of the Western Maryland.

G. E. Votaw, superintendent of the Breckenridge division, will succeed Mr. Ennes and F. F. Keating, superintendent of the Sioux City division, will succeed Mr. Votaw. W. D. Mason, trainmaster of the Fergus Falls division, has been promoted to a superintendency and will have charge of the Sioux City division. C. C. Reynolds will succeed Mr. Mason at Fergus Falls.

BURGLARS GET CASH AND LOOT

The hardware store of A. O. Giese, 103 West First street, was entered last night and $25 in cash stolen from the cash register, together yith a large number of razors, knives, fountain pens, watches and a revolver.

The burglary was discovered this morning by Mr. Giese, who found the cash register rifled of all its contents and three watches that he had in the drawer missing. An investigation disclosed the theft of the other articles, including a dozen razors, several pocket knives, fountain pens and a revolver. He places his whole loss at $100.

Detective Irvine, who was sent to investigate the burglary, found that the rear window had been broken and that entrance into the building had been gained in this way. The burglars broke the window and then opened the latch from the inside.

Takes Life at Rochester.

Rochester, Minn., March 11.—Frank Blodgett, a land man, well known in Minnesota, committed suicide late yesterday by placing the barrel of a gun in his mouth and blowing off the top of his head. He was 50 years old.

DANDRUFFY HEADS BECOME HAIRLESS

Scalp Dries—Chokes Out the Hair and Prevents Its Growth.

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will be silky, fluffy, lustrous, soft and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

OBITUARY

J. W. Ellsworth, who spent a lifetime in charity work on the Pacific coast, and whose donations amounted to nearly $650,000, died in San Bernardino, Cal., March 10, penniless and a victim of tuberculosis. He was 82 years old.

Joseph C. ("Chesterfield") Mackin, who was considered one of the greatest powers in Illinois Democratic politics in 1884, when he was secretary of the Democratic state central committee, and who was credited with having introduced the free lunch in saloons, died March 11 at the Chicago state hospital for the insane. After the Cleveland-Blaine campaign in 1884, Mackin served a term in the state penitentiary on charges of election frauds. He had been ill for four months and was adjudged insane last week. He was 73 years old.

Prof. Rufus B. Richardson, Ph. D., archaeologist, author and former director of the American school of classical studies at Athens, is dead from pneumonia at Clifton Springs, N. Y. He was a professor of Greek in Indiana university and at Dartmouth, and for ten years up to 1903, was director of the American schools in Athens.

Pearl Eytinge, formerly well known as an actress and lecturer, died March 8 in Atlantic City, where for years she had lived in retirement.

Michael J. Sullivan, representative from Northeast Minneapolis in the last four sessions of the state legislature, is dead of Bright's disease at his residence, 609 Main street northeast. Mr. Sullivan was born in Minneapolis, 45 years ago. For many years he has been active in politics. His legislative office was the only public office he ever held, however. He had been preparing to be a candidate for the senate against N. A. L'Herault. Mr. Sullivan was a stone cutter. At one time he was a vice president of the National Stone Cutters' union. Although a quiet member of the Hennepin county delegation, Mr. Sullivan introduced much legislation of benefit to Minneapolis and the state at large. He was intensely interested in labor legislation and gave much study to the workman's compensation act, passed at the last session. His wife, a son, W. S. Sullivan, his mother, two sisters and three brothers, survive.

E. O. Stanard, former lieutenant governor of Missouri, was found dead in bed at his home in St. Louis, March 11. Death was due to heart disease. Stanard was elected lieutenant governor of Missouri in 1868 and a member of congress in 1872. He was 82 years old.

BOSTON FINANCIER DIES.

S. R. Anthony Was Director of Great Northern Power Company.

Word was received in Duluth today of the death of S. Reed Anthony, a multimillionaire of Boston, who was one of the directors of the Great Northern Power company of Duluth.

As a member of the firm of Tucker, Anthony & Co., Mr. Anthony assisted largely in the financing of the Great Northern Power company and he continued until the time of his death as one of the stockholders.

Thomas B. Hawkes, treasurer of the Great Northern Power company, stated today that the death of Mr. Anthony, while sudden, was not entirely unexpected, as the Boston financier had not been in the best of health for some time.

"Mr. Anthony has been in Duluth several times," said Mr. Hawkes, "and was well known to some of the business men here, more particularly to those interested in the affairs of the Great Northern Power company.

"While he was interested in the local company, the death of Mr. Anthony will have no more effect on the affairs of the company than the death of a stockholder of a railroad company, much as the other officers and his friends here regret it personally."

Show New Haven's Spendings.

Boston, March 11.—Chairman Howard Elliott of the New Haven railroad says the company is preparing a statement showing where every dollar of the $175,000,000 of new capital raised in the last ten years was spent.

ABOUT SOUR MILK.

New York Tribune: Frequently during the summer months, on account of the non-arrival of the iceman, an over-supply, or for other cause, the housewife finds she has a quantity of sour milk on hand and is at a loss as to how she may best utilize it.

This should not, however, be a difficult problem, for up to a certain point sour milk may be made as wholesome and nourishing as when it was fresh, and the chemical changes that have taken place give body to the milk, making it even more desirable than sweet milk for many kinds of cooking.

Care must be exercised to use the milk only when it has properly soured, for when it begins to look gray or dark colored and has developed odors other than the simple acid smell which is characteristic, then it should be rejected as unfit for use.

In the wholesome state of acidity we have a food normally "sweet"; or in other words, neutral, an acid developing either quickly or slowly. To make it available for food, the housewife may use either of two methods. One is to separate the acid from the solid part (known as curds and whey) by draining off the liquid in which the acid is held in solution; the other way that is used so largely in all the "sour milk recipes," is to neutralize the acid by the addition of an alkali salt (baking soda.)

Electric Window Fixtures Mean Bigger Business

Now, during the busy season, is the best time to install brilliant Electric Fixtures in your store windows. Everyone who passes your establishment each night is a prospective customer for you. People are unconsciously attracted to the store with brilliantly lighted windows—they enter to trade—and are easily made permanent customers.

It costs surprisingly little to light your windows by electricity. Even if you do not keep open after dark, you should keep your windows bright. Let your store make a lasting impression on every passer-by.

Inexpensive Advertising That Brings Results

At little cost, you can enjoy the benefits of trade-bringing electric lighted windows. Why not get your legitimate share of this profitable form of advertising? Don't wait until your competitor has taken all your best trade. Hold your present customers and attract new ones by installing Electric Window Fixtures NOW.

were indicted by the grand jury today for grand larceny and violations of the banking laws in connection with the management of the Henry Siegel & Co. private bank.

Can Sell Assets.

Boston, Mass., March 11.—Permission to sell the assets of the Henry Siegel company at a private sale before next Saturday was given the trustees today by James M. Olmstead, referee in bankruptcy. The company has merchandise on hand amounting to upwards of $300,000, according to George R. Nutter, counsel for the trustees. He told the court that the business had reached the point where it could no longer be conducted with profit.

Lamprey, former St. Paul newspaperman, well known to many Duluthians, who deserted the "game" and turned salesman for a bug powder house, is paying the local trade and his Duluth friends a visit today. Mr. Lamprey is now manager of the Twin City branch of a germicide company, with headquarters in St. Paul. He was formerly on the staff of the St. Paul Dispatch. He is a guest at the McKay hotel.

Building Managers Meet.
The Duluth Association of Building Managers and Agents had luncheon this noon at the Commercial club and held its regular monthly meeting. Only matters of routine interest came up and the meeting was a comparatively short one.

Paroled for Year.
On his promise to support his wife and two children, George Nostdahl, 34 years old, who was arrested last evening by Patrolman Youngstrom on a charge of non-support, was this morning placed on parole for one year. Nostdahl pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Cutting and a thirty-day sentence was suspended, when Nostdahl agreed to give his family $5 each week. The Nostdahls have two children.

Merchant Arrested.
A. J. Henning, who operates a store at 1131 East Fourth street, was arrested this morning on a charge of giving short weight in the sale of a pound of lard. C. A. Montgomery, state inspector of weights and measures, caused the arrest on the complaint that there were only fourteen and one-half ounces of the lard sold. Henning pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for next Tuesday morning. He was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

Young Men on Trial.
Neil Campbell, Martin Andler, Victor Adamski and Fred Evans, the four young men arrested Saturday afternoon on a charge of disorderly conduct, will be tried in police court this afternoon. They pleaded not guilty when arraigned following their arrest. The young men are accused of taking part in an altercation on First avenue east.

For Swearing on Street.
Edward Stone, colored, of 1613 West Superior street, was arrested this morning on a charge of using profane language on a public street. He was taken in custody on the complaint of Mrs. E. Carlson of 1029 West Michigan street. Stone pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Barn Too Close.
A jury was drawn in district court this morning to try a suit for $1,100 damages brought by Beda Lindquist against Ezra Nickerson, both of West Duluth. The plaintiff claims that she was damaged in this amount because the defendant built and maintained a barn in such close proximity to her house that she was obliged to leave. He also diverted a stream of water from its natural course and caused it to flood her property, she alleges.

THE STORE FOR SERVICE.

113. 115, 117, 119 West Superior St., Duluth, Minn.

Sale of Imported Shantungs at Nearly HALF Regular Prices.

These are the genuine hand-woven Chinese Shantungs which have been on the market for so many years. A most excellent fabric for ladies' and children's dresses—for petticoats—for underwear — separate waists — men's shirts—overdrapes and curtains, for table covers, etc.

Absolutely all pure silk and a most satisfactory laundering fabric—there is no starching necessary.

These are 26 inches wide, the quality that we have always sold heretofore at $1. They run 14 to 15 yards to the piece, depending upon how much they have been shrunken after being woven.

These Will Be Sold in Pieces Only During This Sale.

Ordinarily a piece would cost you $14 or $15. Tomorrow they will be on sale at $8 the piece.

Hats of Lovable Newness

Would you see what is correct in Millinery? Then visit the Second Floor tomorrow. A marvelous change from winter to spring within a week. See hats that are a delight to your ideas of style and refinement.

For the most part shapes are small and so cleverly contrived as to, in most cases, give height.

A whole dictionary would not tell you in words the cleverness of the new hats. A few moments' pleasure in the Millinery department will reveal to you what you wish to know.

Would you be first to wear the new things? Then meet your friends here tomorrow and choose from new things that those who delay coming will not see either here or elsewhere.

The New Suits and Coats ARE SELLING FREELY.

Poorly as we told the news last week, the response has been remarkable. Women have been curious to see the new styles we have been telling about.

Frankly we cannot describe them to our satisfaction, so we will simply invite you to come in. We want you to try them on—we want your judgment of the new things gathered here as never before.

See the new Wooltex Coats and Suits pictured in this month's Ladies' Home Journal.

You will find them the height of fashion and good taste.

We have more extreme models from other makers whose daring originality may, or may not, meet with your approval. However, you will want to see these new things so that you may make your plans for spring.

Welcome to see—you will not be urged to buy, but your own good judgment may prompt you to take first choice of these new things. Why not get the good of the early wear in these fine, sunny March days?

The Drapery Show Is a Revelation of Lovely Things for Artistic Homes

A few moments spent here will quickly show you just what to choose for dressing the home attractively.

There is much that is new and novel in colorings and designs of surpassing good taste, and prices are so reasonable that it will cost very little to adopt some of these new things for your own rooms.

Interesting as had been the Wash Goods Display and the Silk Show, the Drapery Show is attracting fully as much attention.

Everything is arranged for a quick, comprehensive view. We are not trying to sell goods now; we are simply showing, so that when you wish to buy you will know what you want and where to get it.

May we have the pleasure of your visit and won't you bring your friends along?

Everybody will enjoy it we are sure.

MACHINE PAPERS TRY TO BEFUDDLE VOTERS

Representing the Coming Anti-Machine Conference in Minneapolis as an Elimination Conference Instead of What It Will Be, a Conference to Choose the Best Independent Republican Candidate for Governor and Indorse Him.

Machine newspapers throughout the state are trying, friends of the Republican conference plan say, to befuddle the minds of the voters who want to see a change in the state house, by talking "elimination conference" for the 19th, and making fun of the idea.

There will be no attempt to hold an elimination conference, it is assured, the idea coming from W. E. Lee's urgent request that he and the other candidates against the machine get together and elliminate, mutually, the one who appears to be the weakest candidate. This state conference to elect delegates to which county conferences will be held Saturday night—the one for St. Louis county being in the city hall of Duluth—will be one to give the anti-machine Republicans of the state an opportunity to indorse the man they think will be the best candidate, the chief point being to throw the Eberhart-Smith forces out of power.

G. B. Bjornson, secretary of the conference committee having in charge the arrangements for the conference, referring to this point says:

"The coming conference of anti-machine Republicans is not an elimination movement. There is no way whereby anyone can be eliminated. Any man who desires to run has a perfect right to do so. The press opposed to this movement has called this an 'elimination conference,' and has played up the assumption that an attempt has been made to drive men out of the race. No such attempt has been made to drive men out of the race. No such attempt has been made by any one and it is not the intention of the conference to assume the role of dictator in this matter. All that the conference is for is to give the anti-machine Republicans of the state an opportunity to assemble peaceably, talk over the situation as to the party and indorse one man to make the run for governor.

"The object of the conference is to accomplish unity of action. This can and will be done, regardless of any and all candidates in the field. There is no doubt that the anti-machine sentiment in the state is sufficiently strong to make this movement successful if it unites upon one candidate.

"I have conferred with various members of the committee and many prominent men of the movement throughout the state. They all say that no matter what attitude the candidates now in the field take towards the conference movement, it will go ahead and place in the field a candidate upon which the anti-machine forces can unite. The action of candidates, saying that they will not be bound by the indorsement of the conference and will not consider such an indorsement as binding upon them, is all the more reason for the conference. It is vital for the future of progressive principles in this state that the friends of those principles may get together and assert their stand."

Names Committee.

In accordance with the motion passed at last evening's monthly meeting of the public affairs committee of the commercial club, President R. B. Knox of the club today named the members of the committee that will represent the club on the general committee of the proposed mid-summer festival.

The motion required that the president should be chairman of the committee, so its personnel follows: President R. B. Knox, chairman; T. W. Hugo, J. B. Crane.

COUPLE WED WHILE 5,000 MILES APART

Ocean Is No Barrier to Superior Bridegroom and Bride.

Becoming a married man with his bride 5,000 miles away is the experience of Johannes Jacebus Kuyk, 1611 Fourteenth street, Superior, yesterday. The final papers uniting in marriage Mr. Kuyk and his bride, Miss Maria Louise Grotendorst, of Holland, arrived from Holland yesterday.

A number of officials have taken part in performing the services. Several papers signed by notaries and American and Holland consuls have passed forward and back between here and Holland. These have also been signed by Queen Wilhelmina of Holland.

The bride is expected to arrive on June 13. She will be accompanied across the ocean by Miss Nellie Rees of Holland, who also has become the bride of G. Kuyk, of Rutledge, Minn., a brother of the Superior man, in a similar manner.

700 WILL BOOST IN SPRING ELECTIONS.

A "Roosters'" club with a membership of 700 voters has been organized in Superior, according to statements made by leaders of the organization. A banquet, which will mark an initial boom in the spring election, will be held by the club at the Eagles' hall Friday evening. Officers of the club say that the club will not announce what stand it will take until after the primary election on March 27.

Following are the officers: P. J. Hughes, president; J. C. Krause, vice president; Matt Ekholm, treasurer; Charles Blaxall, secretary. There also will be an executive board of ten members, one representing each ward in the city. Meetings will be held weekly.

TWO ALLEGED "BLIND PIGGERS" ARRESTED.

Two alleged "blind-piggers" were arrested last night by the Superior police. Fred McHenry, manager of a colored club on Third street, was charged with selling liquor without a license. He pleaded not guilty in police court this morning, and his hearing was set for March 18. Marion Nelson of the Leslie hotel was arrested on a similar charge. She pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs, which she paid.

SUSPENDED TERM FOR FRANK TEKELE.

Frank Tekele, charged with being a "white slaver," drew a suspended sentence from Judge Sanborne of the Federal court in session at Superior this morning. Tekele is alleged to have taken a woman from Madison to a point in Indiana. He has been in jail for four months, and the woman is said to be living again with her husband. The suspended sentence was given on condition that the man keep away from Madison.

A number of cases concerning the illegal sale of liquor to Indians on the reservation are being considered by the court and Federal grand jury.

THE KEYSTONE OF THE ARCH.

At its meeting last night the public affairs committee of the Commercial club unanimously indorsed the 1915 midsummer festival and pageant, voted it a good thing for Duluth and worth pushing along, and authorized President Knox of the Commercial club to appoint a committee of three to co-operate with the other similar committees now being named from other organizations.

This is the thirteenth organization to vote its support to this Duluth project; and in this case thirteen decidedly is a lucky number.

For the Commercial club is the keystone of the arch of local enterprise. It is the clearing house for all great projects for the common good of Duluth and its tributary empire. Its aid and support in the pageant enterprise are of course indispensable.

Duluth, manifestly, is unanimously behind this big project for the glory and profit of Duluth, and determined to put into it its best energies, its highest enterprise and its cunningest ingenuity.

That snow storm in Southern Minnesota yesterday ought to qualify that section of the state for a winter carnival.

ORDER IN STATE AFFAIRS.

The lucid and interesting report of the work of the state efficiency and economy commission made last night to the public affairs committee of the Commercial club made a few vitally important things brilliantly clear:

First, that in attacking its great and complicated task the commission hewed squarely to the line and let the chips fall where they might.

Second, if anybody seriously entertained the notion that the commission was appointed to play anybody's political game, that notion has been completely annihilated by the character of the commission's work.

Third, there was even a greater need than most people realized that something be done to bring order out of chaos in the state government.

Fourth, that the present government is an amazingly complex mass of offices, commissions, boards and societies, all spending state money, the result of several generations of aimless growth responding in part to the call of need, in part to the impulse of political contrivance.

Fifth, that the high duty before the state, which informally intrusted it to this commission for the convenience of the coming legislature, is to systematize this unsystematic conglomeration.

Sixth, that the aim of the commission has been to concentrate authority and responsibility and to co-ordinate the many functions of the state government.

Seventh, that the commission has worked well and wisely to this end, and that the tentative plan of reorganization now being discussed is the best answer to the state's need possible at this time.

Eighth, that this plan is only tentative, is before the house for discussion, and doubtless will be improved as a result of that discussion providing discussion proceeds on a basis of the state's welfare and shuts out consideration of political and personal reasoning.

Ninth, that the saving that will come from this new organization, if adopted, will be more largely indirect than direct; that is, that while there will be an actual saving in the salaries and expenses of needless employes and bureaus, the greater saving will come through economical spending of state money rather than through reduced payrolls. In other words, the state will come much nearer getting a dollar's worth of results for a dollar in taxes spent under the proposed system than it ever has had under the present system.

The efficiency and economy commission—its members, its expert employes, its chairman Charles P. Craig—are to be congratulated on the loyal and effective work they have done, solely for the good of the state, and at their own expense so far as the members of the commission are concerned.

As soon as it can arrange it, The Herald will publish an admirable chart showing in parallel columns the present government and the system proposed. This chart, which has been prepared by the commission, will afford an illuminating view of the plans now before the state for discussion.

If this Mexican situation doesn't improve pretty soon there will be mighty few summer homes whose owners will be willing to have them referred to as villas.

FATHER AND THE BOYS.

"Get together" is the word these days. In every line of human activity and of human relationship it is working wonders.

The movement for a closer understanding between father and son, which is the purpose of the "father and son dinner" to be given by the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening, is in line, and it is good.

Closer harmony and a better understanding between father and son will be good for father—he needs more of the boy outlook on life which he is too quick to forget.

It will be good for the boy—he needs more of the experience and wisdom—God grant that the former has brought father the latter—of the grown-up.

Fathers who are close to their boys are likely to walk a little straighter than those who are not. Boys who are chums with father are likely to be more manly and above board than those who are not.

Too wide a chasm often—usually, it is to be feared—separates father and son. Father is just a boy grown up. He should never forget that, and he should never let the boy that was in him die. The boy need not die to make a place for the man; he should grow into the man, and the man should carry the boy nature along with him, with its freshness and enthusiasm and some of its illusions and all of its joy in life. It will help toward that if the chasm between father and son is closed—and it will be good for both and good for society.

Here is applause and an encore for this enterprise of the boys' department in bringing father and the boys closer together.

If that Vedrines duel doesn't come off pretty soon the aeroplane may beat Vedrines's opponent to it.

WHY PRAISES ARE SUNG.

Writing to the New York Sun, Richard Harding Davis says that it is humiliating that our government, "having been slapped on the cheek by one cattle thief, should turn the other to another cattle thief."

Which is all very well, though foolish, from a man who writes about war but doesn't fight it.

Mr. Davis adds his sore regret that Roosevelt is not now president. If he were, Richard Harding thinks, "he probably would telegraph General Hugh Scott, 'Get the body of Benton or the body of Villa, I don't care which.'"

That, of course, would mean invasion and war, would mean precipitating a stream of blood and bullets, upon snap judgment and without care or cause.

Very likely if Colonel Roosevelt were president that's about what he'd do. We haven't been mean enough to charge it, but Davis is a friend of his, and he says that's what he'd do.

Maybe he would. If so, that's the thousandth reason why this country may thank its lucky stars that Colonel Roosevelt is NOT president.

Helen Keller says she can hear some singers. Here's hoping Helen can choose the ones she is to hear.

ULSTER AND HOME RULE.

Premier Asquith's eagerly awaited plan for home rule that Ulster can—or must—accept is that before it becomes effective it be submitted to a referendum in each of the nine counties of Ulster, and that counties which vote against it be excluded for a trial period of six years.

Unless the tail is to wag the dog to a ludicrous extent, this seems fair enough. The cables relate that the solution offered by Mr. Asquith had but a chilly reception from the Unionists, but that is not very important. The warmth with which a minority party greets the plans of the majority usually is in inverse proportion to their virtues—the better and more statesmanlike the plan, the glummer the opposition.

If this plan be adopted, it can fairly be taken for granted that the counties of Antrim, Armagh, Londonderry and Down will reject Irish rule. This would automatically exclude a group of contiguous counties on the northeast coast of Ireland, at the point nearest Scotland, the ancestral home of the anti-home rule element whose favorite hymn, slightly paraphrased, is "Hurrah for King William and down with the pope."

This excluded area would include about two-thirds of the population of Ulster, and about forty per cent of its area. It would constitute about twenty-two per cent of the total population of Ireland, and about ten per cent of its area.

The counties of Cavan, Donegal, Fermanagh, Monaghan and Tyrone would doubtless accept home rule along with the rest of Ireland.

How this plan could be improved upon—unless the four recalcitrant counties be further divided to allow subdivisions not dominated by Orangemen to go under Irish rule—it is not easy to imagine.

Ireland should have home rule. The long failure to grant it is a stain on Britain's honor. The downtrodden and persecuted green island has had the world's pity for generations. Perhaps it is not so brutally afflicted now as it used to be, but the dream of home rule has been a dear one to warm Irish hearts everywhere for many a long bitter year; and it is hard indeed to feel much sympathy for those whose prejudices stand in the way of its fulfillment.

Grocers are asking for Federal regulation of weights and measures. Did it ever occur to the grocers that they have the regulation of a whole lot of those things right in their own hands?

Minnesota Prison Life

From "The Next Step in Prison Reform," by Richard Barry in the March Century: The Minnesota state prison was established for the "confinement and reformation of convicts." That is the language of the statutes, and similar language is found in the laws of only four other states.

The new cell block was built at a cost of over $3,000,000, and satisfies every advanced idea of prison construction. No more than one prisoner is permitted in a cell; the sanitary arrangements are excellent; light and heat and ventilation are like those in a school.

The discipline is very strict, but consistent. Everything, except some of the machines, operates noiselessly and with precision. There is no dark cell, no whipping-post, no chaining device, or any other manner of corporal punishment. In lieu of these a system of rewards and punishments has been evolved. The prisoner who does not behave gets less food than the others. If he persists in his contrariness, he is put in a darkened, not a dark, cell. As the very limit of punishment his tobacco is taken from him. The loss of his tobacco usually appeals quickly and strongly to a convict's judgment.

In so far the Stillwater prison is similar to the best elsewhere; but in the use of its manufactured products it is unique. Within the prison is located the best-equipped factory for the production of binder twine anywhere in the country, and it has the third largest output of any similar factory.

Here is the revolutionary fact. The manufacture of binder twine in the Minnesota prison is so well managed that it entirely supports the prison, and earns enough more to give every convict a small daily wage.

He Didn't Touch Home.

"Strike two, ball three!" the umpire cried, and then our Casey swung
And hit the ball a mighty swipe with his good wagon-tongue.
Above the fielders high it soared, a speck against the sky,
While round the bases Casey romped with triumph in his eye.
"Home run! Home run!" the rooters whooped, as Casey turned at third—
In Hopewell Center, miles away, the cheering could be heard;
And panting Casey on the bench sat down, a famous lad,
While in the stands above his head the crowd went nearly mad.

But standing there beside the plate the frantic catcher yelled,
"Throw up the ball! Throw up the ball!" and high his glove he held.
And when he had the bounding sphere, he rushed with savage vim
To smiling Casey on the bench and tagged the ball on him.
"You're out!" the umpire loudly called, and all the crowd was dazed.
And mad for fair this time they went, and much disturbance raised.
But "out" the umpire's verdict stood; the crowd might fume and foam;
For Casey in his circuit had neglected touching home.

How like to Casey's downfall are the failures all about
Of men who swat the business ball with fierce and crashing clout;
Who race around the bases, winning fortunes right along
Amid the cheers and envy of the adulating throng!
They gather worldly honors and a reputation tall,
But overlook the very most important thing of all.
Among the big world's champions, wherever you may roam,
There's many a heavy hitter who forgets to touch at home.

The Mischief of Thaw.

Northwestern Christian Advocate: The question in the minds of a good many needlessly anxious folks concerning Thaw in the light of the disgraceful litigation persistently drawn out as to his sanity is as to whether he is a dangerous character. Dangerous! He has already done more damage to society than a whole jail full of common bums. It is not a question as to whether he may shoot someone if freed. That contingency is insignificant compared with the devastation he, seconded by skilful lawyers, has already wrought. It will require a generation to obliterate the trailing stain, and eternity will not head off the evil of such a life.

Women More Careful in Voting.

Des Moines Tribune: In Ottumwa recently it was demonstrated in a municipal election that women are more careful than men in voting, fewer women having spoiled their ballots than men.

Des Moines women who are anxious that they be given equal rights of suffrage with the men will doubtless realize the importance of the opportunity they will have here in the school election test.

Unless, of course, machines are used, which record the spoiled ballots as well as the perfect ones, which stands to help men more than women.

A Cry for Humanity

John Galsworthy in the London Times.

I am moved to speak out what I and, I am sure, many others are feeling. We are a so-called civilized country; we have a so-called Christian religion; we profess humanity. We have a parliament of chosen persons, to each of whom we pay $2,000 a year, so that we have at least some right to say, "Please do our business, and that quickly."

And yet we sit and suffer such barbarities and mean cruelties to go on among us as must dry the heart of God.

I cite a few only of the abhorrent things done daily, daily left undone; done and left undone, without shadow of doubt, against the conscience and general will of the community:

Sweating of women workers.

Insufficient feeding of children.

Employment of boys on work that to all intents ruins their chances in after life—as mean a thing as can well be done.

Foul housing of those who have as much right as you and I to the first decencies of life.

Consignment of paupers (that is, of those without money or friends) to lunatic asylums on the certificate of one doctor, the certificate of two doctors being essential in the case of a person who has money or friends.

Export of horses worn out in work for Englishmen—save the mark!—export that for a few pieces of blood money delivers up old and faithful servants to wretchedness.

Mutilation of horses by docking, so that they suffer, offend the eye, and are defenseless against the attacks of flies that would drive men so treated crazy.

Caging of wild things, especially wild song birds, by those who themselves think liberty the breath of life, the jewel above price.

Slaughter for food of millions of creatures every year by obsolete methods that none but the interested defend.

Importation of the plumes of ruthlessly slain wild birds, mothers with young in the nest, to decorate our gentlewomen.

Such as these—shameful barbarities done to helpless creatures—we suffer among us year after year. They are admitted to be anathema; in favor of their abolition there would be found at any moment a round majority of unfettered parliamentary and general opinion. One and all they are removable, and many of them by small expenditure of parliamentary time, public money and expert care.

Almost anyone of them is productive of more suffering to innocent and helpless creatures, human or not, and probably of more secret harm to our spiritual life, more damage to human nature, than, for example, the admission or rejection of tariff reform, the disestablishment or preservation of the Welsh church, I would almost say than the granting or non-granting of home rule—questions that sop up ad infinitum the energies, the interest, the time of those we elect and pay to manage our business.

And I say it is rotten that for mere want of parliamentary interest and time we cannot have manifest and stinking sores such as these treated and banished once for all from the nation's body. I say it is rotten that due time and machinery cannot be found to deal with these and other barbarities to man and beast, concerning which, in the main, no real controversy exists—rotten that their removal should be left to the mercy of the ballot, to private members' bills, liable to be obstructed; or to be hampered and inadequate efforts of societies unsupported by legislation.

I am not one of those who believe we can do without party, but I do see and I do say that party measures absorb far too much of the time that our common humanity demands for the redress of crying shames. And if, sir, laymen see this with grief and anger, how much more poignant must be the feelings of members of parliament themselves, to whom alone remedy has been intrusted!

Gingering Up the Executives.

Inland Stationer—Business Equipment Journal: The old-time idea of driving a business at full speed, by using all sorts of stern and repressive measures applied to the minor executive force down to the office boy, is fading. Business is surveyed from a higher plane, and effects and causes on the potentiality of workers of all kinds are more clearly seen and understood. One of the largest wholesale clothing houses in Chicago is dominated by a man of unusually advanced ideas. He is just as eager as any man to make the big business bigger, but one of his methods of getting his desire looks to many men to be oddly at variance with reason and logic. He insists that every executive shall take a day off each week, including Sunday, of course. He takes the day off himself. The executives sometimes protest that they are busy, have the details of some deal to carry through, etc., and want to forego the enforced holiday—the executives are not charged for the holiday, let me say in passing—but the boss will listen to no excuse. The day off must be taken on the day prescribed. His argument, which is evidently satisfactory to himself, is, that when his executives are at work he wants the highest degree of concentration. A man has a limited amount of nervous force. By conserving that force and directing it, more power is obtained from it. A long-time executive becomes more valuable because he becomes more experienced. He can use his experience more profitably to the firm if his nervous force is maintained and conserved. The executives are gingered up therefore by forcing them to rest up. Not every business can take so radical a step, and not every man in control of big business would reason and act as this clothier does.

The Commercialization of Vice Reform.

Agnes Repplier in the Atlantic: Depravity is a valuable asset when presented to the consideration of the undepraved. It is coining money for the proprietors of moving pictures, who are sending shows with lurid titles about "White Slaves" and "Traffic in Souls" all over the country. These shows claim to be dramatizations of Mr. Rockefeller's vice commission reports, or of United States government investigations. "Original," "Authentic," "Authorized," are words freely used in their advertisements. The public is assured that "care has been taken to eliminate all suggestiveness," which is in a measure true. When everything is told, there is no room left for suggestions. If you kick a man downstairs, and out of your door, you may candidly say that you never suggested that he should leave the house. One "Great New York Sensation" is advertised as personally indorsed by Mrs. Belmont and Miss Inez Milholland; and again we are driven to ask why should these ladies assume an intimate knowledge of such alien matters, and why should they play the part of mentors to such an experienced Telemachus as the public?

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of the house committee on pensions is usually a good deal like a gathering at a home where there is an irrepressible boy who persists in romping about and mussing up the guests.

The irrepressible boy of the pensions committee is Mr. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma. He reserves the right to leap into the discussion and talk whenever he sees fit, without notice.

Other members of the committee do not know quite what to make of Murray. Though he is a wealthy rancher man, he persists in wearing clothes that look as if they cost a total of about $7—and he cares little or nothing about combing his hair. Yet, for all his bizarre appearance, he springs many a sensible suggestion. When the committee is in session, and is gathered with quiet dignity about the table, Murray keeps walking about the room, talking when he feels like it and interrupting others when occasion seems to warrant.

It is just like working with a big, playful St. Bernard dog in the room. Murray looks so good-natured and awkward that the others can't get mad at him, and yet there are times when they feel as if it might be best to give him a little dose of poison.

The other day Representative Greene of Vermont was making an argument for a proposition. He went over all the arguments and then began to reiterate, like a barber going over a man's face the second time and catching points he has missed.

Suddenly "Bill" Murray walked over to Greene, and slapped him on the back.

"Sit down," cried Murray, with a laugh; "We're all for your proposition, but if you keep on talking we might change our minds."

Greene is a man of some little Eastern dignity, but he couldn't take offense, for it was just Murray's way.

As a matter of fact, Murray's rough clothes and hair, that give him the appearance of an old, tramped-down door mat, are just a pose. He thinks it is a great joke to look as if he hadn't any sense at all, and then try to surprise everybody with the soundness of what he has to say.

Representative Ben Johnson of Kentucky journeyed to a little town in that state on business one day, and arrived at his destination about nightfall.

When he got off the station he was greatly vexed to find that there was no hack to carry him out of the muddy surroundings. As he was picking his way across the road in search of a sidewalk, a group of men and women came up to him and one of them started to take his grip.

"Who are you folks?" asked Johnson.

"We're the reception committee."

"The what?"

"Aren't you the Rev. So-and-So? We're looking for our new minister. Aren't you he?"

"Huh," grunted Johnson. "If I am your new preacher, this is a hell of a way to receive me."

Victor Murdock two or three years ago became a diet crank and got rid of more than fifty pounds of needless weight. He not only ate half portion meals himself, but urged his colleagues to do so, and really made himself a good deal of a nuisance with this constant talk about the perils of much eating.

A little while ago Victor went out to Kansas to campaign for the senatorship.

When he returned here, lo, he looked as if he had gained twenty pounds and had a fine, big, comfortable-looking girth once again.

"Ah ha!" taunted one person after another. "What's become of all your high principles of diet?"

"I found out," says Victor, "that in a campaign you've simply got to eat. If you don't eat heartily, you'll not only make the host and hostess and the cook mad, but you'll give everybody the impression that you're not human."

Blair Lee of Maryland is the only United States senator who goes home each night to sleep in the same little bedroom that he was born in, and that he occupied all his life.

Lee was born on a big farm in Maryland, about eight miles from Washington, and has lived there ever since. When he leaves the senate chamber in the evening, all he has to do is beckon to his chauffeur, say "Home, James," and he is taken right back to his boyhood home in time for dinner.

When Representative Vollmer of Iowa arrived here the other day to become a member of congress, he busied himself during the first day or two trying to obtain a satisfactory office.

An addition has just been completed to the house office building and this has led to a great deal of changing and shifting about of offices. The older members have first choice in filing on office rooms, and as rapidly as Vollmer selected a room somebody else swooped down and took it away from him. After this had occurred about eleven times, Vollmer observed disgustedly:

"There's just one thing this reminds me of. It's for all the world like trying to get settled in a hotel room when there's a Knights of Pythias convention in town."

The Art of Being a Butcher.

John L. Mathews in Harper's Magazine: Germany has long provided for the ordinary boy who is unable to go to secondary schools a training for his trade. The full significance of this fact was first borne in upon me in a certain wayside village in Missouri. A stalwart young German-American butcher, noted for the skill of his cutting and his pride in his meat, was putting up a roast. He vouchsafed the information that he was going to night school at the university.

"What course?" I inquired idly, watching him deftly trim, roll, and decorate two ribs of beef.

"Commercial drawing," he replied.

"Do you like that better than butchering? You are making a mighty good job of that roast."

"Butchering is a gift with me, just like art," he astonished me by replying, and added, seriously: "They are something alike—one helps the other. I've been working at this trade since I was a kid, but I can cut meat a lot better since I began to draw. If I lived in the old country, you know, I would have been trained to draw so I could be a better butcher. Every boy going into any trade gets that sort of training."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

You Bjet.

Litchfield Independent: Edwin Bjorkman has just finished translating some of the works of Bjornstjerne Bjornson. Some bjob, that.

If It's a Success He May as Well.

Deerwood Times: Wouldn't it be a joke if Eberhart would decide not to be a candidate for re-election, after the elimination conference had been brought to a successful close?

The Time Is Ripe.

St. Cloud Times: Senator James A. Peterson, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, who made one of his opening attacks upon Governor Eberhart in an address before our Commercial club some months ago, has attacked Iverson as great a "machine man" as Governor Eberhart, and that if elected Ed. Smith would remain in the saddle. Peterson will not agree to the "elimination" conference. Sure enough, the Minnesota G. O. P. is in a turmoil. Oh, for another John A. Johnson!

Consistency Thou Art—Etc.

Long Prairie Leader: Funny thing how the machine papers of the district believe that a "get-together" conference in order to unite the opposition to Lindberg is perfectly right and proper, but that a "get-together" conference for the purpose of uniting the opposition to Eberhart "is a gross violation of the primary law." What more positive assurance can we have of the insincerity of the machine papers?

It Would Abolish the Machinery.

Isanti News: If the minor state officials were under strict civil service rules, holding their positions by merit instead of political "pull," there would be less complaint regarding the machine in politics. There are many competent officials doing excellent work for the state, but any person familiar with the methods necessary to secure the appointments understands that in many cases the applicant's job is a small matter—the main question is that of political service to the governor.

Don't Worry.

Red Wing Republican: If the Wilson administration is as wise as its previous acts lead the people to believe it is, it will not tamper with the essentials of the Sherman anti-trust act. Some additions which will give power for its better enforcement are needed and more definite penalties for its violation, but to make radical changes would throw business back into the turmoil and uncertainty that have disturbed it for the past ten years.

Have Need to Fear It.

Biwabik Times: It is noticeable that the Eberhart papers are solidly opposed to the progressives holding conferences. This attitude is natural. Once the progressives get together the power of standpatism is a thing of the past. Under the circumstances we do not blame the old-timers for the attitude they have taken, as their political life depends upon the progressives pulling a hundred different directions.

The Greatest Inventions

Toledo Blade: The first of three prizes offered by the Scientific American for essays on the ten greatest inventions of the last twenty-five years went to a Washington man who made this list:

The electric furnace.
The steam turbine.
The gasoline automobile.
Moving pictures.
The aeroplane.
Wireless telegraphy
The induction coil.
The linotype.
Electric welding.
The cyanide process of gold extraction.

None of these inventions has had so profound an influence on the world as had the locomotive, the telegraph or the dynamo of earlier invention. But it is significant that the newer inventions have profoundly modified, or intensified, the influence of the great inventions preceding them. The automobile has, in no small degree, proved a competitor of the locomotive and there is promise that the aeroplane will also prove one. In wireless telegraphy is the threat of displacement of telegraphy by wire. The dynamo, instead of losing ground, has gained it, the invention of the electric furnace and of electric welding helping tremendously.

It was Sir Isaac Newton, we think, who said that the scientist was only gathering pebbles on the shore of a sea of limitless possibilities. The inventor of mechanical and electrical devices probably is but gathering pebbles. The sea beside him contains that which may provide the world with one civilization after another, each more wonderful and glorious than the one preceding it.

If I Should Die Tonight.

If I should die tonight
And you should come to my cold corpse and say,
Weeping and heartsick o'er my lifeless clay—
If I should die tonight
And you should come in deepest grief and woe
And say, "Here's that ten dollars that I owe"—
I might arise in my large white cravat
And say, "What's that?"

If I should die tonight
And you should come to my cold corpse and kneel,
Clasping my bier to show the grief you feel—
I say, if I should die tonight
And you should come to me, and there and then
Just even hint 'bout payin' me that ten,
I might arise the while;
But I'd drop dead again.

—Ben King.

The South's Leadership in Congress.

The World's Work: The South still retains the guiding hand over legislation. Mr. Underwood, Mr. Glass and Mr. Clayton all belong to the section which, until recently, has exercised little influence in congress. Mr. McReynolds, the attorney-general, whose ideas have considerably influenced the pending anti-trust bills, is also a Southerner. So are Mr. Henry and Mr. Pujo of Louisiana—the latter no longer a congressman—and Mr. Stanley, whose "trust busting" investigating committees have furnished material for the present bills. Not only the South, however, but a single state, Alabama, still retains the legislative ascendancy. Mr. Underwood represents the Northern section of this thoroughly Southern commonwealth; Mr. Clayton, who now takes charge of the trust program, comes from the negro and cotton belt.

The equipment is worth about $2,400 and out of repair. The American Loan & Trust company has a mortgage of $25,000 on the equipment and franchise, and the road has been operated at a loss.

In the Vestry Room.

S. Lippincott in Lippincott's: In the heat of a September noon he was pacing up and down the gloomy, empty room with restless activity.

He had waited for her so often that he was not surprised at being detained now. He was thinking that this was her wedding day, and that he was about to bid her goodby as an unmarried woman. He had not known her long—three months, in fact—but in that time he had known no one else, had thought of no one else—a most unusual thing in this twentieth century of ours. He remembered the first night he had met her, at a dance. She had worn white tulle, and had sat out two dances with him in the conservatory on the seat that just held two. Her throat had matched her gown; and her eyes—he seemed to see them now, liquid and soft and at the same time a spice of the devil in them—they were the color of the violets in her hair. By-the-by, he had those violets still in a pocket of the very coat he wore. That was three short, three blissful months ago, and now—now she was going to be married!

The peal of the organ rang through the room the thrilling march from "Lohengrin." He stood as if petrified, his eyes fastened on the dark wall in a dazed fashion.

Some one touched him on the shoulder. "Come, old fellow," his best man whispered. "She's half way up the aisle, and we must not be behindhand at the chancel."

Conjugal Revenge.

THE LAKESIDER'S LAMENT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Gosh ding these East End fellers thet
git on our Lakeside cars,
An' smash our market baskets, an'
upset our pickle jars;
They only ride a dozen blocks—er
maybe twenty-four,
An' take the seats, an' make us set
our bundles on the floor.

Them East End fellers never heard, I bet, of human rights,
The way they push an' crowd our cars a goin' home o' nights.
They muss our clothes, an' crush our hats, an' trample on our feet,
An' make us stand to Twenty-sixth before we git a seat.

A week ago—I think it wuz—I seen a
Lakeside car
With Lakesiders a hangin' to the steps an' couplin' bar;
While East End fellers occupied the seats an' straps inside,
With us poor Lakeside fellers hangin'
on behind to ride.

Reed, he fell off at Twelfth, I think,
an' Doc at Twenty-first;
At Twenty-third we lost four more,
but Rudolph was the worst.
He lost his grip at Twenty-sixth, an'
with a grunt an' cough
He says: "The traffic on this line is surely fallin' off."

Las' night I wuz bringin' home a dozen
Leghorn eggs,
An' sot the sack beside a seat, right near a feller's legs.
At Twenty-third he rung the bell, an'
scrambled to his feet,
An' scrambled eggs wuz all we had
at home last night to eat.

My neighbor Jones wuz bringin' home provisions from the store,
He had potatoes, onions, an' corned beef an' some things more;
But them durned East End fellers
trompled everything to smash,
An' Jones, an' all his fambly hev been livin' since on hash.

My wife is right old fashioned, when it comes to clothes an' such,
She don't believe in hobble skirts,
ner she don't dress up much;
But Thursday night, when she got through the car she was a wreck,
Her skirt wuz slit so high I felt ashamed of her, by Heck!

The time will come when we will have some street cars all our own,
Where Lakeside folks kin ride an'
have their comfort all alone.
We'll have a Hicken ordinance, an' put behind the bars
Them East End fellers thet insist on takin' Lakeside cars.

CITY AND COUNTY HOSPITAL NEEDED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It was an excellent decision by the Woman's Council to invite the city commissioners to interest themselves in the establishment of a city and county hospital.

The commissioners would do well to take this up for an institution of this kind is a need, especially in a city of Duluth's size and population. Superintended by a broad-minded person of good judgment and just disposition, a city hospital would accomplish much good. A part of it could be used for the treatment of sporadic contagious diseases, as in this way they could be controlled by the city health authorities. It also ought to be made known that cases of that nature would be accepted and cared for.

Our administration, as well as different organizations, are on the warpath against social impurity. Much is being done to elevate public opinion regarding the question of personal purity. All this is done for the human welfare and for this reason we realize that it is important. Now let us also turn toward the establishment of a system so that medical and moral treatment can be given to victims suffering from the consequences of sin and degradation. It would be a place where young unfortunates could turn and confide their condition and get advice and aid. This is the only way to prevent so much catching on fake advertisements and falling into the hands of unskilled practioners, wasting the proper time so that when a competent physician at last is consulted the disease has gained such headway that the system is beyond restoration.

While, for the welfare of the human race, the suppression of vice is necessary, something needs to be done to eliminate the maladies caused by vice. If we see any one wounded by a viper we do not consider it sufficient to kill the reptile, but will also use every effort to get the venom from the wound. Many transgressors would no doubt repent and reform if they were taken care of and had their health restored, as by that time they certainly have passed through some experience. This way a person might straighten up and become good and pure and earn a right to confidence, while on the other hand, he will remain a physical wreck, an outcast from society and a source of constant contamination.

It is true that a city hospital would be costly, but the money would be well spent. Don't you think that it would be a good plan for each municipality the country over to take all the money that it would require to establish and maintain a system regarding laws on examinations for marriage, registration of thoroughbreds, and use it for county and city hospitals? Don't you think this should be tried first?

BEUM WILL GO TO THE PRISON ALONE.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 11.—"I am ready to report at the Federal prison at Leavenworth; you need not send any one for me, but wire what time you want me there."

This is the message received by Edward H. Schmidt, United States marshal, from Charles N. Beum of Minneapolis, one of the labor leaders convicted in the dynamite conspiracy cases here, whose appeal was denied by the United States supreme court.

Until the decision of the supreme court is certified back to the court of appeals in Chicago, no further steps in the cases will be taken.

BANKRUPT SALE Starts In THE COLUMBIA BASEMENT

THE BIG "GOLDEN RULE" store in Superior failed last month. It was the biggest failure that has happened at the Head of the Lakes in many years. The manufacturers will lose fully $100,000. There were $170,000 worth of assets. They brought only a trifle over $100,000 in bankruptcy proceedings. About $20,000 of it (at manufacturers' prices) consisted of Men's and Boys' clothing and furnishings. This was purchased by the Columbia Clothing Co. Unable to secure a lease on part of the "Golden Rule" store, we had to remove goods within a few days. Not wishing to mix this stock with our regular goods, we've decided to dispose quickly of this

As most people know, this is an unusually fine stock of Men's and Boys' Clothing and Furnishings, with such brands as Schloss Brothers and L System Clothing. And as you may expect in a Columbia sale this "Bankrupt Sale" will be conducted on as high class a line as their regular business.

Goods were purchased at little more than half their real value and thus they will be sold. There will be plain price figures and no deviation from them.

Expect no "Hurrah Sale" on the order of the transient fakers, but if you are in the market for wearables, investigate before buying elsewhere, even in our own store.

SEVEN FARES FOR 25 CENTS IN OMAHA

People Adopt Ordinance, But Reject Proposed Charter.

Omaha, Neb., March 11.—At a special election yesterday, the voters of Omaha defeated a new charter recently framed by a special charter commission. An initiated ordinance requiring the local traction company to give seven street car fares for 25 cents was carried by a small majority.

New Clubhouse Burns.

Cleveland, March 11.—The new clubhouse of the Mayfield Country club, just outside the city, was destroyed by fire yesterday with a loss of more than $150,000. The flames are supposed to have originated either from crossed electric wires or from sparks from a fireplace chimney.

STAMP RECEIPTS FOR FEBRUARY FALL OFF.

Fewer stamps were sold during February than during the same month a year ago, according to the monthly report made yesterday by Assistant Postmaster W. C. Weid. The receipts at the local postoffice totaled $30,100.95, while in February of last year the sale of stamps and envelopes netted a total of $30,786.16.

DOCTOR ACQUITTED OF GIRL'S DEATH

Kansas City, Mo., March 11.—Dr. Jacob Hall, charged with performing an operation that sent Meta Zook, a 16-year-old high school girl, to her death, was acquitted late yesterday. Hall was held by a coroner's jury that investigated the girl's death on Aug. 5 last. The testimony implicated half a dozen young sons of rich south side families, known as the "Fraternity Bunch."

MEDALS AND CASH FOR LIFE SAVERS.

London, March 11.—King George yesterday presented silver life-saving medals to 232 officers and men of the fleet of steamers that assisted in the work of rescue when the Uranium line steamer Volturno was burned at sea in October. The board of trade presented the sailors with $3,000 in cash and gave a set of plate to the captain of each of the rescue vessels.

ENSLAVED BY OPIUM WHILE SEEKING CURE

New York, March 11.—While laboring to discover a cure for the opium smoking habit, which wealthy patients of his had contracted, Dr. Herman Seidler fell a victim to the persuasion of the drug, according to his testimony in his own defense in the Federal court, where he is charged with having manufactured smoking opium without a license. Dr. Seidler thus explained the finding of crude opium and pipes in his possession.

Most of his acquaintances were opium smokers, he said, and to cure them of the habit he had experimented with the drug, acquiring a liking for it himself.

Many of Dr. Seidler's patrons are said to be prominent.

OKLAHOMA TAXES OIL AND GAS LEASES.

Oklahoma City, March 11.—Oil and gas leases in Oklahoma, estimated to be worth from $200,000 to $500,000,000, are rendered subject to assessment and taxation, by a decision of the state supreme court here, upholding the state board of equalization's valuation of the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company's property for the year 1911.

Tax experts have calculated the value of omitted lease properties since 1908 and have taken steps to place more than $100,000,000 on the tax rolls in the oil counties on the east side of the state.

In the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil case, the property was assessed at $538,350 for 1911, after having declared its taxable property to be worth only $53,835.10.

LECTURE IS CANCELED.

Charles Edward Russell Prevented From Filling Date Here.

Because of an attack of acute inflammation of the eyes, Charles Edward Russell, the well known lecturer and magazine writer, will be unable to fill his date in Duluth under the direction of the Socialist party. A. J. Johnson, secretary of the English branch, received a telegram yesterday from Mr. Russell saying that he had been compelled to cancel all his dates.

Mr. Russell was in Minneapolis last night but was unable to speak except for a few minutes. He is now under a doctor's care. Efforts to secure a substitute for the Duluth engagement have failed so far.

The city central council will meet tonight for the purpose of securing more speakers of national prominence.

MAY NOT DROP THE CASE AGAINST MELLEN

Bridgeport, Conn., March 11.—Although State's Attorney Stiles Judson declined to discuss the case, it is generally believed that he will, during the next week, file an amended complaint against Former President Charles S. Mellen of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, charging him with manslaughter in connection with the Southport wreck in 1912. In the superior court Judge Tuttle sustained the demurrer of Mr. Mellen's counsel that there was an insufficiency of information in the original complaint.

TRADE GROWS UNDER TARIFF

Redfield Points Out Folly of Forecasts of Disaster.

Denies Big Business Has Right to Big Claims.

Hartford, Conn., March 11.—William C. Redfield, secretary of commerce, addressing the State Business Men's association of Connecticut here last night, asked with a smile what had become of the threatened flooding of American markets with foreign-made goods attracted by the new tariff schedules.

"All men are witnesses that the flooding of our markets with the products of the so-called pauper labor of Europe has not occurred," he said. "Nay, the total imports for the entire period since the tariff came into effect, are actually less than they were for a like period a year ago. What has become of the millions upon millions in value of goods waiting to be unloaded upon us whereby the power to purchase more cheaply was to bring disaster and distress upon American industries? Instead, as editors and speakers look back over the cold, hard facts of our foreign trade, their remarks about the flooding of our markets must come to their thought as those things one would rather not have said.

Exports Growing.

"Meanwhile the current has run strongly the other way, and particularly is this true in the shape of fully finished materials in our foreign trade, which continues to grow despite the normal fluctuations from month to month in the total in the export business. Those, if there are any, who felt that the flooding had come when the December imports rose to the largest ever known, namely $184,500,000, must have experienced a rude shock when the imports for January fell off over $30,000,00, so as even to be less by almost $9,000,000 than the month of January 1913.

"It is normal, and we expect a growth in the imports of manufactures under the new tariff in order that competitive conditions may exist to the general good. It is equally normal, and we expect that as great or a larger growth will take place in the exportations of manufactures in order that business may run more steadily in our American shops and that the gold of the nations may be brought in in increasing quantities to the pockets of our people."

"Little Fellows" Work.

Of our foreign commerce, Mr. Redfield said he did not share the belief that "big business" could claim the lion's share of credit for creating and holding trade in other countries.

"Much that has been done by our big industries in the foreign field is admirable," he said, "but their claim that they are essential to our success abroad cannot, in my judgment, be established. I think there is not one of them that could not do this business quite as well if they were smaller than they are, though I have no objection to their bigness by itself."

The secretary was optimistic concerning general conditions.

today that the remodeling of the Missouri Athletic club building, by which it was converted from a business block to a clubhouse with sleeping quarters, was illegal.

The joint committee of the municipal assembly will begin its investigation of the fire Thursday. The governors of the Missouri Athletic club will be among the first witnesses.

Only Nine Identified.

Of the ten bodies recovered nine have been identified. The identified dead are:

MICHAEL THUMA of Chicago, employe of a clothing firm headed by Arthur Alschu.

MARSHALL BIER, 35, bachelor, head of Marshall Bier & Co., fur dealers, St. Louis.

LUCIUS RUFF, department head Simmons Hardware company, lived with mother in Dallas, Tex. (identification doubtful.)

WILLIAM J. KINSER, treasurer Kinser Construction company.

JAMES E. REILLY, member contracting firm of Ware & Reilly, St. Louis.

JOHN H. RICKEY, Chicago, treasurer Ford Manufacturing company.

WILLIAM F. ERD, lawyer and real estate dealer, East St. Louis.

EDWIN C. KESSLER, cashier Ludlow Saylor Wire company, St. Louis. Killed in jumping from sixth floor.

F. P. WILLIAMS, bank promoter, Sautee, Ga.

Days probably will elapse before the ruins, which fill the basement up to the first floor, are completely explored, and it is feared that many of the bodies never will be recovered.

Bank Vaults Intact.

The vaults of the Boatsmen's bank, which occupies part of the building, were uncovered and found intact. Nearly $1,300,000 in coin and currency was removed to the vaults of the St. Louis Union Trust company.

LET COPPER MINERS VOTE ON CONTINUING STRIKE, SAYS MOYER

day at the hospital in order to be near Mahoney.

Moyer Before Committee.

Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, last night told the committee investigating the Michigan copper miners' strike of his deportation from the mining district last December. A special session of the committee to hear Moyer's testimony was held.

The Federation president spent most of the day at a hospital where Charles Mahoney of Denver, Colo., vice president of the Federation, was critically ill after an operation.

He said men came to his room at Hancock asking him if he would receive a large committee. The large committee came later and asked Moyer if he would permit the Citizens' alliance contribution to relieve the Christmas disaster to be used.

He said he told the members of the Federation not to accept outside help in caring for their dead, but said the families felt they ought not to, and that he would not advise them to accept relief contributed by those outside the Federation.

Continuing his story, Moyer said that A. Z. Petermann, attorney for the mining companies, who acted as spokesman for the committee, insisted that Moyer was responsible for the attitude of the bereaved families, and that but for his advising them, they would have accepted the assistance offered.

Promised to Help.

"I promised them," Moyer said, "that I would do everything I could to bring about normal conditions, and would endeavor to stop all talk of the panic having been caused by a man wearing a Citizens' alliance button, at least until after the funerals."

The witness said everybody left the room except Sheriff Cruse and John Black, a deputy, who told him they appreciated his promise and assured him that, while all feeling was tense, no harm would come to him or those with him.

"Before the committee had left the room," Moyer continued, "Petermann said to me: 'After having assumed the position you have we will not be responsible for anything that may happen after this meeting'".

Moyer said he then put in a telephone call for the secretary of the Calumet union, in accordance with his promise.

"The telephone was beside the door," he said. "While I was holding the receiver to my ear the door opened and my room was filled with men. Tanner was the only person in the room with me. The crowd demanded, 'Where is Moyer?' and I, thinking it was the same committee returning, said, 'Here I am, gentlemen; what is it now?'

"A Man Grabbed Me."

"A man grabbed me and pushed me backward, hitting me with his hand. Another bent me over forward until I was almost doubled up. In about a minute, still another man struck me with a gun. I saw him striking and I bent my head lower. The weapon hit me on the left side of the head and exploded, the bullet entering my shoulder and lodging about ten inches below the point of entrance."

Immediately afterward, the witness said, the committee hustled him out of the hotel and a larger crowd joined them on the corner. The entire mob then started with him toward the bridge, to Houghton.

"When we reached the bridge," the witness declared, "some one cried 'Throw him off the bridge.' Others said, 'Wait until we get across and we will string him up.' Those behind were kicking me at every opportunity, and I haven't recovered yet from the effects of that abuse. When we reached the other side someone said, 'This is the place,' but others remonstrated, and we continued on to the station.

"There's MacNaughton."

"As we came upon the platform, some one just behind me said 'there's MacNaughton,' and I observed a man I did not know standing with his back to the window. This man grabbed me by the throat and began choking me, exclaiming 'You have come in here and have turned the men against me and the company. I am not going to do you any harm, but I am going to warn you that if you ever come back to this district you will be killed.'"

Moyer said he had never seen James MacNaughton, general manager of the Calumet & Hecla, or any picture of him, and he did not wish to be understood as testifying that it was MacNaughton who so addressed him.

"We were then put on the train in charge of a man named Hensley, who is what is commonly called a 'gunman,' and another man Hensley called 'Dogs.' I had known Hensley in Colorado. These men were instructed to take us on the train to Chicago, and if we made any noise we were to be killed.

"Previously I had been searched and $10 taken out of one of my pocketbooks. We were taken into the smoking car, and when the conductor came around, Hensley told him he was authorized by the sheriff to pay our fares. Hensley also wired ahead for a physician to attend me, and when the doctor came aboard he told him that his bill would be paid by the sheriff."

Were No Masks.

"Did the men who committed this outrage wear masks?" asked Congressman Casey.

"They wore no masks," the witness replied.

He added that he could not recall the names of any besides Hensley.

Chairman Taylor asked the witness whether he had returned to Michigan to answer the conspiracy charge brought against him by the grand jury. He replied that he had notified the officers of the county that he would appear for trial at any time he was required, and he told the committee he would do so without extradition.

Asked to describe the man who choked him at the station, Moyer said he was about six feet in height, weighed about 220 pounds and had light hair and a smooth face.

Moyer was cross-examined by Petermann.

"Isn't it true that I said to you in the Hancock hotel," began Petermann, "that in view of the intense feeling we felt that you would be responsible for whatever might happen if you did not issue the statement we asked?"

"I don't think I remember it that way."

"What did you do before you became president of the Western Federation?"

Always a Laborer.

"I have been a laborer all my life. I have done railroad work and have carried the hod."

"You believe, do you not, that there is an unending conflict between capital and labor?"

"I have always found it so since I began work. I believe the conflict will go on until there is a change in our system of government. There should be a more equal distribution of the product of labor. I would like to see the government own a great many of our industries."

"You believe, do you not, in the doctrine approved by your union, that the 'laborer should be master of his product?'"

"I think the laborer should have the full product of his toil."

"What is your policy toward non-union men who want to go to work while your men are out on strike?"

"Every effort is made to dissuade them not to do so, by peaceful means. I am absolutely opposed to violating the law."

Opposed to Sabotage.

When Moyer said that the Western Federation was on record against sabotage, Petermann asked him what difference he thought there was between allowing mines to become filled with water and throwing a wrench into machinery. The witness thought there was a great deal of difference.

"You are not in sympathy with the principals of the Industrial Workers of the World, are you?" asked Petermann.

"I myself suggested the referendum to sever connection with the Industrial Workers," replied the witness.

Mr. Casey wanted to know if the report was true that Moyer owned a palace in Denver and another in California. The witness replied that he owned a one-story, five-room house in Denver, costing $1,750, and another in Pomona, Cal., costing $6,000, on which he still owed $5,000.

Can Submit Briefs.

When Moyer was excused, Chairman Taylor announced that the hearings were concluded and that the strikers and operators would be given fifteen days within which to submit briefs after they received copies of the printed testimony. He also stated that the committee had decided to admit five of the twelve affidavits offered by the strikers in rebuttal of the testimony of the Michigan National Guard, with the understanding that the militia would have the opportunity to introduce an equal number. The affidavits relate to specific instances of assault committed by soldiers.

Mr. Taylor said it was the attitude of the committee that it did not care to go into the deportation at great length so long as it had been established that Moyer was deported forcibly.

Ben Goggin, an organizer for the Western Federation of Miners, was examined at the afternoon session. He testified that he was assaulted by deputies while reading a letter in the postoffice at Red Jacket, Dec. 11. He said the assault was without provocation. Goggin said the militiamen were accustomed to follow strikers and stop their parades by blocking the road with their horses.

garding the relation of the United States government with the Mexican rebels with reference to the interests of the foreigners in Mexico. Frederick Simpich, American consul at Nogales, arrived today and had a short conference with Gen. Carranza, who was preparing to leave on his march into Chihuahua.

Farm for Every Soldier.

Chihuahua, Mex., March 11.—The military government today issued a decree of distribution of public lands, including those confiscated, among soldiers of the present revolution, disabled veterans of the Madero revolution and widows and orphans of the two rebellions.

In advance of a survey by engineers, it is estimated that each beneficiary will receive a farm of sixty-two acres. The decree safeguards the gifts with provisions that they shall not be subject to execution for debt nor can the owner sell the same within ten years.

While those who have suffered in the wars will be given first choice in the distribution, civilians have a right to apply, and there may be land enough for some of them.

Two commissioners from Gen. Contreras, who is at the head of the rebel forces at Pedricana, state of Durango, conferred with Gen. Villa today about the Torreon campaign. They said the Federal garrison of Torreon is about 7,000 men and that the place is surrounded by rebel forces. It has no communication with the outside world, they reported.

Diaz at Washington.

Washington, D. C., March 11.—Gen. Felix Diaz, the man who helped Huerta overthrow Madero and later fled from Mexico under protection of the United States, returned here today with a party of Mexicans and Americans interested in Mexico.

From what was told the senate foreign relations committee last week by Pedro del Vilar, who accompanied Diaz today, the purpose of the Diaz adherents is to restore peace in Mexico by a plan that would recognize neither Huerta nor Carranza nor Villa. Senators said sanction had been asked for a counter-revolutionary movement.

Members of the party today accompanying Diaz denied that they wished the help of the United States in an armed revolution. They said they did not know whether they would appear before the committee again, or concentrate their efforts on getting a hearing at the state department.

Gen. Diaz, it was said, met Senator Root last week in Washington, and also Senator Fall, explaining his purposes to them. Senator Shively, acting chairman of the foreign relations committee, said today that while the Mexicans had given the committee some interesting information, no sanction or approval had been given to any revolutionary movement.

Vancouver Man Missing.

Douglas, Ariz., March 11.—F. T. Cromwell, a mining man from Vancouver, B. C., disappeared in Sonora, Mex., last December, according to a letter received here from Mrs. Cromwell, who asks that search be made for her husband.

Cromwell last was seen in Tucson, Dec. 26. He wrote to his wife that he intended to go into Sonora and would return Jan. 1. She has not heard from him since. Cromwell is said to be wealthy.

W. A. Miller Has Disappeared.

Hastings, Neb., March 11.—Mrs. W. A. Miller, who escaped with her children from Mexico eight weeks ago, after their house was burned by rebels, has not heard from her husband for six weeks, and it is feared he has been killed. Two weeks after her arrival here, Mrs. Miller received a letter from her husband which stated he was still in search of his stock driven away when the home was burned.

Mrs. Miller and children escaped and accepted government transportation to Hastings. They are now stopping with relatives near here.

Huerta Drops Bank Scheme.

Mexico City, March 11.—Determined opposition to the plan for flooding the country with money to be issued by a Federal bank has forced the government to consider other measures to obtain war funds.

Private information received here indicates that the rebels are preparing to attack Tampico.

MURDER GROWS OUT OF TWINS' QUARREL

First Trouble in Nineteen Years Ends in Fatality.

West Fork, Ark., March 11.—"It was our first quarrel," said Shered Field, 19 years old, when arrested here today, charged with killing his twin-brother, Benjamin. Shered told the officers here he had fallen out with his brother over a trivial circumstance; that his brother had drawn a knife, and that he, in self-defense, had seized a shotgun and fired.

HAS GRAFTED RUBBER ON LIVING TISSUES

French Surgeon Makes Report to Academy of Medicine.

Paris, March 11.—President Pierre Delbet of the Clinical association has communicated to the Academy of Medicine a report on his discovery of the feasibility of grafting India rubber on living tissue. Prof. Delbet described two cases in which he said experiments he had made had proved successful.

In one of these cases, where the flesh of a finger had adhered to the bone, making the finger useless, the professor said he had interposed a thin sheet of rubber, and that the patient is now able to use the finger freely.

The other case was an extensive hernia of the large intestine. A thick sheet of rubber grafted into the abdominal cavity, Prof. Delbet said, gave absolute permanent relief.

The members of the academy were strongly impressed with the report of Prof. Delbet, and were unanimous in their expressions that his method opens great possibilities in restorative surgery.

Beauty Doctor Tells Secret

Detroit Beauty Doctor Gives Simple Recipe to Darken Gray Hair and Promote Its Growth.

Miss Alice Whitney, a well-known beauty doctor of Detroit, Mich., recently gave out the following statement: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, promote its growth and make it soft and glossy. To half a pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray haired person look twenty years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of the hair, relieve itching and scalp diseases, and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair.

Restriction in the Philippines Has Been Laxly Enforced.

Washington, March 11.—The insular bureau is taking steps to restrict the entry into the United States of Hindus from the Philippines. These are expected soon to result in the complete exclusion of that class of immigrants. The same law which the courts have construed as prohibiting the entry of Hindus and Malays into the United States prevails in the Philippines, but it is said that collectors of customs in the islands have been lax in its enforcement. Hereafter they are to apply it as rigorously as in continental United States.

RUSSIA WILL SEND WARSHIPS TO CANAL.

St. Petersburg, March 11.—Russia announced today that it had decided to accept the invitation of the United States to participate in the naval review in Hampton roads in 1915 in celebration of the opening of the Panama canal. The names of the vessels selected to proceed to American waters for the occasion will be published later.

POLISH CATHOLICS TRIED FOR RIOTING.

South Bend, Ind., March 11.—Sixteen men and women who fought the police during the St. Casimir's church riots of Sunday, Feb. 15, when Rev. Stanislaus Gruza was refused admission to the church and his life threatened, were placed on trial in the city court today, Special Judge W. A. Slick presiding. The cases will continue probably until tomorrow. Several hundred Polish residents congregated at the city hall to await the outcome of the trials.

Father Gruza was appointed by Bishop Herman Alerding of Fort Wayne, but the selection was opposed by the church members, who revolted when an attempt was made to install the priest.

AMERICAN EXPRESS REDUCES DIVIDEND.

New York, March 11.—The American Express company today declared a quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent, which is a reduction of ½ of 1 per cent from the last quarterly dividend declared Dec. 3. The dividend declared today is payable out of investments held by the company. The previous dividend of 2 per cent, was payable out of transportation proceeds.

BULL MOOSE MEET ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

Huron, S. D., March 11.—D. K. Davis, member of the national committee of the Progressive party, today issued a call for a convention to be held here on March 17. The party for South Dakota will be organized at that time and arrangements made to place a full state ticket in the field.

LIGHT VOTE IN ILLINOIS PRIMARY.

Chicago, March 11.—The first general primaries through the state since the enactment of the suffrage law brought out only a light vote yesterday. In many places, however, suffrage organizations had warned the women to remain away from the polls in order to avoid identification with any political party.

In two cities women were candidates for mayor. Dr. Maude Rogers ran third on the Citizens' ticket in Canton. The woman's vote there was 1,257 and 1,519 men voted. In Carroll, Mrs. Mary Kennedy was defeated.

Mrs. Frank Crane was nominated for alderman in Aurora. She received only one vote, but had no opposition.

In Yates City, Republican men nominated a woman for board president, three women for trustees and women for treasurer and clerk. No women voted in the primary.

SAVES THREE LIVES.

Heroic Mill City Woman Pulls Them Out of Fire Danger.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 11.—The heroism of Mrs. J. H. Brening saved three persons from losing their lives in a fire late yesterday. The flat building of which Mrs. Brening occupied a floor, caught fire in the upper story. Mrs. Brening who was alone, fought her way through the smoke and flames and carried the infant daughter of Mrs. J. Palmer to safety, after which she returned and assisted Mrs. Fred Oltman and 10-year-old Marion Sala, both of whom were ill, to the ground. The property loss amounted to several hundred dollars.

Grand View, Wis., Fire.

New Richmond, Wis., March 11.—Fire yesterday destroyed the roundhouse, machine and blacksmith shops of the Superior & Southeastern railroad, owned by the Willow River Lumber company of this place, at Grand View, the company's logging headquarters. The loss is $50,000.

ON THE IRON RANGES

AUSTIN WINS IN CHISHOLM

Chosen President By Twenty-Eight Votes in Hot Contest.

D. D. McEachin Re-Elected Treasurer of Hibbing Against Five.

Chisholm, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Austin, Progressive, was elected village president here yesterday by twenty-eight votes over Henry Fugere, his nearest rival. Austin polled 399 and Fugere 371. J. H. McNiven and Leo Mitchell, also Progressives, were elected trustees. It was the hottest election ever held here. Joseph Jakse and Bert Culver, opposing the Progressives, were elected trustee and recorder respectfully. Charles French was elected treasurer over Frank Gouze by 99 votes.

The total vote for all candidates follows:

President—Gust Anderson, 75; Joseph Austin, 399; Matt Borlin, 99; Henry Fugere, 371.

Trustees—Edward Ahonen, 126; F. W. Anderson, 351; Frank Bay, 89; Thomas Blenkhey, 228; Matt Jaasko, 163; Joseph P. Jakse, 359; J. H. McNiven, 394; Anton Mahne, 244; Leo C. Mitchell, 462; Carl J. Peterson, 70.

Recorder—William Conely, 207; Bert E. Culver, 383; M. J. Thompson, 115; C. Minty Tramontin, 215.

Treasurer—Charles E. French, 412; Frank Gouze, 313; Phil Grennier, 184.

Constable—A. E. McDougall, 532.

Balkan Township.

The result in the township of New Balkan was as follows:

Supervisor for one year—M. C. Ramser, 11; John Pozar, 61; for two years, John Pozar, 11; E. F. Kowalke, 61; for three years, B. Magnusson, 11; W. E. Bates, 61.

Treasurer—Gust Lake, 11; B. E. Johnson, 61.

Justice of peace—Frank Veraut, 72. Constable—Frank Pozar, 72.

Clerk—A. J. Sullivan, 78.

McEachin Carries Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a six-handed fight that was in doubt until long after the polls closed and the returns commenced to come in, D. D. McEachin was re-elected village treasurer by a majority of 150 over Jake Messner, his closest opponent. Gleason ran third and Nelson fourth with Bihlaja and Nejmi lagging.

T. S. Silliman was an easy victor over Antonelli and Templeton for the office of special municipal judge, polling 735 votes, 226 more than his combined opposition.

Mayor Power and his fellow members of the council were returned with a handsome complimentary vote, the Socialist candidates polling an average of 149 out of the 1,403 cast.

The vote cast is considerably larger than that of any previous election, a fact that can be partially accounted for by the addition of Alice, though in every precinct the officials report an increase. The vote was counted rapidly and within a very short time after the polls had been closed the Tribune was able to announce the results by special bulletins posted in its window and at the local clubs.

The total vote:

President, V. L. Power, 1,178.

Trustees—Burrows, 1,079; Curran, 1,044; Geiselman, 1,065; Hornnilla, 135; Keranen, 186.

$3.50 Recipe Free, For Weak Men.

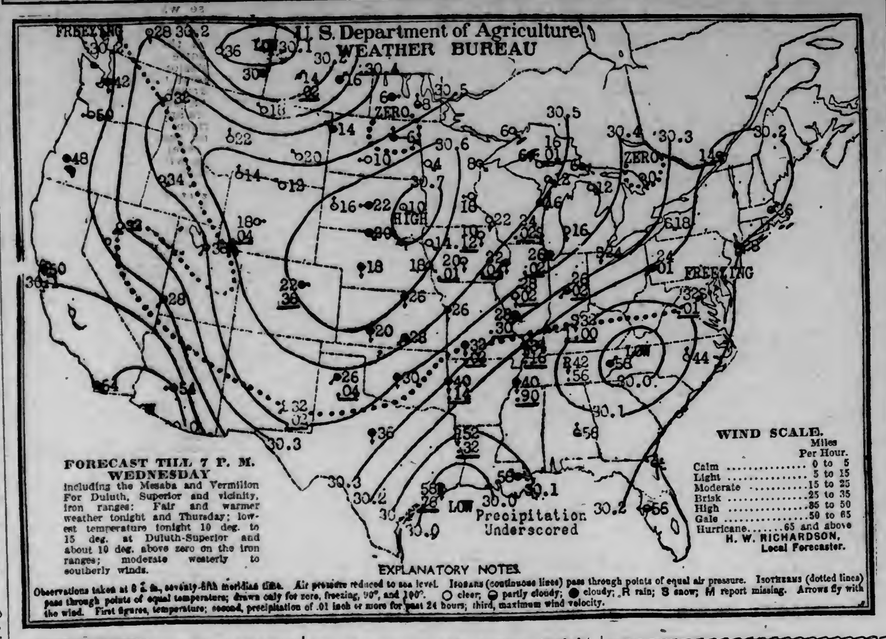

Send Name and Address Today ---You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

We have in our possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that we think every man who wishes to regain his health, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So we have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write us for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and we are convinced it is the surest-acting combination ever put together.

We think we owe it to our fellow men to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what we believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop us a line like this: Interstate Remedy company, 4671 Goodyear Building, Detroit, Mich., and we will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but we send it entirely free.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

WARMER

Oh, joy! Fair and still warmer for tonight and tomorrow. The thermometer was quite well behaved during the night despite the threatened below zero weather. The worst it got was 6 deg. above. The slush underfoot does not seem to be objected to one bit by anybody, for it means the closer approach of spring. And just ten days more until the first official day of spring.

It was gray and soft a year ago today. The sun rose this morning at 6:29 and will set this evening at 6:07, giving eleven hours and thirty-eight minutes of sunshine, three minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Zero weather prevailed last night in Northeastern North Dakota, extreme Northern Minnesota and Eastern Ontario. The temperature has fallen somewhat over most of the Lake region, Mississippi and Missouri valley states and the Southwest, but is rising in the extreme Northwest. During the last twenty-four hours light to heavy rain or snow fell over the Southern Lake region, Ohio and Lower Mississippi valley states and from Wyoming southeastward to Texas."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 11.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Wisconsin—Fair tonight and Thursday; rising temperature Thursday and in extreme northwest portion tonight.

Minnesota—Fair tonight and Thursday; rising temperature.

Iowa—Fair tonight and Thursday; rising temperature Thursday and in northwest portion tonight.

North Dakota and South Dakota—Fair tonight and Thursday; warmer tonight and in east portion Thursday.

Montana—Fair tonight and Thursday; warmer in east portion tonight.

Lower Michigan—Fair tonight and Thursday; slowly rising temperature Thursday and western portion tonight.

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Thursday; rising temperature Thursday and in west portion tonight.

IS UNDER CONTROL.

Health Officials Have Eveleth Scarlet Fever in Hand.

Eveleth, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Health Commissioner N. C. Bulkley states that the outbreak of scarlet fever which was threatened here is under control. Only one new case has been quarantined this month.

Where the fever appears in a mild form the work of the health department is hindered some times by the action of the sufferer in concealing the disease and failing to call a physician. Commissioner Bulkley will swear out a warrant for the arrest of one man who concealed a case.

JOHN GLODE FOR COUNTY BOARD JOB.

Eveleth, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Glode of this city has gone to Duluth where he will file as a candidate for commissioner from the Sixth district. Mr. Glode will be opposed by at least four candidates, two from Virginia, one from Biwabik and one from Gilbert. Mr. Glode is the proprietor of a hotel here and last season managed the Eveleth ball club in the Trolley league.

To Organize Engineers.

Virginia, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—A call signed by D. E. Charlton, A. F. Benson and A. B. Holley has been issued for a meeting to be held at the public library on Friday evening, at which time arrangements will be made for the organization of an engineers' society, consisting of the mining, mechanical, electrical and chemical engineers of the Virginia district.

Aurora Willing to Play.

Aurora, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Feeling ran high here last night when the Aurora people read in a Hibbing news report that Aurora had refused to play the Hibbing basket ball team on neutral ground. After scheduling the game Hibbing cancelled it because Aurora would not consent to change the game to Buhl, which place is adjoining Hibbing and hard to reach from Aurora. Aurora would be willing to play the Hibbing team at Virginia any time and any way.

Poorhouse Burns.

Bemidji, Minn., March 11.—Fire completely destroyed the Beltrami county house at the poor farm across Lake Bemidji from this city yesterday afternoon. The loss was $6,000, fully covered by insurance. The fire started in a pile of shavings in the basement, the direct cause being unknown. The nine inmates escaped uninjured.

BISHOP QUAYLE IS HEARD AT VIRGINIA

Addresses Gathering Tuesday Afternoon and Lectures in the Evening.

Virginia, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bishop A. Quayle of St. Paul was the guest yesterday afternoon at a banquet in his honor by the Head of the Lakes Methodist Ministers' association at the Ormonde hotel. Twenty visiting clergymen were present at the meeting, which was the regular monthly gathering, and which is usually held in Duluth. Rev. C. R. Oaten of Duluth, president of the association, presided.

It was announced at the banquet that Bishop Quayle will deliver a lecture in Duluth the first Monday in April on "The Social Power of the Gospel." Bishop Quayle was the only speaker of the afternoon, and he gave an interesting talk on "Necessity." In the evening at the First Methodist church, before an audience which crowded the church to its capacity, he delivered his popular lecture on "Shylock and David."

The clergymen present at the banquet were: Bishop William A. Quayle, C. R. Oaten, G. E. Silloway, Dr. William F. Hovis, W. G. Fritz, J. W. Lillicoe, William F. Farrell, W. A. Weiss, Duluth; E. F. Lund, Superior; William Hainsworth, Mountain Iron; G. O. Hunter, Biwabik; A. H. McKee, Two Harbors; E. F. Stidd, Ely; F. J. Smith, Gilbert; O. D. Cannon, Eveleth; E. W. Elmyer, Hibbing; Ralph Jones, Chisholm; John Schenck, Aurora; Charles W. Ramshaw, Cloquet; Thomas Grice, A. G. Lundgren, Virginia.

MOOSE OFFICIAL DIES.

Secretary Holmes of Virginia Lodge Is Called.

Virginia, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. C. Holmes, secretary of the local lodge of Moose, died yesterday of tuberculosis at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Mathcson, 480 Walnut street, following a hemorrhage. Mr. Holmes had been a resident of Virginia for about three years and was the first dictator of the Moose lodge. Up to a short time ago he was employed in the real estate office of J. W. Murphy. Three weeks ago he went to Battle Creek, Mich., and entered a sanitarium in the hope of benefiting his health, but no hope was held out and he returned to Virginia on Sunday. Mr. Holmes was about 30 years of age, and his only known relative is an aunt who resides in Minneapolis.

TWO HARBORS NEW DOCK BEING BUILT.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steel for the new coal dock which is being constructed by the Iron Range Railroad company arrived here yesterday, and the work on the coal dock will be rushed until it is completed and will be ready to handle the incoming coal as soon as navigation opens. The new dock will be much larger than the old wooden dock was, being fifty feet longer and five feet higher. The dock will cost approximately $56,000. The contract for the construction was let to Stack & McGary of Duluth. The steel work will be done by the American Bridge company.

NEW COMMISSIONERS ARE ALL CONFIRMED

Appointments to Virginia Fire and Police Commission Go Through.

Virginia, Minn., March 11. — Mayor Murphy last night submitted his appointment of the new police and fire commission to the city council. The members of the commission are P. A. Coffey, six years; Otto Poirier, four years; J. E. Hanson, two years. Mr. Coffey is the only member of the old commission who was reappointed. The old commission consisted of five members and was reduced to three under an amendment to the city charter adopted at the last city election. The appointments were unanimously confirmed by the council and the new commissioners will take office as soon as they qualify.

Hold Up License Renewal.

The Jacob Stubler liquor license was up for renewal and was referred to the license committee. Stubler and his two sons were arrested recently on a charge of having sold liquor to a minor person. The case against the elder Stubler has been dismissed out and the sons waived examination in municipal court and were bound over to the grand jury. The council committee will make a thorough investigation of the charges before any action is taken upon the license.

The matter of a city hospital was discussed briefly and Mayor Murphy was authorized to appoint a committee of three to confer with the board of county commissioners in an effort to secure county aid for the project.

Object to Switching.

Fred Voss, a resident of Lake boulevard, complained to the council that the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railroad is using the spur track near the passenger station for the switching of freight trains, causing great annoyance to the residents along that thoroughfare. Under the terms of its franchise the railroad company has the right to use the spur track only for passenger trains.

City Clerk Bickford was authorized to purchase a 40-acre tract just south of the city near the Gilbert road to be used as a dumping ground.

Mrs. A. C. Osborn was appointed a member of the library board.

The bond of Fred J. Verville, treasurer-elect, in the sum of $60,000 was accepted by the council.

Discharge Former Duluthian.

Virginia, Minn., March 11.—The case against Jacob Stubler, charged with selling liquor to a minor, was dismissed by Municipal Judge Carey. Mr. Stubler states that he was in business in Duluth for thirty years and has never had any trouble before with the officers, and never has been arrested or molested in any way.

Duluthian Among Buyers.

International Falls, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Henry Korhomen of Duluth was among the buyers at the sale of state lands held here yesterday, the first this year, the average price running from $7 to $12 per acre and about 3,882 acres being sold. About $3,800 was also paid for timber.

FINDS EASTMAN'S INFRINGED PATENT

Appellate Court Awards Millions to Pastor's Family.

New York, March 11.—A decision upholding the patent claim of Rev. Hannibal B. Goodwin against the Eastman Kodak company of Rochester, involving millions of dollars in royalties, was handed down by the United States circuit court of appeals here yesterday, confirming the opinion previously given by Judge John R. Hazel of Buffalo.

The decision says that Rev. Hannibal B. Goodwin "is undoubtedly the inventor and entitled to all the benefits of the basic patents on photographic films."

Goodwin died more than thirteen years ago a poor man. The Eastman Kodak company has estimated the royalties claimed to run into the millions. If the decision is not overruled by the supreme court, Goodwin's widow and two children, who are living in Brooklyn, will be entitled to back royalties for the whole period the Eastman company has, according to the decision, been infringing upon the patent.

Patent Issued in 1898.

For many years Rev. Hannibal Goodwin was rector of the Episcopal House of Prayer at Newark, N. J. He was fond of dabbling in photography and was an amateur chemist. In 1887 he discovered a process for making photographic films and applied for a patent. The Eastman company contested his claims, and it was not until 1898 that the patent office finally issued the patent.

A suit against the Eastman Kodak company was instituted. Mr. Goodwin decided he could not fight it alone, and he sold part of his right to the Ansco company of Binghampton, which brought separate action. In December, 1900, Mr. Goodwin died.

To Supreme Court.

Rochester, N. Y., March 11.—In a statement regarding the Goodwin patent decision handed down by the United States circuit court of appeals in New York, George Eastman, president and general manager of the Eastman Kodak company, said last night:

"The Eastman company will, of course, apply to the United States supreme court for a writ of certiorari. If this be granted, the case will be brought up for hearing in that court as rapidly as possible."

THE LANPHER HAT

PRESIDENT M'VEY TALKS TWO TIMES

Head of North Dakota U Heard at Lidgerwood's Novel Institute.

Lidgerwood, N. D., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—President McVey of the North Dakota university was the chief speaker at the Community institute here today, making two speeches. There was an increased attendance today over yesterday and a great deaal of enthusiasm was shown by the farmers, their wives and the boys and girls. Tomorrow will be the closing day and President Worst of the agricultural college will be the chief speaker.

The Day's Program.

The program today was:

Forenoon—Woman's meeting, "Food Values," Miss Howe; "Care of the Sick," Miss Smith; "The High School Student After Graduation," President McVey, North Dakota university.

Afternoon—General meeting, "The Making of a Town," President McVey, Grand Forks; farmers' meeting, "Alfalfa," Supt. Waldren, Dickinson substation; woman's meeting, "Canning and Preservation of Foods," Miss Howe; "Care of the Human Body," Miss Smith; boys' and girls' meeting, "Lessons in Hygiene," Miss Smith. Evening—General meeting, motion pictures; "Problems of Public Health," Dr. French, Wisconsin university; social hour.

POISONS THAT IRRITATE

When the delicate machinery of the body is not working harmoniously, poisons are retained that should be expelled. These may accumulate in the tissues and cause irritation. Should this irritation affect joints or muscles you have rheumatism; if a nerve becomes inflammed you have neuralgia.

But if the system is kept toned up with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and no body poisons are retained, foods that once distressed you will be harmless, exposure will bring no rheumatism and neuralgia and even germ diseases need hardly be dreaded.

The lowering of the tone of the system which results from thin blood is easy to recognize. Weakness is always present, a tendency to perspire and fatigue easily, ringing in the ears, black spots passing before the eyes, weak back, dizziness, wakefulness and unrefreshing sleep. These conditions Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will correct.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. In this way the general health is improved, the appetite increases, and new ambition and energy is developed.

These pills are sold by all druggists. Send to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free book "Building Up the Blood."

WANT U. S. REGULATION.

Gopher Grocers See Benefits in Government Weights and Measures.

St. Paul, Minn., March 11.—Weights and measures aroused interest among the grocers gathered for the eighteenth annual convention of the Minnesota Retail Grocers and General Merchants' association here yesterday.

A Federal law regulating weights and measures, was advocated by C. C. Neale, superintendent of the state bureau as well as by several others.

"The only way you will get such a law, or what state laws you need, is to enter politics," said Mr. Neale. A previous speaker, D. M. Neill, president of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial clubs, had also advised the grocers to enter politics.

"The reasons the odious and antiquated fee system of operating our bureau still exists," said Mr. Neale, "is that when we tried to arouse interest in its abolishment at the last legislature, none of the representatives had heard a word about it from their constituents."

D. M. Neill decried a tendency toward too much state regulation.

AGED MAN TAKES LIFE.

Old and Partially Crippled North Dakotan Ends Earthly Troubles.

Manvel, N. D., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Anderson, aged 75, hanged himself from a tree on his son's farm near here late yesterday, the body being found by boys last night. Bereft of speech five years ago, enfeebled by age and partially demented, Anderson had been melancholy of late. He formerly lived in Southern Minnesota.

BY BRUCE.

ANY baseball manager making an error of judgment in these days of fierce competition is going to be held strictly accountable for it. There is the case of Connie Mack and Danny Murphy. Mack let Murphy go and now it is rumored that the former hard-hitting outfielder is going over to the Federals.

Baseball is a business proposition. That is not an original assertion in the least. Dollars and the little cents rule business and baseball is business.

But if the men engaged in baseball are in it purely for the money, the fact remains that the public is extremely sentimental regarding the national sport. Here is the one angle where sentiment has a lot of weight.

For instance, we heard the office boy declare yesterday that it was a rotten trick for Connie Mack to give Danny Murphy the go-by. There may be angles to the case that the office boy and the rest of us know nothing of—but the sentiment of the fans is something all of the leagues in all parts of the country are striving for, and when a man like the veteran Murphy goes to the Federal league there is apt to be a shifting of some sentiment at least.

That's one of the reasons why the manager of today must be careful. Dollars and cents rule the game, it is very true; but the people make the game possible, and sentiment is the ruling power with the fans. Mr. Manager, beware!

Tom Scanlon Speaks.

FROM Salt Lake City comes the statement in the form of a letter from Tom Scanlon, offering to let Chris Jordon wrestle Waino Ketonen on the basis of winner take all. The manager of the Greek is getting very chesty. For some time Scanlon has been on the trail of Yokel, but Mike, having defeated the Greek once, can't see the idea of wrestling another match. Maybe Ketonen can't either.

Be that as it may, the fact remains that Jordon is one of the toughest men in the world and will give any of the middleweights the go of their young lives.

The Jordon defi may be taken up.

Chance Is Satisfied.

HOUSTON, Texas, emits a shout of joy from Frank Chance. The leader of the Yankees declares he is satisfied with the early season prospects. As the opening of the season is some weeks away even the most enthusiastic followers of the Peerless Leader can not find much to rave over in the few opening remarks of the warm and ardent admirer of Charles W. Murphy.

Garry and others are betting that the Yankees will not finish in the first division. Garry had better be careful.

When Bat Was Hooked.

AD WOLGAST finds time during these strenuous days of preparation for the go with Willie Ritchie to tell of some of his wise and knowing things he pulled in the days of ring obscurity.

"I pulled in my fight with Nelson, the first one," said Wolgast, "for the simple reason that I knew Bat would never give me a fight over the longer route if he discovered how good I was. Along about the seventh round I began to appear weak. By the ninth round I was weaker and about all I did in the final round was to hang on.

"Nelson told his friends that I was an eight-round fighter. He was tickled to death to sign articles for a 45-round fight. So was I. After the fight had progressed some distance the Battler discovered his mistake."

Kid McCoy played a clever trick on Tommy Ryan by writing the Tonsilitis one a letter asking him to make the loser's end larger and to permit him to make a decent showing. Ryan refused to train seriously after getting the letter.

Don't Forget It.

LEST you forget we again call your attention to the fact that there will be an athletic show at the Lyceum theater on the evening of March 10. It ought to be good. Johnny Tillman will give an exhibition of sparring and Joe Carr will wrestle some opponent. It has been stated that Joe claims the middleweight title. There will be several others on the bill.

Some Fight Card.

CURLEY ULRICH is going to give the fans down in the central portion of the state a run for their money in the opening show of his new Hudson arena.

Both of the Gibbons boys will be on the card. Mike is to tackle Gus Christie, one of the best of the middleweights—or, rather, one of the toughest of the middleweights, and Tommy Gibbons will go against Miske.

The idea of giving the fans two high class bouts on the same evening will undoubtedly appeal to the fans of the Twin Cities. The Gibbons boys are strong with the fight goers, anyway, and stand chiefly responsible for the large houses that have witnessed the two shows that have been staged at Hudson.

Heard From Michael.

MIKE McNULTY wrote us a brand new letter on his brand new stationery. Most of the letter has to do with the fibrous toughness of Johnny Salvatore. John is German and doesn't seem to mind punishment in the least. Mike is his manager, and being Irish likes to see Johnny fight best.

Johnny will tango with Joe Brown on March 16. Joe is said to be tough. All right. So was Gyp the Blood. Yes and look what he did!

NAUGHTON, DEAN OF WRITERS, DEAD

Great Sporting Authority Succumbs to Indigestion Stroke of Fortnight Ago---New Zealander By Birth.

San Francisco, Cal., March 11.—W. W. Naughton, president of the San Francisco Press club, dean of Pacific coast sporting writers, and known the breadth of the country, died today at his home from heart disease, after an illness of a fortnight.

He was seized with acute indigestion, attended by pressure of gas on the heart after a late supper, and his condition was recognized immediately to be critical, but the following day he rallied and when his physicians permitted him to be returned from St. Mary's hospital to his home it was believed he would recover.

Naughton was born in Auckland, New Zealand, July 31, 1854, and began his career as an American newspaper writer in 1886 in San Francisco. He learned the newspaper business from the printer's case up, beginning on the New Zealand Herald in 1870. In his youth he was notable as a boxer, oarsman, runner, swimmer and marksman, and it was not uncommon for him to win an athletic or shooting match in the morning, write it up at noon and put his own story into type during the afternoon.

For many years Naughton specialized on boxing and he was at the ringside at all notable contests.

WAR FROM NOW ON BY FEDERALS

Treasurer of Pittsburg Club Declares Piracy Is Fixed Policy.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 11.—Edward W. Gwynner, a local capitalist, was formally elected president of the Pittsburg Federal league team. Other officers are Robert J. Kerr, vice president; secretary, James B. Clark; treasurer, William A. Kerr. These, with John A. Beck, C. T. Trimble, James M. Dungan, all of Pittsburg, and C. B. Comstock, an architect of New York, were elected directors. William McCullough, former secretary, was made business manager.

"From now on we are going after every ball player that we can land. We are not going to stop at contracts or anything else. We have plenty of money and from now on it is going to be war," said Treasurer Kerr.

After the meeting yesterday it was decided to improve Exposition park, the Federal league ball park, at a cost of $25,000. The Pittsburg team will leave for Lynchburgh, Va., the training camp, Thursday night. A complete roster of the local club will be announced today and Manager Stalls has the contracts of two players in the National league last year, whose names have not appeared up to this time.

New York, March 11.—Formal announcement of the appointment of William ("Bill") Bradley as manager of the Brooklyn Federal League club, is made here by officials of the club. Bradley played third base for the Toronto club of the International league last season.

The signing of Daniel Murphy, former field captain of the Philadelphia American League club, was also confirmed.

Topeka, Kas., March 11.—Art Griggs, first baseman last year, of the Montreal club in the International league, has announced that he has signed with the Brooklyn Federal league team. Griggs formerly played on the St. Louis American league team and has played in Toledo and Cleveland. His home is in Topeka.

New York, March 11.—Preliminary operations for the equipment of Brooklyn's Federal league baseball park was halted late yesterday when a 50-foot wooden tower collapsed killing one man and seriously injuring three others.

TENNIS AT PINEHURST.

Spring Tournament Begins at North Carolina Winter Resort.

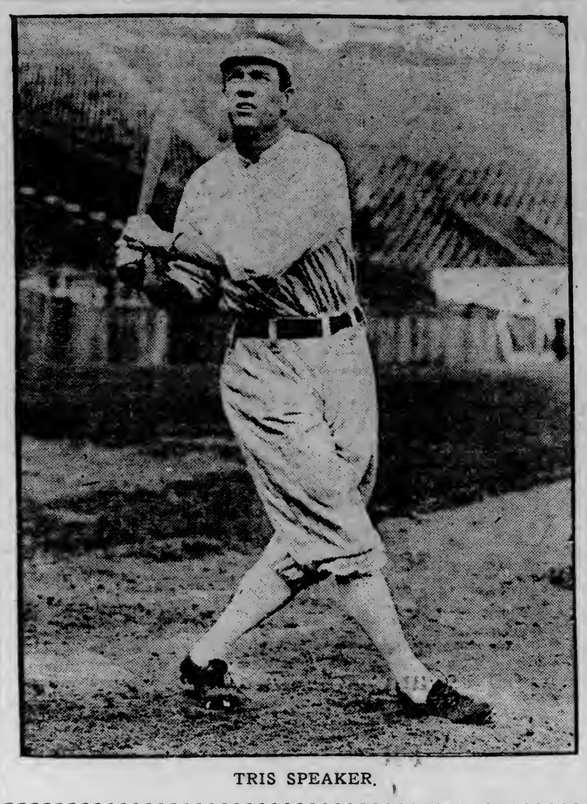

Pinehurst, N. C., March 11.—R. A. Balfe, Brooklyn, and Lawrence Cowing, Cincinnati, yesterday won the men's doubles event in the annual spring lawn tennis tournament here from F. H. Stevens, New York, and C. F. Hoag, Philadelphia, in straight sets. Their score was 8-6, 7-5 and 6-1.

In the men's singles those advancing to the semi-finals were: A. H. Chapin, Springfield; Lawrence Cowing, Cincinnati; R. E. Burns, Toronto, and R. H. Fortune, St. Catherine's, Canada.

Provide Against Waste.

Bristol, R. I., March 11.—A new departure in the construction of cup defenders is being made in the flag officers' boat under construction here. The boat will be pierced in two places for a mainmast, so that if she fails to qualify for the race with the Lipton yacht, her rig can be changed to that of a cruiser. This will lessen the probability of the boat being consigned to the junk pile, like many of her predecessors.

THE HIGHEST PRICED PLAYER IN THE WORLD

TRIS SPEAKER.

TEN EYCK SAYS LARGE MEN ARE NEEDED IN SQUAD

Coach Ten Eyck declared today that there was still need for plenty of men in the rowing squad—that the men dropped were candidates who were either too young or too light for use this season.

"We have need for some large men on the squad," declared Jim. "There are a lot of light men in the squad and we are in need of some big fellows. There are not a great many seniors out at the present time and the ones that have reported to date are not very heavy. Don't let anyone gather the idea that there is not room for the larger and stronger men on the squad, for such is not the case. Any man who shows the goods can make the crew and that holds good even if we have the biggest squad in the history of the club."

Large Men Wanted.

The crying need just now is for large men. There is plenty of the lighter material on hand, but the hantam crew will require only four men and the junior and senior boats can't be made up of little fellows.

All of the old men have not come out as yet, but there is the promise that the majority of the men who made Duluth's crews the most famous in the land, will be on hand.

Following is a complete list of the candidates out:

Coxswains—George McKenzie, L. Brown, F. Alme, V. Cayo, J. Comstock, H. Haakons, H. Mekeen, L. Moore, S. Lamb, E. Emerson, L. Hanson, H. L. Caulkins.

Seniors—C. Beschenbossel, W. Hoover, D. S. Horak, A. R. Kent, E. Morrison, D. Moore, P. R. Moore, W. L. Quimby, M. Rhineberger.

TITLE GAME SCHEDULED

Lakers and Northerns Will Meet for League Pennant.

This evening the Lake Hardware hockey team, which has won nine straight games in the Duluth Amateur league during the present season, will met the crack Northern Hardware team for the game that will decide the winner of the pennant race.

In the event of the Lakes winning the game the pennant will go to them, and in the event of the Northerns coming through with a win the teams will be tied for the flag and an extra contest will be necessary.

During all of the season the Northerns have met with but one defeat. This was sustained at the hands and the feet of the crack Lakes. Therefore the followers of the league are awaiting with considerable interest the playing of the large game of this evening.

Followers of the Lakes are confident that the team will come through and win; and on the other hand the Northern backers believe that their team is going to make a tie of the race.

In the event of the Lakes proving the winners there will be a post season game scheduled with the Duluth Curling club team, and this contest may be played at the club on Saturday evening.

WINS MATCH THAT IS NERVE-RACKING

New York, March 11.—J. Ferdinand Poggenburg of the Liederkranz society of this city, holder of the international amateur billiard championship title, won the second game of the annual amateur national 18.2 balk line tournament here yesterday. His opponent, Eugene L. Milburn of Memphis, Tenn., made his first appearance in the Class A ranks for national honors, and from the twelfth inning until near the end of the game, held a commanding lead of over 100 points, which he obtained largely through a fine run of 56, the best of the tournament so far. Milburn's play was mostly of the open order, and his weakest attempts were when he had to resort to long shots.

Poggenburg could not get the ivories under control during the first half of the game, reaching double figures in only three innings. The score stood 320 to 205 against him at the end of the thirty-fifth inning, but during the remainder of the contest he showed flashes of championship cue work, including runs of 46 and 37, which enabled him to win 400 to 360 in his forty-ninth inning. The score: Poggenburg, 400; average, 8 8-49; high runs, 46, 38, 37; Milburn, 360; average, 7 24-48; high runs, 56, 41, 28.

Bars Degree Holders.

Philadelphia, March 11.—Holders of degrees from other colleges or universities will be barred from athletic teams at the University of Pennsylvania in future competitions, according to a new regulation just adopted by the faculty athletic committee. The new rule will not be enforced against men who are now matriculated at Pennsylvania and are otherwise eligible.

BIG DOINGS AT THE CLUB

Curlers Will Have Feed and Some Important Games.

There will be a large time at the curling club this evening. Supper will be served at 6:30 and that should prove welcome news to some of the curlers. In addition to the supper, which will be served by the women of the First Baptist church, the Third Regiment band will disperse gentle strains of music and assist to make everything lovely.

The final game in the Bagley event will be played off between Doc Catterson and Elmer Whyte, and there will be a contest between three of the best rinks from Superior and three from our glorious club, and then there will be a contest between the veterans of the fireside and some of the youngsters of the club. Large doings!

This general get-together mass meeting of curlers will be the best of the season. There will be curling, eating, talking and other details. As the curling season is nearing the end it is all the more important that every curler of the club should be on hand.

Following is the result of the draw of last evening and tonight's draw:

TONIGHT'S DRAW.

Bagley (Final).

Catterson (A) vs. Whyte (A).

Superior vs. Duluth.

A. K. Smith vs. C. West.
H. Somerville vs. S. H. Jones.
Clough Gates vs. Alex Macrae.

Oldtimers vs. Kids.

Hurdon vs. Foster.
Heimick vs. Naughton.
Graham vs. Reichert.
McLeod vs. Dunlap.
Jacobi vs. MacGilvray.
Richardson vs. Beerhalter.
G. Warren vs. Stillman.

LAST NIGHT'S SCORES.

Universal (Final).

Catterson (A), 16; Oldham (B), 5.

Bagley (Semi-Final).

Whyte (A), 13; Dectz, 5.

Gruesen.

Hurdon, 9; Bradley, 12.

HANDBALL GAMES FOR STATE TITLE MAY BE CANCELED.

Duluth handball players may not meet the St. Paul court stars for the state championship. It begins to look like a perfectly good case of chilled feet upon the part of the down-state players. Also it might be stated that one William Kay has given an exhibition of about as poor a case of sportsmanship as could be imagined.

The first date was called off. After negotiating for some time the second date was fixed for the coming Saturday. Then Kay writes that he is going to leave the city and the games will have to be postponed until he gets back.

No further explanations are given and no definite date is set for the future.

The members of the local handball committee are so disgusted that they are thinking seriously of calling off the proposed tournament.

In attempting to arrange the games the Duluth men have met all of the exactions of the St. Paul committee, have agreed to several contentions rather than cause any unpleasantness, and at the last moment find that the games have been unceremoniously called off because one player is going to be out of the city.

It does look as if St. Paul rather feared the issue.

ARDOUIN MAY ENTER LISTS

Duluth Boy Possible Entrant in National Wrestling Tournament.

Louis Ardouin, the crack local amateur heavyweight wrestler, who is also the holder of the heavyweight championship of the Los Angeles Athletic club, may represent the Greater Duluth Athletic club in the National Amateur Wrestling championships, which will be held at the Chicago Athletic association gymnasium on the evenings of April 2, 3 and 4.

As the Greater Duluth Athletic club is a bonafide member of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States and Ardouin is an athlete in good standing in the A. A. U., he is eligible to entry.

The championships will be wrestled under the supervision of Martin A. Delaney, director of the Chicago Athletic association. There will be contests in the following championship classes: Bantamweight, 108 pounds; featherweight, 115 pounds; special weight, 125 pounds; lightweight, 135 pounds; welterweight, 145 pounds; middleweight, 158 pounds; commission weight, 175 pounds, and heavyweight, over 175 pounds.

The crack Duluth amateur could compete in the commission weight class and it is believed that he would make a game and hard fight for honors in this division.

Waino Ketonen has been giving Louie the benefit of some of his vast store of mat knowledge and the big Duluth youngster has been showing a lot of improvement. While only a kid in years the former high school boy possesses the strength of an athlete of more mature years.

FARGO CHAMPIONS OFF FOR CHICAGO

North Dakota City's Quint Is Going After Higher Honors.

Fargo, N. D., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local high school basketball team, winners of the state championship, will leave this afternoon for Chicago to participate in the Mid-West Interscholastic basketball championship games in which only undefeated state teams can enter. The Fargo team was declared the state winner here.

Four Districts Complete.

Because of the squabbles in the past, the state was divided into four districts for the purpose of determining the championship, with the Northeastern district at Grand Forks, Northwestern at Minot, Southwestern at Dickinson and Southeastern at Valley City. The district winners were Dickinson, Minot, Grand Forks and Fargo.

The teams met in Fargo to play for the state championship under the auspices of the agricultural college. In the draw for pairs, Minot won from Dickinson and Fargo from Grand Forks, then Fargo defeated Minot.

The Fargo team is known as the Midgets because of the relatively small size of the players.

DULUTH SEEKING GAME WITH TITLE WINNER

Cleveland or Michigan Soo May Come Here for Series.

This Would Give Curling Club Team Chance at Championship.

Secretary John E. MacGregor of the Duluth Curling club is endeavoring to arrange a hockey game between the curling club seven and the winner of the Michigan Soo and Cleveland game.

The series between the Soo and Cleveland is for the hockey championship of the United States, according to the announcement of the officials of the two teams.

Cleveland is the winner of the title in the Eastern section of the American Hockey association and the American Soo team is the winner of the title in the Western section, therefore the games being played at the present time at the American Soo carry the hockey title to a large stretch of territory.

It has been the hope of Joe Linder to arrange a series of games with the winner of the Western title. It would please Joseph all the more to be able to meet the winner of the country-wide title—and this is just what the genial secretary of the curling club is endeavoring to bring about.

It Would Be Great.

In the event of Cleveland winning the series with the Michigan Soo a series of two games with the Duluth Curling club seven would attract a tremendous amount of interest. The fans here have awakened to the fact that Duluth has one of the greatest teams in the country. Some of the followers of the game are of the opinion that Duluth is able to defeat either the Cleveland or Soo seven.

Efforts are being made to have at least one more big game this season and the winner of the series being played at the present time at the Soo is the opponent the officials of the club would like to have.

Coddy Winters is naturally a great favorite here, and with a team that has made a wonderful record during the season, Cleveland would draw an immense crowd here in the event of winning the series.

While there is no use in the world of crying over spilled milk, even though it be pasteurized, there is sorrow and regret that the team did not reach to top form before the latter part of the season. Had Duluth played in the early games in the manner in which it performed in the later contests, there is not much doubt but that it would have won the pennant.

But, anyway, Linder and the members of the team and the officials of the club and the fans are pulling for a game with Cleveland—and here's hoping that it is scheduled.

SWEENEY MAKES GOOD BY DELAY OF SIGNING.

Chicago, March 11.—Catcher Ed Sweeney, who has been negotiating with the Federals here, signed a new contract with the New York American league team yesterday, it was announced at the office of Ban Johnson, president of the league. Johnson said Sweeney's contract called for the largest salary paid any catcher in organized baseball, but would not name the amount.

CENTRAL LOSES TO CATHEDRAL

Catholic Boys Win From Hillside Team By 48 to 8.

For the first time in the history of the Cathedral high school one of its athletic teams defeated a Central high team, when last evening the basket ball quint of the Cathedral school defeated the Central basket shooters by the count of 47 to 8.

In all departments of the game the Cathedral boys excelled. The winners led all the way through and simply smothered their opponents.

Graves and Monaghan were the stars on the winning team, Graves getting 12 baskets and Monaghan 7. Larson was the star for Central.

The second Central five defeated the Cathedral second team between halves by the score of 19 to 9.

The lineup:

Cathedrals—		—Centrals.
Graves	f	(Capt.) Larson
Monaghan	f	Forziach
Barrett (Capt)	c	Olson, Collatz
Cole	g	Stevens
Nicholson	g	Solheim, Scrivens

Field baskets—Graves, 12; Monaghan, 7; Barrett, 3; Nicholson, Larson. Foul baskets—Forziach, 5; Graves, Larson. Referee—Batchelor.

FLOUR MAKERS LOSE AT HOCKEY

At the Curling club rink last evening the Big Duluths won from the Universal hockey team by the score of 2 to 1. As the score indicates, the game was a corker and the winner was uncertain until the final bell.

Poissant made the only score of the first half, shooting a pretty net after eleven minutes of play. Alder made a goal on a long shot in the second half. Tingblad took the puck from behind the goal and made the only Universal score of the evening.

All the way through the game was a dandy and provided some of the best hockey that has been seen in any of the league games of the season.

The lineup:

Big Duluths—		—Universals.
Alder	c	Tingblad
Roswald	rw	Anderson
Blais	lw	Borgestrom
Chamberlain	r	Woods
Poissant	cp	Norman
Clark	p	Pearling
Oulette	g	Wink

That Stubborn Abscess

It is Healed Only by Getting the Blood in Action

Here are some very valuable facts for all who have any blood truble with external outbreaks.

Do not cover it so as to interfere with perspiration or the formation of protective scabs. Keep it clean and bandaged. If it is a stubborn case, flush your blood with S. S. S. This famous blood purifier works wonders. And you can easily give your blood a good, thorough cleansing by using S. S. S. There is no need for anyone to be despondent over the illness of blood impurities. No matter how badly they attack the system or how unsightly becomes the skin, just remember what a distinguished doctor said: There is one ingredient in S. S. S. that so stimulates the cellular tissues throughout the body that they select their own essential nutriment from the blood.

This means that all decay, all breaking down of the tissues, is checked and repair work begins. S. S. S. has such a specific influence on all local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and afford a proper relative assistance to each other. More attention is being given to scientific medicine than ever before, and S. S. S. is the highest achievement in this line.

Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day. If your abscess is of such a nature that you would like to consult a specialist, write to the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 311 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Beware of any attempt to sell you something else for the blood. Many people have been imposed upon by having some mineral mixture palmed off on them. Ask for S. S. S. and insist that S. S. S. is what you propose to get.

COMISKEY AND SOX ARE GIVEN BANQUET

Chicago, March 11.—Nearly 1,000 baseball enthusiasts attended the banquet given last night in honor of Charles A. Comiskey, president of the Chicago American league baseball team and the members of the White Sox who have just returned from their trip around the world with the New York Giants. Short speeches were made by Comiskey, Garry Herrman of Cincinnati, president of the National baseball commission, and the members of the White Sox, who made the world tour, but no references were made to the Federal league. Congratulatory telegrams were received and read from John McGraw, and other members of the New York Giants, who are on their way to their training camp.

The tourists entertained the banqueters with stories of their trip. Comiskey and Ban B. Johnson, president of the American league, will leave today for Mercer, Wis., for a few days' rest.

TO GET NEWS STRAIGHT.

New York Athletic Commission Makes Request of Sporting Editors.

New York, March 11.—The state athletic commission today issued a request to "all sporting editors to refuse to print any information regarding boxing exhibitions received over the telephone or by telegraph from anyone except their accredited representatives or correspondents."

The members explained that much incorrect sporting news would be kept out of the papers by adhering to this caution.

Two Bouts in West.

Denver, Colo., March 11.—Jack Dillon of Indianapolis, defeated Jack Lester of San Francisco in the tenth round of their fifteen-round bout here last night. Lester's seconds threw his towel in the ring at the close of the tenth. They are lightweights.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 11.—Babe Picato of Los Angeles was given the decision last night over Steve Ketchel of Chicago at the end of a twenty-round lightweight contest at Vernon arena.

Won't Abolish Racing.

Annapolis, Md., March 11.—By a vote of 16 to 10 the senate yesterday voted down a motion to abolish racing at Havre De Grace. There is a bill before the senate to abolish all racing in the state, and a day has been fixed for a public hearing on the subject.

FORGET NAMES, AND SO STAY IN CELLS

Five of Remaining Ten of 190 Arrested in Church Are in Fix.

New York, March 11.—All but 10 of the 190 cases growing out of the arrest of unemployed Industrial Workers of the World last week in St. Alphonsus church, had been disposed of when the chief magistrate's court closed last night. Five of the men still facing trial are out on bail, and another five are in the predicament of having forgotten the fictitious names they gave at the time of their arrest.

Isadore Trottman, said to have been one of the leaders of the "army" was sentenced to thirteen days in the workhouse. Samuel Rappaport was sentenced to three days, and Percy Marmer, a student in a school of journalism, was set free under suspended sentence after a plea had been made by his sister.

Miss Gussia Miller, a young woman who maintained that she had gone to the church to see that the unemployed were fed and housed, was severely reprimanded by Magistrate Campbell, but later released in custody of her counsel.

Fifteen of the sixty-three prisoners whose cases came up entered pleas of not guilty, and after trial were found guilty and set free under suspended sentences. Seven of the twelve convicted before were also given their liberty. Forty-four pleaded guilty and were released under suspended sentence.

INTERESTING PEOPLE WHO ARE DOING INTERESTING WORK HERE

No. 3.

(Note—This little daily news feature on interesting people and their work has no connection whatever with the "Boosters'" edition of The Herald which will be issued about May 1, containing the pictures of several hundred Duluthians).

LEO BERNHARDT,
The Man Who Guards Duluth's Meat Supply.

Leo Bernhardt's job is to see that you do not get meats, poultry or fish unfit for consumption.

Before entering the employ of the city as meat inspector he was a butcher and learned his trade thoroughly.

In the course of the year the inspector condemns many hundreds of pounds of meat products which might otherwise find their way to your kitchen through the medium of a not too scrupulous retailer. Day in and day out he visits the commission houses and wholesalers in the downtown section and meets all incoming trains. The latter is particularly important during the hot summer months, when the heaviest shipments of veal are received from the farmers near Duluth. When the inspection was first begun it was necessary to seize and condemn many carcasses of immature, diseased or tainted veal, but the educational campaign which has been conducted has done much to remove this necessity.

The meat inspector has supervision of the butcher shops. He inspects them regularly to see that they are sanitary; that the meats are properly handled; that the tools and equipment are clean, and that the food products are covered, especially during the fly season. The health department considers efficient meat inspection one of the essentials in the protection of public health.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

A FREE labor bureau, one of the first departures from the beaten path to be inaugurated by the new Socialist mayor, H. I. Larson of Crookston, Minn., has been decided upon at a recent Socialist conference. Mayor Larson has added the duties of this bureau to the police department, and Chief Aaron Eck will hereafter be the head of the labor bureau. All orders for help will be sent in to him, and any person out of work will be provided with jobs either in the city or at outside points.

This field is covered in Minnesota's three principal cities, Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis, by the state free employment bureaus. These have been quite successful. When the state bureau was established here the free employment bureau formerly maintained by the city was discontinued.

GOOD CALL FOR MONEY

Firmer Rates Predicted With Resumption of Spring Activities.

Duluth Came Through Financial Depression Better Than Other Cities.

Better call for money for employment in general commercial and industrial directions since the first of the month, is reported by Duluth bankers.

A firming up in money rates is predicted by financial men within the next few weeks with the increased demand for capital expected with the resumption of spring activities. That phase of the situation is said to be becoming more noticeable at Chicago, New York and other centers. Rates at New York are up slightly this week, and in the judgment of financiers, the period of abnormally cheap money is near its end.

The various business interests here are regarded by local financial men as being in exceptionally strong position, with no over-extension apparent in any quarter. It is said that the usual liquidation and readjustment of obligations that has been in evidence during the last two months, was productive of less business difficulties locally than in several years back and it is thought that the decks are now cleared for carrying along of various operations here upon a broader scale than usual throughout the year. Heads of the financial institutions aver, that while they are discouraging ventures of a speculative nature, they are ready to stand behind their patrons within reasonable limits in financing their ordinary business requirements.

Depression Not Felt.

"I feel satisfied that business in Duluth is showing greater strength and elasticity than in most cities in the country," said a bank official this morning. "The depression noticeable throughout the East last fall and early in the winter was not felt here to any extent. Duluth pulled through it all exceptionally well, and in fact, manufacturers and wholesalers were able to show substantial gains in their business turnovers. A bright feature is that it is actually assured that some further new industries that will entail the disbursement of considerable money in payrolls, are to be set in operation here shortly. These and other enterprises in sight, including the going into operation of the Minnesota Steel company's plant next year brings us so much nearer the time when there will be plenty of year-round employment for labor at this point."

Bankers expect that the breaking up of the lumber camps will lead to the paying out of a surprisingly large amount of money to woodsmen. It is said that on account of the uncertainty regarding employment early in the winter, woodsmen did not rove about as much as usual, so that consequently numbers of them will come out this spring with large pay checks.

It is thought to be assured that mining operations will be conducted on an extensive scale on all the ranges, both by the United States Steel corporation and the independent companies which have interests up this way.

The largest relative gains will, it is conceded, be made on the Cuyuna range as a result of several new properties entering the shipping list.

Rupture Cured At Home

Old Sea Captain Cured Himself by Simple Means Within Reach of All Sufferers.

His Remedy and Big Interesting Book Sent Free to All Sufferers.

If Captain Collings could cure himself of a double rupture that kept him bed-ridden for years, by a simple means of his own invention, why cannot you achieve the same blessed result by doing as he did? You can't be much, if any, worse off than this old seafarer was, for no truss could hold his rupture. Doctors told him he must be operated upon or die. Yet he cured himself absolutely and his big, free book tells how.

"Blast my toplights! I can dance the hornpipe as well as if I'd never been ruptured!"

Why should you continue to go through life with the awful handicap of a rupture? Why be annoyed and embarrassed by awkward, uncomfortable and ineffective trusses that are only makeshifts at the best? Why be denied so many of the pleasures and joys of life because the slightest violent exertion may cause the truss to slip and the rupture to displace?

Do not put up with these things. Get Captain Collings' absorbingly interesting book and his free remedy that is so generously offered to those who suffer as he did for so long. Costs you not a penny—places you under no obligation whatever. Just clip and mail the coupon below and receive book and remedy free of all charge and prepaid.

ECLIPSE OF THE MOON

Luna Will Enter Earth's Shadow at 9:41 o'Clock p. m., Eastern Time.

Washington, March 11.—There will be an eclipse of the moon, almost total, tonight, visible from all points in Western Europe, North and South America and Western Africa. It is pointed out that fainter stars than are normally observed for purposes of occultation observations are more easily seen during an eclipse, and that they are of importance in correcting the lunar tables. As yet, astronomers have found it impossible to compute from theory tables which agree exactly with the positions observed in the sky.

The shadow of the earth will not entirely cover the moon, but at the middle of the eclipse more than nine-tenths of the moon's diameter will be in the shadow.

The moon is due to enter the shadow, according to precise reckoning, at 9:41 8-10 o'clock tonight, eastern standard time; should reach the middle of the eclipse at 11:12 3-10 o'clock and leave the shadow at 12:44 a. m. Thursday.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLUB HOLDS MONTHLY DINNER

The Boys' department of the First Presbyterian Sunday school held its monthly dinner last evening. President Edward Conkey presided. After the dinner the following program was carried out:

Gilbert Hokenson responded to the toast, "Our President," Herbert Sabdsteadt, "Our Club," Frank Walsh, "The 1914 Summer Camp," Allan Hoyt, "The Sunday School Athletic League."

Five new members were then initiated into the club. The club now has an enrollment of thirty-two members, and each one last night was presented with the club pin made in the colors of the club, orange and black.

Gordon Clark stands highest in the number of points received, having a total of 134; B. Evans, second, with 132; Allan Hoyt, 128; Edward Conkey, 125; George Ross, 97. George Ross's team holds first place with 815 points, Hartwell Doughty's has 663, and Ted Newcomb's, 617.

TRAFFIC BEST IN NORTHWEST

Earnings of Western Roads Exceed Those of Eastern for January.

Railroads operating from Duluth and throughout the Northwest are making better relative showings in earnings than the Eastern systems.

In its statement for January, the Omaha showed a net revenue of $231,794 after allowances for taxes and other charges as compared with $133,498 last year. For the seven months its net earnings were $1,690,045 as compared with $1,658,651 a year ago.

The St. Paul road turned the corner in January after a long run of revenue decreases, its net for the month being reported at $1,882,303 as against $1,734,941 for the same period last year. For the seven months a falling off of $2,249,769 was shown. It is intimated that the management of the company proposes to market an issue of $20,000,000 bonds with the object of being in position to push through a number of improvements and extensions in its system.

The Soo lines' net earnings in January were $317,024 as against $482,319 last year, while for the seven months a decrease of $1,696,601 turned up. The road's Chicago division fell behind $19,000 in its net earnings in January and $282,599 in the seven months.

Referring to the situation, Edmund Pennington, president of the road, said recently in an interview: "Business is bettering. Spring activities will soon begin and I think the outlook is favorable for earnings."

The present is the lean period with the range railroads when the covering of proportionate monthly fixed charges from revenue is not expected. For January, the Duluth & Iron Range railroad showed a deficit in revenue over taxes of $71,690 against a deficit of $74,615 last year. For the seven months, the road's surplus earnings were reported at $2,294,198 as compared with $2,424,571 a year ago.

WILL AID UNIONS IN SMALL TOWNS

State Federation to Divide Whole State Into Districts.

William E. McEwen, editor of the Labor World, has just returned from the Twin Cities, where he attended the meeting of the building trades department of the Minnesota Federation of Labor meeting. Preliminary organization work was done, and committees appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws.

The committee consists of the following: E. G. Hall, Minneapolis; Axel Peterson, E. P. Lee and Frank Fisher, St. Paul; J. L. Turner, J. Mulholland and A. E. Bainbridge, Minneapolis, and H. R. Tinkhan, Duluth.

A. E. Bainbridge was chosen chairman of the temporary organization, and J. L. Turner secretary.

The purpose of the organization, said Mr. McEwen today, is to aid the labor unions in the small towns and make them an integral part of the state federation. Many cities and towns, he says, are too small to have successful organizations, and so the plan will be to divide the state into districts under the supervision of the state federation.

The organization will be perfected at a later date and take part in the state convention to be held here in July.

MAKES APPEAL FOR TOILERS

Ill Health and Immorality Often Due to Poor Conditions.

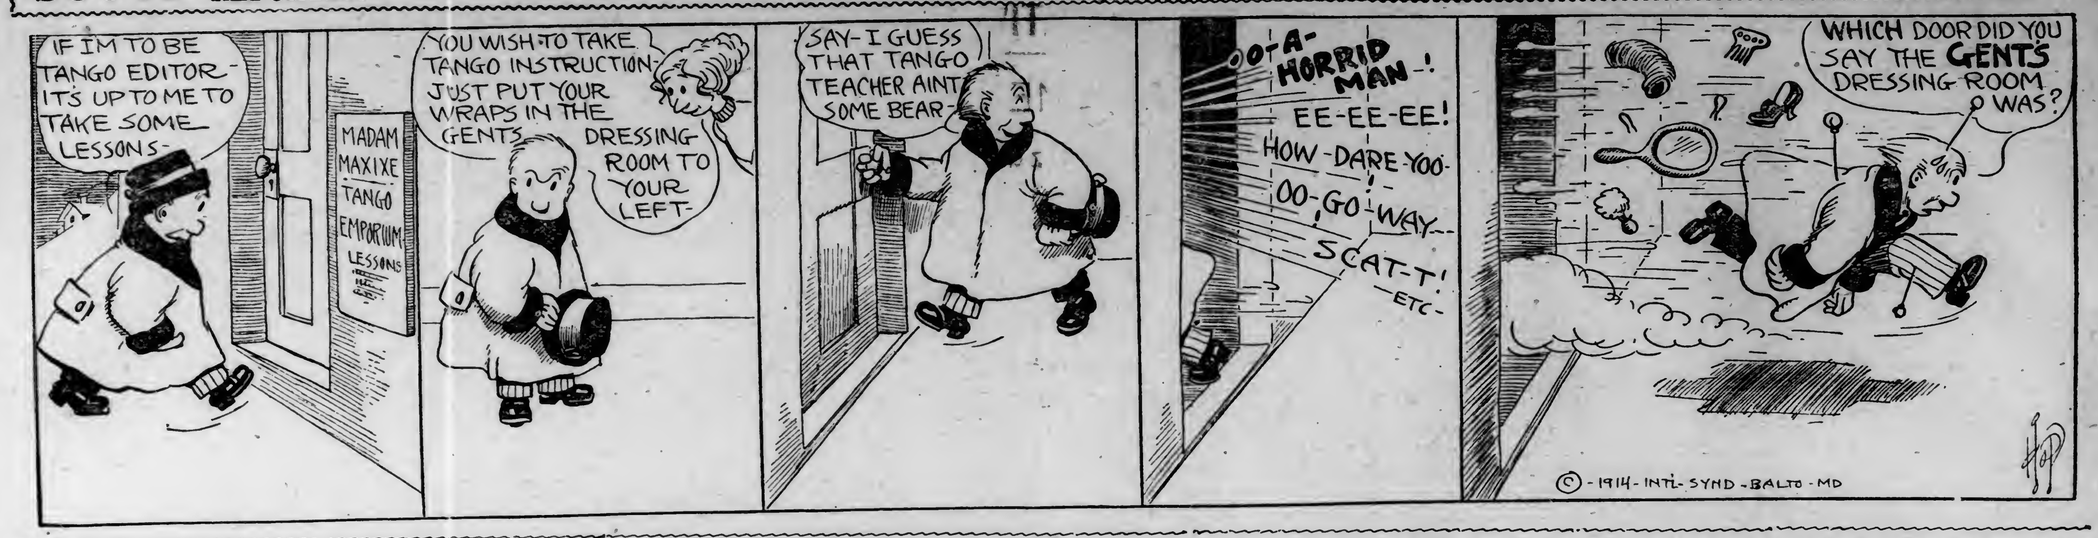

Dr. Raymond Phelan, university extension course lecturer, made an appeal for better conditions and facilities for men, women and children in stores and factories in his lecture last night on "The Unknown Cost." This address was one of the series in the course on "Labor and Life." Ill health, poverty, and immorality were given as a part of the unknown cost to workers where conditions were unfavorable.

Dr. Phelan spoke in part as follows: "'This will cost you $4,' says a merchant. Is $4 the total cost of the article handed to you? Many negative by-products may have been associated with its production and sale. The $3-a-week cash girl up there in her perch may represent some of this unknown cost. Much illness, weakness, unhappiness, and death may be recorded in the muscles or the joints of the merchant's $4 offering. As you pay $4, you may be an unconscious partner in the production of human tragedy resting on a foundation of bad living and working conditions.

"A pioneer study in occupational disease was written 250 years ago, yet today various industrial poisons, close confinement, monotonous high speed, constrained positions, prolonged standing, heat, noise, injurious light, and other factors ring for uncounted numbers a knell of disease and death. To reduce this injustice, workers should be carefully selected, hours and periods of work should be scientifically determined, the best ventilation should be provided, the least dangerous processes should be selected, good habits should be developed in workers, sanitary homes and communities should be made general, and occupational disability of every kind should be compensated for."

Mr. Phelan discussed also the strain of industry on women as compared with men, and spoke in detail of the cotton industry, which in this country employs 189,000 men, 144,000 women, and 3,800 children. Excessive moisture, dust, lint, and the absence in many mills of ample working facilities rather freely produce catarrh, bronchitis, pneumonia, and tuberculosis. Some cotton mills prevent excessive moisture, lint and dust, but American cotton is produced in both field and mill at too high a cost in human health and well-being, he said.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

LICENSE IS CHIEF ISSUE

Many Towns in Northern Minnesota Go on Record on Question.

Hallock, Aitkin and McIntosh Dry—Carlton Continues Wet.

Crookston, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—There were but few changes recorded in village elections in this section of Northern Minnesota yesterday as regards the liquor question. Fisher, which was dry, went wet, while Karlstad continued dry. Wet towns are Blackduck, Warroad, Bronson, Wilton, Frazee, Middle River, New York Mills, Motley, Sebeka and Park Rapids. The dry towns are Argyle, Badger, Bagley, Fisher, Fosston, Gary, Greenbush, Hallock, Kennedy, Lancaster, La Porte, McIntosh, Nelson, Nevis, Roseau, Stephen, Twin Valley, Waubon, Williams and Ada.

Warren, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The liquor license question was the most prominent issue at the village elections held in this vicinity yesterday. The dry forces appear to have gained in strength.

Stephen voted dry, 44 to 77.

The Hallock fight was close and bitterly fought. The result, 86 to 99, in favor of no license.

Lancaster, Kennedy and Donaldson went dry by large majorities.

Argyle, dry by a vote of 54 to 103.

Middle River, Bronson and Oslo are wet.

Warren does not vote on the question until March 17, but it is predicted by many that the city will go dry.

McIntosh Goes Dry.

McIntosh, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was considerable excitement here over the election, the license question being at issue. There were 124 votes cast, 103 against license and 21 in favor of license. Anton Jensen was re-elected mayor for the ensuing year. Charles L. Conger was elected treasurer and George Beito recorder.

At Fosston the license question was an issue, resulting 61 for and 113 against.

Steffers Spooner President.

FINED FOR CONTEMPT.

Judge Nye Punishes Barnesville Potato Warehouse Men.

Moorhead, Minn., March 11.—In district court, F. C. Carey and C. W. Bernhardy, formerly of the Red River Potato Growers' association of Barnesville, were declared guilty of contempt of court by Judge Nye after a trial of several days. There were two charges against each defendant, first, failure to turn over the books and papers of the association to Receiver Arnesgard of Barnesville, appointed by Judge Nye on the application of the stockholders, and the second of violating the orders of the court that certain potatoes were not to be disturbed or shipped away.

Judge Nye sentenced each to pay a fine of $50 and $75 additional costs and attorney's fees, or to be imprisoned for ninety days. For the second offense each defendant was fined $75 and $75 costs and attorney's fees or sixty days in jail. Judge Nye granted a stay of execution for ten days.

AGED MAN CALLED.

Father of Mrs. Edward Nelson of Duluth Dies in Brainerd.

Brainerd, Minn., March 11:—Until absent relatives' wishes are learned, final plans for the funeral of Olson O. Groven, aged 86, father of Mrs. George R. West, who died Monday cannot be perfected, but it is expected burial will be here. A native of Norway, Mr. Groven came to this country when a young man and lived many years in Mille Lacs county at Milaca, where he owned much land, coming here five years ago to live with his daughter.

His wife died at Milaca. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. West of Brainerd, and Mrs. Edward Nelson of Duluth. Mr. Groven was well known to many Brainerd people. He attended regularly the Norwegian Lutheran church.

Mr. West is at present at Hot Springs, Arkansas, and no date for the funeral can be determined until he can be communicated with.

ATTEMPTS LIFE AFTER ROW WITH SPOUSE.

Red Wing, Minn., March 11.—Nick Hie, a resident of Plum City, attempted to take his life, following a quarrel alleged to have taken place with his wife. Physicians say he cannot live. It is said the wife wanted the husband to take up his residence at Stockholm which the husband refused to do. It is alleged that Mrs. Hie left Plum City taking the children with her to Stockholm. He has a sister living in Lake City.

WOMEN TERRORIZED BY THUG'S ACTION.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four women have been attacked by a thug here within the last four days, and the repetition of outrages against women, which stirred Grand Forks several months ago, has not resulted in arrests. The women were attacked in different sections of the city. The screams of the victims brought help and put the thug to flight in each instance.

Gasoline Flatiron Explodes.

Ray, N. D., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The explosion of a gasoline flatiron caused serious injury to Alex Carlson, a farmer residing near here. The oil container had been leaking when Carlson struck a match, and there was an instant explosion that threw the burning fluid over him.

Aberdeen, S. D.—Peter Le Grand, an Indian at the Standing Rock reservation at Wakpala, underwent an operation here. Mr. Le Grand was one of Gen. Sully's scouts during the memorable campaign of 1864 through Dakota territory, Montana and Wyoming, and the old man never tires of telling—through an interpreter—of the early days and of his prowess and that of his general in battle. Le Grand will survive.

Northville, S. D.—A. C. Filgner and Z. P. Mustar of Cogswell, N. D., have purchased an interest in the Northville State bank here and have already taken possession. Mr. Filgner has been elected cashier of the bank and Mr. Mustar has been chosen assistant cashier.

Ruso, N. D.—Fire starting in the Atlantic Elevator here destroyed the elevator, flour house and coal shed adjoining. There were 8,000 bushels of grain in the elevator and two carloads of coal and a car of flour, entailing a loss of $15,000.

Mobridge, S. D.—Harry Hill, a Milwaukee conductor who was run over by his engine at McIntosh several days ago, will lose both his right arm and his right leg as the result of his accident.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—Reports are in circulation here that public announcement of the candidacy of Charles H. Weisse for the Democratic nomination of United States senator may be expected within ten days.

Madison—Howard M. Jones, 13, of La Crosse, won the tryout for the Northern oratorical contest, which is to take place on May 1. His subject was "The Tired Business Man." A. P. Haake was awarded second place in the tryout.

Racine—David S. Rose, former mayor of Milwaukee, delivered the address at the memorial service of the Racine aerie of Eagles Sunday afternoon, speaking to nearly 1,000 people.

Neenah—It is expected that C. B. Clark, present incumbent, and William Arnemann, chairman of the Winnebago county board, will be candidates in the mayoralty contest here this spring. Formal announcement has not been made by either of them. Mayor Clark is serving his first term.

Hudson—The United States treasury department has approved the application for a charter under the national banking laws made by the Bank of Hudson. It has a capital stock of $25,000 and $25,000 surplus. It will increase its capital stock to $50,000 and nationalize.

Madison—Commissioner of Insurance Ekern left Monday morning for New York to participate in hearings before a special committee of the insurance commissioners to formulate a new standard fire policy.

Rice Lake—The Tourist hotel of this city has been traded by its proprietor, Col. John Walsh, to L. M. Engesether of Cumberland. The consideration was 515 acres of land valued at $31,000, eighty acres being within the city limits of Cumberland. The deal goes into effect on April 1.

Beloit—Parents of Robert Becker, this city, fear for his safety. Mr. Becker is on a tour of scientific research in Brazil, which is now in the throes of a revolution on the part of the black population.

Madison—The pure seed train, under the joint auspices of the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce, the Wisconsin Bankers' association and the agricultural college, Madison, left the Chicago & North-Western depot Tuesday morning on a two weeks' tour of the eastern portion of Wisconsin. Free exhibits of grains best adapted to Wisconsin will be displayed and lectures given to the farmers.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Laurium—Included among Michigan postoffice nominations sent to the senate by President Wilson was that of Christopher Lowney, to be postmaster in Laurium, succeeding Vincent Vairo, Republican appointee, whose commission expires April 20.

Moorhead—With the election of officers the annual convention of the students' union of the Norwegian Lutheran church came to a close Monday. Conrad Englestad of St. Paul was elected president of the union. The final session was marked by stirring addresses on home mission topics.

White Earth—Pomson J. Powell of Minneapolis and Gordon Cain of Washington, D. C., comprising the personnel of the enrollment commission created by congress for the purpose of compiling a corrected list of the mixed and full blood members of the Minnesota Chippewa Indian tribe, arrived here March 9. The commission will probably remain here for some time.

St. Paul—Mrs. Jane Carver, 81 years old, a pioneer of Minnesota and a resident of Ramsey county for 63 years, died Monday at the residence of her granddaughter, Mrs. J. H. Stratton, here. Carver's lake and Carver county are named after her husband, Thomas Carver, who died thirty-one years ago. Mrs. Carver was born in 1833 in County Armagah, Ireland. She came to America in 1848 and with her husband moved to Minnesota, locating at Highwood, in Ramsey county.

There are fifty-one surviving relatives; all living in Ramsey county.

Minneapolis—George D. Taylor, veteran employe of the Soo road and a

"Yes, daughter, that's FINE for SPRAINS

You've only put it on twice, and the pain's all gone, and my arm's 'bout as well as ever. I sure never saw anything so quick as Sloan's."

So say thousands of others who have used Sloan's Liniment for many years for burns, scalds, cuts and sprains.

Helped Her Knee

Mrs. T. E. Williams, of Chicago, Ill., writes: "This winter I sprained my knee, and a friend recommended Sloan's Liniment. I used it and it did me lots of good."

A Quick Improvement

Mr. L. Roland Bishop, of Scranton, Pa., writes: "As I was leaving my office for lunch, I slipped and fell, spraining my wrist, and at four o'clock could not hold a pencil in my hand. At five o'clock I purchased a bottle of your Liniment, used it five or six times before I went to bed, and the next day I was able to use my hand as usual."

Best for Sprained Wrist

Miss H. S. Spokesfield, of Linwood, Mass., writes: "The other day I called on my neighbor, a beautiful old lady 73 years old, who had fallen upstairs and sprained her wrist. I asked her what she was doing for it, and she said she was using Sloan's—the best liniment there is."

Manly Strength

TO MY READER:

Whether or not you lack an abundant vigor, here is a free offer which will surely interest you, and through which you may easily profit from now on to the end of a ripe, healthy, advanced age. I have compiled a little treatise for self help (book form) which I am pleased to send absolutely free by mail in a perfectly plain, sealed envelope to any man anywhere who writes for it. Over a million copies have already been thus distributed to those who wrote for them from all over the world. There is no obligation whatsoever involved in this offer, nothing which you are required to buy nothing which you are required to pay for in any way, either now or in the future. It is just simply an out-and-out free proposal. In this little book of 72 pages, 8,000 words and 30 half-tone photo reproductions, I have endeavored to give a stright-forward talk to men, young and elderly, single and married, a concise compendium for self-reference, a perfectly plain discourse upon those important, personal matters relating to vital strength of men, the preservation of virility, its possible self restoration, its legitimate uses and its wanton abuses. Every man should be in possession of this book. One part describes a little drugless mechanical vitalizer which I make and distribute, but whether or not you wish to use one of these vitalizers is for you yourself to determine.

IT'S THE MAN, NOT THE CLOTHES THAT COUNTS.

However, aside from anything it contains in reference to my vitalizer, the book should be read by all for its own real worth. Therefore, please use free coupon below.

SANDEN, Author.

Reader, the whole world is today alive to the importance of a better general understanding of sex hygiene. The much discussed science of eugenics is teaching the great mass of people that strong, healthy, rugged parents beget equally sturdy children.

Manhood, no matter where or in what condition of life we find it, is the single power that most fascinates both men and women. The one who radiates this manly influence, this result of a vigorous, sturdy nerve force, is the one who forges to the front, while weaker people stand aside.

It is my opinion that any man may hope for a complete restoration of his manhood and vigor if he but make up his mind that he WILL conquer himself. Of course I do not include the man of extreme old age or the one who is incurably diseased. Lost vitality is not, according to my theory, an organic disease. It is more a sick condition of the mind and the nerves and a lowered state of the whole body, all combined. My free book tells you just what you may do.

The vitalizer referred to above, which I make and distribute, is a little appliance that men who desire to restore lost vitality are using everywhere today. The book in one part fully describes it. You wear this vitalizer comfortably upon your body all night. It weighs but a few ounces, and pours a great, gentle stream of FORCE or VITALITY into your blood, your nerves, your muscles and organs while you sleep. Men say it drives away the nervous weakness or pain in small of back often by one application; that vigor is restored in 60 to 90 days. With special attachments my vitalizer is also used for rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, etc. It is a wonderful little appliance and generates and sends out a marvelous force. Possibly you might want to use one of these vitalizers in your own case. If so, you can, after reading the free book, let me know and I will make a special proposition whereby you may have one. If you live in or near this city I should be most pleased to have you call and get a free demonstration of the vitalizer, otherwise write. Hours 9 to 6; Sundays, 10 to 1.

LET ME SEND YOU THIS BOOK FREE.

If you live too far to call, or if you cannot call, please fill in the coupon below and send it to me. You will receive free, sealed, by return mail, my 72-page illustrated book, contaning 8,000 words, a complete compendium of useful information for men, young or elderly, single or married, who want the truth about the subject of vital strength, its preservation, its possible self-restoration and its legitimate uses and wanton abuses. You get it all, free.

ADDRESS .....

EFFICIENCY COMMISSION'S WORK, SPEAKERS' THEME

Members of New State Board Outline Their Aims.

Craig, Hudson, Durand and Pardee Speak at Commercial Club.

Members of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, who attended the regular monthly meeting of the committee last evening, listened to a most interesting discussion of the work and plans of the efficiency commission which is just now working on a revision of the system of state government. The speakers who discussed the matter were: C. P. Craig of Duluth, chairman of the commission; Prof. E. Dana Durand, head of the department of statistical research of the state university and statistician for the efficiency commission; T. T. Hudson of Duluth, a member of the commission, and John Stone Pardee of Duluth, secretary of the commission. The addresses of the first two mentioned were very illuminating and together with a chart which was furnished those present, showing the changes proposed in the various departments of state government, served to give the auditors their first real understanding of the magnitude of the changes which will likely be presented to the next legislature for adoption.

Chairman Julius H. Barnes of the public affairs committee, introduced Mr. Craig first and said that it is the general understanding that Mr. Craig is the man who suggested the appointment of the commission to Governor Eberhart.

Invite Criticism.

In beginning his address, Mr. Craig told his auditors that he believes that every good citizen should keep posted on the work the commission is doing, back the members up during the time the work is being done and at the end stand for what has been accomplished. He invited all of the constructive criticism the citizens of the state care to give. He also announced that at a meeting of the board of governors of the State Bar association, an invitation to appoint a committee to aid the efficiency commission from the viewpoint of legal advice and the final drawing up of a bill, embodying the suggestions of the commission for presentation to the legislature, was acted upon and accepted, a committee of three being appointed with John G. Williams of Duluth, president of the state bar, named as chairman.

Mr. Craig said that the question has arisen: What legislature will enact the suggestions into law? That, he said, is not the affair of the commission, but up to the citizens of the state; but he expressed confidence that the state would demand an improved system.

"It is our duty," said he, "merely to inquire into the administration of the laws, and to help the state apply business methods."

Continuing he said:

"Twenty millions of dollars. The volume of transactions through our state treasury annually; $6,000,000 direct appropriations from the treasury three years ago grow to $8,000,000 last year, and $10,000,000 in place of $8,000,000 is the estimate for the ensuing year; certainly a very interesting progression in figures.

"For thirty years successive legislatures have been creating departments, boards, bureaus, and commissions, starting them off on their jobs without any definite way of our knowing, or of the legislators knowing, what they are doing, or how they are doing it. Some reporting to the governor, others to the legislature, some to the auditor, some to the treasurer, one to the attorney general, a few to the secretary of state, and a very startlingly long list not reporting at all.

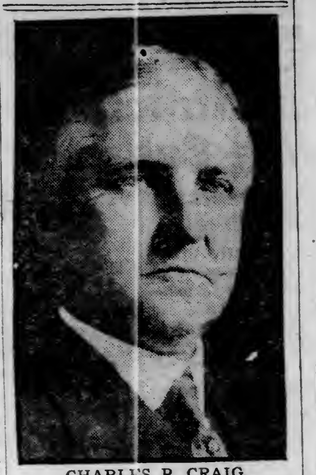

Where Blame Belongs.

"Do not place all of the blame upon the legislature because each one of these new creations has been in response to a definite demand for some new function to be undertaken. There is, however, a certain amount of definite blame to be attached to legislators in the past in that when a new function arose to be undertaken it seems never to have occurred to any one of them to consider whether or not it might not be performed by some executive machinery already in existence by the addition of an adding machine, a stenographer or a moderate priced clerk, but they start out each new function with a brand new piece of machinery and office equipment with all of the expense necessarily attendant thereto. The only excuse, as seems to me, for this manifest neglect lies in the total absence in our state of four fundamental essentials of successful business organization: A proper plan, a proper accounting, a proper audit, and a proper budgetary.

"If there were a definite clean cut plan for our administrative government the propriety would at once suggest itself to our legislators of placing any new undertaking in the position in that plan under which it naturally and logically functioned.

"If we had a proper accountancy, an intelligible and easily understandable presentation could be made to the legislature of why appropriations for any given account should be made, because the cost would be made out in detail, and so distributed that a layman could judge in a general way as to whether it was proper expenditure or not.

"If a proper audit were in force each successive legislature could see at a glance just what was done with the money appropriated for the same purpose by its predecessor and could judge very accurately as to whether the money was being properly used or not. No plan of audit has yet been attempted that can be used as the basis of future estimates so that ill advised expenditures of one session will not be repeated in succeeding periods.

CHARLES P. CRAIG,
Chairman of the Commission.

PROF. E. DANA DURAND,
Of State University.

Budget System.

"And finally if an effective budget system of appropriations were adopted then we would have presented to the legislature on the first day of the session, instead of the last hour of the last day, one complete report in detail of all of the money needed to run the government of the state for the ensuing bi-ennium and this demand would be made up by five or six responsible heads of the government, carefully worked out, each one recognizing that only a certain amount of money could be appropriated and each one paring down his costs here and there wherever it could be done with least injury to the efficient administration of his department. This report will show among other things (based on the audit above referred to) a history of the past appropriation, information as to what the appropriation was; the actual cost of each department for the one complete year for each of the several services performed by the department, etc., and the legislature instead of having as at the last session to act on over 500 requests for money from as many different sources would have one request which had been carefully thought out, carefully revised and intelligently prepared.

> "Think of what this would be as compared with the present ninety-nine departments of government all calling separately for appropriations limiting their demands only by what they hope to get and knowing that the amount they will get respectively bears very little relation to the value of the services they perform, or the relative importance of the purpose for which the appropriation is sought, but that the amounts do bear a very direct relation to the political power of the parties seeking them; in other words the strength of the lobby is the measure of the amount of the appropriation rather than the importance of the service to be performed.

"The present plan is 'pork barrel' pure and simple; the other is an effective budget which is the only scientific way of arriving at equitable, wise and conservative expenditure of public money for governmental purposes.

"Fifteen million dollars is our revenue from coercive taxation for 1914 administered by ninety-nine—yes 140—independent, unrelated, irresponsive, if not irresponsible, departments, societies, boards, bureaus, commissions, individuals, etc., each one camping on a highway leading direct to the legislature. Is it any wonder your appropriation bills grow? No one questions the statement that if the same methods were suffered in any private enterprise that prevail today in our state administrative government, such enterprise would not simply fail, it would shipwreck. Five years ago the statement was current and relied upon that when our gross earnings tax reached its present level there would be no direct levy—yet we find ourselves with one much greater than ever.

Business of Commission.

"The question before us is: Can the every-day principles of efficient business organization and management be applied to the administration of the affairs of the state of Minnesota? Many of my friends, and others, tell me: that is not at all the question, but the real question is: 'What hope is there that any legislature will ever enact your findings into law, excellent though they may be, and to this I reply: 'That is not my part of the job, that is not primarily the business of the commission. We were appointed to present the very best plan which we could devise, not to enact it into law. That is up to the citizens of Minnesota, and if we shall happily succeed in putting forth a plan having genuine merit in it, I have the greatest confidence in the sound judgment of the citizens of Minnesota, recognizing it, and their ability to enact it into law.

"As our secretary has so well said: This commission is assembling the facts, comparing the structures of the almost one hundred boards and commissions, analyzing their duties, endeavoring to bring them into alignment in such a manner that somebody somewhere, shall be in a position to know what each and every one is doing all of the time and to get that knowledge to the people in a direct and intelligible way. The purpose of this commission is to reorganize the administrative law as distinguished from the substantive law; that is, to say, it is not within our province to consider whether the state is performing service for the citizen which it ought not to perform or whether there are obligations of the citizen to the state which he ought to assume, neither is it our duty to suggest that the state perform some further function or functions with respect to its citizens: Our duty is merely to inquire into the administration of the substantive laws as we find them on the statute book.

Most Pertinent Questions.

"The questions most pertinent to our inquiry therefore are: First, what functions has the government undertaken? Second, what is the cost of performing each one? Third, how efficiently is it being done? In considering the first of these queries and together with it the enormous increase in the state's expenditures without a corresponding increase in commerce, or population, three suggestions present themselves as real causes for this rapid advance.

> "The first and most obvious is that the state has failed to follow the course of private enterprise in applying adequate business methods to the task in hand.

"Second, the transfer of governmental functions from the individual to the state; from a position of individualism we have developed a condition of collectivism. Our state government shows an increasing tendency to transfer social costs from the individual to public account. As evidences of these is our very rapidly increasing appropriations for education, the diffusion of knowledge by extension work and aid to public schools, societies of a semi-educational nature and otherwise public health, safety, public welfare, etc.

"Third, new activities which have been undertaken, many of which will occur to you, public ownership, public control of railroads and other public institutions.

"This commission recognizes that the most economical government is not that which costs the least, but that which administers affairs with the greatest efficiency, and the commission will have this principle in mind in whatever plan it finally presents to the people.

> "This commission being without legislative authority can do nothing unless public opinion, acute and aggressive, rises to a force great enough to overcome the predisposition of the legislature: the opposition of those whose particular interests may be affected; the natural adherance to established institutions, and lastly the vast inertia of the average citizen toward governmental affairs.

"This, gentlemen, is your business and you are the men who can do vastly more than the commission in the direction of overcoming these very stubborn obstacles, and into your hands, and into the hands of similar bodies, must be left this part of the work if it shall so happily transpire that we are able to present to you a plan which very reasonably meets your approving judgment."

In closing, Mr. Craig said that he has found the efficiency commission the most fair-minded body of men and the most public spirited that he has ever had occasion to deal with. He said that despite the fact that the members are paying their own expenses and have no funds for their work, it is being pursued as rapidly as possible. He gave a brief history of the organization plans and expressed the gratitude of the commission to President Vincent for his offer to give them as much of the time of Prof. Durand, the statistical expert, as they needed. Prof. Durand's aid, said Mr. Craig, is of inestimable benefit to the commission, and not only is a great deal of time saved but a greater degree of accuracy at first investigation is an important result of Prof. Durand's services.

Where the Saving Will Be.

In further support of the commission's plan of putting each department under absolute control of one head, he said that, roughly estimating, the cost of administration would show a saving of $300,000 a year, but that that amount would doubtless be increased many times in the matter of appropriations. He also expressed the sentiment of the commission as being for civil service under the proposed system, but on a basis where an employe under such service could not take root and not be removable when inefficient. He said that most of the officials in the state house approve the plan so far as it has gone.

> He urged publicity and interest for, said he, if the people are not following it, they will not be with it in the end; they should see it in the making.

He praised Secretary Pardee's work in getting publicity and thanked the state newspapers for the manifest interest taken, adding that not a newspaper in the state is "knocking" the work of the commission.

Prof. E. Dana Durand was next introduced. After a few introductory remarks, Prof. Durand said that the jumble of a system in vogue in Minnesota is not different from the existing conditions in other states.

"Just Growed."

"Most state governments," said Prof. Durand, "are just like Topsy—they just growed; so Minnesota's condition is just as logical as other states. It is curious but a fact that the movement for better state government systems has dragged behind that of city government. But there are several states stirred up now—New York, Iowa, Illinois and Washington. I don't know whether or not other commissions are as ambitious as ours, although it is rumored that Iowa's proposed plan is much like ours. This commission means business and every member is trying to better the state government. The unanimity among the members is much greater than was hoped for, and it is very gratifying to observe the way the work is done. It is not the object of the commission to pick flaws or to try to discover graft. It is the systems and not the individuals that we wish to change. We give no attention to minor details, such as blanks, forms, etc. The work is much broader. If the general plans of the government is solid, the details will take care of themselves."

Prof. Durand spoke chiefly from the chart furnished and said that whereas the main feature under the present system of government is the multiplicity of bodies, that under the proposed system is centralization, a grouping of the present officers.

Centralization the Aim.

"Where there are many bodies to deal with," he said, "the attention of the legislature is distributed. We care nothing in our works as to who is the head. The object of the commission is to have as few controlling officers as possible. One head is better than a group of officers and boards. Some boards, we find, are useful in an advisory capacity, and under certain conditions, in an executive capacity, and in some places we are retaining them, but not over the executive officer. There will be no ex-officio boards, but there will be a board of finance, similar to the tax commission, and the railroad and warehouse commission will be retained and will still have supervision of grain matters. In the educational department we plan that one board will control the entire system of the state, but fearing an objection as between the state university and other schools, we provide two sub-boards from this one governing board, one for the general schools and one for the university, but each a sub of the controlling board. We have planned for a sub-commission on normal schools, but that is in doubt just now and may be eliminated."

Prof. Durand also advocated the civil service idea along the lines mentioned by Mr. Craig and also advocated promotions for efficiency and not for political service. He expressed confidence that the proposed system will have a good chance with the people for the reason that he regards the greater mass of the people as just about ripe for a change. He declared that the proposed plan resembles very closely the plan of the United States government and national governments abroad, which, strangely enough, he observed, have not grown hodge-podge, but systematically.

T. T. Hudson and John Stone Pardee spoke briefly, the latter praising the Duluth papers in particular for their generous publicity of the proposed system.

Confessed Thief Sentenced.

Bismarck, N. D., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Fultz, aged 19, who recently confessed to Burleigh county officials that he participated in a burglary at Brainerd, Minn., was sentenced to a year in the North Dakota penitentiary. The lad was arrested here after participating in the robbery of the Bismarck Hardware company. He also was identified as having been implicated in a New Salem robbery.

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE IS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

Made From Fruit—Can't Harm Tender Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given to-day saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

SAW PLAINTIFF'S WIFE BEING KISSED

Sensational Testimony in $10,000 Bemidji Alienation Case.

Bemidji, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Witnesses today in the suit for $10,000 damages for the alienation of his wife's affections, by W. H. Vye against W. A. Gould, the Bemidji lumberman, told of having seen Gould take Mrs. Vye in his arms and kiss her.

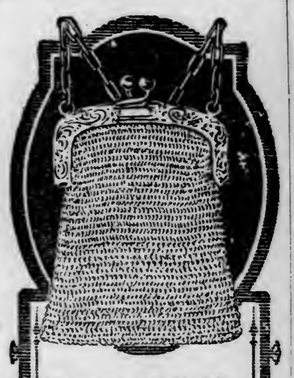

Mrs. Charles Vandersluis, wife of a Bemidji traveling man, testified that she looked from her kitchen window into the Gould home next door and saw Mrs. Vye in Gould's arms.

Mr. Vandersluis also testified, but said he never had seen improper conduct. J. Sims, another Bemidji traveling man, was another witness who said he had seen Gould kiss Mrs. Vye.

Plaintiff on Stand.

Mr. Vye went on the stand and told of partnership formed by himself, his wife and Gould, the firm being known as the Great Northern Timber company. He told of trips to the woods, during which time his wife was in Bemidji and that Gould was also here most of the time. Vye produced a letter from his wife in which she declared that she no longer loved him. Gould completed his testimony at the morning session and denied that he ever had regarded Mrs. Vye other than as a friend. Sensational testimony regarding Mr. Vye is promised by George Spear, the Bemidji attorney, who appeared for Mr. Gould.

MINERS ARE JUBILANT

Vote in Favor of Ending Copper Strike Is Predicted.

Action Must Be Taken By Strikers, Say Their Officers.

Calumet, Mich., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—"The proposition has already been provided for by the companies and we have right along urged the men to turn in their cards and return to work," said General Manager Denton of the Copper Range Consolidated mine, concerning the statement made in Chicago this morning by President C. H. Moyer of the Western Federation regarding calling off the strike. None of the other mine managers would talk.

The Federation ceased paying salaries here on Monday. There are estimated to be 2,000 men still out in the district.

The mining companies are willing to take back to work those men who have been concerned in no way in the strike violence. None of the imported men will be discharged, however, to make places for strikers, who will be taken on as rapidly as places can be found for them.

Says Men Are Willing.

President William Rickard of the Calumet union of the Western Federation said this noon that the men are willing and want to go back to work, but that the proposition will have to be placed before the men themselves for them to decide. He will confer by telegraph with Moyer at once.

President Dan Sullivan of the district union, comprising the five Copper country locals, denied that any of the local officials have heard from Moyer, but said that if the proposition reported by the press dispatches is true, he would be agreeable to laying it before the men in a referendum vote.

Strikers Seem Glad.

Individual strikers so far as interviewed regarding the proposition are jubilant, and there is no doubt of the way they will vote if given an opportunity to express their views on going to work, even without recognition of the union.

THREATEN TO LYNCH FOUR IN KANSAS CITY

Mob Is Angered at Attack on Woman Lured to Resort.

Kansas City, Mo., March 11.—Several hundred persons, gathered about police headquarters here, today, threatened to lynch four men identified last night by Mrs. Gertrude Shidler as members of the band of six who attacked her Monday night.

A resort to which Mrs. Shidler was lured and where she was attacked, was closed by the police today. The four prisoners are charged with a statutory offense, punishable in Missouri by death on the gallows. The prisoners are:

Victor Gueringer, 26 years old, one of the owners of the resort to which Mrs. Shidler was lured.

L. V. Brennan, an insurance agent, 24 years old.

Thomas L. Kinevan, a solicitor, 25 years old.

Oscar Harrison, 24 years old, a plumber's helper.

All four were held without bond.

ALMOND MACAROONS.

Woman's World: Put one-half pound of almond paste and the white of one egg in a mixing bowl. With the hand beat the two until perfectly smooth. Then add gradually one-half pound of granulated sugar. When the mixture is well beaten put in, one at a time, the unbeaten whites of two eggs. Continue beating with the hand until the mixture is very light. Fifteen minutes in all of beating is necessary to insure successful macaroons. Put two folds of paper in the bottom of a baking pan and place on it small bits of the macaroon mixture to form shapes like very small cookies. In the center of each macaroon press a quarter of a candied cherry or a bit of candied citron. Bake to a delicate brown in a moderate oven. About eight minutes' baking is necessary.

BUFFALO IS THE WINNER

Eastern City Bowlers Capture Western Transit Company Trophy.

Railroad Men Are Royally Entertained in Zenith City.

The Buffalo Bowling team of the Western Transit company won the championship of the league and will be the holders of the handsome trophy that has been donated by E. T. Douglas, general manager of the company, until one of the other teams can defeat it.

The tournament came to a close late yesterday afternoon at the Grand alleys. During the play of the morning the Buffalo and Chicago teams led in the total pin count, so under the rules of play the two teams played a series of three games for the trophy.

According to the statement of the traffic men they have had a royal good time during the two days they have been in Duluth. Following the game of yesterday afternoon, the visiting bowlers and railroad men attended a banquet and reception at the Kitchi Gammi club. Later all of the visiting employes of the Western Transit company were the guests of the local office at an Orpheum theater party.

This afternoon most of the visitors are out at the ski grounds where a special exhibition of ski jumping is being staged for them. Some of the visitors have never had the fortune to witness a ski jumping contest, so Secretary Pete Wright of the ski club hastily arranged an exhibition.

There has been no business in connection with the tournament. All of the men took advantage of the gathering to become better acquainted with each other, but business has been formally dispensed with.

Following is the entire list of visiting railroad bowlers and the scores of the final games:

CLEVELAND IS THE WINNER

Michigan Soo Hockey Team Defeated By 4 to 3 Score.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., March 11.—Cleveland won the first game of the series for the amateur hockey title of the United States here last evening by the score of 4 to 3.

The game was not decided until the very end, when the visitors made a sensational rally and counted the winning score.

At half time the score was 2 to 1 in favor of the visitors. The Soo tied up the count and until the close there was little to choose in the playing of the two teams.

Winters starred for the Cleveland aggregation by making three of the four goals. The rushes of the Cleveland captain were the most sensational seen here in years.

Pepin was struck with a stick in the stomach and was obliged to leave the game, Michaels replacing the injured player.

The lineup:

TOO STRENUOUS.

Art Schafer Quits Baseball for All Time, He Says.

Stanford University, Cal., March 11.—"While playing with the Giants in New York I aged ten years and my hair is turning gray," said "Art" Shafer today, discussing the strain of a baseball season. "Nothing would induce me to return to the game, and that is what I wired McGraw yesterday in reply to a telegram asking if my decision to quit was final."

Shafer has been playing in practice games here with Los Angeles alumni of the university. He will return to Los Angeles to engage in business.

LITTLE FIVE MAY QUIT.

Dissolution Threatened Because of Distances to Travel.

Galesburg, Ill., March 11.—Dissolution of "the Little Five" college athletic conference was predicted here today as a sequel to a meeting last night of the athletic board of Knox college. Discussion at this meeting brought out considerable sentiment in favor of a withdrawal from the organization, and it was reported that similar sentiment exists at Monmouth college. Should these schools withdraw, Lake Forest university and Beloit college would be left to compete for dual titles, as Armour Institute of Technology in Chicago has not been active athletically of late and has cut little figure except in baseball and basket ball.

The Knox authorities said today that the chief objection to the present organization was the distance that it compelled teams to travel. It also was urged by proponents of withdrawal that athletic relations may be obtained with institutions of equal rank much nearer Galesburg. Definite action, however, was postponed until tonight.

EVERS TROUBLE IS ADJUSTED

Sweeney Goes to Cubs and Perdue Stays With Boston Braves.

Chicago, March 11.—W. J. Sweeney will come to the Chicago Nationals and Hub Perdue will remain with Boston. This solution of the controversy over the players involved in the Evers sale was telephoned today by C. P. Taft, owner of the Cubs, to C. W. Murphy here, former president of the Cubs, who still is acting for the club.

Murphy had a representative at Macon, Ga., where the Boston Nationals are training and Sweeney today signed a three-year contract to play second base for the Cubs.

Taft did not state on what authority he based his announcement, but simply declared that the controversy over the players had been officially settled.

ANOTHER OF LARGEST SALARIES IN BASEBALL.

Chicago, March 11.—Eddie Cicotte, pitcher for the Chicago Americans, has signed a new contract "at one of the largest salaries paid a pitcher in the American league," according to a message received here today from Sacramento, where the White Sox were today. Cicotte had been a "holdout."

Eleven big league players have telegraphed President Gilmore asking for a chance to join the Federals, according to a dispatch from Shreveport. Among them are four of the Boston Americans, and players on the Chicago Federal team are quoted as saying they are Wagner, Lewis, Collins and Leonard. It was understood the Federal league refused to accede to Wagner's demands, which were for $7,500 a year. Collins' reported terms may be accepted, it was said, and if so he will be signed for the Brooklyn team.

President Weegham of the Chicago Federal league club is reported to have made a new offer to Ty Cobb.

Cubs Still Taft's.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 11.—Frank D. Mayer of Chicago, representing what is known at the Spiegel syndicate, held a long conference with Charles P. Taft, owner of the controlling interest in the Chicago baseball club, here today. At the conclusion of the meeting, Mr. Mayer announced that he had made Mr. Taft an offer for his interest in the club and that another meeting between the two would be held later in the day.

ONE MAN KILLED IN CAVE-IN AT ST. PAUL

Three Others Injured When Sewer Excavation Walls Fall.

St. Paul, Minn., March 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—One man was killed and three others injured in the cave-in of a sewer under course of construction at Fairview avenue and Randolph street this noon. The dead:

OWEN TREANOR, 40 years old, laborer; lived at construction camp, Cleveland avenue and Randolph street.

The injured:

Patrick Thornton, contractor, bruises about waist; condition not serious.

R. T. Nelson, laborer, 1057 Hatch street, internal injuries; taken to St. Joseph hospital.

William Tootenhof, laborer, bruises about waist; lived at construction camp.

MURPHY SATISFIED TO BE OUT OF CLUB

Foley Declares Ousting of Chief "Looks Like Graft."

New York, March 11.—Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, said this afternoon that he would make no effort to fight his way back into the National Democratic club, from which he was expelled last night. He intimated, however, that Tammany Hall was all the Democratic club he felt any need of.

Thomas F. Foley, one of Murphy's chief lieutenants, expressed his opinion more forcibly.

"It looks like graft to me," said Foley.

He explained that in his opinion the expulsion of Mr. Murphy and his friends was a trick to secure control of the club's property, worth a million dollars.

ALASKA BILL READY FOR WILSON'S NAME

Senate Adopts Conference Report Approved By House.

Washington, March 11.—The Alaska railroad bill, providing for the construction of a thousand miles of government railroad and the expenditure of $35,000,000, was made ready for the president's signature late yesterday when the senate adopted the conference report already adopted by the house.

President Wilson has indicated his intention of signing the bill as soon as it reaches the White House.

SENTENCED TO TUBERCULOSIS.

In how many prisons does a sentence carry with it a possible added penalty of tuberculosis? This is the challenge of the following case which is described in The Survey by Willard Brown Thort:

"Five years ago John Gerrish was a sailor on the United States cruiser Pennsylvania. He was a young man of good habits, and sent $20 every month for the support of his mother in San Diego. One day, when on shore leave at Vallejo, Cal., he did what for him was an unprecedented thing—got uproariously drunk and beat up a marine who was his companion. The marine accused him also of taking from him a $10 bill.

"Arraigned in court, Gerrish made a poor impression, and his lawyer put up a weak defense. The result was that, despite an unbroken record of previous good behavior, he was sentenced to four years in San Quentin prison.

"He was serving his second year when a prominent man in San Diego, who had become interested in the case through the story told by the mother, visited him in prison, called in person on the governor, and after long and persistent efforts obtained his release on parole. The entire ship's company of the Pennsylvania signed a petition in his behalf.

"He was given employment by his benefactor in the country near San Diego, where he did faithful work. Before long he manifested such ability that he was placed in charge of a grading camp. He was finally granted a full pardon by the governor, and married and established a little home.

"Tuberculosis germs had found lodgment in his system during his stay in San Quentin, and despite the most favorable climatic conditions in the world, he sickened and died.

"The state of California nominally sentenced John Gerrish to four years in the penitentiary. In reality it sentenced him to death."

THE BOY WHO STOLE TO GO TO COLLEGE.

The Survey: "I've been crazy about going to Oxford university, and when I saw all this money in my hands, I couldn't resist taking it."

That was the story told by a lad of 17 when he was arrested in New York. A few hours more and he would have been aboard the Mauretania and off for England. Stowed away in his clothing was $1,400 in cash—enough to keep him for three years at the university.

Before the boy was returned by the New York police, a Cleveland newspaper man called at his home. On his book shelves were volumes of poetry. In one corner stood a copy of Tom Brown at Oxford—the book that had obsessed him with a desire to go to the great English university.

By day he performed his duties as stock boy in a department store, earning $7 a week, a part of which went regularly to the family support. He was prompt and trustworthy and was scheduled for early advancement.

Night after night he sat poring over his books. His mother recalled his keen disappointment when he was taken out of high school at the end of his second year and put to work, because the family could not afford to keep him in school longer.

"He spent every cent he could save out of his spending money for books," said his mother. "Lie's been at me for months to buy him the Encyclopedia Britannica."

What the firm is willing to do in the case has been stated by its vice president. "If all this is true, if the boy wants higher education and has the mental qualifications, I'll see that he gets it."

QUIET DAY IN MARKET

Wheat Sells Slightly Off on Small Demand From All Quarters.

Flaxseed Bulges Again With Reported Export Business at Winnipeg.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 11.—The market remained dull up to the close. May wheat closed ⅛c off and July ⅛c off. May durum closed ⅛c off and July ⅛c off.

Oats closed ¼c up at 36¾c. Rye closed unchanged at 53@55c for the best grades, and barley unchanged at from 44 to 66c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 36¾c bid and July at 37⅛c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 90¾c bid and calls at 91⅛-¼c.

After a strong tone at the opening today on higher Liverpool cables, wheat showed a weakening tendency as a result of light demand from all quarters. Eastern inquiry was reported nominal and export offers were out of line.

Quotations were sustained by reports of possible damage to winter wheat received from points in Southwestern Kansas. These stories were, however, believed to be exaggerated. Corn was also strong with Chicago reporting cash sales of it in the East overnight, the heaviest in several weeks. A heavy call for corn at Omaha was also noted, supplies there being reported about exhausted.

Stocks of hard winter wheat are estimated by operators to be rapidly approaching the exhaustion stage in many sections of the Southwest.

Boston wired that export shipments of wheat had fallen off to such an extent that Liverpool steamers are unable to get enough grain cargoes to keep them going even at a rate of 1c per bu, and that some of the boats are being taken off. Liverpool bids at the seaboard for hard winter wheat were stated to be 2½c below cost.

Duluth elevator men advise that the spurt in farmers' marketings of wheat at points in Western Minnesota and North Dakota is being maintained. This inclination to sell is promoted by the liberal cash premiums being paid by the milling interests.

Receipts at Minneapolis today were 252 cars against 304 last year and their stocks showed an increase of 325,000 bu in four days. Receipts at Duluth today were 63 cars against 51 last year.

Elevator stores of all grains at this point have gained 135,000 bu in the last four days, bringing them up to 20,227,000 bu of all grains.

May wheat opened unchanged at 92⅜c and held at around that figure or ⅛c off up to the final hour. The July option opened ⅛c off at 93c and gained ⅛c. May durum opened unchanged at 91c and after gaining ⅛c it sold off ⅛c.

Sharp Bulge in Flax.

Flaxseed bulged at the opening today to the extent of 2¼c. The bullish situation was promoted by strength at Winnipeg, where some export business was reported to have been worked yesterday. The market was supported by operators at its higher range while offerings were light. The close came at the top.

It is commented upon by the trade that with the small quantity of cash stuff offering from day to day, prices in flaxseed are capable of being easily manipulated.

Foreign cables were higher, Buenos Aires being ⅞c up, Antwerp 1¼c up and London 1¾d up.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.57½ and closed 2½c up at $1.59½ bid. The July option opened unchanged at $1.59 and closed 2¼c up at $1.61¼.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.39¼ and July at $1.41¾ bid.

Canadian oats are being pressed for sale in the East, and a Chicago elevator concern recently bought a cargo now afloat at Port Arthur for shipment to Port Huron at the opening of navigation. There is a cargo of 299,000 bu of Canadian oats in bond now afloat in Chicago, which are said to have been offered to the East on all-rail basis.

Commenting on the relative values of United States and Argentina flaxseed an expert says: "The quotations on Argentine flaxseed, as compared with those of Canada and the United States, are confusing to persons outside of the linseed oil trade. American crushers put a price on Argentine flaxseed based on its oil-producing qualities. On this basis Argentine flaxseed is worth 11c a bushel less than Canadian.

"This exposition of flaxseed conditions, while certainly bullish, at the same time does not present any novel feature. It describes a situation in which the trade has been acquainted for some time and on which present prices are based. How much farther the price can be advanced on a situation already known remains to be determined. If the Argentine and Indian crops should fall short of the present estimates, it probably would be the means of creating another bullish wave on the crest of which prices would rise to much higher levels."

The Minneapolis cash demand was more brisk this morning, with the call for desirable milling wheat good. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at ⅛@2c over May with a few choice cars 2¼c over May, and velvet chaff at ⅜@1c premium. There was little scattered flour business. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from 91⅜c to 93⅜c and No. 2 northern at from 89⅜c to 91⅜c.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool—"Steadiness in America and firmness in Winnipeg yesterday caused shorts to cover at the opening and values were ½d higher. Following the opening there was a noticeable scarcity of offers, and with some speculative support prices further advanced ⅛ to ¼d with the undertone firm. Less favorable reports from Russia, scarcity of Russian offers, firmer Manitoba and Plate offers and private reports received of less favorable conditions in Kansas, helped the advance. At 1:30 p. m., prices ⅜d higher.

"Corn opened unchanged and later July advanced ⅛d in sympathy with wheat and firmer Plate cables yesterday. Expectations of very early shipments of new Plate served to check the advance."

Private Russian advices received at Liverpool today stated it was expected that offers would increase when navigation opened but that arrivals at ports show no increase. Some reports confirm a growing scarcity in stocks.

International Review says: "There is no special feature in evidence during the past week. The demand for foreign wheat from Western Europe is smaller than heretofore as native wheat is being more freely offered, and then the continued excellent prospects of winter wheat in the United States is exerting some influence on European buyers. On the other hand, the political situation appears less assured than last week. Latest returns show that the consumption of foreign wheat during January and February was much smaller than during the autumn and this possibly owing to the relative mildness of the season has increased the supply of native wheat."

A wire received by Baker from Kansas City said: "The consumption of feed stuffs this year notwithstanding the very mild winter has been in excess of two years ago. This year from Nov. to March 6 indicated the domestic consumption of corn was 1,758,000,000 bu, while in the same period this year, consumption was 1,717,000,000 bu domestic and 8,000,000 bu imported corn. In addition 2,000,000 bu or more wheat was fed this winter, which did not occur two years ago and consumption of oats was 87,000,000 bu greater than three years ago."

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Opens Stronger Owing to Higher Cables.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 11.—Higher cables caused a stronger wheat market here today, the opening being fractionally above that of yesterday and the tendency higher, although the range was narrow. Weather conditions are excellent and reports from the winter wheat districts of the Northwest state that if there has been any injury to the plant so far it has not become apparent.

Wheat: May opened 90⅞@91c; high, 91⅜c; low, 90⅞c; closed, 91c. July opened 92¼c; high, 92⅜@92⅝c; low, 92¼c; closed, 92⅜c.

Cash: No. 1 hard, 94¼c; No. 1 northern, 91½@93½c; to arrive, 91½@92c; choice to arrive, 93¼c; No. 2 northern, 89½@91¼c; to arrive, 91¼c; No. 3 wheat, 87@89c.

Flax—$1.56½@1.59½c.

The demand for flour was reported active today. Prices, in car lots, quoted slightly lower. Fancy patents, $4.55 in wood; first clears, $3.45 jute; second clears, $2.65 jute. Shipments, 48,729 barrels.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Weakens on Weather and Canadian News.

Chicago, March 11.—Beneficial heavy snow in Minnesota and South Dakota tended today to weaken the price of wheat. There also were advices that Canadian farm reserves were larger than had been generally supposed. Quotations started the same as last night to ⅛c lower, then rallied a little, but afterward sagged all around.

Afterward the market became firmer, especially July, owing to increasing reports of crop injuries throughout Nebraska and Kansas. Damage was said to have occurred, too, in Ohio. The close, however, was weak, ⅛@⅜c net lower to ⅛@¼c advance.

Unfavorable conditions for hauling made the corn market firm. Kansas City reported improved demand from cash buyers. Opening prices, which were unchanged to ⅛c off, were followed by a moderate general upturn.

Better inquiry for spot corn in Chicago had a bullish effect. The close was steady at a shade under last night to ⅜c advance.

Oats hardened on account of a fair call from shorts. Pit offerings were not over-plentiful.

Absence of selling pressure allowed the bidding up of provisions. First sales varied from 2½c lower to a like advance, but later the market was at a decidedly higher level.

FROM A SCOTCH COLLECTION.

New York Sun: Sandy and his lass had been sitting together about half an hour in silence.

"Maggie," he said at length, "wasna I here on the Sawbath nicht?"

"Aye, Sandy, I dout say you were."

"An' waasna I here on Monday nicht?"

"Aye, so you were."

"An' I was here on Tuesday nicht, an' Wednesday nicht, an' Thursday nicht, an' Friday nicht?"

"Aye, I'm thinking that's so."

"An' this is Saturday nicht, an' I'm here again?"

"Well, what for no?"

"I'm sure ye're very welcome."

Sandy (desperately:) "Maggie, woman, dae ye no begin to smell a rat?"

WEAKNESS IN STOCKS

Bullish Sentiment Chilled By Flood of Selling Orders.

Large Part of the List Forced Under Tuesday's Close.

New York, March 11.—Bullish sentiment was chilled by the appearance of large selling orders today when attempts were made to carry further yesterday's rise. Liquidation was renewed in American Sugar and the Eastern railroad shares among which losses ran from 1 to 3 points.

Traders found the buying to be of poor quality and widened their selling so that a large part of the list was forced under yesterday's close. Announcement of the regular New York Central dividend caused that stock to rally over a point, and the whole list became steadier toward noon.

Bonds were irregular.

American Sugar again weakened at the opening today. It dropped 2 points to 98¼ on the first few transactions. National Biscuit advanced a point. Changes otherwise were small and irregular, with an easier tendency among the active stocks.

Although professional pressure was applied more or less persistently the market did not sag much, and when support appeared for Sugar and New Haven, the whole list improved. New Haven rose to a fraction above yesterday's closing and Sugar rallied a point.

While sufficient buying power developed to check the forenoon decline, prices afterwards moved narrowly. Western Union gained a point on the increase in the annual dividend to a 4 per cent basis. Rock Island bonds were weak with collaterals touching a new low level at 40.

Signs of fresh liquidation in the Gould railroad stocks and bonds had a slight weakening effect on the general list. Bethlehem Steel advanced on its excellent annual report.

The market closed irregular. Popular shares sagged to the lowest before the session ended. Steel issues were affected by the unfavorable resume of conditions in trade journals.

BOARDERS LOSE HOME

Return to Grand Hotel to Find It Closed By Sheriff.

Dispute Between Landlord and Tenant Over the Rent Money.

The Grand Hotel, Fifty-third avenue west and Ramsey street, was closed at 7 o'clock last evening by the sheriff on complaint of John J. Frey, owner of the building, who claims that C. J. Petruschke has failed to pay rent for several months. The closing of the hotel made it necessary for about thirty boarders to seek other quarters after they came home from work last night.

Mr. Petruschke, who is said to have been the only man who has made a success of a hotel in the building, claims to have refused to pay the rent because of a breach of contract on the part of Mr. Frey. Mr. Petruschke claims that Mr. Frey promised to make certain repairs to the building which would make it possible for the hotel proprietor to buy liability and fire insurance on the place.

Some time ago, it is said, Mr. Petruschke applied for liability insurance in two different companies. One of these companies was represented by Mr. Frey and a policy for $1,000 from his company was issued. Shortly afterwards the company canceled the insurance because of an alleged unsafe condition of the building. The other company is said to have refused to issue a $3,000 policy. Mr. Petruschke also claims that he has not been able to get fire insurance on his furniture.

Following the refusal of the companies to issue the policies, Mr. Petruschke sought the advice of an attorney, who is said to have advised him to discontinue paying the rent. This action caused Mr. Frey to close up the place yesterday. Last Monday Mr. Frey had an attachment issued against board money due Mr. Petruschke from eighteen employes of the American Bridge company, working at the steel plant. A hearing on this case is due to be held Monday morning in the municipal court.

The building was erected twenty years ago and was originally designed for a hospital. Stairways inside, as well as basement walls, are said to be crumbling from age.

WADE RINK HAS WALK-AWAY MATCH

Iltis Men Escape Shut-Out Only By Clever Play.

By laying one stone in the tenth and eleventh heads in the semi-finals of the Burns event last night the Iltis rink saved itself from being entirely shut out in a game with the Wade rink at the Western Curling club. The game ended with a score 15 to 2, in favor of the Wade aggregation.

The Wade rink has been playing a wonderful game since its return from Minneapolis, where it defeated the famous Dunbar rink. Members of the local club say that the winning of the game from the famous St. Paul rink has been enough to "throw the scare" into the local players, and that since their return there has been "nothin' to it" for the Wade aggregation.

The Wade rink is now in the finals of the four remaining events. This evening the rink will play against the Quinn rink for possession of the Burns' trophy. The other games will be played the latter part of the week, and if there is ice next week the Wade rink will be asked to defend the championship buttons.

ERICKSON ELECTED.

Wins With Entire Citizen's Ticket in Proctor.

Edward Erickson was elected president of the village of Proctor with a majority of 57 votes over H. I. Schell, after one of the warmest campaigns in the history of the village. The full Citizens' ticket was elected.

The successful candidates and their vote follow: President, Edward Erickson, 180; trustees, C. M. Remfrey, 179; J. P. Sathers, 164; Noble Downey, 157; treasurer, John Carruthers, 168; recorder, R. G. Wannamaker; justice of the peace, G. Gilderman; constables, S. McTaggard and A. Le May. The last four had no opposition.

Give Surprise Party.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hyde, 3721 West Third street, entertained last evening at a surprise party in honor of Arvine Lord at their home. The evening was spent in games and music. The guests were: Misses Sarah Armstrong, Laura Albertson, Alvers Gustafson, Crala Dennett, Mae Johnson, Florence Johnson, Mildred Thayer, Dorothy Thayer, Emely Erickson and Margaret McKenzie, and Messrs. Clarence Johnson, Gerald Rosborough, Gordon Huth, Chester Rosborough, Hugh Myles, Chester Dunston, Arnold Erickson and Arvine Lord.

Visiting in East.

Lawrence Gilley, 322 North Central avenue, is spending two months visiting points of interest in the East. He is at present in Washington and recently attended the session of congress during the reading of President Wilson's message. Mr. Gilley expects to return home about April 1.

Sunshine Club Elects.

The Sunshine Circle of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church held its annual meeting last evening at the home of Miss Alice Apland, 4225 West Fifth street. The following officers were elected: Miss Hilborg Anderson, president; Miss Ruth Sigens, vice president; Miss Marie Nelson, secretary, and Miss Minnie Larson, treasurer.

HONOR PATRON SAINT.

Royal League Lodges Plan St. Patrick's Day Dance.

At a short business session of the Royal League lodges last night, following the masquerade, complete arrangements were made for the St. Patrick's day dancing party to be given next Tuesday evening. The invitations were sent out yesterday by the committee.

The committee to have charge of the affair from the Pocahontas lodge are: Mrs. T. F. Olsen, Mrs. Thomas Brain, Mrs. Henry L. Fedi, Mrs. E. W. F. Boerner, Mrs. M. J. Murray, Mrs. W. K. Wichter, Mrs. George L. Hise, Mrs. H. J. Liberty, Mrs. Frank H. Ashley and Mrs. E. J. Zauft.

The party next Tuesday evening is the second of a series of four given this spring by the lodge. The first was held on Washington's birthday. The others will be on Easter Monday, April 13, and on May 4.

Thirty couples attended the masquerade last evening. Dancing was followed by luncheon, served by the committee.

HORNETS SPIKED A GUN.

Mosby Failed to Capture a Supply Train Because of Insects.

Youth's Companion: Col. John S. Mosby, commander of the Partisan Rangers, who gave such dashing service in the Southern cause fifty years ago, is living now in the city of Washington. One of the really amusing incidents that passed under his notice durng the war he told not long ago.

In the summer of 1864, when Gen. Phil Sheridan was in the valley of the Shenandoah, he found himself much harassed by Mosby, who was continually cutting off his supply trains. An army cannot fight on an empty stomach, and Mosby knew it. He also knew how, with his small force, to neutralize the strength of an army more than five times his number, for by rushing from point to point and making his sudden attacks miles apart, he kept a large proportion of the Union troops in constant chase of him.

One bright morning Mosby heard that a long supply train was winding its way down the valley. By noon the Rangers, in their gray uniforms, were gathered at the forks of the valley pike, watching for the head of the wagon train to appear.

Presently a cloud of dust was seen rising far up the road, and as the wind blew it aside the Confederates caught sight of a line of men in blue escorting a caravan of lumbering wagons drawn by mules. Instantly Mosby gave the order to run a little howitzer up on the side of a hill and unlimber it. As soon as the gun had opened fire, the rest of the men were to make a cavalry charge, and throw the train into confusion.

The Rangers jerked the gun into position and began to swab it out. Suddenly the man with the swab gave a shrill yell, seized the seat of his pantaloons, and fled down the hill and out into the road. Almost in the same moment the other man at the gun abandoned it. He seemed to be fighting at the air as he disappeared over a stone wall.

The sutler's wagons were creeping nearer, and Mosby did not know what to think of such extraordinary conduct. He ordered four more men to the gun, but hardly had they reached it when they, too, yelled, began to beat the air madly with their hats, and took to flight.

Spurring his horse over the stone wall, Mosby rode toward the gun, but his stay was short. The howitzer stood just over a hornet's nest, and those busy insects were resenting the intrusion. They had repelled the invaders on foot, and now they swarmed on Mosby's horse till the maddened animal tore off down the pike on a run. Then they turned their attention to the rest of the troop.

Their attack was so vicious that the Rangers gave up any idea of standing by the gun. They scattered far and wide, and it was an hour before they returned. When they did, the wagon train had safely vanished in the distance. So the hornets saved the day for Sheridan.

NEW KITCHEN GARBAGE IDEA.

Kansas City Star: Any of those who have visited large fish stores have surely noticed the "fish table" of galvanized iron, which contained a ring or hole in it, from which extended downward a three-inch collar, and through which the man threw the refuse into a pail standing directly beneath. I have adopted the idea in my efficiency kitchen, and at the right of my sink table made a little boxed shelf on which stands the covered garbage pail. In the shelf or table is the hole I spoke of, directly over the pail. As I prepare vegetables or scrape plates I immediately push refuse into the pail underneath on the shelf, which does away with the pail on the floor and saves lifting and steps.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Five Hundred Dollars and interest at six per cent from September 12th, 1912, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by James A. Kirkwood, Jr., Mortgagor, to William M. Prindle, Leo Shapiro and George G. Newton, Mortgagees, bearing date the 12th day of September, 1912, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Registrar of Titles in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 19th day of September, 1912, at two o'clock P. M., as document No. 10126 and entered in Register of Titles No. 51, on page 142, and which mortgage covers lands originally registered on June 7, 1902, the certificate of title therefor being recorded in the office of the Registrar of Titles in Book 1, Register of Titles, page 4, according to the provisions of Chapter 65 of the Revised Laws of 1905 and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto.

And whereas, The said William M. Prindle, Leo Shapiro and George G. Newton, Mortgagees and Holders of said Mortgage, have duly elected and do hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said Mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice under the terms and conditions of said Mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of Thirteen Hundred ($1,300.00) Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum from the 12th day of September, 1912, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Lot one (1), Block C, London Addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County and State, on the Fourth day of April, 1914, at ten o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Thirteen Hundred Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Seventy-five Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Buy a Home

For Yourself Instead of the Landlord

$20.00 a month rent amounts to $240.00 a year; $2400.00 in ten years. You've paid the landlord full price for his house in ten years, but he still owns it; all you have is the rent receipts.

For a small payment down and $20 or less per month you can buy a home and own it, clear of all encumbrance, in less than ten years.

POULTRY, EGGS

and BABY FOWLS ARE WANTED!

S. C. RHODE ISLAND REDS: 1st Cock, J. W. Nelson.

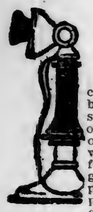

THERE are a large number of people in Duluth and vicinity who will buy breeding stock, eggs, baby fowls or chickens for laying this season. Some one will gladly purchase what you wish to sell. Herald want ads are the best poultry salesman available.

CIRCULATION GREATEST —RATES LOWEST

The Duluth Herald has the greatest circulation of any newspaper in the world in a city the size of Duluth. Its rates for classified advertising are less per thousand circulation than those of any other paper in Minnesota. Best results are gained from ads when definite information is given. When information is lacking the presumption is that desirable features are lacking. Information as to contract rates and the probable amount of space your ad would take gladly given.

One Cent a Word Each Insertion. No Advertisement Less Than 15 Cents.

TELEPHONE DIRECTORY OF BUSINESS HOUSES.

Below you will find a condensed list of reliable business firms. This is designed for the convenience of busy people. A telephone order to any one of them will receive the same careful attention as would be given an order placed in person. You can safely depend upon the reliability of any one of these firms.

MORE TROOPS ARE ORDERED TO BOUNDARY

Force on Mexican Border Will Exceed That Sent to Cuba.

Prevention of Raids Is Said to Be Sole Purpose.

Villa Is All Ready to Move Against Torreon.

Washington, March 12.—Two more regiments of United States troops were moved to join the Mexican border patrol today. Two battalions of the Ninth Infantry at Fort Thomas, Ky., and Fort Logan H. Roots, Ark., and the Seventeenth Infantry at Fort McPherson, Ga., were loading baggage trains and assembling field equipment to move to Laredo and Eagle Pass to become part of a military force in the state of Texas, larger by 3,000 men than the one Gen. Shafter led into Cuba.

Increase Requested.

The border patrol is being increased in numbers at the request of Senator Sheppard and Representative Garner of Texas, who pointed out to Secretary Garrison that the Vergara incident had caused a great deal of uneasiness. It was pointed out that cattle were being stolen from Texas ranches, and that inasmuch as the American banks along the line were full of cash, confidence would be restored in a great measure by the presence of more troops.

At the White House and at the war department is was stated that such was the only significance of the troop movement.

Brig. Gen. Bliss will assign the new coming regiments to locations. They will relieve six troops of cavalry, which will then be free for active patrol duty.

Will Entrain Sunday.

At the war department it was said the two regiments probably would begin to entrain Sunday or Monday. It is expected that the Seventeenth will

STUDENTS TO VOTE ON SELF GOVERNMENT

Dissatisfaction Over Present System Exists at Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., March 12.—Wisconsin university students are to hold an election tomorrow on the question of self-government. At present the Student Conference has under its control all questions of discipline of male students at the university, but because of dissatisfaction in regard to representation on this conference, a referendum on the subject of continuing the system is to be had.

The rule has been to appoint one representative from each class organization and society, and unorganized students have complained that this had a tendency to give the fraternities too large a representation. Students are taking sides and a sharp contest is expected.

WILL PUT 250 MEN FROM JOLIET TO WORK

Honor Camps for Road Work Will Be Increased This Year.

Joliet, Ill., March 12.—Two hundred and fifty convicts from the state penitentiary here will be sent to work on the state roads as soon as the weather will permit, it was announced today. The men will be divided into five "honor camps," each of which will be in charge of a foreman and an assistant—both unarmed.

The spring road squad will be an increase of 200 over the experimental camp of fifty men set out last fall. The conduct of the men in camp and the quality of the work they did inspired the prison authorities with enthusiasm for the innovation. Automobilists are jubilant over the prospects of road improvement.

The five squads will be assigned to any township that is prepared to build five miles or more of macadamized highway. The local people will be required to pay 50 cents a day for each man for the maintenance of the squads while in camp. Camp outfits will be supplied by the prison warden.

COLORADO RATES ORDERED LOWERED

Commerce Commission Acts When Parties Fail to Agree.

Washington, March 12.—Failure of railroads and shippers to agree on freight rates between Chicago, Mississippi river and Missouri river points, on the one hand, and Denver and Colorado common points on the other, induced the interstate commerce commission to fix commodity rates today by a definite order.

The commission says that "It is probable no final solution can be made without a general readjustment of the rates throughout this territory," but "as affording a present remedy" for the difficulties in which the Colorado jobbers and other large shippers have found themselves, the commission has established rates on several hundred commodities materially lower than existing rates.

The new lower rates become effective May 1.

MAY BE COUNSELLOR TO STATE DEPARTMENT

W. W. ROCKHILL.

Washington, March 12.—W. W. Rockhill is considered a possibility in succession to John Bassett Moore as counsellor for the state department. He has been in the diplomatic service off and on for many years. He received an offer from the Chinese government recently to be adviser to the president of the new republic, but declined.

RETAIN TEST OF LITERACY

Senators Decide to Keep It in Immigration Bill.

Change Inspection Clause and Alter the Head Tax.

Washington, March 12.—The much-discussed literacy test will remain in the Burnett immigration bill when it is presented to the senate for action. This was decided today by the senate immigration committee, which will report the bill favorably.

There was a suggestion that the literacy test be dropped because of risk of President Wilson's veto, but the majority of the committee did not believe that the president would carry his opposition to that feature so far as to veto the entire bill. Senators opposed to the test will fight it on the floor.

Change Inspection Clause.

The provision for American health inspectors on immigrant vessels leaving foreign ports, to which Italy and some other foreign governments objected, was changed to provide that immigrant vessels carrying persons suspected of being deportable on account of disease may be detained after reaching port, and the suspected persons confined on board until their cases are determined.

The provision for a head tax of $5 on each immigrant was changed to $6 for each unmarried and $4 for each married alien.

TWO ENGLISH WOMEN KILLED BY CHINESE?

Misses Black Missing Since Attack on Inland Mission.

London, March 12.—A dispatch to the Central News from Shanghai says that two English women attached to the station of the China Inland mission at Lao Ho Kow in the province of Hu Peh have been missing since that town was sacked and burned by brigands yesterday. The two women are Miss E. Black and Miss J. Black.

The China Inland mission is a British missionary society with headquarters in London. It was respresented in Lao Ho Kow by five persons. The brigands, when they sacked the city killed Dr. T. Froyland, a Norwegian missionary, and wounded several others.

Altogether there are seventeen persons attached to Protestant missions in the city.

WISCONSIN LUMBER CUT NEARLY CLEAR

Few More Days Will See It Out of the Woods.

Marinette, Wis., March 12.—According to lumbermen from different parts of the district who were in the city today, only a few more days of winter weather conditions will result in practically all of the timber now in the woods being delivered at landings.

Pushing every possible effort for the last two weeks, nearly every lumberman of the district has moved a great quantity of material from the woods. Many of the jobbers' camps are now breaking up with the completion of the work for the season. At the camps where work is not yet completed, advantage is being taken at every possible moment to rush the cut of timber to the landings, and lumbermen agree that in another week little timber will be left in the woods.

FRAUD IS CHARGED TO MAIL ORDER MAN.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, March 12.—The Federal grand jury last night returned an indictment against Harry H. Woodling, proprietor of a Council Bluffs mail order house, charging misuse of the mails by circulating misleading advertisements.

MORE BODIES RECOVERED

Fifteen Taken From St. Louis Fire Ruins—Ten Identified.

Searchers in Wreckage Are in Danger of Being Crushed.

St. Louis, Mo., March 12.—An all night examination of the ruins of the Missouri Athletic club with the aid of searchlights revealed one more victim of St. Louis' greatest fire disaster. The body found today was identified as that of Thomas J. Wright, auditor of the William J. Lemp Brewing company of St. Louis.

Three more bodies, or parts of bodies, were recovered after daylight today, bringing the total number recovered to fifteen. Of these ten have been identified.

Card and Book Found.

In the ruins were found a card and book bearing the name of B. Hehle, Little Wonder Malt Mills, Kan. It is believed Mr. Hehle perished in the fire, though his name had not previously appeared in the list of missing.

The missing register of the club was found shortly before noon. It was taken to the temporary headquarters of the club to be compared with the list of missing. The comparison showed that the list previously published was accurate. This makes the death toll thirty.

This morning a fresh squad of 100 workmen resumed the work of clearing the mass of iron, brick and timber under which twenty to thirty bodies lie buried.

Friends and relatives of the uncovered dead today voiced vigorous complaint concerning the slowness with which the ruins are being cleared away. To hasten the work, the city may engage forty or fifty more men. Fire chiefs said some of the bodies still in the ruins may be reached late today or tomorrow.

Roof May Fall Further.

The vibration caused by trains running through the tunnel above which the club stood makes the task of removing the debris a perilous one, as the roof of the seven-story building, already caved in to the third floor, threatens to sink even farther. The south wall, which alone was left intact by the fire of Sunday night, also has weakened, and may fall on the workmen at any time.

The first funeral of the dead already recovered will take place today. The surviving club members have not yet recovered from the shock, nor have they reorganized. No public funeral therefore has been planned yet. Nine of the twelve bodies recovered have been identified and claimed by relatives who will bury them privately.

MAN DRAWN ON SAW AND CUT TO PIECES

Sleeve of Coat Catches and Death Is the Result.

Galesburg, Ill., March 12.—When the sleeve of his coat caught in the teeth of a saw, Omer Sheese, sawmill operator of Aledo, was drawn into the machine and cut to pieces late yesterday. He was 35 years old and had a wife and three children.

Westinghouse Ill.

New York, March 12.—George Westinghouse, it became known today, is seriously ill at a hotel in this city. Friends said he had been confined to his bed for some time. No information as to the nature of his illness could be obtained at the Westinghouse apartment.

SAYS HE CAN INDICT SIEGEL FIFTY TIMES

District Attorney Presents Mass of Evidence to Grand Jury.

Vogel Also Involved in the Accusations at New York.

Larceny, Fraud and Illegal Banking Among the Charges.

New York, March 12.—What the district attorney's office described as "material for at least fifty indictments," alleging fraud against Henry Siegel and Frank E. Vogel, president and vice president respectively of the Siegel Stores corporation, who were arrested yesterday on three indictments, and are at liberty under $25,000 bail each, was placed in the hands of the grand jury today.

Assistant District Attorney Arthur C. Train said that as many indictments as the ends of justice seemed to require, would be found against the merchant-bankers.

Orders closing the two big New York department stores operated by Henry Siegel and his partners, were issued today by the Federal court.

The indictments already found charge violation of the banking laws and grand larceny in making false statements to obtain credit. The grand larceny indictment is based only on the affairs of the Fourteenth Street store of this city and the Henry Siegel & Co. private bank, conducted in connection with it.

"The affairs of the Fourteenth Street store," said Mr. Train, "are typical of the affairs of other Siegel enterprises."

Face Long Terms.

Conviction on the indictment charging violation of the banking laws, in that Siegel and Vogel accepted deposits when they knew the bank to be insolvent, is punishable with a term of from one to five years' imprisonment and a fine of $5,000. For the grand larceny charge the men may be sentenced to ten years in prison and fined $10,000.

District Attorney Whitman said that statements of two secretaries employed by Siegel were the basis of the grand larceny indictment, these secretaries testified that false statements were prepared for merchants and bankers; that liabilities were turned into assets, and that approximately $2,500,000 of money deposited in the Siegel private bank was placed into the retail business while it was losing money.

Days of Work Ahead.

Additional indictments alleging that the two men accepted deposits when they knew the bank to be insolvent may be based upon testimony of individual depositors. Every deposit accepted by the bank for a period of over a year, it is claimed, can be made the basis of a separate indictment. It will take several days for the grand jury to go over the material at hand.

DEDICATE CLEVELAND HOUSE MARCH 15.

Caldwell, N. J., March 12.—Exercises in commemoration of the birthday of Grover Cleveland will be held under the auspices of the Grover Cleveland Birthplace and Memorial association here, on March 15. A part of the ceremony will be the dedication as a permanent memorial of the house in which Cleveland was born.

WILL PROBE ALL MARKETS

Congressmen Will Not Confine Work to Cities Manahan Named.

Duluth Men's Suggestion Meets Approval of Representatives.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 12.—Acting on the suggestion of Chairman Henry, the committee on rules today appointed a sub-committee to consider the introduction of a resolution for the appointment of a joint commission to investigate the grain and cotton business of the United States. Representatives Hardwick of Georgia, Henry of Texas, Cantrill of Kentucky, Lenroot of Wisconsin and Kelly of Pennsylvania constitute the committee.

The plea of the Duluth board of trade for an investigation of all the exchanges will be heeded, if the commission is appointed, and the inquiry will include all grain exchanges, instead of only those in Duluth, Minneapolis and Chicago, as proposed by Representative Manahan. Indicating his purpose in asking for this investigation, Representative Henry said he believed the platform pledges of his party should be carried out.

Admits Valuable Service.

"I believe the exchanges render valuable service to the people, but there is a general belief in the country that great abuses exist in their operation," said Mr. Henry. "The people of the South insist that they pay a tribute of $10,000,000 or so annually to members of stock exchanges on cotton alone. Farmers in other sections insist that they pay equal and greater sums on other commodities. They say they are incapable of protecting themselves under the present system. It is a big subject and we should get to rock bottom if we investigate it at all.

"I do not deisre to see the exchanges destroyed, but I want to know whether or not they are extorting tribute from the producers and whether or not they are influencing the cost of living."

CONVICTS WILL PAY FOR MATES' CAPTURE

Offer Reward for Return of Breakers of Parole.

Dallas, Tex., March 12.—A reward of $35 for the return of two of their number who broke parole and escaped has been offered by forty-eight other convicts, members of a party which recently began working the roads in Smith county without guards or shackles, under an experimental plan of the state. The reward is offered from the wages of the men, paid them as part of the experiment.

MICHAEL GREEN HAS CRUSHED FOOT.

Michael Green, a laborer at the Scott-Graff mill at the foot of Twenty-third avenue west, suffered a crushed foot at an early hour this morning. While unloading logs at 4 o'clock one of the big sticks got away and fell on Green, badly crushing his left foot. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital, where he was attended by Police Surgeon Murphy.

The latter does not expect that there will be any danger of the necessity of amputation. Green boards at the Grand hotel, West Duluth, and is unmarried.

ACCUSED OF PAYING TO GET BILL PASSED

FRANCIS T. BOWLES,
President of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company and Former Rear Admiral.

WOMEN BURN BIG MANSION

Leave Message That It Is to Avenge Mrs. Pankhurst.

Slasher of Painting Gets Six Months' Sentence—Refuses to Eat.

Glasgow, Scotland, March 12.—Militant suffragettes today burned to the ground a large, unoccupied mansion at Stewarton, belonging to the Free church of Scotland. A message was left in the vicinity stating: "This is in revenge for the brutal arrest of Mrs. Pankhurst."

Gets Six Months.

London, March 12.—Miss May Richardson, the militant suffragette who on Tuesday hacked Velasquez's "Rokeby Venus," a famous painting in the National gallery, was today sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

The case against Miss Richardson was disposed of in record time. She was arrested on March 10, taken to Bow street police court and committed for trial by the magistrate on the same day; the grand jury yesterday returned a true bill against her, and today she was tried and convicted by a jury at the London sessions at the Old Bailey.

The public prosecutor, in addressing the jury on behalf of the government, said that one might well doubt whether the prisoner was in her right senses. There was, however, no medical evidence to show that she was a person not responsible for her actions.

Is on Hunger Strike.

Miss Richardson has been on a "hunger strike" since her arrest. In replying to the charge today, she said

BUSINESS BLOCK AT FORT WILLIAM BURNS

Several Tenants Lose All Property—Losses Are $65,000.

Fort William, Ont., March 12.—Fire today damaged the business block owned by J. Dyke to the extent of $50,000. The block contained a hardware store and a bookstore, the losses on which aggregated $15,000 additional. Several families living on the upper floors lost all their belongings.

AVIATORS FALL INTO SEA; ONE IS DEAD.

Jaffa, Palestine, March 12.—Two Turkish army aviators, Nuri Bey and Ismail Bey, fell into the sea today while flying to the south of this port. Their aeroplane had broken down and they made a rapid glide to the water, where they were able to disentangle themselves from the machine and swim ashore. Both were in a state of extreme exhaustion when they reached the beach and were taken to a hospital where Nuri Bey died later in the day.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

Passed a resolution by Senator Chamberlain calling on Ambassador Walter H. Page for an explanation of his Panama canal speech in London last night.

Immigration committee agreed to report the Burnett bill favorably, including the literacy test.

C. W. De Knight, a lawyer, told the lobby committee he had been paid by the Pore River Shipbuilding company to work for the Panama tolls exemption.

HOUSE.

Met at noon.

William J. Schroeder of Cincinnati, formerly United States attorney, characterized price-fixing among corporations as an exercise of socialistic power and a blow to the public.

Rules committee authorized favorable report on Adamson resolution for a rule to consider Panama tolls exemption repeal immediately after disposition of the rivers and harbors bill.

W. J. Hunt, Cleveland, and W. H. Crowley, Boston, opposed the La Follette seamen's bill.

TELLS ABOUT LOBBYING FOR PANAMA BILL

De Knight Says Bowles Paid Him $1,000 for Work.

Ship Builder Also Promised $4,000 That He Never Got.

Promises to Produce Contract Before Senate Committee.

Washington, March 12.—That he contracted with Former Rear Admiral Bowles, president of the Fore River Shipbuilding company, for $1,000 and a contingent fee of $4,000 to work for toll exemptions for American coastwise ships in the Panama canal act, was charged today by Clarence W. De Knight before the senate lobby committee.

For his services in behalf of the Fore River Shipbuilding company, before the senate canals committee, when the Panama canal law was under consideration, De Knight testified he was paid only the $1,000, despite the fact that the tolls exemption was included in the bill.

Never Got the $4,000.

He demanded the $4,000 contingent fee from President Bowles after the bill was passed, but thought the reason he did not get it was because the bill did not go through in such form that the Fore River Shipbuilding company was to build some ships.

"Did your contract call for a contingency whereby the bill was to include a provision under which the government was to contract for ships in case the toll exemption was granted?" asked Senator Reed.

"No, I don't think so," said De Knight. "I don't exactly remember the contingency. I was to get the $4,000 if the bill went through a certain way. Anyhow, I know that Admiral Bowles' company did not build the ships. I never threatened to sue. The matter was dropped there and I still am retained by the company in connection with some claims cases."

Will Produce Contract.

The committee demanded that De Knight produce his contract with Bowles, which the witness said he would do later.

De Knight had been subpoenaed to produce files of his correspondence in relation to many legislative matters, but he urged that he wanted to consult counsel as to whether their production would impugn confidential relations between attorney and client. The committee will insist upon production of the correspondence.

De Knight said that he knew of no organized effort now to fight repeal of the toll exemption clause, and denied that he had written any letters of warning to shipbuilding companies relating to it. Asked if he knew of any fund being raised to fight the repeal, De Knight averred that he did not.

Bowles Denies It.

Boston, Mass., March 12.—Rear Admiral Bowles, president of the Fore River Ship-building company, today denied that he had employed Clarence W. De Knight to work for toll exemptions for American coastwise ships in the Panama canal act, as testified by De Knight before the senate lobby committee at Washington.

"I employed Mr. De Knight in connection with section 11 of the Panama canal act, which has to do with the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission over canal shipping," the admiral said. "The provision concerning tolls is section 5 of the act, and with this I had nothing to do."

KILLED TRYING TO SAVE SWEETHEART

West Virginian and Young Woman Run Down on Trestle.

Williamson, W. Va., March 12.—While attempting to save the life of Miss Dixie Blackburn, his sweetheart, whose foot was caught in a railway trestle near here today, William McCoy was struck by a train and tossed into a ravine fifty feet away. Miss Blackburn was instantly killed and McCoy was dying when picked up by the train crew.

WOODLAND, CAL., ARMORY ROBBED

Rifles and Ammunition Thought to Have Gone to Idle Men.

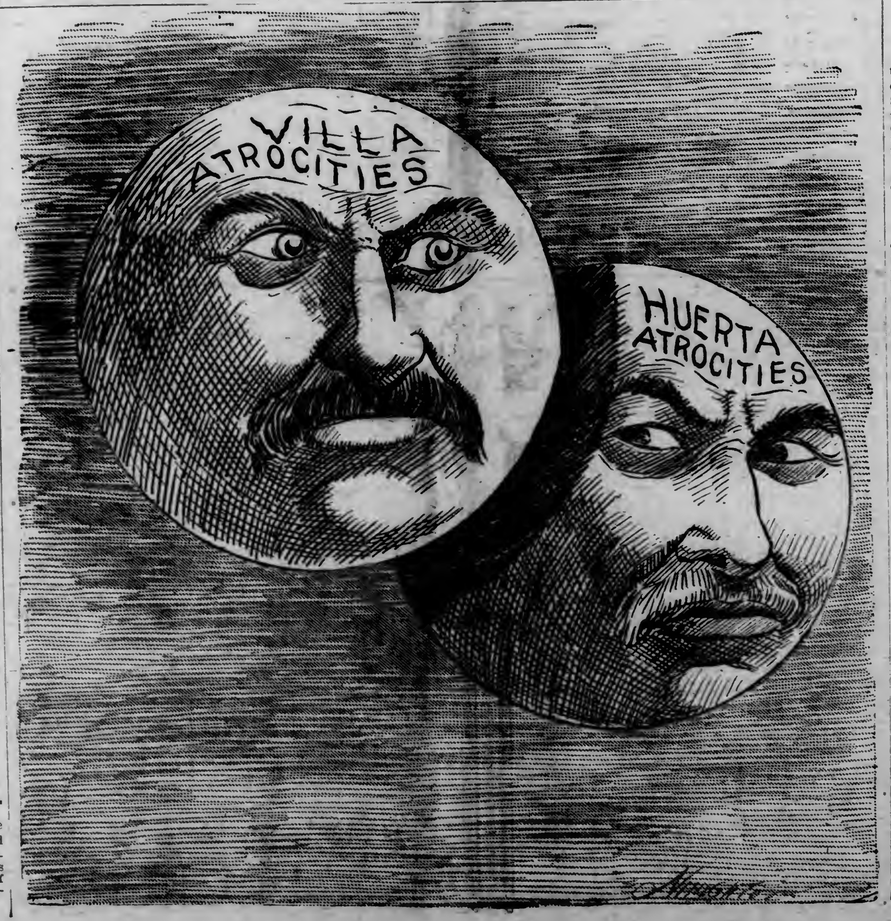

Woodland, Cal., March 12.—The armory of Company F in this city was entered by burglars believed to be members of the unemployed "army" early today and twelve rifles and several hundred rounds of ammunition were stolen.

C. D. Baker of Cincinnati Escaped From St. Louis Fire.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 12.—Charles D. Baker of this city, whose clothing, money and cards were found in some clothing recovered from the St. Louis fire, escaped from the burning building. This information was conveyed to Baker's relatives here on Tuesday in a long distance telephone message from guests at the Athletic club on the night of the fire, that he had managed to escape, but had lost his clothes and money. He asked that money be forwarded to him at a St. Louis hotel.

Killed in the Ahmeek.

Calumet, Mich., March 12.—Charles Chegwidden, aged 60, was killed Tuesday by being hit with a descending skip in the No. 1 shaft of the Ahmeek mine. Mr. Chegwidden was one of the oldest employes of the Ahmeek, having been employed there ever since the mine was opened. He was a shaft man and was engaged in fixing a roller between two levels and did not know the skip was coming till it hit him on the head. He is survived by his wife, but leaves no children.

A Kidney Remedy That Has Thousands of Friends

I believe Dr. Kilmer & Company of Binghamton, N. Y., manufacture one of the best medicines for the kidneys, liver and blood, called "Swamp-Root" ever produced, and I take pleasure in recommending it to others.

After trying several remedies for the kidneys and liver trouble, which apparently had taken on chronic form, I was urged to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a fair trial and wrote for a trial bottle, which was promptly mailed to my address. I was so well pleased with the action of the remedy that I purchased it in five bottle lots and continued taking the remedy until I was fully satisfied that my kidneys and liver were restored to a healthy condition.

Prior to accepting this remedy I was almost daily afflicted with hemorrhage from the nose which physicians were unable to check or prescribe a remedy for, unquestionably caused by the condition of my kidneys, my heart at times affected, my stomach and other organs in sympathy, all of which have been completely restored to a normal condition. I weigh fifteen pounds more than I did three years ago, the result of complying with the printed directions found with a bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

I have been in the Railway Service for the past forty-two years and have been a resident of this city for the past twenty-three years.

Very truly yours,
E. B. PITNEY,

338 West Patten St., Paxton, Illinois.

Personally appeared before me this 27th day of June, 1912, Mr. E. B. Pitney, who subscribed the above statement, and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

RUDOLPH L. SCHNEIDER,
Notary Public.

Marine

SHIPS WILL LEAVE EARLY

Ice Conditions Indicate That Navigation Will Open Soon.

Some Boats Now Being Loaded for Initial Voyage.

The navigation season will probably open this spring considerably earlier than last year because of the favorable ice conditions at Duluth and the Soo. Vessels are already being loaded with grain and will begin their initial voyage as soon as the ice has cleared from the rivers and channels. The first vessel left the Duluth canal last year on April 17. Marine men aver that the first vessel this year will probably leave here much earlier.

"The opening of the season depends very largely upon the demand for coal and iron ore as well as ice conditions," said Herman C. Strom, agent of the Interlake Steamship company today. "If orders should come in early and be urgent, the large vessels will venture out much earlier than they would if orders were slack."

The earliest opening of navigation at Duluth on record was in 1911 when the date was March 1. The latest opening was on May 15, which occurred in 1882. Following are the opening and closing dates from 1871 up to and including 1913:

Much Depends on Ice.

According to Mr. Strom the ice conditions are now being watched with the keenest interest by marine men at all the lake ports. The latest report says that ice in the Duluth harbor is now twenty-five inches thick. No material change in the conditions have been noted yet. The ice fields extend from two to four miles out into the lake. At the Soo ice is said to be about eighteen inches in thickness. Marine men say that a few real warm day would break up the ice and make it possible for boats to ply between here and Two Harbors, but the Interlake traffic would necessarily be delayed for some time until the Soo is cleared.

Only thirty-three large freighters wintered here this year. This is about half the number that was here a year ago. No reason is given for this fact except that the vessels found it more convenient to dock elsewhere. Only a few of these boats are now being loaded.

The report made that ships are now being fitted out for spring service was denied today. There is apparently no rush to make ready for the opening.

Much Grain In Port.

Grain cargies valued at approximately $7,091,978 are stored in the local elevators awaiting the opening of navigation, when they will be transported to the East.

There are 5,062,968 bushels of wheat, 2,839,839 bushels of oats, 534,724 bushels of barley and 740,332 bushels of flax. The grain is divided among the various elevators as follows: Itasca Elevator company, 87,000 bushels wheat, 342,000 corn, 294,000 oats, and 9,000 rye; Great Northern elevators, 3,265,388 wheat, 3,340 oats, 3,150 barley, 53 rye, and 707,634 flax. Cargill elevator, 591,000 wheat, 436,000 barley, and 26,075 flax; Globe Elevator company, 353,000 wheat, 867,000 oats, 15,000 barley and 5,400 flax.

On a basis of 300,000 bushels to the cargo it will take about twenty-four of the large modern carriers to transport this grain.

Of the total grain in storage here 2,537,576 bushels are bonded, this being divided as follows: 766,580 bushels of wheat, 1,675,499 bushels of oats, 86,674 bushels of barley and 8,623 bushels of flax.

FAIR RATES TO SOUTHERN POINTS

No Longer Discriminated Against in Trans-Mississippi Business.

For the first time Duluth now has a through freight rate from Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and other trans-Mississippi points, the new schedules of rates having just been received in this territory.

This matter was taken up by the traffic commission of the Commercial club in November, 1912, at which time, in voluminous correspondence, G. Roy Hall, the secretary of the traffc commission, urged the officials of the various roads concerned to grant such joint rates. This has now borne fruit. Recently the Fitzsimmons-Palmer Fruit commission company made formal complaint but that has been held up, owing to the fact that the Western Trunk Line association was considering the Duluth traffic commission's request, which was not put in the form of a complaint, merely pointing out the injustice of the then existing conditions.

In his letters to the officials concerned, Mr. Hall pointed out that there was no joint provision in any carrying tariff from the points mentioned, to Duluth, while the Twin Cities were favored with such provision. He offered a table to show the discrimination, and pointed out also that the only available rates were the lowest combinations of local rates between points west of the Mississippi and Kansas City.

It was promised at the time that the matter would be brought up before the W. T. L. and this has at last been done. The new rates will become effective April 1. The reduction is radical and dealers here will profit greatly, particularly the commission companies.

HUNDREDS SEEK FOR WORK OUT OF CITY

Governor Glynn's Plan to Aid Unemployed Meets Response.

New York, March 12.—Hundreds of men and a few women crowded today into the small office used as a free labor bureau by the state department of agriculture to take advantage of Governor Glynn's new plan to help the city's unemployed by finding them work in the country. The rush was so unexpected that many left the labor bureau without getting an opportunity to sign an application blank.

GLODE ENTERS RACE.

Eveleth Man Files for Commissioner in Sixth District.

John Glode, proprietor of the Hotel Glode of Eveleth, yesterday afternoon filed with County Auditor Odin Halden his affidavit of intention of becoming a candidate for the nomination for the office of county commissioner from the Sixth commissioner district.

Mr. Glode is the third one to enter the race thus far. The other two candidates are Andrew Hawkinson, member of the county poor commission and former mayor of Virginia, and Martin Nelson, also of Virginia. Neil McInnis, the present incumbent, who resides at Eveleth, will not be a candidate for re-election.

COPPER COMPANIES WILL BE SCORED IN COMMITTEE REPORT

Chairman Taylor Talks of the Congressional Investigation.

"Detective Agencies Sent Armed Thugs There," He Says.

Washington, March 12.—The house committee investigating conditions in the Michigan copper mine strike area returned here today, and members indicated that their report would denounce the mine owners for refusing to allow their men to return to work without renouncing their unions.

Chairman Taylor condemned the use of armed men from outside the state at the instance of the mine owners, and pictured a miserable condition of men on strike. He announced that the committee would later obtain further evidence from the books of the Calumet & Hecla company at Boston, giving a hearing to John Mitchell, the labor leader, and probably present a report to the house by May 1.

"Un-American Proposition."

"The companies," said Chairman Taylor, "have the right not to recognize the union, and the men have the right to belong to a union. It is an un-American proposition to deny a man the right to belong to some organization.

"The Western Federation of Miners is distinctly a metalliferous organization, and these strikers could belong to no other such organization; and a denial of their right to its membership means denial of their right to belong to any union.

"The Citizens' Alliance, the organization of citizens, is working along this line of driving the Western Federation of Miners off the map.

"The Waddell-Mahon corporation brought a large number of strike-breakers into the strike territory. They furnished thugs. The Asher agency likewise furnished thugs. The Burns' agency sent men in there.

"Produce Excitement."

"These people have shipped a lot of men in there with instructions that if there is no excitement they must produce excitement. These fellows have created trouble. They have no responsibility, and have been made deputy sheriffs and allowed to carry guns.

"The majority of the investigating committee will agree in recommending to congress a Federal law to prohibit corporations from shipping armed men from one state to another. This will be on the ground that they are trouble makers.

"The committee probably will make some other recommendations concerning working conditions of large enterprises like the Calumet & Hecla corporation, which on an investment of $1,500,000, has in the last fifty years paid $125,000,000 in dividends and reinvested $75,000,000 more out of proceeds."

Davidson Going to Michigan.

Chicago, March 12.—William Davidson, member of the executive council of the Western Federation of Miners, expected to leave tonight for the Copper country to confer with the local union leaders in regard to the strike situation. James A. Short, one of the organizers of the American Federation of Labor, will accompany him.

Charles H. Moyer, president of the federation, said today that he would remain in Chicago for several days until the condition of Charles E. Mahoney, vice president of the Western Federation of Miners, who was operated on two days ago for appendicitis, began to show improvement.

No Order for Referendum.

Calumet, Mich., March 12.—Although President Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners has put the matter of the settlement of the copper strike up to the strikers themselves, recommending a referendum vote, President William Rickard of the Calumet local said today no official instructions had been received and that no action would be taken until orders were received.

Rickard said strike benefits still were being paid and that the continuance of the strike depended largely on the matter of the financing.

TANNENBAUM WILL BE TRIED NEXT WEEK

Attorney for Free Speech League Will Defend Him.

New York, March 12.—Frank Tannenbaum of the Industrial Workers of the World, recently indicted for participation in an unlawful assembly because he led an army of the unemployed into a Catholic church, pleaded not guilty to the charge when arraigned today. He was represented by Justus Sheffield, an attorney employed by the Free Speech league. It is expected that the trial will begin about the middle of next week.

CRIPPLE OUTRUNS CHICAGO OFFICERS

Pays No Attention to Bullets From Seven Revolvers.

Chicago, March 12.—Six deputy sheriffs and a uniformed policeman with drawn revolvers dashed out of the criminal court building today in eager pursuit of Frank Collins, a cripple, arrested for begging.

In spite of his handicap, Collins, who had broken from a group of thirteen prisoners, outdistanced his pursuers. He paid no attention to seven bullets which whizzed past him, and disappeared in an alley.

MISSING JEWELRY SELLER MURDERED.

Lawrence, Mass., March 12.—The fact that John K. Shamlian, a Boston jewelry salesman who had been missing for a month, was murdered and his body hacked to pieces, was disclosed, when four Armenians, confessed, according to the police, to complicity in his death, or the disposition of his body, parts of which were found buried in the woods at Frye village, in Andover.

The men alleged to have confessed to the killing, and who are under arrest charged with murder, are Garabal Barbarian, John Ardanian and Bedros Takdarian. All are employes of textile mills. Mike Zakian, a coffee house proprietor, was also charged with murder after he told of assisting in burying the body. It was Zakian who gave the information which resulted in the discovery of the body.

Shamlian was killed on the night of Feb. 9, during a quarrel, according to the story which the police said the men told. Shamlian's jewelry case, containing about $30 worth of valuables, was found in the home of Barbarian. Barbarian claimed it was undisturbed.

Suicide Near Loman.

"TALKS ON NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING"

By TRUMAN A. DE WEESE.

How to Avoid Duplication in Advertising.

Much has been said and written about "duplication" in advertising. The magazine representative will tell you how to avoid duplication. His clientele is peculiar. The subscribers do not read any other publication. They can only be reached through his medium. Along comes another magazine representative who knows that advertising in his medium means duplication. You are already reaching his readers through many mediums and he knows it. He therefore talks to you about the value of duplication. "Advertising is nothing but repetition, you know. It is the iteration and reiteration of the selling arguments behind a product which gradually make a favorable impression on the human mind and will finally result in creating a new want or desire and this finally results in a purchase."

All of which is true within certain limitations. Of course advertising is repetition, but when you get beyond a certain amount of duplication advertising is waste. The problem is to know how much duplication an advertiser should pay for. All this of course refers more directly to national advertising, and yet the same problem confronts the local merchant in the town where there are several newspapers pubished. At least two of these papers go into nearly every home and hence there is duplication—but this sort of duplication is valuable to the local merchant, for his appeal is confined to the locality in which he does business and the oftener he can talk to his own people in his own home the greater his possibility of profits.

But even the local merchant can waste a lot of money in useless repetition. If you are in the two leading papers in a city you have solved the problem of duplication. Both the national advertiser and the local merchant can stand behind this proposition and resist all advertising schemes of every description. In the newspaper he is reaching the largest possible percentage of possible purchasers. He can say to all representatives of all other forms of advertising, "I am reaching the persons you can reach every day in the year in a medium that goes into the family circle, that is a part of the family life, that sustains peculiar, intimate relations with the home, and hence when the advertising is properly written it is far more effective than the mediums which you propose to go into. Your program, your book, your catalogue, your directory, your magazine, would be useless duplication."

Thus the newspaper advertiser is fortified against all comers when he knows he is covering the field. No one can offer anything that covers his locality so intensely and completely because no one medium reaches so many purchasers in a given town. Even though the advertiser is building up a national trade-mark asset through national magazines he realizes the necessity for cashing in on that asset by going directly to the consumers in the cities where the goods are for sale—and this he can do only in the newspapers.

The waste in national advertising is appalling. And this waste comes almost entirely from the blanket style of advertising—spreading an appropriation over a vast territory without any reference to distribution or selling plans. If a man spends $100,000 in a national campaign and it happens that he has no distribution in half the territory covered, he is practically wasting $50,000. He had far better reduce the appropriation to $50,000 and spend it in concentrated, localized advertising, using the mediums which have the maximum effect in the localities where his goods are for sale. He should not only localize his appeal to suit the varying conditions in the different towns and cities, but also in order to secure the largest and fullest dealer co-operation.

MEN'S DISEASES!

The more medical science advances, the more apparent becomes the folly of employing harsh and dangerous measures in attempting to cure the ailments of men. Drastic dosing and useless cutting have done irreparable injury in thousands of cases. We cure all special diseases of men promptly and permanently by painless methods that cannot possibly produce undesirable results.

OUR TREATMENT.

Functional derangement is not a disease. To stimulate activity by the use of powerful tonics is an easy matter, but such results are merely temporary drug effects. We have in our service the most powerful X-Ray and High-Potential-frequency machines; with these machines we will build up your broken down system quicker than gallons of medicines and a surgeon's knife could do. Our treatment is local and constitutional, and corrects every abnormal condition of that vital center. Our cures are real cures and are permanent.

Twenty years of successful practice as Doctors in Men's Diseases justifies every claim we make. We promise our patients a complete cure in every instance, and in cases where we cannot safely make this promise, we positively refuse to treat.

DEPENDABLE TREATMENT.

Our treatment is absolutely painless, and perfect results can be depended upon in every instance. We do no cutting, burning or dilating, like is usually done in strictures, piles and wormlike veins.

VARICOSE VEINS.

Absolutely painless treatment that cures completely. Investigate our method. It is the only thoroughly scientific treatment for this disease being employed. Instead of cutting the wormlike masses, we dissolve them and remove the cause forever.

BLOOD POISON.

No dangerous minerals to drive the virus to the interior, but harmless blood cleansing remedies that remove the last poisonous taint and clean out and clear up the system. "606" is given after the system is thoroughly cleansed of the poisons that circulate in the blood. No cure is perfect, no matter if a patient had 10 injections of '606.'

STOMACH TROUBLES.

have the least attention from patient and doctor. Last week a man came in our office who thought he had a little Dyspepsia, and it proved to be a cancer. Come in, we will cure you.

"All Aboard" for Peerless

Nothing like a good satisfying chew to keep your nerves steady and your head clear. Street car men are about the busiest lot of fellows on earth. Starting—stopping—watching traffic—taking care of passengers—something's going on every minute.

It would be a tough job for them if they didn't have their PEERLESS to smooth out the kinks; but it's "All Aboard for the Contentment Avenue Line" when they use this rich, mellow, satisfying tobacco.

PEERLESS
Long Cut Tobacco

is made from pure Southern Kentucky tobacco, aged from three to five years so as to bring out its full, ripe flavor and rich fragrance. It was made right fifty years ago—and it's been made right ever since.

Most sturdy, live men won't use any other brand, once they've tried PEERLESS—because no other brand has the snap and taste of PEERLESS. It gives you big, juicy satisfaction such as you get out of a good square meal.

"Mind your step"—get aboard PEERLESS for a week's trial of chewing and smoking, and you'll never stop. Sold everywhere in 5c packages.

Other sizes, 10c, 20c and 40c Packages, and 45c Tin Pails.

Young Men's Christian association.
And all others not expressly invited.

Unanimous approval for the proposed midsummer pageant and festival for Duluth in 1915 is the rule to date.

Out of the twenty-nine organizations of the city recently invited by a committee from the Retail Merchants' association to co-operate in the work of staging the big affair next year, thirteen have lost no time in falling into line. In each instance, hearty co-operation has been pledged. All co-operation has been pledged. All organizations which have yet acted on the shoulders to the wheel.

It is expected that during the next two weeks the committee which is temporarily taking charge of the affairs, will receive replies from those organizations not yet pledged to the cause. In many instances, the societies or organizations are heartily in favor of the idea, but as yet have not appointed a committee and formally acted upon the proposition. The matter will be taken up in the immediate future by the Duluth Boat club, and there is said to be no doubt but what this organization will soon have a committee at work.

The commercial travelers will also meet within the next few days and it is expected that the "knights of the grip" will put their stamp of approval on the project. The U. C. T.s are among Duluth's best boosters, and from an advertising standpoint alone would be invaluable to those who will later be selected to take charge of the big pageant. The Association of Office Men, it is understood, will also consider the matter at its meeting tomorrow evening.

Makes New Suggestion.

At a meeting of the Duluth Retail Merchants' association Tuesday evening at the Spalding hotel, F. A. Patrick in an address in which he spoke at some length on the 1915 pageant proposition, called attention to the importance of co-operation on the part of the automobile enthusiasts and road builders.

Among other things Mr. Patrick said that it would be from the Middle West that Duluth would draw her largest crowds, due probably to the fact that the hottest section of the entire country during the summer is in the Mississippi and Missouri valleys. Many of these people, he said, who own automobiles will drive to the cool spot at the Head of the Lakes. He declared that the automobile men should fall in line and boost the proposition and that the county commissioners of St. Louis county should lose no time in putting the Twin City-Duluth highway in good shape.

At the same meeting, A. K. Squier, chairman of the committee on the midsummer pageant, reported the progress which has already been made in lining up the Duluth organizations, clubs and societies for the big affair. Mr. Squier stated that it might be possible that some organizations had been slighted through not having received an invitation to join in the movement. If such was the case, he said, it should be distinctly understood that it was not intentional on the part of the committee. Every organization is invited and those which have not received letters, he said, should act upon their own initiative and notify the committee of their intentions.

A. C. Pearson and W. B. Brinkman, the two other members of the committee, also made a few remarks and suggested a number of pertinent ideas which may be adopted in planning the monster festival.

No. 4.

The workingman, who is unfortunate enough to become injured during the course of his employment, will find both a friend and an advisor in Martin Cole, deputy state labor commissioner, who has offices in the courthouse.

Time was when the injured workingman took his troubles to an attorney. If the attorney saw a good case in it he took it. If not, he turned it down. Under a new law, personal injury litigation is largely abolished and the employe has more assurance that he will be compensated for his injuries.

Instead of hunting up an attorney for advice on matters of this kind, the workingman will find Mr. Cole always ready to give him any information he may desire.

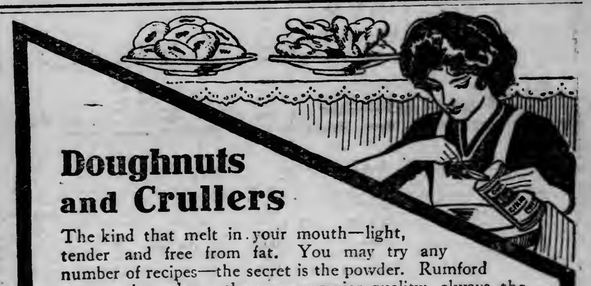

Since Oct. 1, when the new workingmen's compensation law went into effect, a new field of endeavor has opened up for the deputy labor commissioner. He is kept busy looking after the interests of injured workers.

In cases where differences arise between an employer and an injured employe, Mr. Cole has often helped adjust affairs, instead of having the matter taken into court.

Since the new law has been in effect, more than 700 cases have been settled in this county. Both employer and employe seem to be satisfied with its operation, according to Mr. Cole.

DULUTH ELKS UNANIMOUSLY APPROVE SUMMER FESTIVAL

The Duluth lodge of Elks, No. 133, at the regular meeting held at the lodge rooms last night, unanimously approved the proposal for a gigantic midsummer pageant to be held in this city in 1915.

John E. Samuelson, chairman of the special committee appointed to investigate the plan, reported that the project had been carefully considered from all angles and that the committee wa sheartily in favor of it. He explained that to be successful the united energies of all organizations in the city would be required and that the enthusiasm with which the idea had already been received left no doubt but what it would be carried through on a larger and grander scale than anything ever before attempted at the Head of the Lakes. He asserted that the advantages to be gained are so many that no effort should be spared to place it on a plane which will rival the Mardi Gras of New Orleans or the rose festival of Portland.

The motion approving the midsummer project named E. J. Filiatrault as chairman of the committee which will act with the general committee to have charge of the arrangements. The chairman is authorized to select two other members to serve on the committee with him but they have not been chosen and will be announced later.

A large class of candidates was initiated at the meeting last night. When the transaction of business had been concluded the lodge adjourned for a social session, which was featured by a series of clever sleight-of-hand performances by Robert Stift, a member of the Minneapolis lodge, and several vocal solos by Joseph Kreimer. Several other members contributed to the entertainment.

Coal $57.80 a Ton.

Salt Lake City, March 12.—A shipment of 300 tons of Utah coal just sent to Alaska, will cost $57.80 a ton when delivered. The coal is billed to a mining company operating dredges north of Nome. It will be hauled overland by dog sled from Nome.

PE-RU-NA
LAXATIVE-TONIC

Since taking Peruna my bowels have become perfectly regular. I was hardly aware that I was taking a laxative at all. I commenced taking the Peruna for its tonic qualities. It seemed to me I was in need of a tonic. Peruna acted as a splendid tonic in my case, and to my surprise it also regulated my bowels. I am in splendid condition. I am three or four times as capable for business today as I was a month ago. I am sure that the whole credit is due to Peruna.

Those who object to Liquid Medicine will find Peruna Tablets a desirable remedy for CATARRHAL CONDITIONS.

MARRY ON AN OLD LICENSE

On a marriage license issued three years ago, Walter Adamski and Lillian Forkey were married yesterday by Judge S. W. Gilpin of the probate court. Neither volunteered an explanation as to the long delay. "We just decided to put it off," was Adamski's only comment. The license was issued on Dec. 24, 1910.

STOCK JUDGING WILL BE FEATURED

Farmers' Club Members Will Aid in Short Course Work.

Special attention to stock judging will be the feature of the work at the short course being given at the demonstration farm and experiment station of the University of Minnesota tomorrow and Saturday.

Tomorrow evening George Grout, superintendent of the Jean Duluth farm, will speak on "Dairy Types." M. J. Thompson, director of the short course is planning to have all the students present at this lecture as a preparatory step to the stock judging work, which will be the feature Saturday afternoon.

The Saturday afternoon program will be made of wide interest by the presence of members of the Normanna and Lakewood farmers' clubs, who will aid the students in stock judging work.

E. J. Delviche of the Ashland, Wis., experiment station, gave a very interesting and instructive lecture on "Field Crops in the Lake Superior Region." Mr. Delwiche has had ten years' experience in this region and he based his talk on actual experience with crops in the upper lake belt.

WIFE ASKS DIVORCE ON CRUELTY CHARGE.

Charging cruel and inhuman treatment, Rose Maki, yesterday started suit for divorce in district court against Peter Maki, to whom she was married in this city June 7, 1910. She alleges, among other things, that while she was at the home of Elias Korri, Porcupine, Ont., he attacked her and seriously injured her. In June, 1912, she alleges that he deserted her. The woman is seeking alimony and a decree of absolute divorce.

Minister Acquires Finnish.

Newberry, Mich., March 12.—Rev. He so conducted a Finnish wedding, greatly to the delight of the contracting parties.

Soda For Gas, Acid Stomach or Indigestion

Gas, Gas, Gas—When everything eaten turns to gas and we eructate sour food and acrid fluids it means we are troubled with acidity, says a noted authority. An excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach starts food fermentation and prevents complete digestion. Then our meals sour in the stomach like garbage sours in a can, forming gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon, causing a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest; we belch gas, have sour risings, heartburn, flatulence, water-brash and nausea.

He tells us to put aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy a package of 10 grain Sodagen tablets and take one tablet any time followed by a tumbler of water, which will instantly neutralize acidity, stop fermentation, absorb the gases and sweeten the entire digestive tract.

He further states that those men and women troubled with chronic acidity and its resulting Indigestion, Sourness and Gases should take one 10 grain Sodagen tablet regularly after meals for a period, as this antacid is entirely harmless, being composed of Soda, Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate U. S. P.

MALBURN PICKED FOR TREASURY DEPARTMENT

Washington, March 12.—William Peabody Malburn of Denver, Col., has been nominated by President Wilson to be assistant secretary of the treasury. He will be assigned to the customs division, succeeding Assistant Secretary Hamlin, who took charge of the financial division when John Skelton Williams became comptroller of the currency. Malburn, who is a native of Freeport, Ill., a lawyer and a former banker, was selected by Secretary McAdoo as a result of conferences he had at the department when the currency bill was pending.

WISCONSIN GIRL WEDS ENGLISHMAN.

Coronado Beach, Cal., March 12.—Miss Margaret Hilward Hately, daughter of John C. Hately of Lake Geneva, Wis., was married yesterday to John Bingley Garland Lester of Guilford, England. Lester is secretary of foreign affairs of the Panama-Pacific international exposition, was an honor man at Oxford and is a cousin of the earl of Chesterfield. Mr. and Mrs. Lester will spend their honeymoon in South Africa, where Lester goes as United States commission in the interests of the exposition.

KEEP THE MONROE DOCTRINE, SAYS TAFT.

Amherst, Mass., March 12.—Ex-President William H. Taft last night delivered the last of his course of lectures at Amherst college, taking the "Monroe Doctrine" as his subject. He strongly supported the retention of this doctrine. "We have maintained it for 100 years without firing a shot," he said, "and why should we abandon it now when it stands as an effective warning to bid Europe to keep its hand grabbing out of America?"

He referred to President Cleveland and the Venezuelan situation, and said that his ultimatum to England was a good deal of a bluff; for if England had desired, she could have sent her fleet into every port of this country, as we had but one high-powered gun to defend our coast.

CROOKSTON TEACHERS ARE HIRED AGAIN.

Crookston, Minn., March 12.—After conferring with Supt. A. B. Hess and Superintendent-elect G. H. Sandberg, the Crookston school board re-engaged nearly all the present staff of teachers. There are quite a number of positions yet to be filled, a number of of the present staff not having as yet made applications for re-election.

Superintendent-elect Sandberg has been here since Sunday, conferring with Supt. Hess, who is giving him every assistance possible in getting an insight into conditions, policy, etc., and considerable time was spent going through the various schools.

CATHCART SELECTED.

St. Paul Publicity Man Secretary of Crookston Commercial Club.

Crookston, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club has elected J. M. Cathcart of St. Paul as secretary and he will assume charge next Monday.

Mr. Cathcart has had fifteen years' experience covering many branches of railroad work, in which is included a large amount of publicity work and some commercial club work. For the past three years he has been general manager of the Glacier National Park for the Great Northern, in which publicity work is a material factor, and prior to that time was for three years in charge of the commissary department for the Great Northern, with headquarters in St. Paul.

Many Attending Short Course Being Held at East Grand Forks.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attendance at the agricultural short course sessions held here under the direction of the extension department of the college of agriculture continues good, and the farmers are showing much interest in the lectures.

Last night the visitors were the guests of the Commercial club at a reception.

Yesterday afternoon O. I. Bergh of the Crookston Agricultural school discussed the advantages of small grains in the Red river valley. The question of properly rotating such crops was given special consideration.

C. E. Brown continued the work in the corn division and F. H. White is continuing the livestock department.

MINOT COMBATS SCARLET FEVER.

Minot, N. D., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local theaters and churches which were closed several days because of scarlet fever, will be re-opened under the direction of the public health authorities, but children under 16 years will be denied admission.

Two deaths resulted from the disease, which officials now believe is well in hand, no new cases having developed within the last ten days. Schools of the city will be re-opened next Monday after being closed two weeks.

Invite Governors and Mayors.

Savannah, Ga., March 12.—Governors of every state in the Union and the mayors of many of the larger cities will be invited to attend the national drainage congress here April 23-25. This step was authorized at a meeting of the committee on arrangements here.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs Kidneys, then the Back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessnes and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross drug store, 13 West Superior street.

STEEL INDUSTRY IS MORE ACTIVE

Independents Book Orders for Entire Summer's Work.

A feeling of optimism is reported to prevail among the steel manufacturers in and about Pittsburg due to a great extent to the increased activity at the various plants during the last three weeks.

The independents are said to have taken practically all the business offered them at current prices and as a result the Jones & Laughlin Steel company is credited with having booked orders enough recently to run its plants until the late summer or early fall. The United States Steel corporation, on the other hand, has been holding out for higher prices and is not booked so far ahead.

Steel manufacturers are complaining of the present low scale of prices, which are computed to average $7.50 per ton under those of a year ago. That situation is attributed mainly to the railroads pursuing a policy of buying steel rails and equipment only in sufficient quantities to cover immediate requirements until such time as a decision shall have been rendered by the interstate commerce commission in their application for higher freight rates.

It is estimated that requisitions for more than 500,000 tons of rails and 15,000 cars are being held up at the head offices of the railroads pending the outcome of the rate decision.

Beware of Kidney Disease

So swift, silent and insidious is the all-prevalent scourge of kidney disease that it snuffs out more lives annually than all other diseases. Normal kidneys are rarely found in persons over forty years of age. The banker, the manufacturer, the preacher, the doctor, the lawyer, the rich and poor alike suffer from this disease and will find relief in Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy. It soothes inflammation and irritation, stimulates the enfeebled organs and heals at the same time. Its special power of healing and strengthening the kidneys is the reason for its great success during the past 37 years. Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy is the medicine that you need to restore the kidneys to a healthy condition. Sold everywhere by druggists in 50c and $1.00 sizes—every bottle guaranteed. WOODSMEN LEAVE CAMPS

Fully 1,000 Expected to Be in Duluth This Week.

Men Tire of Woods and Seek Other Fields of Labor.

Fully 1,000 men from the big woods are expected to reach Duluth this week, according to employment agents on Michigan street. The attraction of the camps in the pineries is on the wane as the weather warms up and the men are now eager to go to work on the railroads, farms and other places of employment for a change.

Employment agents are already being besieged for railroad work, but nothing in that line is in sight yet. By April 1 or a little later it is expected that railroad, building, and various kinds of work will begin to open up.

The logging camps are having hard work to keep their men on the job. The unrest that comes with early spring is already apparent, and every day sees an increasing number ship into Duluth. The Head of the Lakes will be a mecca for the woodsmen.

According to the employment men the steel plant will offer work to an increased number of workmen this spring and summer, and considerable inquiry is being made at the employment offices for work at the new plant. Plans for great activity in all lines of improvement are manifest and it is expected that work will be plentiful during the season.

Some of the woodsmen are returning with big "rolls." Owing to the uncertainty of the logging season and the difficulty in getting jobs, those who were fortunate enough to have steady employment, stuck to their jobs all winter.

Conditions along the east coast of Mexico were summarized today by Rear Admiral Fletcher in the following report to the navy department:

Ready for Torreon Campaign.

Chihuahua, Mexico, March 12.—"Everything is ready for the advance on Torreon" declared Gen. Francisco Villa last night after witnessing a review of the artillery corps. "I will soon order the advance.

"I have food for forty days; ammunition for fifteen days of fighting, unless the cartridges are wasted, and the water supply problem in the vicinity of Torreon, which has given us some concern, has been solved" he continued.

The rebel leader said he would leave a garrison of about 600 men in the city.

Communication Cut Off.

Mexico City, March 12.—Communication with Torreon has been cut. The capital has no exact advices of developments there, though it is known that there has been light fighting to the north and that a large force of rebels is said to be approaching Torreon from the west.

that her act was premeditated, and that she pleaded guilty.

Addressing Judge Robert Wallace, who presided over the court, Miss Richardson said:

"I am an art student, but I care more for justice than for art. I firmly believe that when the nation has shut its eyes to justice and has allowed women who are fighting for justice to be maltreated and tortured, such an action as mine should be understandable.

"The slow and premeditated murder of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst is the ultimatum which has made necessary the recent acts of her followers. The nation seems to be dead or asleep, for we women have knocked vainly at the doors of ministers, bishops and archbishops, and even of the king himself.

Is "Grateful and Happy."

"I know that you will sentence me. I can stand only a few months' torture, but my fate makes little difference. I am really a grateful and happy woman, because I have been able to live in a century in which Mrs. Pankhurst lived, and because in a slight measure I have tried to carry out what I believe in."

As Judge Wallace was about to pass sentence the following colloquy occurred:

The judge: "If the picture had been destroyed no money could have replaced it."

Miss Richardson: "Do you realize that no money can replace Mrs. Pankhurst? She is being slowly killed."

The judge: "You have pleaded guilty and have gloried in your crime."

Miss Richardson: "I don't say that. I think it a shame I had to consider it my duty to do it."

Given Limit Sentence.

The judge: "It is my duty to pass sentence of six months imprisonment. I recognize that this sentence is totally inadequate, but it is the maximum sentence for damaging works of art. If the offense had been window breaking I could have given the prisoner eighteen months imprisonment."

Miss Richardson looked ill, and it was suggested in some quarters that the precarious state of her health had been the reason for the unusual hurry of the trial.

The charge against the prisoner was "malicious damage to a picture."

That portion of London which harvests the dollars of American tourists is showing much alarm over the closing of sight-seeing shrines as a result of acts of vandalism committed by suffragettes.

Wants American Dollars.

The manager of a hotel, half of whose guests come from the United States, said that the places now closed are those which Americans come half way across the world to see, and that, therefore, he looks for a heavy loss, arguing that if a number of tourists do not remain away, they are almost certain to curtail their stays at points of interest.

It is also feared, according to this hotel manager, that the stories of suffragette outrages have been so painted in the United States that the timid tourists will give London a wide berth.

As to the suffragettes' bombs having usually been placed at points to which tourists are attracted, the claim is made that fear of explosions already has caused many American women to hasten through London without making their usual stops.

New Minot Police Chief.

Minot, N. D., March 12.—E. P. Robinson has been promoted to chief of Minot police by the city commissioners to succeed Elmer J. Smith, resigned.

Mr. Robinson has been a patrolman for eight years.

Elmer J. Smith will probably go to Ray, N. D., where he has interests. Since the death of his wife his children have been living at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, his wife's parents, and he wants to be near them.

Mr. Smith was appointed police May 1, 1911.

POLLACK'S SLAYERS GOING TO BE TRIED

Pair Who Confessed to Killing Houghton Deputy to Face Jury.

Houghton, Mich., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of George Briski and Luka Plese on the charge of murdering Deputy Sheriff Richard Pollack of Houghton on the Hurontown-Houghton road the morning of Oct. 24, will be taken up in the Baraga county circuit court next Wednesday. This is the second of similar cases which has had its outgrowth from the strike, the defendants being strikers and members of the Western Federation.

The murder, according to the state, was one of the most brutal in this district. Both men have confessed. The murder came as the culmination of many threats against the life of Pollack.

The body showed that Pollack, who was shot twice in the head, was also terribly beaten and torn, as if by nails in the club with which he was pounded. The authorities believed that not only Briski and Plese, whose written and signed confessions are in the hands of the prosecutor, but several others were implicated in the murder.

Kills One Assailant.

George Menerich, a third striker, was also implicated in the fight Pollack put up for his life. Menerich was shot through the abdomen, dying two days later. Before he died he confessed to the murder, but sought to shield his companions.

According to witnesses, Pollack was met near Hurontown by a crowd of strikers, who fired at him on hight. He fell and returned the fire. A fourth striker who confessed later repudiated his confession. It was through his confession, however, that Briski and Plese were apprehended. Knez is under arrest on the charge of perjury.

BABCOCK CASE GOES TO WABASHA.

Red Wing, Minn., March 12.—On motion of the attorneys for Ralph H. Babcock of Minneapolis, indicted for manslaughter for running down with his auto and killing a Red Wing woman, a change of venue was granted yesterday afternoon by Judge Johnson to the May term of court for Wabasha county. The difficulty of getting a jury here to try the case operated to the advantage of the defendant when a change of venue was sought.

The Joy Of Coming Motherhood

A Wonderful Remedy That is a Natural Aid and Relieves the Tension.

Mother's Friend is the only remedy known that is able to reach all the different parts involved. It is a penetrating external application after the formula of a noted family doctor, and lubricates every muscle, nerve, tissue or tendon involved.

By its daily use there will be no pain, no distress, no nausea, no danger of laceration or other accident, and the period will be one of supreme comfort and joyful anticipation.

Mother's Friend is one of the greatest of all helpful influences, for it robs childbirth of all its agonies and dangers, dispels all the doubt and dread, all sense of fear, and thus enables the mind and body to await the greatest event in a woman's life with untrammeled gladness.

You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle, or the druggist will gladly get it for you. Mother's Friend is prepared only by the Bradfield Regulator Co., 237 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., who will mail an instructive book to expectant mothers. Write for it to-day.

Baking Helps

Learn to Regulate the Heat of Your Oven

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

There is just one way to make your cakes rise high and keep an even surface. Have your oven moderate at first, until the cake is fully risen; then increase the heat, so as to brown it over quickly. Extreme heat stiffens the dough. If you stiffen the outside of the cake before the rising is complete, you stop the rising process. Then the leavening gas, forming inside, will bulge up the center, where the dough is still soft, and spoil the shape of the cake. 88

NOTE—Biscuits or other pastries made from stiff dough, that are cut into shapes for the oven, bake in a hot oven. This is because the cut surfaces of the dough do not sear over, but rather leave the pores open, allowing the leavening gas to escape and the heat to penetrate readily. Small ovens cool quickly; therefore they should be made several degrees hotter than a larger oven, and the less the door is opened the better. Do not attempt to bake bread and pastry together. Bread requires prolonged, moderate baking—pastry the reverse.

Have a strong underheat for baking powder preparations, especially pastry.

These are only a few of the many baking helps found in the K C Cook's Book—a copy of which may be secured by sending the colored certificate taken from a 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAQUES MFG. CO., Chicago.

DOCKS BURN AT PORTLAND

Fire Razes Six Blocks and Does Damage of $1,000,000.

Blazing Ship Cut Adrift By Firemen Spreads Flames.

Portland, Or., March 12.—Fire early today swept all that section of the Portland water front on the east side from the upper to the lower Albina ferries, destroying Columbia Dock No. 2 and Montgomery Dock No. 1, the steamships Cricket and Glenroy, and much other property, entailing a loss estimated at $1,000,000. The area burned covered six blocks.

Starting in the lower end of Columbia Dock No. 2, from some unknown cause, the fire spread rapidly, and before firemen arrived it had reached stores of sulphur and asphalt. The fire spread both north and south from the starting point, and soon the dock in which it started and Montgomery dock to the north, were burning.

Drifting Boat Spreads Flames.

The steamships Cricket and Glenroy, moored at the docks, caught fire and were destroyed. The Cricket, which arrived in the harbor from San Francisco last night, laden with asphalt, burned fiercely. Firemen cut her loose early to permit her to float down the river so they could better combat the flames on the dock, but the big ship, instead of going to the center of the stream, floated along the docks, spreading the flames.

The fireboat David Campbell went after her and towed her to midstream where she was anchored, still burning.

OUTLAW FARMER IS GUILTY OF ASSAULT.

Mayville, N. Y., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Edward Beardsley, the Summerdale outlaw farmer, charged with assault on J. W. Putnam, county overseer of the poor of Chautauqua county, was found "guilty as charged" today. The jury was out six minutes.

Beardsley shot the officer when the latter entered his home to remove his children from their squalid surroundings. He then barricaded himself and defied the authorities for eight days.

OLD CLOQUET RESIDENT DIES.

Cloquet, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. John Moriarity, aged 45, died at her home here on Fourth street Wednesday morning, after suffering several months from paralysis. Mrs. Moriarity has been a resident of this city for a number of years. She was a member of the Royal Neighbors and Woodman circle. She is survived by her husband and two sons, William and John Andrews. The funeral will take place Friday morning from the Church of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart.

COUNTY BOARD CANNOT AGREE.

Detroit, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county commissioners are deadlocked on the appointment of a superindendent for the county infirmary. There are six applicants for the position. Several ballots were taken at the recent meeting but no decision could be reached and the appointment was laid over until next month. The candidates are George Green, Axel Dahl, T. K. Torgleson, A. E. Traber, Albert Gradley, Mrs. E. Munson and sister, Miss Woods.

The First Troop of Boy Scouts basket ball team will play against the Young Men's Bible club of the Congregational church next Friday evening in the Congregational church gymnasium.

After Rice Lake's Mayor.

Rice Lake, Wis., March 12.—Papers have been prepared for circulation, to ask again the recall of Mayor M. S. Hines of this city. His opponents have before made efforts to have him recalled, but were unable to procure enough signers to obtain an election.

GRAND DUCHESS IS HISTORY MAKER

GRAND DUCHESS MELITTA.

The wife of Grand Duke Cyril of Russia has been visiting her old home in the duchy of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, having with her her two children.

She has made some history in her time. Her father was the duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha and she was named Victoria. Then she married the grand duke of Hesse. But she did not like Hesse and she did not like the grand duke. And she did like Grand Duke Cyril, the royal rake of Russia. So in 1901 she got things stirred up so that an annulment of her marriage was granted. And then she married Cyril. But the czar was not pleased with the marriage of Cyril to a divorced person and he has not forgiven him yet. Moreover because of this marriage Cyril had to renounce all right of succession to the Russian throne. In view of the ill health of the czarewitsch and the fact that the second heir to the throne had made himself ineligible by a marriage which the czar disapproved, Cyril's chances of being czar would not have been so bad. Perhaps, however, he did not want to be czar. The position has its drawbacks. Grand Duchess Victoria is now Grand Duchess Melitta and she had with her on her visit to her old home her two pretty children, Princess Maria and Princess Kyra of whom she is very fond.

WANT FARGO TO FINISH BUILDING.

Fargo, N. D., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city will be asked to take over the completion of the armory-auditorium, which was started last year by private subscription. The super-structure is about two-thirds completed. It is thought it will cost about $80,000 more to complete the building for occupancy. The lower floor which was designed for the use of the armory later on was used this winter for many large conventions and exhibitions and has proven so popular there is little doubt but the citizens will indorse the proposed bond issue.

New North Dakota Paper.

Charbonneau, N. D., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Charbonneau Herald is a new publication in Western McKenzie county. H. B. Winne, formerly of the Tagus Mirror, is the editor and publisher. Charbonneau is one of the new towns on the Great Northern line in Western McKenzie.

Norman Duncan in Harper's Magazine: Notwithstanding the kangaroo's popular reputation for speed, he is easily overtaken in the bush by a good horse (they say) within half a mile. A capable kangaroo dog—a lean, swift beast, a cross between a greyhound and a mastiff, bred to course and kill—soon runs him to bay. Without dogs it is the custom to kill with a cudgel. This is often accomplished by the sportsman from the back of this horse. Dismounted, however, with the kangaroo waiting alertly for attack, it is sometimes a perilous venture to come to close quarters. A slip—and the sportsman finds himself all at once in a desperate situation. One of the lumberjacks with whom we rested in the shade of the blackbutt showed us the scars of an encounter. He had ridden the kangaroo down, said he; and, being in haste to make an end of the sport, he had caught up the first likely stick his eye could discover, and he had stepped quickly and confidently in, and he had struck hard and accurately. And the next instant, caught off the ground, he was struggling, breast to breast, in the hug of the creature, frightfully aware that he must escape before the deadly hind-foot had devastated him.

"My club broke," he exclaimed, "and the boomer got me."

There were long scars on his back and shoulders, the which we were not very sorry to see, for we could not make out why any man should wish to kill a kangaroo for sport.

THE NOSE SHOWS CHARACTER.

Woman's World: It is an ancient belief that the nose indicates ancestry. We speak about the aristocratic nose with its high bridge, and the plebian nose of the toiler. Certainly in a great many cases, race can be distinguished by the nose. The Hebrew could hardly be confused with the typical negro nose. The highly arched nose is supposed to indicate tendency to rule and the flattened nose shows servility.

There are several classes of noses, if we are to take the word of physiognomists. The Roman nose indicates executive ability. Its owner is the aggressive person, the conqueror. Portraits show that the ancient warriors had this type of nose. The Romans were trained especially for deeds of valor. The modern owner of such a nose will achieve success, be a leader, perhaps not in a battle for blood, but in a battle for supremacy and success in business or professional life. The woman with this nose may obtain social leadership if she chooses that rather than some other line of achievement.

The Grecian nose indicates refinement. In that ancient country refinement, artistic tastes and great love of the beautiful were valued more than valor in war. The owner of such a nose is art loving and is successful in pursuit of things only when they are agreeable to her tastes.

In opposition to this type of nose we find the snub nose which shows undevelopment, crudeness. It is the nose of the child rather than of the developed man. When it is seen in adults, we find the childlike mind accompanying it. The owner does not achieve great success, but is content to keep on in his humble way. From this class come the manual workers who lay the foundation of the wealth of the world. Their work is necessary, but they cannot direct others. They follow where they are led or driven. "Theirs not to reason why, theirs but to do and die."

DID HER BEST.

Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph: A tourist in rural Scotland, who took refuge for the night in the cottage of an old lady, asked her to wake him early in the morning. He warned her that he was quite deaf and hoped that she would not disturb the other guests by any loud noises.

Upon awakening, much later than the appointed hour, he found that the old lady, with strict regard for proprieties, had slipped under his door a slip of paper upon which was written:

"Sir, it's hauf past eicht. Ye'd better get up."

BLISSFUL IGNORANCE.

Berliner Illustrite Zeitung: A man went to a judge and asked whether he could bring suit for slander against a man who had called him a rhinoceros.

"Why, certainly," said the judge. "When did he call you that?"

"About three years ago."

"About three years ago! And you only start suit today?"

"But, Your Honor, yesterday I saw a rhinoceros for the first time."

DRUG CLERK TELLS HOW TO CURE INDIGESTION

Recommends Sufferers to Best Stomach Remedy In Duluth Today.

"It is a wonder some of us have stomachs left," remarked a well-known drug clerk recently. "While all drug stores sell a score or more of stomach remedies for which there is a wide demand, most of them are just pepsin pills which digest the food that is in the stomach at the time. They have no curative or strengthening effect on the stomach at all, and of course do not reach or cure the cause. So the same people keep on coming here and buying and using them until they are real chronic dyspeptics. When anyone really asks my advice, I swear by and recommend ordinary bisurated magnesia, which doesn't digest the food at all, but just acts as an antacid and sweetens the sour, fermenting contents of the stomach. That stops the pain, heartburn, sour rising, wind, bloating, fullness, etc., in just a few minutes, and the stomach digests its food without help or trouble, which is the proper way."

"Doctors make mistakes sometimes, too," he continued. "My own aunt had all kinds of trouble with her stomach for years. She bought and used several styles of digestive pills, but got worse right along, as naturally she would. Finally she went to a doctor, who nearly scared her to death by telling her she had cancer of the stomach. She came to me with his prescription and told me what he said. I thought it was nonsense. I sent her to another doctor whom I knew very well, and he didn't tell her anything, but just gave her this same thing, bisurated magnesia. She took it two weeks and, never has had any stomach trouble since, and that's three years ago. She's my own aunt and I know this for a fact. Yes, a lot of bisurated magnesia is sold in Duluth. All the druggists have it, I suppose, and all you take is a teaspoonful after every meal. It's all right."—Advertisement.

Sure Way to Regain Robust Bloom of Youth

A smooth, velvety-soft skin, with a delicate peach-like bloom, is one of the Creator's most exquisite works. When the first blush of youth is over, this beautiful tint and satiny luster are rarely seen. How to preserve them—that's the question. Famous beauty experts abroad long have known that ordinary mercolized wax works wonders in this direction. It actually gives a new surface to the skin, restoring that marvelous girlish color and softness in a remarkable manner. An ounce of this wax, procurable at any drug store, will convert a faded, freckled, worn-out or discolored complexion into one of captivating loveliness in less than two weeks. No special skill is necessary in applying the wax, it being smeared on at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning.

To remove wrinkles, or delay their formation, a face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel, will be found wonderfully efficacious. This tones up relaxed skin, causing it to remain firm and smooth.—Advertisement.

ECLIPSE WAS VISIBLE HERE

Clouds Did Not Obscure View of the Darkened Moon.

Lasted Three Hours---Moon Was Nine-Tenths Obscured.

Duluthians last evening witnessed an almost total eclipse of the moon, lasting for about three hours, during a few minutes of which time the moon was nine-tenths obscured.

Although the eclipse was supposed to be visible from all points in North and South America, Western Africa and Western Europe, there were many points where the sight was almost totally obscured because of dense snow clouds. This condition existed in Washington and astronomers in the national capital experienced great difficulty in obtaining a good view of it.

In Duluth there were light clouds that slightly obscured the view when the moon entered the earth's shadow at 8:42 o'clock, according to J. H. Darling, assistant engineer of the United States engineering office, who is one of the best posted men in the city on astronomical phenomena. Mr. Darling said this morning that after a few minutes following the beginning of the eclipse, the sky almost cleared and one view was perfect.

In entering the earth's shadow at 8:42 o'clock, the moon kept to schedule time, according to Mr. Darling. The eclipse lasted about three hours, the moon having emerged at exactly 11:44 o'clock. At the height of the eclipse, Mr. Darling said, nine-tenths of the moon's surface was covered.

"It was a very beautiful sight," said Mr. Darling this morning. "But for a few minutes after 8:42 o'clock, the sky was absolutely clear and gave a perfect view. The portion eclipsed appeared to be of a copper color, similar to the color when there is a total eclipse of the moon. When at its height, the moon was nine-tenths covered by the shadow of the earth, this having been about 10:13 o'clock."

ICE IN LAKE NOT HEAVY

Government Report Shows Better Conditions Than Last Year.

Ice is disappearing in Lake Superior, according to a report just issued by the weather bureau. The report has it that there is not nearly as much ice in the western and central portions as was reported last week, but the fields at the extreme eastern end and in Whitefish bay have not changed materially. The supply is still pretty good in Lake Michigan and there is no change reported in the Straits of Mackinaw. The northern and central portion of Lake Huron has a good deal of open water but the southern portion is chocked up and the connecting rivers and Lake St. Clair continue solid. In Lake Erie the fields along the west end and the south shore extend out of sight but on the north shore there is considerable open water.

The report adds the welcome news that in comparison with the corresponding period last year there is not as much ice in any of the lakes, nor is it as heavy. Details as to Lake Superior follow:

Duluth—Harbor ice twenty-five inches in thickness; no material change in the harbor ice; the field in the lake moved out with westerly winds on the third and came back on the fifth; the field is broken and extends out from two to four miles.

Two Harbors—Small amount of broken ice in harbor; open water extends beyond vision with small fields of moving ice in the lake.

Ashland—Harbor ice twenty-four inches in thickness.

Port Arthur, Ont.—Bay ice unbroken to limit of vision; ice fourteen inches in thickness at Thunder Cape and twenty-five inches at the Breakwater; no channel cut yet.

Portage Entry—Harbor ice ten inches in thickness in the channel with little snow on top of it.

Whitefish Point—The ice in the bay is sixteen inches in thickness; no open water visible in the lake.

Sault Ste. Marie—Harbor ice is eighteen inches in thickness.

FEWER IDLE CARS ARE NOW REPORTED

Last Railway Tonnage Bulletin Indicates Heavier Traffic.

That the tonnage of freight being handled by the railroads has increased materially of late, is evidenced in the last bulletin of the American Railway association, in which a decrease of 43,145 in the net surplus of idle cars was reported during the fortnight ended March 1. This is the first large decrease that has been reported since early last fall, and it reduces the number of idle cars to 153,307.

The decrease in surplus cars was most apparent in the Atlantic and Middle West states, where a heavy call for box cars was reported. The net surplus of box cars on March 1 was 49,708, compared with 63,434 at the time of previous report, and the surplus of coal cars was brought down to 63,428 from 84,536.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR EDITORS' MEETING.

Arrangements are being made by the railways for the accommodation of delegates and members who will attend the twenty-ninth annual convention of the National Editorial association to be held in Houston, Tex., April 23.

According to Charles L. Kennedy, who is acting general agent for the St. Paul road, a special train will leave Chicago for Kansas City April 21.

In speaking of railway receipts, Mr. Kennedy said that practically all the roads did a bigger business during last February than for the same period a year ago. Owing to mild weather the January receipts fell off.

KAISER AND KING OF ITALY WILL MEET.

Venice, Italy, March 12.—King Victor Emanuel and Emperor William will meet here March 24, when the emperor passes through Venice on the way to his villa on the Island of Corfu. If Empress Augusta Victoria accompanies Emperor William on the trip, Queen Helena will come to Venice to greet her.

Importance is being attached to the meeting of the two sovereigns in view of the activity of the Triple Alliance in the Balkan states, especially Albania, and the belief that further concerted influence will be exercised by the triple alliance both in the Balkans and the Mediterranean.

DULUTH FOLKS ASTONISH DRUGGISTS

We sell many good medicines but we are told the mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka, is the best we ever sold. Duluth folks astonish us daily by telling how QUICKLY Adler-i-ka relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation. Many report that A SINGLE DOSE relieves these troubles almost IMMEDIATELY. We are glad we are Duluth agents for Adler-i-ka. W. A. Abbett, druggist, 205 West Superior street.

BARTENDER IS OUT ON BAIL

Sholund's Clerk Will Have Freedom Until Saturday at Least.

Upon depositing $100 bail with J. P. Johnson, clerk of the district court, Henry Johnson, erstwhile bartender for Charles Sholund, was released from the custody of Sheriff Meining yesterday afternoon within an hour after he had been turned over to the officer on his committment from the municipal court, following his conviction on a charge of selling liquor without a license over the Sholund bar.

Johnson was directed to report in court Saturday morning, at which time the writ of habeas corpus directing Sheriff Meining to show cause why Johnson should not be released will come up for a hearing. His attorneys will ask for a dismissal of the municipal court proceedings against him on the ground that a conviction under the Hicken liquor ordinance is unconstitutional.

Johnson's release followed an order signed by Judge Cant in accordance with a stipulation entered into between Warren E. Greene, county attorney; W. H. Gurnee, assistant city attorney, and McCoy & Hanson, attorneys for Johnson.

Although Johnson has been in the actual custody of the sheriff, he has not as yet been confined in the county jail.

BUTCHERS REFUSE TO HANDLE LIVER.

San Francisco, March 12.—Liver and onions and liver and bacon disappeared from the tables of all households and restaurants of San Francisco following a stormy executive session of the Retail Butchers' association.

Liver, the butchers say, used to be given away with dressed carcasses. Then the wholesalers asked 25 cents a liver and got it. Now the wholesalers are asking 25 cents a pound, but rather than pay it the butchers unanimously resolved not to carry it at all.

Prices are too high all along the line, say the retailers, particularly on veal, against which they threaten also to declare a boycott. Fifteen cents a pound for carcasses of calves, they believe, is beyond reason, and 12½ cents for beef is 5 cents too high.

MANY "ROBBED" IN STOCK EXCHANGES.

Washington, March 12.—Hundreds of thousands of persons are lured into the stock exchanges of New York and other commercial centers to be robbed of their money, the Common Council club was told yesterday by Senator Owen of Oklahoma. The senator spoke on his bill to regulate stock markets, explaining that he proposed to have the exchanges regulated as meeting houses where those who have something to sell and buy may transact business.

Oppose Nathan as Envoy.

Chicago, March 12.—Resolutions protesting against the appointment of Ernesto Nathan, former mayor of Rome, as the Italian envoy to the Panama-Pacific exposition were adopted by the executive board of the American Federation of Catholic Societies. The resolution asked all Catholic societies to join in the protest.

Piano Building As An Art

Two ideas dominate piano building: one being the creation of commercial success, and the other the fruition of artistic ideals and concepts. It is this, the unseen element, that marks the distinction between the ordinary instrument and the superb

Mehlin

Grand, Inverted Grand and Inverted Grand Player-Pianos

These instruments are all that the word Artistic implies. They are the product of Paul G. Mehlin, the foremost living acoustician, aided by his sons, trained by him to piano building as an Art. Their distinctive and exquisite tonal qualities are the result of this personal production and the domination aesthetic ideas.

"CASCARETS" IF CONSTIPATED, SICK, HEADACHY, BILIOUS---DIME A BOX

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, constipation, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight with Cascarets.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets sweeten and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and the misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and constipation poison from the bowels. Then you feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your head clear, stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and make you feel bully and cheerful for months. Don't forget the children.

CASCARETS WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP.

DIRECT LEGISLATION FAVORED BY BRYAN

Secretary of State Talks to the Maryland Legislature.

Annapolis, Md., March 12.—Secretary of State William J. Bryan hopes that not only will this country borrow the initiative and referendum as it has borrowed the Australian ballot, but that, in time, it will adopt the postal vote. The postal vote of New Zealand allows a citizen, though away from home, to cast his vote on an election and have it counted.

The occasion of Mr. Bryan's statement was an address he made on the initiative and referendum before the Maryland legislature. A bill providing for the measure is pending. Besides Governor Goldsborough and the members of the legislature, many persons from all over the state were present.

Representatives Not Perfect.

Secretary Bryan said he believed there is more "virtue in the people" than ever finds expression in their representatives. A representative should not violate his conscience, either in public or private matters, and when he feels that he cannot do what his constituents conservatively want him to do, he should return his commission.

"I believe the crime of misrepresentation is greater than private embezzlement," said Mr. Bryan. "And when you get misrepresentation, your office-holder can laugh at you while he is drawing a salary from the treasury and doing as he pleases."

"You need not be afraid to change your opinion on the question of the initiative and referendum" the secretary concluded. "President Wilson changed his opinion and was not ashamed. He said he had been teaching the students at Princeton that the initiative and referendum was wrong, but when he found he was wrong he was not ashamed to say so."

POSTMASTER'S BODY IS FOUND IN CREEK.

Lutesville, Mo., March 12.—The body of Postmaster John W. Revelle was found near here under circumstances indicating that he met his death by accidental drowning. The postmaster left his home for a walk yesterday morning, but failed to return at the accustomed time.

Search was instituted and the body was found in Crooked creek. As his hat was found under the railroad bridge spanning the creek, it is thought the postmaster fell off while attempting to cross the bridge.

WEST END

HERALD BRANCH:
Herman Olson, Manager, 1823 West Superior Street.

WEST END PIONEER HEAD OF FOUR GENERATIONS

LEO COMMO, DAUGHTER, GRANDDAUGHTER AND GREAT-GRANDSON.

Leo Commo, 1423 West Superior street, has the distinction of being the head of a family of four generations. Mr. Commo has been a resident of the West end since 1874 and well remembers the time when only a trail ran to the western end of the city through the forest.

Mr. Commo is 85 years old. In spite of his advanced years he is in excellent health. He has been making his home for some time with his daughter, Mrs. J. Pilon. She and his granddaughter, Mrs. G. O. Black, and his great-grandson, Clyde Black, are in the picture.

Mr. Commo and his great-grandson are the closest of chums and are seen often together.

WOULD STOP COLLECTIONS

Suit Planned Against City in West End Paving Matter.

Material Not Up to Standard, Declare Property Owners.

Property owners on Twenty-seventh avenue west will hold a meeting early next week for the purpose of taking action on the empoyment of an attorney to enter suit against the city and Contractor George R. King and prevent the collection of assessment against the property for the recent pavement of the thoroughfare. The suit is to be entered before March 28, which is the last day on which the property owners have to make up their minds to make payments of the assessment in four installments.

According to some of the larger property holders the pavement does not come up to specifications. It is asserted that the proportion of cement, sand and gravel used for the material did not come up to standard and that at least three blocks, those between First and Fourth street, are affected.

The last day for making the first payment is March 28. The property owners who intend paying the entire assessment in one lump sum have until April 7 to pay. The suit is to be filed before the former date.

"We will have no redress if we wait," said a property holder this morning. "The city is probaby as much at faut as the contractor in not having inspectors on the ground to watch the material being used. The chances are that the city will not be able to hold either the contractor or his bonding company if the matter came to a court procedure, and then where would we be? Our only chance is to take the initiative in the matter."

John Moir, chairman of the Twenty-seventh Avenue Improvement club, which is composed of property owners on the street, is expected to return home Saturday from a visit with relatives in Kansas and following his arrival a date will be set for the meeting.

WILL DECIDE ON PAVING MATERIAL

Vernon Street Property Holders Will Meet Tuesday Night.

Vernon street property owners will hold a meeting Tuesday evening at the Bryant school to decide on what kind of material they will want for a surface on their street when it is paved this summer. Several kinds of material have been suggested by the owners, the majority favoring sandstone, vitrified brick or creosote blocks.

The property owners appear confident that the street will be improved this summer. The petition for its improvement has been filed with the city public works department since early last fall. The petition calls for the grading of the street from its junction of First street and Grand Forks avenue to Michigan avenue, a distance of six blocks. At two points in the route slight fills will have to be made. These are just west of First street and just above Third street.

TALK ON WRESTLING.

Martin Johnson Gives Car Barn Tusslers Some Tips.

Wrestling enthusiasts were given a talk on the mysteries of the mat game at the club rooms of the Duluth Street Railway company last night. Martin Johnson, known to followers of the game as "the wrestling fireman," gave the talk.

Many of the employes of the street railway company are interested in the game. Matches for the heavyweight, middleweight and lightweight championships of the car house are being planned for early dates.

The heavyweight contest will be between R. R. Larson and either R. T. Smalldige or Albert Anderson. The latter two will meet shortly before the date of the main bout to decide which shall meet Larson. Andrew Olson and August Kresel will wrestle for the middleweight title, and William Johnson and Tim De Marce will be matched in the lightweight class.

SPAA GIRLS WIN.

Defeat Bryant School Quint By Score of 27 to 7.

By a score of 27 to 7 the Spaa club girls' basketball team defeated the girls' team from the Bryant school last night. The game was played in the Spaa club rooms, 1608 West Superior street.

Three other games have been scheduled by the Spaa team this spring. The games will be played with the Lakeside club, a team from the Y. W. C. A. and the Cooper alumni team.

Star games were played last night by Elsie Jeffrey of the Bryants, who scored all seven of the baskets made by her team. Carrie Gyllen and Rose Gootscheld scored all of the baskets for the winners.

Shyland Funeral.

The funeral services for S. Shyland, 73 years old, 413 North Twenty-first avenue west, who died yesterday morning, will be held at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the residence. Burial will be made in the Scandia cemetery. Rev. J. H. Nervig, pastor of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church will officiate.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. George Stevenson, 2306 West Second street, has left for a few days' visit with relatives in Brainerd, Minn.

W. A. Swanstrom has purchased the home of J. A. Johnson, 2426 West First street. The consideration was $4,650.

The Little Girls' Society of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church will be entertained Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Myrtle Anderson, 2520 West Fifth street.

Mrs. W. C. Bickford, 214 North Twenty-second avenue west, entertained yesterday afternoon at an experience social for the Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. church.

B. A. Simonson will give an illustrated temperance lecture Saturday evening at the meeting of the Fridhem lodge, I. O. G. T., at West Duluth Saturday evening. He will repeat the same lecture Sunday at a meeting of the Norden lodge of Proctor.

Open for business, Central Plumbing & Heating company, 2004 West Superior street. Phone Lincoln 593.

SOME COLLEGE MEN "EDUCATED FOOLS."

Springfield, Ill., March 12.—Dr. Russell Conwell, minister of the Baptist temple, Philadelphia, declared at the Winona Bible conference yesterday that some college graduates are "educated fools" and therefore incompetent to lead others in the interpretation of the Bible.

"I believe in higher education," declared the speaker, "but it sometimes so robs a person of his higher faculties that he is unfitted to serve either God or man. The man who thinks he knows it all is an ignoramus, and a good many of our college graduates are guilty of a liberal quantity of self-esteem."

In speaking of the two-fold development of man, he said:

"A person who has his brain developed at the expense of his heart is as dangerous as dynamite."

LOSS OF APPETITE

Most Successfully Treated by Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Loss of appetite is accompanied by loss of vitality, which is serious.

It is common in the spring because at this time the blood is impure and impoverished and fails to give the digestive organs what is absolutely necessary for the proper performance of their functions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old reliable all-the-year-round medicine, is especially useful in the spring. Get it from your druggist. By purifying and enriching the blood and giving vitality, vigor and tone, it is wonderfully successful in the treatment of loss of appetite and the other ailments that are so prevalent at this time. It is not simply a spring medicine—it is much more than that—but it is the best spring medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the rich red blood that the stomach and other digestive organs need. Get it today.

SHOCKED AT WHAT COLORADO DISCLOSED

Congressmen Talk of What They Learned During Visit There.

Washington, March 12.—"Amazing and shocking conditions requiring drastic remedies" were found in the Colorado coal fields by the congressional investigation committee, according to Representative Foster of Illinois, chairman, who with his colleagues has returned to Washington after spending several weeks in Colorado.

Before preparing a report the committee will allow thirty days for presentation of evidence of operators and miners. Members of the committee will have some recommendations for congress, but they are inclined to believe that the state will have to deal with many of the evils disclosed by the inquiry.

"The conditions in Colorado are most deplorable," said Representative Brines, another member of the committee. "The strikers today are the strike-breakers of ten years ago, and the conflict now is between those two forces. A large percentage of both the strikers and the strike-breakers are unable to speak the English language."

PROHIBITIVE TAX ON CIGAR COUPON URGED.

Washington, March 12.—Representative Underwood's proposal to impose a prohibitive tax on premium coupons given away with tobacco and cigarettes was the subject of a hearing of tobacco men from all over the country yesterday before the house ways and means committee. Representatives of the United Cigar Stores company, independent tobacco manufacturers and union labor were heard.

The independents urged the legislation on the ground that the coupons were destroying their business without benefiting the consumer, while the coupon advocates declared that they stimulated the tobacco business and increased the government's revenues.

William A. Coakley, representing photo-lithographers engaged in the work of producing the coupons and colored pictures, testified that the 40,000 men in that industry would be thrown out of employment by the proposed legislation. Representative Reilley of Connecticut, Democrat, testified that the bill would injure manufacturing jewelers and silversmiths in his district.

ANOTHER CHICAGO WOMAN SET FREE.

Chicago, March 12.—Another acquittal of a woman who had slain a man was added to the long list of such verdicts in Chicago last night when a jury freed Miss Stanislawa Czemerowska of the murder of Frank Koczinski. The girl shot the man to death after he had refused to fulfill a betrothal by marrying her.

The defense was that the girl attempted to commit suicide and that the revolver exploded toward Koczinski when he tried to wrest the weapon from her. Miss Czemerowska went on the stand and told her romantic story. The state charged that she shot Koczinski to prevent his marrying another.

Mill Workers Lose Strike.

Raymond, Wash., March 12.—A strike of shingle mill employes of Willapa harbor, in effect since Feb. 18, has been settled through the mediation of T. W. Boyce, a representative of the department of labor. The men will return to work on the company's terms, including non-recognition of their union.

An electric street car system is being built in Peking by a Chinese contractor at a cost of $1,500,000.

HAIR STOPS FALLING, DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS --- 25 CENT DANDERINE

Save Your Hair! Make It Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Beautiful.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable luster, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

Woman's Realm

A new line of work for women has been found by Mrs. Frances Barbour Sonntag of New York, who visits and cheers up the old and incapacitated members of the "Smart Set."

Mrs. Sonntag was prominent in musical and society circles of her home town, Evansville, Ind., until she went to New York in January.

"The old folk of the '400' are always eager to find some one who will entertain them," she said, in a recent interview in a New York paper. "You know the rich are not wilfully negligent of their elders; they provide the sunniest quarters, the newest books and magazines, expensive Victrolas, and the latest up-to-the-minute electric pianos, but of their society they can give little.

"The society, daughters and broker sons and tango-loving grandchildren are all so caught in the whirl of doing that in consequence many lonely moments are the portion of their elders. Many of my shut-in friends keep in touch with all that is going on in the world of affairs, and are ready and eager to discuss the latest editorial in their favorite paper, the newest play—the criticism of which they thought was unfair—or the latest scandal.

"I read to them when they are tired, and sing their favorite songs. The old favorites, 'Annie Laurie,' 'Ben Bolt,' and the 'Last Rose of Summer' have still a warm spot in the hearts of these people. One of my dear old ladies said the other day, 'No mechanical apparatus has yet been invented that can do justice to the human voice in the old melodies; the arias from the opera, mechanical at best, are possible, but the human note is essential in the songs that were popular in my time.'"

Mrs. Sonntag, who studied voice culture in Europe, has made a collection of Irish, Scotch and English songs to suit the nationalities and tastes of the "shut-ins."

She says her occupation is fascinating and that there are many opportunities for other women to enter the field. Culture, a gentle voice and talent are the requisites she gives for one who would make a success at this kind of work.

SUFFRAGE PARADE.

Duluth Women May Make Demonstration May 2.

Will Duluth suffragists have a parade May 2? This question probably will be answered at the meeting of the Suffrage club next Wednesday evening.

The Douglas County Suffrage club of Superior will celebrate the national suffrage day, May 2, by a parade and the members are eager to make the affair a joint one with the Duluth club.

At the meeting of the Superior organization held Tuesday night Miss Alice Curtis, campaign manager for the state organization of Wisconsin, spoke of the strong foothold suffrage is gaining in the state. She urged the Superior body to send at least two members to the suffrage school to be held in Madison in June. There is a possibility that another school will be held in Superior.

Among the Duluth suffragists who attended the meeting in Superior were Dr. Mary McCoy and Mrs. P. L. De Voist.

WOULD HELP CHINESE.

Home Mission Work in Duluth Is Discussed.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Trinity pro-cathedral branch of the women's auxiliary that was held yesterday afternoon, there was a discussion of home mission work among the Chinese of Duluth. No definite plans have been made regarding the work. The committee appointed at the last regular meeting of the auxiliary reported seventy Chinese in the city.

"Religions in China" was discussed. There was a comparison between the Christian and Chinese religions and a discussion regarding the possibilities of founding a Christian religion on the good points of Chinese belief.

Arrangements were made for the part the society will take in sending an annual Lenten box to Miss Pauline Colby, who is a missionary and lace teacher at the Indian reservation at Onigum, Leech Lake.

FAMOUS BOSTON CONDUCTOR AND WIFE RETURN FROM VIENNA

MR. AND MRS. FELIX WEINGARTNER.

Felix Weingartner has returned to Boston from Vienna to act for a brief period as conductor of opera there. He was accompanied from Vienna by his wife, who was Lucille Marcel. She sings with the Boston company. It was while Mlle. Marcel was singing under his direction that the famous conductor and composer fell in love with her. From Boston the Weingartners go to Darmstadt, where Weingartner's new opera, "Cain and Abel," will be sung for the first time. Mme. Weingartner will take the principal female role.

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

Tell Only the Nice Things You Hear of Others.

We do not believe in carrying tales, but the fact is, that many of us do happen to repeat whatever we overhear or know of other people's affairs. It is curious that we have the faculty of pouring out information into ears where it does harm and causes uneasiness and sorrow, and that as a whole we instinctively choose the unhappy and unpleasant events, rarely letting those that would cause joy and encouragement pass our lips.

Just why do we tell a girl that we saw the young man who holds her entire attention with a woman stranger? If it happens that the woman is old enough to be his mother or his aunt, we are not able to describe her. But if the woman happened to be young and attractive we dilate upon her charms. Before we have finished our recital, the girl for whose benefit we are relating the incident is convinced that her lover is a faithless wretch, absolutely the slave of the "other woman."

Possibly once in every thousand times the party who tells another something that is unpleasant means to do a friendly and kindly act. It is, however, difficult to determine just what a person's motive is, when the thing is told gracefully and to all intents and purposes with the best interests of the one to whom the thing is being repeated, in the mind of the tale-bearer.

When a genuine friend tells you some disagreeable fact, because he is your friend, and believes that he would be doing you an injustice if he did not state the case, he does it as simply and as painlessly as may be. He does not dwell upon the "sore part" any more than need be. In fact, he skims over it as lightly as he can, and at the same time gives you the truth of the affair.

Almost everyone who makes a business of interesting himself in the affairs of other people will deny that he or she tattles rather more for the personal satisfaction derived than from the desire to do their friends a favor.

Often these "busy-bodies", tell you little things that they have heard elsewhere about you. Rarely are they the fine and pleasant things which anyone enjoys to hear. My advice to all who will take it, after listening to falsehoods and tales exaggerated beyond all possibility of belief, is for the world at large to recount the pleasant things they see, hear and know about people, and to mind their own business about those matters that bring only misery by repetition.

GERMAN CONTRALTO HAS TAKEN NEW YORK AUDIENCES BY STORM

New York has been entertaining a wonderful musical artist this winter—one quite unknown to the American public until Gatti Casazza imported her for the Metropolitan opera house. She is Mme. Margareto Ober—to use her stage name—or Mme. Arndt-Ober, to use her name in private life.

Mme. Ober's husband is named Arndt and after the custom of German singers, she has preserved her professional name in private life while using that of her husband. Mme. Gadski, the great German soprano, is known in private life as Tauscher-Gadski, as she is the wife of Capt. Hans Tauscher of Germany.

Mme. Ober was brought to this country to sing the part of Octavian in Strauss' "Rosenkavalier." No one in the Metropolitan company had sung this part, and as it is extremely difficult, it appeared easier to import from Germany some one who was familiar with it. So it was chiefly on this account that Mme. Ober was engaged. She had studied Octavian with the composer himself and was reckoned the best interpreter of the part in the world. So the manager of the Metropolitan gave Mme. Homer, the great American contralto, a vacation for the first half of the season and added Mme. Ober to the ranks of his company. While he was awaiting the first production of "Rosenkavalier" he cast Mme. Ober in the operas of the regular repertoire. And straightway she created a sensation in the musical world.

Her Ortrud in "Lohengrin" was acclaimed as one of the best ever seen; her Amneris in "Aida" received the warmest praise from public and critic. She appeared as Erda and Waltraute in the performances of Wagner's "Ring," and scored triumphs. In "Rosenkavalier" she took New York by storm. This great triumph of a wonderful singer was due as much to Mme. Ober's splendid acting as to her vocalization and the quality of her voice. In fact, her voice is one of the most flexible, rich and sonorous contraltos ever heard in opera in the United States. Her delivery is unusually fine; her phrasing clear-cut and perfectly shaded; and at every point her work calls for unmeasured praise.

Perhaps some of the perfection of Mme. Ober's work is due to constant association with her teacher, Mr. Arndt, her husband, is the man who developed her voice. Mr. Arndt and Mrs. Arndt-Ober have an apartment on Seventh avenue at Fifty-fourth street, very near the Metropolitan opera house. There the great contralto exercises her skill as a hausfrau, for, being German, she is by nature and training a housekeeper and a homemaker. Mme. Ober speaks no English, so she has not had much chance to get acquainted with the people of New York. But she is learning. Her husband speaks a little English, and by next season they hope to be able to converse in that language with their American friends.

At Social Center.

At the open meeting tonight of the Irving social center Dr. F. C. Bowman will discuss the educational phases that were brought out at the meeting of the Purity congress held in Chicago in the winter. Sub-normal children in the schools will be the chief topic.

Entertain Auxiliary.

The Spanish-American war veterans entertained members of the Ladies' Auxiliary last night at the clubrooms in the courthouse. Sixty were present, and a program of cards featured. Luncheon was served, and ten members were initiated. W. B. Butchart was chairman of the program committee and M. P. Orchard was at the head of the arrangements committee.

A program will be given on muster day, April 22. Samuel Skogg, state department commander, will attend. It is expected that Hector camp of Superior, Wilkinson camp of Chisholm and Major Bidwell camp of Virginia will be present.

A professional criminal confessing the guilt for a murder voluntarily and going to his execution because of his devotion to a woman who befriended him in an hour of peril, is one of the many spectacles provided for in Bayard Veiller's successful new play of metropolitan life, "Within the Law," which comes here for a return engagement at the Lyceum Friday and Saturday.

Lovers of good plays and fine acting are certain to welcome the announcement that this gripping play of absorbing interest is to appear here again with the same splendid cast as before. This play, under the managerial sponsorship of the American Play company, has excited more comment than any other drama produced in the last decade.

The play has for its central character a pretty young woman convicted of a crime of which she is innocent. Upon release from prison she is forced into warfare with authorities, matching her wits and courage against police brutality, and adroitly avoiding the clutches of the law, although she preys upon society at will.

The American Play company will present the play with the same excellent cast as before in the leading roles that scored so heavily, including Jane Gordon as Mary, Eileen Wilson, Marcia Mainell, Robert Tabor, Daniel Sullivan, William Lambert, Wilson Reynolds and others.

"Love laughs at locksmiths," and now the little god of affection is laughing at the police, for in the play, "Officer 666," the little rascal wages a battle of wits with a platoon of bluecoats and puts them to rout.

"Officer 666" is the farce which is announced for presentation at the Lyceum Sunday, Monday and Tuesday by a specially chosen company of comedians.

The Orpheum theater will have a diving contest next week.

Odiva, the famous swimmer and diver, will be one of the two headlined acts at the Duluth Orpheum next week, the other being Lilian Shaw.

Capt. Adams, the manager of the famous swimmer, arrived in Duluth yesterday, and with Manager Billings of the local theater is arranging a diving contest for next week, when local swimmers and divers will compete for prizes.

The contest will probably be held on Tuesday and Friday.

"Any local swimmers or divers are welcome to enter," said Mr. Billings, this morning. "I would be glad to have them communicate with me at any time this week, or early next week. The details of the contest will be announced within a day or two, and we want every person in Duluth who has any ability as a diver to enter."

"Piano Movers and the Actress," McDevitt, Kelly and Lucey, and John E. Hazzard continue to be the comedy hits of the bill.

Mabelle Adams and company in the dramatic sketch "Wanda," supply the dramatic feature of the bill, and the dancing act by Cummings and Gladyings, and the sensational aerial turn by the four Lloyds are also proving popular with the audience at every performance.

At the Empress for the last three days of the week, commencing with the matinee today, a splendid vaudeville program of four acts and the feature film picture "Baffles, Gentleman Burglar," a Keystone comedy will be on the boards. The acts are said to be of the very highest class, entertaining and varied. Featuring the bill will be the Four Valdares, two comedians and two dashing young women, who are very clever comedy cyclists. They have a list of stunts that are startling and laugh producers. This troupe of trick bicycle riders has made tours of Australia, New Zealand, Java, India, Siam and the Philippines, China, Japan and Honolulu, and in all cases they have been conceded the best in their line of work seen in these countries. They are now appearing in the United States for the first time. Crawford and Broderick offer a singing and talking act full of bright comedy and splendid song numbers. They are said to be clever entertainers and to have the knack of putting over their material and wearing their fashionable clothes. The La Rocco brothers are considered wonders on the violin and harp. Their selections range from rag to grano opera. Glendower and Mannion will give a funny comedy sketch entitled, "Christmas on the Comstock." This little playlet offers many opportunities for the pair to show their cleverness as comedians, and at times as legitimate actors. "Baffles," the Gentleman Burglar," as the feature film is called, closes the show. This picture with Ford Sterling in the role of police chief and the funny antics of the police in their efforts to catch the burglar who robs them at will, is hugely interesting.

NEED FOUR POLICEMEN

Residents of Western Suburbs Will Ask for Better Protection.

Say Rapid Growth of Suburbs Must Be Considered.

The western end of the city, including West Duluth and the New Duluth police stations, are at least four police officers short. This number at least, assert business men and residents, should be added to the local force this spring.

Two of these officers should be added to the West Duluth station, they say, and the other two to the New Duluth station. Residents of Oneota say that since Patrolman Winters was let out, there has been no officer to patrol that district and they intend asking for a mounted man. The other man for West Duluth would, it is said, be required during the summer to be present at picnics or any large gatherings and also patrol the western end of the city.

At New Duluth, Gary and Smithville only two patrolmen and a sergeant are stationed. These are unable to cover half of the territory properly and in case of serious trouble would be unable to cope with the situation, according to members of the New Duluth Commercial club. It is said that at least two men and a patrol wagon will be absolutely necessary in this district this year.

At West Duluth only seven men in addition to the two men at the station, the lieutenant and sergeant are doing patrol duty. Two of these men are on duty from 3:30 a. m. to 2 p. m.; three until 6 p. m.; four until 11 p. m.; five between 11 p. m. and midnight, and then four until 3:30 a. m. On eleven days of the month this force is reduced one man owing to one member of the force having a day off, and during the summer vacations one man is continually short of this number.

Resinol stops skin torments!

THE soothing, healing medication in Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap penetrates every tiny pore of the skin, clears it of impurities, and stops itching instantly. Resinol speedily heals eczema, rashes, ringworm and other eruptions and clears away disfiguring pimples and blackheads, when other treatments prove a waste of time and money.

Resinol is not an experiment, it is a doctor's prescription which proved so wonderfully successful for skin troubles that it has been used by other doctors all over the country for the past nineteen years. Sold by all druggists. Resinol Ointment, 50c and $1. Resinol Soap, 25c. For trial free, write to Dept. 42-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Avoid imitations.

OPPOSED TO INFIRMARY

Property Owners Would Bar Hospital for Crippled Children.

Some opposition has been raised to the proposed children's infirmary, which will be established in the old Prescott home on Fifty-fourth avenue and Fifth street. The objection is coming principally from residents of that neighborhood and in order to prevent it being established the residents of blocks 110 and 109, which include this property, have applied for the passage of an ordinance restricting the two blocks to residential purposes.

Negotiations for the purchase of the property have already been completed according to a statement recently made by Rt. Rev. James McGolrick, bishop of the Catholic diocese of Duluth. Part of the sum of $30,000 recently given by Thomas L. Feigh, was used for this purpose and the remainder will be expended in furnishing the place and maintaining it. The home was to be used as an infirmary for children who had any physical defects and arrangements were to be made to give free treatment to any whose parents could not afford to pay.

It is doubtful if the petition will be favorably considered by the commission.

PLAN NEW HOME FOR MOOSE LODGE

Arrangements Almost Complete for Construction of Building.

Negotiations may be closed this afternoon for the construction of a two-story building on Central avenue which will be known in the future as the home of the Moose lodge. A committee from the lodge has been in consultation with two different parties for the construction of such a building, and it is probable that a deal will be closed today so that announcement of the fact can be made at the meeting of the lodge tonight.

The proposed building will be situated between Bristol and Roosevelt street, on Central avenue. It will have a 50-foot front and be 125 feet deep. The second floor will be leased on a a long term for the lodge quarters and arranged in up-to-date club style. The first floor will be rented for store purposes.

WADE RINK WINS IN BURNS' EVENT.

After one of the most strenuously contested games played this winter the Wade rink defeated the Quinn rink in the finals of the Burns event by a score of 11 to 10. The winning rink came into the lead after being five points down in the seventh head by laying four stones in the eighth head and another in the ninth, tying the score.

Tonight the finals in the Union Match will be played between Wade and Olson.

For Aid Society.

Mrs. Charles T. Johnson, 907 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, will entertain this evening at her home at a social for the Ladies' Aid society and congregation of the Westminster Presbyterian church. A program of music followed by refreshments has been planned.

Peterson Funeral.

The funeral for Leone Evelyn Peterson, the 16-months- old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peterson, 3912 Halifax street, who died Tuesday, was held yesterday from the family residence. Rev. J. C. Reinertson, pastor of Our Savoir's Norwegian Lutheran church officiated. Interment was made in Oneota cemetery.

St. Patrick's Social.

The "We Brothers" class of the Westminster Presbyterian church, Fifty-eighth avenue west and Ramsey street, will entertain Monday evening in the church parlors at a St. Patrick's day social. A program of several musical and literary numbers are being arranged.

Workmen Have Social.

Degree of Honor lodge, No. 85, and West Duluth lodge, No. 145, A. O. U. W., held a joint social at the Dormedy hall last night. Card playing, music and refreshments featured the entertainment. The program also included a number of short addresses from members of the order. Joseph Schumacker, state grand master workman, gave a short address on work being accomplished by the Workmen in Minnesota.

West Duluth Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Wadena street, has planned to entertain tomorrow evening at an "apron" social in the church parlors. A musical program has been arranged.

Mrs. Sarah L. Murray, 532 North Fifty-sixth avenue west, has returned from a month's visit to relatives at Cresco and other Iowa points.

The Ladies' Aid society of St. James Catholic church was entertained this afternoon at Gilley's hall. The hostesses were Mrs. B. N. Keefe, Mrs. A. B. Buckley and Mrs. A. J. Rossette.

Rev. D. W. Lynch, pastor of the St. James Catholic church will conduct special Lenten services at the church tomorrow night. The services will commence at 7:45 p. m.

TWO ROBBED WHILE ASLEEP AT HOTEL

Thieves Enter By Transom; Big "Roll" in Shirt Is Overlooked.

Two roomers at the Sixth avenue hotel are alleged to have been robbed sometime last night, while asleep in their rooms. The thieves gained entrance by hanging over the transoms and then opening the doors from the inside.

This morning S. Frank reported to the police that $20 was stolen from his clothes and Mike Ropen complained that $8.65 was stolen from his trousers sometime during the night. Both men are unable to give the police any clew as to the burglars.

Ropen had $185 tied up in his shirt, but the burglars failed to get this money, the former told the police this morning, having searched only in his trousers.

The police are investigating the case.

Pound and Half Baby.

Rapid River, Mich., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Weighing but one and one-half pounds, the smallest baby ever born in Delta county, still lives despite the predictions of physicians, and is expected now to progress as well as most normal infants do. LEGLESS MAN STRIVING FOR ARTIFICIAL LIMBS.

His legs in such a frozen condition that amputation was found necessary about a year ago, thus leaving him without any means of support, William Milaskal is now at the Duluth Gospel mission, 102 Lake avenue south, operating a cobbler's stand in an effort to make enough money with which to purchase artificial limbs.

His stand was purchased for him by Rev. F. E. Plumb, who is in charge of the mission, who also granted the man a corner in the front of the building.

Milaskal froze his legs in the woods about a year ago, when he became lost and was compelled to wander about without any shelter for almost three days.

MERCHANT SHOT; SON AND WIFE ARE HELD.

Chicago, March 12.—Louis Reval, Sr., president of the Reval mercantile house, was shot and probably fatally injured in his office last night. Mrs. Reval and their 19-year-old son, who had gone to bid Reval return to his family, were arrested. Mrs. Reval told the police that while their son was absent from the room, her husband had threatened her with his revolver, and was shot while struggling with her for its possession.

St. Paul Registration.

St. Paul, Minn., March 12.—The total registration for the first primary election in St. Paul, under the new city charter is 37,700, 1,700 more than any general election registration heretofore, and far in excess of any primary registration the city has ever known.

Heretofore the primary election registrations have been rather light, but this year the widespread interest in the new city charter has apparently brought the voters out.

In 1912, the record general election registration ever known in St. Paul was 36,000.

"WINDOW ENVELOPES"

Postmaster Asks That Samples Be Left at Postoffice.

The Duluth postal authorities are now busy looking after the enforcement of the new law in regard to the so-called "window envelope." Postmaster A. P. Cook desires that the public submit their various "window envelopes" for inspection. Sample envelopes may be left at the stamp window or mailed to the stamp clerk. Inserts to the postal laws and regulations follow:

"Insert No. 12, order No. 7623:

"Paragraph 8 of section 469, postal laws and regulations, edition of 1913, is amended to read:

"So-called 'window envelopes,' having an opening or a transparent panel in the front, through which the address upon the inclosure is disclosed, are mailable under the following conditions:

"The window shall be parallel with the length of the envelope; and to allow space for postmarking and for changes of address, it shall not occupy any space within 1⅝ inches from the top nor within ⅝ of an inch from the bottom or ends of the envelope. (Effective July 1, 1914).

"Windows shall not be colored and shall be made or treated so as to be as transparent as possible; but windows slightly discolored by the oil used to make them transparent shall not be considered 'colored.' (Effective July 1, 1914.)

"All window envelopes shall bear the return card of the sender. (Effective July 1, 1914.

"Window envelopes which do not conform to the foregoing requirements shall, when deposited in the mails, be returned to the senders, if known, otherwise they shall be sent to the fourth assistant postmaster general, division of dead letters.

"Changes in address should not be made on the window but on the opaque of the envelope.

"If the matter inclosed in the window envelopes is not folded so as to disclose the complete address through the window, or the address is not printed or written legibly, the envelopes shall be laid aside for treatment until after other mail has been disposed of. If the addresses cannot then be read, the envelopes shall be returned to the sender, if known; otherwise they shall be sent to the fourth assistant postmaster general, division of dead letters."

OBITUARY

J. B. Fairchild, pioneer of Marinette county, Wisconsin, and a leading attorney, died at Marinette, Wis., March 11, aged 75. He was associated at one time with Former United States Senator Allen of Nebraska.

John Lambert Cadwalader, assistant secretary of state under Hamilton Fish and a prominent attorney, died in New York, March 11, aged 76. He was president of the bar association of New York city, president of the New York public library, a trustee of the Carnegie institution at Washington, and a trustee of Princeton university. Mr. Cadwalader was born in Trenton, N. J. He obtained his A. B. at Trenton and afterward attended the Harvard law school. He served four years as assistant secretary of state from 1874. Although repeatedly urged to accept public offices, he refused.

Winchester E. Moore, member of the Minnesota Territorial Pioneers' association and father of Alderman Harry L. Moore of Mineapolis, died at his home, 3145 Columbus avenue, Minneapolis. Death was caused by apoplexy, although Mr. Moore had been in ill health for some time. Winchester E. Moore was born at St. David, N. B., Aug. 15, 1842. At the age of 13 he came to Minnesota with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Moore, who settled on a farm in Brooklyn Center, later going to Richfield. The youth learned the machinist trade. In 1862, at the age of 20 years, he entered the war, serving as engineer in the navy. He saw service in the blockade off Roanoke. Returning, he resumed his trade. Later he entered a partnership with W. C. Stetson, operating three planing mills in East Minneapolis. For a year he was in the lumber business in Montana and then returned to Minneapolis, where he entered the employment of the city water works department as engineer. This position he held until ill health forced him to retire in 1912. A widow, two sons and two daughters survive, including Alderman Moore and D. M. Moore of Minneapolis, Mrs. Harry Joy of Minneapolis, and Mrs. G. P. Wendell of South Bend, Ind. A brother, J. W. Moore of Grand View, Wash., and a sister, Mrs. J. A. Thompson of Minneapolis, also survive.

John Gott, chief electrician of the Commercial Cable company and one of the pioneer submarine telegraph engineers, died at Brighton, England, March 8, according to advices received here. Mr. Gott was one of the first men to work the mirror galvonometer for transmitting and receiving cable messages. By this method messages were read in a mirror, which reflected the flashes.

Frederick H. Warneke, 75 years old, well-known attorney and for fifty-four years a resident of Minnesota, is dead in Minneapolis. He was one of the organizers of the state Turner society.

THE "OLD FOLKS' PICNIC."

Wide World Magazine: An "Old Folks' Picnic" recently held in Utah was remarkable for the fact that the ages of the participants reached the astonishing aggregate of 10,000 years! Only one person was under 70 and the oldest had reached 103. These "old folks' picnics" are annual affairs, committees being appointerd in each district to superintend the arrangements. Every old person in each district is called upon and furnished with a silk badge (red for 70 years, blue for 80 and white for 90). These badges secure free transportation and entertainment for the wearer, and an attendant if necessary. The day is passed in feasting, concerts and sports and amusements of varied descriptions. Hundreds of prizes are awarded in the numerous contests, as, for instance, to the oldest man, the woman with the most children, the youngest Civil war veteran, the youngest woman who crossed the American desert, the man with the baldest head, the woman with the oldest child accompanying her on the grounds, and so on. Games and atletic sports are also indulged in—dancing contests for women between the ages of 70 and 80, potato races for the less active who have passed four score and yarn-winding contests for those who have passed 90.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

ACCUSED TO MAKE FIGHT

Dunn County, N. D., Commissioners Will Resist Removal Charge.

Accusations Against Members of Board Allege Law Violations.

Manning, N. D., March 12.—Charges of drawing illegal fees, of letting contracts without advertising for competitive bids, and of other irregularities in the conduct of their official work, made against three members of the board of county commissioners of Dunn county as a basis for their removal, will be denied in toto Saturday by those officials when the writ is returnable before Judge Crawford. It is probable that the trial of the removal case on its merits will take place within three weeks.

Will Put Up Fight.

Edward J. Pletan, W. F. Beatty and Paul Ziner, against whom the ouster proceedings were launched by John W. Strom, have retained counsel and will make a bitter fight to hold their positions. In this section of the state the ouster actions have created a distinct sensation.

ROSEAU DREDGING CONTRACT AWARDED

Cleveland Concern to Carry on Northern Minnesota Work.

St. Paul, Minn., March 12.—The Central Dredging company, Cleveland, Ohio, was awarded the contract for widening, deepening and straightening of Roseau river by the state drainage commission, which met at the state capitol yesterday. The contract is for $61,900. Delay was caused because the company at first objected to the penalty of $100 a day to be charged in case the work is not finished by Jan. 1, 1916.

WILL JOIN BETTER FARM MOVEMENT.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four more counties—Pierce, Sheridan, Renville and Pembina—probably will be included in the better farming movement within a short time.

Local farm clubs, which have been organized throughout the state, are a big force in the promotion of the better farming movement, as is indicated by reports of their individual activities.

FISHER CELEBRATES JOINING DRY LIST.

East Grand Forks, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first election on the saloon question held in Fisher in thirty years, resulting in voting out the saloons, was celebrated by the women of that place last night, when they tendered a banquet to the voters. The vote against the saloons was four to one.

John Ketton, a blacksmith, is largely responible for Fisher being included in the list of "dry" towns. He circulated the petition asking a vote on the saloon question, after it had lain dormant ever since the establishment of the village thirty years ago.

FARMERS OF SEVEN STATES TO CO-OPERATE

Mill City Meeting to Bring Soil Tillers More Together.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 12.—Arrangements have been completed for a convention of farmers representing the co-operative organizations of seven states, to be held here, March 20-21, to organize a central co-operative association to reach all products of the farm. The states to be represented are Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Montana, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Among those to deliver addresses are Prof. L. H. Weld, director market bureau, University of Minnesota; Congressmen James Manahan and Charles A. Lindbergh.

MANY ATTENDING LIDGERWOOD MEET.

Lidgerwood, N. D., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The closing day of the big Community Institute here was the most largely attended. The presence today of President Worst of the North Dakota Agricultural college, Thomas Cooper, director of the North Dakota Better Farming association, and of the United States experiment station, President Smith of the state school of science and Dairy Commissioner Flint added increased interest to the proceedings. There was also a noon social hour and this evening the community banquet will be held. So successful have the meetings been that arrangements are already being made to hold them annually. There has been a great deal of enthusiasm and interest on the part of the farmers, their wives and the boys and the girls.

TO WEAN FARMERS AWAY FROM CATALOG

Retail Merchants Discuss Campaign Against Mail Order Houses.

St. Paul Minn., March 12.—In an address at the annual banquet of the association last night, Governor Eberhart urged members of the Minnesota Retail Grocers and General Merchants' association to encourage closer social relationship between storekeepers and customers, and declared that diplomacy in the grocery business was as necessary as in any other line.

An arraignment of catalog and mail order houses took up the greater portion of Wednesday's session.

The discussion was the result of two questions found in the question box. They are: "What about the mail order business?" and "Why doesn't the jobber help the country merchant fight the catalog man?"

G. A. Kortsch, Alexandria, quoted figures to show that the mail order house charged more for goods of all kinds than did the country merchant, and said that people, generally are not aware of this.

To Work Among Farmers.

J. W. Lux, St. Paul, proposed that the association send a representative to the farmers and acquaint them of what he said was the folly of buying of the mail order houses, and to teach the country merchant how to get rid of the "free deal."

The advice of J. W. Taylor, Minneapolis, that the country merchant sells pure food only, as a method of competing with the mail order house, was greeted with applause. Another question found in the box was: "Is a 'wet' town or a 'dry' town best for the grocer?"

The sentiment of the convention was in favor of the prohibition town.

The merchants visited St. Paul factories and wholesale houses late yesterday. The session will close today.

APPEAL MINING CASE.

Action Involving $900,000 Goes to Federal Circuit Court.

Marquette, Mich., March 12.—The equity case of the Arctic Iron company vs. the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company and William G. Mather, one of the most important mining litigations that has ever arisen in the Upper Peninsula, in which Judge C. W. Sessions recently rendered a decision for $900,000 damages against the defendant company, will now go to the United States circuit court of appeals at Cincinnati. A. T. Dustin of Cleveland, of the counsel of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, has informed S. W. Shaull of Marquette, attorney for the complainant company, that the case will be appealed. It will come to trial within three to six months.

At the recent hearing in Grand Rapids before Judge Sessions the defendants sought a reduction in the amount of damages found by the master, but his findings were fully sustained by the court.

The decision of Judge Sessions is perhaps the most important in the history of Michigan's mining industry.

RIPRAPPING AT MANDAN.

Banks of Missouri River Being Strengthened Against Erosion.

Mandan, N. D., March 12.—Several hundred yards of the Missouri's banks directly east of Mandan are being covered with woven brush and with hand-set rock rip-rapping to prevent any further encroachments by the river on the meadow land between Mandan and the river. The point is about a mile above the N. P. bridge.

C. L. Hansen, junior engineer of the government crops from Kansas City, is in charge of the work, assisted by Mr. McLaughlin, who superintends the placing of the materials. John Salter has the contract for furnishing the rock, which he is hauling from north of Mandan, where considerable blasting has been done the past few days.

When this job is completed which will be sometime next week, the crew will go up the river to Rock Haven, where similar work is awaiting attention.

TO CONSIDER BRIDGE ACROSS MISSISSIPPI.

Crosby, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club has extended an invitation to a committee of the Mission Lake Farmers' club and to boosters from Ironton and Manganese to discuss the improvement of roads and the best site for a bridge across the Mississippi river. The bridge is to be located in a place most accessible to the town of Crosby, and the probable location will be in the vicinity of Bear lake, about six miles west. Around the proposed site there is some of the richest farming land in Crow Wing county. Plans for the proposed bridge will be under way as soon as articles for the construction of the same can be filed and approved by the county commissioners.

COMMERCIAL CLUBS URGE PUBLICITY.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Delegates representing many Commercial clubs of the state will attend the annual meeting here next Monday and Tuesday of the North Dakota Federation of Commercial clubs. The program as outlined by Secretary C. W. Graves contemplates making state publicity the main theme of discussion.

In addition to President D. M. Neill of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial clubs, E. S. Neal, immigration agent of North Dakota, will speak.

BROOKSTON FIRE NIPPED IN BUD.

Brookston, Minn., March 12.—Considerable damage was done by fire to the interior of the Great Northern restaurant building Tuesday evening. The fire started from the generator of the lighting plant, and in a moment the papered walls were ablaze. Quick work with a chemical fire extinguisher stopped the fire before it had gained much headway. H. A. Perkins, who owns the building, estimated the damage at $100.

Town of Culver Election.

The election in the town of Culver resulted as follows: Supervisor, Fred Guyott; treasurer, C. O. Eklund; clerk, B. N. Wintergerst; constables, James Richardson and John Steffen.

FORMERLY LIVED IN MINNEAPOLIS.

Minneapolis, March 12.—Dr. J. T. Froyland, the murdered missionary at Lao Ho-Kow, and Rev. O. M. Sama, were former residents of Minneapolis, both being educated here. The Rev. Mr. Sama was married to a Minneapolis woman who, with her two children was with her husband when last heard from. The Samas left here twenty-one years ago. Mrs. Joachim Anfinson, sister of Mrs. Samas of this city, says she had not heard from the family for more than a year.

Dr. Froyland, who graduated from the Augsburg seminary here, left Minneapolis seven years ago to become a missionary.

Fergus Falls School Contest.

Fergus Falls, Minn., March 12.—The board of education has let the contract for a new industrial high school to John Lauritzen of this city. The contract price was $43,720. The total cost of the building, with plumbing and heating, will be $52,978. The city recently voted bonds to the extent of $45,000 for its construction and the balance of the money will be borrowed temporarily.

Injured By Explosion.

Crosby, N. D., March 12.—Bergen Wold had a hand so badly lacerated by an explosion of the tank of an acetylene gas welding outfit in Wold Bros.' blacksmith shop that amputation will be necessary. He was standing eight feet from the machine and was struck by the edge of the tank as it was hurled past him.

SUPPOSED BURGLAR WARNS SLEEPING ONES

Minneapolis, Minn., March 12.—Katherine Stital's screams early yesterday, when she though a burglar was trying to enter her room, saved the life of her 6-year-old brother. He was found unconscious from smoke and gas, resulting from a fire. He was carried from the house by his father and revived.

The supposed burglar was William Pearson, a neighbor, who while passing the Sittal house, saw the fire in the kitchen and began pounding on the window to arouse the family.

STATE BOYS' CAMP GROWS IN FAVOR.

Fargo, N. D., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state boys' encampment under the auspices of the North Dakota Better Farming association will again be held at the state fair in Fargo this year. It was started three years ago and the first session held here. The plan has proven so popular that other states have taken it up.

ACQUITTED OF SHOOTING.

Houghton Employment Agent Found Not Guilty at Crystal Falls.

Crystal Falls, Minn., March 12.—The trial of Leonard Meola, a Hancock employment agent charged with shooting Joseph Scolari here recently, resulted in his acquittal. Scolari is being tried for assault upon the Houghton man which provoked the shooting.

Charlson, N. D. Creamery.

Charlson, N. D., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charlson is to have a creamery. There has been considerable agitation among the farmers in this vicinity and an organization meeting will soon be held.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—The recent smallpox scare in this city has been wiped out, there being no new case since Feb. 19. The disease was started by two woodsmen, who brought it into the city, and it spread with startling rapidity. Fully 4,000 people were vaccinated.

Manawa—To be out of the way, he said, Richard Klotzbirger, a farmer, took carbolic acid with fatal results. He leaves a wife and three children.

Grand Rapids—The morning train on the Soo line was delayed for some time near Arpin on Saturday by a half grown deer, which kept to the track for nearly a mile.

Schleisingerville—A coroner's jury viewed the body of Thomas Karr, killed by Al La Point, fellow telegrapher, and adjourned to Saturday. It is said La Point will plead self-defense.

Grand Rapids—Calvin Burt, 5-year-old son of William Burt, had both legs severed when hit by a train while crossing the railroad tracks Tuesday afternoon. He was on his way home from school. He is not expected to live.

Bayfield—An equal Suffrage association has been formed here by Miss Alice B. Curtis, and the following officers elected: President, Mrs. F. H. Hawley; vice president, Mrs. Winnie Robinson; secretary, Mrs. Carl Johnson; treasurer, Mrs. S. L. Pickett.

Kenosha—There are four candidates for mayor at the primary election, March 24. They are Dr. William M. Farr, James Gorman, M. J. Scholey and Joseph Orth, the latter a Socialist.

Sheboygan—St. Clement's English Catholic congregation is being organized and Rev. Francis Murphy formerly of Milwaukee has been appointed as pastor by Archbishop S. G. Messner. A new structure will be built soon.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

St. Cloud—St. Cloud merchants will make formal protest against the proposed increase in express rates on bread, fruits, berries and general specials.

Crookston—During 1913 there were 772 births in Polk county and 101 deaths. The township of Eden led in the number of births, the entire number being 22, and the deaths 6. Bygland had 20 births to 10 deaths. Sandsville did not have a single birth, with three deaths. Hammond averaged 50 per cent with one birth and one dead.

Little Falls—J. Greisch and B. Burton on Tuesday received a bunch of ten Percheron mares from the National stock farm near Mankato. The animals are all in fine condition and average about 1,500 each.

Fergus Falls—Ed Olson, who has been mixed up in a number of thieving cases was sentenced to forty days in jail Tuesday afternoon for robbing Elmer E. Adams' hen house.

International Falls—Miss Ruth Child went to Duluth Tuesday morning to take the civil service examination. She will be gone several days.

International Falls—C. G. Dosland received a draft from the Northern Pacific Railway company for $2,200, being the full amount of the verdict returned by the jury in favor of O. W. Flaten, in his personal injury suit against the company.

Minneapolis—M. L. Scooler, brought back from Minneapolis, pleaded guilty to a forgery charge in district court. The boy's father was here from Indianapolis and was given custody of the young man until June 8. Sentence was suspended until that day and young Schooler will go home with his father.

Little Falls—The Turner, Kohler, Hayes company, which will have headquarters in this city and which will manufacture and distribute grain driers or conditioners, water heaters and other milling supplies, has been incorporated under the laws of 1905. This company is capitalized at $50,000.

Le Sueur—At a meeting of the board of education held Saturday evening C. W. Van Cleve was hired for the third year at a salary of $1,900.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Hancock—Earl Lowdy, formerly of this city and a graduate of the Hancock high school, is one of the designers of a new aeroplane that is to be used in a contest with the Cornell Aero club in the near future.

Calumet—William H. Smith, aged 73 years, died March 10 at the home of his son, William Smith, on Caledonia street. He was an old resident of Calumet and is survived by two sons.

Houghton—At the village election just held the following were elected without opposition: Mayor, Gus T. Hartman; clerk, E. R. Penberthy; treasurer, A. Weir; assessor, Oliver Marion; trustees for two years, A. M. MacDonald, Frank Hildebrant and A. Corneliier.

Hancock—Mrs. James Howard of Quincy, 53 years of age, a resident of the copper country for many years, died March 9 at her home at the Quincy location following an illness of many weeks. The deceased is survived by her husband, four sons and four daughters.

Munising—At a meeting of the Michigan Panama exposition held at Lansing, G. Sherman Collins of Munising was elected vice chairman.

Ishpeming—Sam Kallio of West Ishpeming was sent to Marquette for ninety days on a charge of assault and battery upon his son. He was under the influence of liquor at the time. After the assault he and Isaac Mannikko had a runaway and smashed up the cutter in which they were riding.

Escanaba—Entering through a side window which he "jimmied" open, a robber got into the saloon of Chas. Olson here and stole $61.80 from the drawer of the cash register. The window through which the man entered is a small one and is in full view of the street.

L'Anse—The South Shore passenger train from the West Tuesday struck a load of logs between Baraga and L'Anse. The sleigh was partly across the track at a crossing, and despite the efforts of the driver of the team it could not be moved before the train struck it. The train was on a down grade, and though it could not be stopped, the speed was so much reduced that no serious damage resulted.

Marquette—Harry Nelson has been appointed to represent the Baptist Sunday school at the second annual boys' conference, which is to be held in Escanaba March 20, 21 and 22.

Houghton — The Houghton county board of supervisors, at the regular March meeting, passed a resolution awarding Sheriff James A. Cruse $2,000 as extra compensation for boarding prisoners during the strike.

Ishpeming — The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company has commenced building an addition to its main office. Two large rooms will be provided. The estimated cost of the improvement is $1,500. The purchasing department has been somewhat crowded of late, and more room is badly needed.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—Charles Cutler, formerly a resident of Grand Forks, will give the "home guard" an opportunity to see just how good a mat man he is when he tries to throw three men in an hour here March 16.

Bismarck, N. D.—Mountrail county will not be compelled to build a new courthouse on property given the county by George Wilson, according to a decision of the supreme court.

Fargo, N. D.—An effort will be made by the Fargo Commercial club to secure President Henry Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin to address the club at the regular monthly meeting on March 19.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The North Dakota University Glee club will invade the Twin Cities on its annual tour early in March. Concerts will be given at the University of Minnesota and in a St. Paul church, and this will be the first time the North Dakota club has appeared in these cities. Thief River Falls is the only other Minnesota city that will be visited.

Leeds, N. D.—A campaign for better roads in Benson county has been instituted by the automobile association of this city.

Grand Forks, N. D.—A. H. Runge, state fire marshal, has been in Grand Forks investigating two small blazes which have occurred in this city during the last three months.

Bismarck, N. D.—Owen Farley is said to be quite seriously ill at his little home just to the south side of the tracks. Mr. Farley is an aged man and one of the early pioneers of the city. He has lived alone for years.

Fargo, N. D.—With bigger plans for road construction work this summer, the auto association of the dealers in Fargo and Moorhead will be incorporated. It is planned to keep up the annual shows and arrangements are already made for the second annual show next winter. W. M. Ball is president, William Isham vice president, J. D. Grant secretary, and R. L. English treasurer.

Lansford, N. D.—The Mouse River Loop Development & Immigration association has renewed its activity and the next meeting will be held at Deering at an early date. The Soo has cooperated heartily in the movement, one of the results being the listing along its lines in this state 3,000 quarter sections of land, the advantages of which will be presented to the farmers of many state.

Fargo, N. D.—There will be four members of the board of education to elect this fall. After the bitter fight a year ago in which the Hoover forces won at the election, the four minority members resigned. Their places were filled by appointment and all four of the persons selected are candidates for election.

WONDERFUL STOMACH REMEDY IS FOUND IN TIME TO SAVE WOMAN

Mrs. Williams Gets on Way to Health After First Dose of Treatment.

Mrs. Peter Williams of 2749 Eighteenth street, S., Minneapolis, was desperately ill with stomach trouble. She faced the probability of an operation.

After taking Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy, discovered for her by a kind friend, she found herself on the way back to health. Mrs. Williams wrote:

"I have taken Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy for the fourth time and I am feeling like a new woman. I am entirely out of pain. I had been sick for eighteen months and four of our best doctors could do nothing for me. They all agreed that an operation was the only thing. One day a man told my husband of your remedy and that night he brought it home to me."

Mrs. Williams' letters tells an experience like many of the thousands who have taken Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy with unusual benefit. It clears the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and poisonous matter. It brings quick relief to sufferers from stomach ailments, liver and intestinal troubles. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations; many are sure it saved their lives.

The remarkable merit of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy has caused many imitators, so be cautious. Be sure it's Mayr's. Probably this remedy is known among your own neighbors; ask them. Go to Wirth's drug store and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing—or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist can tell you its wonderful effects.

MORE GOOD MATERIAL.

The Elks last night formally indorsed the midsummer festival and pageant and authorized the appointment of a committee to co-operate with the general committee on arrangements which is now being formed.

You know the Elks—the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks—the B. P. O. E.—the "Best People on Earth"—the men who do secret charities and keep the news of what the right hand does from the left hand—the men who write the faults of others on the sands and their virtues upon the imperishable tablets of memory.

They are not only kindly inspired by the principles of human brotherhood, but they are alive and full of ginger and enthusiasm. Their help in making a go of what promises to be the biggest enterprise Duluth ever attempted will be invaluable.

The committee from the Retail Merchants' association which has undertaken the leadership in the formation of a general committee states that while its invitations to participate have gone out to many civic bodies active in the community life, at the same time the call is general, and any organization which will do so will be welcomed if it indorses the movement and appoints a committee of three, headed by its presiding officer, to participate in the work of arrangement, notifying A. K. Squier, chairman.

There still is ground for suspicion that Huerta and Carranza worked together to induce those Chinese brigands to divert the world's attention for a minute.

THE AGRICULTURAL AWAKENING.

When Crookston had a corn show the other day, and agricultural experts were down on the program for technical addresses, hundreds of farmers paid railroad fares for many-mile trips and listened eagerly.

This is but one instance among thousands of a tremendously important fact: that where ten or even five years ago the average farmer laughed at the expert and dismissed him as a "book farmer," actual dollars and cents demonstrations have carried conviction so far that today the average farmer is seeking the expert instead of avoiding him. In short, an agricultural awakening has come over the land, and it is bringing a revolution in agricultural methods.

Perhaps the most interesting development in this connection is the country agricultural agent movement; and for that reason one of the most important measures of the last session of the Minnesota legislature was the law providing a limited number of county agricultural agents for Minnesota—a measure for which Charles P. Craig of Duluth is directly responsible.

As an example of what the county agricultural agent can do, here is a list of the services performed in one year in five West Virginia counties, as reported to the Ohio Farmer:

> Demonstrations of successful farming have been given to over twelve hundred farmers on their own farms; over a hundred farmers have been started in growing alfalfa successfully; over sixty have learned how to prune and spray their formerly neglected orchards; over two hundred have learned how to stop washing and leaching of their soils, and have started to restore the fertility of their lands by winter cover crops; thirty new silos went into use last fall; hundreds of acres of pasture were so treated that next season they will carry scores of additional cattle; scores of manure sheds were built; two to three thousand dollars has been saved to farmers by co-operative purchasing; for the first time in his life at least one farmer got over three hundred dollars from a single acre of potatoes; some of the county agents helped to lay over three miles of tile drainage, making fine fields out of large acreages of wet lands.

This, impressive as it is, is the work of the agricultural awakening in but one spot, and it is only a beginning even there. Moreover, it is the direct result of only one agency. How much is being done by the information that is spread through the agricultural press and the agricultural departments of daily and weekly newspapers; how much is being done by the annual output of graduates from the agricultural colleges; how much good flows from the agricultural high schools and from agricultural education in the lower grades; how much is being done indirectly by the examples of individual farmers who have adopted modern methods: who shall calculate the value of it all?

And, let it be said again because it is important, this revolution in agriculture is only on the threshold of its development.

Missourians have taken to praising the hen. At least they are reasonably more sure of sympathy than they got for the houn' dawg.

THE FROG'S PUDDLE-WORLD.

There was the fly riding on the wheel, who boasted that he was so strong that he made the wheel go 'round and the coach travel.

There was Chanticleer, who was positive that his crowing brought the sun out of bed every morning.

There was the frog in a puddle who was sure his puddle was the world. And the frog is most like the citizen who, signing himself "Junius," writes to the New York Sun a letter which the Sun priats conspicuously at the top of its first editorial column.

In this letter "Junius" says that "the whole world of Europe and America" disagrees with President Wilson in his failure to recognize Huerta, and that if the president will only admit frankly that he has been mistaken and will only recognize Huerta, then "at one bound he will become the most popular man in the United States."

And we haven't the slightest doubt that "Junius" believes it. The Sun, though it secretly all along has wanted Huerta recognized, is surely too canny to believe it; but we need not doubt that "Junius" does.

Surrounded by a little anxious mob of stockholders in Mexican enterprises, poor "Junius" thinks its clatter is the world's opinion. It is an oddly interesting incident, but by no means rare.

The frog in his mud-puddle, you remember, was sure that the shores of that puddle were the boundaries of the world.

If every one of those Mexican revolutionists works his sixty-acre farm himself he won't have much time hereafter to join in any revolution.

AFTER THE HORSE IS STOLEN.

The Associated Press reports that the fire chief of St. Louis is busy inspecting all theaters, hotels, lodging houses and other largely used buildings to see if there are any fire-traps in town.

This, mind you, after the Missouri Athletic club had burned with a large loss of life.

That's the way it's done mostly. It costs a lot of money, a lot of lives and a lot of suffering to get such things attended to. Hardly ever is the business of locking the stable door taken up until the horse is stolen. However, there are always other horses in the barn, and it is better late than never.

Here's hoping some members of those new troops sent to the Mexican border belong to the families of the men who are howling for armed intervention. It may make them take a think.

IGNORANCE OR DECEPTION?

The postoffice appropriation bill is something like eight hundred thousand dollars higher than the last one, and amounts to $311,492,067.

So the New York Times, able advocate of conservatism, says this disposes of the widespread notion that the parcel post is making money. The Times also calls attention to the fact that there is an equal appropriation for the Panama railway, "whose rates are fivefold the average for the United States and whose business exceeds its capacity."

"It is in this manner," says the Times, "that government ownership and operation show the profits which justify the promise of the promoters of these public services affected with a private interest."

Now the Times does not precisely SAY that the postoffice service is costing the treasury more than three hundred millions, or that the Panama railway is costing it a similar sum.

But it contrives, nevertheless, to leave that impression.

It totally ignores the earnings of the postoffice and the Panama railway, which go into the treasury and have to be appropriated out again—less profits—for expenses.

Undoubtedly the large increase in the postal appropriation is due to the parcel post. But so is the large increase in earnings of which the Times says nothing.

The postoffice with the parcel post costs more, to be sure, than the postoffice without the parcel post. But so are its earnings more with the parcel post than without it.

The Times is itself at fault if its worrying over these figures creates the impression that it deliberately, for the purpose of deceiving the public, ignored the fact that these great appropriations are not out of tax revenues, but out of the earnings of these great public services.

Cuba is going to build a million-dollar capitol. It doesn't seem as if there'd be enough in it at that figure to get "the boys" to vote for it.

The President and Canal Tolls

Praise of Wilson's stand from the press of all parties.

Baltimore Sun (Independent): The forebearance which the British government is showing with regard to Mexico and the cordiality of our relations with other powers very probably are due, to a considerable extent, to the spirit of toleration and good will that the administration is manifesting on this and other international subjects. Apart from any question of honor or obligation, Democratic members of congress should consider whether it is wise to save American coastwise shipping from Panama canal tolls at the possible sacrifice of international good will.

New York Tribune (Republican): President Wilson has never appeared to better advantage than he did when urging his party in congress to undo an act of national bad faith. It takes high intellectual and moral courage to confess error and to make pledges to reparation. That his party in congress will follow him is hardly open to doubt. It cannot persist in treaty breaking without breaking at the same time with the only successful leader it has had in a couple of generations.

New York Herald (Independent): Never has the president's breadth of view, his comprehensive statesmanship been more clearly revealed than in his terse, ringing, admirable address to congress. Sweeping aside all such senseless surplusage as "platform declarations" and "party faith," with a clarity that leaves nothing to becloud the simple logic of his argument, he shows where the plain duty of congress lies. His reasons for holding that the exemption clause should be repealed are convincing as they are complete. No ground for controversy remains.

New York World (Democratic): He might easily have used more words, but he could not at length have conveyed to his hearers more solemnly the gravity of the issues involved. How, then, are we to explain the attitude of so many Democrats who are faithless alike to the principles of their party and to the honor of the republic, as pledged in treaties? Have they surrendered to the ship subsidy lobby? Have the successors of Pacific Mail and M. A. Hanna been able at last to present their arguments in so persuasive a form that the new Democracy, or a considerable section of it, has been led astray? The president entreats his fellow-partisans to respect a treaty and to have regard for the grave difficulties that confront him. Is it possible that the plea of Lewis Nixon, shipbuilder, ship subsidyist, ship lobbyist, will be more powerful than the plea of the president of the United States?

Chicago Tribune (Progressive): It is one of the most impressive utterances from the executive in many years. Not only its exceptional gravity of tone—to which its brevity adds rather than detracts—but its studious care in itself and in its implications. The president's message on toll exemption, if not heeded, will mark an ominous turning point in our history.

New York Times (Independent Democratic): But the matter is not in its essence merely a party matter, though it deeply involves the honor of the Democracy, which it is the duty of Mr. Wilson, as the authorized leader of the party, to preserve, or, in this instance, to restore. In this appeal he speaks as the latest of a long line of presidents, who, however, they may have differed in party views and aims, have steadfastly maintained a high standard of national faith. We do not see that congress can possibly refuse an appeal so just, so wise, so plainly dictated by the highest interests of the nation, so essential to the keeping of national faith.

Brooklyn Eagle (Independent): On the side of Mr. Underwood is what ought not to be. On the side of the president is what ought to be. What ought to be in the case of every great president has always been accomplished, sooner or later, first or last, and in the history of this administration on first demand every time. It is not Wilson's "luck." That is a gambling phrase. It is not Wilson's "prestige." That is a word indicative of sleight-of-hand and really not a respectable word. The rightfulness of Wilson in national and international endeavors, his persistence, his patience, his power of view, of review and of foresight, or preview, will be taken into account by history, have been taken into account by chronicle, and should be taken into account in the daily creation of history by those who refuse to believe that there will be either an abdication or a suspension of justice and righteousness between governments or among men.

New York Evening Post (Independent): President Wilson's message to congress today is a miracle of condensation. In less than 50 words he says all that is necessary, and does it with a force and impact that must go deep into the mind of congress and the country. To attempt to re-enforce the president's argument is haplessly needless. It speaks for itself better than anybody can speak for it. What the president has done is to make the whole question look large and national. Before, to many minds, it had had the appearance of a squabble. The whole matter has been lifted into a higher air. The president leads the country to a larger view. We are hailing the completion of the Panama canal. Let us, urges Mr. Wilson, free our rejoicing from every regret or stain. Best of all, Mr. Wilson has put every form of blatant jingoism under his feet, and given us all such a vision of national honor and the true grandeur of the nation that we can all echo:

"O Beautiful! My Country! Ours once more!"

How Many Will Praise You?

Marcus Aurelius: Does some bubble of fame torment you? Then fix your gaze on swift oblivion, on the gulf of infinity this way and that, on the empty rattle of plaudits and the undiscriminating fickleness of professed applause, on the narrow range within which you are circumscribed. The whole earth is but a point, your habitation but a tiny nook thereon; and on the earth how many are there who will praise you?

The Proof of the Pudding

Editorial in the St. Louis Republic.

When events themselves emerge, the prophecies of those events become interesting solely as measures of the trustworthiness of the prophets. When the Underwood tariff bill went into effect, Republican prophecies of commercial disaster and industrial ruin cumbered the records. Those prophecies, today, are of interest wholly for the lurid light they cast on Republican foresight. It is not necessary to attempt to recall those gloomy forecasts in detail. Briefly, if the new tariff reduced the high cost of food, it could only do it at the expense of the American farmer. And the lowering of the tariff on manufactured goods was bound to "flood our markets with the products of the pauper labor of Europe."

What has happened? The unanswerable rejoinder of the event itself was summarized by Secretary Redfield in his Wheeling speech on Monday evening.

The month of December, 1913, saw the largest imports in the history of the nation. At first glance this seems to be what our Republican friends anticipated. But when we look at the detailed statement we find that the increase was wholly in the importation of foodstuffs and raw materials for manufacturing.

The increase in importations of raw materials was inevitable, in view of the general expansion of our manufactures. For example, take rubber. No crude rubber is produced in the United States. The more our rubber manufactures expand, the more our imports of crude raw materials will expand. The same thing applies to ivory, to skins of many kinds, and to a whole range of materials used in manufacturing not produced in this climate or on this continent. As domestic trade and manufacture for foreign export increase, our importations of such crude materials must increase in consequence.

The increase in importations of food materials in December is due to three causes; one economic, one legislative and one temporary. The first is the fact that growth in population increases demand at home for food materials which we cannot produce. Tea, coffee and tropical fruits are conspicuous examples. The second cause is the lessening of tariff taxation on food, and its operation is most clearly understood when taken in connection with the third cause—the partial failure of the American corn crop last summer. There have been heavy importations of Argentine corn and meat. The price of beef in New York at retail has gone down 2 cents in consequence.

This has not hurt the farmer. He is still getting high prices for his meat. And it has been a precious boon to the consumer.

We turn aside for a moment to remark that this means gain all round. If there is one thing written clearly on the pages of economic history, it is the fact that prices that are too high tend to restrict consumption, and so react against the real interests of producers. The high cost of living that diminishes the consuming power of millions increases the price of the articles produced by those millions and reacts against the prosperity of the farmer and stock raiser. Moderate prices, well maintained, are best for every part of the economic world. Some three years ago, as the Republic pointed out at the time, this fact was impressively illustrated in the American potato market. A partial failure of the crop occurred. Late in the season local stocks were exhausted and the price went up sharply. This did not benefit the farmer, for the surplus stock was all in the hands of the dealers. The potato tariff, usually altogether inoperative, like a dam that is wholly overflowed except at extreme low water, came into action to prevent importations. Result, the consumer paid more for potatoes to eat; the farmer paid more for potatoes to seed; living conditions were made harder for everybody; nobody profited except the middleman. This by the way.

But what happened to our manufactures in December, in view of the awful menace of the "pauper labor" of Europe? Why, this: An actual decrease in importations of manufactured goods, as compared with the month—October, 1912—most nearly approximating December's figures, under the Payne-Aldrich law.

Since the new tariff law went into effect we are—

Importing more foodstuffs.

Importing more raw materials for use in manufacturing.

Importing relatively less finished manufactures.

Exporting more manufactured goods.

The proof of the low tariff pudding, friends, is in the eating, and we have now arrived at the eating stage.

When Perjury Is Official

Lincoln Steffens in Harper's Weekly: "Come on up to city hall and hear me commit perjury," said a cynical man who was about to be sworn in as chief of police. And when I laughed, he explained, very soberly:

"That's right," he said. "I'm a competent man. I know the business. So I know when I take a solemn oath to enforce the laws and ordinances—I know that I can't do it. The laws I'm bound to enforce are not enforceable."

"There ought to be a law against that!" Ever hear anybody say that? Ever say it yourself? It's the beginning of the trouble. I heard a man say it in a Western town a year or so ago. He had just been stabbed with a hatpin—accidentally, of course—and the lady (so to speak) apologized. But he was no lady's man; he was a power in the land of his fathers and he "had a law passed" against the ladies' hatpins. He couldn't deal with it; his sex couldn't, and he knew no way to get women to deal with it, so he and his menkind put up to the police the problem involved in the fine point of this passing fashion!

It's too much faith in law that brings the law into contempt.

There's too much faith in force. You see that in labor. The good citizen is horrified during strikes at the scenes he sees of flying brickbats, beating up of scabs and violence in general. He doesn't stop to think that a police force is force, and that when he calls in the police to arrest the growth of strikes or hatpins, he is acting upon the very same impulse that prompts strikers to throw bricks, plant a stick of dynamite or picket an unfair mill. Labor has no police force at its beck and call, and capital has. That's all that makes the difference there. Everybody believes in force, and the police force is merely the nicest, cleanest force to use. So the cleanest, nicest people use the police whenever they feel like clubbing somebody or something, like the lady and the hatpin or the striker and his strike.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Walter Allen Watson of Virginia—a boyish-faced little man with short gray hair and a slight stoop—was the judge who presided at the trial of young Henry Clay Beatty, charged with murdering his wife, a case that attracted nation-wide attention two or three years ago.

But that is only one of a number of things that make Congressman Watson noteworthy.

To start with, he was for years—from early boyhod clear into mature manhood—the foremost practical joker of Nottoway county, Virginia.

Inventiveness at practical jokes was a gift he had inherited from his father, who had been the leading joker in his company when he served in the army. But with the father the gift had been only rudimentary, whereas the son had taken it and developed it to a high degree of perfection.

Young Watson's specialty was playing ghost. He used to lurk about the country graveyards and silently step forth at the edge of the highway to startle the unwary traveler.

There was a young man thereabouts who used to ride horseback to the home of one of the belles of the countryside. When it was reported that the two were about to be married. Watson felt that he ought to test the young man's mettle and ascertain if he were a sturdy enough spirit to take up the responsibilities of the wedded state.

He got a sheet that he kept in his room for such purposes and waited in the silent cemetery until the young man came light-heartedly riding along.

Not a word was spoken, but when the rider saw the white figure approaching, his one thought seemed to be to get somewhere else. He whipped up his horse, and what made it all the funnier to Watson was the fact that the horse kept going faster as he got farther away, indicating that the victim was becoming more frightened all the while.

That was more than thirty years ago, and neither Watson nor the other man ever spoke of the joke. About two weeks ago the man dropped into Washington. He and Watson had a long conversation, and Watson had it on his tongue's end several times to speak about the little prank. But he didn't.

One of the best jokes Watson ever played was a fake duel. There was an old ex-Confederate army officer down that way, who was commonly believed to possess much less bravery than he claimed for himself. Watson got him to be his second in a duel. When the duel took place, the guns were loaded with blank cartridges and Watson shot and killed—as it appeared—his opponent. Whereupon the dead duelist's second took after Watson's second with a gun and chased him o'er hill and dale for two or three miles. And it was generally regarded as a thoroughly comic situation.

Watson might still be a leading practical joker except for one thing. He narrowly escaped being killed one night, shortly after he began practicing law, right in the midst of a highly amusing prank, and that led him to abandon his hobby forever and ever.

In accordance with his custom, he grabbed up a sheet one night and set out in search of recreation. Some play cards for amusement, others play lawn tennis; Watson played ghost.

A lone traveler came along the road past the cemetery where Watson sat patiently awaiting a victim. This traveler chanced to be carrying a revolver. Watson believed he was in no danger of being shot, because of the following reasons:

(a) The man probably did not have any revolver. (b) If he did have one he would be too scared to use it. (c) If he was not too scared to shoot he would at least know the futility of trying to shoot a spirit.

But somehow Watson's hypotheses failed to make good. The joke victim not only had a revolver, but it was loaded and he shot it.

Watson heard a bullet go zing-g! past his ear. He abandoned then all effort to maintain ghost-like dignity and ran to shelter himself behind a tombstone.

And he gave up ghosting from that day on.

When Senator Elihu Root was a young man he was a great crony of the late Charles A. Dana. One winter they had a little time hanging on their hands and desired to do something a bit skittish. So what do you suppose?

They set to work and studied the Icelandic language.

Their theory was that if they should ever make a stay in Iceland it might be extremely embarrassing to drop into a shop or a hotel and be unable to make their wants known.

Root can speak snatches of Icelandic even yet.

Uncle Henry Barnhart, member of congress from Indiana, stood beaming on the gay scene at a big formal White House reception a little while ago.

"Some party, isn't it?" somebody suggested.

"Yes, it's a nice affair," admitted Uncle Henry, "but after all it's a good deal like we have out in Rochester, Ind., and points thereabouts. The main difference is that this is a reception and we call 'em 'sociables.'"

One on the Joker.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Congressman Frank Park of Georgia, smiled the other night when one of the party remarked that the man who couldn't take a joke should never try to give one. He said he was reminded of the office wit.

One day a new boy came to work in the office, and the wit, whose name was Blinks, immediately got on the job.

"See here, Willie," said he, addressing the new boy and handing him a quarter, "just run over to Black & White's and tell them to give you 5 cents worth of pigeon milk. Bring me the change."

With a calm face the boy left the office, and right gleefully the staff chuckled. A half an hour later he returned with a basket in his hand and approached Blinks, who was engaged with the boss.

"Here," said the youngster, handing a live pigeon to the abashed Blinks, "milk the bird yerself. There ain't no change."

Elect a Legislature Pledged to Action

State Press on the need of economy in state affairs.

Time to Cut Down Expenses.

Battle Lake Review: The Duluth Herald has performed a great service to the people of Minnesota in comparing the state expenses of this with other states. The Herald has shown that Minnesota is the most extravagant, most wasteful, poorest governed, highest taxed state in the Union. The table published on this page shows how much Minnesotans pay for the privilege of living under a government of reckless extravagance, under a government of politicians who waste the people's money with no desire to secure an honest day's labor for each dollar spent and with utter disregard of the state's reputation at home or abroad.

Illinois is not included in the table, yet in Illinois the state tax is $3.18 for each inhabitant. In Minnesota it is $10.49 for each person!

Why not turn the rascals out?

Don't Forget the Legislature.

St. Peter Herald: We confess to increasing admiration for the "economy and efficiency" commission. Its members propose to abolish the state board of control.

Surely About Time.

Wabasha Herald: In Indiana, where the population is nearly 700,000 greater than in Minnesota, the expenses increased just 1 per cent during the past four years. In Minnesota they increased about 66 per cent during the same period of time. It's about time for retrenchment, isn't it, Mr. Taxpayer? It's about time to make a change, to give the state an administration piloted by men pledged to efficiency and economy, and what is most important, men who do not merely promise, but of whom it can reasonably be expected that they are capable and sincere enough to carry out their pledges to the people. Let's think it over.

And Still Going Higher.

Anoka Union: The taxes are so high in Minnesota as to be almost a confiscation of the property.

High Time.

St. Cloud Times: It cost $25,837,185.03 more to pay the expense of the Minnesota government in 1913 than ten years ago. In 1903 the cost was $19,926,197.55. "Turn the rascals out!"

They're Thinking Now, Though.

Breckenridge Telegram: Minnesota is such a rich state that comparatively few people take much thought of state taxes and assume that it does not require much of a man to act as governor. As a result much of the natural wealth is going into the pockets of the men identified with the brewery and other predatory interests.

The Small Capitalists

Youth's Companion: We are too much accustomed to think of the struggle between capital and labor as concerning two distinct and hostile forces. On one side, we picture the vast multitude of those who live only from day to day, toiling wearily for an insufficient livelihood, with nothing behind them except a negative inheritance, and nothing before them except dependent and neglected old age. On the other side, we picture the idle rich living in luxury on accumulated possessions, and by means of those possessions keeping the toilers forever in subjection.

Although this view may have its moral value, it is economically neither accurate nor complete. Between the immensely rich and the barely self-supporting, there comes the vast body of small capitalists; men and women who, by inheritance or thrift, have acquired invested resources not sufficient for their entire needs, but adequate to give their lives stability, and to serve as insurance against the blows of want.

The man who owns a small equity in his house is a capitalist. The woman who owns a few shares of stock, or has $500 in the savings bank, is a capitalist. Most of the great capitalized organizations of the country, although they may be managed by a few wealthy men, are in largo part owned collectively by small capitalists.

The small capitalist, then, with property of from $1,000 to $25,000, is a most important element in our Democratic country, for he is stable and he is deeply interested. He may not make up the actual voting majority, but he unquestionably holds the balance of power. He can have no antagonism to the wage-earner, because he is a wage-earner himself; nor, on the other hand, can he attack capital indiscriminately for, if he does, he will be sure in the end to menace his own well-being.

It used to be said that the yeomanry were the strength of England. In the same sense, the small capitalist is the strength of this country. He is the buffer between the grinding rich and the indignant poor. It is on his firmness, his sense of justice—above all, on his intelligence—that our future must depend.

TANGO CONTEST FRIDAY NIGHT BOTH SHOWS.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

A QUESTION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In The Herald of March 3, 1914, I noticed an article captioned "Ten Drinks Makes Martin Olson a Thief." I have since that time been anxiously awaiting to see what action would be taken by our commissioners leading to the revocation of the license of the man who sold it to him. Martin Olson is a minor to whom the sale of intoxicating liquor is forbidden by law and it seems to me that the man who sold him the liquor or the owner of the license under which the liquor was sold should be made to pay the penalty. Could it possibly be that action was not taken in that case for private reasons of our commissioners?

RIGHT YOU ARE, SIR.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been a subscriber to your paper a number of years, as I have also been a taxpayer of your city for many years. I have always taken great interest in the progress of your city by the unsalted sea. While the growth has been slow (but sure), I think you are on the verge of great progress from now on. If your great steel plant had been built in Seattle they would, by this time, have annexed the state of Washington to Seattle. Push Duluth along. She is bound to come. Yours very truly. WHO KNOWS THEM?

To the Editor of The Herald:

There are two songs I would very much like to have printed in your Open Court column if you possibly can procure them anywhere. Part of the chorus of one is:

"Far beyond the rolling prairies,
Where a noble forest lies,
Dwells the fairest Indian maiden
Ever seen by mortal eyes."

The first verse of the second is:

"The Scotch way of courtin's the best way of all,
But it's not what some folks might suppose."

GOOD WORDS FOR MR. GORDON AND THE HERALD.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have noticed two articles in the Open Court on Mr. Gordon, the "Magazine Man," and would like to add to them the following: Mr. Gordon has for seventeen years been a paralytic and is absolutely penniless except for the small amount he can make on the subscriptions of magazines. He is handicapped not only for physical reasons, but because of inability to secure help at the time he needs it most, for financial reasons.

The Curtis Publishing company has offered, as I understand it, a fund of $5,000 for a "Permanent Invalid Pension Fund" if Mr. Gordon will secure for its publications so many thousand subscriptions by a certain time, which is rapidly approaching. This will not only mean $5 or $10 a month to hopeless invalids all over the country, but will mean freedom from worry for Mr. Gordon, after years of heroic struggle, to save himself from becoming an object of charity.

The writer of the first article that appeared is, I understand, already receiving the benefits of this "Fund," since last March, which, of course, will be cut short if the work fails. Mr. Gordon gets nothing unless he finally wins out.

To me th ecase is pitiful. Such a brave struggle against odds. And remember that one of our own invalids loses if he fails to win out. The subscriptions are only helpful as they are sent through John Gordon, "Magazine Man," 2423 South Twenty-fourth street, Omaha, Neb. I have verified this story.

While I am sending this I want to commend your editorial page. Either some good article or some poem is always in evidence to be helpful and uplifting, and Peggy Peabody! I just wonder who she is. My, but she has good sense. I just wish she'd get after mothers and fathers who insist on keeping their children up half the night and allowing them to drink so much coffee and tea. Her fresh air article was fine. Please keep my name out of all this, as it has been a great effort for me to even think of writing it. M. K.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Costs Little, but there is Nothing Better at any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating bronchial asthma, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and whooping cough. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex ,or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

ALASKA PEN AND HOLDER ARE USED.

Washington, March 12.—The pen with which Speaker Champ Clark signed the Alaska railroad bill yesterday was made of Alaska gold and was held in an ivory penholder made from the tusk of a mastodon that roamed in Alaska more than 50,000 years ago. Vice President Marshall will use the same pen and holder when he affixes his signature today.

The penholder was carved in the form of an Alaskan totem pole, by an Alaskan Indian living at Skagway. The ivory tusk from which the holder was carved was found in the aluvials of the Kuskokwim, where mastodon remains of the pre-glacial age frequently are brought to the surface in the course of mining operations. Geologists say that the ivory from these deposits must be at least 50,000 years old.

The ivory penholder and the gold pen were supplied by John E. Ballaine of Seattle and Alaska, who has been one of the active supporters of the Alaska railroad bill. Mr. Ballaine will present the pen and penholder to the territory of Alaska.

THE MOUNTAIN AND MAHOMET

By SAVOYARD

Washington, March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tidings from all quarters are one song, that the Progressive party is still in the ring—everywhere they declare for action independent of the G. O. P. In 1912 the Progressive party polled in the presidential election 4,119,538 votes against 3,484,980 votes for the regular Republican candidates—or a majority as between the two of 634,588. In 1828, when he was elected, Maj.-Gen. Andy Jackson got but 647,231 of the popular vote for president.

Mankind has been quarreling more or less viciously and malignantly for ages over this proposition—Shall the mountain go to Mahomet? Why, you cant' get up a row over the government of a village, or the conduct of a school, or a church, or a business partnership, or a baseball league, that the issue of Mahomet vs. the mountain is not acutely, or incidentally, involved. I've known the mountain to do the moving—in congress—but never have we seen the mountain on its travels in a general election, for the people do not deem it quite decent for mountains to go galivanting over the country—they might do serious injury to crops, if they came "endways." Instead, there are many disasters that could be wrought by a perambulating mountain, just sloshing around trying to get to Mahomet by tracing bypaths and taking near cuts.

So we may set it down that the Progressives are not yet ready to go back. Indeed, at least 25 per cent of them, or over 1,000,000 voters, were recruited from the Democratic party, every one of whom would have voted for Woodrow Wilson had there been no Progressive ticket, and that is not all—of the remainder at least 50 per cent would not have voted at all, and of those who did vote—former Republicans—more than 80 per cent would have voted for Woodrow Wilson. Why, even Mr. Flinn, the Republican boss of Pittsburg, the man who carried Pennsylvania for Roosevelt, was here the other day, and declared that had not Roosevelt been a candidate he would have voted for Wilson.

The G. O. P. ought to sing the praises of Teddy for stopping the exodus of votes to Wilson. Roosevelt carried some states, all of which would have gone to Wilson had the Progressives not been in the field. Nay, it is quite likely that Wilson would have secured every vote in the electoral college had Roosevelt been content to put up with the result at Chicago when Taft got the nomination, and gone hunting again.

Now if they are going to "amalgamate" it must be on terms laid down by the Progressive leaders. Col. Roosevelt has shown us how it can be done. He has bluntly told the ex-G. O. P. to liquidate, go out of the political business, erase its name from the political nomenclature. After that let every standpatter from Taft to Gallinger, from Aldrich to Cannon, confess his unworthiness and follow him—Teddy And that is the only way it can be done.

Since Abraham Lincoln there have been only three first-class politicians in this country—Samuel J. Tilden, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson. One may be a great statesman and a poor politician, as the great trio, Clay, Calhoun and Webster. When he first entered the senate, 90 per cent of the Democrats of the two houses of congress used to think Arthur P. Gorman the "best in the deck" in the political game. That was a big mistake. True, Gorman and Quay and Platt could run a convention; but cunning was their only agency. Lincoln and Tilden and Wilson employed ideas. As for Teddy, he had the instinct to find out what public opinion was, but he thundered too ponderously in the index and performed too flimsily in the text to be much of a real reformer; yet Roosevelt is no slouch. The one fatal mistake he has made in tactics was when he judged that Champ Clark had the nomination at Baltimore nailed down. He had committed himself to that mistake, else there would have been no Progressive ticket in 1912 and Wilson would have received every vote in the electoral college. I make no doubt—even Vermont and the Mormon church.

Roosevelt knows that the country has become intensely national. He also knows that the Republican party never was and never can be anything but a sectional organization. The South is become a great important factor in our affairs—political, as well as financial, commercial, industrial, agricultural, social. The South must be reckoned with, and what a fool is he that would continue an organization that gives the adversary the advantage of a solid and constantly augmenting South to start with! That is why Teddy says the G. O. P. must be decent and stay in the grave where it was buried in 1912.

Teddy is a practical man. Indeed, he admits it. He told Harriman he was practical in 1904, and he will not, if he can help it, allow the Democratic party to start the campaign with the Solid South nailed down.

I remember a trip I made to North Carolina soon after Taft became president. There I met some fine old folks of the soil. Some of them were of that invincible soldiery—"First at Bethel, farthest at Gettysburg, last at Appomatox." In moving among these people I was astounded to find how many of them were "Roosevelt Democrats." Vain was it that I tried to show them that he was no more Democrat than mud is marble, for he had made them believe in him. It was no use to explain Tennessee Coal & Iron, or cite his gratuitous insult to Jefferson Davis, that later he so abjectly explated by a fulsome eulogy of that great man.

These folks I speak of, who would go to the stake rather than vote a ticket labeled "Republican," are Roosevelt partisans, and when the Republican party musters the decency to stay in the political grave, these will vote the ticket Roosevelt supports, whether he head it or not—not all of them, but many of them.

That was the case then. Perhaps "things have changed since Betsey died" and Woodrow came to town.

DIAGRAM BY COMMISSION

State Officers Asked to Express Views on Proposed Changes.

Suggestions Asked Before It Is Presented to the Legislature.

St. Paul, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Diagrams have been submitted by the efficiency commission to the heads of departments showing the present mind of the commission in regard to reorganization of the state government with the request to each officer to tell where it can be made better before it is presented to the legislature as the commission's report.

In this diagram the present activities of the state are represented in their detached condition, hanging like ears of corn in grandfather's kitchen from the rafters, and opposite each is shown the proposed arrangement of doing the same things on the department plan.

It shows something else. It is a reflection of popular thought. The people have been thinking in terms of particular interests. Each interest that obtained recognition from the state has had its own independent organization to represent it. Whether it was the promotion of art or agriculture, the suppression of tuberculosis or trichinosis, wherever something was to be done by the state, the people interested in that particular thing procured it to be done and obtained a charter from the state for doing it. Each separate interest stood alone with its own organization, sometimes even a private organization.

Institutions are necessarily a picture of the times that produce them. Unavoidably they reflect the thought of the public that created them. The legislature is more representative in its shortcomings than it is in its excellencies.

So when you see all these boards strung out one after the other it is a sign that is the way people thought things should be done.

Look at the Other Side.

Look now at the other side of the diagram, the arrangement the efficiency commission proposes, which a large number of people have declared was moving on the right lines. It is more symmetrical than the other, on its face, more consistent, more harmonious. It looks as if things could be done under it with less lost motion and better team play—which is exactly the effect the commission is trying to produce.

But it shows something else. It shows the people are beginning to think in terms of the state instead of particular interests.

So far as this is true, it means the state will accomplish a great deal more and do it a great deal better than ever before. That is just as true as it is that a family where they all pull together gets along better than where Johnny sneaks out the back way to avoid filling the woodbox and Sis hurries off before mother can catch her to make her wipe the dishes. Already one sees signs of the better order of things. Not so long ago every man appointed to office was saying to himself and often saying out loud, "What is there in it for me?" And now in your town, in your county, and in the state, nearly every man holding a public job is saying to himself, "What is the best service I can render?"

It is because of that very change in the public mind that the efficiency commission was called into being. It is because of that state of public opinion that any meritorious measure it may propose is sure to be adopted. It is another long stride forward when people begin to think not of particular interests but in terms of the whole state.

CLOUDS HIDE ECLIPSE.

Astronomers at Washington Make Meager Observations.

Washington, March 12.—Dense snow clouds which hung over Washington last night prevented the astronomers at the naval observatory from making accurate observations of the moon's eclipse, for which they had been preparing for weeks. Only at intervals, when the wind separated the clouds, were the astronomers able to train their powerful instruments directly upon the partially obscured planet. Hope was expressed, however, that the photographs made after the moon had entered the shadow would reveal some points relating to the phenomenon that would be of assistance to the astronomers in correcting the lunar tables.

While "close" observations were impossible, the great telescopes showed that the moon entered the earth's shadow at precisely 9:41 8-10 o'clock and was more than nine-tenths obscured before it finally emerged about three hours later.

No Clouds at Chicago.

Chicago, March 12.—Astronomers in the central west had a clear view of the eclipse of the moon last night, and many photographs of the shaded satellite of the earth were taken at various observatories. The sky was unclouded during the entire eclipse and thousands of persons watched the earth's shadow move across the full moon.

"TIZ" PUTS JOY IN SORE, ACHING FEET

"My, How "Tiz" Gladdens Tired, Swollen, Sweaty Feet—It's Glorious!"

"TIZ" makes sore, burning, tired feet fairly dance with delight. Away go the aches and pains, the corns, callouses, blisters, bunions and chilblains

"TIZ" draws out the acids and poisons that puff up your feet. No matter how hard you work, how long you dance, how far you walk, or how long you remain on your feet. "TIZ" brings restful foot comfort. "TIZ" is magical, grand, wonderful for tired, aching, swollen, smarting feet. Ah! how comfortable, how happy you feel. Your feet just tingle for joy; shoes never hurt or seem tight.

Get a 25 cent box of "TIZ" now from any druggist or department store. End foot torture forever—wear smaller shoes, keep your feet fresh, sweet and happy. Just think! a whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents.

BETTER THAN LAST YEAR

Duluth Jobbers Report That Spring Season Is Opening Well.

Merchants Are Looking Forward to a Brisk Easter Trade.

Reports are all to the effect that the spring season is opening up satisfactorily all-round with Duluth jobbing houses and manufacturers. Business being placed in every branch of trade is reported to be running heavier than a year ago, and the feeling of confidence in the future is conceded to be gaining.

Given average spring weather, it is predicted that an unusually large area in Minnesota and in the Dakotas will be seeded under the best possible soil conditions. The outlook for an abundance of moisture is regarded as having been greatly improved through a heavy snowfall this week over a wide area of country. Current collections are advised to be generally satisfactory.

Dry Goods Trade Healthy.

A healthy situation exists in the drygoods trade, the country over, according to F. A. Patrick & Co. Salesmen's orders in fall goods are reported to be bulking up much ahead of last year, especially in the heavier lines. That spring goods are already moving freely with retailers is shown in reorders received by the house this week in piece dress goods. Generally speaking, merchants are looking forward to their Easter trade being the largest in several years. This is in a measure attributable to the lateness of the season.

Liberal Groceries Sales.

Business in groceries in this district is being helped very materially by the present favorable weather for logging operations, in the opinion of C. H. Rust of the Rust-Parker-Martin company. With another ten days or two weeks before the spring break-up he thinks that loggers will have cleaned up on their winter cuts, and will be able to get everything ready to ship out either by the drives or on the railroads.

Mr. Rust advised that the volume of orders in grocery specialties and staples is satisfactory all-round. Few changes in quotations are to be noted during the last few days, and as a general proposition the market is firm. Sugars are unchanged but prices are being better held by refiners. Coffees are a trifle weaker on large Brazilian marketings. The present is the period of heavy consumption in canned goods and liberal shipments are going forward to retailers. Tomatoes and corn are 2½@5 cents a dozen higher than a week ago, with figures in other goods about the same as they were. Evaporated and canned apples are selling higher now than in five years back as a result of the light orchard yields through the country last season. The market in prunes is also especially firm.

Flour is 20 cents a barrel higher than at the end of February. A big sale is being made in fish with a considerable call for the Lake Superior frozen article, shipped from Duluth.

Pushing in Northern Wisconsin.

A substantial picking up in furniture trade through the country is computed upon by the De Witt-Seitz company. Two full carlot orders were received by the house yesterday, one coming from Northern Minnesota and the other from a Northern Wisconsin town. A feature noted by the company this spring is the development of its trade throughout Northern Wisconsin, to be credited largely to the good service and favorable freight rates now being accorded in that territory by the railroads to Duluth jobbers. A revival in business in Northern Michigan is reported by the company. That is owing to the belief that the long, drawn-out miners' strike has finally petered out. A batch of furniture orders was received from Calumet, Mich., yesterday through H. F. Seitz, who is now out on a trip over the territory.

Leather Market Advances.

The Northwestern Leather company, the latest entrant into the jobbing trade in Duluth, advises the booking of a gratifying opening business in leather lines and specialties from over the territory being covered by its salesmen—Northern Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and Northern Michigan.

The market in all leathers continues stiff, with an average advance of 1 cent to be noted in quotations since March 1.

Hardware Prices Firm.

Satisfaction is expressed by sales managers of the two local hardware jobbing establishments, the Marshall-Wells Hardware company and the Kelley-How-Thomson company, over the extent of the orders being taken for shipment after the opening of navigation. Quotations in all iron and steel products are being firmly held on their present lists. Further advances in some directions are foreshadowed, and that is leading to a tendency on the part of merchants to cover their requirements more fully.

Shoe Business Improves.

Liberal fall orders in shoes are reported by the Northern Shoe company. As a result of the favorable weather conditions since the first of the year, retailers have been able to reduce their stocks of heavy footwear down to much smaller proportions than had been thought possible earlier in the season. This has brought about a marked improvement in current orders.

CHARGE FRAUD IN ALLIS-CHALMERS

Paines Suggest Receivership and Payment of Bonds.

New York, March 12.—Charges of fraud were made in the supreme court yesterday in connection with the reorganization of the Allis-Chalmers company, manufacturers of machinery, which was taken over by the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company in 1912, when the first named concern was in financial difficulties.

Augustus G. Paine and his son, Augustus G. Paine, Jr., filed an action in their own behalf and that of others similarly situated, asking that, if necessary to the purposes of the action, a receiver be appointed for the new corporation. They declared the acquisition of the old concern by the new one was a fraud on the holders of first mortgage bonds issued by the old company.

The Messrs. Paine sue as the holders of twenty-two $1,000 bonds of an issue of $15,000,000 by the original company. These bonds were a first lien on most of the physical holdings of the Allis-Chalmers company.

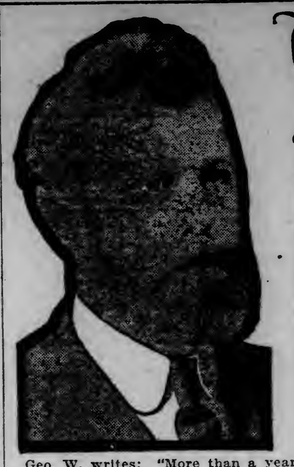

Sold Under Foreclosure.

Under foreclosure proceedings by the trustee, the mortgaged property was sold for $7,250,000 to a reorganization committee consisting, it is said, of holders of stock and other unsecured indebtedness. The application for the receiver, the plaintiffs allege, "shows antagonism of bondholders and favor to the stockholders," and "the purpose and effect of the receivership proceedings was to hinder, delay and defraud the creditors, and particularly those plaintiffs and other holders of first mortgage bonds who would not consent to reorganization."

The plaintiffs ask that the court declare the mortgage protecting their bonds, and those of others similarly situated still a lien on the properties it formerly covered, and that the company be ordered to execute a mortgage in its name to secure the holders of the bonds; that the bonds, with interest thereon, be declared payable, and ordered paid; and that, if necessary, a receiver be appointed to carry out the decree.

Resume New Haven Talk.

Washington, March 12. — Word was received at the department of justice last night that Chairman Elliott and counsel for the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad will be in Washington Friday to resume negotiations for a settlement of the dissolution plans affecting that road.

Geo. W. writes: "More than a year ago, I received lasting benefit from one prescription you gave me, and now my trouble is due to kidneys, so am writing for advice. Lately I have had swelling under eyes, and of the feet and ankles, also am feverish, thirsty and weak, while my head aches and the urinary passage is attended with pain and bad odors."

Answer: I have found that balmwort tablets are the most beneficial treatment that any one can use, who is afflicted with disordered kidney and bladder. Obtain in sealed tubes with full directions.

"Old Soldier" writes: "I would like to know what to do for rheumatism, as I am so crippled that I cannot walk. Please answer at once."

Answer: Here is the best remedy for rheumatism that is known, and if taken according to directions you will soon be out again and be strong and well. Get 2 drams of iodide of potassium; 4 drams sodium salicylate, ½ oz. wine of colchicum, 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort and 5 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla comp. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again before going to bed.

"Laura" says: "Some time ago I contracted a very severe cold and cough. I have tried many remedies, but they do not seem to help me at all. I wish you would advise me what to do."

Answer: What you need is a laxative cough syrup, one that will drive the cold from your system. The following prescription will check your cold and cough: Get a 2½ oz. package of concentrated essence mentho-laxene and make according to directions on the bottle. Take a teaspoonful every hour or two or until your cold is better. This will relieve you in a very few days.

"Stenographer" writes: "I can scarcely do my work on account of the terrible distress in my stomach after eating. I have a heavy feeling in my stomach and gas forms. I am also constipated."

Answer: This condition if neglected may cause appendicitis. You should begin at once and take tablets triopeptine, which can be bought in any drug store at small cost. They are packed in sealed cartons with full directions accompanying the package. I am sure many cases of appendicitis could be prevented by the use of triopeptine.

"New Vitality" writes: "I am a seeker after health and new vitality. I am a nervous wreck, and write to you for advice. Poor appetite, despondency, irritability and a trembling weakness are some of my symptoms."

Answer: To restore a normal condition you should live temperately and begin at once using three grain Sanmone tablets, which are to be had from druggists in sealed tubes with full directions. The tablets promote the health by tonic forces and never fail to bring about great improvements in man's health.

Miss Beatrice asks: "Will you please prescribe for one who is too fleshy so that about thirty pounds can be taken off?"

Answer: Obtain of any well-stocked druggist a tube of 5-grain arbolone tablets and take regularly as per directions accompanying same. Many of my patients have reduced at the rate of a pound a day without any ill results.

"Unhappy May" writes: "I suffer constantly with headaches, indigestion and kidney trouble. My skin is pimply and oily."

Answer: Three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur tablets) is the best known remedy for the blood. They are made from sulphur, cream of tarter and herb medicines which act directly on the blood purifying it, thus causing the pimples to disappear and the skin to become fresh and healthy looking. These sulpherb tablets are packed in sealed tubes and can be bought at any drug store. They will also relieve your kidney trouble and indigestion.

"Mrs. O."—The best remedy for bedwetting in children is to give them 10 to 15 drops in water before meals of the following: Tincture cubebs, 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic, 2 drams, and comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.

"Audry" writes: "For the past year I have suffered greatly with catarrh. It has affected my blood, stomach and bowels to such an extent that I suffer constantly. Can you tell me a cure?"

Answer: I heartily recommend the use of antiseptic vilane powder for the relief of catarrh. First ask your druggist for a 2oz. package of vilane powder; then thoroughly cleanse the nostrils with the following wash: One-half teaspoonful of the powder to a pint of warm water. Use this several times a day by snuffing the water from the palm of the hand through the nostrils; after which make a balm by mixing a teaspoonful of vilane powder with one ounce of lard or vaseline and apply to the nostrils daily. Internal treatment for the stomach, bowels and blood should be used. Syrup sarsaparilla comp., 4 ozs.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; fluid ext. buchu, 1 oz. Mix and shake well and take a teaspoonful four times a day.

"Sorrowful May" says, "My scalp is covered with dandruff, my hair is oily and straggling. Please help me so that I may look like other girls."

Answer: You can very easily "look like other girls" if you will get at the drug store a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow mimyol and use it regularly according to the directions given. It will stop your dandruff and make your hair soft and fluffy and make it grow. This treatment differs from all others and I have actually seen the most wonderful transformations when people have used this only two or three times.

"Ann" writes: "Could you prescribe something to increase my weight? I am tall and thin to such an embarrassing degree that I am frequently subjected to slighting remarks."

Answer: Hypo-Nuclane tablets have been prescribed with great success as indicated by gratifying letters from hundreds of girls who suffer as you do. These tablets can be purchased in sealed packages from any well-stocked drug store and full directions are given inside. These should be taken regularly for about two months, and you will be surprised to note the color in your cheeks and lips and your weight should increase from fifteen to thirty pounds.—Advertisement.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers should apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College building, College-Ellwood streets, Dayton, Ohio, enclosing self- addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Financial Troubles

Very few people are troubled by having too much money. "Financial trouble" always means lack of money.

You can avoid financial worries by always living within your income and saving the balance.

If you save and deposit regularly in the Savings Department of the First National Bank as long as you can, you will then have extra money to use if occasions arise when, for the time being, it is impossible for you to live within your income.

NOSTRILS AND HEAD STOPPED UP FROM COLD? TRY MY CATARRH BALM

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely; Dull Headache Goes; Nasty Catarrhal Discharge Stops.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MARCH 15.

Luke xiii, 10-17; xiv, 1-6; The Lawful Use of the Sabbath.

THE CONNECTION.

This took place the latter part of the year A. D. 29 or early in January of the next year, over in Perea, very soon after the teaching of the last lesson about watchfulness. The two incidents were not on the same Sabbath day but are brought together in one lesson in order to get a completer view of the way they treated the Sabbath and the way Jesus did.

THE LESSON.

I

Healing the Crippled Woman, 13: 10-14.

"And He was teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath day. And behold, a woman that had a spirit of infirmity for eighteen years; and she was bowed together, and could in no wise lift herself up. And when Jesus saw her, He called her, and said to her, woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And He laid His hands upon her; and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God. And the ruler of the synagogue, being moved with indignation because Jesus had healed on the Sabbath, answered and said to the multitude, there are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the day of the Sabbath. But the Lord answered him, and said, ye hypocrites, doth not each one of you on the Sabbath loose his ox or his ass from the stall, and lead him away to watering? And ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bound, lo, these eighteen years, to have been loosed from this bond on the day of the Sabbath? And as He said these things, all His adversaries were put to shame; and all the multitude rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by Him."

1. DISEASE.—It was not a strange thing that Jesus was in the synagogue. That was His habit. It was an opportunity to worship, to teach, to do good. We are interested in the good deed. The disease was that of a woman; which should not have interested Him very much, to judge by the Jewish teachers, but she drew from Him profound kindness. She was bent over with paralysis or rheumatism and for eighteen years had gone about that way. Her hope of recovery was lost. She was probably at church that morning to get comfort and it was fortunate that she didn't stay at home.

2. CURE.—He didn't wait till after the Sabbath; possibly He called her to Him in the synagogue, though He may have waited till the meeting was dismissed. Possibly He had two motives in healing her at once, the usual one to relieve suffering, and the desire to teach the lesson about the Sabbath, for He knew He would start trouble. Note three striking facts: He offered to heal her, thrust health upon her. He also touched her, which the Pharisees would not have done any more than they would have touched a leper. The power was not in laying on His hands but the touch helped her to trust His power. Third, He spoke the word of power. The disease was not a trouble of her mind but an actual fact.

3. ATTACK.—He was attacked by the presiding officer of the synagogue. It was an indirect attack, addressed to the people and meant partly for them, but mostly for Him. The point of the attack was, not that He healed but did it on the Sabbath. Not that the Scriptures forbade it; not that they didn't practice work on the Sabbath in cases where money was involved; but the objection was it was He that did it. The argument against the deed was that work was forbidden and, as this was a kind of work, it was wrong. The ruler must have thought his "indignation" was righteous. Jesus had wrought a miracle, but it was wrong, being on the Sabbath. The objection was an attack on God, whose power they recognized in the miracle, a tragical inconsistency.

4. DEFENSE.—The defense was a counter attack. As the attack on Him was a piece of hypocrisy, He simply called the ruler and his supporters hypocrites. So they were, the "ruler" pretending to speak to the people when he meant Jesus; pretending to have a zeal for the law when it was against Jesus; claiming to be interested in the people, though He said they would break the Sabbath any day in order to save one of their cattle. They knew that the law of Moses gave them the right and enforced the duty of doing an act of mercy or of necessity on the Sabbath. Reasoning from the less to the greater He was resistless when He called the woman better than an ox. The defense was logical first of all; it was a defense of the law of Moses, of the rights of the needy, of the principles of justice and humanity; the principles of justice and humanity; it was a complete exposure of the Pharisee with the few who agreed with him, and the people rejoiced at what He said as well as what He did.

II.

Healing the Dropsical Man, 14: 1-6.

"And it came to pass, when He went into the house of one of the rulers of the Pharisees on a Sabbath to eat bread, that they were watching Him. And behold, there was before Him a certain man that had the dropsy. And Jesus answering spake unto the lawyers and Pharisees, saying, Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath, or not? But they held their peace. And He took him and healed him, and let him go. And He said unto them, Which of you shall have an ass or an ox fallen into a well, and will not straightway draw him up on a Sabbath day? And they could not answer again unto these things."

1. TRAP.—There can hardly be a question that the "chief Pharisee" invited Jesus home to dinner with him for the purpose of entrapping Him and that they brought the dropsical man there in order to get Him to do an unlawful deed on the Sabbath. This was probably some days after the former incident and it might have been in another neighborhood. Or this particular Pharisee might have had a conceit of his ability to entrap the Man who always defeated others. It was evidently after the services at the synagogue, "this man was probably a member of the sanhedrin or a prominent teacher or simply an impressive personality. They usually had a specially good dinner on the Sabbath and often made a feast of it but they prepared the food the day before. "They watched Him" for they were there for that purpose, those who were incensed against Him for violating so many of the traditions of their rabbis, though they never did see Him violate the real law of Moses. It was bold in Him to get into such a crowd. People came and watched others at a feast without any invitation and He knew they would be there in great numbers. He knew His ground perfectly, knew exactly how to handle that kind of occasion.

2. DILEMMA.—Before healing the dropsical man who had been brought into His presence He "answered" the state of mind which He saw without a word from them and answered it with a question that impaled them on the horns of a dilemma. If they said it was right to heal on the Sabbath day they would be conceding everything to Him; if they said "no" it would be rebellion against their own laws. They remained silent which meant defeat. Sullenly they saw Him heal the man and win the confidence of that man and all his friends and many others. Perhaps the crowd were not averse to seeing that old hypocrite who asked Him to dinner for the purpose of humiliating Him humbled so completely. Another question and the illustration of pulling the ox or ass out of the ditch with the argument from the less to the greater, from the universal to the human, leaves them in angry silence and the people in great joy.

3. PRIVILEGE.—There are two ways to abuse the Sabbath, to ignore it or let it crush you. It was made for man not to abuse or misuse but to serve his higher needs of rest, worship and opportunities for loving ministry to his fellow men.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Let us understand, as the Pharisees in Christ's time did not, that worship consists not in the mere perfunctory performance of the rituals of religion, but in deeds of love and mercy in the name of the Lord and for the good of humanity. Such were the works of healing wrought by Jesus on the Sabbath, and which roused the wrath of the loveless bigots who were more intent upon enforcing conformity to their own narrow notions than upon glorifying God or doing good to their fellows. There are works of necessity that may be done on the Sabbath day, but they ought not to be "saved up" for that day.—Cowan.

There's a story of a dog hitched to a lawn mower which fairly illustrates the attitude of many carping critics. The dog stopped pulling to bark at a passer-by. The boy who was guiding the mower was a philosopher. He said, reassuringly: "Don't mind the dog; he is just barking for an excuse to rest. It is easier to bark than to pull this machine." Criticism and censure are easy. The Pharisees took the easy way, and left the hard work of effort and obloquy to Jesus. Whenever, in our modern life, we are tempted to stand aside and comment coldly and critically on the work or philanthropy of others, let us stop to ask what service we are rendering, or whether a barking disapproval is our only contribution.—Bryant.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. In what respect is the Sabbath over-observed in our day?
2. How would the 3,000,000 who work on Sunday in our country be benefited if they could have a rest day?
3. Why do our bodies need one day of rest in seven?
4. Are we using or abusing the Christian Sabbath?
5. How may you lessen the number of Sabbath workers?
6. What is the distinction between the religious and civil Sabbaths?
7. What sort of Sabbath laws ought we to have?

POLLUTION WORST IN DETROIT RIVER

Joint Commission Finds It Extends Back to Rainy River.

Detroit, Mich., March 12.—The international joint commission in session here officially received and signed the report of sanitary experts who made bacteriological examinations of 30,000 samples of water taken from as many places along the 2,000 miles of waterways comprising the Great Lakes and connecting rivers. The report shows that the Detroit river is the most polluted stream in the entire chain.

"According to the report signed by the commission, we found the pollution starts as far back as Rainy river," said Chairman Tawney. "The waters of St. Mary's river, St. Clair river, Lake St. Clair, Detroit river, Niagara river, both ends of Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river are badly polluted, while the pollution extends as far as ten and fifteen miles out in the lakes."

"This report," he continued, "is but the first half of the work of the commission in regard to pollution of waters of the Great Lakes. The second half will be to find a remedy for it, and the meeting of the commission to be held in Washington April 7 will be for the purpose of formulating a plan of action."

Sewage and steamboat refuse are given as the principal causes of pollution.

CONCERT WILL HONOR IRISH

Songs of Erin and Mexican Dance Numbers Will Be Featured.

George H. Madison Will Sing and Julius Barnes Will Speak.

The next free concert, which is to be given at the Masonic concert Sunday afternoon, will be devoted largely to the honor of Ireland's patron saint. St. Patrick's day falls on Tuesday, March 17, and the close proximity of the two dates will make the celebration Sunday afternoon very appropriate.

Irish music, which has such a strong hold on practically all Americans as well as those from the Emerald Isle, will be included in both the vocal and organ numbers. George E. Madison, basso, will be heard in several Irish songs of a wide variety. Among Mr. Madison's songs will be "Little Irish Girl," "You'd Better Ask Me," and there will also be a selection of Irish airs.

Julius H. Barnes will give a short talk. His subject has not yet been announced, but it will probably have to do with transportation.

The organ numbers are of unusual interest and include some Mexican dances, which are up-to-the-minute. These include the "Huerta Tarantella," "Carranza Glide," and the "Eryan Hesitation."

Miss Louise Murchison will be accompanist. The program follows:

FIRE MAKES 100 FAMILIES HOMELESS.

New York, March 12.—About 100 families were made homeless and several persons were slightly injured in a fire which late yesterday destroyed four tenement houses in the negro colony in West 134th street, and then spread to five other tenements in the rear. Rumors that lives had been lost in the blaze were disproved when a search of the ruins had become possible. The fire caused a property loss of about $200,000.

MRS. SIMPSON'S BODY EXHUMED.

Lexington, Ky., March 12.—The body of Mrs. Laura Wilder Simpson, wife of Lawrence Simpson of this city, who died about two weeks ago under mysterious circumstances, was privately exhumed Tuesday and viewed by Coroner Leigh H. Garden. It has become known here. Before her marriage Mrs. Simpson was Laura Wilder of Chicago, a society girl, and quite wealthy.

Since her death two coroner's juries have passed upon the case, but in both instances the verdicts were non-committal, it being stated that she died under "mysterious circumstances." Her husband has demanded that a grand jury be called to investigate the case and clear up any so-called mystery attached to it.

The secret exhumation of the body is believed to foreshadow the calling of a special grand jury to take testimony on the circumstances surrounding her death. Mr. Simpson is sole executor of her estate, which is estimated at $50,000.

OPPOSE TWO-NAME COMMERCIAL PAPER.

New York, March 12.—At a meeting of New York business men under the auspices of the Merchants' association, ten voted for and thirty-nine against the substitution of "two-name" for "one-name" commercial securities to be presented to the Federal reserve banks for rediscount.

The prevailing sentiment of the meeting was that "one-name" paper having been in circulation in this city for many years, it would be difficult to change the practice, and especially in the case of firms obliged to carry a large number of small accounts. To secure two names to the paper resulting in this case would be vexatious and serve no particular purpose, it was held.

The additional bookkeeping in banks due to limiting the rediscount by the reserve banks to "two-name" paper was also cited as an argument against the recommendation, made recently by the New York clearing house.

ITALY HELPS U. S. LIMIT IMMIGRANTS.

Rome, March 12.—The emigration bureau has issued a decree providing that steamship companies selling tickets to would-be emigrants must reimburse such persons for their expenses from their native homes to the port of embarkation and return, when they are refused permission to board vessels owing to the restrictions imposed by the American laws.

This measure aims further to meet the desire of the United States to prevent objectionable persons emigrating to that country.

GEORGE EXONERATED BY THE DIRECTORS.

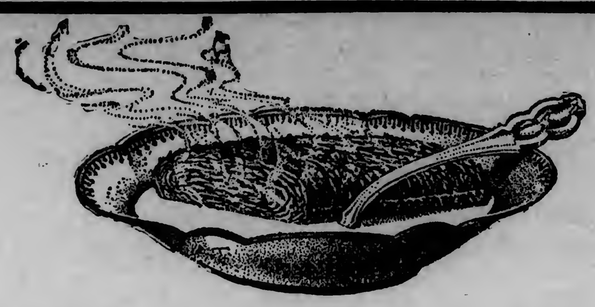

New York, March 12.—William R. George, founder of the George Junior republic, was exonerated by the board of directors of the National Association of Junior Republics of the charges brought against him recently in connection with his treatment of certain young women members of the Freeville republic.

The action was taken by the board after considering the report of a special committee which had been appointed to investigate charges.

Badger Brewers Elect.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 11.—Thomas B. Culver, Ashland, was elected president of the Wisconsin Brewers' association at the session held here. Oscar Schmidt, Milwaukee, was elected vice president.

W. H. Austin of Milwaukee will be secretary of the association for the coming year, his election being unanimous. Stephen F. Mayer of West Bend was picked as treasurer.

"Man-Failure All Along the Line"

That was the verdict of the Coroner's jury that investigated the killing of twenty-one persons in a wreck on a New England railroad. There is "man-failure all along the line" where the body is not nourished by foods that build bone and muscle and brain, that keep the human organism up to top-notch of efficiency.

Shredded Wheat

contains all the body-building elements in the whole wheat grain, made digestible by steam-cooking, shredding and baking. A food for the man who works with hand or brain—a food for the man who needs a steady nerve—a sustaining, satisfying food—always pure, always clean, always the same price. Ask your grocer.

Always heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with hot milk or cream will supply all the energy needed for a half day's work. Deliciously nourishing when eaten in combination with baked apples, stewed prunes, sliced bananas or canned or preserved fruits. Try toasted Triscuit, the Shredded Wheat wafer, for luncheon with butter, cheese or marmalade.

5 Women Avoid Operations

For years we have been stating in the newspapers of the country that a great many women have escaped serious operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is true.

We are permitted to publish in this announcement extracts from the letters of five women. All have been recently received unsolicited. Could any evidence be more convincing?

1. HODGDON, ME.—"I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached and I was so nervous I could not sleep, and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman."—MRS. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Me.

2. CHARLOTTE, N. C.—"I was in bad health for two years, with pains in both sides and was very nervous. I had a growth which the doctor said was a tumor, and I never would get well unless I had an operation. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I gladly say that I am now enjoying fine health."—Mrs. ROSA SIMS, 16 Winona St., Charlotte, N. C.

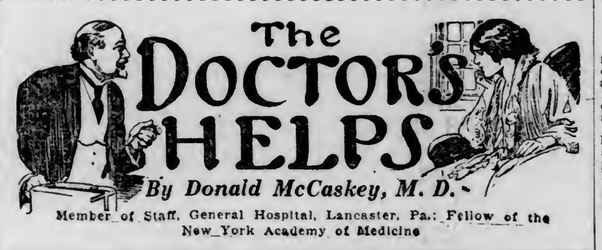

3. HANOVER, PA.—"The doctor advised a severe operation, but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it."—Mrs. ADA WILT, 196 Stock St., Hanover, Pa.

4. DECATUR, ILL.—"I was sick in bed and three of the best physicians said I would have to be taken to the hospital for an operation as I had something growing in my left side. I refused to submit to the operation and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and it worked a miracle in my case, and I tell other women what it has done for me."—Mrs. LAURA A. GRISWOLD, 2300 Blk. East William Street, Decatur, Ill.

5. CLEVELAND, OHIO.—"I was very irregular and for several years my side pained me so that I expected to have to undergo an operation. Doctors said they knew of nothing that would help me. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I became regular and free from pain. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 7305 Madison Av., Cleveland, O.

WHAT TO DO FOR PLEURISY

"Some years ago I had pleurisy on my left side. Every winter the least cold I get always settles there. Recently I have had a pain under my shoulder blade like a sharp knife. I was told that my lung had a focus of trouble there. Is this pain dangerous? I am a married woman, 32 years old, and the mother of two boys, one 14, the other 12 years, and I never have been able to learn just why I never have had any more children. When my last boy was born I was told that I had falling of the womb."

The sharp pain you speak of would bear closer investigation. As I read your letter I wondered whether you had been running any temperature; whether any cough was present; whether the pain was increased on coughing; whether you expectorate and what is the kind of sputum you bring up. Your letter said nothing as to whether when you take a full breath your pain is increased. There are a number of questions which your letter does not answer. The pain in your side should be thoroughly investigated and you should follow the counsel of your physician. Pleurisy means an inflammation of the delicate covering over your lungs. Oftentimes fluid collects in this lining. This must be determined in your case. Oftentimes the inflammation of this delicate covering develops into a tubercular one, which involves the lungs. The side should be strapped rigidly with a big sheet of zinc oxide plaster and kept at rest in bed. This is the safest plan and only a physician should decide after this just what is the course of treatment that you should follow.

Some people think pleurisy is a simple affection. Whenever they get a stitch in their side they refer to it as rheumatism or maybe "pleurisy," but you can rest assured if you have the pleurisy you will be running fever, and are taking big chances not to be under the constant care of your family doctor. Your urine should be analyzed regularly, for from your inquiry I feel safe in saying that your system is all rundown. Pick such a medical adviser as you feel you can trust and who will earnestly study out the real cause of your ailment. Then stick to him. There is no magic way.

FOR SUFFERERS FROM NASAL CATARRH.

Scores of inquiries ask for specific counsel for their particular case of nasal catarrh. Several previous articles have been written describing what to do for this annoying trouble, and much information can be gained from these articles which have already appeared. The nasal membranes are very delicate structures. There are likewise many varying conditions causing nasal trouble. It is just like a person engaged in business. His business grows healthy if the conditions of trade are right. But the business quickly becomes ill if conditions of weather or scarcity of money, lack of customers, bank failures or inefficient help, fire or the manifold other circumstances that govern every successful business turn bad.

Each catarrh case has a specific cause. Usually the fundamental one is some internal irritation which is poisoning the system and causing the delicate nasal membranes to be thrown into disorder. At once germs obtain a foothold and grow, causing a stubborn inflammation. In general the nasal passages should be irrigated twice a day by means of a nasal douche with Dobell's solution diluted one-half. The system should be cleaned out every other day with a half-glass dose of castor oil for a period of two weeks. A strictly fruit, vegetable, nut and wheat diet should be swung in on, to the exclusion of all meat, eggs, milk or cheese. Coffee should be passed up until relief occurs, when it can again become an indulgence. If procedure along the above lines does not bring prompt relief, it means that there is some deeper seated cause than the application of these principles can overcome. Possibly a polypus exists. Maybe adenoids are present. The nasal septum may be deflected. The system may be overloaded with poison to a degree not at all suspected. All these conditions have their influence and must be examined into. Go, therefore, and consult your doctor.

HOW TO SAVE YOUR EYES

Try This Free Prescription

Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses or spectacles? Thousands of people wear these "windows" who might easily dispense with them. You may be one of these and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any other organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and rest your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you rest them? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps your eyes busy; you work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally other eye troubles that threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are merely crutches; they never cure. This free prescription which has benefited the eyes of so many may work equal wonders for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye trouble to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription: Go to the nearest wide-awake drug store and get a bottle of Optona tablets; fill a two-ounce bottle with water, drop in one tablet and allow to thoroughly dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it; it is absolutely harmless. Many who are now blind might have saved their eyes had they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment, but marvelously effective in multitudes of cases. Now that you have been warned don't delay a day, but do what you can to save your eyes, and you will thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription.

ON THE IRON RANGES

PAIR HELD FOR CUTTING VICTIM

Alleged to Have Stabbed Man Near Station 21.

Buhl, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mike Obina and Mike Gravocich, arrested in Mountain Iron Monday on the charge of holding up and cutting Bada Milovich and Rob Stanovich near station 21 on the Mesaba electric railway, between here and Virginia, as told in The Herald, were arraigned in Judge Jones' court here yesterday and held to the grand jury. The hearing developed that the affair was a hold-up in which one of the highwaymen drove a knife up to the hilt above his victim's eye.

As a result of the examination four men were bound over to the grand jury and one is held under bonds as an essential witness.

Rada Milovich and Bob Stanovich charged that early Monday morning while returning from a resort near station 21 they were stopped by the two defendants and assaulted with knives. One was struck over the left eye with a knife that penetrated to the hilt and required all of the force of the attending physician to extract. Joe Pulkovich was held as a witness under a $300 bond. It is thought that robbery was the motive.

Boarding House Row.

Joe and Nic Miller were bound over on the charge of assault preferred against them by Tom Dellich, who is suffering from four broken ribs and several dangerous knife wounds that may prove fatal. The wounds were received in a spree at the boarding house of Mike Bessler near Spina Sunday evening. Sam Dellich, a brother of the injured man, is held under bonds as a witness.

CHISHOLM VOTE BEING CANVASSED

Village Lawmakers Are Holding Their Final Session.

Chisholm, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council this afternoon is canvassing the vote cast in Tuesday's election at what will probably be the last session of the old council. The council yesterday afternoon met and transacted considerable routine business.

Frank Hren was given a transfer of liquor license and Oscar Hagbloom received the license formerly in the name of Andy Cox.

Joe Martinich served notice that he would make claim for $2,000 for injury claimed to have been received from a fall on an icy sidewalk on Feb. 16.

The oath of office of A. Y. Peterson as a member of the water and light board was accepted.

Contracts Awarded.

The Mesaba Electrical company received the contract for installing fixtures in the detention hospital and for furnishing them and E. H. Graham received the contract for installing the signal system.

Studebaker Bros. received the contract for furnishing three dump wagons to the village. The Austin Western got the order for a rooter.

L. L. May & Co. landed the contract for furnishing approximately two carloads of trees, shrubbery and roses for the village park department.

Hill & Co. of Dundee got the special order for evergreens.

POWDER HOUSES WILL BE MOVED.

Virginia, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The powder houses of the Du Pont Powder company, located near the Missabe tracks, will be removed to a new location. C. H. Clarke of Duluth, representing the company, was here yesterday for the purpose of looking up a new location. The law provides that powder houses shall be situated at least 1,000 feet from passenger tracks and in order to comply with the statute it is necessary for the company to find a new site.

COLERAINE ENJOYS SOME GOOD SPEAKING

Dr. Hoffman of Duluth, Senator McCarthy and J. P. Boyle Talk.

Coleraine, Minn. March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The men's banquet of the Methodist church last evening was a great success. Nearly 100 men sat down to a splendid feast spread by the Ladies' Aid society. The following was the menu:

Fruit Cocktail. Cheese Straws.
Olives. Oil Pickles.
Beef Loaf. Home Boiled Ham.
Cream Potatoes.
New Sliced Tomatoes. Green Peas.
Pickled Beets.
Egg Salad and Wafers.
Cheese.
Ice Cream. Cake.
Cafe Noir.
After Dinner Mints.

Dr. Hoffman Speaks.

The program following the banquet was one of the best ever given in Coleraine. Dr. J. W. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church, Duluth, delivered one of the best addresses ever heard here. It was an appeal to the laymen to support the best in community life and its influence on the lives of the listeners cannot help but be for good. Senator C. C. McCarthy of Grand Rapids spoke on the "Fundamental Philosophy of Life." His address will rank among the best ever given by the Grand Rapids orator. Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth had never been heard here before and all who listened to him last evening will wish to hear the eloquent young attorney again. Capt. Phil. Bennetts, Frank Provinski, J. W. Stock and Rev. Thomas B. Shorts were called upon for brief remarks.

An excellent program of music was furnished by the Methodist church choir, including solos and solo parts by Mrs. Ben Grice, Mrs. Harry C. Holmes and F. C. Haverhost.

The whole affair was one of the best ever given in this village, which tries to furnish high grade programs.

FAYAL PIT NOW BEING ENLARGED

Big Eveleth Property Getting Ready for Shipping Season.

Eveleth, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The open pit at the Fayal mine in this city is being enlarged and made ready for the opening of the shipping season. A steam shovel at work in the pit is encountering no difficulties in the way of frozen soil.

OBJECTS TO WORK ASSIGNED TO HER

Virginia Teacher, Who Forced Her Reinstatement, Quits Job.

Virginia, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Marion O. West tendered her resignation to the board of education last night, effective at the end of the present school month, because the position given her since her reinstatement as a teacher has proved unsatisfactory. Miss West will prepare herself for special work and will probably attend the Wisconsin state normal school at River Falls.

Miss West was dismissed by the board last year. She brought suit to recover damages on an alleged breach of contract, won the case and was assigned to teach the sixth grade in the Roosevelt building.

Miss Estelle Page also tendered her resignation at last night's meeting. Miss Page will be married some time this spring and her resignation will become effective at the Easter holiday. No appointments were made to fill the vacancies.

ITASCA DISTRICT COURT.

Many Civil Actions to Come Up for Trial at Court Term.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 12.—There will be a large number of civil actions called for trial at the term of Itasca county district court that will begin next Monday with Judge Wright presiding, according to the calendar prepared by District Court Clerk Rasmussen.

There are thirty-two new civil cases on the docket and fifteen continued from last term. There are also ten tax cases to be disposed of.

Harry Olson is in jail charged with forgery; Pasquale Papasudree is held for assault. Former Game Warden George Wood will come before the inquisitors on a charge of housebreaking, while the most important matter to come before the grand jury will be the case of the six Montenegrins charged with being responsible for the death of Policeman Kukko at Nashwauk.

CONSIDER Y. M. C. A.

Secretary Wade of Duluth Organization Speaks at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—B. C. Wade, secretary of the Duluth Y. M. C. A., and W. H. Hoyt, assistant chief engineer of the Missabe railway, who is a member of the Minnesota central committee of the Y. M. C. A., addressed the members of the Men's Fortnightly club last night. The idea of a Y. M. C. A. building here is being given much discussion and a strong effort will be made by those interested to devise ways and means for its erection.

TOURNAMENT PLANS.

Ely Firemen to Consider Getting Ready for Entertaining.

Ely, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tonight the executive committee of the fire department will make further arrangements for the fireman's tournament to be held here during July. The committee have the plans already well worked out and plan the best meet in the history of the association.

The 5-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Obster was buried today from the Catholic church.

The Mothers' club will hold their regular monthly meeting at the Lincoln school Friday afternoon. They have arranged a program for the meeting.

The members of the Auxiliary of the M. E. church have arranged to give a basket social at the parlors of the church Friday evening. The young ladies made the plans at their meeting held at the home of Miss Pearl Hinkle last Monday evening.

DISCOUNT FOR CASH SYSTEM IS ABOLISHED

Chisholm Grocers Agree to Do Away With Custom Hereafter.

Chisholm, March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—An agreement entered into by thirteen local grocers, effective today, pledges them to refrain from further giving a cash discount to customers who pay their bills in cash or at suitable intervals. The grocers claim that they cannot afford to longer extend this courtesy and have pledged themselves accordingly. The agreement was entered into some two weeks ago but as four of the grocers were candidates for village offices it was thought that their chances might be affected and they kept their pledges until after election. This movement will result in a strong protest by the cash purchasers and some have threatened to buy in Hibbing and elsewhere if the rule is adhered to.

Going After Deadbeats.

Another agreement entered into was that of giving no credit to any "deadbeat" whose name has been placed with the Minnesota Adjustment company who look after the credits of the range business men.

No presents are to be given to take the place of a cash discount. Those running for office and who were responsible for the order being held up temporarily were Minty Tramontin, Joseph Jakse, Ed Ahonen and F. W. Anderson. Joseph Jakse was the only successful candidate among the grocers.

SAY OUTSIDERS CAST BALLOTS

Reports in Chisholm of Contest of Tuesday's Election.

Chisholm, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reports are current of a contest of the result of Tuesday's election being started it being claimed that votes were cast by persons living outside of the village and it is also further charged that in addition to voting in precincts where the voter have no right to they actually voted in the township as well as in the village. Some of these facts are, it is claimed, well established and evidence will be produced to prove the same. Just how far the move is apt to go is hard to predict.

Many Votes Sworn In.

A number of votes were sworn in and the large number of votes cast is believed by many to have resulted in so large a number of candidates having entered the race each prevailing upon his friends to turn out and save the day.

ENGINEER'S BILL CALLS FOR $1,344

Consulting Engineer Wants That Much for Hibbing Water Works Report.

Hibbing, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The bill of Earl D. Jackson, special consulting engineer, whose report on the water supplies to be found north of the village was recently accepted and whose advice has done much towards aiding the council in determining this important question, was received by the council last evening and referred to the finance committee. It is for $1,344.25, which includes the salaries of the crew that was working on the detailed plan presented.

Permits for the laying of new floors in the building at 321 Third avenue and the construction of a large addition to the Island farm creamery building on Third avenue were granted.

CHISHOLM TEACHER HAS EAR TROUBLE.

Chisholm, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—R. W. Jackson, manual training instructor of the local schools, is suffering with a serious and peculiar swelling that has developed in each ear so that he is unable to hear a word and his local physician advised him to immediately go to a surgeon for an operation. He left for Duluth and will submit to an operation.

Increase Teachers' Pay.

Hibbing, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of education last night increased the district payroll about $6,500 for the coming year. The average raise accorded the teachers amounts to about $6.50 per month. The regular monthly bills were paid.

OLD ELY MINER CANCER VICTIM.

Ely, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Wigeel died at the Shipmen hospital last night after an illness of four months from cancer of the stomach. He was single, born in Austria, 55 years of age and had lived here about twenty-four years, being employed in the mines of the Oliver Iron Mining company. He leaves relatives in Austria. He was a member of the Society of St. Anton. The funeral will be from the Catholic church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be attended by the society in a body. He worked last in the Pioneer mine here.

EVELETH HIKERS PLAN FOR OUTINGS.

Eveleth, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the coming of spring Eveleth boys known as the happy hikers are beginning to think of their summer's work. The organization is made up of fresh air enthusiasts and during the summer and fall months they make a hike each week to their bungalow on the St. Louis river, leaving here Saturday afternoon and returning Sunday night. The trip, fifteen miles, is always made on foot.

The boys hunt, camp and fish, but one of the rules of the club is that small game and birds must not be slaughtered ruthlessly and that the forest must be protected from danger from their fires.

HIBBING VOTE IS CANVASSED.

Hibbing, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The votes cast at the election on Tuesday were officially canvassed last evening by the council and the winners declared elected. The figures given in The Herald last evening were found correct with two slight exceptions, Keranen having received 184 votes instead of 186, as reported, and Templeton 231 instead of 230, as given.

HIBBING STREETS ARE KEPT PASSABLE.

Hibbing, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The careful work of the village officials in demanding that the gutters and crossings be kept clear during all kinds of weather is having its effect now that the first of the spring weather has struck Hibbing. In the place of the usual mud the streets are drying up evenly and the water is being carried away by the gutters that are free from ice and snow. There are a few places between the street car tracks that need repairing and orders will be issued this spring that the depressions be raised.

HIBBING NEWS NOTES.

Hibbing, Minn., March 12.—Sparks from the chimney of the Lipton hotel blew onto an adjoining residence on Pine street late yesterday afternoon necessitating a run by the fire department to quench the small blaze that started. The damage was small.

E. B. Ryan, assistant claim agent of the Missabe railroad and Oliver Iron Mining company is in the village today on official business.

The Geary trophy is the second to arrive to encourage the curlers on to a rapid conclusion of the schedules that have been prepared. The last cup is an elegant piece of work and is being admired by the members of the rinks who still have a chance to secure it for the coming year.

LIFE'S ROAD

Smoothed By Change of Food.

Worry is a big load to carry and an unnecessary one. When accompanied by indigestion it certainly is cause for the blues.

But the whole trouble may be easily thrown off and life's road be made easy and comfortable by proper eating and the cultivation of good cheer. Read what a Troy woman says:

"Two years ago I made the acquaintance of Grape-Nuts and have used the food once a day and sometimes twice, ever since.

"At the time I began to use it life was a burden. I was for years afflicted with bilious sick headache, caused by indigestion, and nothing seemed to relieve me.

"The trouble became so severe I had to leave my work for days at a time.

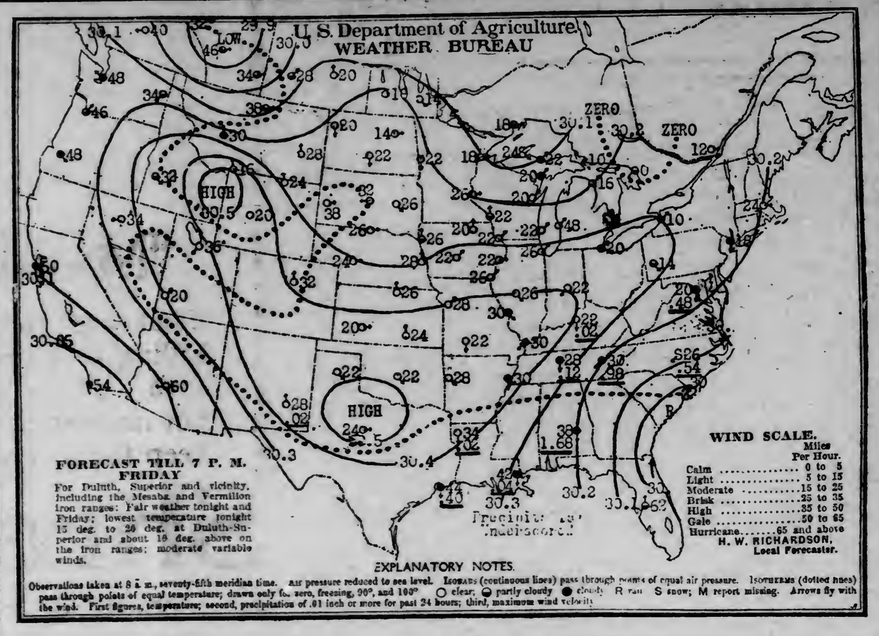

"My nerves were in such a state I could not sleep and the doctor said I was on the verge of nervous prostration. I saw an adv. concerning Grape-Nuts and bought a package for trial.

"What Grape-Nuts has done for me is certainly marvelous. I can now sleep like a child, am entirely free from the old trouble and have not had a headache in over a year. I feel like a new person. I have recommended it to others. One man I knew ate principally Grape-Nuts, while working on the ice all winter, and said he never felt better in his life."

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. FRIDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Fair weather tonight and Friday; lowest temperature tonight 15 deg. to 20 deg. at Duluth-Superior and about 10 deg. above on the iron ranges; moderate variable winds.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isobars (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 90°, and 100°. ○ clear; ◒ partly cloudy ● cloudy. R rain S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figures, temperature; second, precipitation of .01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

FAIR

This fair weather can stay just as long as it likes and see if we care; and Mr. Richardson had used his influence in having it reserved for tonight and tomorrow. It will also stay warm, same as it is today.

A year ago today it was soft underfoot and gray overhead. The sun rose this morning at 6:27 o'clock and will set this evening at 6:09, giving eleven hours and forty-two minutes of sunshine, four minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The temperature has risen throughout the Northwest, but it has turned colder over Eastern and Southern states. Light to heavy falls of snow occurred during Wednesday or last night over Gulf and South Atlantic states and from Kentucky and Tennesee eastward to the Atlantic coast. Mostly clear weather prevails in the Middle West and Northwest."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 12.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m.:

Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa—Fair tonight and Friday, not much change in temperature.

North Dakota—Fair tonight and Friday; warmer in north portion tonight.

South Dakota—Fair tonight and Friday; moderate temperature.

Montana—Fair tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Friday; warmer in extreme east portion tonight.

Lower Michigan—Fair tonight and Friday; warmer in east and central portions tonight.

LOSES ELECTION, ALSO MUSTACHE.

Chisholm, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Holmberg, a business man, not only failed to be elected village president Tuesday, but he lost his mustache. He bet with Cashier Train of the First National, the agreement being that the loser in the bet should dispense with his hirsute appendage. Holmberg lost and a barber did the rest.

Railway Denies Liability.

Hibbing, Minn., March 12.—Declaring that it is not liable in damages for the death of Charles H. Wold, who was electrocuted in a sub-station at Chisholm Jan. 6, the Mesaba Electric Railway company has refused to settle with the widow, Stella C. Wold, under the terms of the workmen's compensation law. In district court Judge Martin Hughes filed an order setting a hearing on the widow's claim to be heard before him at Virginia March 23.

Kittville Election Result.

Hibbing, Minn., March 12.—By a vote of 22 to 17 the ticket headed by Matt Kochevar for president was elected at Kittzville Tuesday. The other officials named were: For trustees, Frank Nosan, John Oberstar, Louis Vasnich; recorder, Andrew Hren; treasurer, John Meadows; justice, Mike Frankovic; constables, Andrew Nahle, Frank Canto; assessor, Matt Severinski.

Taconite and Holman Winners.

Taconite, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following village ticket was elected Tuesday: President, Thomas Cameron; trustees, Walter McComber, W. H. Plummer, T. J. O'Brien; clerg, Irving Barkla; treasurer, P. Bennett; justice of the peace, two years, L. A. Hope; justice of the peace, one year, Harry Jenson; constable, R. Harling. Forty-five ballots were cast.

In the village of Holman these were elected: President, James Armonetti; trustees, Charles Dunning; Joseph Camilli, Joseph Frontani; treasurer, Paul Salluo; clerk, James Hodgins; justice of the peace, Oscar Carlson, Dominic Billi; constable, Ernest Johnson, J. C. Linney.

Mountain Iron Election.

Mountain Iron, Minn., March 12.—The caucus ticket was elected complete here Tuesday as follows: President, Patrick Hagen; trustees, D. E. Burley, D. McGregor; Evor Mattson; clerk, George Eliertson; treasurer, B. U. Merritt; justice of the peace, A. F. Hertenstein, John Beck; constable, Charles Murphy.

Fix Stuntz Levy.

Hibbing, Minn., March 12.—The Stuntz township supervisors fixed the levy at $276,600, divided as follows: General purposes, $75,000; roads and bridges, $195,000; fire fund, $1,500; dragging roads, $5,000.

The board also voted a 50 per cent raise in salary to the supervisors, making their annual compensation $90 instead of $60.

Acquitted of Killing Game.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 12.—The trial before Justice of the Peace Kearney and a jury here, of William Close, living in the eastern part of Itasca county, near the St. Louis county line, of killing deer out of season, resulted in his acquittal.

New Eveleth Buildings.

Eveleth, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Isadore Schanedling has purchased a business lot and building on Grant avenue from Gust Johnson. Mr. Schanedling expects, either next fall or the following summer, to have the two-story frame building on the lot razed and a brick block erected.

Frank Rabinowitz has purchased two lots from Robert Mantel on Pierce street and will have a residence erected the coming summer.

Virginia Moose Elect.

Virginia, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The lodge of Moose elected the following officers: Past dictator, Al Emmott; dictator, Thomas O'Keefe; vice dictator, C. E. Graham; prelate, A. Erickson; sergeant-at-arms, Frank Love; treasurer, Fred J. Verville; trustees, George T. Oestreich and Patrick Cotteau. William McDonald was nominated for the position of secretary to fill the vacancy caused by the death of H. C. Holmes.

ELEPHANTS "SPOON" WITH THEIR TRUNKS

From "The Life History of the African Elephant," by Theodore Roosevelt in Scribner's Magazine: Elephant hunting, in addition to being ordinarily very hard work, is often dangerous. As I have elsewhere said, experienced hunters often differ widely in their estimates as to how the different kinds of dangerous game rank as foes. There are many men who regard elephants as the most dangerous of all, and again there are many others who regard the lion and the buffalo as beyond comparison more formidable. My own view is that there is a very wide range of individual variation among the individuals of each species, and moreover, that the conditions of country and surroundings vary so that one must be very cautious about generalizing.

Judging partly from my own limited experience and partly from a very careful sifting of the statements of many good observers with far wider experience, I believe that, taking the average of a large number of cases under varied conditions, the lion is the most dangerous; that a buffalo that does charge, especially a bull, when it has actually begun its charge, is more dangerous than a lion and much more dangerous than an elephant; that a single elephant is less dangerous to attack than a single buffalo, and that the charge of an elephant is more easily stopped or evaded than that of a buffalo; but that elephants are very much more apt themselves to attack than are buffalo, and that therefore there is more danger in the first approach to an elephant herd than is the case with buffalo.

Cows Will Charge a Man.

If a big tusker is in a herd of cows it may be impossible to kill him, because the cows charge with such savageness as soon as they detect the approach of the hunter—and, of course, a herd is much more apt than a single beast to detect him. At the sound of a shot the cows of a vicious herd, screaming and trumpeting, crash through the jungle in all directions, and may quarter to and fro down wind, trying to catch the scent of their enemy. If a man is caught he is frequently killed; but often he escapes, for the very hugeness of an elehant's bulk makes it unfit to cope with so small an antagonist.

Elephants Are Intelligent.

Elephants are interesting because they have such varied feelings, such a wide range of intelligent appreciation. Doubtless this is in part due to the possession, in the trunk, of an organ the development of which has itself permitted development of brain power. Very great brain power could not have been developed as an accompaniment merely of hoofs. Hands, however imperfect, were necessary, or else something that would serve partly as a substitute for hands. By watching a herd of elephants anyone can speedily see the large range of uses to which the trunk is put and the large range of needs and emotions which it develops and satisfies. During courtship the bull and cow caress one another with their trunks. Elephants are very curious, and the trunks are used to test every object which arouses their curiosity.

Hug With Their Trunks.

The cow is constantly fondling and guiding the calf with her trunk. The trunk is used to gather every species of food and to draw water. It is used to spurt dust or water over the body. It is used to test rotten and dangerous ground. It is in constant use to try the wind so as to guard against the approach of any foe. As one watches the great beasts the trunks continually appear in the air above them, uncurling, twisting, feeling each breath of air. Now and then a great ear is flapped. Now and then the weight of the body is slightly shifted from one colossal leg to another. The huge beasts are rarely entirely motionless for any length of time. Nor are they long silent, for aside from subdued squeaks or growls, and occasional shrill calls, there are queer internal rumblings. Their eyes are very bad. Like the rhino, they can see only as a very nearsighted man sees. At a distance of eighty yards or so, when in my dull colored hunting clothes, I could walk slowly toward them or shift my position without fear of discovery.

DON'T TRUST CALOMEL

Thousands Experience Bad After Effects From This Dangerous Drug.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute Is Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets for the Liver.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Ohio, has discovered a laxative and liver toner in a combination of vegetable materials mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects.

Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers.

His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him, years ago, towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he has been for several years in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablet.

The results of 17 years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets.

They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. And their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

There is no necessity, when you take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, by following them up with nasty, sickening, griping salts, or castor oil, as you do after taking calomel. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O. All druggists.

A WOMAN'S HEALTH

Every woman's health is peculiarly dependent upon the condition of her blood. How many women suffer with headache, pain in the back, poor appetite, weak digestion, a constant feeling of weariness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, pallor and nervousness? If you have any of these symptoms, do not despair of getting better but begin now, today, to build up your blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. See how the nervous energy of the body is restored as the blood becomes pure and red and the entire system is strengthened to meet every demand upon it.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are useful for all women but they are particularly valuable to girls of school age who show symptoms of going into a decline, who become pale, nervous and languid. These pills aid in securing perfect development and health by strengthening the system and purifying and building up the blood. Thin blood during the growing years of a girl's life usually means a flat-chested and hollow-cheeked womanhood. There can be neither health nor beauty without red blood which gives brightness to the eyes and color to cheeks and lips.

Write now to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for two helpful booklets, "Plain Talks to Women" and "Building Up the Blood."

Neale's Monthly: A story that is going the rounds is as follows. At a recent visit of the secretary of the navy to the academy at Annapolis he was jostled in the crowd of visitors to such a degree that a man of proportions trampled heavily upon the secretarial toe.

Instead of apologizing when Mr. Daniels turned his head to see who had crushed his foot, the offender growled out:

"What do you mean by giving me such a nasty look?"

"Why," returned the secretary, suavely, "I notice that you have a nasty look, but I had nothing to do with giving it to you."

MARK TWAIN'S SENSE OF TASTE.

From "Golf Yarns," by H. B. Martin: Mark Twain was playing golf on a well known English course. In trying to make a very long brassie shot, Twain tore up considerable turf and a chunk of dirt hit him squarely in the face. The Englishman he was playing with, seeking to relieve the embarrassment of his guest, remarked: "By the way, Mr. Twain, how do you like our course?" "Fine," said Twain. "I think it is the best I have ever tasted."

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

THE low descending sun of tomorrow will bring to us the Wolgast-Ritchie embroglio, or the Ritchie-Wolgast setto, just as the sentiment of the case may be. Some hold that little Adolph is the rightful holder of the crown; while others, the pro-Ritchie clan, claim with strong and well placed adjectives reinforcing the argument, that Wolgast committed the San Francisco foul for no other reason than to escape a knockout.

Letting that controversy trail along on the back stretch for the time being, pray permit us to turn to the impending contest of this evening.

A large portion of the sporting world was startled by the report that Wolgast's left hand was injured in training quarters. Immediately the odds on the bout shifted, the followers of Ritchie growing more confident. Later reports stated that the injury was only a minor one, and that Adolph would be able to battle at his best.

It is difficult to forecast for ten rounds. For one thing difference of opinion is exceedingly liable to rule as to the outcome. Some hold that Wolgast holds the advantage over the ten round route, as he starts quicker than Ritchie. Others hold that it is the boxer that shines in the limited round contest—and these same framers of sporting opinion call Ritchie the boxer of the twain.

In a finish fight our opinion would string with Ritchie—simply because we don't believe Wolgast is right. In the affair of Milwaukee it is a matter that is baffling the opinion of some of the shrewdest followers of the boxing game.

Ritchie is younger than Wolgast and he has never had to take the grief that has fallen to the ring lot of the Dutchman. On the other hand of manicured argument those who saw the little Cadillac boy polish off Rivers shout oodles of arguments to show that he was there as strong in the closing round as in the opening session.

Here is a phase of the dope that simply goes to show how difficult it is to make comparisons.

In the early rounds of the Ritchie-Rivers contest at Frisco the judges at the ringside declared that Ritchie was gone and that the Mexican would surely win. Later the champion rallied, because of his gameness and determined spirit, and got the upper hand. Then it was that the charge was made that Rivers deliberately quit.

Contrast this with the going in the fight between Wolgast and Rivers at Milwaukee.

The Dutchman was there from the first rounds and was chasing the Mexican all of the way, if the accounts brought home are correct.

Now what is one to say as to the result of the coming fight?

If we were going to bet—we wouldn't—not on a ten-round go. On a finish, give us Ritchie. The Dutchman should show great over the shorter route.

The Waining Waino.

F. C. CRABBE has made a definite proposition to Waino Ketonen, a wonderful little Finnish wrestler, and the runner-up in the world's middleweight championship chase may leave for Salt Lake City the present week.

Crabbe demands that Mike Yokel take the first $1,250 out of the house. After this has been turned over to Mike, Waino can take chances on the remainder of the house. In other and perhaps more explicit words, if the house at the salted city is large enough the little Finn will get his stake.

But at that Ketonen may accept the offer. Down in his heart he believes he has a chance to dethrone the champion of the world, and he may decide to take a chance at the small end of the money because this may land him the middleweight champion of the world.

We are not saying that Waino can win; not by any means. Mike Yokel long ago commanded our admiration. The Jackson Hole postmaster is one of the marvels of the mat, one of the hardest men of his weight in the world to beat. The Finn is one of the greatest we have ever looked at. The match will be one of the greatest ever wrestled for the title.

Considering Freddy Welsh.

FREDDY WELSH reads Ibsen. He likes "Hedda Gabler" and is crazy about Ibsen's "Ghosts." What right has he in the ring? Gosh! We don't know—we are simply telling the facts in the case.

Fra Elburtus Hubbard is one of the pals of the little Welshman. Some of the learned men of the East have been seen in earnest conversation with the man who has for some years back aspired to the lightweight championship of the world.

Very few press agents would have the ingenuity to invent the Ibsen stunt for Freddy—therefore it must be true. The mere fact that a fighter buys handsomely bound books—and then reads them, is quite sufficient to condemn him in the eyes of some of the followers of sport.

Why just the other day Ad Wolgast declared he knew he could lick Willie Ritchie, because the champion played golf.

Yes, indeed, our ring times are changing. Golf, Ibsen, the law and other higher influences are at work. In the days that have wearily went the saloon was the hilarious habitat of the fighter. If he bought lots of drinks he was generally set down as a first class fighter.

The world is progressing—and so is the fighter. Freddy Welsh is the leader of the culture cult.

James Doesn't Know.

JAMES E. TEN EYCK declares that he does not know whether he will row the members of the senior four only as a four. It will depend upon circumstances, as have thousands of things since the fateful day Eve and Adam were shagged from the pleasantry of the umbrageous garden.

It depends upon the candidates for the crew. It depends how the crews look as the time approaches for the Northwestern regatta at Kenora. James intimated that he might row the four in the eight and then take it out and fit it for the National.

But he does not know and he isn't bothering his head at the present time—there are more pressing details to command the attention of the coach.

NEWT RANDALL IS IN DULUTH

Milwaukee Baseball Star Looks Forward to Great Season on Diamond--Is Strong for Ad Wolgast.

Newt Randall, one of the star hitters of the American association and the cleanup kid for the Milwaukee team, reached Duluth yesterday for a short visit with his people before leaving for the spring training camp of the Brewers.

"Sure, we have a fine team and we are going to be in the chase all the way," said Randall. "Maybe some of the teams in the A. A. procession were better than us, but take it straight from me, we had it on 'em when it came to fighting.

"Harry Clark is a grand fellow. All of the players on the Milwaukee team are for Clark strong. Harmony is our middle name and we fight till the last man is out—that is one of the reasons why we win.

"Say, take it from me, Wolgast is going to give this Ritchie all he wants in the fight of this evening. Wolgast is some fighter. I saw him lick Rivers. Some of these others are boxers, but this boy fights. When he hits all of his body goes into the punch."

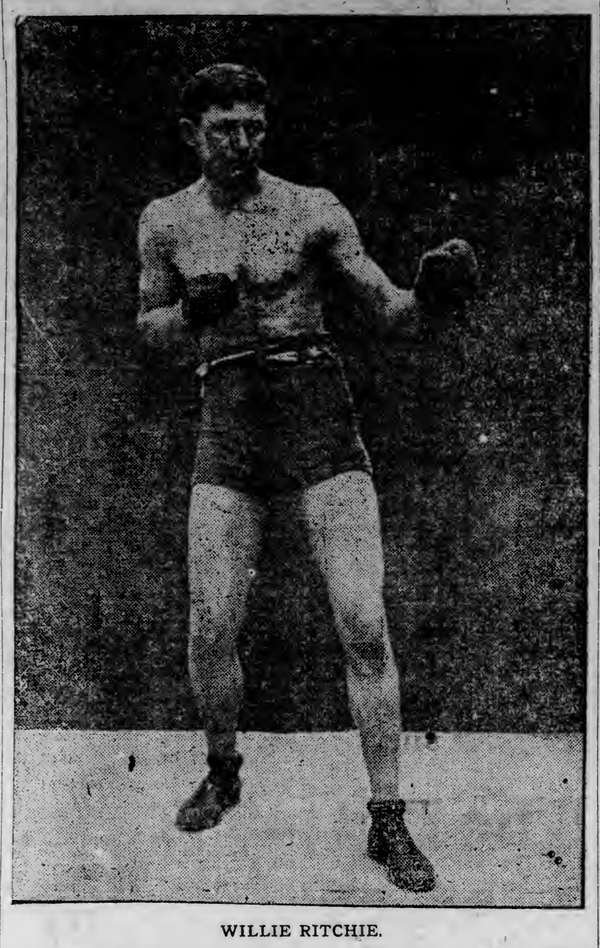

Newt is looking in the very best of health. He believes that the approaching season will also bring one of his best years. The hitting of the Duluthian was one of the big assets of the Brewers last season—one of the details of play that brought the cherished gonfalon to Beerville.

As Newt learned the game on the lots of Duluth and went from the professional lists here to the higher circuits of baseball, finally getting to the big leagues, it is but natural that his legion of friends follow his doings on the diamond with a great deal of interest.

Ray Chapman Breaks Leg.

Athens, Ga., March 12.—Ray Chapman, shortstop of the Cleveland Americans, broke a bone in his right leg just above the ankle here yesterday while sliding into a base.

NORTHERNS BEAT LAKES IN GREAT HOCKEY GAME

League Leaders Downed By the Close Score of 1 to 0.

Result of Contest Ties Up the Race for Pennant.

The Lake Hardware hockey team, that has gone to the very end of the season without defeat, last night went down before the wonderful playing of the Northerns, losing a brilliant and hard played contest at the Curling club rink by the score of 1 to 0.

As a result of the contest the Lakes and Northerns are tied in the chase for the flag. Each team has won all but one game, and no other team in the league has defeated either of them.

No situation creating more interest in the ultimate ending of the race could be conjured. The two teams have played consistent hockey all the way through the league and came into the stretch neck and neck, only to flash under the wire in a tie.

Within two minutes after the call of play the first and only score of the game was made. During all the remainder of the contest, so tight was the defense of both teams, that the one and lonesome score decided the result of the big game of the season to date.

Parsons of the Northerns took the puck down the ice from the faceoff. Down the sidelines went the center, swinging over from center ice. Dodging two of the defense men, Parsons brought the puck near the front of the cage. Nelson, the right wing, was waiting, and quickly Parsons made a pretty pass. Nelson received the puck almost directly in front of the cage and slipped it in.

It Was Some Game.

There have been many fast and close and brilliantly played contests in the Duluth Amateur Hockey league this season, but no contest compared with the one of last evening.

All the way through, the game was fast and keen. Desperately the Lakes tried to even the contest up, and equally desperately did the brilliant defensive efforts of the Northerns repulse the fierce attack.

Some beautiful combinations were formed by the Lakes and went sweeping down on the Northern goal, but Rickard at cover point and Swanstrom at point and Richards at goal played a beautiful game.

Richards stopped some shots that would have counted upon a less expert defense man, and time and time again the two other defense players turned back the attack.

With the ice slow and rough, this handicap failed to mar the fine work of the two teams to any serious extent. While the soft ice spoiled some team work at times and made it hard work to skate fast, nevertheless the contest was a beauty and a credit to the league.

Near the end of the contest it looked as if the Lakes would score. The aggressiveness of the team forced the playing into the territory of the Northerns. But here the fine defense work prevented a score when it looked as if the count would be knotted.

The game to determine the pennant winner will be played off in the near future, and judging from the interest in its outcome the farewell contest will be witnessed by a huge crowd.

In a preliminary game the Universals defeated the Kelleys by the score of 3 to 1.

The lineup of the Lakes and Northerns:

Northerns—		—Lakes
Parsons	c	Harris
Du Moe	lw	Brown
Nelson	rw	Taylor
McCormick	r	Woods
Rickard	cp	Bartlett
Swanstrom	p	Wharton
Richards	g	Mahan

Summary—Referee, Kahler; umpire, Barkell; timekeepers, Stavrum and McRae; goal judges, Hedberg and Kading.

BROWN IN EMERGENCY ROLE AT MILWAUKEE

Range Boxer in Beer Town to Take the Place of Ritchie or Wolgast, Should the Occasion Demand His Services.

BY BRUCE.

Pal Brown left yesterday afternoon for Milwaukee. Tommy Andrews, the veteran newspaper man of Milwaukee and the matchmaker of the club that is staging the battle of this evening between Willie Ritchie and Ad Wolgast, forwarded two round trip tickets and expense money to Brown—for a reason.

If anything should happen to Ritchie or Wolgast at the last moment—ouch! Tnink of that $40,000 house. It even hurts to vaguely contemplate so great a disaster. That's why Brown is in Milwaukee today, ready to go on if anything should occur.

With the range scrapper is Colie Munro, adviser, friend, philosopher and companion. The twain travel at the expense of Andrews and Pal is prepared, according to the statement let loose in The Herald office, to step in against either of the eminent lightweights.

Also, it might be stated that Nate Lewis has Charley White quietly preparing in Chicago for any emergency.

There have been rumors regarding the injury to Wolgast's hand and there have been other rumors regarding balking by one of the prominent principals at the last moment. These are merely rumors and for the most part run for Sweeney. What would be a large sporting event without rumors? Like a picnic without sweet pickles and hard boiled eggs. These rumors are the life of the party. They furnish meat and drink to the waiting fans. The rumor of the last moment difficult is simply one more, perhaps.

Billy Munro Gossips.

With Brown and friend Cole was Billy Munro, who years ago was one of the prominent fighters around these parts. While admiring the presses of The Herald plant, William let loose some talk.

"Brown won't fight any more until he recovers from a bad cold," quoth William. "The kid has the cold at the present time and he finds trouble in shaking it. Pal has tried to lose it, has kidded it and otherwise been decent, but the cold hangs around though. It must realize that its company is odious, as they say.

"Brown has other dates offered, but take it from me he will not accept any of them until he is right. Let me slip it to you—there is a club that is trying to frame a twenty round meeting between Brown and Tillman. The friends of Brown would like to see the range boy get the Minneapolis kid in the ring where the distance is more than ten rounds.

"That's what is on; of course we don't know whether it will go through. The matter of getting into condition is the most important consideration at the present time."

Brown didn't have a great deal to say. He didn't make any excuses, and in this regard he exhibited extremely good taste.

"I have a number of contests in view," said Pal. "I want to shake this cold before starting any preparation. I don't expect any hitch will occur at the last moment to prevent either of the principals of the Ritchie-Wolgast fight from entering the ring. Andrews is simply protecting himself. He wired me transportation and said come on. I would have probably gone to Milwaukee anyway, as I want to see the scrap. It should be a corker. I wish the boys were going over the twenty-round route."

Both Colie and Billy Munro believe that Brown is still a contender. They admit with cheerful alacrity, however, that the range boy proved a distinct disappointment in the fracas at Superior.

However, when you come to think of it, boxers are the most optimistic people in the world, and it is not at all strange that the two Munros should harbor the opinion that Brown is still a real contender for the highest honors of the lightweight division.

TAFT MAY SELL CUBS IN FEW DAYS

So One Report Has It—Other Is That He Won't—Another Says Murphy Sale Was a Fake.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 11.—Frank D. Mayer of Chicago, representing the Spiegel syndicate, held two lengthy conferences here yesterday with Charles P. Taft, and at the close of the second meeting, asserted that he was confident that Chicago men would purchase control of the Chicago National league club within the next three days.

"I don't doubt that the Chicago men will own the Chicago club within three days," said Mayer. "Mr. Taft will go to Chicago on Friday and while there, will see my principals."

Earlier in the day, Mr. Mayer said, Mr. Taft had assured him that he was considering only two offers, the proposition made by Mr. Mayer himself, and that of the Connery interests.

Chicago, March 11.—"The Chicago National baseball club will not be sold this year in my belief," said John R. Thompson last night, after receiving the report of his emissary who had a long conference with Charles P. Taft in Cincinnati.

"Mr. Taft would not set a price for the stock he holds in the club," said Mr. Thompson, "and as far as my agent could determine, he has not seriously considered selling his interest. He has scores of telegraphic and mail offers which he has not even answered and he as much as told Sidney B. Goldenberg, my representative, that he has as much property interest in Chicago as any resident. He felt that he could be regarded as a Chicagoan."

Some well informed persons said the recent retirement of Murphy was merely a nominal change of ownership, leaving Mr. Taft free to name a new president of the club, while Murphy remained in active control.

In this connection it was said that Charles H. Thomas, secretary of the club, might be elected president for this year under the present ownership.

AMATEUR BILLIARDS.

Champion Shows Great Form in Second Game of Tournament.

New York, March 12.—An excellent exhibition of balk line billiards was given here yesterday afternoon by Joseph Mayer, the national amateur champion, and Charles Heddon of Dowagiac, Mich., who met in the fourth game of the national amateur 18.2 balk line tournament at the Amateur Billiard club. Mayer, who was defeated in the initial game on Monday night by Dr. Uffenheimer of Philadelphia, played up to championship form yesterday and won by 400 to 262.

Mayer gathered only 14 points in his first six innings while his opponent had made 109, including runs of 39, 26, 21 and 21. In the next two turns at the table, Mayer added 37 and 75 to his string, gaining the lead which he later increased with two runs of 69 each and another of 41, which enabled him to win the match in his twenty-first inning.

Heddon, who, like Eugene L. Milburn of Memphis, made his debut in class A championship company, proved to be a genuine surprise and his deft cue work made a favorable impression on those who witnessed the contest. The newcomer's best effort was 39 in his sixth inning, made up of all-around billiards, including some masse shots, the execution of which at times was worthy of some of the leading professionals.

New York, March 12.—Dr. Walter E. Uffenheimer of Philadelphia defeated Eugene L. Milburn of Memphis, Tenn., 400 to 238, in last night's game.

PLENTY OF PLACES FOR EXTRA PLAYERS.

Shreveport, La., March 12.—James Gilmore, president of the Federal league, here with the Chicago Federals, refused to confirm or deny statements to the effect that terms offered by Ray Collins of Boston would be accepted, nor would he name any of the fifty players of the National and American leagues who have been reported to be negotiating for Federal league contracts.

"All of the clubs in the league have all the players they need with the exception of Brooklyn and Buffalo," said President Gilmore. "We probably will sign two more players for each of these teams. We have all the places we need to which we may send players not retained by the Federal league and we are not worrying over farms."

Hot Springs, Ark., March 12.—After holding two conferences with Pitcher Ray Collins, President Lannin of the Boston American league club late yesterday announced that Collins had signed a two-year contract.

BARRETT NO MATCH FOR SPIKE KELLY.

Madison, Wis., March 12.—Spike Kelly of Chicago easily defeated Lee Barrett of Milwaukee, in a ten-round bout here last night. Kelly did all the leading, landed often and had the brewery boy at his mercy throughout the fight, despite the fact that he hurt his hand in the second round. Barrett was hissed by spectators for employing foul tactics several times during the mill.

WHYTE WINS THE BAGLEY

Catterson Is Defeated in the Final Game By 10 to 7 Score.

Elmer Whyte's rink defeated "Doc" Catterson's braves in the final game of the Bagley event last evening by the score of 10 to 7.

Doc was leading at the fifth end by the score of 5 to 3. Whyte laid two in the next head and from there on showed superiority. In the eighth head Whyte took the lead and held it to the close of the contest.

John Oldham defeated his old rival, Ralph Barrington Bradley, by the score of 16 to 9. The defeat was crushing to Ralph Barrington, who allibied by stating that while in the Southland he has lost his perspective and, moreover, had not become acclimated.

Following the game Mr. Oldham delivered a speech that was greeted with tumultuous applause and a pair of old overshoes.

The dinner was one of the events of the evening—dinners invariably are when well cooked—ladies, please notice.

And the ladies were present—they also seemed to enjoy themselves and the dinner. It was one joyous occasion.

President Jones made a speech and thanked the fair ones for the interest they showed in the sport and urged their co-operation in making curling even more popular than it is.

Music upon the part of the Third Regiment band and songs by a male quartet, and general hilarity and several impromptu talks made the evening so successful that it is very certain that the get-together gatherings will become a monthly feature of next season.

CLEVELAND IS TIED BY SOO

Second Game of Hockey Series Ends in 2 to 2 Score.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., March 12.—In the last minute of play the Michigan Soo seven tied the score with the Cleveland team, the final score being 2 to 2. Michaels shot the tying goal from near the side boards, the shot being a beautiful one.

During most of the game the play was in the Cleveland territory. The grand play at goal upon the part of Odmark prevented the loss of the game.

Michaels played a star game for the Soo and Winters and Odmark starred for the visitors.

The lineup:

Cleveland—		Soo—
Odmark	g	Tallion
Winters (capt.)	p	Thompset
Jamieson	cp	(capt.) Murray
Trimble	f	Godin
Verner	c	Michaels
Irving	lw	Peppin
Debernardi	rw	Hill

Goals—First half, Verner; second half, Michaels, Irving and Michaels.

MONARCHS TOO CLASSY FOR KENORA

Retain Allan Cup Without Much Effort---Regina Defeats Edmonton.

Winnipeg, Man., March 12.—The Winnipeg Monarchs successfully defended the Allan cup against the Thistles of Kenora last night. The score was Monarchs, 6; Kenora Thistles, 2; and about represents the merits of the two teams. Slow ice made fast play impossible but the contest was at all times of such classy nature that the crowd was kept on edge throughout the game. The Monarchs had the necessary punch and finish to their play and this was the real cause of their victory.

Three minutes before time was called the bell rang to bring Maxwell back on the ice after a penalty and the crowd thinking the game was over rushed onto the ice. The players were brought back and the ice cleared, but the challengers said they had enough and refused to finish the game.

At Moose Jaw last night Regina defeated Edmonton in the district playoff and thus earned the right to challenge the Monarchs for the coveted trophy.

Mike Has to Pay.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 12.—Mike Cantillon, owner of the Minneapolis baseball club, will have to pay for hunting dogs he bought nearly two years ago. A jury in the Hennepin district court awarded to Leo McDermott of Benson, Minn., a verdict of $230 with interest at 6 per cent from Sept. 8, 1912, the date of the sale. Its verdict was rendered after twelve hours' argument.

THE JURY QUESTIONS THE GOOD JUDGE AND GOES ITS WAY

CHINESE BALL TEAM.

Fifteen Players From Hawaiian Islands Touring U. S. and Cuba.

San Francisco, Cal., March 12.—Fifteen Chinese baseball players and their manager, Hop Sing, arrived here yesterday from Honolulu on the first leg of a seven months' tour that will take the team over the country, ending with a series of games to be played in Cuba during September.

The team is the champion of the Hawaiian baseball league and made a successful tour of this country last year.

PITTSBURG FEDS ANNOUNCE ROSTER

On Way to Lynchburg Training Camp With Good List.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 12.—William McCullough, business manager of the Pittsburg Federal league club, has given out the names of players who have been signed to play with Pittsburg the coming season. They left for the training camp at Lynchburg today. The list follows:

Catchers—Claude Berry, Portland, Or.; C. J. Fullmer, Texas league; John J. Kerr of Baltimore Internationals, drafted by Americans of New York; Edwin Roberts, last year with the St. Louis Americans.

Pitches—Elmer Knetzer, Pittsburg; Tom Roberts, Galveston, Tex.; Willie Adams, St. Louis Americans; George Leclair, Montreal; Howard Camnitz, Philadelphia Nationals and Pirates; Cy Barger, Newark International league; Harry Hedgeheth, Virginia State league last year, drafted by the Washington Americans; Edward Henderson, with Lowell last year, drafted by Boston American; Henry Law, Lloydell; Walter Dickson, last year with Boston Nationals; Fred Blanding, last year with Cleveland Americans.

Infielders—Hugh Bradley, first baseman, Jersey City International league; Cy Rheams of Indiana normal; Jack Lewis, Pittsburg; Allen Morgan, Montreal; Eddie Hooper, Tri-State league; Eddie Lennox, Montreal; Charles McDonald, Boston Nationals, part of last season.

Outfielders—Manager Gessler, formerly with Washington Americans; Davy Jones, last year with Detroit and Toledo; Ralph Mattis, Virginia State league, drafted by the St. Louis Americans; J. H. Savanage, New York State leage; Rebel Oakes, St. Louis Nationals; Bill Holden, New York Americans; Mike Menosky, Pittsburg.

PLAYER JOHNNY EVERS GETS HIS FAT BONUS.

Macon, Ga., March 12.—John J. Evers, deposed manager of the Chicago Nationals, last night received a check for $10,000 as a bonus for signing a contract with the Boston Nationals. The check was given Evers by James E. Gaffney, owner of the Boston club, shortly after his arrival here.

George Says "Nope."

Tampa, Fla., March 12.—An offer of $1,000 a season with a bonus for signing, was made yesterday to George Baumgardner, pitcher of the St. Louis American league team, by George Stovall, manager of the Kansas City Federal league ball club. Baumgardner, according to advices from St. Petersburg, Fla., where the St. Louis team is, refused the offer.

Kaws Have First Practice.

Kansas City, Mo., March 12.—Eighteen men were out for the first spring practice of the Kansas City American association baseball club yesterday afternoon. The club will do its training on the home grounds. Manager Armour expects all the players to be here by Friday. The first practice game will be played next Sunday.

Robbed of Shut-Out.

Sacramento, Cal., March 12.—Albert (Butch) Klawitter might have secured a shutout victory over the first squad of the Chicago White Sox of the American league here yesterday, but for costly errors made behind him by the Sacramento Wolves of the Pacific Coast league. Sacramento won, 4 to 2, making two victories out of three games played.

ANOTHER RED ENTERS BASEBALL REALM.

Portland, Or., March 12.—S. H. L. "Chief" Battiste, graduate of the Gallaudet school at Washington, track star of the Cleveland Athletic club, has signed a contract to pitch for the Portland Northwesterners and will renounce his amateur standing.

Battiste is visiting in Southern Oregon. He received an offer from the Washington Americans a year ago, but at that time declined to turn professional. He is deaf and dumb.

De Oro Takes Second Block.

New York, March 12.—Alfredo De Oro of Cuba, three-cushion billiard champion, won the second block of 50 points of a 150-point match, defeating Fred Eames of Denver last night in sixty-three innings.

Ouimet Placed at Scratch.

Boston, Mass., March 12.—Francis Ouimet, national open golf champion, and John G. Anderson, runner-up to Jerome Travers for the national amateur championship, are placed at scratch on the handicap list of the Massachusetts Golf association, issued today. More than 4,000 names appear on the list.

Northwestern Wins.

Chicago, March 12.—The Northwestern university track team defeated the University of Chicago team in a dual track meet here last night 44 1-3 to 11 2-3.

Breaks Turf Record.

Juarez, Mexico, March 12.—Christophine, a 3-year-old filly owned by the Western turfman, S. Veiller, broke the world's mile record on a circular track at the Juarez course yesterday afternoon, going the distance in 1:36 4-5.

DEMAND INTERVENTION BY U. S. IN COLORADO

United Mine Workers Send Telegram to President Wilson.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12.—Declaring that Federal intervention sorely is needed in Colorado, officers of the United Mine Workers of America late yesterday sent a telegram to President Wilson at Washington demanding the release of "Mother" Mary Jones. The telegram follows:

"We again protest against the outrageous treatment accorded 'Mother' Jones, and demand her release from Colorado military prison, where she has been confined for more than two months.

"Federal intervention sorely is needed in Colorado. We can ill afford to talk about protecting the rights of American citizens in Mexico as long as a woman 80 years old can be confined in prison by military authorities without any charge being placed against her, denied trial and refused bond, her friends prevented from communicating with her, her request for proper medical attendance denied and every right guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States set asides.

"Colorado militia yesterday tore down tents of striking miners at Forbes, leaving miners and families without shelter and causing great suffering. Let us hear from you."

The telegram is signed by John P. White, president of the miners; Frank J. Hayes, vice president, and William Greene, secretary-treasurer.

FOR LABOR SAFETY.

House Passes Bill to Create New Federal Bureau.

Washington, March 12.—A bill to create a bureau of labor safety in the department of labor was passed in the house yesterday. It proposes a bureau to make general and special investigations of labor safety plans and devices; to inquire into all phases of vocational diseases, and to make public the result of its investigation.

The bureau, to be headed by a commissioner of labor safety at $5,000 a year, would have a museum for exhibition of approved devices for safeguarding machinery and protecting employes from injury, and methods of controlling industrial diseases.

Representative Walsh of New Jersey called the attention of the house to the fact that "Smiling Bob" Bremner, the New Jersey representative who recently died in Baltimore, first proposed the bureau.

ARGUE FATHER WIRTH'S CASE.

Washington, March 12.—Oral argument was heard in the supreme court yesterday on the validity under American law of the "vow of poverty" prescribed some twelve centuries ago for members of the Catholic Brotherhood of St. Benedict. Briefs already had been submitted and the case is now before the court for decision.

The legality of the "vow of poverty," was questioned in the administration of the estate of the late Father Augustine Wirth, a priest of St. Benedict, who died at Springfield, Minn., in 1901, leaving considerable money and property. Relatives of the priest laid claim to the estate, but the brotherhood held that under his vow Father Wirth could have nothing in his own right, and any property that had been in his possession belonged to the order. The relatives won in the United States circuit court of appeals, which decided that the vow was against public policy and void.

"All Orders in Danger."

Former Judge Morgan J. O'Brien of New York, on behalf of the order, told the court that if the order of the lower court was allowed to stand as the law of the land, the property of the Benedictines and all other religious orders prescribing the "vow of poverty" would be endangered. He said the lower court had failed to distinguish between the religious and civil natures of the vow.

A member of the order, it was explained, could withdraw from the order in a civil aspect, although his vow in a religious way was binding until death.

William D. Hayward, counsel for the priest's relatives, declared that his opponents were taking a new position and one that made it unnecessary to show whether the vow was void. This being true, he argued, the court should dismiss the order by which it certified the case up for review upon the representation that it did involve the validity of the vow.

Mr. Hayward added that the abbot of the order had granted Father Wirth permission to keep the income from books he had written. Mr. O'Brien insisted, however, that the priest was permitted to keep the money only as a trustee for the order.

POTTS WOULD BE REAR ADMIRAL.

Washington, March 12.—Capt. Templin M. Potts, recently retired from the navy active list by the so-called "plucking board," was before the senate naval committee asking appointment to the list of rear admirals under a bill by Senator Chilton. As ranking captain last March, he passed an examination for promotion, when the "plucking board" retired him.

Hinds May Be Unopposed.

Portland, Maine, March 12.—Col. Frederick Hale probably will not oppose Congressman Asher C. Hinds in the June primaries for the Republican nomination for representative in congress from the First Maine district, according to an announcement. There are no other candidates.

TIMED TRAINS BY UNRELIABLE CLOCK.

Chicago, March 12.—August White, a Grank Trunk switchman, testified before the public utilities commission that an old watch of eccentric behavior was his reliance in signaling trains that they might pass safely. White was examined in the commission's inquiry into the wreck of March 3, in the city yard, when a Grand Trunk passenger train crashed into the rear of a freight, and two men were killed. He is switchman at Kedzie avenue.

"I was kind of leary about that passenger train," remarked White. "I gave the freight train seven minutes start."

Asked how he told the time, White said he had a watch—"not a very good one. A kind of old clock, but it tells the time pretty good."

"How do you set it correctly?" he was asked.

"I generally holler at conductors or engineers that slow up near my shanty," said White. "If they come into the shanty I ask them what time it is."

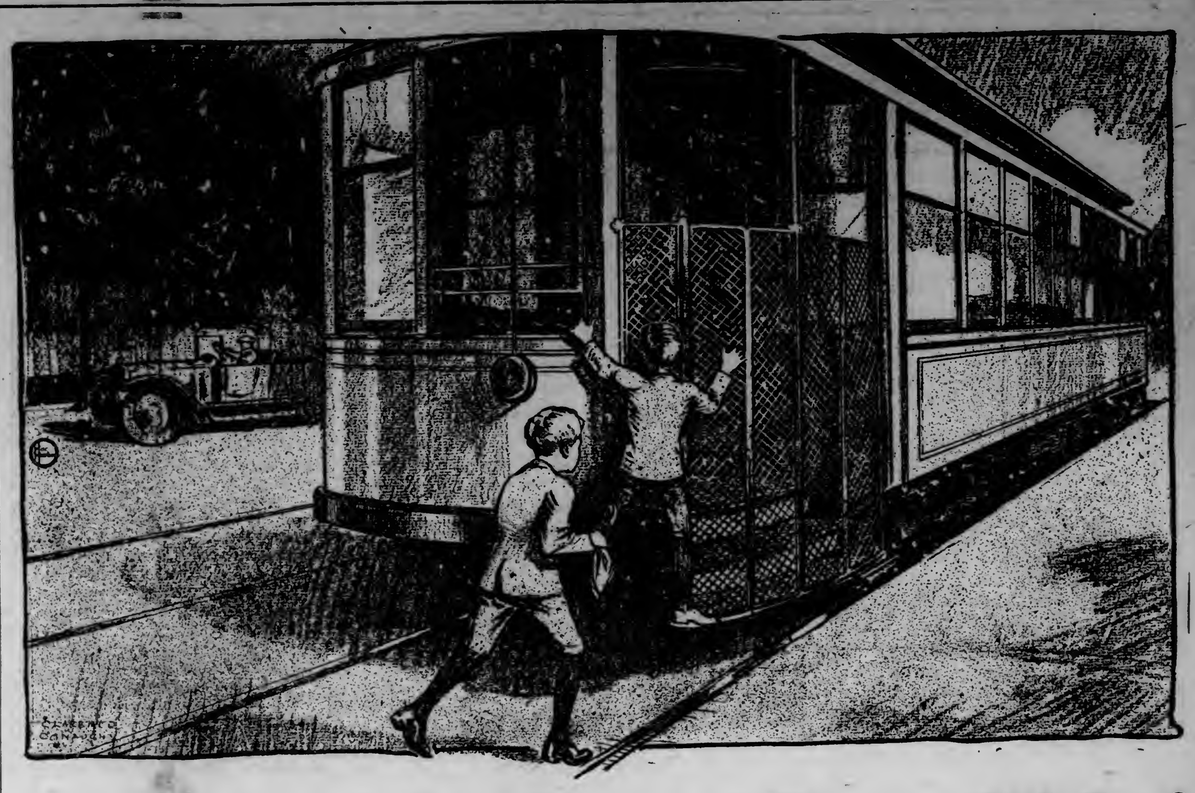

Michael Courtney, general yardmaster for the Grand Trunk, said the accident might have been avoided if the railroad had the block signal system in use on the right-of-way.

For South Dakota Marshal.

Washington, March 12. — President Wilson sent the following nominations to the senate:

Assistant secretary of the treasury—William P. Malburn of Denver, Col.

DOCTOR GUILTY OF OPIUM MANUFACTURE.

New York, March 12.—Dr. Herman Seidler, a prominent physician who confessed that he had acquired the opium habit while trying to cure patients addicted to the use of the drug, was found guilty of manufacturing opium without a license. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $300 and spend ten days in jail, but was granted a stay and released on $3,500 bail pending an appeal.

The physician denied that he had manufactured the drug except for his private use in carrying out his experiments in search of a cure.

Customs inspectors found in his house fifty cans of opium and a quantity of opium gum, and brought Dr. Seidler to trial before a Federal jury.

PLAN TO RAISE "MYSTERY SHIP"

Interesting Experiment Will Be Tried on the Chas. S. Price.

Detroit and Toronto steamboat men are planning to raise the steamer Charles S. Price, which lies in sixty feet of water in Lake Huron. The Price was one of the five-hundred footers that was lost in the great storm on Nov. 9 last.

For several days after the storm the floating upturned hull of the Price, which was dubbed "The Mystery Ship," baffled steamboat men. The vessel for a time was thought to be the steamer James Carruthers of Toronto, a boat of similar dimensions, which was also lost.

The experiment of raising the boat will be watched with interest. The idea is to send a diver down to bore holes in the bottom of the upturned craft and pump air into her water tanks for the purpose of driving the water out. If this proves successful, and the hull rises to the surface, it is the intention to beach her in shallow water and pump the water out of her side tanks.

When the name of the "Mystery Ship" was discovered she was abandoned by her owners, the Mahoning Steamship company of Cleveland, to the underwriters.

The Charles S. Price, which was built at Lorain in 1910, was a vessel of exceptionally high power, and fitted with all the modern improvements in shipbuilding. She was 504 feet long, with a 54-foot beam and a draught of 30 feet.

INSPECTOR SHOT BY MORMON PASTOR.

Seattle, Wash., March 12.—Leslie H. Lowe, city health inspector, while serving a warrant yesterday on Rev. Robert F. Butterworth, a preacher of the reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, was shot and seriously wounded. After the shooting the pastor barricaded himself in his house, from which the health department had sought to oust him because of its alleged insanitary condition and a squad of police was sent to arrest him. Two policemen entered the house and overpowered Butterworth after a hard tussle.

A bullet from the clergyman's pistol struck Lowe on the frontal bone directly over the left eye, ranging downward through the eyeball and into the cheek. Butterworth is held on an open charge, awaiting the result of Lowe's wound.

CITY SELLING WASTE PAPER

No Longer Burned, But Is Converted Into Cash.

Waste paper is no longer wasted at the city hall.

Mayor Prince has purchased a paper-baling machine, which cost $35, and has made it installed in the basement of the city hall. It bids fair to pay for itself within a comparatively short time.

All the paper from the city hall, the police station and the municipal court is now brought to the basement of the city hall instead of being thrown into the furnace or hauled to the dump. The machine compresses it into bales a little smaller than the ordinary bale of hay. In this shape it is bought by a local concern at the rate of 27 cents per hundred pounds. Yesterday afternoon four bales were turned out of the press, which is manipulated by Jimmie Sheehan, custodian of the city hall.

The same company has also taken a big quantity of old books and records off the city's hands. For these the city gets 35 cents per cwt. For years they have been stacked in a storeroom in the basement, occupying valuable space and accumulating dust. None of them was considered worth saving and after they had been examined they were turned into cash.

ULCERATED TOOTH CAUSES HIS DEATH.

John Alexander Ledingham, 49 years old, 1927 West Third street, a resident of the West end for twenty-three years, died this morning at his home from septic poisoning caused from an ulcerated tooth. Mr. Ledingham had been suffering from blood poisoning for a week.

Mr. Ledingham was one of the best known residents of the West end. He was an engineer on the Northern Pacific and a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen. He was born 49 years ago in Durham, Ont. He leaves a widow and a brother. The latter lives in Manitoba, Can.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Dr. Hovde Is Again Chosen to Head the Ski Club.

Dr. H. V. Hovde was re-elected president of the Duluth Ski club at a meeting of the members last evening. Iver A. Iverson was elected vice president; John Larson, treasurer; George M. Jensen, secretary; and P. C. Wright, financial secretary.

The following were elected as members of the board of directors: Dr. Hovde, Hans Wannebo, Odin Halden, P. C. Wright, George M. Jensen, G. G. Hartley, Don Gearhart, F. A. Harlow, Al Abraham, Henry Holmboe and Iver Iverson.

Plans for next season were discussed during the meeting. It was the opinion of every member present that the tournament of next season should be the best that has ever been held in the Northwest, and it was also the opinion of all the members present that efforts should be begun early in the coming summer to work up interest for the tourney of next year.

Several members present expressed the belief that the National meet of next winter will surpass any ski meet ever held in the United States if the proper efforts are made, and all of the members of the club attending the meeting declared that no detail should be left undone that would contribute to the success of the coming season's sport.

It is generally believed here, according to the opinion expressed at the meeting, that clubs from all parts of the United States and some of the countries of Europe can be persuaded to send riders to the National of next winter and a committee will be appointed to start the ball rolling in this line.

DO HONOR TO A MASTER OF CRAFT

San Francisco Shows What It Thinks of Uncle Bill Naughton at His Funeral—Messages of Condolence From Australia.

San Francisco, Cal., March 12.—Evidence of the esteem in which the late W. W. Naughton was held, not only by newspaper men and the sporting fraternity, but by the public in general, was witnessed today at the funeral of the veteran sporting writer, who died Tuesday. St. Mary's cathedral, where the service was held, could not accommodate all of "Uncle Bill's" friends.

Six members of the mechanical department of the Examiner, of which paper Naughton was sporting editor for many years, carried the casket. Honorary pallbearers, numbering many prominent newspaper and professional men and special committees from newspapers, social and athletic clubs, marched in the procession.

Messages of condolence from all parts of this country and from Australia have been received by Mrs. Naughton and the San Francisco Press Club, of which Naughton was president.

Two Groups of Chicago Capitalists Form Combination.

Chicago, March 12.—Acting on a hint from Charles P. Taft that it would be well if the two groups of capitalists got together, France Mayer, representing the Spiegel syndicate, and John T. Connery, head of another group, met today and formed a "mutually agreeable combination." Early next week a meeting of the two syndicates will be held here and a definite agreement reached, it is announced.

The suggestion that the Connery interests confer with the Spiegel bidders was made by Mr. Taft yetserday in a long distance telephone conversation with John T. Connery. Mayer was in the Taft office at the time and rushed back to Chicago in time for a meeting today.

GET DAMAGES FROM COMPETITORS

Saari Bros. Given Judgment Against Cloquet Lumber Company.

John and Jacob S. Saari of Eveleth, doing business under the name of Saari Bros., were awarded $4,000 from their competitors, the Cloquet Tie & Post company in a sealed verdict which was agreed upon at 8:50 o'clock last evening after the jury in district court had been out for ten hours. The verdict was opened and read in court this morning.

Saari Bros. sued for $50,000 punitive damages for the loss of logs and timber booms swept away during the spring of 1912 when the Cloquet company sent a big drive down the Mudhen river. It was charged that at Lakanen, where Saari Bros. had a quantity of timber products in storage booms, the drive broke the booms and the property of the two companies went down stream.

The jury made special findings in the case. It found that 4,250 standard tamarack and cedar ties, 658 jack pine ties and 500 cords of pulpwood had been swept away and converted to the use of the Cloquet Lumber company. In response to a question of whether Lakanen was a convenient place in which to sort the ties and pulpwood belonging to different concerns the jury answered 'No.'

The case was brought to trial on Feb. 23 and a large number of witnesses have testified on both sides.

"HOOKING" DATES.

Two Young Boys Caught Red-Handed in Rear of Grocery.

Percy Abelson, 14, and Eugene Grohman, 13, were arrested by Patrolman Wood yesterday afternoon on a charge of attempted petit larceny. The two boys were caught by a clerk in the Gasser store just as they were walking out of the rear door with a basket of dates.

The clerk held the two boys until Patrolman Wood arrived on the scene and they were brought to police headquarters. They have been turned over to the juvenile court.

Abelson lives with his parents at 625 East Third street and Grohman at 123½ East Third street.

WILL GIVE NEW RATES A TRIAL

D. & N. M. Road Will Dismiss Appeal to Supreme Court.

St. Paul, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Duluth & Northern Minnesota Railway company today entered into an agreement with Attorney General Smith and the state railroad and warehouse commission to put into effect on its line the rates for Class C roads established by the commission last January in accordance with the distance tariff law.

When the rate order was issued, the company filed suit in the Federal court asking for an injunction against its enforcement. The injunction was denied and an appeal was taken to the supreme court of the United States by the company.

The agreement reached today is in effect a dismissal of this appeal, and the company has expressed its willingness to test the new rates until Jan. 1 next. Should it appear at that time that the tariffs are too low, the company may then ask the supreme court to grant the injunction applied for.

The Duluth & Northern Minnesota has 110 miles of line, extending along the north shore of Lake Superior from Knife river in St. Louis county to Echo lake in Lake county.

A machine to record the undulations of the bottom of a channel as a vessel passes over it has been invented in Argentina.

RUMOR INSISTS THEY ARE TO MARRY

ELEANOR WILSON,
Youngest Daughter of the President.

—Copyright by the Hain News Service.

WILLIAM McADOO,
Secretary of the Treasury.

Washington, March 12.—Prospects of another White House wedding became more definite today with the persistent renewal of the report that Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, youngest daughter of the president, were engaged, the marriage to take place in June.

There was no announcement from the White House, and when the attention of officials was drawn to the report, they refrained from making any comment.

Secretary McAdoo himself said it would be indelicate for him to comment on the subject one way or the other. Nevertheless official Washington is taking it as a definite fact that another wedding at the White House will be solemnized in June, after the adjournment of congress.

Ages 50 and 24.

Many persons who know Secretary McAdoo were not surprised at the report, because he has been a frequent social visitor at the White House during the last year. Washington society has observed the couple at many a dance as well.

Mr. McAdoo is 50 years old, while Miss Wilson is 24. He is a widower and has six children, two sons and one daughter being married. He has a grandson who was born to his eldest daughter in Arizona. When his second son, Francis H. McAdoo, was married last spring, President Wilson and his family motored to Baltimore to attend the wedding.

Mr. McAdoo, who is the builder of the Hudson tunnels, knew the Wilson family before his entry into the cabinet, and has been an intimate friend of the president since early in the pre-convention campaign.

Miss Wilson was educated in the private schools at Princeton, N. J., and during the last few years has been making frequent trips to Philadelphia to an art school, where she has studied painting.

ITS RANKS ARE THINNING

Duluth's "Unemployed Army" Will Soon Cease March to Work Farm Under "Generals" Windom and Cutting.

Duluth's unemployed army under the direction of "Generals" W. L. Windom and Frank Cutting, in private life known as judges of the police court, is on a constant march, but in the local sense, to the work farm, and not to Washington, D. C.

Since Jan. 1 the unemployed army has been daily marching to the farm, the ranks constantly thinning, until now there are but a few privates left.

Unlike the case of the unemployed army in Southern California marching on its way to Washington, where the members, under the direction of "General" Kelley, hope to meet President Wilson, the local army is on a march to see Fred Ward.

But in some respects the local army resembles the one on a march from Sacramento. Its ranks are constantly dwindling.

Out West the unemployed army is refused transportation on the railroads. The local army is also refused transportation on the railroads, because there are no railroads running to the work farm. For that reason the members of the army are taken out in a livery wagon.

In Martinez, Cal., the army is threatened with destriction by residents of that city. The latter say they will shoot the members of the army down. In Duluth the members of the army do all the shooting. That is, they put dynamite under the stumps at the work farm and shoot them up out of the ground. In other words, they are clearing the land out there.

But, with all the success of the local army under the able generalship of "Generals" Windom and Cutting, the harmony is threatened, and "Generals" Windom and Cutting may soon be out of a job, that is, as far as leading the army of unemployed is concerned. They may still continue leading the army of constantly employed drinkers out to the farm, but recruits for the army of the unemployed are scarce. This is due to the fact that spring work is opening up. In court this morning Sam Smith and Ivar Johnson, up for vagrancy, told "General" Windom they had a job and wanted to go to work, so the "General" let them desert.

CHORUS LADY WEDS EARL'S SON

LADY DANGAN.

She was a chorus girl and her name was Mae Picard. Now she is Lady Dangan and she joins the ranks of the "titled American women." But don't envy her. Her husband is a chorus man, who before he took to the stage, earned his living by driving a cab in London. He is the eldest son and heir of Earl Cowley. His father is not rich and he has refused to support the marquis. In time the former Miss Picard will be a real countess and wife of a belted earl—whatever that is. These titles ought to be worth something on the stage in London if not in America.

STOMACHS ARE VICTORS

Kelley's "Army" Is Disintegrating Under Lack of Food.

Members Overrun Rural Districts and Demand Victuals.

Sacramento, Cal., March 12.—"Gen." Kelley's unemployed army, temporarily detained on its march toward Washington, D. C., went to bed supperless last night in its camp in Yolo county, just across the Sacramento river.

Sacramento county not only officially shut off the food supply, but issued an order forbidding any person from conveying supplies across the bridge beyond which the Industrial Workers are encamped.

This move had been ordered by the city and county authorities in the belief that it would quickly result in the disintegration of the army. The result of the action became apparent when men began leaving the camp singly and in groups. By last night the army, which had numbered 1,500 on Monday and had dwindled to 1,000 or 1,200 had been reduced to about 600 men, whose leaders were finding it difficult to hold them in hand.

Disastrous to Farmers.

This hegira is proving disastrous to the rural districts of Yolo county, which are overrun by hundreds of hungry men who appear at orchard homes and enforce with threats their demands for food. Perhaps half the male population of the county was on duty last night in the role of special guards for the protection of homes and property.

While the shutting off of food is in a measure solving the problem that has confronted California communities for the last four months the situation with regard to the several hundred irreconcilables bent upon marching on the national capital, regardless of all obstacles, is desperately involved.

Governor Hiram Johnson, addressing the Ad club here, praised the officials of Sacramento for their stern suppression of "General" Kelley and his army. The governor declared the problem was not one of men out of employment, but of men who preferred vagrancy to honest toil, and would not work.

Threatens to Shoot.

Martinez, Cal., March 12.—"We will shoot down the members of the idle army before we will allow them to land in this county again. I am justified in giving such an order because threats made by members of the 'army' in Sacramento mark them as a dangerous element. I have a right to protect this county against them, and I shall do so even if it necessitates bloodshed."

This is the statement of Sheriff R. R. Veale of Contra Costa county, who yesterday swore in 300 extra deputies whom he provided with arms and ammunition. Automobiles have also been chartered in order that the armed force may be quickly moved wherever invasion is threatened.

Veale also secured a writ of injunction from Superior Judge R. H. Latimer, prohibiting any community or individuals sending indigent persons into the county.

Chief of Police Arnold of Richmond of the same county, has a force under arms and provided with automobiles to await instructions from Veale.

REPORT IS AMENDED

Power Company Complies With the Demands of the City.

The Great Northern Power company this morning filed with City Auditor B. J. Campbell an amended public service report in compliance with the resolution passed by the city council a week ago Monday. The report gives the company's expenses in greater detail than the original statement, but otherwise is not changed.

The Duluth Street Railway company filed its amended statement several days ago. The only company which has not yet made a supplementary statement is the Duluth-Edison Electric company, and this is expected at any time, as President A. W. Hartman stated that the company would be perfectly willing to accede to the city's wishes for a more detailed report.

Including the net income of $127,716.19, the total expenses of the Great Northern Power company are listed at $589,399.13, itemized as follows: Discounts and allowances on discounts, $4,424.99; operation, $39,891.54; maintenance, $23,109.96; salaries of officers and clerks, $21,804.48; general office expense, $3,622.86; general traveling expense, $2,557.60; legal expense, $3,366.66; general and miscellaneous engineering, $1,211.69; promotion of business, $7,005.55; customers' steam plants, $927.76; general and miscellaneous expense, $2,369.90; insurance, $3,626.90; taxes, $19,605.95; interest, $325,000; reservoir payments, $1,359.32, and adjustment of accounts of previous years, $1,797.88.

WE HAVE FAITH IN THIS STOMACH REMEDY

A woman customer said to us the other day, "Say, you ought to tell everyone in town about Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. I would myself if I could." That set us to thinking. So many people have used them and have so enthusiastically sounded their praises both to us and their friends, that we had an idea you all knew about them.

But, in the chance that some of you who suffer from indigestion, heartburn, dyspepsia or some other stomach complaint, don't know about them—we are writing this.

They contain Bismuth and Pepsin, two of the greatest digestive aids known to medical science. They soothe and comfort the stomach, promote the secretion of gastric juice, help to quickly digest the food and convert it into rich, red blood, and improve the action of the bowels. We believe them to be the best remedy made for indigestion and dyspepsia. We certainly wouldn't offer them to you entirely at our risk unless we felt sure they would do you a lot of good. If Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets do not relieve your indigestion, check the heartburn, and make it possible for you to eat what you like whenever you like, come back and get your money.

Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only at our store. Three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00. E. M. Tredway, 108 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

CURIOUS FACTS ABOUT HAIR.

Strand: A few strands of human hair may at times have a very powerful influence in deciding a criminal trial. Placed safely in a glass receptacle, these hairs have been carefully studied by experts and made to throw what is often a new light on some puzzling case.

Although the fact might hardly be suspected, there are clear and well-defined distinctions between the chief hairs of men and women. Apart from their individual lengths, which provide a rather unreliable clue to their respective origins, they possess structural features of a very conspicuous character.

Each hair commences its life in a minute pit, or follicle, of the skin, and has a tip that is gradually pushed upward by the development of tiny cells in the bulb or root. Oil glands at the side of the latter supply the hair with grease, so that when one is pulled out it appears as a ball of fatty substance. However long a hair may be, its free, or most distant end is the oldest, because it is in and around the neck of the bulb that new cells are added, and therefore push out the already finished length.

Hairs are solid, and not tubular, consisting of a core—which is often darker than the remainder—and an outer adherent shell whose surface is densely clothed with flat, thin cells, or scales, lying over one another in an upward direction. The formation, seen plainer in a grey hair, is not unlike that of the skin of a snake's body, except that the scales are more irregular in shape.

The edges of these depressed scales, when seen in profile along the "sides" of the hair, present a saw-toothed appearance if sufficient magnification is used.

Colors are due to amalgamated yet separate atoms of pigment deposited in the cells just beneath the surface of the hair. In bleaching, the chemical would pass underneath the scales and react upon these specks of natural paint.

We may look as closely as possible with the naked eye at the hairs of a man and woman side by side, but it is quite impossible to notice any difference between their points; yet the microscope will readily distinguish the difference.

If we forcibly remove a hair from the head of a man and magnify it, we find that the outer extremity is blunt, while the general formation is smooth and clear of exterior particles except dust. Upon similarly magnifying the hair of a woman we learn that it tapers gradually to a point, which is usually split up in a brush-like style. From the outside there also project, at various spots, transparent prickles, due no doubt to the luxuriance occasioned by non-interference with the growth.

BOTANICAL BAROMETERS.

New York Sun: The sensitiveness of plants is of never-failing interest to all lovers of the woods and fields. Like a human being sensing a fall in the barometer and the coming of a rainstorm, so the clover in the meadow feels and shuts its leaves. A close observer says that a field that was white with blossoms has suddenly become quite changed by the approach of a heavy cloud or the falling of a light shower.

The common chickweed opens its blossom only when the sun is shining and counts on only the bright hours. When it closes its blossoms rain invariably follows. The sea purslane has the same habit. It never opens in cloudy weather and closes when the sun is low, about to sink. The scarlet pimpernel never exposes its flowers to a shower.

One of the naturalists in an Arctic expedition noticed that, although the summer sun shone through the nights, the plants made no mistake, but when the sun got round to the west they closed up as if the sun had really set. An eclipse of the sun has had the same effect.

The common "four o'clock" almost always closes its flowers at that hour and so many plants have that instinct that Linnaeus made a floral clock of flowering plants, each of which had its time for closing. The wood sorrel not only drops its leaves and shuts its purple veined flowers when it rains, but does the same if the ground near by is struck with a stick. The family of the oxalis has the same habit.

GOSSIP FATAL TO SOCIAL LIFE.

"Hilda Richmond in Farm and Fireside: Only one thing is fatal to the happy social life of any country community, and that is gossip. If the women in their clubs cannot find in the wide field of housekeeping, chicken raising, preserving, care of children, public schools, music, art, readings, public improvements, good government, health, sewing, entertaining and all other delightful household tasks, enough material to lift the meetings above petty personalities, then the little club, or whatever it is called, is doomed. Whenever gossip is allowed to creep into any organization people will begin to break up into little cliques or circles or groups, and the whole thing falls.

VALUABLE ADVICE

Duluth Citizens Should Profit By the Following Statement.

Doan's Kidney Pills are used by this Duluth resident.

Their merit was shown—the story told.

Now comes further evidence.

The testimony is confirmed.

The remedy was tested—the results lasted.

Could Duluth residents demand stronger uproof?

It's Duluth testimony. It can be investigated.

Mrs. C. Dahlen, 211 North Twenty-ninth avenue west, Duluth, Minn., says: "I had been troubled by pains across the small of my back and in my sides I used a couples of boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me. The cure has lasted and I haven't had any more kidney complaint. One couldn't ask for a better kidney remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills."

WHEN YOU TELL A MAN HE IS LAZY.

If he answers back that he goes to work two hours before the boss does, he is an embryo agitator, says Judge.

If he tells you to take a running jump at yourself, he is a government employe.

If he assures you that he is figuring out the best way to do the task in the shortest time, he is an efficiency expert.

If he tells you he has had so many interruptions it has been impossible for him to get any more done, he is a good excuser.

If he replies that he can only exert himself when his heart is in his work, he has an artistic temperament.

ARE WEARY OF WEDDED LIFE

Wives Apply for Divorce on Grounds of Cruelty By Husbands.

Mrs. Charles Leadstrand Says She Has Supported Spouse.

To provide a husband with plenty of things to eat and to see that he does not suffer during the cool winter months from lack of proper clothing, should, in the opinion of Mrs. Charles Leadstrand, 39 years old, 126 East First street, relieve the average wife from further matrimonial obligations.

And so it happens that because one John J. Leadstrand, 41, husband, whom she says she has supported for several years, helped himself to the money in the till in the little candy and cigar store which she has been conducting at 111 East First street, a new divorce action has been started in district court.

The arrogance of Leadstrand in helping himself lately to the receipts over the show case at his wife's store, has added insult to injury, according to her viewpoint. She claims that he spent the money for intoxicants.

In her divorce action filed today Mrs. Leadstrand declares that while she was in the hospital recently, the affairs at the store were left in his charge and that during that period he took charge of all receipts but failed to pay any bills.

Evidently he couldn't stand the prosperity. After his wife came out of the hospital and was able to again take up her duties at her store, she was subjected to a beating at his hands, she alleges, after which he absconded with the funds on hand and a purse containing a number of valuable odd coins belonging to her.

Mrs. Leadstrand charges that her husband has "always been abusive and mean, always scolding and finding fault," and that he is possessed of such a violent temper that often times the near neighbors have interceded in her behalf. She also charges him with being an habitual drunkard.

Leadstrand has been served with an order signed by Judge Bert Fesler, directing him to appear in court Saturday, March 15, and show cause why he should not be restrained from interfering with his wife in any manner or from visiting her either at the store or at the house.

* * *

On the grounds of cruelty, drunkenness and desertion, Harriet Saliua Wallace, 38, is seeking a divorce from Charles George Wallace, 64, to whom she was married at Iron Mountain, Mich., Feb. 14, 1899. She claims that on numerous occasions he has assaulted her and then on March 31, 1912, he deserted. For the past three years, she claims, he has been an habitual drunkard. The mother asks for the custody of the minor children, Charles, Russell, Muriel and Sherman.

DISPOSING OF GARBAGE

Hicken and Webster Will Investigate—Open Bids March 25.

W. A. Hicken, commissioner of public safety, and Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, will go to Minneapolis next week to investigate the methods followed there in the handling of garbage.

This has been a problem in Duluth for several years and is constantly becoming more pressing. Minneapolis is said to have satisfactorily solved the problem and the local officials will endeavor to get information which will assist them in dealing with the local situation.

A private company recently proposed to take over the handling of garbage in Duluth, asking a five-year contract. In order to get definite figures the city has advertised for bids, which will be opened March 25 at 11 o'clock. The sentiment of the council was that if such a contract is let it should contain a clause whereby the city could terminate the agreement at the end of three years, as in that time the city might be in shape to install a free municipal collection.

The people making the offer propose to buy all the equipment now owned by the city at a fair inventory price. If a contract were let it would mean that other private collectors would probably have to go out of business. The council is not enthusiastic over turning the garbage collection to a private concern and will not do so unless very satisfactory figures are obtained.

PASTOR CHARGES VOTES ARE BOUGHT

Is Not Ready to Substantiate Claim in Rhode Island City.

Providence, R. I., March 12.—Rev. Richard W. Woffenden, Progressive representative from Warwick, who made the charge on the floor of the house yesterday that 600 voters in his town were "bought" every year, said today that he was not yet ready to take any action toward substantiating his assertion.

Warwick is the home of Former United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich and Gen. Charles A. Wilson, head of the Republican organization in the state.

PAIR ARRESTED ON CANADIAN CHARGE

Taken at Dilworth, Minn., Charge of Deserting Families.

Dilworth, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—James and Jennie Marshall were arrested here today by Sheriff Whaley of Clay county on charges of deserting their families near Kenaston, Sask. They are double brother and sister-in-law. Jennie's husband is James' brother and James' wife is Jennie's sister. They are said to have eloped Dec. 5 and were at Hankinson, N. D., and later in the Twin Cities.

Marshall says he will return to Canada without extradition papers, but the woman insists she will fight the case to the limit and she may later be released. Both had deserted their spouses and several children.

Open New Territory.
Charles N. Lockhart, sales manager of the Roman Meal company, and James Dolan, formerly advertising solicitor for the News Tribune and now Chicago salesman of the Roman Meal company, left last night for the Twin Cities and will later go to Chicago. Mr. Dolan will open up the Chicago territory for the company, which has just started an advertising campaign there, and will endeavor to put the Duluth manufactured goods into a proper degree of popularity in the Windy City.

New Manufacturing Company.
Charles H. Glover, George Coleman, John H. McGillivray, William L. Jackson and John L. Heitmann are incorporators of the Duluth Manufacturing company, which today filed articles of incorporation with Charles Calligan, register of deeds. The company is capitalized at $50,000. Its principal place of business will be in Duluth.

Gets $247 for Finger.
Deprived of the use of the middle finger of his right hand as a result of a severe infection which set in following an accident on Oct. 21 last at the Leonard mine, near Chisholm, Anton Kraljic, 21, will receive $247.60 from his employer, the Oliver Iron Mining company. The settlement, made in accordance with the workingmen's compensation act, was approved in district court today.

Return to Duluth.
Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Couture, who left the city last fall to take up their residence in Quebec, have returned and will again make Duluth their home. Mr. Couture insists that no city in the East has the attraction of Duluth.

Missionary to Speak.
Mrs. W. H. Lingle, who recently returned from the missionary fields in China, will speak this evening at 7:45 o'clock at the Second Presbyterian church. Mrs. Lingle will speak on the work of the missionaries in the Orient.

Better Business Facilities.
With the installation of a telephone the women's free employment bureau connected with the comfort station at West Duluth will enlarge its facilities, with the result that it will probably do more business and increase its usefulness. Although without a telephone last month, the bureau received fourteen orders for help, had sixteen applicants and filled twelve places, according to report which has been transmitted to Mayor W. I. Prince.

Vermilion Road Hearing.
The city commission will hold an informal meeting with the property owners interested in the improvement of Vermilion road at the city hall at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. This is one of the improvements included in the revised schedule of the present season, as announced by Commissioner R. Murchison, head of the works division. The petition asks that the road be improved from Fifth street to Forest Hill cemetery. It will afford an outlet for the Woodland district but will not be as satisfactory as would the improvement of Woodland avenue.

Court Lets Them Go.
Neil Campbell, Martin Andler, Victor Adamski and Fred Evans, the four young men arrested last Saturday in connection with a disturbance that occurred at First avenue east the previous night, were discharged in police court yesterday afternoon. They pleaded not guilty when arraigned following their arrest.

Says He Is Bankrupt.
William Mashke of Little Falls, Minn., this morning filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy with the clerk of the United States court. He gives his assets as $100 and liabilities as $6,129.84.

Sparks Start Fire.
Sparks from the chimney at the residence of G. H. Wright, 1215 East Fourth street, this morning caused a slight blaze on the roof. The fire department extinguished the flames before any serious damage was done. The loss is estimated at $25.

Suit on Trial.
Frank Christopherson is plaintiff in an action brought to trial before Judge Fesler and a district court jury today against the Western Sales Stables company and L. D. Goldberg, to recover $500, the value of two horses, which are claimed to have been unlawfully withheld from the plaintiff since Oct. 1, 1913 last. The actions involves a dispute over a chattel mortgage.

An Easy Way to Get Fat and Be Strong

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This master-stroke of modern chemistry is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through its regenerative, reconstructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. Boyce Drug store and other leading druggists of Duluth and vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

Caution—While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

LOADING DEVICE CLUMSY COPY

Great Northern Must Settle With Owners of Oberst Patent.

Declaring that the Feeny car-loading device used by the Great Northern railroad is a "clumsy infringement" on the Oberst patent, Federal Judge Page Morris yesterday afternoon granted a decree in favor of Philip Oberst and Victor Linley, both of Superior, who sought an injunction restraining the road from using the Oberst car-loader.

Oberst obtained a patent for his device in 1839 and in 1903 sold a half interest to Linley. The plaintiffs claimed that since they established their right to the patent following a case against the Great Northern in 1903, the road has continued using the article, although it was constantly claiming another patent of its own. This the road called the Feeny device, but Oberst and Linley both claimed it was an infringement on their patent.

With the decree favoring the plaintiffs, Judge Morris ordered the question of damages due Oberst and Linley referred to a master. This will be done, it is understood, unless the railroad agrees to settle of its own accord.

Both Oberst and Linley live in Superior and it was their contention that the patent was used by the Great Northern in Superior during 1912.

LOUIS HILL WILL BE PRESIDENT SATURDAY

Announcement Fails to Quiet Rumor of Another Change.

St. Paul Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—L. W. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railway, will become president of the road at the close of business Saturday. A circular making the official announcement of his election has been issued by E. E. Katzenbach, secretary of the company.

In spite of this official announcement, the rumor that there will be another change of presidents in the near future persists among railway officials of St. Paul.

HICKEN WILL KEEP "LID" ON

Says Petition for Midnight Closing Would Be Useless.

It was stated this morning that the circulation of a petition asking that cafes be allowed to serve drinks until 12 o'clock was being considered.

Commissioner Hicken, head of the safety division, to whom such a petition would be addressed, said today that no matter how large a petition was presented, it would be impossible to grant such a request. He said that the state law plainly requires saloons to close at 11 o'clock and that the city administration could not change its provisions.

Those interested say that there is considerable sentiment in favor of allowing this concession and that this would be reflected in the signatures which would be attached to such a petition were it circulated. They assert that most of the business men and hundreds of citizens would indorse a proposal to allow the serving of liquor until midnight.

But there is little hope of anything of that kind being allowed in Duluth under the present administration, at least until the state law is amended to allow saloons to keep open until 12 o'clock.

GIRLS WILL SETTLE LONG STANDING FEUD

Lakeside and Woodland are to have it out at last.

On next Monday night basket ball teams composed of girls from the Cobb school at Woodland and the Lakeside school will met at the Lakeside school for the suburban honors of the city.

Residents from the two suburbs have been in a "friendly war" for many years. Generally it is an argument as to which suburb has the better gardens.

Now that the girls have organized basket ball teams, it is left to them to decide the supremacy.

Superior

Robber Gets Two Years.

Harry Smith, who some time ago was convicted of having burglarized a freight car on the Soo line railroad, was sentenced to two years at the Waupun penitentiary in the superior court this morning.

Pleads Not Guilty.

John Bardo, one of the quintet, who attacked Patrolman Huber on Christmas morning and who has been in the hospital since that time suffering from wounds inflicted in the battle with the officer, was this morning arraigned in police court charged with assault with intent to kill. He pleaded not guilty and the hearing was set for March 23.

TWO LIQUOR LAW BREAKERS FINED.

Two more proprietors of Superior hotels were arrested last evening on charges of selling liquor without a license. One of them, Marian Nelson, of the Leslie hotel, pleaded guilty to the same offense yesterday morning. She again pleaded guilty this morning and paid another fine of $50 and costs. The other was Mrs. Clara McDonald of the Raddison hotel, who also pleaded guilty and paid a like sum to the city.

After Saloon Keepers.

The Federal grand jury in session at the courthouse is hearing testimony of alleged illegal selling of liquor to Indians by local saloon keepers. It is intimated that a number of indictments may be returned against local men for this offense. Secret service men are said to have been working diligently during the last few days to secure evidence against the saloon keepers.

TWO UNKNOWN DEAD BODIES ARE BURIED

Gogebic and Iron Counties Are Puzzled By Mysteries.

Wakefield, Mich., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The identity of the dead one a mystery, the body of an apparently murdered man believed to have been employed as a woodsman, has been interred in the Wakefield cemetery. The remains were found by surveyors in the woods adjacent to the Wakefield-Thomaston highway. A foot protruding from a pile of brush led to the discovery. The forehead was bruised and the neck contained several deep cuts apparently inflicted with a knife. A bag filled with woodsman's clothes was near the corpse, but neither it nor the clothing worn by the man contained anything to indicate who the stranger was or whence he came. At Palatka, in the neighboring county of Iron, there also has been interred the remains of an unknown man who met death in violent manner. The man had been run over by a train and so badly mutilated his features were unrecognizable. No papers were found in the pockets. It is supposed the man was stealing a ride on a freight train.

FERRIS FORESEES END OF THE STRIKE

Thinks Copper Miners Will Vote to Go to Work.

Lansing, Mich., March 12.—Governor Ferris today expressed the opinion that Michigan's copper mine strike would soon be settled if President Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners will allow the strikers to decide the proposition by a referendum vote.

"I believe the men would return to their former positions if obstacles are not thrown in their way by the strike leaders," said the governor. "At least, a referendum vote would be a real test of the strength of the opposing factions and would show existing conditions."

The governor said he had expected the congressional investigating committee would send representatives of the committee to Lansing before its work was completed, looking into information that had been gathered by Governor Ferris and his assistants. He said the report as indicted today was what he had anticipated.

SLIGHT REACTION IN COPPER STOCKS

Market Is Weak at Close on Selling By Traders.

After showing strength throughout the session, on the calling off of the Michigan Copper country strike, mining stocks sold off at the close at Boston today and final prices were below yesterday's level in many issues. Butte & Superior was heavily traded in and its closing figure was 25 cents off at $34.50. Calumet & Arizona closed a shade lower at $66.50; Granby 25 cents off at $84.75; Greene-Cananea unchanged at $36; North Butte unchanged at $27.75; Shattuck a fraction off at $27.87; Franklin 25 cents up at $6.50; Amalgamated Copper slightly lower at $73.25.

In the Duluth curb list, Calumet & Corbin sold at 27@29c, and it closed at Boston at 28c bid. Calumet & Montana sold at 25c and Keating at $1.18.

The Boston office of the South Lake Mining company is in receipt of advices from President Edwards that unwatering of South Lake shaft has been completed and sinking will be resumed immediately.

* * *

Phelps Dodge & Co. have declared a regular quarterly dividend of $2.50 a share and $2.50 extra, payable March 31 to stock of record March 19.

The advance in New Arcadian Copper shares to 6¾ is said to be due to the continuance of a good showing of copper in drifting on the vein recently encountered in the driving of a cross-cut on the 750-foot level. The vein is about fifteen feet wide, and the showing is reported rich—at least for a Lake Superior copper mine.

According to a wire received by Gay & Sturgis from Boston the annual meeting of the Osceola Mining company, scheduled to be held this morning, was adjourned pending decision on appeal to a higher court from the recent decision of Judge Wiest of Michigan, prohibiting the election of directors inter-locking with Calumet & Hecla directors.

The London correspondent of the Boston News Bureau cabled today as per wire received by Gay & Sturgis: "Large producers are offering electroytic at £65, 15s (14.27c), and are soliciting bids, competing with the smaller dealers."

FEW CHANGES ARE SUGGESTED

Duluth-Edison Co. Returning Inventory Copies to City Appraiser.

The Duluth-Edison Electric company is beginning to return to W. B. Rittenhouse the copies of the district inventories furnished as part of his plan in making the appraisal of the physical holdings of the company.

The city was divided into eighty-three units, or districts, and the property in each was listed separately. As they were furnished they were sent to the company to enable it to point out any omissions and suggest changes. They are now coming back and thus far few changes have been suggested.

No prices were attached to these lists. As fast as they are received the office force of Mr. Rittenhouse will attach prices and the total of the eighty-three districts will represent the plant's valuation. It is expected that five or six districts will be returned daily. Mr. Rittenhouse said this morning that it will be several weeks before the final figures will be available.

"JUST PLEASANTRY," SAYS AMBASSADOR

London, March 12.—Walter H. Page, United States ambassador, was much surprised when told today of the resolution adopted by the senate in connection with his speech last night at the dinner of the Associated Chambers of Commerce. He declined to discuss the matter until he had received an official demand for an explanation, and details as to what portion of his speech objection was made.

He put the question to the interviewer:

"The speech was innocent enough, wasn't it?"

Asked whether objection might be taken to the last sentence of his speech, referring to the Panama canal, Mr. Page replied that that was a pleasantry.

The ambassador spoke late in the evening and his remarks were extemporaneous.

The London newspapers differ slightly in the wording of the ambassador's remarks regarding Panama and Central America investments. Regarding the latter, he assured the diners that the United States has no intention to interfere with British investments in Central America.

CALLS ON PAGE TO EXPLAIN HIS WORDS

Washington, March 12.—A resolution calling on Walter H. Page, American ambassador to Great Britain, for an explanation of a Panama canal speech which he is reported to have delivered last night bofere the Associated Chambers of Commerce in London, was adopted today by the senate.

The resolution was introduced by Senator Chamberlain, Democrat, of Oregon, an opponent of the repeal of the free tolls provision. In the preface of the resolution Senator Chamberlain quoted a report of the speech as printed in a New York morning paper.

The resolution then calls on the secretary of state to "furnish to the senate without delay a copy of the speech made by the American ambassador, and particularly that part thereof giving his definition of the Monroe doctrine and that portion thereof in which he is alleged to have stated that the British would profit most by the use of the Panama canal; and that he call upon the American ambassador to furnish forthwith, for the use of the senate, any evidence upon which that portion of his speech was based wherein he is alleged to have said that it added greatly to the pleasure of the people of the United States in the building of the Panama canal to know that the British would profit most by its use."

Senator Chamberlain asked for an immediate consideration of his resolution. It was granted unanimously and the resolution was passed without debate.

WILSON SIGNS BILL FOR ALASKAN ROAD

Measure Authorizes the Expenditure of $35,000,000 There.

Washington, March 12.—President Wilson today signed the bill authorizing the expenditure of $35,000,000 for the construction of a government-owned railroad in Alaska.

MRS. FRANK DEAR DIES.

Wife of Prominent Range Contractor Is Called.

Hibbing, Minn., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Frank Dear, wife of a member of the firm of Winston & Dear, prominent stripping contractors, died suddenly at her home here last night of complications resulting from a cold that developed last Saturday. She was 36, had been married fifteen years, and is survived by her husband and three children, two boys and a girl. She was prominent in the social and civic life of the village, and her death proved a great shock, as few knew she was ill. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon from the home at 2:30 o'clock.

INJURED, CRAWLS THROUGH STORM.

Watersmeet, Mich., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Breaking his leg when he slipped on a rail while walking at night on a railroad track from Iron Belt to a logging camp three miles distant, Frank Adams of Ironwood was saved from death from exposure in a blizzard only by his own heroic exertions. Half the journey had been covered when the accident was suffered. The temperature was 25 deg. below zero and a gale from the northwest was driving a snowstorm before it. Adams crawled the one and one-half miles on his hands and knees, all the time suffering agonizing pain and especially when the helpless leg struck an obstruction. His hands and feet were frozen when he finally arrived at the camp.

KILL GIANT WOLVES.

Two Huge Brutes Are Slain in Northern Michigan.

Channing, Mich., March 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two timber wolves trapped recently in widely separated districts were each so extraordinarily large as to lead to the claim that none of so great a size had before ever been killed in Upper Michigan. One was the prize of Lawrence Christom of Mathias, Alger county. This wolf measured seven feet from nose to tip of tail and apparently had attained a considerable age. It had tried to free itself by gnawing off its paw and had almost severed the foot when the trapper appeared. Four bullets ended the animal's career. A wolf killed in Dickinson county by Louis and Henry Letterman of Sagola was still bigger. From tip to tip, it measured seven and one-half feet. The wolf had been caught by its hind foot and had broken the chain and dragged the heavy trap for many miles. The men followed the tracks for two days, camping on the trail at night, before succeeding in shooting the animal. An incident of the chase was the discovery of the carcasses of two large buck deer, with antlers interlocked. The deer evidently had died fighting.

WHEAT WEAK AT THE CLOSE

Market Softens Near the Finish on Heavy Selling Pressure Appearing.

Flaxseed Is Steady in Sympathy With Higher Foreign Prices.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 12.—Weakness developed in the market at the close on liberal offerings. May wheat closed ½c off and July ½c off. May durum closed ¼c off and July ¼c off.

Oats closed ¼c off at 36⅝c. Rye closed unchanged at from 53c to 55c for the best grades. There was no market in barley.

At Winnipeg May oats closed at 36⅝c bid and July at 37¾c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 90c asked and calls at 90½c bid.

Wheat held steady today on light trading and in face of lower Liverpool cables. The day's news was generally on the bearish order. The weakness at Liverpool was brought about through poor consumptive demand, freer offers from Russia, and the late Argentine wheat arrivals being of much better quality than had been looked for.

New York wired that cables were fair out of line, and Boston reported three Liverpool sailings for the next ten days as having been cancelled.

News from over the winter wheat territory was encouraging, the plant being advised to be in good shape in Southwestern Missouri and Southwestern Kansas. Seeding is said to be general down there now, with a large acreage going into oats.

It is officially reported that the total acreage under wheat in India is 4,000,000 acres less than last year, and it is noted that shipments from there are now merely nominal, being only 65,000 bu this week.

A bullish factor in the domestic situation came in a sharp falling off in primary receipts. They were 300,000 bu less today than a year ago. The movement at Minneapolis also appears to have spent itself for the time being, amounting today to 142 cars against 304 last year. Millers down there are now getting more anxious for supplies, as shown in the raising of the cash premium over May 1c.

Country markettings in the Northwest have dropped off and as a result receipts here are again running light, inspections amounting to 22 cars today against 77 last year. There were just 50 cars of all grains on the track for the day.

Receipts at Winnipeg are picking up. The bulk of the grain arriving there is reported to be elevator-run and considerable of it is going into the hands of millers who have been good buyers during the last few days.

May wheat opened unchanged at 92c and gained ⅛c during the first three hours' business. The July option opened unchanged at 93c and held at around that figure. May durum opened unchanged at 90⅞c and gained ⅛c.

Flaxseed ruled firm at around yesterday's price up till the close, when it eased off fractionally. Offerings were light and there was fair bidding for everything coming out.

Bullish sentiment was imparted through the increasing strength in the foreign situation, with advancing quotations in all the markets.

At Buenos Aires today the seed closed ½c up, while the close at Antwerp was 1¼c up and at London ½d up.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.59½ and it closed ¼c off at $1.59¼. The July option opened unchanged at $1.61¼ and closed ¼c off at $1.61 bid.

At Winnipeg May flax closed at $1.39⅛ and July at $1.45⅞ bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

The Minneapolis cash market was stronger with a good demand for all the top grade offerings. One northern blue stem sold at from 1@2½c over May, and velvet chaff at from 1@1½c over May. Premiums were up ½c cent. Flour sales were still reported light. Cash one northern wheat sold there at from 91¾c to 92¼c and No. 2 northern at from 89¾c to 91½c.

Baker received the following wire from Coffeyville, Kan.: "Southwestern Missouri and Southeastern Kansas wheat are in fine shape; excellently stooled, well rooted, soil compact and no heaving. A large acreage is going into oats. They have a good seed bed."

Omaha reported sales of 200,000 bu cash corn over night at prices 1c over the previous night.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Easier closing of American and Winnipeg markets yesterday caused realizing at the opening and values were ¼@½d lower. Following the opening there was further pressure and March declined an additional ¼d. Russian offers were larger and closed in line with business, and private reports received here referring to the highly favorable American winter outlook. Advices from Russia are becoming less favorable. European offers are steady and India offerings practically nothing, but the dominating factor at the time seems to be the American winter outlook. At 1:30 p. m. the market was dull and easier, ¼@⅜d lower.

"Corn opened with July unchanged and later this month advanced ⅜d on the steadiness of Plate offers, firmness in spot and steadiness in America."

India—Wheat shipments this week are estimated at 65,000 bu, with nothing next week. According to official reports the total acreage under wheat is given as 25,894,000 acres, as compared with 29,542,000 acres last year and 31,141,000 acres two years ago.

"The crop last year was given at 360,840,000 bu and exports for this season to date are 45,344,000 bu. Much plowing is being done in France. Offers of native wheat are smaller and 4d to 6d per quarter dearer, according to Broomhall."

Parker Paine received the following wire from Chicago today: At this time it looks as if the news from the winter wheat states west of the river will make prices. The May contracts lack snap because of the absence of export demand. The best buying yesterday was in new crop month. There is likely to be a temporary reaction before buyers take hold. Even leaders in corn are conceding that the dominant factor in wheat at this time is the condition of the big American winter crop."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Rallies on Reports of Damage in Kansas.

Chicago, March 12.—Wheat prices rallied today in consequence of Kansas reports that in some places late-sown fields were showing damage to as great an extent as 30 per cent. The market opened the same as last night to ¼c lower, but then made an advance all around.

There were also reports of serious impairment in Randolph county, Illinois. Later, however, estimates of a yield as high as 150,000,000 bu in Kansas tended to ease the market. The close was steady at ¼c to ⅛@⅜c net decline.

Confirmation of liberal sales to the East and of a scarcity of rural offerings helped to develop strength in corn. Opening prices which were a shade to ⅛@¼c lower were followed by a general rise to above last night's level.

Assertions that sales from here to the East must have been under special conditions had a subsequent bearish influence. The close was weak, ⅛@¼c to ⅜c net lower.

Oats sagged owing to absence of demand. There was but little pressure to sell.

Higher prices for hogs steadied provisions. After opening unchanged to shade off, the market gradually hardened.

MILK PRICE IS SET.

Some Farmers Refuse to Sell at Elgin Summer Rates.

Elgin, Ill., March 12.—The average price of $1.84 1-6 per 100 pounds of milk for six summer months was set by dealers this morning when the contract books for the Chicago dairy district opened.

Farmers who made an organized demand for an average price of $1.50½ per 100 pounds, refused to sign contracts in many parts of the district, which includes Northern Illinois, Southern Wisconsin and Western Indiana.

At Elgin, in the heart of the district, there is no fight. In practically every other town in the entire district the farmers are standing firm for their demands.

The price offered this morning by months, follows:

Month	Flat rate.	Maximum.
April	$1.45	$1.55
May	1.20	1.30
June	1.05	1.15
July	1.35	1.45
August	1.50	1.50
Sept.	1.50	1.50

The maximum price will be paid for milk which shows a test of 3.8 or better.

The flat rate price is the same as first offered last year. Farmers refused to sign under those figures and manufacturers were forced to raise the average to $1.40 5-6.

Leaders of the farmers' organization believe they will be able to force an advance in price.

MOVEMENT DOWNWARD

Stocks Are Dull and Prices Drop Under Foreign Selling.

Canadian Pacific Under Pressure and Loses Three Points.

New York, March 12.—The short interest having been reduced on the midweek rise, the market sagged today. Decreasing commercial activity in various lines and shading of prices for steel products depressed sentiment and the list was sensitive to bear selling.

Renewed foreign selling and further liquidation of low-priced railroad shares, also operated against the market. Trading was dull throughout the morning and only a few stocks were noticeably under pressure, but the market showed no recuperative powers. At noon, losses among the prominent shares ranged from small fractions to more than a point. Bonds were heavy.

American Sugar opened a point off today at 97, the lowest price in six years. Rock Island preferred made a new low record at 7. The general list receded fractionally. Canadian Pacific, Smelting and New Haven lost a point each.

Influential shares continued heavy, which restrained pool operations in the specialties. Sugar fluctuated over a range of a point and was in demand at times from the short faction.

European selling was the main influence in the weakness of low-priced shares, but moderate amounts of Steel and Union Pacific were also sold by foreign representatives. Selling of Pennsylvania accelerated the downward movement of the general list when the afternoon session began. Rock Island securities all sought lower levels, the collateral bonds breaking through forty. Reduction in the American Express dividend was reflected in a drop of four points in the stock. United States Express also gave way 2½.

Weakness of minor coppers shares and some well known bonds presented the only features of the late afternoon market.

The market closed steady. European selling of Canadian Pacific continued until long after the usual time for the suspension of arbitrage business, and the stock lost 3 points. Fractional recoveries were general in the final dealings.

FEW HOUSES ARE VACANT

Scarcity of Empty Flats Also Reported By Realty Men.

Modern Apartments Are Never Long Without Tenants This Spring.

Duluth, the city without empty houses.

Such may be the new advertising name for this city and it would be justly and rightly named.

According to several real estate men, there are fewer empty houses and flats for rent in Duluth today than at any time in the last five years. Those that are empty, and they are very few, the real estate dealers say are for the most part vacant because they lack modern improvements or are not properly repaired and in a condition for rental.

James Cromwell, manager of the Massachusetts Real Estate company, one of the largest rental agencies in the city, said this morning that from his observations, as soon as a house or flat that is modernly improved, is put on the market, it readily finds a renter.

Not in the five years has Duluth experienced such a condition, and many are inclined to believe that this is but the beginning and that within the next few years hundreds of new houses and flats will be needed to meet the demands. There is no doubt in the minds of real estate men that the population is constantly increasing.

Local van companies report very little moving and this is partly accounted for by the fact that people find no place to move to. The van people say they are daily asked to keep on the watch for vacant houses. The spring moving usually begins about May 1.

A glance at the want ad columns in The Herald for the last month shows constant inquiries for houses and flats. A few vacant houses are advertised, and almost as soon as the advertisements appear in The Herald, they are answered by some anxious resident who is desirous of making a change.

TRY THREE FOR ROBBERY

First of Quintet Taken in New Duluth Case Face Court.

Isaac Neguin, George Yurcovich and Peter Kaich, three of the five men who were jointly indicted by the March grand jury on a charge of highway robbery, were brought to trial before Judge Dancer and a district court jury this morning. County Attorney Warren E. Greene is directing the prosecution and the prisoners are being defended by Austin Lathers.

Mike Oblin and Daniel Koruga, the remainder of the quintet, who were indicted for an alleged robbery on Commonwealth avenue, New Duluth, on the evening of Feb. 20 last, will be brought to trial as soon as the cases against Neguin, Yurcovich and Kaich are disposed of. Attorney E. J. Kinney will appear for Oblin and Koruga.

William Downes, who with Rudolph Baich was waylaid by five gangsters and relieved of $6, in court this morning pointed out Neguin, Yurcovich and Kaich as the men who had assaulted and robbed him. It is alleged that Baich, his companion, was knocked down and robbed of about $9.50 by the two other men, Oblin and Koruga.

Downes, on the witness stand, testified that Baich and himself met the five men in the Last Chance saloon on Commonwealth avenue just before closing time. Although they were strangers, they were invited to join in a friendly glass, he said.

The five men left the saloon first and, according to the story told by Downes, the five men who had been in the saloon a few moments before, attacked Baich and himself and robbed them at the Missabe bridge.

The next day the men were arrested after they had been identified by Downes and Baich. Downes said that shortly before he procured their arrest he came to the Last Chance saloon and there found the three men who had waylaid him. He alleges that one of the three recognized him and gave the others a tip to leave. All five were shortly afterward taken into custody.

CROSSES BAY TO ENTER HOSPITAL

Man Picked Up in Duluth Is Returned to Superior.

Released from St. Mary's hospital in Superior about a week ago and believing that he still needs medical attention, John Carmichael, 44 years old, walked across the ice-covered bay late yesterday afternoon, bound for a hospital here. He was found wandering about on Garfield avenue early in the evening by Joseph Landry of 1131 Garfield avenue, who took the sick man to his home and gave him some food.

A little later Landry called up police headquarters and told the police of the man's condition. Carmichael was then brought to the station, where he was given lodging for the night.

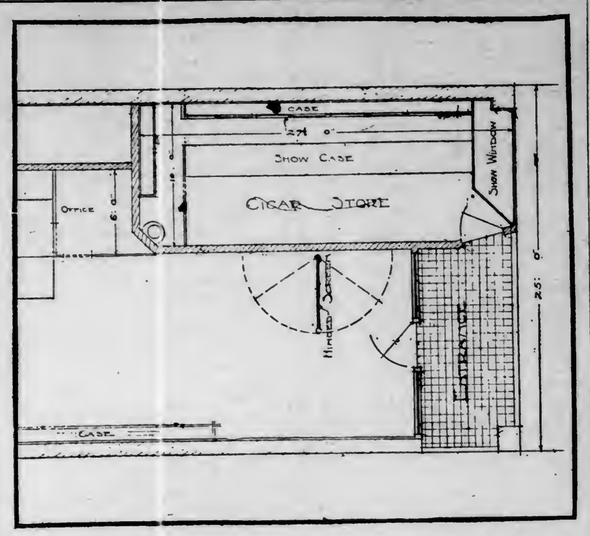

This morning Carmichael's case was referred to the poor commissioner and after an examination by Police Surgeon Murphy, it was decided to send Carmichael back to Superior. He will be taken to a hospital there, should the authorities across the bay find it necessary.

START ELECTRIFYING MILWAUKEE ROAD.

Butte, Mont., March 12.—Electrical engineers are assembling here for organization by C. A. Goodnow, assistant to President A. J. Earling of the Milwaukee road, to start work on the electrification of the line from Three Forks to Deer Lodge, a distance of about 115 miles.

This will constitute the first electrical unit of the Milwaukee system, and it is expected to have it electrified and in operation by Jan. 1.

REMODELING SALOONS TO COMPLY WITH HICKEN CODE

SKETCH SHOWING HOW SALOON MAY BE REMODELED.

Considerable interest is being shown in the drawing which has been prepared for Safety Commissioner William A. Hicken to illustrate how saloons with cigar stores in front may be remodeled to conform to the requirements of the Hicken code. The section affecting cigar stores or other establishments so located becomes effective May 1 and all who can do so are making arrangements to enable them to continue in business without seeking other quarters.

The ordinance provides that no room in which a saloon is located shall be more than six feet wider in the rear than in the front. This was originally intended to allow for stairways in the front, but where the buildings can be changed so that this provision will not be violated, the cigar stores or other business will be able to continue in their present stands.

The drawing pictures a typical arrangement. The cigar store has a frontage of ten feet and has no door or entrance connecting with the saloon. In order that the room shall not be more than six feet wider in the rear than in the front, a partition, reaching from the floor to the ceiling is run from the rear of the cigar store to the end of the room, four feet in from the wall. This four feet of space is wasted. The back bar is placed against the partition and the bar proper is pushed out, the inside flush with the projected line of the inside wall of the cigar store. The only entrance to the saloon is the front door. Swinging screens are provided in the front of the saloon. These will shut off a view of the bar during business hours, but between 11 p. m. and 5 a. m. and on Sundays they will be pushed back against the wall. This will afford a clear view of the saloon during legal closing hours, as required by the Hicken code.

A considerable part of the saloons will be able to so remodel their places, following this general idea, that the cigar stores, jewelry stores or employment offices in front of them will not be forced out of business. One is now being changed and others are having their plans prepared. A few are so built that it is considered impossible for them to come within the provisions of the ordinance, and where this is the case either the cigar store, or whatever chances to be in front, or the saloon, will have to quit operations or seek new locations.

MOTOR CARS RUIN THE SKIN

Oily Smoke From Gas Engines and Massage Parlors Do More Harm to a Woman's Face Than Anything Else, Dr. Eugenia Hancock Says.

Marguerite Mooers Marshall in the New York Evening World: A steam-heated complexion is the latest esthetic ailment of the American woman. Alyn Williams, a distinguished English miniature painter, has discovered it. Because our women do not keep their domiciles at the barn-like temperature of an Englishman's home they have bad complexions. Because they have bad complexions, they just miss being the world's most beautiful specimens of femininity. Thus is laid the train of Mr. Williams' logic.

"The Irish girl has the best skin in the world," he observed the other day. "The English girl comes next. The American woman has the beauty of her English sister and the vivacity of the Parisian, but she lacks a good complexion."

Wait a bit, however, before you turn off all the radiators or migrate over seas. Mr. Williams is apparently better at noting an effect than at tracing it to its first cause. The American woman who has had a bad skin cannot hang her responsibility therefor on steam pipes. Mere temperature has comparatively little to do with facial roses and lilies. There are many degrees of hot and cold in the United States, but wherever a woman lives, she may have a good complexion if she knows how to care for it properly.

Motor Cars Are Worse.

And there's nothing the least bit baneful about steam heat, according to Dr. Eugenia Hancock, one of the busiest of New York's women physicians. When I showed Mr. Williams' warning to Dr. Hancock in her home at 224 West Fifty-second street, she threw back her pretty dark head and laughed.

"I hope he goes to California if he thinks American women have bad complexions," she commented. "I was born and brought up in that state, and I know what particularly lovely skins its feminine citizens have.

"But with the exception of a few of the hottest, dryest days in summer, the climate of New York is most kindly to the complexion. Also the steam heat used in the buildings is helpful rather than injurious, because it increases the moisture of the atmosphere. The only two local products which ruin complexions whenever they are given the opportunity to do so are smoking motor cars and massage parlors.

"Fifth avenue will do more harm to a woman's skin than any other street in the city. The oily smoke from the motor cars on that thoroughfare damages more than they realize the well-to-do women out for their afternoon drive or stroll. They can wear veils, of course, but the wearer of a veil heavy enough to be of any real protection is forced to breathe in continually the noxious gases which she has exhaled. So I can't advise veils, except possibly a light, wide-meshed affair donned solely to keep the hair tidy."

"That sounds sensible," I remarked. "But what's the matter with massage? I thought that was the great complexion saver?"

Massage Ruins the Complexion.

"Massage is a very bad thing," Dr. Hancock pronounced impressively. "The effect to improve the skin should commence inside, not outside. As a matter of fact, massage hastens the very evil it is intended to correct, for it actually brings wrinkles. There is a delicate little tissue which draws together the skin cells of the face and keeps them firm. By a succession of violent rubbings this tissue is broken down and destroyed, so that there are left flabby, sagging areas of skin in which wrinkles will form almost at once. This effect is particularly obvious around the eyes of women who have had many massage treatments.

"I have seen an old washerwoman with a firmer, clearer, rosier skin than that of a rich woman whose face has been rubbed and steamed and elaborately protected for years.

"The first and most important thing is to keep the face clean," Dr. Hancock itemized. "A woman should always wash her face carefully before going to bed. She should use tepid water, a soft cloth and a very mild soap. New York water is soft enough to be used on the skin without harm, unless it is combined with the wrong sort of soap. If a woman lives in an apartment house it is better to use water from the hydrant than that which has passed through the more or less greasy boiler of the house.

"The face should never be wiped with a rough towel, but a soft Turkish towel is excellent. The process of wiping should be a soft, steady pressure rather than a violent rubbing, which is likely to make the skin harsh and dry. The face should never be allowed to get so dirty that a severe rubbing is necessary to cleanse it.

"A clean face reposes and relaxes during the night, like the rest of the body. Sleep and the soft whiteness of pillows are good for the skin, and in the morning another gentle bathing will star the day well.

Rice Powder Is Hygienic.

"It is a hygienic measure to dust the face lightly with rice powder before going on the street. The powder serves as a real protection against wind and sun. Also the impurities of the atmosphere mingle with the powder, instead of going deep into the skin, and are therefore removed much more readily.

"As regards rouge," Dr. Hancock added with a laugh, "I think its use depends upon what one's male admirers think. I have known men to admire a woman's complexion so greatly that when they discovered art had aided nature they wanted art to continue its work.

"I believe a woman has not only a right but a duty to make the best of herself, to look as much like a flower as possible. She ought to do whatever she can to produce the desired effect.

"Of course, one should be very careful to select harmless powders and cold creams that are not acid. I do not believe that cold cream should ever be left on the face for any period of time. It clogs up the pores and prevents them from breathing. It should be rubbed on only when the skin seems to be dry, and should be wiped off again at once.

"Please let it be understood that I strongly disapprove cosmetics. Also, young girls should let them severely alone. Only the other day I heard a man lamenting the fact that we never now see the little girl with her fresh, unartificial complexion and her hair in a braid. And the makeup that she assumes is so ridiculous, a gaslight effect under the noonday sun!

Don't Apply Steam Directly.

"By the way," Dr. Hancock suddenly branched off, "though steam heat in rooms does no harm to the skin, it should not be applied more directly. The fad taken up a few years ago of steaming the face with hot towels is directly harmful. The pores are enlarged, and therefore an additional chance of entrance is given to impurities and germs.

"In connection with cleanliness, a hygienic life will help to put and keep the skin in good healthy condition. The diet should be regular, simple, not too abundant and not overladen with sweets. Alcohol in any form should be given small place, but plenty of fresh water should be drunk. Every woman should sleep with her window open, top and bottom, and she should take plenty of exercise. I see no harm in a moderate amount of the new dancing, and a daily walk combines exercise and fresh air."

Apparently steam pipes blight only the beauty who never moves outside their caloric radius.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR CEMENT.

Consul W. W. Masterson, Harput, Turkey: In this country, where cemena is not used or hardly known, a substitute has been found that has met with rather good results when applied in exposed places, in filling crevices in water pipes, covering joints in stone floors, in fountains, and for numerous other purposes where cement would be required. The mixture is as satisfactory in water as in exposed places, but it must be allowed to become thoroughly dry before it is submerged.

The mixture is slaked lime, linseed oil, and cotton fiber. Generally a hollowed-out stone is used, although a flat, hard surface will answer, and the process is started by pouring the oil on a handful of cotton, after which the lime is dusted in. It is then kneaded until the whole is thoroughly mixed and about the consistency of dough. The more it is kneaded the better it becomes.

This compound has undergone a severe endurance test at this consulate. Two years ago the stone floor in the balcony on the north side of the house leaked in several places and rotted the woodwork supporting the balcony. The floor was finally taken up, new timber added, and the stone flags again put down. Between each stone this mixture was forced in and smoothed over the joints. It took several days for hardening, the oil spread out on the stones for about half an inch from each joint, leaving a slight mark, but the compound soon hardened like cement, and today the surface over the part where the stones are joined is as hard and smooth and water-tight as if cement had been used.

BORROWER CAME BACK.

Kansas City Star: Late in the afternoon a poor old back number "hog man" stood at the side of one of the agents in the Exchange building.

"It's a long ways home," he said, "and I haven't a nickel for car fare. Let me have a dime. I'll return it Saturday."

"All right," said the agent, handing out the money, never thinking of that far-away "Saturday," but he was mistaken. Some weeks later at about the same hour he came, asking:

"Are you the man I got a dime from for car fare one day?"

The smiling agent answered that he was.

"I thought so. Let me have another." And he got it.

LEGAL NOTICES.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF ST. LOUIS—
District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.
John Sterle, administrator of the estate of Joe Moshe, deceased, Plaintiff, vs.
Oliver Iron Mining Company, a corporation, Defendant.

To Annie Moshe, widow of said deceased, and Annie Moshe, daughter of said deceased, heirs at law and next of kin of decedent, Joe Moshe; Edgar Prochink, Imperial and Royal Consul for Austria-Hungary; Fidelity & Deposit Company of Maryland, and all other persons interested in the estate of Joe Moshe, deceased:

Pursuant to an order of the above named District Court, duly made and filed in the above entitled matter, notice is hereby given you:

That the undersigned, John Sterle, as administrator of the estate of Joe Moshe, deceased, has in his possession a sum of money received by him as damages on account of the wrongful death of said decedent;

That an application has been made to the District Court of St. Louis County, Eleventh Judicial District of Minnesota, for an order allowing and adjusting all fees and expenses in connection with the collection and distribution of said fund, determining the lawful heirs and next of kin of the decedent, and other persons entitled to share in the distribution of said fund, as creditors or otherwise, and authorizing and directing the undersigned representative to distribute said fund in accordance with such determination.

That said application will be brought on for hearing before said court at a special term thereof, to be held in the Court House in Duluth, Minnesota, on the 18th day of April, 1914, at 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, at which time and place all persons interested in the distribution of said fund may assert their claims, and will be heard therein.

Dated this 10th day of March, A. D. 1914.

JOHN STERLE,
Administrator of the estate of Joe Moshe, deceased.
By THEO. HOLLISTER, His Attorney.
THEO. HOLLISTER, Attorney.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION —OF THE— DULUTH MANUFACTURING COMPANY.

For the purpose of forming a manufacturing corporation pursuant to the Laws of the State of Minnesota, the undersigned have adopted, subscribed and acknowledged the following certificate of incorporation.

Article 1. The name of the corporation shall be DULUTH MANUFACTURING COMPANY. Its principal place of business shall be Duluth, Minnesota.

Article 2. The general nature of the business of the corporation shall be to make, manufacture and deal and trade in any and all kinds of machinery, engines, boilers, dynamos, generators, pumps, rolling stock, and any and all kinds of implements, mechanical apparatus, tools, appliances, and utensils, fixtures and supplies; to contract with others for the manufacturing thereof; to purchase, lease or otherwise acquire lands and buildings for the erection and establishment of factories and workshops, with suitable plans, engines and machinery; to sell, export and otherwise deal in, either directly or indirectly, through the medium of agents or otherwise, all articles and products manufactured, and also to apply for, purchase or otherwise acquire, hold, utilize and deal in patents and patent rights and privileges, and to grant licenses for the using, selling or otherwise dealing in any patent or patent rights and privileges acquired by the Company.

Article 3. The names and places of residence of the persons forming this Corporation are as follows:

Charles H. Glover, George Coleman, John H. McGillivray, William L. Jackson and John Heitmann, all of Duluth, Minnesota.

Article 4. The period of the duration of the Corporation shall be thirty (30) years.

Article 5. The government of the said corporation shall be vested in a Board of five Directors, all of whom must be stockholders, and who shall be elected at the annual meeting of the Stockholders. Said Directors shall elect a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer. The annual meeting of the Stockholders shall be held on the third Monday in March, each year, at such place and hour as may be determined by the By-Laws of the corporation. Those composing the first Board of Directors until the first election and until their successors have qualified, are the above named incorporators.

Article 6. The amount of the capital stock of the corporation shall be Fifty Thousand ($50,000) Dollars, divided into Five Thousand (5,000) shares of the par value of Ten ($10.00) Dollars per share. The same shall be paid in to the corporation as the Board of Directors shall determine.

Article 7. The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which the corporation shall at any time be subject shall be the sum of Fifty Thousand ($50,000) Dollars.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, We, the said incorporators, have subscribed these articles of incorporation this 10th day of March, 1914.

CAR THIEVES KILL ENGINEER AND WOUND THREE IN ILLINOIS

Three Are Captured Shortly Afterward By Pursuers.

One Victim of Robbers' Bullets Is Likely to Die.

Arthur Fisher of Escanaba Is the Murdered Man.

Peoria, Ill., March 13.—Freight car thieves early today killed one man and wounded three others when surprised at work near Manlius, Ill., forty-five miles north of Peoria.

Two of the thieves were wounded and captured by a posse from Langley and Princeton. The officers still were searching for two more members of the band when word of the shooting reached here.

The victims of the robbers were Arthur Fisher, a Chicago & Northwestern railroad freight engineer, who was killed; Bert Skoglund, a deputy sheriff of Bureau county, fatally wounded; Leslie Beyer, son of the sheriff, wounded in the leg, and the fireman of the freight train, also shot in the leg.

Surprised Gang at Work.

The shooting occurred about 4 o'clock this morning. The conductor and the brakeman of the freight train on the Northwestern railroad surprised the gang while they were pitching merchandise out of a train near Manlius. The train was stopped and the men jumped from the freight cars. They ordered the conductor and brakeman back into the caboose, and demanded that Engineer Fisher detach the engine from the train and proceed down the track. He wavered in meeting the request and was shot through the head. He died instantly. The fireman was shot through the leg.

The station agent at Manlius telegraphed Princeton, in Bureau county,

THREE ARE DEAD IN BRIDGEPORT FIRE

Terrified People Have to Be Forced to Leave Building.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 13.—Fire in a six-family tenement house here early today caused the death of three men, may result in the death of a fourth, and endangered the lives of six other persons. The dead are:

JAMES STAFFO.
GEORGE KOCOLLA.
JOHN KATRICE.

The fire broke out in the basement and ate its way rapidly up through the partitions. The dead men were found suffocated and burned in a small sleeping room on the first floor. The fourth man, who is at the hospital in a serious condition, was found unconscious on the second floor.

Had to Drive Inmates Out.

When the occupants were awakened by the police they rushed panic-stricken about the building, but made no effort to leave it, and had to be driven forcibly to the street by a large force of police. The loss by fire was not heavy.

It was a coincidence that last night A. H. Bullard, a former fire commissioner of this city, in an address before a local organization, criticized strongly Bridgeport's fire prevention laws, saying that such laws as existed were not worth printing, and that while the fire chief might make suggestions to citizens as to fire prevention about their premises, he could not compel the carrying out of the suggestions.

SCOFFS AT OFFER OF WORK ON FARMS

I. W. W. Leader Tells Unemployed Men to Stay in New York.

New York, March 13.—Within a few hours from the time the free labor bureau of the state department of agriculture closed for the day after making plans to send jobless men to state farms, several hundred of the unemployed gathering at an open air meeting last night heard the efforts of Governor Glynn to give them work denounced.

"The governor tells us there is work for us to do on the farms of the state," said Joseph O'Carroll, a leader of the Industrial Workers of the World. "In reply, I tell the governor to go hoe the ground himself. We want none of it. If there is any decent work, paying a man's wages, I and you are here to get that work, and we will grasp the opportunity. Shoveling snow and planting potatoes are not in our line."

MISSISSIPPI RIVER ICE IS BREAKING UP.

Winona, Minn., March 13.—The Mississippi river is breaking its winter fetters. The river is clear of ice from the foot of Lake Pepin to Betsy Slough, three miles above Winona. It started today to move out immediately below this city, and soon will be clear all the way up to Lake Pepin.

SEEK TO IMPROVE USE OF ENGLISH.

New York, March 13.—In an effort to improve the spelling and the grammar of public school pupils, the city department of education has asked all businessmen and manufacturers who receive letters of application from public school graduates containing flagrant errors to send such letters to the office of the school superintendent.

ASKS WILSON TO FREE ALL

Dynamiters' Attorney Has Petition to Present to the President.

Smythe of Peoria Already Is Back at Leavenworth Prison.

Chicago, March 13.—An application for pardon for the men convicted in the dynamite conspiracy trials in Indianapolis will be presented in a few days to President Wilson. Attorney Elijah N. Zoline, counsel for most of the defendants, announced today that he would soon present to President Wilson an application for pardon.

A mandate by the United States court of appeals, either returning the convicted men to the penitentiary at Leavenworth or sending them to the Federal district court in Indiana, it was declared today, would probably be held in abeyance until the reviewing court rules on the motion of the prosecution for a rehearing of the six appeals in which a new trial was granted.

One Already in Prison.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 13.—The certified copy of the judgment of the United States supreme court in the dynamite case, decided last Monday, was received by United States District Attorney Frank C. Dailey here today. Mr. Dailey immediately forwarded it to the court of appeals at Chicago for such action and orders as the court desires to make.

It is the understanding here that the court of appeals will remand the convicted men to Fort Leavenworth penitentiary, for when the case was appealed from the district court it passed out of the hands of the court here.

Edward Smythe of Peoria, Ill., one of the twenty-four men who were denied a new trial by the ruling of the supreme court, has reported voluntarily to Fort Leavenworth and begun serving his sentence, according to news dispatches received here.

PREPARE TO WIND UP THE U. S. EXPRESS

New York, March 13.—The directors of the United States Express company met here today to make official decision as to the future of the company. It was expected that the meeting would complete the plans already made for winding up the company's affairs.

The liquidating committee, as agreed upon early in the day, consisted of Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, and a representative and adviser of the Harriman interests, William A. Read, W. Averill Harriman, Eugene Delano and Haley Fisk.

The late E. H. Harriman bought more than 22,000 shares of United States Express company stock from the Adams and American Express companies, and his estate holds about half of the total issue of 100,000 shares.

JUDGES TO PASS ON STERILIZATION LAW

Council Bluffs, Iowa, March 13.—Judge Smith McPherson of the United States district court today announced that Judge Walter I. Smith of Council Bluffs, judge of the United States circuit court of appeals, District Judge John C. Pollock of Kansas City, and himself would officiate at the final hearing in Council Bluffs, March 21, of the appeal of the convicts from the Iowa state penitentiary at Fort Madison from the sterilization law enacted by the last legislature, and which was recently ordered by the state board of control of state institutions to be put into effect. An injunction issued by Judge McPherson acts as a stay in the execution of the law until its legality is passed on.

PAGE QUERIED BY HIS CHIEF

Bryan Cables Ambassador to Explain Words in London.

Diplomat Says Extreme Condensation of Speech Caused Trouble.

London, March 13.—Ambassador Walter Hines Page today received from Secretary of State Bryan notification of the United States senate action in regard to his speech on the Panama canal and the Monroe doctrine, delivered before the Association of Chambers of Commerce on Wednesday.

The secretary of state requested the ambassador to cable an explanation of the speech, and Mr. Page immediately began the preparation of his reply.

After reading fuller accounts of the proceedings in the senate, Ambassador Page came to the conclusion that the senators had been misled by the excessive condensation of his remarks in regard to his interpretation of the Monroe doctrine.

Made Audience Laugh.

Mr. Page declared that he had distinctly said that the United States would object to or prohibit any European power from taking more territory in the New World, and then in concluding had said, amid the laughter of the audience:

"So you see that the United States would prefer that no European powers should gain more territory in the New World."

The ambassador's remarks, he declared, had been too greatly condensed. When referring to the Panama canal, he had said that Great Britain would profit most from the canal because she owned the great bulk of the world's shipping.

STORM OFF MOROCCO WRECKS 43 VESSELS

Hurricane at Melilla Is Increasing in Violence.

Melilla, Morocco, March 13.—Forty-three ships lie wrecked today on the shores in the vicinity of this port, having been driven on the rocks and shoals by a terrific hurricane which started yesterday. The wrecked vessels include five steamers and thirty-eight sailing craft.

The storm increased in violence today and a number of large vessels put to sea to avoid being smashed against the jetties.

MANN ACT VIOLATOR IS GIVEN SIXTY DAYS

Court Finds Wife Left Him and He Will Remarry.

Council Bluffs, Iowa, March 13.—Claude Henninger, who entered a plea of guilty to violating the Mann white slave act in transporting Madie Adams from Allentown, Pa., to Missouri Valley, Iowa, was sentenced to serve sixty days in the county jail at Logan, Iowa. The court was lenient with the young man when it was shown that his wife had left him and he and the girl came to Iowa to make their home and marry when Henninger had secured a divorce.

PEACE FUNDS' USE IS AIRED

Senate Lobby Committee Hears of Canal Tolls Campaign.

De Knight, Who Used McCumber Frank, Is Taken Ill.

Washington, March 13.—Activities of Andrew Carnegie's endowment for international peace in favor of a repeal of the Panama tolls exemption were brought out before the senate lobby committee today in the testimony of James Brown Scott, secretary of the foundation.

It was developed that the endowment expended thousands of dollars in a campaign for education. Scott testified that more than 1,000,000 copies of a pamphlet urging repeal, under date of March 15, 1913, were distributed. The endowment also distributed, Dr. Scott testified, 715,000 copies of Senator Root's speech urging the repeal.

Used Root's Frank.

Senator Walsh brought out that there was an allotment of $23,000 for circulation of Panama canal literature, and that 715,000 copies of Senator Root's speech had been sent out by the endowment under the senator's frank. Mr. Scott said the order of the executive committee directing this action had been taken in Senator Root's absence.

"This is a peace society, isn't it?" demanded Reed.

"It is," answered Scott.

"Just what has it to do with Panama tolls questions?"

"Its business is to smooth out misunderstandings."

"And to yield to other nations?" asked Senator Reed.

"You will find no yielding to other nations in our attitude," Scott declared.

Signers of Pamphlet.

The pamphlet issued by "members of the board of trustees of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace," under date of March 15 last, was signed by Joseph H. Choate, Andrew D. White, Charles W. Eliot, John L. Cadwalader, Elihu Root, Luke E. Wright, Charlemagne Tower, R. S. Woodward, Austen G. Fox, J. G. Schmidlapp, Robert S. Brookings, Oscar S. Straus, Samuel Mather, James Speyden, Charles S. Taylor, Henry S. Pritchett, William M. Howard, Cleveland H. Dodge, Robert A. Franks,

BAD CHECK MAN IS KILLED IN ESCAPING

Two Eastern Women Are Widowed By California Killing.

Philadelphia, March 13.—The police of this city today were notified by the sheriff of Marion county, California, that John H. Davis, known as Daval, and also as Andrews, of Philadelphia, was shot and killed last night while attempting to break jail. The sheriff requested that Davis' mother be notified.

Davis, who was 27 years old, was arrested at a fashionable hotel here several months ago while on his honeymoon, charged with passing a worthless check. His bride was a young woman of Savannah, Ga., who was left penniless here after his arrest. Davis was turned over to the police of San Rafael, Cal., where he was wanted on the charge of passing bad checks.

Davis had another wife here, who, the police said was deserted by him six years ago.

"FIRETRAPS" BEING FOUND

Three St. Louis Lodging Houses and One Theater Condemned.

Twenty-four Bodies Recovered From Fire Ruins--Fifteen Identified.

St. Louis, Mo., March 13.—The coroner's inquiry into the Missouri Athletic club fire in which thirty or more lives were lost last Monday was begun here this morning. Miss Adelaide Mason, a dancer with a light opera company now playing here, has been summoned as the first witness, to tell how she discovered the fire while waiting in the club lobby for a taxicab at 2 a. m., the morning of the fire.

The municipal assembly separate inquiry also continued today, with the testimony of sworn witnesses.

The fire department, after one day's search for other fire traps, today named three large downtown lodging houses on the unsafe list. At yesterday's hearings before the joint committee of the municipal assembly it was brought out by H. C. Henley, chief of the fire prevention bureau, that the largest and incidentally the oldest theater in the city was a fire trap.

Fifteen Bodies Identified.

This morning fifteen of the twenty-four bodies which had been dug out of the ruins were identified. The revised list of identified dead follows:

KINSER, WILLIAM J., treasurer of Kinser Construction company, East St. Louis, Ill.

WILLIAMS, E. P., banker, New York.

BIER, MARSHALL, fur dealer, St. Louis.

ERD, WILLIAM E., real estate dealer, East St. Louis.

KESSLER, EDWIN C., cashier Ludlow Saylor Wire company, St. Louis.

REILLEY, JAMES B., railroad contractor.

RICKEY, JOHN M., Chicago, treasurer Ford Manufacturing company.

THUMA, MICHAEL, clothing firm manager, Chicago.

RUFF, LUCIUS P., department manager Simmons Hardware company, St. Louis.

WRIGHT, THOMAS J., auditor, William J. Lemp Brewing company, St. Louis.

SHYNE, THOMAS B., salesman Underwood Typewriter company, St. Louis.

BORDERS, W. R., president Bank of Sparta, Sparta, Ill.

ALBRIGHT, FRANK W., salesman Rice Stix Dry Goods company, St. Louis.

DOW, ALLEN, buyer for the B. Nugent & Bros.' Dry Goods company, St. Louis.

GOENER, GEORGE, president Holstein Commission company.

Other bodies lie at the morgue, burned almost beyond recognition.

SECRET DIPLOMACY "CURSE OF EUROPE"

London Editor Therefore Praises Frankness of President Wilson.

London, March 13.—President Wilson's message on the Panama canal, considered purely from a literary standpoint, is regarded by Alfred G. Gardiner, editor of the Daily News, as "a classic of which all English-speaking people can be proud." Mr. Gardiner made this statement in an address to the American Luncheon club here today. He continued:

"The greatest evil of Europe today is secret diplomacy. I believe when the history of the time comes to be written, it will be said that the greatest gift America made to the world was that of frank and candid diplomacy."

VILLA B[illegible]RNED BODY OF BE[illegible]ON, IS REPORT AT MEXICAN CAPITAL

BRITONS RESENT HIS GOING TO ENGLAND

H. W. THORNTON,
New York, March 13.—H. W. Thornton is the railroad man whose appointment to the position of general manager of the Great Eastern railway of Great Britain raised such a storm of protest on the other side the water. Mr. Thornton has been general superintendent of the Long Island railroad for some time, and before going there he was with the Pennsylvania railroad. He has a splendid record as a railroad manager. The critics of his appointment were displeased only because Lord Claud Hamilton, chairman of the board of directors of the railroad, was quoted as saying he could not find a good enough man for the vacant job in England.

Mr. Thornton is 42 years old. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania. He is now in this country closing up his affairs preparatory to going to England to live.

KELLEY'S MEN FED BY UNIONS

"Army" of Unemployed Is Not Molested By Authorities.

Are Prepared to Meet Force With Force If Molested.

Sacramento, Cal., March 13.—In spite of the flat ultimatum served yesterday on "General" Kelley's army of the unemployed that it must either get out or be driven out, it seemed probable today that the authorities of Yolo county would not make good their word and that the employment of physical force would be postponed for at least another twenty-four hours.

Sacramento county was responsible for this change in front, its officials refusing today to aid Yolo county in any way. Yolo county accordingly found itself confronted with the problem of subduing 700 embittered men, many of whom carried clubs as well as grievances, with 120 deputy sheriffs and constables, and there was a growing disposition not to force a fight.

The army spent a tranquil night and was in high spirits today. Plenty of food was being supplied by Sacramento labor unions.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.

James Brown Scott of the Carnegie peace endowment testified before the lobby committee.

Senator Owen introduced a separate bill to repeal the Panama tolls exemption.

Voted $300,000 for a municipal hospital here to be named after Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire.

Opposition to the Hughes' bill to restrict the sale of convict-made goods developed at an interstate commerce committee hearing.

HOUSE.

Met at noon.

Debate on agricultural appropriation bill continued.

Merchant marine committee concluded hearings on La Follette seamen's bill.

Foreign affairs committee again considered bill to enforce Canadian boundary fisheries treaty.

Interstate and judiciary committees heard arguments in favor of manufacturers and wholesalers fixing retail prices.

Falcon Joslyn, president of a railroad at Fairbanks, Alaska, told territories committee the Alaskan railroad tax law was virtually confiscatory.

Lieutenant Governor Ingalls of Kansas testified on rural credits before a sub-committee.

Naval committee reported a bill to restore the grades of admiral and vice admiral with increases of pay.

Carranza Is Said to Have Ordered Arrest of Actual Slayer.

Bauch Is Believed to Have Been Killed By Avila.

Constitutionalist Army Is Closing in From the North.

HABEAS CORPUS FOR REFUGEES IS SOUGHT.

San Antonio, Tex., March 13.—Formal application for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Gen. Mercado, Mexican Federal commander, and 3,600 Mexican Federal troops held at Fort Bliss was filed in Federal court here today.

Mexico City, March 13.—The apparent reluctance of the rebel Gen. Villa to deliver up the body of William S. Benton, who was killed recently at Juarez, has been explained, if messages received here are true. Mexican residents in the North have advised relatives here that when it was believed that Americans would cross the border and get the body, it was burned by order of Gen. Villa.

Maj. Fierro Arrested.

El Paso, Tex., March 13.—Unconfirmed reports received here last night from Americans arriving from Chihuahua to the effect that the Carranza commission had caused the arrest of Maj. Rudolpho Fierro, one of Gen. Villa's subordinate officers, as the slayer of William S. Benton, a British subject, were given credence today by those interested in the case. Fierro's cruelty is a matter of notoriety.

The reports stated that Maj. Fierro is being held on a blind charge for the killing of two Mexican railroad men in a resort at Chihuahua. At the time of Benton's execution it was reported Fierro was in Gen. Villa's office, said to have been the scene of the execution. It is known that the Carranza commission began its investigation

FIVE ARRESTED FOR KANSAS CITY CRIME

Women's Clubs Will Help Prosecute Woman's Assailants.

Kansas City, Mo., March 13.—With the arrest of a fifth man early today, the police say they have all, save one of the six men who last Monday afternoon lured Mrs. Gertrude Shidler, a trained nurse, to a Grand avenue room and attacked her. Four other men identified by Mrs. Shidler as her assailants are held on a statutory charge and will be given preliminary hearing tomorrow.

Following a report that they were preparing to leave the city to avoid testifying at the preliminary hearing, Mrs. Jessie Freeman, keeper of a rooming house, and Miss Grace McGee were arrested.

The Council of Women's Clubs of Kansas City today appointed a committee "to extend all aid possible to Mrs. Shidler in the prosecution of her assailants."

The county prosecutor's office has been flooded with petitions demanding speedy justice.

NEW AFFIDAVIT TO CLEAR FRANK GIVEN

Woman Says She Heard Screams From Factory Basement.

Atlanta, Ga., March 13.—An affidavit further attacking the theory of the state as to the time and place Mary Phagan was killed, was made public here today by counsel for Leo M. Frank of Brooklyn, N. Y., under death sentence for the factory girl's murder.

Mrs. J. B. Simmons, the affiant, alleges that as she was passing the National Pencil factory between 2 and 3 o'clock on the afternoon of April 26, she heard a woman scream. This was two hours later than the time the state contends the murder occurred. The affidavit further declares that the scream came from the factory basement, not from the third floor of the building, where the state charged that Mary Phagan was killed.

At the trial of Frank, the state sought to establish that Mary Phagan was killed on the third floor of the factory, near the office of the accused superintendent, a few minutes past noon.

The affidavit of Mrs. Simmons, it is expected, will be included in the extraordinary motion for a new trial soon to be filed by the Frank attorneys.

TOLLS REPEAL BILL IN THE SENATE, TOO.

Washington, March 13.—To expedite action on the repeal of the Panama tolls exemption, Senator Owen introduced today a repeal bill similar in every respect to the Sims bill pending in the house.

Gibbons Going to Rome.

New Orleans, La., March 13.—Cardinal Gibbons, who is in this city, will sail in May for Italy to make a personal visit to the pope, according to an announcement here. It was explained that 1914 is the year for American prelates to visit the Vatican, and that about 100 will make personal reports.

HOLDING NOON MEETINGS

Dr. Hoffman Will Continue Custom Set By His Predecessor.

Lyceum Theater the Place for the Week of March 23.

Taking the place of Dr. M. S. Rice, who is now in Detroit, Mich., Rev. John W. Hoffman, his successor at the First Methodist church, will this year conduct the noon meetings at the Lyceum theater during the week of March 23.

These meetings are an established feature of Duluth's church program and are usually held each spring. They were inaugurated by Dr. Rice when he was pastor of the First Methodist church and it is now the desire of Dr. Hoffman to continue the program.

The meetings are open to every one and last but forty minutes, during which time a song service is rendered at 12:10 o'clock, followed by the address at 12:30 o'clock. No collection is taken at these meetings.

Dr. Hoffman this morning announced the program of addresses for the meetings, which begin Monday, March 23. The subjects follow: Monday, "View Points;" Tuesday, "Alertness;" Wednesday, "Materials and Use;" Thursday, "An Amazing Word;" Friday, "Throttled Convictions," and Saturday, "Final Alernative."

INSISTS NEW YORK WILL GET GOETHALS

Mayor Mitchel Says He Has Letter From Canal Builder.

New York, March 13.—"Give us these laws and we can and will give you effective and efficient police administration. Give us these laws and we can and will get rid of the 'system.'"

So declared Mayor John Purroy Mitchel in an address at a Press club gathering yesterday, referring to the bills pending at Albany for changes in the laws effecting this city's police.

Mayor Mitchel said he would consider the bills just as important and as essential if Col. George W. Goethals were not to become police commissioner, but the passage of the bills would insure Col. Goethals for the head of the police department, he said, "and I have his word of honor to that effect. He is standing on his word in a letter written to me and nothing has happened to cause him to change his mind."

OPPOSE LA FOLLETTE BILL IN THE HOUSE

Boston and Cleveland Men Appear Before House Committee.

Washington, March 13.—Before the house marine committee, in a discussion of the La Follette seamen's bill, W. H. Crowley, representing the Boston Marine society, an organization of former sea captains, declared most of the sailors of today get better food "than most of us in this room generally get on our own tables."

Supervising Inspector General Uhler of the United States steamboat inspection service denied charges that the steamboat inspectors were inclined to lean toward the vessel owners in their official work. He said the regulations for lifeboats on the Great Lakes vessels were adequate to protect passengers and crew.

Lake Skipper Opposes Bill.

William J. Hunt of Cleveland, a veteran Great Lakes skipper, opposing the seamen's bill, declared that the sailor had dropped from a hardy life with tackle, oilskins and seaboots to a mere creature wearing thin socks, low tan shoes and straw hat. He scornfully told the committee that the sailors of today actually had to be provided with ladders when they paint ships. He said the reason his people did not drill their boat crews during stormy weather was that they did not want to lose men and be prosecuted for it.

LAY BRUTAL MURDER TO INSANE YOUTH.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 13.—The police have preferred a charge of first degree murder against Frank Sticka, 22 years old, arrested in connection with the killing of Mrs. Anna Podogil, aged 40. This action was taken, they said, after they had received a complete confession from Sticka.

Sticka's father, on being summoned to police headquarters, informed the police that his son was insane. The police have ascertained that the boy's dead mother was formerly an inmate of an asylum.

The killing of Mrs. Podogil, who was housekeeper for the elder Sticka, was among the most brutal in local police annals. She was tied to a bedpost Wednesday evening and slowly choked to death. A policeman passing the house heard her screams and rescued her, but she died shortly after being removed to a hospital. Thirty-five distinct wounds were found on the body.

The police say that Sticka complained to them that Mrs. Podogil nagged him about his habits.

NEW MINNESOTA INSURANCE COMPANY.

St. Paul, Minn., March 13.—The Great Northern Insurance company, a $500,000 St. Paul corporation, filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state yesterday and applied to Insurance Commissioner J. A. O. Preus, for permission to sell its stock in Minnesota under the provision of the "blue sky" law enacted by the last legislature and requiring companies to furnish substantial evidence of stability.

The corporators are: John Q. Macintosh, Stillwater, president; George W. La Brand, St. Paul, vice president; David F. Peebles, St. Paul, secretary; Henry McColl, St. Paul, treasurer; John L. Cohoon, St. Paul, and C. L. Maguire, St. Paul.

The company is organized to write fire, marine, automobile property damage and sprinkler leakage insurance.

Fight Compulsory Vaccination.

Butte, Mont., March 13.—Christian Scientists are up in arms over an order from the state board of health directing the vaccination of all school children. F. Schwingel of Great Falls has asked the courts for a writ of injunction to restrain the school officials. Another case is being heard today in the Lewistown courts.

GERMAN MINISTER DEFENDS DUELLING

Says He Would Consider It Bad to Eradicate Army Practice.

Berlin, March 13.—Duelling among officers in the German army was strongly defended today by Lieut. Gen. Erich von Falkenhayn, minister for war, in replying to an interpellation regarding the fatal duel at Metz on Feb. 26, when Lieut. Haage was killed.

The minister for war said duelling was a necessity for the military caste. He made it clear that his efforts to diminish duelling in the army were directed, not against the duel, but toward the restriction of the number of cases in which an encounter was regarded as imperative.

"I personally would consider it a misfortune," he said, "if the conception of personal honor on which the practice of duelling is based should be eradicated.

Admits Offense of Law.

"I admit that duelling is an offense under the laws, both of God and of man, and is an evidence of physical rather than of moral courage. Moreover the penalty is liable to fall on the wronged man. Nevertheless, an officer must be the defender of his own honor, and is entitled to regain his self-esteem, to vindicate his manhood and to repel the imputation of lack of courage by facing his adversary, pistol in hand."

Duelling, according to the minister, is decreasing in Germany.

"There were only twelve duels in 1913," he said, "among the 75,000 active and reserve officers in the German army, but this rate is still too high. The fatal duel at Metz could have been avioded if Lieut. Haage had waited until the court of honor had considered the case; but the officer had felt deeply insulted and refused to do so, with the result that he was killed."

JAPANESE NAVAL FUND IS REDUCED

Lively Debate Precedes Action, and Cabinet Is Criticized.

Tokio, Japan, March 13.—The appropriation for the construction of new ships for the Japanese navy was reduced by the house of peers today by $15,000,000, bringing the figure down to $45,000,000. The reduction was adopted by 240 to 44 votes.

A lively discussion preceded the vote. The cabinet was severely condemned in connection with the recent naval armament scandal, in which several prominent naval officers were alleged to have accepted illicit commissions for influencing the allotment of contracts.

Tsmotsu Murata, a member of the Japanese house of peers, resigned today, in protest against the attitude of the cabinet in connection with the naval scandals.

LET JAPANESE CROSS COUNTRY.

Washington, March 13.—Secretary Bryan has promised the Japanese ambassador, Viscount Chinda, to obtain permission for the passage of 150 Japanese through American territory from El Paso, Texas, to Calexico, on the extreme northwest corner of the Mexican state of Sonora.

These Japanese, reduced to an extremity by lack of work owing to military operations in Northern Mexico, will seek employment as cotton pickers on the west coast. The ambassador made it plain no colonization scheme was involved.

Anaconda Motorman Killed.

Anaconda, Mont., March 13.—In a collision between electric cars, Phillip Callan was killed and Thomas Carlon was seriously injured. Both were motormen. Callan forgot to stop at a siding, and the cars struck on a curve.

GUARANTEE OF BONDS ASKED

Canadian Northern Wants Government Backing for $35,000,000 Loan.

Money Needed to Complete Its Transcontinental System.

As a result of further negotiations, the Canadian Northern railroad has made formal application to the Canadian government for a guarantee of its bonds to the extent of $35,000,000. It is estimated that amount will be sufficient to complete the remaining portions of the company's transcontinental system and enable the opening of the road to traffic by next fall.

The original request of the company was for a straight loan of $25,000,000, but such strenuous opposition developed from the government's own supporters that the idea was abandoned. It is believed that the bond guarantee will be granted, though it will also meet with considerable opposition from some of the Western members of parliament.

To further their projects in Northern Ontario, Mackenzie & Mann are backing up an application just preferred to the Dominion government for the granting of bounties upon iron and steel manufactured from Canadian iron ore. It is claimed that policy would lead to the development of ore deposits located northeast and northwest of Port Arthur and also in the Michipicoten and Sudbury districts. The Algoma Steel company is at present importing a large tonnage of Mesaba range ores for use in the operation of its furnaces at the Canadian Soo.

In the event of iron bounties going into effect, it is intimated that Canadian Northern interests will proceed with the building of a steel plant at Port Arthur to involve an outlay of several million dollars.

HOWELL PRAISES COPPER COMPANIES

Dissents From Taylor's Views on Strike Situation.

Washington, March 13.—Representative Howell, the Republican member of the copper strike inquiry committee, dissents emphatically from Chairman Taylor's views relative to the investigation. Mr. Howell said that on the whole "the disturbance had been controlled by the state and mine authorities with good judgment" and that the miners' welfare and interests had been liberally considered at all times.

"The refusal of the mine companies and operators to recognize the Western Federation of Miners," Mr. Howell said, "was caused by the belief that the personal relationships of miner and the employer could be better protected without the intervention of labor agencies. The mines are now running with practically full shifts and liberal wages are being paid the men."

SAYS HIS WIFE HAS THE SUICIDE HABIT

Brooklyn Man Seeks Separation, Saying She Makes Him Nervous.

New York, March 13.—Herman E. Atkins, Brooklyn photo engraver, has begun suit for separation against his wife on the ground that his nerves were shattered by her repeated attempts to commit suicide. Twenty-three times, alleged Atkins, Mrs. Atkins vainly attempted to take her own life.

After she had exhausted all the recognized means she devised a few of her own, which included sitting at an open window in her nightclothes, to bring on pneumonia.

OPPOSES AID FOR GRASS WIDOWS.

New York, March 13.—"Grass widows should not be pensioned," declared Miss Grace Strachan, president of the Interborough Association of Woman Teachers, speaking before the commission appointed at Albany last year to report a plan for pensioning widowed mothers with dependent children.

"They should not be pensioned," she continued, "for the simple reason that such a plan would encourage a good many men to leave their wives. Many husbands haven't the heart to leave their wives because they don't know how their wives will live without them."

A Day of Big Needs and Small

Saturday is brim full of planning and doing for every woman. The end of the week seems to crowd thoughts of every need of the person and family into one short day. This store will be prepared with both new goods and past season goods to supply everyone.

Coat and Suit Section

New suits and new coats are springing out of their freshly arrived cases each day and for Saturday we will have an unusually large assortment of the new ideas in these garments shown.

The suits in the main store begin at $22.50 and run through $65.00. All the new materials and styles are represented.

Coats are in every conceivable length and for every function. Beginning with the jaunty little sport coat at $10.00 and then by slow degrees to other attractive street and dress coats at $15.00, $20.00, $25.00, $35.00 and $45.00.

Separate Skirts All the Rage

There is no need telling the woman of fashion that separate skirts are to be one of the strong fashion notes of the season. We have prepared amply and are showing an assortment only comparable with the days of yore when separate skirts were as essential as a hat to a woman's wardrobe.

Attractive wool crepe and serge skirts with the new tunic and ruffle effects in single, double and triple tiers beginning at (in the main store) $6.75 and running to $12.50. In the Annex from $3.75 to $6.75. Taffeta skirts at $10.00, $12.50 and $16.50.

Hundreds of New Waists

Have arrived during the past week to present themselves for the first time to you tomorrow. Each one is more charming and alluring than the last and are sure to find a place in your wardrobe if you but see them.

Pretty white voile waists (in the main store) at $2.00, $2.75, $3.75 and $5.00. In the Annex at 98c and $1.50.

Smart crepe de chine waists in plain and dressy styles and in all of the new high shades, such as tango, chartreuse, peach, mais, Atlantic blue and flesh color. In the main store at $5.75 to $12.50. In the Annex at $3.95.

Wonderfully Attractive Hats

If the ideas for these hats were adapted from the great painters of the eighteenth century our millinery section presents the appearance of a famous art salon, filled as it is with wondrous color effects and artistic hat trims. One does not need to fear the prices either, because of the rare beauty of the hats, for we aim to have a hat for every purse as well as for every woman.

Our milliners will be glad to show you through this assortment, whether you are prepared to buy tomorrow or not. Prices are reasonable, beginning at $7.50 and running to $25.00.

Special Purchase of Handkerchiefs

Fifty dozen ladies' pure linen hand embroidered and hand initialed handkerchiefs in many new patterns and designs. A regular 25c handkerchief at 15c each.

This is a special lot that was purchased by our buyer in the East recently and they are exceptional values.

Plaitings! Plaitings!! Plaitings!!!

A wonderful assortment of the newest plaitings are here in all widths; nets, plain and figured; shadow laces, chiffons, muslins and malines, in white, cream, ecru and black; at all prices from 25c to $1.50 a yard.

Crepe de chine windsor ties in tango, Kelly green, cerise, scarlet, navy and black, at 65c.

Large assortment of Roman striped ribbons, ranging from 85c to $1.50 a yard.

New plaid ribbons for children's hair bows from 50c to 85c a yard.

Our crepe de chine ribbons for girdle belts are one of the new features for spring gowns.

Tango belts in all shades and stripes at $1.75.

The Annex Will Show You

Great savings in the new as in the things of the season past.

The wonderful record the Annex has made in its first season is going to be duplicated and added to this season. It is our aim to sell dependable and up to the minute suits, coats, dresses, skirts and waists at the price a woman usually pays a "cheap" store. Every one who has made a purchase is enthusiastic over the values in the Annex.

For Saturday we offer one hundred brand new spring suits at prices ranging from $12.75 to $19.50, and you will say in each instance that they represent at least $5.00 more than we are asking for them.

Jaunty Balmaccan and other new coats of the season at $10.00 to $18.50.

The biggest assortment in town of new Spring separate skirts in all the wanted materials and colors. New tunic and ruffle effects as well as drape and peg top models may be found in the assortment, $3.75 to $6.75.

Waists that look double what we ask for them are to be found on our big 98c tables. These waists are the hit of the town and draw enthusiastic crowds to the Annex daily.

Other pretty lace and chiffon waists to match suit or costume at $3.95.

BOAT CLUB IS IN LINE

Fourteen Organizations Are Now Behind the Midsummer Festival.

The Duluth Boat club last evening got into line for the midsummer festival movement, when a committee of three was appointed to act with the general committee being formed at the request of the Duluth Retail Merchants' association. This committee consists of J. D. Mahoney, Richard Close and August Frey.

This makes the fourteenth organization to get into line and it is generally understood that the others are still out simply because of the fact that they have not yet held a meeting at which the subject could be discussed.

The Duluth Boat club is one of the most important in connection with the proposed festival, for without its aquatic equipment the fete would be hard to present; in fact the general committee figures to a very large degree on the assistance of the boat club.

LITTLETON WOULD NOT OUST MURPHY

Criticizes Action of the National Democratic Club.

New York, March 13.—The action of the board of governors of the National Democratic club in dropping Charles F. Murphy and other Tammany men from membership is severely criticized by ex-Congressman Martin W. Littleton in a letter to the president of the club. Mr. Littleton is himself a Democrat.

"I have disagreed with Tammany Hall from the beginning," reads the letter, "and I disagree with it now; but I would never regard delinquency in club dues as a sufficient offense to put it on trial. I do not approve of your action in expelling Mr. Murphy and others. If you wish to fight, fight hard and fight fair and fight big; this will insure respect for your cause."

In answer to this letter and others from the sixty-five who were dropped from membership, Judge Edward F. O'Dwyer, president of the club, replied that any member who is delinquent in his dues is automatically dropped from membership, and that reinstatement is at the discretion of the board of governors.

"So far," said Judge O'Dwyer, "fifteen of the sixty-five have applied and will be reinstated. But Mr. Murphy and Mr. Foley, Plunkitt, Darlington, Gaffney and Siegel will not be accepted."

The Siegel referred to is Henry Siegel, the indicted banker. Foley, Plunkitt, Darlington and Gaffney are members of Tammany Hall.

CONTROL OF ROCH COMPANY IN DOUBT.

Reno, Nev., March 13.—Judge Farington, in the Federal court for the district of Nevada, awarded Dr. I. P. George and Stevens Brothers 220,000 shares of the Roch Mines company stock, deciding a suit brought against Joseph Nenzel for half of his 500,000 shares. The result leaves the control of the company in doubt. The case is considered important, as on it depends definite activity for the erection of a large mill in Rochester, Nev.

WESTINGHOUSE WORK GOES ON

Inventor's Genius Has Planned for Continuance of Interests.

Revolutionizer of Modern Industry Dead of Heart Disease.

New York, March 13.—George Westinghouse, the famous engineer and inventor, who died here yesterday of heart disease, provided in his will for the continuation of his large business interests under a trusteeship.

It was officially stated today that his death will not cause any change of policy or operation in connection with any of the Westinghouse industries. A plan which long ago he carefully thought out for their continuance and direction goes immediately into effect.

The men chosen to carry out this work are his brother, Henry Herman Westinghouse, who is president of the American Brake company and vice president and general manager of the Westinghouse Airbrake company; Charles A. Terry, vice president of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company, and W. D. Updegraff, director of the Westinghouse Airbrake company.

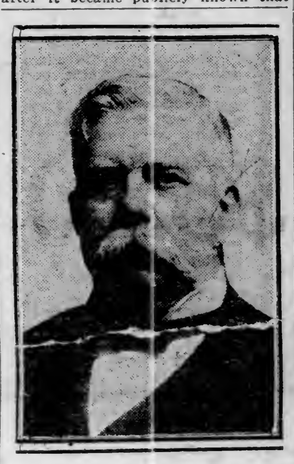

Personal Wealth $50,000,000.

To this trusteeship will go the voting power in all the corporations in which George Westinghouse was interested here and abroad. The individual wealth and holdings of Mr. Westinghouse have been estimated at more than $50,000,000.

Mr. Westinghouse, who was in his 68th year, will be buried Saturday in Woodlawn cemetery, this city.

Died of Heart Disease.

George Westinghouse, a foremost figure in the world of engineering and inventor of the airbrake that bears his name, died yesterday at his residence in this city. Heart disease manifested itself about fifteen months ago, and the end came a few hours after it became publicly known that —Copyrighted by Gessford.

GEORGE WESTINGHOUSE.

Mr. Westinghouse was seriously ill. He was in his 68th year.

Westinghouse became an inventor at the age of 15, when he produced a rotary engine. Four years later he constructed a device for replacing derailed steam cars. Then, when 21 years old, he sought the financial backing of the late Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt for his now famous airbrake, perfected after three years of labor.

"Do you mean to tell me you can stop a train of cars by wind?" demanded the commodore.

"Well, yes, inasmuch as air is wind, I suppose you are right," spoke the youth.

Called Him a Fool.

"I have no time to waste on fools," said the commodore, thus abruptly terminating the interview.

Westinghouse sought and found Capt. Ethelware, manufactured his invention and made high speed possible on railroads, and inaugurated a new era of railroad development.

Mr. Westinghouse did not confine his genius to railroading. For half a century he continued to make other contributions to electrical as well as mechanical engineering. His inventions and improvements had to do with railroad signaling, the development of the alternating current system for electric lighting and power, devices for safety and for economically conveying natural gas over long distances and using it for industrial and domestic fuel; air springs for motor vehicles of all kinds; and a geared turbine system for the propulsion of ships, developed in collaboration with the late Admiral George W. Melville, U. S. N., and John H. Macalpine.

Given Highest Honors.

In return for his many achievements, the highest honors in the gift of the technical societies and institutions of America and Europe were bestowed upon him, European sovereigns conferring distinguished orders.

Mr. Westinghouse founded many manufacturing companies in this country and abroad, including plants at East Pittsburg, Wildermerging, Swiss Vale and Trafford City, Pa., and others in Hamilton, Canada; Manchester and Trenton, England, Havre, Hanover, St. Petersburg, Russia; Vienna, Austria and Vado, Italy. In these plants some 50,000 persons are employed, and the many companies have a capitalization aggregating $200,000,000.

Mr. Westinghouse's mental alertness and activity remained to the last unimpaired. The final few years of life were among the most productive. For several months he had, however, limited his activities, placing greater responsibilities on his associates.

Suffered During Panic.

Mr. Westinghouse and his various ventures suffered severely in the panic of 1907. In October of that year the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing company went into bankruptcy, from which it was released a year later, after the creditors had accepted a plan of reorganization. Following that episode, the control of the Westinghouse company and some of its subsidiaries rested with a group of New York, Boston and Pittsburg banking interests. Westinghouse common, which had paid 10 per cent yearly from 1904 to 1907, suspended dividends altogether from the latter part of 1907 until 1912, when they were resumed on a 2 per cent basis, and last year 4 per cent was paid. According to some of his business associates, Mr. Westinghouse never recovered from the shock he received when control of his numerous enterprises was taken out of his hands.

The reorganization plan was conceived by Mr. Westinghouse, who urged its adoption in preference to plans submitted from other quarters by eminent financiers. The inventor insisted his idea was best for the protection of stockholders and creditors, and according to his associates it proved to be an achievement in constructive finance.

Praised by Lord Kelvin.

Lord Kelvin said just before his own death:

"George Westinghouse is, in character and achievement, one of the great men of our time."

Of himself, Mr. Westinghouse once remarked:

"I have always known what I have wanted to do, and for doing it, I owe a great deal to persistence, to a natural fondness for mathematics, and to the fact that throughout my youth I learned to work my hands as well as my head, and have always kept in practice."

Westinghouse was born in Central Bridge, near Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 6, 1846, and as a lad attended the public school in Schenectady. He attended Union college, but left in 1863 to join the Twenty-sixth United States cavalry, and served in the Civil war.

In August, 1867, he married Marguerite Erskine Walker, who survives him, together with their one child, George, Jr., who lives near Lennox, Mass. The son married Miss Violet Brocklebank, daughter of Sir Thomas and Lady Brocklebank of Irton Hall, Cumberland, Eng.

WILL HEAR TALK ON ACCOUNTING

Office Men Will Be Addressed By Prof. Rotzel.

At the regular weekly meeting of the Duluth Association of Office Men to be held at the Commercial club this evening, the principal address will be made by C. L. Rotzel, professor of accounting in the extension division of the state university.

Prof. Rotzel conducts classes in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth and his talk this evening will precede his regular class hour. The meeting will start at 7:45 o'clock.

C. R. Pattinson, president of the association, Freeman Randall, J. M. McDonald, R. G. Roberts and Bethel Robinson will leave for Minneapolis Monday afternoon to hear the address to be made that evening by Former President William H. Taft. The former president will address the Minneapolis Association of Office Men at the Dyckman hotel, following a dinner that is to be prepared for 500 guests.

It was announced yesterday that the local association is now planning to entertain at a "ladies' night" in the very near future. The program will include a dance and supper at the Commercial club.

SUES MRS. VAN BAALEN.

Dealer Claims $37.50 for Furs Bought for Leah Alexander.

San Francisco, March 13.—A widow is being sued in the courts here for a debt contracted by her husband for furs he bought for another woman who afterward shot and killed him. The widow is Mrs. Antonette Van Baalen, administratrix of the estate of J. D. Van Baalen, former Duluth man, who was killed last October by Miss Leah Alexander of Los Angeles. The young woman was acquitted after a trial that attracted much attention.

The bill for the furs was $37.50. Mrs. Van Baalen refused to recognize the claim.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger. Agent, Wirth's drug store, 13 West Superior street.

WHY DRINKING MEN ARE NOT WANTED

It is an undisputed fact that nearly all concerns now-a-days will not knowingly employ a drinking man. The reason for this is that a drinking man is not dependable. The moderate drinker usually becomes the excessive drinker. The excessive drinker gradually loses all need of respect for himself and for others. He becomes a shameless hanger-on. He lies fluently and habitually to his best friends. He tricks and cheats them with unconcern. You know the story. Before it is too late investigate the Neal Treatment for the drink habit, a harmless vegetable remedy that rids you of the craving for liquor in a very short time. There are no bad after effects, no hypodermic injections. Our new booklet, "The Modern Method of Treatment for Alcohol and Drug Addiction," gives full information. Mailed free on request in plain sealed wrapper. Better send for it today.

CORPORATIONS FILE ARTICLES

Theatrical Company and Hibbing Firemen's Relief Association Formed.

Two new corporations filed articles yesterday afternoon with Charles Culligan, register of deeds.

The Northern Consolidated Amusement company, one of the new concerns, is capitalized at $100,000 and organized to engage in the business of buying, improving and conducting theaters and other places of amusement. The incorporators, directors and first officers are: John T. Condon, president; Harry W. Condon, Minneapolis, vice president; and William T. Rider, secretary and treasurer.

The Hibbing Firemen's Relief association is organized without any capital stock. The association was incorporated for the purpose of extending aid to sick and disabled members of the Hibbing fire department and to care for their orphans and widows. The initiation fee is fixed at $3 and the annual dues at $4. The officers are: Charles McIlhargey, president; Dominick Brelto, vice president; Delbert S. Julian, secretary; and Edward Brown, treasurer. The board of trustees is composed of Edward Stone, Charles Hughes, Lawrence Adams and William O'Connor.

SAYS "MOTHER" JONES CAN LEAVE COLORADO

Adjt.-Gen. Chase Tells President She Refuses to Go Away.

Trinidad, Colo., March 13.—Gen. John Chase, commanding the Colorado National Guard, under instructions from Governor E. M. Ammons, has sent a telegram to President Wilson answering a message sent by John White, Frank J. Hays and William Green, officers of the United Mine Workers of America, to the president, in which the union officials asked for Federal intervention in the Colorado coal strike, and protested against the incarceration of "Mother" Jones and the removal of tents at the Forbes colony.

The message to President Wilson says:

"I am directed by the governor of Colorado to inform the president of the United States that one, Mary Jones, alias "Mother" Jones, is and always has been at entire liberty to leave the disturbed district, but insists on remaining, avowedly to make incendiary speeches. She is confined with comfort in a pleasant room in a large church hospital, as a necessary peace precaution in view of her history elsewhere.

As to Tent Colony.

"March 8 a non-union miner was atrociously murdered near the union tent colony at Forbes in the strike zone, to which colony the murderers were easily traced. This murder was significant just at this time.

"At the urgent request of the sheriff, all of the inhabitants of this small colony were arrested—sixteen men. There were no women or children.

"The tents were ordered removed to forestall further outlawry.

"The silence that military rule and necessity enjoin, I am directed to break that the president may be advised.

"JOHN CHASE, Brig. General, "Commanding the military district of "Colorado."

WILLIAMS OPPOSES GOVERNMENT AUTOS.

Washington, March 13.—Senator John Sharp Williams made an unsuccessful fight yesterday to check what he called government extravagance in the purchase of automobiles for "joy riding purposes."

Senator Williams said it was a public scandal, the extent to which the government had gone into the purchase of automobiles for cabinet officers and department heads.

For public servants whose business could be expedited by the use of automobiles the senator advocated increases in salary sufficient to enable them to buy machines.

Senator Williams' amendment to the District of Columbia appropriation bill to eliminate provisions for the commissioners' machines was voted down.

PEEVISH, CONSTIPATED CHILDREN LOVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Harmless "Fruit Laxative" Cleanses Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has stomach ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in just a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless fruit laxative; they love its delicious taste and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages, and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

CONVICTED OF ROBBERY

Three of Five Alleged Highwaymen Are Found Guilty.

George Yurcovich, 25, Peter Kaich, 24, and Isaac Neguin, 29, three of a gang of five alleged highwaymen, who were arrested and indicted for holding up Rudolph Baich and William Downes at New Duluth on the night of Feb. 20, were convicted of robbery in the first degree by a jury in Judge Dancer's division of the district court this morning. The jury was out forty minutes. The conviction carries with it an indeterminate sentence of five to twenty years in the state penitentiary or reformatory.

Mike Oblin, 22, and Daniel Koruga, 25, who were jointly indicted for the same offense, will be brought to trial next.

Baich and Downes testified that they encountered the five men in the Last Chance saloon on Commonwealth avenue shortly before closing time on the night in question and that Baich invited the strangers to join him in a "friendly glass" Baich cashed a $10 bill and after paying for the drink received $9.50 in silver. The five men left the saloon first. While Baich and Downes were returning home to the "model city" where they are employed by a local contractor, they were set upon and robbed.

Three of the men took $9.50 from Baich and Downes was relieved of $5, all the cash he had on hand, according to their story.

Judge Dancer will pass sentence on the trio convicted today later in the week.

REPORT ON SEWER ASSESSMENT

Attorney Will Tell Club Members Whether It Is Legal.

The final assessment for the Polk street sewer will be discussed this evening at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club. H. H. Phelps, a local attorney, who has been investigating the legality of the assessment for the club members will make a report to the club this evening.

The assessment affects about 8,000 pieces of property lying west of Fifty-first avenue and running as far up the hill as the D. M. & N. tracks. The final assessment amounts to a little over $3 per lot.

The objection raised by the property owners of West Duluth is based on a contention that the work of extending the sewer from the water front at Main street to the dock front was irregularly let. It is claimed that the job, which cost about $9,000, was given to the contractor by an agreement between the contractor and the city engineer. It is also claimed that the price charged for the work is higher than it would have been had the job been regularly advertised and bid in by other contractors.

The first assessment amounting to about $2.50 per lot was paid before the work was begun. This was to represent about 80 per cent of the cost. The final assessment amounts to more than the first amount paid.

HELD FOR ALLOWING BOY IN POOL ROOM

Robert J. McDonald, who during the illness of his father, J. A. McDonald, has been operating the pool room at 301 North Central avenue, was yesterday afternoon arrested on a warrant charging him with allowing boys under 18 years of age to play pool in the place. Patrolman Charles Ek walked into the place yesterday afternoon and claims to have caught Julius Miller, who is under age, playing the game.

McDonald was arraigned in police court this morning on the charge of allowing minors to play pool. He pleaded not guilty and trial was set for March 23 at 2 p. m. McDonald was released on $25 bail.

OLSON ENDS WINNING STREAK OF WADE RINK

Melvin "Addison" Olson and his aggregation of curlers put a sudden and decided stop to the winning streak of the Wade rink at the Western Curling club last night. Incidentally Olson also won the Union Match trophy and about 72,000 matches for each member of his rink. The matches are special side prizes given by the Union Match company.

The game was one of the hardest fought games of the season. In the tenth head Olson was three up. Wade laid two in the eleventh and another in the twelfth head tying the score. In the thirteenth end, with stones laid so that it appeared as if it was impossible for the Olson rink to win, Melvin "Addison" came to the last stone and made a perfect draw to the button through what seemed like an impossible port.

Tonight Wade will play in the finals against the Iltis rink in the Henricksen event. This event and the Commercial club finals are the only remaining games to be played this season.

Lenten Services.

Special Lenten services will be held this evening in the Holy Apostles Episcopal church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Elinor street. Rev. Wilfred Clarke, rector, will preach.

On Sunday evening Rev. W. Thompson of Eveleth will preach at the church.

Third Social in Series.

The third of a series of semi-monthly social gatherings arranged by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Westminster Presbyterian church was held last night at the home of Mrs. Charles T. Johnson, 907 North Fifty-sixth avenue west. A program of music followed by refreshments was given. Those taking part in the program were: Mrs. A. J. Macaulay, vocal solo; Misses Edith Melin and Johnson, vocal duet; Miss A. Kerr, violin solo. The ladies assisting the hostess were: Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. William Cochran and Mrs. O. O. Evjen.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The West Duluth W. C. T. U. will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Cochran, 630 North Fifty-sixth avenue west. The "One Just Out of Prison" will be the subject of discussion under the leadership of Miss Jessie Mauck. The hostess will be assisted by Mrs. C. G. Weaver and Mrs. C. M. Everett.

Revival Services.

Beginning Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the four Scandinavian churches of West Duluth will hold a two weeks' revival. The meeting Sunday afternoon will be held at the Swedish Mission church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Greene street.

The pastors and congregations taking part will be: Rev. C. V. S. Engstrom, Swedish Mission; Rev. K. A. Landin, Third Swedish Baptist; Rev. C. A. Joransson, Bethany Norwegian-Danish M. E., and Rev. A. Esselstrom, Finnish Swedish Baptist.

The meetings will be held every evening except Monday and Saturday. Joint choirs of the four churches will provide the music. The pastors will take turns in conducting the services.

CLEAN SLATE FOR GORMLEY

Runaway Boy Permitted to Remain Here and Become Citizen.

Uncle Sam Welcomes Hero of Series of Remarkable Adventures.

Escaping from Indians in Argentina, where he had been held captive for many years and then coming into the United States without the proper credentials, Michael Gormley, 24 years old, came to his parents in Duluth early this year to learn that he had no right to be in this country and that he was liable to deportation by the immigration authorities.

But because Gormley "played fair" and came to the local immigration officials and told them his whole story, he now has the right to remain in this country.

The local officials obtained a statement from Gormley, in which he told how he had escaped from Indians, had worked on a freight and passenger boat for passage to this country and then how, ignorant of the law, had smuggled his way into New York city. He knew no better, he said. He wanted to live here, without fear of the law or the possibility of deportation to Ireland, his mother country.

Brown McDonald, local immigration inspector, took the matter up with the authorities at Washington and he has received word that Gormley should be given permission to live in the United States and become a citizen, should he so desire.

Gormley this morning appeared before Capt. Thomas H. Pressnell, United States commissioner of this district, and declared his intention to become a citizen.

Ran Away From Home.

When 14 years old, Gormley ran away from his home in Ireland and after roaming about Great Britain for a year obtained work on a steamer bound for South America. He landed in Argentina and after spending some time in Buenos Aires, decided to go to the interior and obtain a homestead, a number of which the government was then giving away. It was while at work on his homestead, although but 17 years old at the time, that he was captured by the Indians. He was held captive for nearly six years, finally escaping a year ago.

He was compelled to wander over the mountains for four days and nights, finally reaching the capital in an exhausted state. He was given food and shelter and when the opportunity presented itself, set sail for America. He had never written to members of his family, but by chance happened to learn of the presence of a married sister in New York city. Through her he learned that his parents had moved from Ireland to Duluth and that his brother and sister were also living here.

After arriving in Duluth Gormley learned that he was in danger of being sent back to Ireland and it was then that he went to the immigration authorities. All he has to do now is pay the government head tax of $4.50 and he will not be molested in the future. Gormley proved to the officials that he was of good moral character, sound in health and had never served a term in any prison.

GOOD OUTLOOK FOR PASSENGER TRAFFIC.

J. Y. Callahan, assistant general passenger agent of the Nickel Plate road, and C. A. Asterlin, district passenger agent of the same road, are in the city today. Mr. Callahan's headquarters are in Chicago and Mr. Asterlin travels from Minneapolis.

Mr. Callahan has just returned from California and other Pacific coast points and declares that the outlook for a heavy spring passenger business is of the best.

HUSBAND BRINGS COUNTER ACTION.

Denying the charges of cruelty lodged against him by his wife in an action for divorce, Peter Dulinski, 45, today filed in district court an answer setting up his version of their matrimonial difficulties and asking that he be granted the divorce instead of his wife. In a cross bill he charges that Stella Ida Dulinski, 47, deserted his home and fireside on Nov. 30, 1912.

The Dulinskis were married in this city Aug. 30, 1897, and are parents of four children, Anton, 15; Frances, 10; Lucille and Cecelia, 5, the custody of whom is a bone of contention in the divorce action.

Dulinski declares that his homestead property, worth $1,400, although acquired by him, has stood in his wife's name since Jan. 7, 1905. He asks that the court grant him an undivided one-half interest in the property in settling the divorce action.

SUCCEEDS IN TAKING LIFE

Hans Larson Commits Suicide as Result of Second Attempt.

Drinks Carbolic Acid at Hospital—Tried Razor Route Before.

Failing in an attempt to take his life last Saturday morning, when he slashed his throat with a pocket knife, Hans Larson, 55 years old, made a successful effort yesterday afternoon when he drank the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid in St. Luke's hospital, where he had been under the care of a physician since Saturday. Larson died half an hour after he took the poison.

Police Surgeon Murphy was immediately called by the hospital attendants, but all efforts to save the man's life proved futile. He took the poison about 4:15 o'clock and half an hour later was pronounced dead. His body was ordered removed to the Crawford undertaking rooms, where the funeral arrangements will be made some time today.

Larson, who was a foreman at the Boston coal dock, had been troubled with illness for some time and of late had been in a rather despondent mood. It was believed by many that his first attempt at suicide last Saturday at his boarding house, 3904 West Fourth street, was caused by this constant brooding. At that time Police Surgeon Murphy was also called to attend him, and the man's life was saved.

Dr. Murphy ordered Larson taken to St. Luke's hospital after it was found he was out of danger and it was in his room at the hospital that he took his life yesterday afternoon. He had improved rapidly and yesterday was permitted to walk about the corridors of the institution. While he was in the hall his nurse stepped out of his room and he immediately rushed in and drank the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid that was in a small medicine closet.

Early this week Judge Gilpin appointed Drs. F. J. Patton, S. C. McCornick and F. A. Grawn to examine Larson as to his sanity and following an investigation the physicians declared the man was sane. Both Police Surgeon Murphy and Dr. D. E. Seashore, who attended Larson following the latter's first attempt at his life last Saturday, were of the opinion that the man was insane.

Larson was unmarried and had been a resident of Duluth for the last twenty-six years.

LARGE ROYALTY CLAIMED AS DUE

Suit Against Pearson Mining Company Filed in District Court.

Suit to recover $54,011.97 alleged to be due under a royalty contract covering certain mining lands in St. Louis county was instituted yesterday afternoon in district court against the Pearson Mining company by William M. Murphy, sole surviving trustee under the will of Simon J. Murphy, and others owning an interest in the property.

Murphy and the other fee owners joined as plaintiffs allege that they signed a contract with the mining company on Dec. 2, 1912, whereby lot 8, section 4, 57-11 was leased to the mining company for a period of twenty years. The royalty agreement was, it is alleged, that the company should pay the fee owners $1 for each ton of ore taken out of the mine, payable Jan. 20, April 20, July 20 and Oct. 20 of each year. The lease became effective Jan. 1, 1913.

It is claimed that under this agreement there is due from the mine operators $54,011.97 in unpaid royalties. Interest on back royalties at 6 per cent is also asked.

MOVIES ON HAND AT DUEL OF FRENCHMEN

Jacques Richepin, Dramatist, Wounds Pierre Frondaie in Arm.

Paris, March 13.—A sword duel today between Jacques Richepin, son of Jean Richepin, the "immortal," and Pierre Frondaie, author of a play now being performed in Paris, resulted in the wounding of M. Frondaie.

The quarrel arose out of an incident in the lobby of a theater Wednesday. Madame Frondaie, it is alleged, made some cutting remarks to Jacques Richepin's wife, known as Mme. Cora Laparcerie, who is co-manager of the theater.

M. Frondaie took full responsibility for his wife's comments, and was thereupon challenged to fight by M. Richepin. The encounter took place on the lawn of a house in the suburb of Neuilly. More than a hundred notable literary and dramatic men watched the combat from behind hedges and windows, while numerous reporters, photographers and moving picture operators occupied a loft overlooking the lawn.

Wives Could Hear Swords.

The wives of both principals appeared on the scene, but were not allowed to watch the combat. They remained on the road outside in their automobiles, where they were surrounded by crowds of women friends. They could hear the sounds of clashing of swords from where they sat.

During the first bout neither combatant was touched. In the second, however, M. Richepin's sword penetrated M. Frondaie's forearm, and the engagement was brought to an end.

Jean Richepin then embraced his son and his wife threw herself into his arms, while Mme. Frondaie helped the surgeon dress her husband's wound.

The combatants left the ground without being reconciled.

The biggest sale of months is now in progress at Forward's.

DULUTH PASTOR WILL TESTIFY

Rev. J. J. Daniels Witness in Trial of Alleged "White Slaver."

Rev. John J. Daniels, pastor of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street, has gone to Seattle, Wash., where he has been subpoenaed to appear as one of the government witnesses in a "white slavery" case against Rev. Albert Dahlstrom.

Dahlstrom is alleged to have been teaching polygamy and to have induced several young women to follow his belief and is also said to have gone through certain marriage rites performed by himself.

Dahlstrom is quite well known in the West end. He spent about six weeks in this end of the city holding revival meetings for converts to his "Heliga" (Holy) cult, which he termed his sect. A few years ago following a series of his meetings he left Duluth taking a young woman with him. He was followed to St. Paul, where Col. F. E. Resche, then captain of police, arrested the couple and brought the young woman back. They had registered as man and wife under an assumed name in one of the St. Paul hotels.

Rev. Mr. Daniels has taken an active part in exposing the teachings of Dahlstrom and has caused to be circulated a number of pamphlets as well as newspaper stories of the man's practices. Dahlstrom was arrested early last fall for violation of the Mann act and his trial at Seattle began Tuesday.

STRAY DOGS ARE TOO NUMEROUS

Too many dogs whose owners claim they are "harmless" are allowed to rove the streets is the contention of some of the residents of the West end. The dogs, they say, are not only a menace to men, women and children on the street, but also a nuisance at night, in some localities keeping up continual howling until late hours.

Axel Bergren, 2815 West Third street, who recently was severely bitten by a dog, while going to a house to examne a gas meter, said this morning that most of the people owning the canines claim that their dogs are harmless, but that invariably these same dogs will snap at a person when least expected.

Several other residents of the Western end of the city have made similar complaints. In West Duluth it is said the police have on a number of occasons, received complaints from people who say their children, while going to and from school, have been frightened by dogs following and barking at them.

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN.

Swedish Methodist Sunday School Starts With Banquet.

The Sunday school of the Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, has arranged to hold a banquet in the church parlors Monday evening. The arrangements have been made by Charles E. Peterson, superintendent of the school.

The banquet is the initial move for a membership campaign to be instituted by the school. Each scholar will be allowed to bring a friend who is not a member of any Sunday school, as a guest. It is proposed to start the membership campaign that evening between two chosen sides of the school and this contest is to cover a period of two months at the end of which the side having the greatest number of new members will be guests of the others.

The Sunday school of this church has recently been reorganized and a number of new teachers secured. A teachers' training class has also been started.

REVIVAL MEETINGS WELL ATTENDED.

The four Scandinavian churches of the West end have commenced a series of joint revival meetings which will continue for a month. The meetings have so far been attended by large crowds. The meeting tonight will be held at the First Norwegian Danish Methodist church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street.

The other congregations taking part in the services are the Swedish Methodist, Swedish Mission and Swedish Baptist. The joint choirs of the four churches are furnishing the musical programs for the evenings, and the pastors exchanging pulpits for the different meetings. The meetings will be held on Sundays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays of every week until Easter.

GEORGE VANDERBILT ESTATE $20,000,000

All Goes to Widow and His Daughter—Will Made Last December.

New York, March 13.—The will of George W. Vanderbilt as filed for probate here, leaves his entire estate, estimated at $20,000,000, to his widow and only daughter, Cornelia. Between the ages of 21 and 26 she will have the entire income.

The will was made in New York city, Dec. 18, 1913. The widow and the testator's brother, W. K. Vanderbilt, are named as executors and trustees.

Mr. Vanderbilt's valuable collection of paintings and books in his residence at Biltmore, Washington and Bar Harbor, go to his wife and daughter, who receive these estates.

The famous Vanderbilt mansion at the corner of Fifth avenue and Fifty-first street, New York, was the property of George Vanderbilt only during his lifetime. The house, which is valued $1,500,000, was built by William H. Vanderbilt, and by the terms of his will reverts to Cornelius Vanderbilt, George's nephew. For the last nine years the house has been leased to Henry C. Frick. It contains paintings and art objects valued at more than $1,000,000, which go with the house.

Mr. Vanderbilt's will was a business-like, typewritten document, which stated his wishes in the briefest possible form, without explanatory comment.

Minor bequests providing annuities aggregating $6,500 a year are made in favor of certain relatives. There are no public bequests.

Biltmore to Daughter.

Biltmore, Mr. Vanderbilt's world-famous estate in North Carolina, is left to his daughter, Cornelia, who now is 12 years old. She also receives $5,000,000 in cash and is made residuary legatee.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, the widow, receives the estate at Bar Harbor, Me.; the Vanderbilt home in Washington; $250,000 in cash; a life interest in a trust fund of $1,000,000, which she may dispose of at her death as she secs fit, and part of the real estate in North Carolina, known as Pisgah forest, containing about 80,000 acres, together with the contracts for the sale of timber therefrom, estimated to produce about $50,000 a year. These bequests to Mrs. Vanderbilt are made in lieu of dower.

Five million dollars which goes to Cornelia, the daughter, is the principal of a trust fund held by George W. Vanderbilt under the will of his father, the late William H. Vanderbilt. The will provides that the executors shall hold the daughter's estate in trust until she becomes 25 years of age. Until she is 21 she will receive only so much of the income as the executors deem proper.

PERRY ESTATE OVER $300,000.

New York, March 13.—Mrs. Marie Moore Perry, widow of Oliver Hazard Perry, grandson of Commodore Perry of Lake Erie fame, left an estate valued at $308,320 according to affidavits filed here. Included in the estate is an old farm house in Elmhurst, said to have been occupied once by Dr. Clement Moore, who wrote ""Twas The Night Before Christmas."

Mr. Perry died in Elmhurst in April, 1913, leaving his entire estate to his wife, who died two weeks later. The net value of the estate is $296,922. Her will divides this equally among her sons, John Moore Perry and Oliver H. Perry, of Elmhurst, and Franklin Perry of Cleveland.

ANOTHER ARREST IN TERRE HAUTE CASES

David Masterson Joins Dickins in Jail on Plot Charge.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 13.—David Masterson, who became known as a slugger during the local street car strike, was arrested here late yesterday at the request of Terre Haute, Ind., authorities. He is charged in an affidavit issued in Terre Haute with an attempt to kill Felix Balnkenbaker, the special judge who presided over the election fraud case there recently. He was taken to Terre Haute last night.

Masterson, when taken to the county jail, was asked why he was wanted in Terre Haute.

"Oh, I've been trying to keep Mayor Donn Roberts of Terre Haute from going to the penitentiary," he replied, jokingly, "and now I suppose I'll get a chance to go there myself."

Dynamite Plot Alleged.

Earl Dickins is held in jail in Terre Haute, unable to furnish a bond of $25,000 on an indictment charging him with conspiracy to dynamite the homes of Judge Charles M. Fortune, Special Judge Blankenbaker and Joseph Roach, special prosecutors in the election cases. Last Friday night shots were fired near the Blankenbaker home and the next day he received a letter threatening his life. The letter has been placed in the hands of the United States district attorney, Frank Dailey, in this city.

Mayor Roberts is to be placed on trial next Monday on charges of election fraud, and the court officials have appealed to Governor Ralston for state protection for witnesses and court officials. Dennis Shea, sheriff of Vigo county, has announced that each person entering the courtroom will be searched at the doors for weapons and that when the trial starts the doors will be locked, to remain so as long as the court is in session.

FORTY BIDDERS AT STATE LAND SALE

Over 2,000 Acres in Beltrami County Are Disposed of.

Bemidji, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the first sale of state land held here this spring by Theodore Nelson of the state auditor's office, 2,025 acres were sold, some of the forty bidders who were present going as high as $11.25 an acre. The total sale amounted to $12,600.

Sales were recorded as follows: Jason Carter, Blackduck, 40 acres in the town of Taylor; Josephine Hermanson, Blackduck, 40, Langor; Charles Fleischman, Tenstrike, 40, Hagali; Edward R. Jackson, St. Paul, 249, Durand; Erick J. Swedback, Bemidji, 75, Durand; Wellington G. Schroeder, Bemidji, 317, Grant Valley; Otto Nissen, Bemidji, 312, Grant Valley; Earl L. Grinols, Bemidji, 40, Jones; Dr. Einar W. Johnson, Bemidji, 80, Lammers; Martin Sorenson, Solway, 80, Lammers; Jacob Sorenson, Solway, 75, Lammers; Millie Larson, Bemidji, 40, Lammers; Samuel W. Platt, Turtle River, 40, Port Hope; and the following, whose purchases all were in the town of Eckles, John H. Klessen, Wilton, 40; Frank B. Getchell, Bemidji, 40; Kenneth McIver, Bemidji, 40; Charles F. Rogers, Wilton, 200; Julius H. Clander, Bemidji, 80; Thomas Mohler, Bemidji, 80; Arthur C. Rogers, Wilton, 35; William L. Rogers, Wilton, 40; Margaret A. Knopp, Wilton, 40.

The lowest price paid was $5 an acre, the average price was $6.25. In addition to funds collected for the land the state receives $1,800 in addition for timber. Mr. Nelson will conduct the next land sale here on April 8.

PERU WILL PAY FRENCH CLAIMS.

Lima, Peru, March 13.—The government board has arranged for payment of the French claims against the republic, including the famous Dreyfuss claim, and probably soon will place a loan in Paris in accordance with the law passed last year during the tenure of office of President Billinghurst.

After a conference of all the chiefs of the various political parties, the government board decided to convoke congress March 23.

SAY RAIN STOPPED BURNING OF CEIBA.

New Orleans, March 13.—A sudden downpour of rain prevented a further spread of flames that burned twelve city blocks and caused a loss estimated at $1,000,000 in Ceiba, Honduras, early Sunday, according to passengers arriving here aboard the fruit steamer Bluefields, which sailed from that port Sunday.

Sentenced Then Paroled.

Lancaster, Wis., March 13.—Harry French, railway conductor convicted of murder, was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary yesterday, but was not sent there. Instead the court placed him on his good behavior for the period.

The Garment Section Is a Real Art Exhibit

You are invited to view the new styles.

You'll see here the extreme things—and you'll also see much that is not "extreme" but so refined and so charmingly fashionable as to captivate you good dressers.

Every day you put off buying your spring suit—coat or gown—you deprive yourself of an extra day's service—and if you put off too long—you run the risk of not having them for Easter, which is but four weeks away.

Those Much-talked About Wooltex Coats and Suits Appearing in This Month's Ladies' Home Journal Are Here for You to Try On.

Come in tomorrow—look to your heart's content—you'll not be urged to buy.

"THE HOME BEAUTIFUL" is made more attractive by using some of the charming new fabrics on display in the Drapery Show, Third Floor. Moderate prices on artistic draperies.

Milady Is Invited to Try on the New Hats

In spring—when young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love—'tis said a woman thinks of her Spring Bonnet. And if you see the hats we have ready on our Second Floor you will do more than think of a Spring Hat. They are so becoming, so charmingly different that you will have a desire for possession.

Generally speaking, hats are small, though shapes of medium size are also in evidence. For early spring wear blacks predominate, but colors promise great vogue later. Milan Braids, Hemp Braids, Satin Braids, Ratine Braids and Neopolitan Braids are in high favor for hand-made hats.

Flowers Were Never More Beautiful

For instance, huge Pansies in bronze and purple shades, gorgeous yellow and orange Nasturtiums are most naturally reproduced in velvet. But why tell you more when you will probably come tomorrow and see for yourself.

The Millinery Department has been enlarged. Stocks are finer than ever—we expect to take care of you this season, and have bought accordingly.

It Pays to Buy Good Shoes for Children

There is no question about it. It is absolute economy to buy the best shoes you can find for the boys and girls.

MELTING OF SNOW REVEALS WINTER'S ACCUMULATION OF FILTH ON STREETS

STREET IS A SEA OF MUD.

THE POOL AT LAKE AVENUE.

—Photos by McKenzie.

A SUPERIOR STREET CROSSING.

Duluth's streets are in a most deplorable condition.

The accumulated dirt of months mingles with the slush. The ice is piled high near the curbing, where the traffic is not so heavy, and through the packed ice run streams of filthy water.

On the avenues there are miniature rivers of water that is washing the accumulated filth of the streets into pools that are the widest and deepest at the crossing.s

A large force of men could spend many days in clearing away the dirt and filth that has accumulated on the various streets and avenues of Duluth during the long winter months. In some cases the black-crested ice is piled higher than the street curbing, and in melting runs over onto the sidewalk.

In the eastern part of the city the streets and sidewalks at several places are piled high with a solid mass of ice, which in melting forms a miniature lake, which is lovely to wade through—if one is equipped with rubber boots.

Pedestrians fond of their walk, have worn paths around some of the sidewalk lakes beyond Sixth avenue east.

The public works' department is tackling the spring cleaning problem, but with limited funds and a big territory to cover, about all that can be done now is to clean crossings and open sewers.

STOCK JOBBING BY SCHOOL IS CHARGED

Correspondence Instructors Accused Before Massachusetts Legislators.

Boston, Mass., March 13.—Charges of stock jobbing by the International Correspondence school of Scranton, Pa., were made before a legislative committee at a hearing today on a bill to regulate the financial conduct of such schools in this state. The charges were made by J. A. Robertson, formerly manager of a branch of the school at Cape Town, Africa, and Former Representative Clarence A. Barnes of Mansfield.

Mr. Robertson said that it was the custom of the directors of the school to buy properties and either sell them direct to text book companies at grossly inflated values or sell the stock to students.

Vice President C. E. Lawrence of the International Correspondence schools, in charge of the New England district, denied that stocks were sold to or by students, but admitted that agents of the schools might have sold them as side lines. He said that the schools would welcome investigation and would furnish all figures required.

SAYS CUPID IS NOT AFRAID OF EUGENICS

Wisconsin Health Officer Claims Marriages Are Keeping Up.

Madison, Wis., March 13. — The eugenics law passed at the last session of the legislature has had practically no effect on the normal number of marriages in the state, is the contention of Dr. C. A. Harper, state health officer, in a statement today. In December, 1912, there were 1,521 marriages as compared with 2,026 in December last year.

"In other words, there was an increase of 505 marriages in December last year over the same month the year before," said Dr. Harper, "Many people doubtless desired to marry before the law became effective in January, and there has been a small falling off in the marriages of January this year as compared with a year before. But the difference for the two months of January compared is only 209, while the increase in marriages last December was 505."

BODIES SWEPT FROM WRECK OF MONROE

Strange, Fierce Current Under Sea Is Found By Divers.

Washington, March 13.—All the bodies which sank with the Old Dominion liner Munroe, when she was rammed by the Merchants & Miners' ship Nantucket, off the Virginia coast, on Jan. 30, have been swept out of the wreck by a strong submarine current.

Divers having nearly 200 additional pounds of lead on their equipment found it impossible to remain on their feet in the strange, fierce current which sweeps about the wreck.

Forty-three lives were lost in the collision. How many of these went down imprisoned in the ship is not known, but there was hope of recovering some bodies.

Divers also found that lifeboat No. 1, which some witnesses at the government's investigation testified was smashed in the collision, had been cut loose, as one witness testified. That witness said he cut the boat loose with two negro women in it. They undoubtedly drifted away in the fog and were lost.

The divers also found that the Nantucket struck the Monroe below lifeboat No. 1.

The cargo may be recovered.

CONNECTING LINE TO FARGO SOUGHT.

Fortland, N. D., March 13.—To make another section of North Dakota more directly tributary to Fargo, it is proposed to have the Great Northern build a connecting line from where the Portland branch connects with the other line just north of this city, to Lakota, then connect with the Edmore branch to Sarles and run trains direct to Fargo, there to make easy connections with the eastern trains. This would make a more direct and cheaper service to Fargo.

FIRES ELEVEN SHOTS INTO HIS HEAD.

Linton, N. D., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Firing eleven shots into his head from a 22-caliber rifle was the unusually persistent motive of suicide pursued by Louis S. Foell of Emmons county. Seven of the bullets went entirely through his head and four lodged in his brain. The fact that his wife had left home to live with a son is supposed to have been the cause of the man's act.

POSED AS RADICAL BUT CONSERVATIVE

Cuban Statesman Frank in Revealing Torn Heart Strings.

Washington, March 13.—In a recent address before the National Geographic society, Former President William H. Taft told of his trip to Cuba in 1906 to pour oil on the troubled waters there during the rebellion against the Palma administration.

"One of the greatest difficulties in bringing about order and a compromise was the lack of organization among the rebels," he said. "I induced Palma to let me bring the civil leaders, whom he had under arrest, to Maranao, there to meet the rebel generals, and we had a conference between the lines. The generals were in full regalia. It was at night. The eloquence that floated out on that tropical night air is lost to history but the flavor of its flowery patriotism remains with me yet. One Cuban statesman was anxious for us to make him provisional governor, and, in urging his fitness, was striving to remove the impression that his reputation for radicalism might have created in our minds. He said: 'It is true I am reputed a radical and I must speak as a radical to hold my following, but in my heart I am a conservative and while I shall continue to speak as a radical I shall act as a conservative.'

"It was his actual state of mind and his political method that startled us, for we had known in our own country some instances of similar dilemmas, but it was his complete frankness in revealing to us his torn heart strings."

LIKES IDEA OF TWO WEEKS' WORK A YEAR.

Washington, March 13.—In a communication recently made public by the National Geographic society, P. A. Talbot, African explorer, of England, told of the Ekoi, natives of extreme Southern Nigeria, on the equator, who he said, should be and probably are, among the happiest people on earth. A few weeks' labor is enough to supply them with food, home and clothes for a whole year, wrote the explorer. The publication of Talbott's communication brought forth the following letter to Gilbert H. Grosvenor, director and editor of the National Geographic society:

"Detroit, Mich.—My Dear Sir: I have learned through a Polish newspaper in this city of your idea as to the amount of work necessary—'two weeks per year'—to enjoy life with everything in plenty, something that struck me very forcibly, and could not prevent myself from writing these few liens for getting full information as to your plan, so kindly send me all information in regard to your idea of living comfortable with but two weeks' work per year. Truly, etc."

Substitution and Cut Prices usually go hand in hand

They comprise the greatest evils that are practiced on an unsuspecting public. Do you know why dealers attempt to sell you their own article or something "just as good" in place of what you call for? It's a matter of profit—they make more money on that article regardless of your health. It is not fair to your judgment nor to us as manufacturers, who have told you through truthful advertising the immense amount of good has done for others and will do for you.

The retailer (and there are many of them) who gives you what you ask for without quibble, is the one who has your interest, as well as his own in mind—he should get your business. You feel comfortable while trading with him.

We do not approve of price cutting—for cut prices, along with substitution, means destruction—not competition. But—if prices are cut to attract attention—insist on what you ask for. Get Duffy's and benefit yourself—don't help the dealer who tries to fool you by accepting an unadvertised, and possibly an unworthy product.

Remember:—The concern that can advertise a reliable article year in and year out for many years, has something of worth to tell you or they couldn't advertise.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold in sealed packages—never in bulk. The Company signature is on the label—the Company name blown in the bottle. Get the Genuine. Sold by most druggists, grocers and dealers at $1.00 a bottle.

Woman's Realm

Mrs. W. A. Lingle, who has been in charge of the boys' school at Siangtan, China, gave an interesting account of conditions in that country at the meeting of the Missionary society, held at the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Lingle made a plea for more workers in the missionary field. She said if the Chinese do not become Christians many of them will become agnostics, as books on agnosticism and atheism are pouring in from Japan. The influence of Christianity is out of all proportion to the number of Christians in the country, she said.

English is taught in all the government schools and, according to Mrs. Lingle, will be spoken as much in China as it is in any foreign country. One of Mrs. Lingle's classes in English read "The Lady of the Lake" and "Silas Marner." Despite their having no condition in society corresponding to that in Scott's poem and no knowledge of the scenery of Scotland, the pupils derived benefit from reading the selection.

German has been taught rather extensively in the schools owing to the large number of Germans in China. French also is now taught. In the interior, 1,000 miles from Shanghai, there is a club for the study of Esperanto.

In the lower grades, readers have been substituted for the classics that are not begun until the high school is reached. The primary readers are similar to those used in this country.

Chinese Fashions.

Mrs. Lingle showed several pieces of embroidery, one of which was a blue and red banner, a parting gift, bearing the Chinese character meaning "love" and the names of the Christians who gave it. She pronounced a gorgeously embroidered bodice as out of style. The flowing garments that almost every one associates with Chinese women, have disappeared. Tight waists, tight sleeves and tight skirts are now the fashion among the Celestials. The picturesque effects produced by bodices and waists and contrasting colors is alsoa thing of the past, as skirts and waists now are of the same color. Embroidery on clothes is going out. Two years ago, at the time of the revolution, Mrs. Lingle bought an armful of embroidered garments for $5 in gold.

Among the pictures the missionary showed was one of a celebration of the birthday of Confucius. The Christians are trying to take away the idolatry connected with the great Chinese character by teaching the pupils in the schools to consider him as a great man, as American children are taught to think of Washington.

Mrs. Lingle told of attending the wedding of one of the young men in her class. Many of the women guests asked her to start a school for young married women. As it is only recently that women have been considered of importance those who are married have been deprived of the advantages now enjoyed by girls. There is a movement on foot to make 25 the lowest age at which a man may marry. This law would work great hardships to Chinese mothers-in-law, as the daughters-in-law serve them while the young husbands are off at school.

Many of the Chinese men who have come to America to study have done remarkable work. One from the province in which Mrs. Lingle labored, is now attending Park college. He begun Latin in August, took up Caesar in September and Cicero in November. Although all records do not come up to this one, efforts spent educating the Chinese are repaid by the way they learn. Some of those educated in the United States return to their own country to teach.

Mrs. Mary Walsh, matron at police headquarters, is known as Duluth's "little mother."

Scores of young girls, who have started out on the wrong path, have come in contact with Matron Walsh, and her influence and teachings have in many cases resulted in starting them in the right direction. Many who are now living upright lives have Mrs. Walsh to thank.

The matron at police headquarters by virtue of her position is compelled to care for all the girls and women arrested by the police. She sees that they are properly fed and cared for while at police headquarters and that they receive careful treatment while in police court. She usually intercedes in the case of a girl or woman, who is anxious for another chance, and in most instances succeeds in securing suspended sentences and paroles.

Besides her work at headquarters, Mrs. Walsh has succeeded in obtaining work for many girls, who have either served terms in the county jail or have been placed on parole by the police court. She is in constant touch with the local employment agencies and in this way manages to obtain work for those anxious to live clean and respectable lives.

Before she accepted the position of matron, Mrs. Walsh was in charge of the women prisoners at Stillwater, the state prison.

Samaritans Will Celebrate St. Patrick's Day.

St. Patrick's day will be celebrated one day ahead of schedule by the members of Duluth council, No. 3, Modern Samaritans, at their hall, 118 West Superior street, Monday evening.

The program is in charge of Daniel Murphy and J. A. McLaughlin, and will include vocal numbers by Miss Margaret Lineham, and an address on "Ireland," by Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth.

The regular business meeting will begin sharply at 8 o'clock, and the program at 9:15. All Samaritans and their friends are invited.

The regular monthly dance will be given on March 23.

POOR DIDO DIES.

Ancient Tragedy Re-enacted By High School Students.

How Dido, founder of the famed city of Carthage and in the story of Virgil's Aeneid queen of the Mediterranean port, threw herself on a funeral pyre after Aeneas refused her love and further hospitality while on his wanderings following the Trojan war, was skillfully enacted this morning at the Central high school by the senior students studying Latin. The death of Dido has been celebrated annually by the local high school pupils studying Virgil's Aeneid and has now become a popular custom.

Harold Smithies acted as stage manager and there is no doubt but that if Dido had obtained such a stage manager to enact her little tragedy, it would have been a much better managed affair.

Every pupil who ever took Latin remembers the story of Queen Dido. Famed throughout the world in her day as one of the most beautiful of women and wealthy and powerful in her kingdom, Dido fell in love with Aeneas, the wanderer. He and his followers had been wandering for nearly twenty years after the fall of Troy and when the men came to Carthage, they were wined and dined by the fair Dido.

And when Aeneas and his men had rested, they decided to go on in their wanderings. But Dido declared her love for Aeneas, and he, remembering his vow to his wife, then waiting for him to return, refused her love and left in the night with his crew. In the morning Dido, finding him gone, threw herself on a funeral pyre she had erected and was burned to death.

The scene this morning showed D'do killing herself and then the funeral procession given in her honor by the people of Carthage, all her subjects. Miss Ruth O'Brien played the part of Dido and was assisted by the other members of the class as follows:

Anna, Lillian Dinham; Brace, Margaret Besnah; Aeneas, William Craig; Achates, Edward Pelto; Virgilius, Virgil Pedrizetti; the heavenly twins, Ruth and Rachel Fesler; ghost of Sychaeus, Rollin Hawkes; priestess, Alice Hill; court undertaker, John Bacher and Alice Fee, Florence Cheadle, Esther Wessinger, Millett Davis and Louise Williamson, pall bearers.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. C. A. Parsons of 522 Seventeenth avenue east entertained yesterday afternoon in honor of the fifth birthday of her daughter, Lucile. The decorations were in green and white, and the favors were in keeping with the St. Patrick season.

Surprise Party.

Miss Alice Porter was surprised Saturday evening in honor of her 14th birthday. Those present were:

Misses—
Mabel Klososky, Sibyl Mathiesen,
Esther Peterson, Gladys Lovelace,
Jennie Johnson, Ethel Hardy,
Martha Sund, Fern Brown,

At the regular meeting yesterday of the J. B. Culver corps, No. 69, W. R. C., arrangements were completed for the luncheon to be served in Memorial hall on Thursday from 11:30 to 1:30 o'clock.

The local corps has received an invitation from the members of Alonzo Palmer corps of Superior to attend their regular corps meeting Monday, March 23, at 2:30 o'clock, and the luncheon that will precede the meeting.

The women of the J. B. Culver corps have decided to invite the members of the local post to the last corps meeting of each month at which a program will be given and tea served. The corps will hold its next regular meeting, Thursday, March 26. Mrs. T. R. Hancock will be the social hostess.

Reception.

Prof. Leo's Friday afternoon dancing class will hold a reception tonight.

Weekly Dance.

The Kitchi Gammi club held its weekly informal dance last evening.

At Pilgrim Church.

Joel Mossberg, the Swedish baritone, will sing tonight under the auspices of the Orpheus Singing society of Pilgrim Congregational church, Lake avenue and Second street. Miss Mamie Swanberg of Minneapolis will be the accompanist. The program will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

Lodge Notes.

The Loyal Temperance league of the Union church has resumed their regular meetings, each Wednesday afternoon. At the regular annual meeting election of officers was held, the following being elected for the ensuing year: Raymond Ericson, president; Glen Hand, vice president; Charles Grochowsky, secretary and treasurer.

Saturday Club.

At the meeting of the Saturday club tomorrow the following program on South America wil lbe given:

1. "Rio Janiero—Coffee Culture in Brazil."—Mrs. John Jenswold.
2. "The Mighty Amazon," by M. R. Wright—Mrs. Cora Stevenson.

SOCIAL CENTER DIRECTOR CONDEMNS "THE TRAFFIC"

"Such plays as 'The Traffic' should be removed from the stage. While there may be nothing that may be termed objectionable in the play, it exaggerates the moral which it is supposed to carry and brings out the morbid desire of young people who are prone to praise instead of pity the principals."

Such was the comment made last evening by Miss Marguerite Culkin, city social center director, on plays like "The Traffic," which was produced at the Lyceum. She spoke at a meeting of the Irving school social center last night. Miss Culkin said she attended the show yesterday afternoon, not out of her own curiosity, but because of several requests from women about the city. She said that there was absolutely no excuse for such plays and gave as her reason for being opposed to them that they invariably deal with subjects of vicious nature and cannot be anything but a matter of intense fascination to susceptible and romantic youth.

Fail to See Inconsistencies.

"Billboard publicity will never do anything but excite curiosity," said Miss Culkin, "and the plays themselves ignore the true causes for vice and supply other causes so glowingly sentimental that they have a direct appeal to young people who cannot see inconsistencies. Such young people should know the truth, but they are impressed by the spurious moral of the 'white slave' play.

"A play which alleges to teach that girls do wrong only because of low wages or high cost of living is an insult to the dignity of girls to which this applies.

Heroine a Martyr.

"To the ordinary shop girl the picturesque idea that a girl that goes wrong is a victim of straitened circumstances, when interpreted with a fascination foreign to every place but the stage, is bound to leave its impression which will do more to demoralize than to uplift. The first thing a girl says about the poor seduced heroine is, 'Wasn't she grand?'"

Touching on the cause of girls being misled, Miss Culkin attributed it strictly to a bad bringing up, bad living and bad housing conditions.

"Economic pressure," she said, "may have something to do with it, but not all. Low ideals and lack of morals are greatly responsible. So is flightiness, impulse and indifference.

Girls Take Initiative.

"There are very few men who will brazenly accost a girl in most any place if the girl did not make the first advances.

"The solution to all this comes, if it comes at all, through teaching physiology and biology; by developing a higher type of manhood and womanhood; but putting matters fairly before people instead of throwing them off the path; by leaving a topic which is both disgusting and odious and not a matter for the discussion of children.

If true conditions were pictured in a play they would be so horrible that all people would refuse to see them. As it is now they dramatize it attractively, with nothing but the silver lining and just the shade of the gulf in evidence."

MARGUERITE CULKIN.

OBSERVATIONS

—By PEGGY PEABODY—

Men Are as Ready to Quarrel as Women.

A prominent professor in a German university condemns women as quarrelsome and among other things says: "Apparently quarrels and mutual accusations are a necessity of life to females compelled to work together, as in a large government office where large numbers of women clerks are employed."

However it may be with the Germans, who, I had supposed were a phlegmatic, easy tempered race, quarrels cannot be said to seriously disturb the atmosphere of offices in this country, whether government or otherwise. We must give the woman who works credit for having a little common sense.

This is not to say that quarrels never do arise in offices where women are employed together. Of course, they do, just as they do everywhere among women and among men, too, let it be known. There are differences of opinion, doubt, suspicion, question and all the rest of it in offices just as there are wherever human beings congregate, but a man or woman who ever half way succeeds in the business world today learns first of all to control his or her own tongue and to hide, if not to overcome, personal animosities and antipathies.

This is part of the battle and this is why it is such a fine schooling for women and why the working woman develops into a broader creature, above tittle-tattle, envy, jealousy, and barbed speech, if she attains any success or stays long in the rank of toilers in the working world. Occasionally an office is set by the ears on the arrival of the type of woman whose tongue never rests and whose idea of a place of employment is one in which men abound of whom to make conquest.

She uses an office for lack of the opportunity of a parlor and a social position, and is usually cattish in her instincts and likely to antagonize any and all women with whom she comes in contact. However, she is not enough in evidence to be counted among the thousands of women who take their work seriously, if for no better reason than that they must to exist. The former does not stay long in an office. She is usually successful in bringing about her own dismissal.

As far as the tendency to quarel goes, or to be unfriendly one to the other, my observation is that men are not less prone to it than women. Only they go about it a little differently. But, speaking for the whole, I think there is less spite and unfriendliness among people who work together than among women who live at home and are busied with social or domestic matters.

Amusements

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"Within the Law."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

"A girl cannot be paid at the rate of $7 a week and dress at the rate of $12 without getting the extra $5 from somewhere," said the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, the eminent clergyman. "Within the Law," the gripping play which has excited more comment than any other drama of the past decade, brought this statement from the prominent clergyman and physician. Lovers of good acting and absorbing plays will welcome the return engagement of the company when it appears here at the Lyceum tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night.

Dr. Parkhurst's editorial was published in the New York Evening Journal and contained more than one paragraph of scathing denunciation addressed to the great employers who underpay their girls and drive them to temptation.

"Within the Law" tells the story of a New York shop girl who is unjustly accused of theft, seeks revenge after her release from prison by consorting with a gang of "crooks" and preying upon society, always keeping "within the law."

The play which created such a sensational hit when seen here earlier in the season will again be the offering at the Lyceum with the same superb cast as here before.

"Officer 666," which ran all last season at the Gaiety theater in New York city, will be seen at the Lyceum Sunday matinee and night and Monday and Tuesday nights. This play is filled with huinorous and melodramatic moments.

Uncontrollable laughter results from the funny antics of this particular policeman who is induced to part with his uniform for a brief period, while the borrower of it is endeavoring to rescue a lady from the complications that have been woven around her by the machinations of an internationally famous picture thief.

"Officer 666" is easily the best farce of the year. It has all the elements that go to make a successful play, least of which is a charming love story.

Orpheum patrons will see two diving contests next week.

Odiva, the Samoan swimmer and diver, will be one of the two headline acts next week, and in connection with her appearance there will be two diving contests for Duluth amateurs. The contests will be held Tuesday and Friday nights in connection with the regular performance, and on each evening a handsome silver cup will be given by Manager Billings to the winner.

The contests are open to both men and women. Odiva will illustrate a dive and will then give the contestants an opportunity to repeat it. Those desiring to enter the contest may leave their names with Manager Billings at any time before Monday night.

The other headline act next week will be Lillian Shaw, who will be seen for the first time in Duluth.

The attendance this week is breaking Lenten records, and apparently the bill is proving very popular with Orpheum patrons. Three more performances will be given, tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night and the new double headline bill will open with the Sunday matinee.

A new bill consisting of four good vaudeville acts and a three-reel feature film opened at the Empress theater yesterday afternoon for the remainder of the week.

Headlining the bill is the bicycle act presented by the four Valderes, consisting of two men and two women. They execute a number of tricks, both singly, doubly and with all the members of the company, that are far above the average. The young men introduce several comedy features that help keep up interest in the act.

The hit of the show is the musical number of the La Rocco brothers, who play the harp and violin. At the close of their act they introduce a medley of rag time that threatened to break up the show. The two young men were compelled to play encore after encore, until the management had to ring down the curtain because of lack of time.

Clendower and Mannion present the sketch, "Christmas on the Comstock," which proved to be a fair comedy act with its humorous lines and situations. Crawford and Broderick, a young man and woman, introduce several songs and dances that prove acceptable.

The motion picture feature is the three-film comedy reel, "Baffles, the Gentleman Burglar." It scored a hit at the opening performances yesterday. The vaudeville bill will continue until tomorrow evening, with the regular daily matinees.

This evening the management will hold its third tango contest. Prizes totalling $30 will be awarded the best dancers.

BRITISH WOMEN ESCAPE CHINESE.

London, March 13.—The safety of the two Misses Black of the British China Inland mission, who were reported missing after the burning and looting by brigands of the town of Lao Ho Kow, in Hu Peh, is confirmed in an official dispatch from Pekin to the foreign office today. The two women escaped and arrived today at Fan Cheng, farther down the River Han Klang.

Be sure and attend R. R. Forward & Co.'s removal sale; they are offering real live bargains in furniture.

After the dinner.

She—Fine! They know how.
He—Must have a French chef. I never tasted better soup.
She—That was Campbell's Tomato Soup.
He—No! How did you learn that?
She—She told me.
He—Didn't suppose you could buy such a soup.
She—Nor I. It's perfect. And she says it saves a lot of fussing.
He—Clever woman! Why don't we have it some time?
She—We will; any time you say.
He—Good! As it's past midnight, suppose we say today.

Famed throughout the world in her day as one of the most beautiful of women and wealthy and powerful in her kingdom, Dido fell in love with Aeneas, the wanderer. He and his followers had been wandering for nearly twenty years after the fall of Troy and when the men came to Carthage, they were wined and dined by the fair Dido.

And when Aeneas and his men had rested, they decided to go on in their wanderings. But Dido declared her love for Aeneas, and he, remembering his vow to his wife, then waiting for him to return, refused her love and left in the night with his crew. In the morning Dido, finding him gone, threw herself on a funeral pyre she had erected and was burned to death.

The scene this morning showed Dido killing herself and then the funeral procession given in her honor by the people of Carthage, all her subjects. Miss Ruth O'Brien played the part of Dido and was assisted by the other members of the class as follows:

Anna, Lillian Dinhart; Brace, Margaret Besnah; Aeneas, William Craig; Achates, Edward Pelto; Virgilius, Virgil Pedrizetti; the heavenly twins, Ruth and Rachel Fesler; ghost of Sychaeus, Rollin Hawkes; priestess, Alice Hill; court undertaker, John Bacher and Alice Fee, Florence Cheadic, Esther Wessinger, Millett Davis and Louise Williamson, pall bearers.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. C. A. Parsons of 522 Seventeenth avenue east entertained yesterday afternoon in honor of the fifth birthday of her daughter, Lucile. The decorations were in green and white, and the favors were in keeping with the St. Patrick season.

SOCIAL CENTER DIRECTOR CONDEMNS "THE TRAFFIC"

"Such plays as 'The Traffic' should be removed from the stage. While there may be nothing that may be termed objectionable in the play, it exaggerates the moral which it is supposed to carry and brings out the morbid desire of young people who are prone to praise instead of pity the principals."

Such was the comment made last evening by Miss Marguerite Culkin, city social center director, on plays like "The Traffic," which was produced at the Lyceum. She spoke at a meeting of the Irving school social center last night. Miss Culkin said she attended the show yesterday afternoon, not out of her own curiosity, but because of several requests from women about the city. She said that there was absolutely no excuse for such plays and gave as her reason for being opposed to them that they invariably deal with subjects of vicious nature and cannot be anything but a matter of intense fascination to susceptible and romantic youth.

MARGUERITE CULKIN.

Fail to See Inconsistencies.

"Billboard publicity will never do anything but excite curiosity," said Miss Culkin, "and the plays themselves ignore the true causes for vice and supply other causes so glowingly sentimental that they have a direct appeal to young people who cannot see inconsistencies. Such young people should know the truth, but they are impressed by the spurious moral of the 'white slave' play.

"A play which alleges to teach that girls do wrong only because of low wages or high cost of living is an insult to the dignity of girls to which this applies.

Heroine a Martyr.

"To the ordinary shop girl the picturesque idea that a girl that goes wrong is a victim of straitened circumstances, when interpreted with a fascination foreign to every place but the stage, is bound to leave its impression which will do more to demoralize than to uplift. The first thing a girl says about the poor seduced heroine is, 'Wasn't she grand?'"

Touching on the cause of girls being misled, Miss Culkin attributed it strictly to a bad bringing up, bad living and bad housing conditions.

"Economic pressure," she said, "may have something to do with it, but not all. Low ideals and lack of morals are greatly responsible. So is flightiness, impulse and indifference.

Girls Take Initiative.

"There are very few men who will brazenly accost a girl in most any place if the girl did not make the first advances.

"The solution to all this comes, if it comes at all, through teaching physiology and biology; by developing a higher type of manhood and womanhood; but putting matters fairly before people instead of throwing them off the path; by leaving a topic which is both disgusting and odious and not a matter for the discussion of children. If true conditions were pictured in a play they would be so horrible that all people would refuse to see them. As it is now they dramatize it attractively, with nothing but the silver lining and just the shade of the gulf in evidence."

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Men Are as Ready to Quarrel as Women.

A prominent professor in a German university condemns women as quarrelsome and among other things says: "Apparently quarrels and mutual accusations are a necessity of life to females compelled to work together, as in a large government office where large numbers of women clerks are employed."

However it may be with the Germans, who, I had supposed were a phlegmatic, easy tempered race, quarrels cannot be said to seriously disturb the atmosphere of offices in this country, whether government or otherwise. We must give the woman who works credit for having a little common sense.

This is not to say that quarrels never do arise in offices where women are employed together. Of course, they do, just as they do everywhere among women and among men, too, let it be known. There are differences of opinion, doubt, suspicion, question and all the rest of it in offices just as there are wherever human beings congregate, but a man or woman who ever half way succeeds in the business world today learns first of all to control his or her own tongue and to hide, if not to overcome, personal animosities and antipathies.

This is part of the battle and this is why it is such a fine schooling for women and why the working woman develops into a broader creature, above tittle-tattle, envy, jealousy, and barbed speech, if she attains any success or stays long in the rank of toilers in the working world. Occasionally an office is set by the ears on the arrival of the type of woman whose tongue never rests and whose idea of a place of employment is one in which men abound of whom to make conquest.

She uses an office for lack of the opportunity of a parlor and a social position, and is usually catfish in her instincts and likely to antagonize any and all women with whom she comes in contact. However, she is not enough in evidence to be counted among the thousands of women who take their work seriously, if for no better reason than that they must to exist. The former does not stay long in an office. She is usually successful in bringing about her own dismissal.

As far as the tendency to quarrel goes, or to be unfriendly one to the other, my observation is that men are not less prone to it than women. Only they go about it a little differently. But, speaking for the whole, I think there is less spite and unfriendliness among people who work together than among women who live at home and are busied with social or domestic matters.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—"Within the Law."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

"A girl cannot be paid at the rate of $7 a week and dress at the rate of $12 without getting the extra $5 from somewhere," said the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, the eminent clergyman, "Within the Law," the gripping play, which has excited more comment than any other drama of the past decade, brought this statement from the prominent clergyman and physician. Lovers of good acting and absorbing plays will welcome the return engagement of the company when it appears here at the Lyceum tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night.

Dr. Parkhurst's editorial was published in the New York Evening Journal and contained more than one paragraph of scathing denunciation addressed to the great employers who underpay their girls and drive them to temptation.

"Within the Law" tells the story of a New York shop girl who is unjustly accused of theft, seeks revenge after her release from prison by consorting with a gang of "crooks" and preying upon society, always keeping "within the law."

The play which created such a sensational hit when seen here earlier in the season will again be the offering at the Lyceum with the same superb cast as here before.

"Officer 666," which ran all last season at the Gaiety theater in New York city, will be seen at the Lyceum Sunday matinee and night and Monday and Tuesday nights. This play is filled with humorous and melodramatic moments.

Uncontrollable laughter results from the funny antics of this particular policeman who is induced to part with his uniform for a brief period, while the borrower of it is endeavoring to rescue a lady from the complications that have been woven around her by the machinations of an internationally famous picture thief.

"Officer 666" is easily the best farce of the year. It has all the elements that go to make a successful play, least of which is a charming love story.

Orpheum patrons will see two diving contests next week.

Odiva, the Samoan swimmer and diver, will be one of the two headline acts next week, and in connection with her appearance there will be two diving contests for Duluth amateurs. The contests will be held Tuesday and Friday nights in connection with the regular performance, and on each evening a handsome silver cup will be given by Manager Billings to the winner.

The contests are open to both men and women. Odiva will illustrate a dive and will then give the contestants an opportunity to repeat it. Those desiring to enter the contest may leave their names with Manager Billings at any time before Monday night.

The other headline act next week will be Lillian Shaw, who will be seen for the first time in Duluth.

The attendance this week is breaking Lenten records, and apparently the bill is proving very popular with Orpheum patrons. Three more performances will be given, tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night and the new double headline bill will open with the Sunday matinee.

A new bill consisting of four good vaudeville acts and a three-reel feature film opened at the Empress theater yesterday afternoon for the remainder of the week.

Headlining the bill is the bicycle act presented by the four Valderes, consisting of two men and two women. They execute a number of tricks, both singly, doubly and with all the members of the company, that are far above the average. The young men introduce several comedy features that help keep up interest in the act.

The bit of the show is the musical number of the La Rocco brothers, who play the harp and violin. At the close of their act they introduce a medley of rag time that threatened to break up the show. The two young men were compelled to play encore after encore, until the management had to ring down the curtain because of lack of time.

Glendower and Mannion present the sketch, "Christmas on the Comstock," which proved to be a fair comedy act with its humorous lines and situations. Crawford and Broderick, a young man and woman, introduce several songs and dances that prove acceptable.

The motion picture feature is the three-film comedy reel, "Baffles, the Gentleman Burglar." It scored a hit at the opening performances yesterday. The vaudeville bill will continue until tomorrow evening, with the regular daily matinees.

This evening the management will hold its third tango contest. Prizes totalling $30 will be awarded the best dancers.

BRITISH WOMEN ESCAPE CHINESE.

London, March 13.—The safety of the two Misses Black of the British China Inland mission, who were reported missing after the burning and looting by brigands of the town of Lao Ho Kow, in Hu Peh, is confirmed in an official dispatch from Pekin to the foreign office today. The two women escaped and arrived today at Fan Cheng, farther down the River Han Kiang.

Be sure and attend R. R. Forward & Co.'s removal sale; they are offering real live bargains in furniture.

She—Fine! They know how.
He—Must have a French chef. I never tasted better soup.
She—That was Campbell's Tomato Soup.
He—No! How did you learn that?
She—She told me.
He—Didn't suppose you could buy such a soup.
She—Nor I. It's perfect. And she says it saves a lot of fussing.
He—Clever woman! Why don't we have it some time?
She—We will; any time you say.
He—Good! As it's past midnight, suppose we say today.

BLOODLESS NAVAL WARS

Big Dreadnoughts to Be Operated By Electrical Devices.

Two Dozen Men Will Be Able to Fight the Boat.

New York, March 13.—There's a young man in this great city who thinks that the practically bloodless naval battle is to be the contest of the future. No, he has no intention of doing away with war or of minimizing the destruction of property. On the contrary he plans to make it possible entirely to destroy.

But so, how about the loss of life? Battleships carry large crews. Yes, ordinary battleships do, but not Samuel Orkin's kind, for his kind is extraordinary.

He believes that it will be possible to operate a full sized battleship by electrically controlled manikins! Think of that!

So far he has proved his theories in a nine-foot model. He is frank to say that he will have to perfect his apparatus in many particulars before it can be applied to a real life-size dreadnaught. But he does not see why he can not perfect it.

Has a Fine Model.

Orkin has had his model in a Broadway store. It is a sort of a battleship that would delight every youngster between the ages of 18 and 14, but she will do more than that. She will send a thrill of appreciation to every old naval officer, every bluejacket in the navy of Uncle Sam, for she is a perfect and complete counterpart of the latest type of superdreadnought—complete to the minutest details, to the new fighting masts, the searchlights in the tops and on the bridge, the anchor winches, the signal lights, the wireless, the great steel rifles in the miniature turrets, the triple screws, the ship's band and the bluejackets and marines on her decks.

To have looked at her through the windows of the store one would have gathered that some toy factory had outdone itself, and created a marvelously correct model of a new battleship. That was a good surmise as far as it went. But when you get behind those windows with young Orkin, and he touches a plug and then walks across the room and folds his arms, and as suddenly the crash of a miniature band, playing "The Star Spangled Banner," rings out, and as the deck winches begin to revolve and the anchors to come up with no one within twenty feet of the vessel, and as the flags are hoisted slowly, and as the signal lights begin to flash in the tops, and as miniature metal men run along the decks, exactly as though they were human, climb the shroud ladders and begin to operate the searchlights, you decide you have actually discovered a new race of Lilliputians or that magic has been outmagicked.

The Wireless Starts.

Then as your chin drops and you gape in wonder, leaping out into the room, sharp and staccato come the crackling sparks of a real wireless. The signal lights are flashing Morse messages to other imaginary ships, and, did you know the code, you could pick up that the officers of the dreadnought are flashing orders to other imaginary ships to fall into double battle line.

Then doors in the superstructure of the ship swing mysteriously open, and a host of bluejackets, running from all parts of the deck, disappear through them into the heart of the ship. Suddenly the three propellers begin to revolve and the rudder turns as though in response to the touch of the office! on the bridge to his steering levers, and the ship is under way.

With her decks cleared for action and her crew below—all save the little group on the bridge, clustered around her commanding officer—you see her apparently steaming away in a broad battle curve. As she does so the guns of the lower and the superimposed turret forward swing to the right, and a puff of smoke leaps from one of them. The report makes all the spectators jump. Instantly the next gun speaks and the next, until all are fired, when the turrets swing again, this time to the left.

The Enemy Sunk.

Now the after turrets are taking up the cannonade, shooting their spirals of smoke far out and filling the room with the smell of powder. Next, as the ship supposedly draws closer to the imaginary enemy, the smaller guns in the broadside battery—the six and eight-inch—come into fire, swing to a new angle after each shot. When fifty rounds have crashed out the enemy is supposed to have been sunk, and the propellers of the victorious ship are stopped, the doors in her superstructure open again, and her ship's company of several hundred metal jackies and marines—of about the size of the average lead soldier of childhood—pour out again, drop anchor, swab down decks and generally put the vessel shipshape. Then Orkin, the inventor, stepped back.

"There," said he, "is an exact replica of a modern fighting ship, run and operated entirely by electrically controlled manikins. I believe a full-size battleship could be operated in the same manner. That would mean that two warring nations could send their fleets against each other and do battle practically without loss of life. With my electrical discoveries and devices it would take but ten men to operate the greatest superdreadnought in the world instead of the 1,500 now required.

Settled With Blood.

"In time, when I have perfected my work, war could be carried on and the gravest national disputes settled between nations almost without the shedding of blood. This would mean that naval battles would simply entail the expense caused by the destruction of vessels by other electrically operated fighting ships.

"For the navigation and direction of such a newly equipped vessel it might take five or six men; the manipulation of the electricity that would govern the operation of every other thing on board, including the guns and all fighting appliances, might need as many more. Thus with a crew of ten to fifteen men the ship could go to sea fit to cope with any other vessel of her size manned by more than 1,000 tars.

"With a navy of these electrically controlled, electrically fought battleships, upon the destruction of one of which the maximum loss of life would be held to a dozen men, a nation's fighting force of sailors would never become depleted, the vessel could be fought to the last ditch and not be forced to surrender, as so often happens, to save needless loss of life, and with the human element of fear wiped out I believe a grim, emotionless, electrically operated fleet could defeat any equal sized squadron run by flesh and blood that could be brought against it."

FARMERS SUBJECT TO INCOME TAX

Some Things That Are Exempted, Some That Are Not.

Washington, March 13.—If a farmer is so fortunate as to have a net income of more than $3,000 a year in case he is a bachelor, or $4,000 if married, he is subject to the income tax. While the interest of most farmers in this subject is purely academic, the department of agriculture has received inquiries indicating that some wish to know just what is required of them under the new law.

The income tax law places a tax of 1 per cent upon all net incomes of more than $3,000, with an additional tax on incomes of $20,000 or more. The first question arising in the minds of most people is what constitutes a net income? For a man receiving a regular salary, or a business man with a good system of bookkeeping, it is easy to determine. But for the farmer who receives no stated income, and who often fails to keep accurate account of receipts and expenditures, his net income is more difficult to calculate.

In arriving at his net income, says the internal revenue bureau, the farmer should start with his gross income. This would consist especially of all receipts from the sale of products of every description, including wool and hides of animals slaughtered. But he may deduct from these items the amounts actually paid as purchase money for the animals sold or slaughtered. When animals raised by the owner are sold or slaughtered, however, their value should not be deducted.

From the gross income there should be deducted amounts of money paid as expenses for operating the farm and producing the farm products, livestock, etc. This would include hired labor, farm supplies bought that are necessary to carry on the business and not an investment that represents principal, etc. Expenses for repairs on farm property may be deducted.

The expense of supporting the family cannot be deducted from the gross income, but farmers are not required to include in their income the produce taken from the farm and consumed by the family.

SUPPORTS PALMER CHILD LABOR BILL

Pennsylvania Organization Is Now Working for the Measure.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 13.—Pennsylvania men and women who have been waging war against child labor have rallied to the support of the Palmer Federal child labor bill, which provides for a Federal law prohibiting interstate commerce in commodities made by children.

The Pennsylvania Child Labor association, which is working for an eight-hour law in this state, adopted a resolution at the last meeting of its board of directors urging members of congress to work and vote for the bill.

Not only has the association indorsed the bill, but it has sent the following resolution to women's clubs, civic organizations, progressive leagues and religious bodies, urging them to adopt it and work for the measure:

"Whereas, There are fully 40,000 children in this state, scattered in every county and city and in almost every community, who would be released from long hours and, in many thousands of cases, from night work, by the passage of the act, be it

"Resolved, by the Pennsylvania Child Labor association, That every congressman from Pennsylvania be and he is hereby asked by us, his constituents, to work and vote for the Palmer Federal child labor bill (H. R. 12292) and to support no amendments that in any way change the working hours or age limits set in the original bill, or in any other way destroy its intent to protect young working children."

Following is part of the text of the Palmer bill:

"On and after Jan. 1, 1915, no person, partnership, association or corporation, or any agent or employe therefor, manufacturing, producing or dealing in the products of any mine or quarry in which children under 16 years of age are employed or permitted to work at any time; or of any mill, cannery, workshop, factory or manufacturing establishment in which children under 14 years of age are employed or permitted to work at any time or in which children between 14 and 16 years of age are employed or permitted to work more than eight hours in any day or more than six days a week, or after the hour of 7 p. m. or before the hour of 7 a. m. of any day, shall ship or offer or deliver for shipment such products in interstate commerce."

TO ANNUL DEAD MAN'S MARRIAGE

Curious Proceeding Started By Son of Deceased Boilermaker.

Centre Moriches, L. I., March 13.—An effort to have annulled the marriage of a man who has been dead three months comes as an aftermath to the romance of Thomas S. Sutherland and Mrs. Sarah Murray of this place. The pair were childhood sweethearts in Troy, and seven days after they were married here last November, Sutherland died, leaving his widow an estate of $30,000. Word has been received from Albany that Charles H. Sutherland had brought an action in the supreme court to have the marriage of his father annulled. The son alleges that his father was induced to marry Mrs. Murray last November when he was of unsound mind.

Seven days after the elder Sutherland was married he died, and it was only at his death that it was learned that he had been married. He left his wife $30,000, and cut off his son Charles with $100. Immediately following that, the son filed a formal notice of contest against the will, alleging that his father had been of unsound mind for some time before his death. Hearings are now being held in the will contest.

Sutherland was a wealthy boilermaker of Troy and had twice been a widower when he came here last October to reclaim the sweetheart of his youth. The old acquaintance began in Troy, where both were young together. The girl, Sarah, was adopted into the Sutherland family when her father died, and it was then that Sutherland fell in love with her.

At almost the same time, however, a young mechanic named John E. Murray came to Troy and became the successful suitor for the young girl's hand. They were married soon after in spite of the disappointment of young Sutherland, and almost immediately the Murrays went to Brooklyn to live. The husband became very successful in the furniture business and later they moved to Centre Moriches, where Murray died.

Sutherland came to Centre Moriches in the summer of 1913 and in November married Mrs. Murray. She had two grown sons.

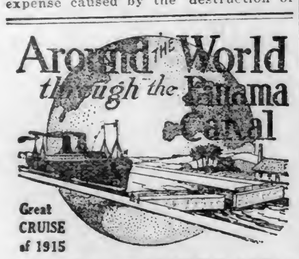

The fact of the wedding did not become publicly known, however, until Nov. 24, 1913, when Sutherland died. Then it developed that he had taken her as his wife seven days before his death. A will was left giving her his fortune of about $30,000, with the right to dispose of it as she pleased.

It was then that his son, Charles H. Sutherland, appeared on the scene and said that some of the fortune was his by right. He had been given $100 as his portion of the estate. Charles H. Sutherland served notice of a second step in his effort to break the will.

ACCIDENT WEAKENED.

Claims Death Resulted From Typhoid and Compensation Is Sought.

Crystal Falls, Mich., March 12—(Special to The Herald.)—The state accident board at Lansing has taken under advisement an interesting case originating at Crystal Falls, the decision of which will aid materially in establishing the limit of a corporation's liability for casualties or deaths of employes. William Richards suffered an injury to his foot in the Bristol mines last summer and while still incapacitated he became ill with typhoid fever and died. The widow applied for indemnity under the compensation law. A hearing, at which the state board, the Bristol Mining company and Mrs. Richards were represented, was held last fall as provided by the statute, and by a vote of two to one the application was denied. Former State Senator M. H. Moriarty appealed in behalf of the widow to the full state board and the case was argued recently. It is contended by Mr. Moriarty that Richards' system had been so weakened as a result of the accident that it was unable to withstand the attack of the disease. The attorneys for the mining company argue that there was no connection between the accident and the subsequent fatal illness.

STARTING NONE TOO EARLY.

"It's a good thing," said a prominent Duluth citizen to The Herald yesterday, "that the plans for a midsummer festival and pageant for 1915 have been taken up thus early. It is a big thing, it must be done in a big way, and there will be plenty to do every minute from now till the show opens next year."

It is indeed a good thing.

It is a big jump from the Lark-o'-the-Lake to the Fete of the Voyageurs.

And it needs a long running start to make it.

That's why it is wise to begin this early, and why the preliminaries should be pushed as rapidly as possible so that the general committee that is being made up can begin soon to make definite plans.

The news that a sardine factory is to be started on the shores of the Sea of Galilee rather makes it easier to understand some references to tremendous numbers of fish taken at a single haul in that water.

THE NEED OF A CITY AND COUNTY HOSPITAL.

On a cold day in January of this year a man fell on a slippery sidewalk in Duluth, and was found unconscious.

It was supposed that the fall had knocked him senseless. Medical examination, however, showed that the cause was fainting from acute dilatation of the heart.

The man had neither friends nor money. He needed immediate attention. Attempts to get him into one of the hospitals failed—both were full. Precious moments were lost while the attempt to find a place for the sick man was being made.

Finally he was removed to a lodging house, and the county poor commission was asked to look after him. He was loaded into the county ambulance, but he died from heart failure before he reached the poor farm hospital.

Now if there had been a county and city hospital, for which the Woman's Council is working, this terrible and fatal thing—WHICH MIGHT HAPPEN TO ANY MAN—could not have occurred.

And this is but one instance out of many that happen almost daily to point the need of a city and county hospital.

Friday the 13th again—now's your chance to say you knew something would happen.

A GOOD MAN IN AN IMPORTANT PLACE.

The city is to be congratulated on the decision of Frank Hicks, the executive agent of the city's welfare work, not to resign to resume the practice of law.

There are plenty of lawyers, but very few men who can successfully handle the delicate and highly valuable offices entrusted to Mr. Hick's care. It takes gentleness, firmness, tact, sympathy, knowledge of human nature to do his work, and he has these in abundance. Doubtless it would be financially profitable for Mr. Hicks to return to his law practice, but it would be a great loss to the city, for his place would be hard indeed to fill. We are glad he is to stay.

Senators Works and Fall, both Republicans, are demanding that the United States army be sent into Mexico. How many soldier sons or brothers have the senators whom they are so eager to lose?

THE GOOD OF ENCOURAGING GARDEN INTEREST.

One of the signs of approaching spring that has a particularly good look to The Herald is the preparation that is being made for continuing on a larger scale than ever the work of interesting the young people of Duluth in home gardening.

The West End Commercial club is giving its plans a wider scope than ever. It is preparing suitable prizes to stimulate this interest, and The Herald is grateful to this organization for the opportunity it has given it to participate in this work. The West End Commercial club has done splendid service along this line, and the value of its work to the community has increased every year.

The Homecroft committee of the Duluth Commercial club, too, deserves credit for its interest and service. As an indication of how far the process of awakening interest among the young people has gone, may be mentioned the fact that this committee is distributing four thousand copies of Arthur Crassweller's excellent little garden primer, and that these copies are all going to those who are interested enough to request them. C. E. Roe, The Herald's gardening expert, is arranging to provide good seeds for the children practically at cost, and this, too, is a valuable service.

This work helps make the children producers, as L. A. Simonson of the West End Commercial club puts it. Moreover, it helps make them homemakers; and the home—the right kind of home, the kind we wish for everybody—is not bounded by the four walls of a building, but by the four sides of a lot in which there is space for flowers and shrubs and vines and vegetables.

It is all good work, work for the betterment of Duluth. More power to it!

George Washington wasn't as far-seeing as we have thought. Otherwise he would have warned the government against entangling investigations, too.

A MAN!

The Fairmont Sentinel says that the state might go farther and fare worse than with Ole O. Sageng of Dalton, in Ottertail county, as governor.

It might. In fact, it often—usually, indeed—has fared worse.

Some fifteen years ago an awkward, homely, uncouthly clad new member rose in the house of representatives of the Minnesota legislature to speak to a pending issue.

The members nudged each other. "Listen," they said. "This will be good!" They expected a treat in the form of a crude Norwegian dialect performance. They looked for diversion from this raw youth who seemed so out of place in that high and splendid body.

Well, they got their diversion, but it wasn't quite what they expected. They got real eloquence, couched in impeccable English and with its periods handsomely rounded and beautifully turned. They got above all, penetrating common sense that went straight to the heart of the issue without regard to this special interest or that, this lobby or that, this party or that.

And for the rest of that session of 1899 they called Ole "the singed cat," because he was so much better than he looked.

He was back in the session of 1901, a respected and much consulted member, though not always a talkative one. Though he could talk—how he could talk when his heart was stirred!—he had the rare good sense not to overdo it. He talked seldom, but when he talked he had something to say, and he said it so that everybody listened.

Ole dropped out of the sessions of 1903 and 1905. He was—and is—a farmer, and his farm work held his attention. In 1906 there was a scramble for the senate in the Ottertail county district. Both the Democrats and Republicans had candidates, and there was a struggle for the Republican nomination, which was practically equivalent to election. In the midst of the clamor came a quiet word from the country: "Wait till Ole finishes his plowing, and you'll see." It got to be a byword in the district. When Ole finished his plowing he emerged as the Populist candidate for the senate, and he was elected with about twice as many votes as the other two candidates had between them.

And he has been in the senate ever since. He'll be in the next senate if he wants to be. He is there under the label of "Populist" still. Of course there is no Populist party, except Ole. He is it and it is he. But the label gives him a detached position peculiarly fitted to his make-up. It leaves him free of any party entanglements, and that's the only way he can breathe well. It gives him a viewpoint that lets him see straight into the heart of things. Yet he is Democrat enough to mount a Democrat ticket—a John A. Johnson Democrat, a P. M. Ringdal Democrat, a Woodrow Wilson Democrat.

In the senate chamber Senator Sageng is first at his desk and last to leave. He reads every bill, they say. Certainly he appears to know the contents and meaning of every bill—not only the parts that the bill-writers intended to be known, but the parts they did not intend to be known. Ole has been a thorn in the side of many a guileful bill-writer who had little innocent-appearing phrases in his measure which nobody was supposed to know about until after the bill had become law.

Ole is no longer uncouth, but he is just as plain and simple as he ever was. He can see just as straight and he can talk just as straight in his modestly decent apparel as he could in the farmer's "other clothes" he wore in the session of 1899. He's homespun, but all wool and a yard wide.

There isn't a squarer man in Minnesota than Ole Sageng. There isn't a man in Minnesota more loyal to the public interest, more doggedly determined in the public interest, more eloquently effective in the public interest, than Ole Sageng. He carries conviction in every atom of his being. No man can encounter his straight, unflinching gaze without believing in him. No man can witness the earnestness of his bearing or see the little quiver in his lips when he rises to speak on a vital issue of which his heart is full, without believing in him and without saying: "HERE IS A MAN!"

Glance at the political stage of Minnesota as it is being set for a governorship campaign and election. It is a pitiable scramble of weak men, designing men, men aspiring beyond their deserts, men standing for high things openly and sordid things secretly, men seeking place and power for ignoble and selfish reasons, men ready to throttle all good impulses for the greed of office. Not a single figure in the lot fits the high place he seeks. Not a single figure in the lot fits the high opportunity that awaits a real leader who comes up from the people and who will stand for the broadest and best things for all the people.

Minnesota needs a MAN! Minnesota needs a man who is big and broad, fearless and strong, free and wise, with a heart that beats in sympathy with the needs and aspirations of the plain people, a keen vision that can separate the true from the sham, a steady judgment that rises higher than the pinchbeck foolishness of the antic reformer, a moral sense that knows the difference between revolving in circles and steady, sure progress upward and onward.

Minnesota, at this juncture, needs such a man as it never needed him before. And it has such men, though they are not now seeking the governorship.

Out on the prairie of Ottertail county, with no thought of glory and no thought of self-seeking, apart from this rabble of jostling place-hunters, stands such a man today, surveying the fields where the vanishing of the snow incites to thoughts of seed-time and harvest.

Minnesota seeks a man. There one stands!—a staunch Norsk Cincinnatus who is bigger than parties, bigger than self-seeking, bigger than the whole herd of scrambling job-hunters.

If Minnesota wants honesty, courage, common sense, the eloquence of sincerity and truth, the well-digested learning of quiet evenings by the farm fireside, the knowledge of state affairs gained by years of untrammeled and untainted experience in public life, the will and the power to be governor of and for all the people of all the state, it might turn its back upon the ugly scramble now before its eyes and seek these things where Ole Sageng stands, viewing his fields and planning his spring plowing.

If it did, "when Ole finishes his plowing" he could sweep this state like a prairie fire driven by a gale through the tall grass of a dry autumn.

Wanted—A Program!

Editorial in Farm, Stock and Home.

Minnesota Progressives not directly interested in the spoils of battle, quite as well as a general public inured through previous campaigns to political acrobatics, no doubt enjoy to the full the present political situation created by the primary law and the fact that it works both ways. The Progressives, be it remembered, stayed awake nights and broke the first day of the week two years ago convincing people that the primary was the tool with which an aroused and free electorate was to smash the "machine." They got what they wanted in the primary law, and shortly thereafter just what they did not want at the primary election. The reason, save to a spoils-Progressive, is fairly clear. Against the "machine" they came under divided leadership—divided because the one uniting tie to the Progressive movement was "we want the jobs!" And on that platform men seldom stand together. Having experienced one decisive defeat they now propose to lay aside all personal considerations, and reunite as one man to defeat the "machine." All politically proper, but who shall the leader be, how chosen, and on what platform? "Anything to beat Eberhart!" will not do. A negative state policy at this time is impossible. What have the various candidates to offer superior to the program of the "machine?" If all or any of them stand for concrete betterment of conditions they have kept the secret well. The talk in conclave and at the conference table is "anything to beat Eberhart;" the talk on the street is of state economy, reform, etc. Which is meant and which is put on is for the voter to determine.

The result is just what must, under such conditions, be expected. The Progressives are without vital purpose, and being without purpose are without leadership. The state is anxiously awaiting the voice of some man who can put its ideals into words—and meanwhile, in the face of this opportunity, the best the Progressives can attain is an elimination conference to decide which one of the many want-the-jobbers is best fitted for a political whaling! No big purpose unites their factions, and yet they decry "minority rule," and in trying to escape the rule of an opposing minority they declare for the rule of a little coterie, such as always determines the actions of conventions. The elimination proposition is absurd, and especially so when coming from such staunch champions of popular rule as the Progressives have always professed to be. The only way to eliminate factionalism from the Progressive ranks is to give the movement a goal bigger than the political slaughter of any man, and then a united leadership may come.

The primary is serving its purpose. The only trouble with the law is that the Progressives-for-office cannot hope to arrive that way. Since it does not happen to serve their personal will the law is to be set aside.

This is Minnesota Progressivism of the office-hunting brand, 1914 model, and guaranteed to strip its gears.

The Pencil

Fred R. Angwin in the Springfield Republican: I am the pencil. I come from the balsamic hills made fragrant by the breath of kingly cedars. In my heart I carry the black carbon of Pluto's world—half brother of the diamond.

I memorandum the business of a continent and strike the trial balance in the traffic of the nations.

In the dizzy hours of morning I note the doings of the world, while presses wait like couchant beasts to fling my words to sleeping millions.

I am a factor in the world's great things; millions of nervous fingers reach for me every hour.

Through me captains of New Thought lead on fast gathering hosts to make the creed of yesterday tomorrow's statute. With me the ermined seers mark out the canon that harmonizes with the Basic law.

With me the pale-faced scholar summons Grant and Moltke and Hannibal and Genghis Kahn and makes their phantom armies shake the world once more.

I tabulate the data from the crucible of wizard men whose alchemy distils new serum to baffle death again.

I trace the drunken letters of the child, whose dimpled fingers first try to form the characters of fabled Cadmus.

I sketch the song of the eager poet, the wings of whose white soul beat the cirrus clouds to shreds.

I am the Democrat; the whittled comrade of the ragged urchin, confidant of the smooth tongued diplomat, bookkeeper of the lonely sheep herd upon the mountain side.

I am the Cosmopolitan; known in every mart where Barter changes money, in every port where commerce spreads her sails, in every city where the brain of man doth fabricate.

The Song of David.

Oh, our manhood's prime vigor! No spirit feels waste,
Not a muscle is stopped in its playing nor sinew unbraced.
Oh, the wild joys of living! the leaping from rock up to rock,
The strong rending of boughs from the fir tree, the cool silver shock
Of the plunge in a pool's living water, the hunt of the bear,
And the sultriness showing a lion is couched in his lair.
And the meal, the rich dates yellowed over with gold dust divine,
And the locust flesh steeped in the pitcher, the full draught of wine,
And the sleep in the dried river channel where bulrushes tell
That the water was wont to go warbling so softly and well.
How good is man's life, the mere living! how fit to employ
All the heart and the soul and the senses forever in joy!

—Robert Browning.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Here is an example of the havoc wrought by the long arm of coincidence.

Otis Wingo, large, handsome, plausible congressman from Arkansas, was about to make a speech in regard to an important bill then up for discussion. Desiring to make it an effective speech, he racked his brain for some special headliner that would make his remarks remembered long after he had sat down.

An apt little poem occurred to him. Just what the poem was about need not concern us, but it was a good little poem that summed up Wingo's thoughts better than all phraseology possible in mere prose. It had been a long time since a poem had forced its way into the debates or the Congressional Record, and Wingo felt that he would make a hit.

Well, he talked along, saving his poem for dessert, and just when he was clearing his throat to begin the first stanza, Chairman Fitzgerald of the appropriations committee inquired:

"Will the gentleman yield for one minute?"

"Certainly," said the polite Wingo.

And if Fitzgerald didn't get up and say a poem!—Fitzgerald, who never uttered a line of verse before in his life! It was a very sad poem, about a calf that wabbled as it walked, but it served to take the edge off poetry for the rest of the day. Wingo wisely did not undertake to spring the verses he had all coiled and ready in his throat. He sat down a sad and dejected man.

Blair Lee, the new senator from Maryland, is a smooth-faced, huskily built chap with short white hair, a captivating smile and such a kindly manner that he is almost motherly. He is the kind one might confide one's troubles to on short acquaintance.

Though he was born rich, mixing well with the common people is one of the things at which Lee excels. In the course of his campaign he stopped to talk to a great many people in their homes.

At one place he was greeted rather gloomily by a man who said:

"I'm willing to vote for you, but you'll pardon me if I don't make any great fuss over you just now, because I'm not in a very jolly mood. My wife's sick and the cook has left."

"Shucks. Why worry about a cook," said Lee. "Where's the kitchen? I'll get dinner."

And he did. He's a good cook, too.

For years Lee has found his main sport—aside from politics—in puttering about his farm in Maryland. Every once in a while he takes a notion to do the cooking. He likes to stroll about in the early morning picking up a piece of wire here, or kicking a loose stone out of the path there—just messing around. To look at him, one would guess also that he is a man who would content himself by the hour in front of a log fire with his slippers on, patiently working rebuses or playing dominoes.

Two or three restaurants in Washington schedule on their menu cards "Wilson pudding."

If you are of an inquisitive turn of mind and order "Wilson pudding" to quiet your curiosity, you will find that it is nothing but plain, old-fashioned bread pudding of everyday commerce. The explanation is that whenever President Wilson sends in nominations for dessert, bread pudding is usually his first choice.

William Jennings Bryan went to a little town in Virginia one warm summer day to deliver a Chautauqua address. When he struck town he wore a long frock coat with silk-faced lapels, striped trousers and everything just the way a statesman would.

Members of the reception committee expressed themselves to each other as pleasantly surprised, as they had heard that Bryan had been speaking in a dinky little black alpaca jacket. They thought his stuff would go all the better if he were dressed like a regular statesman. But they had still another surprise coming to them. When Bryan got up to speak he made a lightning change and wore the dinky little alpaca jacket. The frock coat was all right to travel in, but when he speaks on a hot day he insists on wearing his working clothes.

Speaking of a certain associate who was making a speech, Representative "Hank" Barnhart of Indiana remarked the other day: "I never knew it to fail. Whenever that fellow strikes something that he knows absolutely nothing about he immediately starts an advertising campaign to make his ignorance known to all."

Representative James Sanford Davenport of Oklahoma has been twice married and each time his wife was a Cherokee Indian. In his official biography, Davenport states that he was the only inter-married white man who ever held the position of speaker of the Cherokee legislature.

Fastened conspicuously to the desk of Representative Reed of New Hampshire is a neat little placard in Reed's own handwriting which says: "Never Again."

Ask Reed what it is that the "Never Again" motto is intended to keep in his mind, and he will flush up, swallow, and reply mysteriously that it is "just a little memorandum." That is as far into the particulars as he is willing to go.

A Discreet Daddy.

My daddy's always telling me
About how good he used to be;
He did what he was told to do,
And he was neat and tidy, too;
He learned his lessons every day,
And he would rather work than play;
But when my grandpa's visiting
With us, my daddy, if I'm bad,
Forgets to say a single thing
About his goodness as a lad.

My daddy says he never told
A fib or made his parents scold
Because he did things that were wrong;
He always tried to help along
By being good and kind and sweet
And eating what boys ought to eat;
But when my grandma visits here
My daddy never boasts to me
About how good and sweet and dear
A little boy he used to be.

My daddy always took delight
In doing only what was right
When he was just about my size;
He wanted to be great and wise;
But when my grandpa comes and when
My grandma's here to visit, then
My daddy merely gives a wink
Or smiles, if I've been kind of wild,
And doesn't try to make us think
That he was once an angel child.

When an Idea Comes.

Goethe: Every idea appears at first as a strange visitor, and when it begins to be realized it is hardly to be distinguished from fantasy and fantastry.

Wanted—A Real Man for State Executive

Views of the state press on a much needed change.

It Means Political Liberty.

Long Prairie Leader: Two years ago Eberhart carried five counties in the primary election. His opposition carried eighty-one counties.

That is the real reason for the machine's desperate opposition to the get-together conference in Minneapolis week after next.

The Eberhart supporters know that if they can keep the opposition divided they can probably continue to win. They know if the opposition gets together, that he is defeated.

This is the reason back of the opposition to the proposed get together conference.

All the talk about "violating the primary law" is the simplest bunk—the real reason for the opposition to the conference is that the success of the conference means the defeat of the machine.

Have High Ideals.

Aitkin Republican: Those people who are throwing stones at the coming conference of anti-machine Republicans are knowingly and intentionally helping to support the most corrupt and boss-ridden administration Minnesota ever had, or they are unwittingly allowing themselves to be used by that same administration.

The people who are interested in the coming conference are not opposed to the primary election law, they would be first to fight for it—but they are endeavoring to make the best use of that law by organized understanding, that the opposition is taking advantage of by organized understanding.

If It's Strong Enough It May.

Mahnomen Pioneer: Anti-machine Republicans are in earnest about the forthcoming elimination conference. The Pioneer predicts that the outcome of the conference and the decision of the candidates who are "eliminated" will have much to do with the decision of Governor Eberhart about again becoming a candidate.

It's Only Chance.

Park Rapids Clipper: Suppose this elimination convention to be held in Minneapolis the nineteenth of this month should happen to decide on some good clean-cut business man outside the present persistent officeseekers for governor? Worse things could happen.

It's Not to Be Ignored.

Fairmont Sentinel: St. Paul and Minneapolis papers are just beginning to get wise to the fact that the anti-Eberhart elimination is too big a thing to ignore.

A Democratic Opportunity.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: It is safe to say that at least two-thirds of the Republican vote of the state is against Eberhart, and if the Republicans of this majority are really in dead earnest about putting him on the shelf, they can turn to at the general election in November and vote for the Democratic candidate, and the thing will be done like fallin' off a log. And if they are only one half as honest as they would have us believe, they will do just that.

It is the only possible way this state can rid itself of the Eberhart incubus, and if the Democrats overlook the opportunity they should forever hold their peace.

The Promises of Spring

From C. Du Fay Robertson's "Down the Year": You have wished for much that you have not received? Well, what of that? So have I. Is that a failure of spring's pledge? No. The year has always brought for you what you read pledged on that blue scroll. You have not received it? That is a different matter. Did you go after it? Did you wait and watch and stretch hands for it? Did you let the year into your heart with it? The year will always redeem the promise of the spring. Remember that spring is promising the very things you need to make you more beautiful and happy. Why should you not receive them? You must go out after them, look for them. The year has always brought them, but they will never be thrown into your lap; you must reach up to get them. The things that are good and true and beautiful? The good you want to do? The blessings your soul craves? Never has passed a year that has not brought them. If you have missed them, it is your fault, for in God's good world are all these. And the soft blue sky of the spring promises them. * * * I will try to find more of them this year.

A Changed Place.

The Popular Magazine: A Washington gentleman recently called on the secretary of state in behalf of a young friend who wanted to get into the consular service. As he cooled his heels in the anteroom, along with the usual crowd that lays siege to Mr. Bryan's office, he recognized in one of the colored messengers the man who had taken in his card when he had called at the state department during the last administration. Beckoning to the negro, the visitor engaged him in conversation.

"Isn't the crowd here today something unusual?" he asked.

"No, indeed, sir," replied the messenger. "This ain't nothing to what it is some days. This here anteroom and the corridor out there is most generally filled with people. No, sir; this is regular."

"I suppose that you pick up a good many tips during the day?"

"I gits some, sir; I gits some; but not so many as when Mr. Root and Mr. Knox was here. Fewer people came then than they do now, but I got more tips. Seems like a different class of gentlemen uster call on the old secretaries than what sees Mr. Bryan."

"A different class!" exclaimed the astonished visitor.

"Yes, indeed, sir. The gentlemen what saw Mr. Root and Mr. Knox dressed in long-tailed coats and high, silk hats, and carried gloves and canes, and they came to the department in automobiles and carriages. But the delegations what calls on Mr. Bryan all walks, and they don't wear no fancy clothes, neither. They wears baggy pants, and most of 'em is got red necks."

Inefficiency Is Dishonesty.

Milwaukee Journal: The first step in governmental economy is to see that every employe, whether he be a legislator, an executive or a clerk under the civil service, gives a day's work for a day's pay. The next is to see that the work he does is necessary; that he is not duplicating work done by some other person, or piling up records to be printed and never used. There is a deal of this kind of waste, and it should be the next point of attack in seeking efficiency. A business man who is not efficient decreases his own profits, but a government that is inefficient is dishonest.

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

The new city council held its first regular session last evening and received several instruction from Mayor Lewis. M. J. Davis was named to succeed Henry Truelsen on the board of public works, while Andrew Swordling secured the two-year term as Nils Nilson's successor. S. F. Wadhams was named for assessor and Harry R. Armstrong for chief of police. Armstrong's appointment was confirmed, and the others were referred to committee. The bond of Maud Stevens as clerk of the municipal court at West Duluth was accepted. The council balloted on the election of city attorney, the ballot standing: Page Morris, 12; J. D. Holmes, 4. Mr. Morris was declared elected. The vote for city clerk resulted: Chauncey E. Richardson, 13; J. F. McLaren, 1; William Kaiser, 1; Ole Olson, 1. Mr. Richardson was declared elected. The Duluth Trust company's bid of par accrued interest and $4,000 premium for the $800,000 water and light bonds was accepted.

At a meeting of the state prison board yesterday it was decided to place 100 of the prisoners at making boots and shoes. Thomas T. Connolly and R. A. Costello of Duluth guaranteeing to take the output of that number of men. A plant costing about $4,000 will be installed, and Mr. Connolly will be superintendent. He was superintendent of the Duluth Shoe company's factory until March 1. He will probably remove to Stillwater at once.

H. E. Tolman and C. P. McClure of St. Cloud are in the city today. They are bound for Rainy Lake City to open a general store.

W. H. Cruikshank of West Duluth left yesterday for a visit at his old home in Fairfield, Ill.

D. O'Connell of 1533 West Michigan street has recovered from a severe illness.

H. M. Bradley and Frank D. Day left today for Pasco Junction, Wash.

W. J. Olcott of this city was elected vice president of the Lake Superior Mining Institute at its meeting held last week at Houghton, Mich.

The Unitarian church was crowded to the doors last night when the Unity club gave its annual concert. Numbers were given by the Philharmonic, Concordia and Aeolian quartets, the latter being composed of Misses McDonald, Farrell, Calverly and Rice. A. L. Agatin gave a guitar solo, Gerard Towning a piano solo and Sydney Brown a violin solo.

Wasn't the Button.

Philadelphia Telegraph: The conversation turned to aeronautics the other night when Congressman Fred A. Britton of Illinois, was reminded of the experience of a young woman who was taking her first trip in an airship.

The young woman had begged to be taken up during the ascensions at a fair, and the aviator finally consenting, they were soon soaring toward the clouds.

"Just wait a minute, please," suddenly exclaimed the fair passenger, feeling about her wrist. "I am afraid we will have to go down again."

"What's wrong?" asked the aviator with a look of concern. "You are not frightened, are you?"

"No, but I think I have dropped one of my pearl coat buttons," answered the young woman, peering downward. "I believe I can see it shining on the ground."

"Keep your seat, young lady," was the smiling rejoinder of the aviator. "That's Lake Hopatcong."

EVELETH'S PLAINT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

"Bulletin No. 4 of the United States Steel corporation has reached the departments of the Mesaba range and is filled with many valuable suggestions." So read an article in a recent issue of a daily paper. The book is entitled "Bureau of Safety, Relief, Sanitation and Welfare." It is true enough the manner in which the company endeavors to reduce accidents and provide relief at its mines entitles them to unbounded credit, but as to sanitation and welfare they have woefully neglected the location of the Fayal mine. It is almost unbelievable, yet it is true, that the entire Fayal location, which adjoins Central park, in this city, is not yet supplied with water or sewer connections. This means that 150 or more families, and many of them large, for ten or twelve years past have been obliged to use surface toilets in the rear of 150-foot lots—and it is not uncommon to have 25 to 35 deg. below zero here in the winter months—and also carry water for a distance of two blocks. The insanitary conditions existing in this location are responsible for the lives of many children from contagious diseases in past years and yet this big corporation is claiming credit for its efforts toward sanitation. If they are not aware of the conditions then the superintendent of the Fayal mine is to blame for all the unfair and unjust criticism that is being directed at the Steel corporation. Eveleth is seldom without contagious diseases and as long as the Steel corporation permits surface toilets and other filthy conditions to exist in this part of our city just so long will we have contagious diseases. THAT ONEOTA STREET PAVING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish to make a few corrections to statements made by some individuals in regard to the proposed Oneota, Jenswold and Superior street paving. A certain element is working for a paving on these streets who do not own a foot of property on said streets but are anxious for a roadway at some one else's expense. Now as to the general improvements such as sewer, gas and water, they are usually silent in that respect. As for assessing the property much of it is not worth what the street would cost and as for signatures the man that circulated the petition forgot that certain people that were interviewed beforehand live on said street, but he may find out. Lots on Oneota street that sold for $400 twenty-five years ago and paid $200 street improvements, a couple of sidewalk assessments, can be bought for $350 today on the easy payment plan. Now a good share of the owners of this property are out-of-town people and do not know the true state of affairs here, as their property is handled through real estate agencies. Thanks to special ordinances that put the burden of circulating a petition on the people that object to buying their property over again, this paved trail move has gained footing, but if we cannot get some conveniences and get them before the street is paved I think there will be plenty of signatures objecting to the paving. No water. No gas. A grass lawn for mine when it comes to increasing the value of my property. Yours very truly,

A. L. JOHNSON.

LOOKS LIKE A FAIR FIGHT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

That great example of Hobsonian sentiment, as expressed by one R. Emmet Jones in your issue of the 10th inst. was "all to the mustard" and hugely relished by myself and friends.

This gentleman should surely have held the portfolio of secretary of state under the lamented Teddy's regime so that his war-like propensities would have more easily found an outlet.

As I was born in England and lived there for eighteen years, permit me to refute the deadly accusation that Mr. J. Bull is "the biggest bluffer on God's green earth." Far be it from such! When it comes to the latter-day art of scientific bluffing, allow me to state that the average American has everyone skinned a mile. After reading the bombastic letter in question several times, in an endeavor to more effectually "get" it, with the aid of a friend who at one exciting phase of his existence lived next door to a detective, we failed to detect a clew till we arrived at the name of the writer. Aside from parting his name in the middle, which is particularly depressing, this unpeaceful gent proclaims that he belongs to that very interesting section of humanity that rightfully enthuses on March 17, and entertains an affectionate regard for a clay pipe. This deduction that we arrived at necessarily detracted from your correspondent's alarming description of one Mr. Carnegie, a man who has done nothing worse than to force several unappreciative communities to boast of real libraries.

Will Mr. R. Emmet Jones kindly answer the following: Where did a large percentage of the fighters come from who helped this country overthrow the oppression existing in 1776?

Do you think for an instant that our respected friend, Mr. J. Bull, has resorted to "bluffing" ancnt the Benton incident?

How long since you took out your first naturalization papers?

If your correspondent will answer these simple questions intelligently, he will win the everlasting gratitude of, yours respectfully,

HAROLD E. KIMPTON.

EAST ENDER'S REPLY TO LAKESIDER'S LAMENT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I've listened with amusement to "The Lakesider's Lament."
It seems as if that "bunch of mutts" will never be content.
They "holler" much of "human rights" (with entertaining speech),
But few there can be pointed out who practice what they preach.

'Tis to be hoped that Reed and Doc and Rudolph still will ride
Upon the car that takes them first to "home and fireside."
As to the veiled allusion—re Rudolph, and his fall.
Street cars ain't water wagons. They've got to carry all.

Why should Lakesiders come to town to purchase Leghorn fruit,
When Hollister and Greenfield surely have some that would suit?
The Herald carries many "ads" which tell one where to buy
These Leghorn eggs, and others, right at home. Oh, me! Oh, my!

And then the nerve of such of them as come to town to get Supplies of groceries and "sich." It surely makes one fret
To think of time thus wasted. Directly at their doors,
I'm told that there are at least two grocery stores.

As to the torn skirt episode I have just this to say:
The lady, likely, could not figure any other way
To get just what she wanted, which might have been a "hobble."
(Some of us men are not so wise, I'll venture). Ish ka bobble.

I hope the time will quickly come when all of them will ride
In cars they'll call their own, in truth; where all can sit inside.
But as the matter stands today they'd run but one an hour,
If no one else used Lakeside cars. In unity there's power.

TRUST BILLS SHAPE WELL

President Regards Progress on That Line as Satisfactory.

May Drop the One to Control Trade Relations.

Washington, March 13.—President Wilson regards the anti-trust program of the administration as "in good shape" at present, and expects that the congressional committees will soon be ready with the various pending bills.

Outlining formally some of the difficulties that had been met, the president indicated that what is known as the trade relations bill, defining monopoly practices, may be abandoned. He predicted that it probably will be replaced by a bill designed chiefly to fix individual responsibility for specific acts which are regarded as intended to establish monopoly or restrain trade.

The president again referred to the desire of the administration not to impair the efficiency of the Sherman law by supplementary laws which might interfere with decisions of the courts already made.

Holding Company Bill.

Before Mr. Wilson now is a draft of a bill to prohibit holding companies, but he has not come to a mature judgment about it. He declared this feature of the trust program would not be abandoned, though he admitted the difficulty of finding language in which to draw distinctions between legitimate and illegitimate concerns. The president believes that companies formed for the purpose of controlling a group of corporations are materially different from what he terms "owning corporations," necessitated by the variety of laws in the states of the Union. He cited, as an instance, the fact that if a corporation in New Jersey chose to build a factory in Pennsylvania, it would have to be reincorporated because no foreign corporation is allowed to own real estate under the laws of Pennsylvania.

SAYS CANCER DROVE MAN TO DISAPPEAR

Brother Explains Why Horace G. Clark Dropped From Sight.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 13.—The mystery surrounding the sudden disappearance of Horace Greely Clark in Chicago in 1902, has been solved by his brother, Earl D. Clark, who explained that the man known as Harry Harris had planned the "disappearance" because of incurable cancer of the face.

"Much that has been written about the case was entirely untrue," said Mr. Clark. "My brother was a divorced man, and was not on his wedding journey when he disappeared. Just why he dropped from sight as he did I don't know, but I suppose he felt he had to disappear in some way, as he had become broken hearted over his physical ailment. He could not bear to have his friends and relatives see the ravages of disease which reputable physicians frankly told him could only end in death.

"After a year he informed other relatives of his whereabouts, and the reason for his having dropped from sight. Since then we have been in communication with him. I frequently sent him money and was planning to have him visit me here if he was able to stand the trip. We knew he would die of the disease, but were not expecting his death so soon."

M'CREERY RESTORED TO PROPERTY RIGHTS

Guardian and Relatives Withdraw Objections to the Move.

San Francisco, March 13.—Walter A. McCreery, millionaire pololst, was restored to his legal competency yesterday by Superior Judge Frank Dunne, when McCreery's attorney informed the court that H. H. McPhine, McCreery's guardian, and all the relatives were willing to withdraw their objections to such procedure.

McCreery was declared incompetent in the superior court here April 21, 1912, and the control of his large inherited estate was taken from him. This was after he had spent some time in an English asylum, had sued his wife for a divorce and had then threatened to write a novel of real life, telling all he knew about Burlingame, Cal., society folks.

After unsuccessful attempts to make a legal escape from confinement, McCreery fled last October from Los Muertos ranch, near Hollister, Cal., where he had been held in custody. He went to London, was pronounced competent by the English courts, got the opinion of the best alienists in Great Britain that he was sane, and returned here Feb. 8 last to renew his legal fight for a restoration of his rights.

INSURANCE COMPANY LICENSE REVOKED.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 13.—John L. Bleakley, auditor of state, has revoked the license of the National Life association. The action had the effect of preventing the insurance company from writing further business in Iowa. Proceedings were recently instituted by Attorney General Cosson to compel the resignation of Henry Byle, president of the company.

It was stated at the auditor's office that the act of cancelling the National's license will not affect policies now on the books, to the extent of $30,000,000. Auditor Bleakley recently declared void policies aggregating $5,300,000, written since May, 1913, on the ground that they did not comply with the state laws.

The state is taking the various steps in the affairs of the company, with a view to reorganize and that the company may be saved, the auditor said.

NEW CONSTITUTION FOR THE BAY STATE.

Boston, Mass., March 13.—The house has gone on record in favor of a non-partisan constitutional convention. After rejecting by a vote of 105 to 103 a bill for a convention composed of delegates with party designation, Charning Cox, the Republican leader, offered a non-partisan measure which was substituted for the adverse report of the committee on the original bill, by a vote of 119 to 85.

The so-called partisan bill was favored by the Democrats as carrying out one of the planks in the platform adopted last fall.

Anti-Liquor Bill Passed.

Frankfort, Ky., March 13.—The Kentucky house of representatives by a vote of 60 to 32 passed a bill providing for the submission to the voters at the election in 1915 of a constitutional amendment providing for state-wide prohibition.

ORDER OUSTING TENT DWELLERS MODIFIED

Three Arrests Made in Connection With Colorado Strike Killing.

Trinidad, Colo., March 13.—As a result of a further investigation into the death of Nell Smith, non-union coal miner, whose body was found on a railroad track near Suffield, Monday, a detail of cavalry took into custody at Forbes, John Kotzman, William Watson and Joseph Gill, the latter president of the Forbes Miners' union. All are strikers.

Adj. Gen. Chase announced that the order given on Tuesday, when tents in the lower colony at Forbes were torn down, that the residents of the upper colony must leave within forty-eight hours, has been modified.

"TRUCE OF GOD."

Proclamation Is Adopted After Inter-Church Report Is Heard.

New York, March 13.—A proclamation calling for a "truce of God" throughout Christendom was adopted by the American commission of the suggested world's conference of faith and order. This action was taken after the commission had listened to a report submitted by the American deputation of clergymen who in December presented to the non-Anglican churches in England, Scotland and Ireland the proposal of American churches in the matter of a world's conference. Protestant and Catholic clergymen and laymen who were present from many cities agreed that such a conference should be held within three or five years, to discuss the question of making church union more effective.

NORTH DAKOTA ELECTION

Town and Village Officers to Be Chosen Next Tuesday.

Bismarck, N. D., March 13.—Town and village elections will be held in North Dakota next Tuesday.

Under a new law the new boards of supervisors named next Tuesday must appoint town overseers of highways, who will take over the road building work, instead of permitting it to be handled by the several town supervisors, as heretofore.

Another feature of the new road law is the fact that the road taxes must be paid in cash unless the township overseer is notified prior to May 1 by the taxpayer that he wants to work out his taxes.

When You've Decided You've Thrown Enough $10 Bills Away on Clothes—Let Me Make Your Spring Suit for $15.00

Maybe I'm wrong, but it looks to me like a lot of you fellows are going around with blinders on your eyes and the soft pedal on your noodles. Why should you pay $25 or $30 for a made to measure suit? What is there about a suit that should make it cost that much? Three or four yards of cloth—the cutting—trimming—sewing? No sir! It's the process by which it's made. The man who buys his cloth by the single piece, like the small custom tailor, pays a big price for it. The bigger man, who buys by the bolt, pays a big price. These men pay the manufacturers a profit, the jobber, the wholesaler, and then they add on their own—and you pay $25 or $30 for the suit.

That's the whole scheme, fellows. But listen. I am a branch of the Scotch Woolen Mills. Our woolens are figured in carloads. They come direct from the looms, to our big floors, where they are inspected, shrunk and rerolled. Think of what we save, fellows. Think of how little the goods for a suit costs us. Next to nothing. Then we sell direct to you. We cut out jobbers, sub-jobbers, wholesalers and all their profits. And the result is, fellows, that I can make you the swellest little spring suit that ever graced your back for $15.

You can choose your material from the niftiest Spring and Summer fabrics, in scores of patterns and colorings that you never saw in this town before. I'll take your measure—and take it from me, you'll be dressed like a Fifth Avenue swell—right up to the top of fashion, and you'll save a nice crisp 10 spot.

Break away from the old fogey idea that $15 can't buy a real made-to-measure suit. Just ponder about what I've told you. It's modern business that makes this low price possible. You've been following an old rusty idea that's cost you $10 more for every suit you've bought—Chase it! Let me make your spring suit. Pay me $25 for the suit and I'll put a crisp $10 bill in the right hand pants pocket, or pay me $15 straight. Take me up? George H. Mills, Manager Glasgow Woolen Mills store, 333 West Superior street. Look out! Since we've come into the game a thousand imitators have sprung up. Be sure you find the "Glasgow" and George H. Mills.

P. S.—I've got the finest made-to-order pants proposition in town. Regular $5, $6 and $7 trousers are going now for $2.75. Come in and look them over.

TWO MAKE CHARGES AGAINST PINCHOT

Accuse Him, as Forester, of Approving Looting of U. S. Domain.

Washington, March 13. — Gifford Pinchot, former head of the Federal forestry service, was charged in the house yesterday by Representative Humphrey of Washington, Republican, with favoring, as chief forester, a government land exchange transaction with the Santa Fe railroad that was "the greatest and most outrageous looting of the public domain in our history."

"I challenge any man to show," declared the Washington member, "that Mr. Pinchot ever protested against the steal under which the Santa Fe railroad received 1,200,000 acres of the best public land in exchange for a like number of acres of untimbered and utterly worthless land, which was estimated by the railroad to be worth from 15 to 18 cents an acre. Gifford Pinchot could see a man in Alaska if he cut a fishing pole, but he could not see the Santa Fe railroad getting 1,200,000 acres at one time."

Accused by Humphrey.

Representative Humphrey also charged that when Mr. Pinchot was forester an extension of a forest reserve in Montana included 240,000 acres of "practically treeless land" belonging to the Northern Pacific railroad. "For this land of little value," he added, "the Northern Pacific got 240,000 acres of heavily timbered land in exchange, and Pinchot favored the transaction at that time."

Mr. Humphreys' speech was part of a running fire of attack upon the forest service, that held up progress on the agricultural appropriation bill.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota supreme court today rendered the following decisions:

St. Louis County.

Samuel Mather, et al, respondents, vs. London Guarantee & Accident company, limited, appellant—

Action upon an accident policy insuring the employes of Pickands-Mather & Co., against bodily injuries suffered through external, violent and accidental means. The policy as printed contained a provision that it did not cover casualties resulting from certain specific causes among which sunstroke was included. The assured wanted a policy which covered sunstroke and for this reason the word sunstroke was stricken from this provision. Deceased died from sunstroke. Under the facts of this case the court cannot hold as a matter of law that sunstroke is a disease and not such a casualty as was covered by the policy.

2. Where the proper construction of a contract is not free from doubt, recourse may be had to the preliminary negotiations between the parties for the purpose of determining the correct construction to be given it.

Order affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

Ramsey County.

L. H. Bentley, et al., appellants, vs. J. G. Edwards, et al., respondents—

Plaintiffs and defendants entered into a written contract by the terms of which plaintiffs agreed to find a purchaser for a 6,000-acre tract of land, and were to receive as commission all of the price received in excess of $10 per acre. Plaintiffs introduced a proposed purchaser to defendants, and they sold to such purchaser some 2,500 acres of the tract, at $13 per acre, the purchaser not being willing to take the entire tract.

1. The issue of whether the contract was entire or severable was properly raised by the answer.

2. The contract construed and held entire, and not to authorize plaintiffs to sell or find a purchaser for any part of the tract less than the whole.

3. Plaintiffs, not having performed their contract, are not entitled to recover commissions on the sale made on a pro rata basis, it not appearing that performance was prevented by defendants, or that the contract was modified.

4. The complaint declaring on the express contract, and there being no pleading or proof of the reasonable value of plaintiffs' services, there can be no recovery on a quantum meruit. Whether under proper pleadings and evidence plaintiffs could recover the reasonable value of their services, notwithstanding they did not perform the contract, is not decided.

Order affirmed. BUNN, J.

Ramsey County.

Harry H. Chapman, respondent, vs. The Peoples Ice company, a corporation, appellant—

1. Plaintiff owned a team and had in his employ a driver. He hired both team and driver to defendant to harvest ice at a fixed sum per day. While plaintiff was driving the horses they stepped into an unguarded hole in the ice and were drowned. A statute of this state requires every person cutting ice to surround openings in the ice with a fence or guard sufficient to warn all persons of the same. There was evidence that defendant was negligent.

The statute applies to this case.

The question whether the driver was negligent was for the jury.

2. The court erred in charging the jury that they might find that the driver was the employe of the defendant and that defendant was responsible for his negligence. The principle that, when an employe is given over unreservedly to the service of another, that other bcomes for the time being his master and responsible for his acts, is not applicable to the facts of this case.

3. The driver might at the same time be the servant of plaintiff in doing some things, and the servant of defendant in doing others. The precise question here is whether or not, in the specific detail of managing and handling the team, the driver became the servant of defendant.

4. One to whom the employe of another is temporarily hired has the responsibility of a master only in so far as he may exercise the authority of a master. The test is whether the wrongdoer is under his control when doing the particular act out of which the injury arose, both in reference to the result to be reached, and in reference to the method of reaching the result.

5. Where the owner of a team hires out the team and a driver to another, the hirer having under the contract nothing to do with the driving of the team, the relation of master and servant still exists between owner and driver as regards the driving and care of the team.

Order reversed and new trial granted. HALLAM, J.

Ramsey County.

In re application of State of Minnesota for the condemnation of certain lands, Vallie A. Knapp, et al, appellants, vs. State of Minnesota, et al, respondents—

1. The power of eminent domain inheres in the state as an attribute of its sovereignty, and is vested in the legislature. The only limitations upon this power are that private property can be taken only for a public use and that just compensation to the owner must be first paid or secured.

2. The University of Minnesota is a public institution maintained and conducted by the state in the exercise of its governmental functions, and the taking of private property for the purposes of the university is a taking for a public use.

3. Chapter 257, Laws of 1913, authorizing the construction of a railway connecting the university farm with the street car system of the city of Minneapolis, and with the belt line railway operated by the Minnesota Transfer Railway company, is constitutional.

Order affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

Hennepin County.

Joseph La Mere, respondent, vs. The Railway Transfer company of the city of Minneapolis, a corporation, appellant—

In an action for personal injuries by a switchman against a railroad engaged in an interstate opertion it is held.

1. The evidence was sufficient to go to the jury on the question whether the engineer, a fellow-servant, was negligent in making an emergency stop when there was emergency; and that if he was negligent the defendant was chargeable with his negligence within the provisions of the Federal employers' liability act of April 22, 1908, 35 Stat. 66.

2. The Federal safety appliance act, as amended by the act of March 2, 1903, 32 Stat. 943, requiring air brakes in operation on all trains, applies to an engine and fifteen cars loaded and switched in the yards of the defendant transfer railway company and placed upon a track set apart for the use of a particular road, and thereafter moved by the engine and crew some six or seven blocks, a distance of something like a half mile, across a number of switches, and across and along the two parallel main tracks of an independent railroad, and into the yards of the company to which the cars belonged.

3. The failure of a railroad company to have the air brakes in operation in an interstate movement makes it liable to an employe proximately injured because of such failure regardless of its actual negligence.

4. The evidence was sufficient to justify the finding of the jury that the failure to have the air brakes in operation was the proximate cause of the plaintiff's injury.

5. Contributory negligence is not a defense to an action based upon the Federal employers' liability act, or the Federal safety appliance act, except as in the former case it may reduce damages; and the issue of contributory negligence having been fairly tried and submitted, and there being no claim of excessive damages, the question of contributory negligence is not of importance.

6. The assumption of risks is not a defense when the action is based upon the Federal safety appliance act, for section 8 of the act excludes it; and the employers' liability act of April 22, 1908, apparently, abrogates it. It is a defense when the action is based upon the negligence of the engineer under the Federal employers' liability act. In this case the question of the plaintiff's assumption of risks was for the jury.

Order affirmed. DIBELL, C. BROWN, C. J., dissents.

Winona County.

W. J. Smith, administrator, appellant, vs. C. G. Corey et al, respondents—

W. J. Smith, administrator, appellant, vs. Theodore Wold et al, respondents—

1. A husband may transfer his personal property as a gift under such circumstances as to constitute a fraud upon the marital rights of his wife.

2. The finding of the court that certain gifts made by the husband in part directly, and in part through the medium of a trust deed, to children by former marriages, were not fraudulently made, is supported by the evidence.

3. A trust deed made by the deceased some years prior to his death, provided that the trustee should take possession of personal property, transferred to him as trustee, consisting of secured notes; should pay the accruing interest to the grantor; should reinvest the principal in real estate securities; and upon his death should pay the principal to his children. It is held that such trust deed was not testamentary in character.

Judgments affirmed. DIBELL, C.

Hennepin County.

I. A. Gibbs, respondent, vs. Minneapolis Fire Department Relief association, appellant—

1. A finding, evidentiary in character, in the absence of a specific assignment, is held a sufficient finding that the plaintiff was not depending upon her husband for support within Laws 1913, c. 318.

2. The fact that the widow of a deceased fireman had separated from him, and was obtaining a living from an immoral occupation does not prevent her from receiving a pension under Laws 1907, c. 24, and the defendant's articles and by-laws.

3. Laws 1913, c. 318, defining the term "widow" as used in Laws 1907, c. 42, relative to pensions for firemen, was intended to apply as of that date to widows then receiving pensions as well as widows who might thereafter claim them.

4. As between the state and members of the fire department the pension is a gratuity; and the state may take it away, except so far as it has accrued, without affecting a vested right or violating the constitution.

Order reversed. DIBELL, C.

BUTTER AND EGGS LOWER

Warmer Weather Brings Heavy Receipts and Weaker Market.

Frost in South Causes Higher Prices for Green Vegetables.

As a result of warm weather and increased receipts, prices of butter and eggs are lower again today, and in the opinion of the trade, the declining tendency is likely to become still more pronounced for a time at least.

The best creamery butter is down 2 cents to 29@30 cents a pound. First creamery is 1 cent off at 28@29 cents and June storage 1 cent down at 27 cents. Eggs are 1 cent lower at 27@28 cents a dozen.

"I do not think that butter will go materially lower," said B. M. Ruse, sales manager of the Bridgeman-Russel company today, on his return from a trip in the West. "Imported butter has ceased to be much of a factor as its quality was not as good as our storage stock. Considerable quantities of it were shipped back to their countries of origin, Denmark, Argentina, Australia and New Zealand. Importers were compelled to take some severe losses and they are likely to exercise more caution in the future. Dealers on the Pacific coast are facing a drop of several cents a pound that has materialized since Jan. 15 on importations of New Zealand butter. It is to be concedeed though that quotations in butter will in future be regulated through importations of foreign product being certain during periods of stringency, in supplies. With that possibility before them, buyers will hesitate to put butter into storage at high prices in June. They will aim to hold the cost down to a basis that they may think will let them out in any emergency."

Egg Market Weak.

Mr. Ruse pointed out, that while importations of eggs have been a factor in bringing about lower prices in the United States, the aggregate of 300,000 cases brought in from foreign countries since last October, was only a fraction of 1 per cent of the total American consumption during that period. He found at New York that importations of Chinese eggs are cutting the biggest figure in the trade at present. These are being bought at low prices, and are selling freely though they are small in size.

As an indication of the egg market for next winter, Mr. Ruse mentioned that sales of picked No. 1 Minnesota eggs for April delivery at Chicago at 20 cents a dozen have been reported this week. This is on about the same basis as last year.

The market in cheese is unchanged at present, but an easier tendency is noted, attributable to a number of factories in this territory having resumed operations for the season.

Oranges a Fruit Feature.

Oranges are still the feature in fruits, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company. The market in them is up slightly today on account of a falling off in receipts from California and Florida. Apples are firm at the prices quoted, and advances are predicted within a few days, as supplies are being rapidly depleted. Grapefruit is higher owing to a falling off in shipments and good demand locally and through the range towns.

California Vegetables Dearer.

All Florida and California and green vegetables are higher than a week ago attributable to damage through frost in some of the producing districts. That situation applies to celery, head lettuce, cauliflower, etc.

New Florida potatoes are selling as they were last week at $3 a hamper, but sweet Jerseys are 25 cents cheaper, at $1.75 a hamper. The market in Minnesota potatoes is gradually running off, with extra fancy stock now offering at 68 cents a bushel. It is thought that considerable selling pressure will develop from growers as soon as the pits are opened through this district.

The market in meats is firm all round. Pork is up a cent but veal is a cent cheaper per pound. Supplies of live and fresh dressed poultry are light, and prices are unchanged.

MAY SUCCEED HIS FATHER

R. M. Sellwood Slated for Presidency of City National Bank.

Interest is being shown in local business and financial circles over the filling of the vacancy on the directorate of the City National bank brought about through the death of its president, Joseph Sellwood.

While nothing definite has as yet been given out, the election of R. M. Sellwood to the presidency of the institution is foreshadowed. He is now its vice president, and owing to his association with his late father he has for years been in close touch with the bank's affairs.

No date has as yet been set for the calling of a meeting of the board of directors to make the appointment.

WANT IMPROVEMENTS IN ISLE OF PINES

People Ask Cuba for Roads, Postoffices and Telephones.

Havana, March 13.—A delegation consisting of the leading American farmers and business men of the Isle of Pines called on President Menocal yesterday to urge the necessity of carrying out road improvement and other public works and the institution of postal and telephone service in the island. The delegates in return pledged themselves to maintain an American school in each settlement.

President Menocal promised to take their demands under consideration and said he would visit the island shortly in company with his secretaries of agriculture and public works.

Wife Beater Sentenced.

Eau Claire, Wis., March 12.—Hal J. Lant was sentenced to one year in Waupun prison for breaking his wife's nose with a blow of his fist. Lant felled his wife as she sat with a 3-months old infant in her arms.

MAKES RHEUMATISM PROMPTLY DISAPPEAR

Chronic, Crippled-up Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of New Remedy Are Taken.

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can surely avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery and can't possibly cure you.

The only way to cure rheumatism is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, does this because it neutralizes and dissolves all the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped-up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter all the poisons from the blood and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is the most wonderful medicine ever made for curing chronic rheumatism, kidney troubles, and bladder disorders. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find relief from the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all your misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle at any first-class drug store. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to cure the worst backache or overcome urinary disorders.

NEW CURRENCY ACT IS THEME

Western Economic Society Hears Many Discuss the Law.

Thomas Conway Says Its Success Depends on the Banks.

Chicago, March 13.—The new currency act and its practical operation was the subject of discussion today at the sixth annual conference of the Western Economic society.

Leading economists from different parts of the country gave their views of different features of the act, and their addresses were followed by general discussion.

The two-day conference was thrown open to the public and free expression of opinion was invited. The program included:

"The Financial Policy of the Federal Reserve Banks," Prof. Thomas Conway, University of Pennsylvania.

"The Probable Effects of the New Currency Act on Bank Investments," Prof. Jacob H. Hollander of Johns Hopkins university.

"The Elasticity of Credit Under the New Act," Prof. J. Laurence Laughlin, University of Chicago.

"The Control of the International Flow of Gold," George E. Roberts, director of the mint, Washington, D. C.

Where Success Depends.

The success of the Federal reserve act depends entirely upon the policy of the directors of the Federal reserve banks who will be elected by the national banks, was the conclusion reached by Prof. Thomas Conway, Jr., of the Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, University of Pennsylvania.

The burden of installation and operation, skilled and otherwise, he pointed out, will be on the bankers of the country because they will possess the dominant controlling force through their power to elect six out of nine directors to each Federal reserve bank, in conjunction with the requirement that two of the three Class C directors are to be men of tested banking experience, and that four out of seven directors out of each branch bank will be named by them.

On the minimum reserve feature the speaker said "50 per cent should be viewed as the danger mark, and in the early years of installation 75 and 80 per cent reserve should be the practice, not the exception, if safety's demands are to be regarded; and the greater portion of this reserve should be gold."

By the Banks, for the Country.

Summarizing his contentions, Prof. Conway emphasized as a cardinal principle: "The Federal reserve banks are to be bankers' banks, run by the banks, and not for the banks, but for the good of the United States. Their policies must be built upon no shifting sands, but on the firm foundation of confidence-inspiring safety."

CAR THIEVES KILL ENGINEER AND WOUND THREE IN ILLINOIS

and Langley, a small station near Manlius, for help. In an hour a posse of nearly 200 men was scouring the surrounding woods for the holdup men.

Fired at Posse.

Near Sheffield, Ill., the posse came up with them. The latter opened fire and Bert Skoglund, deputy sheriff of Bureau county, was shot through the face, shoulder and throat. He is fatally hurt. Leslie Beyer, son of the sheriff of Bureau county, was shot in the leg. The wound is not serious.

Two of the robbers were captured. Both were wounded by the posse, which opened fire when it came in sight of them.

Third Man Caught.

Kewanee, Ill., March 13.—A third member of the band of freight thieves who killed Engineer Fisher at Manlius was captured east of here today. The officers were close on the trail of the fourth man.

Was Escanaba Man.

Chicago, March 13.—The slain engineer was Arthur Fisher of Escanaba, Mich., according to the records of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad here. He had been with the road about ten years, recently having been transferred from the Michigan division.

The report of the affray, as made to the general superintendent's office, was that while the freight train was on a siding, Conductor Collins and a brakeman came to a car that had been opened and a box thrown out. They pitched the box back into the car and a moment later discovered four men hiding in an open car next to the one that had been robbed.

The four men leaped from the open car on the opposite side of the train and ran for the engine. They ordered Engineer Fisher, at the points of their pistols, to cut loose and run down the track with them. When Fisher refused, saying another train was due, the robbers shot him.

VILLA BURNED BODY OF BENTON, IS REPORT AT MEXICAN CAPITAL

with information that Benton had been killed by Fierro.

Believe Bauch Was Killed.

Gen. Carranza's commission is said to have gathered convincing evidence that Col. Fidel Avila, commander of the rebel garrison at Juarez, ordered the execution of Gustav Bauch, a German American, who was tried as a spy but in whose case no verdict was rendered. Denials that Bauch was killed have been made repeatedly by rebel officers at Juarez and at Chihuahua.

Bauch was not executed until two days after Gen. Villa had left Juarez, it is said. It is not known whether Avila had orders for the execution, but the commission is said to have evidence indicating that he directly ordered the execution of the German-American.

Developments connecting Fierro with the Benton case have been looked for since Monday, when the major was removed as general manager of the rebel railroads. Many had looked for Fierro's "disappearance" or apparently accidental death. Few expected he would live to face charges in the Benton case.

French Cruiser Arrives.

Washington, March 13.—Commander Taylor, on the cruiser Buffalo at Guaymas, reported to the navy department today the arrival of the French cruiser Montcalm, commanded by Rear Admiral Huget. The Montcalm will cross over next Wednesday to Santa Rosalia, on the coast of Lower California, where there is a considerable French colony.

Indians Kill Negro.

Douglas, Ariz., March 13.—Charles Howard, a negro, an American citizen, was killed recently by Yaqui Indians on the ranch of Charles Anthony in the Yaqui valley while Constitutionalist soldiers, encamped a few hundred yards away, refused to go to his assistance, according to a dispatch from Nogales. Howard is said to be a deserter from the Ninth United States cavalry at Douglas, enlisted in the name of George or Joyce. He killed three of his assailants before falling himself.

HYOMEI SOOTHES, PURIFIES, HEALS CATARRH ILLS

When you have frequent attacks of sneezing or head colds, tickling in the throat, dull headaches, crusts in the nose, raising of mucus or spasmodic coughing, and seem lacking in vitality, you are affected with catarrh—a disease that cannot be neglected since it often leads to a serious if not fatal ailment. The ravages of catarrh will in time wreck the health of even the strongest person. Besides, catarrh is so unpleasant—it makes your life miserable and annoys your friends.

At the first catarrhal symptom surely use Hyomei. It's the right-to-the-point remedy—you breathe it — no nauseating drugs to upset your stomach.

Hyomei is a combination of antiseptic oils that you breathe into the nose, throat and lungs in the natural way. Just put a few drops into the inhaler and breathe it in. The germicidal fumes mix with the air and at once penetrate to all nooks and crevices of the mucous membrane lining the breathing organs. It destroys the dangerous germs that may be lurking in the delicate tissues, and immediately soothes and heals the raw and inflamed membrane.

Boyce drug store sells Hyomei with an agreement to refund the purchase price to anyone who is not benefited. You surely can afford to try it on an offer like this. All druggists have it. Get the complete outfit, $1.00 size.

New Currency Plan.

Mexico City, Mex., March 13.—As a substitute for the discarded idea of establishing a Federal bank, the government is seriously considering a plan by which local banks of issue will supply the government monthly with 15,000,000 pesos. To guarantee the banks for their outlay, it is proposed that the government pay them the customs receipts, which amount approximately to 2,000,000 pesos monthly, and the revenues to be derived from special taxes on incomes in the capital. It is estimated that these special taxes will aggregate 80,000,000 pesos annually.

Rebels Advancing.

Brownsville, Tex., March 13.—Twenty-five Federals were killed and thirteen captured Tuesday in a battle at Morales, north of Monterey, according to an official Constitutionalist report received in Matamoras. The report gave the rebels' casualties as nine wounded. It was said the Federals were pursued to El Topo, less than thirty miles from Monterey.

This and other recent engagements, according to the Constitutionalists, are part of the campaign at Monterey, coincident with the attack on Torreon by Gen. Villa. At Constitutionalist headquarters in Matamoras it was said the rebel forces had fought their way more than seventy-five miles closer to Monterey from the north in the last ten days.

KELLEY'S MEN FED BY UNIONS

brought word last night that the men were fashioning clubs from firewood and would meet force with force. Pick handles were used against them in the last battle, which ended in their rout.

Officials of Sacramento have offered the unemployed transportation to any point within a fifty-mile radius of the county.

"We don't intend breaking laws or to cause violence, but we demand justice, and that we must have," reads a manifesto issued by the maroonad "army" to the newspapers.

"Food will be sent these men if we have to resort to arms," declared J. S. Wightman, a representative of "General" Kelley, who came here to organize relief measures.

Bread Thrown Into River.

"The treatment of these men has been one of the most brutal chapters in the history of labor," he continued. "Yesterday I saw the sheriff of Sacramento county dump an automobile load of bread, that had been supplied by the labor unions, into the river. Our only hope is in keeping these men together, but starvation is weakening their spirit."

The action proposed by the authorities, if the men remain firm in their refusal to disperse, is to cut out bunches of twenty or fifty men, as cow punchers cut out bunches of cattle, herd them to the railway tracks, and bundle them into cars. Firemen, policemen and armed deputies would guard the bridges and prevent any attempt to escape.

FRECKLES

February and March Worst Months for This Trouble—How to Remove Easily.

There's a reason why nearly everybody freckles in February and March, but happily there is also a remedy for these ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get an ounce of othine, double strength, from Boyce drug store, and apply a little of it night and morning, and in a few days you should see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they may stay all Summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Your money back if othine fails.

PEACE FUNDS' USE IS AIRED

Nicholas Murray Butler, Arthur William Frazier and James Brown Scott.

Its appeal was as follows:

"The greatest interest of the United States as a free nation is to represent worthily before the world the principles of civil and religious liberty and the public efficiency and well-being which those principles develop, and thereby to promote the adoption of these principles the world over.

Great Moral Interest.

"This is of great material as well as great moral interest. In comparison with this large interest, the interest of the United States in its coastwise vessels sinks into insignificance.

"By securing the repeal of that part of the act of congress on the Panama canal which provided for the exemption of the coastwise vessels from the payment of tolls, the American people would embrace a precious opportunity to prove that they understood their highest interests, and recognize their duty to promote it 'for the benefit of mankind.'"

It was the circulation of the pamphlet to which Senator O'Gorman had reference, in part, when he made his recent attack in the senate upon the Carnegie endowment.

Dr. Scott was excused by the committee with the assurance from him that he would be at their service at any time.

Revenue From Bonds.

The $500,000 annual revenue of the endowment is derived from bonds of the United States Steel corporation.

Senator Walsh asked particularly as to an annual contribution of $31,000 to the American Peace society. Secretary Scott said that organization was headed by Senator Burton, and distributed to smaller organizations throughout the country documents dealing with the peace propaganda. He agreed to produce copies of all which dealt with general arbitration treaties or canal tolls exemption.

Further inquiry into the peace endowments records brought to light an allotment of $7,469 in 1913 for "propaganda for Panama tolls." That sum, it was disclosed never was expended and still is carried on the books.

De Knight Has Collapse.

Clarence W. De Knight, the Washington lawyer examined yesterday, had a nervous collapse and was unable to appear. He has promised to produce his contract with Former Admiral Bowles, head of the Fore River Shipbuilding company, for work for a Panama tolls exemption. Bowles denies that De Knight had such a contract.

Worked For Pay Increases.

De Knight told yesterday of urging through congress various bills providing for increases in pay and higher rank for men of the army and navy. He estimated that the contracts he made for this work with individuals and associations of enlisted men had brought him $40,000. About 100 of these contracts he promised to lay before the committee, together with all the correspondence he had with various shipbuilding companies and with the Pneumatic Tube Service company of Boston, which operates the tube services of the postoffices in various cities.

The witness declared he did not know that a law existed against contracts such as those he had made with soldiers and sailors, now in the service or retired, whereby they were to pay a percentage of increased salaries for his services. He insisted that several legal firms in Washington devoted much time to this business.

Once Page in House.

Telling of his present occupation, De Knight said he had seen service about congress first as a page, stenographer and committee clerk in the house, and later as clerk of the naval affairs committee of the senate. He served as stenographer on the armor board of the navy department under Secretary Long, and also in the postoffice department in a clerical capacity. He had become convinced, he said, that there was an opportunity for profit in contracting with enlisted men and others to "follow" legislation in which they were interested. His contracts read, he said, that only right and proper means should be employed.

Used McCumber's Frank.

De Knight admitted having used franks obtained at the offices of Senator McCumber in sending documents to friends and clients. He had secured them, he said, from the senator's clerk, with whom he was acquainted. He estimated he used from twenty to thirty a month.

Questions directed at the witness by Senator Reed sought to bring out the relations De Knight might have with present employes of the government. He declared that he made payments to none of his friends in various departments, and that they were not interested with him in any business venture.

It was said the committee probably would issue subpoenas for Admiral Bowles and other persons mentioned by De Knight, before its hearing is concluded.

RENEW EFFORTS TO REFORM NEW HAVEN

Railway Attorneys Meet Government Officials at Washington.

Washington, March 13.—Officials of the department of justice and the New Haven railroad resumed conferences today in an effort to find a plan acceptable to both sides for the dissolution of the system.

Although Attorney General McReynolds and his assistants still were hopeful that the New Haven representatives would see their way clear to meet the demands of the department, it was conceded that the negotiations had reached a critical stage, and that further delay on the part of the road might lead to the filing of an anti-trust suit for dissolution by the court's decree.

Chief Points of Difference.

The principal points of difference, it was said, involved the length of service of the trustees who are to take over and dispose of the Boston & Maine stock now owned by the New Haven, and disposition of some of the New Haven trolley lines. Mr. McReynolds prefers that the trustees shall serve not more than two years, with a possibility of a two-year continuation if a court shall find the first period insufficient. New Haven representatives were inclined to insist upon a three-year trusteeship, with the option of a three-year extension if found necessary.

Inability to get together on that point may lead to a breach. The financial condition of both the New Haven and the Boston & Maine figured largely in the attitude of both sides in the conference.

Promoting School Consolidation.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. M. Phillips, inspector of rural schools of Minnesota, will engage in a week's campaign in Grand Forks county, with North Dakota educators, in promoting the consolidation of rural schools. Mr. Phillips will address twelve meetings during the week of March 30 to April 4.

Associated with Mr. Phillips in the movement will be N. C. Macdonald, inspector of rural schools of North Dakota; A. P. Hollis, of the extension department of the North Dakota A. C.; Prof. C. C. Schmidt of the University of North Dakota, and Miss Beatrice Johnstone, superintendent of the Grand Forks county schools.

THIEF RIVER BUYS SITE FOR LIBRARY.

Thief River Falls, Minn., March 13.—The city council has passed a resolution providing for the purchase of a $2,000 site for the new Carnegie library. The site is three blocks from the center of the city and within one block of the municipal auditorium and courthouse. The work on the library, for which $12,500 has been contributed by the Carnegie corporation, will start the coming spring.

Allis-Chalmers Man Denies.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 13.—Otto H. Falk, president of the Allis-Chalmers company, said that he knew nothing of the suit filed against his company by August C. Paine and his son, August C. Paine, Jr., in New York, to have the reorganization of the company declared in fraud of rights of the bondholders of the old Allis-Chalmers company.

TRY THIS IF YOU HAVE DANDRUFF

Or Are Bothered With Falling Hair or Itching Scalp.

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to keep your hair looking rich, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it. You can get the liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

THIRTEENTH OF MONTH IS HER HOODOO DAY.

One Duluth woman, who refuses to let her name be used, is today celebrating, or tolerating a birth anniversary. Remember it is Friday, the 13th. She declared this morning that the 13th has always been unlucky for her. She, by the way, was born on Friday, the 13th. She enumerates instances of her bad luck on the 13th as follows:

Both her parents died on the 13th.

A sister, of whom she was very fond, died on the 13th.

Her own little daughter, her only child, died on the 13th, falling dead at the breakfast table.

Every financial misfortune she can recall took place on the 13th.

RECONSIDERS HIS RESIGNATION

Frank Hicks Will Continue in the City's Employ.

Frank Hicks, manager of the city welfare department, has reconsidered his decision to resign and will continue in the city's employ. His resignation was to have become effective April 1.

It is understood that Mr. Hicks' resignation was the result of an attractive offer from a firm of local attorneys to re-engage in the law business. In addition to general supervision of the welfare department, Mr. Hicks has charge of the city probation work and the free legal aid bureau. Mayor Prince states that he considers Mr. Hicks a most valuable man, and is pleased that he will continue in his present position.

After Wife Deserters.

Minot, N. D., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Wife deserters will be vigorously dealt with here as a result of the stand taken by the Minot Humane society, of which Capt. Alex Scarlett is the superintendent.

The society was directly responsible for the conviction in the district court of P. W. Brady of wife desertion, and officials of the organization announce that they are on the trail of two or three other wife deserters who will be brought back to justice.

FAVOR ANNEXATION TO INSURE HIGHWAY

Scheme to Take Sturgeon Lake District Into Stuntz Township.

Hibbing, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—So that necessary improvements may be made on the road to Sturgeon lake and that important highway kept in permanent repair, a petition is to be circulated among the residents of Stuntz township within the next few days for the annexation of township 59, range 21, now unorganized, and presented for action to the board of supervisors.

The township desired as a part of the township is adjacent to the present Sturgeon lake road and that section of the thoroughfare has been kept in repair by the county, which, owing to the limited funds at its disposal for road work, has been unable to make the improvements that have been necessary.

Levies $195,000 For Roads.

Stuntz township has levied for the coming year's roadwork the sum of $195,000 and will be able to expend a considerable amount on the six miles of road that would be included in the property which the petition asks to be annexed.

It is understood that the supervisors look with favor on the plan and if the petition secures the adequate number of signers will take the necessary steps to have it acted upon favorably.

The Sturgeon lake road is rapidly becoming more important to Hibbing as being the only inlet and outlet to the rich Rear river country, whose agricultural possibilities are being exploited by the enthusiasts of this section. It is also traveled extensively in the summer time by the cottagers at Sturgeon lake.

With the elimination of this six-mile stretch of road from their care, the county commissioners would undoubtedly be able to expend the money set aside for that highway on the remainder of the road and an excellent stretch could be secured.

TOWER GETS "LID."

City Council Orders General Observance of Closing Law.

Tower, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council at its last meeting heeded the resolutions of the Commercial club for a stricter enforcement of the closing laws governing saloons and the mayor has issued orders for all places to close as the law requires. This also applies to Sunday and next Sunday bids fair to be quite dry here.

The Commercial club's stand for law enforcement brought out opposition to the club's meeting in the city council chamber, as invited Wednesday evening, and under the objection of a citizen who was present the meeting was not held as planned, the citizen objecting to the place being used. The question of stricter law enforcement has stirred up some opposition which cropped out when the club attempted to meet in the council chamber

MUCH PAVING IS BEING AGITATED

Paving Six Streets in Eveleth This Year Is Being Considered.

Eveleth, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is an agitation here to pave the six streets which connect Grand avenue and Adams avenue.

The sections of the streets for which there is a paving agitation are one block long. The work may be authorized the coming summer.

NASHWAUK LOOKS FOR BUSY YEAR

Indications Point to Prosperous Times in That Village.

Nashwauk, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The business outlook for Nashwauk during the coming year is brightening up considerably and from the indications the village will enjoy one of the best years in its history. Several real estate deals have been closed and there are others pending, the different mines are getting in shape for a big shipping season and all in all the outlook is very encouraging.

AGAINST DIVISION.

Virginia Commercial Club Finds Move Not Expedient at Present.

Virginia, Minn., March 13.—The Commercial club went on record last night against any move looking to county division until after the next session of the legislature. A letter was read from W. G. Callen, secretary of the Tower Commercial club, asking that the local organization take some steps in the matter. The idea was opposed by O. H. Griggs, who declared that under the present law not definite results could be obtained and that if any attempt at division were undertaken and failed it would mean a delay of several years before the matter could be taken up again. In his opinion the proper thing to do would be for the towns in the Sixty-first legislative district to unite on representatives in legislature whose duty it will be to secure legislation which will make division possible, and this was the sentiment of the club.

NEW BANK BUILDING

Will Be Erected at Two Harbors By First State Bank.

Two Harbors, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new bank building will be constructed in this city in the near future by James H. Lunz, of this city and William Lawrence on the east half of lot 6, block 3, on the south side of First avenue, and will be occupied by the First State bank when completed. It will be an up-to-date banking house in every detail and according to the builders will be one of the best in this section.

The building will be 25x65 feet, of brick with a fine stone front and stone foundation. There will be a large storage vault in the basement and a double compartment vault on the ground floor one-half of which will be used by the bank and in which the safe will be located. The other department will be used as a safety deposit vault and will contain a large number of safety deposit boxes for rent. Entrance to the safety deposit vault will be from the main lobby instead of from the banking room proper. The part of the vault used by the bank will be equipped with a burglar proof safe of the latest design and construction.

BUCK LAKE ROAD.

Petition for New Highway Is Circulated in Nashwauk.

Nashwauk, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. John L. Shellman has been circulating a petition which is for the purpose of legalizing the proposed new road connecting with the Buck Lake road and terminating at Bear river. The road will be constructed the coming summer at a cost of $35,000. The petition will come up for action at the next meeting of the county commissioners and later on bids will be advertised for. County Surveyor Lidberg has a crew of men at work surveying the right-of-way.

STABBED BY MAN HE HAD HELPED

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 13.—Claiming that a man he had befriended by giving him a home at his claim, eighteen miles from here, Andrew Prazek, a bachelor homesteader, walked to town for treatment after being attacked with a butcher knife and is now in St. Benedict's hospital. The sheriff is seeking his alleged assailant, who claims to hail from Canada. Prazek says they quarreled when he refused to sell his claim to his guest.

Prazek was attacked with a butcher knife while he slept, being stabbed in the groin and abdomen. He grabbed his rifle and drove his assailant off.

In escaping from the shanty the assailant left his cap and coat and in the pockets of the latter were found a receipt from the receiver of the land office issued to Prazek, which indicates that the man intended to impersonate the owner of the claim when it came to proving upon the property.

The alleged assailant is an Austrian, but his names does not develop.

MINELLI DAMAGE CASE SUBMITTED

Jury Retires at Hibbing to Deliberate in Minelli Case.

Hibbing, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following instructions by Judge Martin Hughes in district court, about 11:30 a. m. today the jury retired to deliberate in the case of Joseph Minelli against the Oliver Iron Mining company. Victor L. Power appears for the defendants and Philip M. Stone of Keewatin, for the plaintiff.

Jury Visits Scene.

Yesterday afternoon following the conclusion of the evidence in the Minelli case the jury was taken to view the premises on North street which the plaintiff alleges were damaged to the extent of $6,000 not only because the streets leading up to it were cut away but because rocks and chunks of earth were thrown through the roof and walls and the foundation shaken by the blasting.

Victor L. Power for the plaintiff and Charles Baldwin of Duluth, for the defendant corporation made their arguments to the jury this morning and were followed by the instructions from the court.

SEEKING $5,296 FOR BEING BITTEN

Keewatin Man Suing in District Court for Dog Bite.

Hibbing, Minn., March 13.—Claiming that his leg and feelings were damaged to the extent of $5,296, Charles Chalberg of Keewatin demands that that amount from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunt because they were the owners of a dog that bit the plaintiff. Mr. Chalberg alleges that he had to take treatment at a Pasteur institute and was put to much bodily and mental grievance.

The case was called for trial just before noon in district court today.

SCOTS TO ORGANIZE.

Chisholm and Hibbing People Are to Organize Clan.

Chisholm, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fellow countrymen of Robert Bruce, Bobby Burns and Harry Lauder, will gather at the Hibbing hotel next Tuesday evening for the purpose of organizing a Scotch clan. All Scotchmen and descendants of the Isle of the Thistle will be eligible for membership. W. Douglas-Smith of the Monroe location is the prime mover in the movement here while a large number is greatly interested. Prof. Smith, master of the bagpipes, will be at the meeting and will give several selections in true Scottish style.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. SATURDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Partly cloudy to cloudy weather tonight and Saturday; lowest temperature tonight 25 deg. to about 30 deg.; colder Saturday afternoon or night; moderate to brisk winds, mostly southerly.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isobars (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 90°, and 100°. ○ clear; ◒ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figures, temperature; second, precipitation of .01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

CLOUDY

The predictions in the weather line are much the same as the present conditions: Partly cloudy, to cloudy, and a reasonable temperature. It is remarkable the way the snow disappeared since yesterday morning. It simply seemed to vanish of a sudden; and with the continuation of a moderate temperature and a reasonable amount of sunshine, the chances are that there will be a distinct repetition of the breaking of old winter's back again tonight or tomorrow night. Friday, the thirteenth, may prove unlucky to Boreas.

It was soft and cloudy a year ago today. The sun rose this morning at 6:25 and will set this afternoon at 6:10 o'clock, giving eleven hours and forty-five minutes of sunshine, three minutes more than yesterday. The remaining quarter of an hour to reach the twelve hour day will be overcome next Wednesday, with two minutes to the good.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Fair weather prevailed in all districts except that light rain or snow fell during Thursday or last night over the Eastern Carolinas and the Western portions of Oregon and Washington. Temperatures have fallen somewhat over South Carolina, Florida and Alberta, but elsewhere the tendency has been toward warmer. Killing frost occurred last night at Charleston and light frost at New Orleans."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 13.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Wisconsin and Iowa—Fair tonight and probably Saturday; warmer tonight.

Minnesota—Fair tonight with warmer in south portion; Saturday increasing cloudiness and somewhat colder in afternoon or night.

North Dakota—Fair tonight with colder in north and west portion; Saturday probably cloudy and cooler.

South Dokata—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; probably colder Saturday and in west portion tonight; warmer in southeast portion tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Saturday; colder in east portion tonight.

Lower Michigan—Fair tonight and Saturday; slightly rising temperature.

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Saturday; slightly warmer tonight.

CROSBY OFFERS MORE LAND FREE

Additional Territory to Be Rented Gratis to Truck Farmers.

Crosby, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—A few weeks ago George H. Crosby offered to rent free, three-acre tracts of land close to town to people who wished to establish garden and truck farms. There was a rush for the privilege of leasing land close to a good market, and it was soon manifest that there were going to be many people disappointed in not obtaining tracts. Mr. Crosby has been much gratified with the appreciation which was shown his plan to develop market gardening near the town and now authorizes the announcement that he will devote another and much larger tract to the same purpose.

Offers 180 Acres.

The new tract embraces 180 acres, and lies close to the town. It will be cut into three or five-acre tracts, to suit the prospective truck farm operators. Rent is given for five years free, and all that is required is that the lesses of each tract shall clear one-third of his tract the first year, another third the second year, the balance the third year and keep up the taxes. The soil is very productive and the land is easily cleared.

BELTRAMI FARMERS PICK POTATO SEED.

Bemidji, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Working in harmony with Bemidji merchants, through the Mercantile association and Bemidji Onion Growers' association, farmers in this vicinity will this spring plant Early Ohio and Carmen potatoes. Other varieties of standard seed for vegetables will be used so that the benefit of a co-operative market may be obtained. These points were decided at a meeting this week of the Mercantile association. At the state fair last fall Beltrami county took first prize on potatoes and the increased acreage in fancy potatoes here this year will be large.

Nymore Defeats Socialists

Bemidji, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the Nymore election, all Socialists on the "Independent Village ticket" were defeated. The total vote cast was 157. Jack Olson was elected to succeed himself as president of the village by a majority of 3. Others elected were: Recorder, Peter Wold; treasurer, John A. Olson; trustees, L. F. Larson, Ole Gunderson and L. C. Cole; justice of the peace, E. C. Alton; constables, Emory Jarvis and Wallace Guy.

Purified Blood — SOLVES Most of Sickness Problems

People who have been poulticing and anointing for years and years marvel at the way S. S. S. does the work.

When you come to realize that the skin and flesh beneath are composed of a network of tiny blood vessels you solve the mystery.

There are wonderful medicinal properties in S. S. S. that follow the course of the blood stream just as naturally as the most nourishing food elements.

Thousands know it to be really a remarkable remedy. It contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment. And the "medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well-balanced health as the nutritous elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food," said a well-known physician.

Not only this, but if from the presence of some distributing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses, and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.

Then, too, S. S. S. has such specific stimulation on these local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and a proper relative assistance to each other.

Not one drop of minerals or drugs is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and just insist upon having it. And if you desire skillful advice and counsel upon any matter concerning the blood and skin, write to the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 312 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Do not allow some zealous clerk to larrup the atmosphere in eloquence over something "just as good" as S. S. S. Beware of all substitutes

FRESH AIR AND HEALTH

Mental work calls an unusual supply of blood to the brain; the process of digestion calls the blood to the stomach. Brain work immediately after a hearty meal often causes indigestion because the brain has first call on a supply of blood that should be helping the stomach.

Wherever, in the economy of the body, work is to be done there is a demand for bright, red blood. Thin blood or blood dark with impurities will not do because it is the oxygen carried by the blood that does the work and oxygen-bearing blood is bright and red. This life-sustaining oxygen is taken up by the blood from the air which it meets in the lungs. Hence the great need of fresh air every hour of the day and night. But fresh air is useless if the blood cannot take up the oxygen which it gives. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enable the blood to take up more oxygen because they increase the part of the blood that carries the oxygen. This corrects the lassitude, palpitation of the heart, shaky nerves and the pallor that are the results of thin, impure blood.

You must have pure, rich blood to enjoy complete health. A booklet "Building Up the Blood" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Judge Dancer Finds No Flaw in Corrupt Practices Measure.

Demurrer in the Eveleth Election Contest Is Overruled.

Judge H. A. Dancer of the district court upholds the constitutionality of the corrupt practices act.

In a decision handed down yesterday afternoon the court filed an order overruling a demurrer interposed by John J. Gleason, mayor of Eveleth, to the appeal of Jacob S. Saari, a candidate at the November election against Gleason, from the election returns.

The demurrer was interposed on the theory that the corrupt practices act, which was alleged by Saari to have been violated by Gleason, is unconstitutional. Judge Dancer's opinion is that the act does not contravene any section of the state or Federal Constitution.

The constitutionality of the act has not been fully established in the higher court. A number of rulings on the point in question have been made by district court judges throughout Minnesota and some of the decisions are at variance with each other. The supreme court has not as yet passed upon certain phases of the question.

Gleason was elected mayor of Eveleth last November by a margin of ten votes over Saari, former mayor who was a candidate for re-election. Saari appealed to the district court on two grounds, one of which was that his opponent, Gleason, and his supporters, had violated certain sections of the corrupt practices act by distributing liquor, cigars, etc., to voters, falsifying expense accounts and in causing outsiders to cast their votes at the election.

S. F. White, attorney for Gleason, demurred to the appeal which had been taken on two grounds, taking the position that the corrupt practices law was unconstitutional. The court, however, overruled the demurrer and held that the facts alleged by Saari constituted a cause of action against Gleason. Seven days are allowed by the court in which Gleason's attorney may file an answer.

DARBY O'BRIEN declares that he will have a fighting baseball team this year. Just now the dear Dook does not know how many of his old players will be with him this, let us hope, luscious season. But in the multitude of youngsters on the roster of the club the White Sox leader hopes to find some material that will assay very high.

Brackett, Blancke, Sweeley, Woods, possibly Meneice and several other of the veterans will be in the fold. Jerry Edmunds, one of the most dependable catchers in the league, will also be with us, and the members of the Third Regiment band should go out and give Jerry the glad tidings of sweet hospitality when he unlimbers in our midst. That's what we think of Jeremiah.

Most of the players under contract are youngsters who have made good on smaller teams. Some of them will need more seasoning. But in the matter of developing youngsters the Dook has been consistently fortunate in the past, and in this large instance he may come through with several nifty regulars to fill out the depleted ranks of the club.

As a rule a young club is a hustling club. Last year Darby and some of the fans realized that some changes would work for the best interests of the team. We hated to lose Schreiber, but the draft rule has ever been the bane of the smaller clubs, and we can only hope that in some of the numerous recruits that will be seeking the training quarters ere many weeks have passed, we will find some more players of the capable caliber of Schreiber, Breen, Marion, Dauss or the never to be forgotten Otto Mueller.

Most of us believe that Duluth is due for a growth this season. Let us also anticipate that the town is due for a growth in the baseball sense. With a hustling, aggressive team that is out here every day playing the game every minute, the coming season bids fair to be one of the banner ones in the history of the club that President H. A. Blume has done so much to place in the running.

Beell and Americus.

THIS evening at Kansas City Fred Bismarck Beell and Americus will settle the question of supremacy. Among the greatest of the American wrestlers, the two men Champion Gotch recommended to meet for the title of the American championship, will fight it out at the big convention hall.

From over the sweeping acres of Iowa and the fertile strips of Missouri and Kansas land have come farmers to witness the struggle. Dispatches from the scene of the contest state that the crowd will be one of the largest that has ever witnessed a match in the Middle West.

Americus has been doing most of his training at Excelsior Springs, Mo., while little Dutch Fred has been sticking around the farm at Marshfield. You know Fred has a real training place down there and he can't see the use of training away from the good home cooking.

The contest of this evening is a "blood" match, and she should be some contest. Both men are right and each is unshaken in the belief that he is the best in the land at his weight. Up in this particular section of the land we are of the supreme belief that Freddy Beell is the best in the world at his wrestling weight.

In the matter of pounds Americus will have the advantage. In the matter of nerve and gameness and determination there is no man in all the big world of ours who has the least advantage over Fred Beell. Let the best man win.

Mike McNulty's Nominee.

JOHN ANTHONY SALVATORE, a German with a genial disposition and a pompadour, will make his appearance on the other side of the bay next Monday evening. Joe Brown is the opponent picked for John, and John will try to pick his opponent from the pugilistic path. This is perfectly praiseworthy of John and we have a sort of sneaking hope that he succeeds. John is German and joyous and it is a pity to see a sunny disposition marred.

In addition to the public quarrel between Salvatore and Brown, there will be respective and perhaps respectable meetings between Charles Jensen and Mike O'Dowd and Van Cushway and Joe Ertle. Ring diplomats are also holding conferences with the idea of having a curtain raiser to the affair.

Yes, Monday evening, at the Panorama club.

The Big News Feature.

TUCKED away in an obscure corner of the sport pages of yesterday was the big feature of the day. Why it was not played up is something that we can't for the life of us understand.

The story told of the victory of the Northwestern track team. Right away we felt robustly inclined to telephone the news to Elmer Blu. But upon second thought we desisted. The shock would be too great. Some one should lead an alumnus of the institution up to a victory by gradual degrees. Take him for a walk around the block and ask him what he would do if any athletic team of Northwestern won a victory. Have stimulants ready, in case of necessity, and then gradually break the news of the win.

Northwestern defeated the University of Chicago track team the day before yesterday, and if the Associated Press people had realized the unusual feature of the event—the unusual is news, you know—we are inclined to think the account would have been played up.

The Temperamental Shafer.

ARTHUR SHAFER has informed McGraw that he is through with baseball. "Tillie" Shafer is young—and tender. He cries that baseball has aged him ten years—that he is graying and becoming old. Recall the incident of the pink notes? That was some more of Arthur's temperament sticking out. A grand baseball player—but, oh, the temperament that "Tillie" Shafer possesses—and with McGraw and Doyle and Donlin!

HIBBING TO PLAY HERE

Range Basket Ball Team Will Meet Central High Quint.

The Hibbing high school basket ball team, champions of the Mesaba range and contenders for the opportunity of representing the northern part of the state in the state championships at Northfield, will meet the Duluth Central quint at the Washington gymnasium, this evening.

Coach Schilling has shifted the lineup of the local team in the effort to gain better results. Mat Brown and Stevens have been put in at guards, and this change in the lineup will, it is believed, make the local quint faster and more aggressive.

Hibbing has made an enviable record this season. The Hibbing boys dispute with Aitkin the right to represent this section of the state in the interscholastic championships. Coach Schilling has been putting in hours with the local quint in the effort to make it stronger and he expects that Duluth will make its best showing of the season in the game of this evening.

The lineup:

Duluth—		—Hibbing.
Larson	f	Williams
Forgzack	f	Munter
O'Brien	c	Kleffman
Brown	g	Johnson
Stevens	g	Friday

FORMER CHAMPION WINS.

Gardner of New York Plays Pretty Game in National Tournament.

New York, March 13.—In yesterday's continued play in the national amateur championship billiard tournament, Edward W. Gardner of the Arion society, this city, defeated Charles Heddon of Dowagiac, Mich., by 400 to 203. Gardner, a former national champion, played a steady game in the first five innings for a total of 172, which included a splendid run of 94 on his fourth turn, while Heddon gathered only 27. Gardner increased his lead with several runs of double figures later on and won in the thirty-fifth inning.

The Michigan state champion played a plucky uphill game in face of the disheartening lead of his opponent and was frequently applauded for some of the prettiest masse and follow shots seen thus far in the tourney. Invariably he met setbacks through unlucky kisses and lineups, playing to score on each shot and never trying for "safety." The scores:

Gardner, 400; average, 11 15-35; high runs, 34, 36, 35.

Heddon, 203; average, 5 28-35; high runs, 27, 26, 23.

Referee, Charles F. Conklin, Chicago.

Baseball Scores.

Venice, Cal., March 13.—The Chicago Americans No. 2 defeated the Venice Coast league team yesterday, 4 to 3 in an eleven-inning game. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	4	8	4
Venice	3	5	1

Batteries—Roth, Timmerman and Sullivan; Chelette, De Cannlere and Elliott, Agnew.

Houston, Texas, March 13.—The Houston Texas league club yesterday defeated the New York American regulars 8 to 6 in a slugging match. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Houston	8	13	1
New York	6	13	3

Batteries—Ray, Ware and Allen, Burch; McHale, Burr and Rogers.

Brooklyn Feds to Camp.

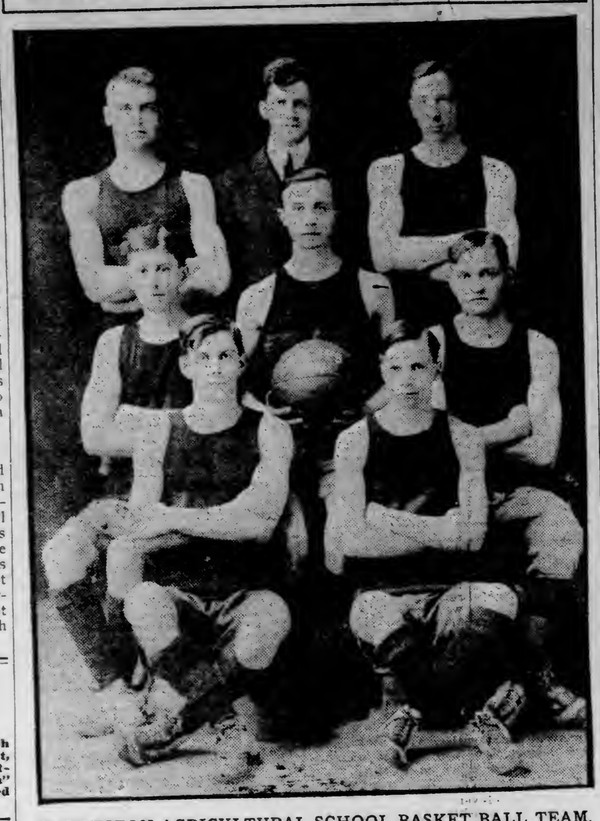

New York, March 13.—A squad of Brooklyn Federal league players who will train in Columbia, S. C., left for that city last night in charge of Walter S. Ward, treasurer of the club and "Bill" Bradley, the manager.

WON EIGHT OUT OF NINE GAMES

Crookston, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Crookston school of agriculture basket ball team has made a phenomenal record this year, winning eight out of nine games played with the high schools of Northwestern Minnesota. The sole game lost was at McIntosh and an invitation has been issued to play a return game on the Aggies' home floor. Splendid team work, coupled with brilliant individual play resulted in the aggregation being impregnable with the exception of the one game lost to McIntosh.

Following is the record of the games played this year, the Aggies' score appearing first: Crookston All Stars, 58-10; East Grand Forks High, 61-12; Thief River Falls, 29-21; East Grand Forks, 25-22; Thief River Falls, 35-26; Bagley, 54-14; Ada, 37-24; Stephen, 54-15; McIntosh, 27-45.

ROY KENT RETURNS TO DULUTH ROWING SQUAD

Ten Eyck Will Also Have Art Osman and Walter Glass.

Most of Last Year's Juniors Will Be Out for the Crew.

By BRUCE.

Large Roy Kent has decided to row this season and the announcement of this highly important fact has caused hallowed joy to fall to the lot of James E. Ten Eyck.

Last year's senior stroke oar is one of the best oarsmen who ever sat in one of the Duluth boats. Roy has the strength, the endurance and the finish, a three-ply brand of qualities that are calculated to bring gladness to any coach.

With the announcement yesterday of the return of Kent came the further news that Walter Glass and Art Osman, both at Syracuse at the present time, would be back here early in June.

Of the senior eight of last year Quimby, Kent and Beschenbossel will be back. Lathrop may not be back and the same is true of Cliff Thorburn. Hank Robbins and Chris Mahan are uncertain and the same goes for Angus Grant. Figuring to date Jim has but three of the last year's members of his winning senior eight that he can count upon.

The New Senior Bunch.

Let us turn to the new seniors—the boys who came into proud seniorhood through the decisive win at St. Paul, July 18.

P. Moore is back and so is Max Rheinberger. Dug Moore and Dave Horak are out. Morrison is also out at the present time. McNary may not be out and there seems to be some uncertainty regarding Hoover. Osman, as was stated before, will be back. This leaves the nucleus of the crew to work upon this year. Whether Ten Eyck will take Horak, Rheinberger and the two Moores out of the eight and row them exclusively as a four, is one of the conjectures that wise old time alone knows.

Forrestal, Williams, Sperry and Von Drasek, the bantam four of last year, now compose part of the comparatively small list of candidates that are trying for positions in the junior boat.

These four men are the only tried material in the shop; that is the only boys who have actually been in competition. Jim has some of the men who worked out last fall and some of the members of the squad failed to make any of the regular crews, and some of this material is very good.

Schneider, Flynn, Paleen and Stanley won the work boat four with rods of gaping water to spare, and Jim is hoping that some of these boys will be out for work.

"Doc" McNulty's boy, Ned, a strapping six-footer of some 175 pounds of bone and muscle, may join the list of hopeful candidates.

Water Work Early.

It looks as if the crews will be on water very early this year. But you never can tell. Nothing would please Ten Eyck more than an open-faced spring. James has a pack of boys who have as yet to feel the pleasant sensation of rowing up and down the bay for many miles, and he would like to get them out there very early, for there are many details of the game to be learned.

Each year there has been an increase in rowing ardor here. This fact is not difficult to explain. For the last two years the crews of the Duluth Boat club have made the followers of the game over the length and breadth of the country sit up and make diligent and interested inquiry. Last year our boys earned in flashing form the title of champions of the United States.

Work has been going on in the machine room since March 3. With one of the largest squads in the history of the club and the prospects of another winning year, both at Kenora and Philadelphia, it is small wonder that the interest in the crews is the greatest it has ever been.

In a very short time Jimmy Ten Eyck will promulgate a set of training rules. Fudge and fussing will go by the boards as the young spring blossoms into coy being. The boys are swinging into the stride of the work now—later will come the real labor, the real training, and real crews, for here there is the utmost confidence in the wizardly ability of James E. Ten Eyck to model the greatest crews in the country.

CATTERSON WINS FINAL

Defeats Bradley Rink in Deciding Game for Gruesen Event.

Dr. Catterson's rink last night won the final in the Gruesen event by defeating Bradley by the score of 13 to 12 in one of the closest and most exciting games of the season.

The winning of the Gruesen by Catterson stamps the performance of his rink as one of the most meritorious of any of the rinks of the club.

"Doc's" rink copped the Universal and then came back and won last evening, while the evening before the Catterson crowd lost the final in the Bagley to Elmer Whyte by a very narrow margin.

In the sixth head Ralph Barrington Bradley and brother curlers led the genial Doc by seven scores. Twice during the game Catterson's rink was six down.

Catterson laid three rocks in the eighth head, three in the ninth and one in the tenth head. In the final end the winning rock was laid by the diminutive skip.

Bert Gravatt leads Catterson's imperial four, and Wilke is second man. Ernie McLeod plays third and "Doc" Catterson skips the bunch.

Last evening's win is the climax of one of the best records hung up by any rink in the history of the club, for since almost the start of the season the Cattersons have been strictly in the running. As a matter of fact, Doc has held up play because he was in so many trophy events.

There are a lot of the bunch tickled more than mildly over the win, as Dr. Catterson has been for years one of the staunchest workers for the best interests of the game.

RITCHIE OR A DRAW? BOYS PUT UP STRENUOUS BATTLE

Wolgast Comes Back Like Wildcat After Alleged Foul in Seventh.

Sporting Writers in Dispute as to Decision—Fast Fight Throughout.

Ringside, Auditorium, Milwaukee, Wis., March 13.—Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion of the world, earned a shade over Ad Wolgast, former champion, in their ten-round bout here last night.

The champion outboxed the Michigan boy in five rounds and in the seventh round had Wolgast backing away from his punches. Wolgast sank to one knee when Ritchie landed a shower of blows on his stomach and took the count of four. He rushed at the champion, but Ritchie danced away from him.

Twice during the bout Wolgast was warned by Referee Stout for his rough work in the clinches. In the eighth and ninth rounds Ritchie clearly outboxed the "Dutchman."

Wolgast rushed at the champion at the opening of the tenth and sent his right and left to Ritchie's face and body, but the coast boy did not give ground and met Wolgast with right and left jabs to the jaw. Both boys were fighting fiercely when the bell rang.

The crowd was the largest that ever witnessed a boxing contest in Wisconsin.

Ritchie Mitchell of Milwaukee outpointed Kid Mahoney of Racine in the semi-windup.

Wolgast was fouled in the seventh when the champion delivered a hard blow to the Michigan boy's groin, according to a statement of Dr. C. A. Morter, a member of the state boxing commission after Wolgast went to his dressing room and underwent an examination. It was in the seventh session that Wolgast fell on one knee and took on a painful look, taking the count of four. As it is against the Wisconsin law to render a decision, the result can only be decided by the newspaper writers. Two Milwaukee morning papers call the contest a draw, while all the sporting writers of Chicago morning papers with one exception give Ritchie a shade. The single Chicago paper called it a draw.

Ritchie was first to enter the ring, climbing through the ropes at 10:15. He was greeted with a volley of cheers. A battery of photographers were ready to take snapshots of the boxers. While waiting for Wolgast, several boxers were introduced to the crowd. Charley White of Chicago was among the number and challenged the winner of the windup.

At 10:25 Tom Jones, Wolgast's manager, waved toward Wolgast, who was 100 feet from the ring, to come along. The "wildcat" entered the ring at 10:26, passing two feet from Ritchie, but without noticing the Californian. Ritchie was covered with a long bath robe, while Wolgast's shoulders supported only a towel. At 10:30 the gloves were being adjusted over the well-bandaged hands of each boxer.

At 10:31 Willie Ritchie was introduced as the lightweight champion of the world and Ad Wolgast as the "Michigan bearcat." This was followed by final instructions by the referee.

Fight By Rounds.

Round 1—They did not shake hands. Wolgast shot a right to Ritchie's side and Ritchie came back with two rights to the body. Ad sent three lefts to stomach and then mocked. Ritchie jabbed with left and the boys clinched. Ritchie shot a right to Ad's head. They were fighting at close quarters but little damage was done. Ritchie's nose is bleeding from a short left jab to the face. Ritchie jabbed with left, the Michigan boy retaliated with two blows to the stomach. Ritchie sent two to face and clinched again. Ritchie sent in three jabs and they clinched. Wolgast sent left to Ritchie's jaw, but his blows seemed to lack steam. Ritchie jabbed Wolgast with right and left to the face. Ritchie sent right to Wolgast's chin and Wolgast followed with right and left to body. Ritchie sent a right uppercut to Ad's jaw, staggering him. Fighting at close quarters, Ad sent two lefts to stomach and Ritchie jabbed Ads' face several times. Ad sent a left hook to Ritchie's jaw. Wolgast sent a shower of blows to Ritchie's stomach, but the champion did not wince. Wolgast fought fiercely, landing twice on the champion's jaw. The round ended even.

FORMER CHAMPION MAKES A GREAT STAND AGAINST THE SPEEDY RITCHIE

AD WOLGAST.

NAPS WILL PLAY AT JOE JACKSON'S HOME.

Athens, Ga., March 13.—Twelve players of the Cleveland Americans, here for spring practice, will go to Greenville, S. C., for a game on Saturday with Farman college, the squad will be accompanied by Joe Birmingham, manager. Greenville is the home of Joe Jackson, the widely known Cleveland outfielder and the game was arranged at his request. The remainder of the squad will play the University of Georgie nine here Saturday.

Ray Chapman, shortstop of the Cleveland Americans, a bone of whose right leg was fractured in spring practice here Wednesday, left for Cleveland today. It is desired that physicians there make a thorough examination of the injury. Chapman is not expected to be able to play for at least a month.

Wolgast sent left uppercut to the champion's jaw, followed with a left to stomach. Ritchie jabbed Wolgast in the body as the round ended. Ritchie's round.

Round 10—The boys shook hands. Ritchie sent left to Ad's stomach and followed with right to head. They fought at close quarters. Wolgast sent two rights to Ritchie's stomach. Ritchie sent in three jabs and they clinched. Wolgast sent left to Ritchie's jaw, but his blows seemed to lack steam. Ritchie jabbed Wolgast with right and left to the face. Ritchie sent right to Wolgast's chin and Wolgast followed with right and left to body. Ritchie sent a right uppercut to Ad's jaw, staggering him. Fighting at close quarters, Ad sent two lefts to stomach and Ritchie jabbed Ads' face several times. Ad sent a left hook to Ritchie's jaw. Wolgast sent a shower of blows to Ritchie's stomach, but the champion did not wince. Wolgast fought fiercely, landing twice on the champion's jaw. The round ended even.

Last evening at the curling club the Bagleys defeated the Universals in the first game of a hockey double-header by the score of 5 to 1, but lost the second game by the count of 4 to 2.

The schedule of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league will be wound up this evening when the Kelleys and Bagleys and the Northerns and Big Duluths will meet. The first game will be called at 6:30 and the second game at 10 o'clock. This will leave the game between the Lakes and the Northerns as the deciding contest of the year.

While the Bagleys led in team work and individual work in the first game last evening, the flour makers came back in the second contest and had it on their opponents.

This has been not only the best season in the history of any city league, but it has also produced some of the best hockey that the followers of the game have ever witnessed outside of some of the larger games.

Most of the contests during all of the season have been close. In many instances but one score has separated the winners and losers. The playing has been clean and for young and somewhat inexperienced players the quality of hockey has been surprisingly good.

The officials of the league deserve credit for their efforts. In the future Duluth will look to the local field for its hockey players, and judging from the quality of the play of this year, there are some promising youngsters in sight.

Great interest is being shown in the games of this evening at the club. Hockey is nearly over for the season, and with the final standings depending upon the result of the games, the followers of the league should be out in force.

Following is the lineup of the teams of last evening:

Bagleys—		Universals—
Stark	c	Tingblad
Webber	lw	Borgestrom
Irvine	rw	Anderson
Fisher	r	Woods
Ulberg	cp	Norman
Roberts	p	Pearling
Skomars	g	Wink

Summary: Referee, Dinham; judge of play, Harbison; timekeepers, Smith and Gillis; goal judges, Shearere and Pangborn.

ROLLER SKATING RACES.

World's Championships on at Detroit for Two Weeks.

Detroit, Mich., 13.—Three preliminary heats and a semi-final were raced in the world's roller skating championships which began here last night and will continue for two weeks. The events were for amateurs, who will hold possession of the rink throughout the first week.

By winning the semi-final heat, Leon Kimm of Chicago, American amateur champion, earned the right to compete in the grand final next Wednesday night. Kimm's time in this heat, 3:11 for the mile, was the best performance of the night.

BOWLERS' PRESIDENT OUT.

Judge Howard Resigns After Fifteen Years—Election On.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 13.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the American Bowling congress here, Edward J. Ryan of Detroit, Mich., was nominated for president to succeed Judge Howard, who resigns after fifteen years of active service. Secretary A. L. Langtry was renominated.

Only one name was mentioned for each office and will probably be elected as recommended by the board of delegates, when the committee meets today.

Wrestling in Lincoln.

Lincoln, Neb., March 13.—Owen Daley, lightweight wrestling champion of Nebraska, last night won from George McLeod of California in straight falls. The first fall came in 53 minutes and the second in 25. McLeod claims the lightweight championship of the Pacific coast.

Visit Training Grounds.

Philadelphia, March 13.—A party of national officials, stockholders and rooters of the National baseball club left here last night on a special car for a visit to the club training grounds at Wilmington, N. C. John B. Lobert, the third baseman who was a member of the world's tourists, accompanied them.

Women Will Row.

Madison, Wis., March 13.—Women students at the University of Wisconsin will have a boat crew next year. The plan has been approved by the authorities and the business management will provide accommodations. A boat to cost $460 will be purchased.

Elgin Man Murdered.

Aurora, Ill., March 13.—The body of D. H. Graves, 45 years old, an Elgin, Ill., businessman, who has been missing since last Tuesday, was found on the Henry Spratt farm near St. Charles, Ill., with the throat cut. No weapon has been found near where the body was discovered.

Postoffice Robbers Taken.

Bessemer, Mich., March 13.—Frank Jussila and Stanley Puksta broke into the postoffice of Watersmeet, taking $100 in stamps and money. They were caught by the sheriff here and turned over to a United States postal inspector.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

LIVELY YEAR IN BUILDING

North Dakota Contractors Expect Much Work to Be Done.

Work Contemplated and Under Way in Many Parts of State.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Contractors anticipate that this will be one of the best building years in the history of North Dakota. Many projects are already under way; some have been definitely announced and a large number are contemplated.

The state military board will construct two buildings on the Rock Island military reservation, near Devils Lake. Bids submitted under the original call were rejected as too high.

Ellendale will construct a city hall, bids having been called for March 17. The structure will be a two-story brick affair, entirely modern.

New Devils Lake Opera House.

An opera house with a capacity of 800 people will be erected at Devils Lake by S. L. Wineman, who has already completed plans for it.

Elabon, Steele county, will erect a $12,000 school building.

The Gladstone & Pearl Lake Telephone company at Litchville will erect long extensions this spring and the Hastings telephone exchange will be housed in a new building soon.

Jamestown will have a new milk depot, a company having been organized for its construction.

Cavalier county will construct a county jail and sheriff's residence at a cost of about $16,000.

Sauter township, in Walsh county, will erect a $12,000 consolidated school. Glenfield also will build a new school house.

A new Congregational church will be constructed in Valley City at a cost of about $40,000.

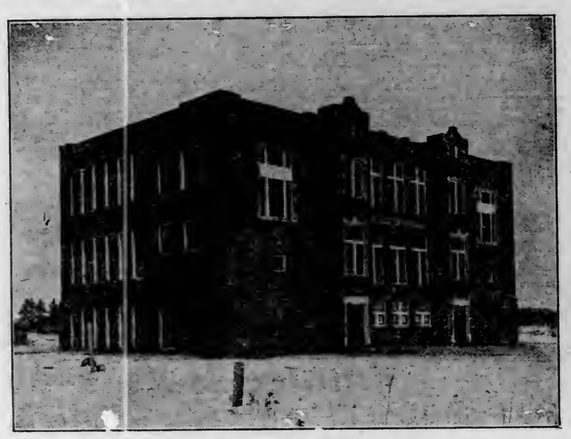

YOUNG FARMERS TO BE GRADUATED

Twenty-Five Boys and Girls to Leave North Dakota Farm School.

Fargo, N. D., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—On Monday, March 16, the North Dakota Agricultural college will graduate twenty-five students in three short courses. These were arranged for the benefit of boys and girls of the farms who are unable to take the full term courses and are for three years. They begin late in the fall and at this season so the graduates can return to their work. The courses are in farm husbandry, homemaking and power machinery.

There are twelve graduates of the former, ten in the power machinery and three girls in home-making. Of these graduates in the past 95 per cent have returned to the farms and have assisted in improving the farms and the rural sections. A few have been inspired by what they have learned in the short courses to return the following falls for full-term work. Dean Davenport of the agricultural college of Illinois will be the chief speaker at the exercises to be held Monday.

GOVERNOR HELPS DEDICATE PINE RIVER'S NEW SCHOOL

NEW $30,000 STRUCTURE.

Pine River, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fine new $30,000 schoolhouse just completed here was dedicated yesterday. Governor Eberhart came from St. Paul to take part in the exercises. Other prominent people present, some of whom participated in the exercises, were: Supt. C. G. Shulz, state graded school inspector; E. M. Phillips and Mrs. A. C. Floan of St. Paul; W. H. Gemmell of the M. & I. railway, county officials and other prominent men of Cass county. An excellent banquet was given in the assembly room after the dedication program. Local instrumental and vocal talent assisted in making the program an excellent one.

ENCOURAGE THRIFT AMONG STUDENTS

School Savings Banks in North Dakota Are Urged.

Fargo, N. D., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the purpose of encouraging school savings banks a committee of the North Dakota Bankers' association has just issued a letter to the members urging the establishment of these banks in every town of the state.

"These banks," the committee states, "will prevent the development of automobile ideas on wheelbarrow incomes. The school savings banks will be courses in thrift. It will not require much time of the bankers but will be a great factor in character building in the lives of the young people of the community. Your committee believes the State Bankers' association could do no better work than to encourage the extension of the school savings bank system."

Signers of Report.

The report is signed by F. W. Vail of Milnor, J. L. Bell of Bismarck and C. W. Ross of Grand Forks. Secretary Macfadden of the state organization will furnish the literature and the necessary information relative to the organization of these banks, which have been so successfully tried in other states.

They have been established at Bismarck, Amenia, Grand Forks and Grafton in North Dakota. They are claimed to install methods of economy and the desire to save in the minds of the youth who will soon be the business men and women of the state.

Open County Seat Fight.

Dunn Center, N. D., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The plan to secure the county seat of Dunn county for this town was started at a big mass meeting held here. A permanent committee was selected to organize and conduct the campaign. It is composed of Thomas G. Ahern, chairman; L. G. Helgeson, B. R. Iverson, Frank Dawes and W. G. Pelton.

DULUTHIAN HEADS STATE GROCERYMEN

G. H. Schulenburg Elected President of the Minnesota Association.

St. Paul, Minn., March 13.—G. H. Schulenburg of Duluth was elected president of the Minnesota State Grocers' association, the annual convention of which came to a close last night.

Other officers elected are: A. C. Eklund, Minneapolis, first vice president; Henry Hess, Winona, second vice president; J. W. Lux, St. Paul, treasurer; J. J. Ryan, St. Paul, secretary.

Ten district directors were elected, including M. R. Bush of Duluth.

DEATH DISCLOSES IDENTITY OF DEAD

Milwaukeean Who Died From Poison Once Prominent South Bend Man.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 13.—That a man who died recently amid squalid surroundings in a South Milwaukee boarding house from an overdose of poison was a member of a wealthy Davenport, Iowa, and Los Angeles family was learned at the county morgue from telegrams received yesterday. The man went under the name of Harry Harris but correspondence found on his body revealed his true name was Horace Greeley Clarke. He worked as a laborer.

In a letter from a brother, Earle D. Clarke, Los Angeles, said to be a millionaire, the laborer was urged to come to Los Angeles and make his home there, the brother promising to see that he wanted for nothing.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Carson, Davenport, arrived at the morgue yesterday and claimed the body as that of Mrs. Carson's brother. Clarke's father, it is said, was a millionaire.

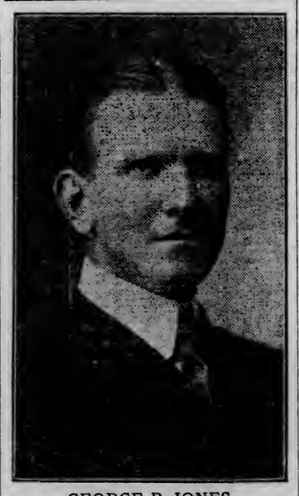

Once Prosperous Attorney.

South Bend, Ind., March 13.—Mrs. Edgar A. Ireland, former wife of Horace Greeley Clarke of Chicago, who during the last eleven years had been living under the name of Harry Harris and whose body was found at Cudahy, Wis., Wednesday, is living in South Bend. She refuses to talk of the case. She married Ireland seven years after her husband's disappearance.

At the time Clarke was supposed to have been drowned by falling overboard on the City of Fremont, in Chicago harbor, the bride of six months refused to believe he was dead. Later, however, she accepted the theory that he had fallen overboard. Life insurance issued for $5,000 was made payable to Clarke's sister, Miss Adelaide Clarke of Iowa City, Iowa.

Clarke was a prosperous lawyer and board of trade operator at the time of his disappearance.

"JONES OF ROCK" MAY SEEK U. S. SENATORSHIP

GEORGE P. JONES.

Bismarck, N. D., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is current political rumor that George P. Jones, known to the public of Minnesota where he formerly lived and North Dakota as "Jones of Rock," will probably be a candidate for the United States senate on the Democratic ticket at the June primaries. While Mr. Jones has not made a formal announcement, during a recent visit to the state capitol the matter was a subject of discussion between Mr. Jones and his friends, and they are confident that his announcement will appear within a fortnight. Mr. Jones was a candidate for the nomination for governor two years ago and is known as one of the foremost orators of the state. He has been prominent since coming to North Dakota in 1906 in the councils of the Democratic party and has done much to assist in the victories of that party.

ACQUIT SALVATIONIST.

Accused Oshkosh Man to Divorce Wife No. 1 in North Dakota.

Oshkosh, Wis., March 13.—David Levine, former Salvation Army captain, was adjudged not guilty by a jury of a statutory charge based upon the fact that he lived here with a woman not his legal wife.

Levine says he will now go to Devils Lake, N. D., and take steps to secure a divorce from his first wife, then remarry Wife No. 2, thereby legitimizing relations between him and Wife No. 2.

The testimony in the case against Levine was based on the fact that he married Wife No. 2 while Wife No. 1 was living and undivorced.

One of the technical points brought out by the defense was that Mrs. Levine No. 2 is to become a mother in May and on this account no offense was committed while the couple were in Oshkosh as charged. Levine testified he supposed Wife No. 1 was dead when he married Wife No. 2.

WAS NOT BACHELOR.

Passing of Stearns County Man Discloses He Had Been Married.

St. Cloud, Minn., March 13.—Death disclosed the life history of Anton Schiefer, a supposed bachelor of Avon, Stearns county, who had been living alone a quarter of a century. In settling up his affairs in probate court it was found he was not a bachelor, but had been married in his younger days. He left no account of domestic difficulties. Schiefer came to this section twenty-six years ago. When he died a letter was found in his shack from a son who has been living in Colorado.

FRAUD IS CHARGED.

Federal Authorities Allege Mankato Man Used Mails Illegally.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 13.—W. E. Davis, a claim agent with offices in the Security Bank building, was arrested at his home in Mankato Wednesday by George W. Wells, deputy United States marshal. He pleaded not guilty and was bound over to the Federal grand jury, which meets in Minneapolis April 6, when arrigned in St. Paul yesterday.

The charge is that he tried to secure $1,250 by fraud from the Iowa State Traveling Men's association. According to Inspector Hugdal, Davis persuaded George Winebarger, a bridge tender at Mendota, to seek membership in the association last July. In November following Davis wrote to the association alleging that Winebarger had lost his left eye and asked for $1,250, together with $25 a week for seven weeks. Later a check for this whole amount was forwarded.

The government claims that Winebarger lost his eye through disease contracted while in the army before 1907.

FARMERS ORGANIZE NEAR NORTH BRANCH.

North Branch, Minn., March 13.—The farmers of District No. 2, west of town, met at the H. D. Brown home and organized the Crescent Farmers' Club of North Branch. There were about thirty-five present, twenty-one of whom joined. The club will be closely associated with the Chisago and Isanti County Farmers' club. The club elected the following officers: President, H. D. Brown; vice president, P. Anderson; second vice president, Theodore C. Thompson; treasurer, T. H. Norton; secretary, O. W. Hake.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Mandan, N. D.—The city commission of Mandan has acted upon the petition for the recall of President H. L. Henke, and an election to fill the vacancy will be held March 24. The outcome will be a test of strength of the two sides in Mandan's city politics.

Bismarck, N. D.—Traveling men report that there are three feet of water on top of the ice in the Yellowstone river and that a few days of warm weather would open the stream—that would mean an early breakup of the ice in the Missouri river at Bismarck.

Minot, N. D.—A trained expert may be employed by the city to take charge of the park system this summer in this city, if the board of park commissioners can agree upon the salary to be paid.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Announcement is made at the university that the annual spring vacation will be held during the first part of April. School will close Saturday, April 4, and classes will be resumed Tuesday morning, April 14.

Devils Lake, N. D.—The postoffice department has authorized the employment of another city carrier and the extension of the city delivery service on the West side and also in the Dodge addition.

Fargo, N. D.—Rev. Thomas Graham, the newly elected pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Fargo, is expected to arrive in the city about April 1 to take up his work in this field.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

North Branch—A couple of our young men were tried before Justice Holmberg on a charge of raising a disturbance at the meeting of the young people's meeting at the Swedish church. They pleaded guilty and were fined $5 each and costs.

Isanti—The election here Tuesday resulted as follows: President, Herman Morast; trustees, W. B. Rouvel, O. M. Johnson and Patrick La Gris; recorder, Henry A. Hansen; treasurer, Albert Wickstrom; assessor, G. C. Olson; justice of peace, G. A. Anderson; constables, Rufus Hagen. For license, 37; against license, 58.

Cambridge—The Cambridge Choral club will give their concert at Cambridge Tuesday evening, March 24, a week from next Tuesday, at the city hall.

Stillwater—W. H. Hollands was elected superintendent of the schools of the city for another year at the same salary, $2,400.

Ada—The full temperance ticket was elected in Ada Tuesday, license being defeated by a majority of fifty-four votes. The officers for the ensuing years elected as follows: President, C. C. Allen; trustees, H. P. Olson, H. Gilbertson; Ole Larson and Oscar Bodding; justices, A. O. Rolfi and A. A. Christianson.

Crookston—Judge Watts filed judgment in the divorce case of Mrs. Augusta Anderson vs. A. G. Anderson, in which Mrs. Anderson was given a decree. She was also given $3,500 alimony, though she asked for $10,000. Cruel and inhuman treatment were the grounds upon which the suit was based, and Mr. Anderson asked for a decree on the same grounds.

Moorhead—The county board authorized Engineer Starr to prepare plans for a bridge across the Buffalo between sections 17 and 20 in Moland. They appointed Architect A. J. Fridluns and Commissioner Wright as a committee to purchase the electric light fixtures for the jail and the sheriff's residence, and named Mr. Kimm and Mr. Wright as a committee to look after the purchase of road scrapers.

Fergus Falls—The Fergus Falls Knitting works people were startled Wednesday when a big stone came crashing through their front door, following a dynamite explosion in the excavation for the annex to the Kadatz hotel, a full block away. The stone was about six inches in diameter, and came through the door like a spent cannon ball.

Hinckley—Lem Irons and wife came down from Hibbing last week and will move onto his farm in Clover township.

Brainerd—A freight had one or more cars derailed at or near McGregor Wednesday morning and blocked the noon passenger train from Duluth several hours. A special was made up at Staples and brought coast travel to Brainerd and points east on time.

Minneapolis—Petition to probate the estate of Frank O. Gold has been filed in probate court. The estate is estimated at $105,000. The application is made by Mrs. Polly E. Gold, 2024 Emerson avenue north, the widow. Mr. Gold died March 3, leaving, besides his wife two sons, Minor B. and Roy F. Gold. Judge Dahl set the hearing for April 3.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Marquette — The remains of Vene VanBrocklin, who died at St. Mary's hospital March 10, were shipped to the family home in Tuscola, Mich. Mr. VanBrocklin's death was caused by Bright's disease. A brother and sister took charge of the body. The deceased was 58 years of age and unmarried.

Hancock — Andrew Berne of Duluth, passenger agent of the Duluth South Shore & Atlantic railway, and A. W. Martin, also of Duluth, traveling passenger agent of the Canadian Northern Pacific Steamship line, were in this city Wednesday morning on a trip to the Copper country towns.

Houghton — The annual meting of the Houghton county farm bureau was held March 10 at the Douglass House, with an attendance of fifty farmers. These officers were elected: President, Joseph G. Bertrand, Sr.; vice president, Will Parks; secretary and treasurer, John G. Stone. The association now numbers 123 members.

Calumet — The funeral of William H. Smith, Sr., was held Thursday afternoon, with services at 2:30 o'clock from the residence of his son, William Smith, Jr. Mr. Smith was 75 years old and one of the pioneer residents of the Copper country. Two daughters, Mrs. Dennis Murphy of Jonesdale, Wis., and Mrs. William P. Vogtlin of Rockland, Ontonagon, and three sons, Pennant of Escanaba, Charles of Hancock and William H. Smith, Jr., of Calumet, survive.

Hancock — This district has more poor people in proportion to its population than any of the other districts in Houghton county, according to a report submitted by the board of poor superintendents to the county board of supervisors.

Laurium — Businessmen are liberal in their support of the dog derby which will be held in Laurium Saturday afternoon and with a large list of entries that already has been filed, the event promises to be a success.

Iron Mountain—Father Corcoran of Iron Mountain who has been very sick is greatly improved, having rallied from an attack of pneumonia that at one time was so far advanced that it was feared his death would ensue. So much alarm was felt over his condition that all his immediate relatives in the upper peninsula were called to his bedside.

Marquette—Phillip Lavendusky, in the plant department of the Western Union Telegraph company at Chicago, has been called here because of the serious illness of his mother. Mrs. Lavendusky submitted to a surgical operation at St. Luke's hospital Monday. Her condition is favorable.

Marquette—E. R. Lewis of Duluth, assistant to the general manager of the South Shore railway, was a Marquette visitor Thursday.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Milwaukee — Detective Dennis M. Sullivan, father of Capt. of Detectives John T. Sullivan has begun his twenty-sixth year as a detective on the Milwaukee department. Detective Sullivan has been on the local force over thirty-two years.

Marinette—The caboose of a North-Western freight train was fired by an overturned stove. The car was taken several blocks by a switch engine to meet the fire department.

La Crosse—That the infant whose nude body was found beside the Burlington tracks here had been deliberately murdered and thrown from a car window, was the verdict of the coroner's jury.

Marinette — Joseph Vlacz, aged 15, Menominee, is being held at the county jail awaiting the outcome of injuries to Francis Clark, aged 17, whom Vlacz is charged with having stabbed.

Neenah — Eleven-year-old Esther Klimpt is dead here as the result of her dress catching fire while playing near a stove.

La Crosse—What will probably be the last annuity allotment payment of Indians in La Crosse county was made when nearly 300 Winnebago men, women and children presented themselves at the Federal building here and received $12.45, about one-half the payment of former years.

Old People Need a Bowel Stimulant

The Ideal One Is a Mild Laxative-Tonic That Will Keep the Bowels Gently Active.

MRS. MARY A. P. DAVIDSON

Healthy old age is so absolutely dependent upon the condition of the bowels that great care should be taken to see that they act regularly. The fact is that as age advances the stomach muscles become weak and inactive and the liver does not store up the juices that are necessary to prompt digestion.

Some help can be obtained by eating easily digested foods and by plenty of exercise, but this latter is irksome to most elderly people. One thing is certain, that a state of constipation should always be avoided, as it is dangerous to life and health. The best plan is to take a mild laxative as often as is deemed necessary. But with equal certainty it is suggested that cathartics, purgatives, physics, salts and pills be avoided, as they do but temporary good and are so harsh as to be a shock to a delicate system.

A much better plan and one that thousands of elderly people are following, is to take a gentle laxative-tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which acts as nearly like nature as is possible. In fact, the tendency of this remedy is to strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles and so train them to act naturally again, when medicines of all kinds can usually be dispensed with. This is the opinion of many people of different ages, among them Mrs. Mary A. P. Davidson, of University Mound Home, San Francisco, Cal. She is 78 and because of her sedentary habits had continual bowel trouble. From the day she began taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin she has had no further inconvenience and naturally she is glad to say kind things of this remedy.

A bottle can be bought of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar. People usually buy the fifty-cent size first, and then, having convinced themselves of its merits, they buy the dollar size, which is more economical. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. Elderly persons of both sexes can follow these suggestions with every assurance of good results.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

CANDIDATE MAXFIELD IS BEMIDJI VISITOR.

Bemidji, Minn., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. J. Maxfield, a Wadena attorney, former president of the Northern Minnesota Development association and afterwards state commissioner of immigration and who now is a candidate for the nomination of congressman in this district in opposition to C. A. Lindbergh, was here this week with his campaign manager, W. E. Verity, a Wadena newspaper man. Because of his prominence in development work, Mr. Maxfield is well known in Beltrami county.

"The most encouraging of reports reach me regarding my candidacy," said Mr. Maxfield, "and there can be no doubt of my election. We have reason to think that we shall even carry Morrison, Mr. Lindbergh's home county."

WANT SOCIAL SURVEY MADE

Interchurch Council Committee Asks Assistance of the Mayor.

A committee from the Interchurch council called upon Mayor W. I. Prince yesterday to ask the co-operation of the city welfare department in making a social survey of Duluth. The members of the committee were Rev. J. W. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church; Rev. C. N. Thorp, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church, and Bishop James McGolrick.

They pointed out that many of the various organizations of the city have much valuable information and data which would be useful in the making of a social survey. They believed that it should be collected and filed in a central place, preferably the city welfare department. It was their opinion that the civic bodies could raise at least part of the funds which would be needed to bring a trained worker to Duluth to analyze the data thus collected and wished to know if the city would assist.

Mayor Prince assured them that the welfare department will be glad to do all in its power to further a social survey in the city, as it would be of great value and beneficial in many ways. He stated that the city's funds are obligated for this year but that with the approval of the other members of the commission he would segregate $1,000 of the funds of the welfare department for 1915 for a social survey, provided the other organizations would raise a like amount, the money to be advanced and used before the city would make any expenditure.

The mayor asked the committee if $2,000 would not be too small a sum to complete a thorough social survey. The committee stated that the information already gathered would be a big start if filed with the welfare department and that after an expert had been engaged to take charge of the work, they were satisfied that sufficient volunteer assistance could be secured to make up for the lack of funds.

Under the plan contemplated nothing further than the centralizing of the data in the welfare department would be done until late this fall or early next year. If the necessary money is then available a person trained in this work will be employed and the survey pushed through to completion. A social survey of Duluth has been strongly urged for some time but the proposition yesterday brought it into more concrete form than it has yet taken.

LESSON IN ROAD MAKING

City Employes Hear Talk on Use of Split Log Drag.

Dr. J. D. Park, president of the Duluth Automobile club, gave an instructive lecture on road building and road maintenance to the employes of the division of public works at the city hall this morning.

Dr. Park came loaded with facts, figures and statistics and spoke for one hour and a half, during which time he had the undivided attention of his audience. He emphasized the advantages of the split log drag for the maintenance of highways which have not been paved. He explained that their constant use keeps the crown up and drains the water from the surface, resulting in the building of a hard, firm road and the elimination of ruts. He declared that providing for proper surface drainage is one of the chief factors in successful road maintenance.

The use of the drag was illustrated on a large table in the office of the works division. Dr. Park demonstrated it with a miniature drag and a quantity of sand which he brought with him. These operations were watched with a great deal of interest, particularly as it is part of the program of the works division to extend the use of the drag as much as possible this season. Dr. Park said that it is the most efficient as well as the cheapest method which could be devised.

He said that he had received much literature dealing with road building and road maintenance from the government, free of charge, and suggested that the works division employes might find it advantageous to take advantage of this information furnished by Uncle Sam.

Court Dismisses Embezzlement Case Against Wholesale Grocer.

Homer T. Fowler of Everett, Wash., who came to Superior to stand trial on a charge of an alleged embezzlement of $10,000 from the funds of the Elmon-Oyaas-Fowler wholesale grocery house, while its treasurer in 1907, was yesterday discharged. Judge Parker of the municipal court before whom the hearing has been held, dismissed the action against Mr. Fowler. L. P. Ekern of Superior caused the warrant to be issued against Mr. Fowler charging him with the embezzlement.

The case first attracted attention following the issuing of the warrant. The governor of Washington refused to issue requisition papers for Mr. Fowler. Later Mr. Fowler decided to stand trial of the case and came here two weeks ago for that purpose.

Library for Farmers.

The Douglas county library commission will spend $300 this year for the purchase of new books for the installing of a circulating library among the farmers. The books will be distributed among fifteen farming communities and will be changed upon request of each community. An appropriation of $200 annually will be made to maintain the library.

Harris Starts Campaign.

The first gun in the campaign for the spring election was fired last night by E. T. Harris, Socialist candidate for mayor. Mr. Harris, in a public meeting, charged the present administration with laxity in the enforcement of the laws and laid stress on his platform which he said included the municipal ownership propaganda.

Get One Year, Each.

Charles Corcoran and Anna Lewis, both colored, were sentenced to one year each in the state penitentiary at Waupun in the Superior court this morning. They were charged with having attempted to secure money under false pretenses through the agency of a bank book which the man had found.

CHARGES ARE DISMISSED

Malpractice Claim Cannot Be Pressed as Counterclaim to Bill.

Although not barred from instituting a new action for damages on the same grounds, Rudolph Morck, defendant in an action brought by Dr. A. E. Walker, a local physician, to collect a $25 doctor bill, cannot prosecute a counterclaim for $3,000 damages for the alleged wrongful death of an infant child in a cross bill.

In district court yesterday afternoon Judge Cant dismissed without prejudice the malpractice charges preferred by Morck against Dr. Walker in a cross bill to the suit brought by the physician to collect for his services in attending an infant child born to the Morcks last July. The child lived but four days.

Judge Cant held that in the absence of proof of willful negligence on the part of the physician, by Morck, any right to recover damages on a claim for wrongful death which the father of the child might have, could not be prosecuted in the case at bar. The court stated that under the Minnesota law the proper procedure was to bring such an action in the name of the administrator of the dead person's estate.

New Suit Necessary.

If the charges of malpractice against the local physician are prosecuted further, it will be necessary for the father or some other person to be first appointed administrator of the child's estate and a new suit instituted in the name of the administrator.

In dismissing the counter-claim filed by Morck, the court intimated that Morck would be entitled to recover personally in a cross bill to the present action if the element of the willful negligence had been established. Judge Cant stated that the evidence adduced by Morck and his witnesses on this point was insufficient to sustain this charge.

The only feature of the case with which the jury is now concerned now is whether or not the physician is entitled to recover for his services. On the witness stand this morning, Dr. Walker stated that if he had the same case to deal with again, he would not vary one particle in his treatment.

The child was born on Saturday afternoon, July 5, and died on the following Wednesday. Dr. Walker claims that he made four or five visits to the Morck house. He alleges that he prescribed a teaspoonful dose of castor oil for the infant to be given every three hours until certain conditions prevailed. He alleges that he so instructed Mrs. Elina La Clair, a practical nurse employed at the Morck home.

Mrs. Morck testified that the instructions she received from the doctor were to give the infant three teaspoonfuls of castor oil every three hours. This was done for thirty-five consecutive hours. The baby is alleged to have died from the effects of the oil.

William Oppenheimer of St. Paul, attorney for the state medical society, is in the case to defend the local physician from the charge of malpractice. The local attorney for Dr. Walker is G. W. C. Ross. William Watts is attorney for Morck. The case will probably go to the jury this afternoon.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

Sweeney With Cubs.

Tampa, Fla., March 13.—Infielder William Sweeney today reported to Manager O'Day of the Chicago Cubs. Sweeney figured in the deal whereby Evers went to the Boston Braves. O'Day may place him at second and send Heinie Zimmerman back to his old place at third. Zimmerman has been out of the game for several days on account of an injured wrist.

TO ABOLISH BOXING IN EMPIRE STATE.

Albany, N. Y., March 13.—The Murray bill which would abolish the state athletic commission and forbid professional boxing exhibitions in the state was reported favorably by the assembly judiciary committee today.

GLYNN HAS PLAN TO SELL FARM FOODS

Albany, N. Y., March 13.—The establishment of a state food and market commission was recommended by Governor Glynn today in a special message to the legislature.

The governor's idea is that the commission should be authorized to assist and encourage the establishment of local markets under the control of co-operative associations of producers or consumers, and to help them in the establishment of grades and standards of farm food products.

The proposed system was worked out on the model of a system which has proved successful in France. The plan is designed to correct inequalities in the division of profits between the producer and intermediary seller.

The scheme includes both local cooperative markets and general auction markets, where farm products may be sold by licensed auctioneers.

Thanks for Rescuers.

Washington, March 13.—By unanimous vote, the senate today agreed to the house resolution extending the thanks of congress to the captain and crew of the steamship Kroonland for the rescue of the Volturno survivors.

BRITISH NAVAL BUDGET BIGGER.

London, March 13.—The British naval estimates for 1914 and 1915 amount to $257,750,000, an increase of $13,700,000 over last year. The new construction program provides for four battleships, four light cruisers and twelve destroyers.

Receiver Named.

Chicago, March 13.—Frank M. Key was appointed receiver for the Allied Motors corporation, manufacturers of motorcycles. Attorneys for the creditors said the liabilities were about $50,000 and the assets approximately $40,000. The receiver said he would undertake to reorganize the company immediately.

CANADIAN FISHING TREATY MAY GO BACK

Suspension of Trap Net Prohibition Endangers Whole Measure.

Washington, March 13.—The administration bill to give effect to the provisions of the treaty of 1908 with Great Britain regarding fisheries on the Canadian border, was reported today to the house by the foreign affairs committee after it had been amended by suspending the regulation to prohibit trap nets. One result of the change may be the return of the entire treaty to the contracting powers.

OFFERS PLANS FOR FARMERS' BENEFIT

Rural Credit Commission Wants Reserve System Rules Amended.

Washington, March 13.—To benefit farmers, the rural credit commission today recommended to congress that banks with a capitalization as low as $2,000 be allowed to become member banks of the new Federal reserve system. The commission contends that the present limit of $2,500 prevents the benefits of the system being extended to a large degree to the farmers.

The commission recommended that the states authorize the creation of credit unions and crop credit associations. These recommendations were submitted in a report on short term credits as distinguished from long time or agricultural land credits.

FISH SENTENCED; STAYED BY APPEAL.

Boston, March 13.—Capt. John A. Fish of New York today was sentenced to five years in the Federal prison at Atlanta for burning his yacht Senta, in Edgartown harbor, on Oct. 21, 1910, in order to obtain $15,000 insurance. An appeal on a writ of error was taken and this acted as a stay, but in default of security Fish was sent to jail.

In moving sentence, United States District Attorney French stated that Fish, when 21 years old, deserted from the United States army.

Wisconsin Land Sale.

Iron River, Wis., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thuring & Son this week sold to Mr. Schultz of Minneapolis 4,000 acres of cutover land, located near here, a part of the tract embraced in the Hessey purchase from the Alexander & Edgar Lumber company.

OBITUARY

William O. Wright, for many years prominent as a Democratic politician and a former member of the Illinois state central committee, died at Freeport, Ill., aged 72.

Gilbert W. Woodward, aged 79, one of the most prominent members of the La Crosse county bar and a Democratic politician, died at La Crosse, Wis., March 13. He served three years in the Civil war. He was wounded the first day at Gettysburg, but continued with his regiment. He was congressman from 1883-85, and unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor in 1886.

REHEARING OF RATE CASE IS DEMANDED

Advances Under Federal Decision Lead to Many Complaints.

Washington, March 13.—Material and in some instances serious advances in freight rates upon certain commodities, under the decision of the interstate commerce commission in the industrial railways case, have brought upon the commission protests and demands for rehearing.

Today, on behalf of the Carnegie Steel company and the National Tube company of Pittsburg, the Universal Portland Cement company of Universal, Pa., and the American Steel & Wire company of Cleveland and Newburgh, Ohio, Charles S. Belserling filed petition for rehearing as to allowances heretofore paid by the railroads to the so-called industrial railways for switching service.

It was urged in the petitions, too, that the proposed charge for spotting car service would be unjust to shippers, particularly to those who have established their manufacturing plants with assurance that their rates on shipments and received traffic will not be increased.

Already some of the railroads have filed tariffs making a charge for spotting car service in addition to the regular rates to destination, thus, in effect, increasing the rates. The petitions filed today ask for a suspension of those tariffs until final adjudication of the subject.

Wife Deserter on Diet.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 13.—Thorwald Sass, 23 years old, was given five days' solitary confinement on a diet of bread and water by Judge Backus in municipal court on Wednesday. He pleaded guilty to a charge of abandoning his wife, Hilda, whom is in El Paso, Tex., for her health.

RECORD OF "SMOKERS"

City Inspector Makes Record of Forty-Three Duluth Chimneys.

Many Have Perfect Record; Owners of Others Promise Reform.

Observations made by Smoke Inspector J. W. Schneider show much room for improvement in the matter of the emission of dense smoke from the stacks of a considerable number of local buildings.

Were the ordinance now pending before the council in effect, half of the buildings which have been checked in the last two weeks would have been liable for violating its provisions. The new measure prohibits the emission of black smoke for more than six minutes in any hour. The inspector has taken the time of forty-three stacks up to date. Of these twenty-one emitted dense smoke for more than that time while several just took the limit. Many of the others were surprisingly good.

The inspector is keeping a complete record of his observations and is notifying the owners or agents of those buildings where the smoke constitutes a nuisance. His chief efforts will be directed towards a campaign of education but the ordinance is being put into effect in order that the city may have a club for use against those who pay no attention to the requests of the inspector. Thus far all those to whom the inspector had spoken relative to reducing the smoke nuisance to a minimum have expressed all willingness to co-operate with him to the fullest extent.

The buildings of which observations were taken and the number of minutes which their stacks emitted dense smoke during the hour they were checked, were as follows:

SIEGEL EMPLOYES' SAVINGS WIPED OUT

New York, March 13.—On the eve of the closing of the two great New York department stores once controlled by Henry Siegel and Frank L. Vogel, both under indictment, charges were laid before District Attorney Whitman today that the sick benefit fund of the stores' employes was hopelessly involved with the deposits in the Siegel private bank, now defunct.

More than 2,000 employes, who will lose their positions tomorrow when the stores are closed by order of the Federal court, heard that they were likely to suffer this loss in addition to their savings, which more than half of them had deposited in the Siegel bank.

The latest turn in the big department store scandal was discussed today by the district attorney and Robert McMeakin, secretary of the Siegel Stores corporation, and by an examiner from the state banking department. It was said that thus far the district attorney had been unable to learn the whereabouts of the sick benefit fund or get an inkling of its size. The fund was accumulated by weekly assessments of 2 per cent on the salaries of the employes.

FOUR INDICTED FOR PARTY FINANCIERING

Columbus, Ohio, March 13.—Indictments containing an aggregate of seventeen counts were returned in the common pleas court today against four prominent men, three of them officials or attaches of state departments, charging them with violations of the state civil service law.

Those indicted were Emory W. Lattanner, state superintendent of banks; W. L. Finley, chairman of the Democratic state committee; A. V. Abernethy, secretary of the state tax commission, and M. A. Coller, chief clerk to the superintendent of banks.

It is charged that the men indicted contributed or caused state employes to contribute to a fund for the maintenance of the Democratic press bureau, which was operated under the direction of Chairman Finley and of which Abernethy was the literary head. The penalty upon conviction may be either fine or imprisonment under the state law.

All of those named in the indictments had anticipated the action of the grand jury and presented bonds aggregating more than $2,000,000, the sureties being Columbus financiers and business men.

Judge Dillon released the defendants on $1,000 bonds. The court held that the large bonds they were prepared to give were not necessary.

WOLFER OPPOSED TO PRISON GOODS BILL

Minnesota Warden Talks to Senate Commerce Committee.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, March 13.—Warden Henry Wolfer of the Stillwater, Minn., penitentiary today appeared before the senate committee on interstate commerce in opposition to the Hughes bill subjecting the sale of prison made goods made in one state to the laws of another state. Mr. Wolfer said that the result of the enactment of such a law would be to confine the sale of the twine and farm machinery made in the Stillwater prison to Minnesota, where it might be subject to unfair competition. With an open field, he said, the price of binding twine to farmers in the Northwest would be kept down, and this meant the end of 3 cents a pound on an output of 19,000,000 pounds a year.

In the course of Mr. Wolfer's testimony, Senator Nelson remarked that he had bought a mower from the state prison and that it was a good one.

Mr. Wolfer said he had no objection to being required to label the prison made goods, and in fact that was being done with the products of the Minnesota state institution.

Opposition to the Hughes bill was expressed before the committee by Ralph E. Smith and H. Grosophorst of the state board of control of Wisconsin.

ACCUSES BROTHER-IN-LAW.

Minot Man Alleges Relative Deceived Him in Getting Loan.

Minot, N. D., March 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. S. Beckman, a traveling man of this city, is under arrest charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. A. Gordon, a local merchant, and a brother-in-law of the defendant is the accuser.

Gordon claims to have made to Beckman a loan on alleged false representations. Beckman declares the action against him is spite work.

Shamrocks for Wilson.

Washington, March 13.—President Wilson today received a box of Irish moss and shamrocks from John Redmond, Irish leader in the English parliament. Mr. Redmond has been sending shamrocks to the White House for many years for St. Patrick's day.

SETTLER LEFT SMALL ESTATE

Heirs of Victim of Frostbite Will Divide Property Worth $350.

Daniel Payne, 58, Meadowlands homesteader, who died Feb. 25 at a local hospital one week after he had been found with both feet frozen in his shack two miles east of Meadowlands station, left property worth $350 according to the petition of his brother, George Payne of Pine City for administration filed in probate court today.

The petitioner asks that letters be granted to D. S. McKay of this city.

Payne and a neighbor, C. J. Lindstrom, 65 years old, celebrated Sunday, Feb. 15 by getting drunk. Lindstrom never reached the inside of his own house after leaving Payne Sunday evening. He was found frozen to death on his doorstep. The two cabins were but a few rods apart. Payne got into bed but did not cover up his feet. The fire in the cabin stove burned out and during the few hours that followed, Payne froze both of his feet. He was found in a halpless condition on the following Wednesday. One week later he died.

Payne left as his heirs, brothers, one sister and two nephews. They are George Payne, Pine City; August Payne, Nova Scotia; Mrs. Anna McPhee, Texas; Marry Congdon, Nova Scotia, and William Payne of Osakis, Minn.

Douglas Erickson, as guardian for Mary Gustafson, 15, and Edith Gustafson, 13, daughters of John Gustafson, who died, aged 64 on Feb. 12 last, today petitioned the court for letters of administration. The two children are sole heirs to the estate which consists of personal property valued at $50, and real estate at Chisholm worth $1,800. Erickson, the petitioner, is a half brother of the dead man.

Joe Marcetich, who holds a power of attorney from Dosta Kanta, 21-year-old widow of Jovan Kantar, who was killed at his work in the mines on Oct. 14, today petitioned the court for letters of administration on the Kater estate. The widow and a 3-year-old daughter, sole heirs, reside in Austria-Hungary. The estate consists of a claim for compensation under the new liability act and personal property valued at $100.

Case Is Settled.
John Sterle, as administrator of the estate of Joe Moshe, who was killed in a cave-in at the Clark mine Oct. 24, 1912, has accepted $1,828.80 in settlement of a cause of action for alleged wrongful death brought against the Oliver Iron Mining company. Approval of the settlement was secured from a district court judge yesterday. Sterle brought suit against the company for $7,500 for the benefit of Moshe's widow and an infant child.

Leg Broken by Fall.
Frank Fandstrom, 15 years old, who was hurt in a fall while playing with companions near his home at Alborn Wednesday afternoon, was yesterday brought to St. Luke's hospital for medical treatment. The boy suffered a fracture of his right leg and the injury is now being treated by Dr. E. T. Lindgren. The boy's father accompanied him to Duluth.

Will Be Deported.
Marino Paparelli, 23 years old, and his wife, Rebecca Cohen Paparelli, 24, who were arrested by the immigration authorities last December on a charge of being unlawful residents of this country, will be deported to Italy on March 21. They will be taken to Chicago, where they will join a party to be taken to New York for deportation. Efforts were made at first to deport them to Canada, but the authorities there refused to take them back.

Feared a Disturbance.
Rather than risk any disturbance, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Oliver telephoned headquarters for an officer last evening, when they were ready to move from 322 West Third street. Patrolman Barber was sent to the scene and he saw to it that they were not interfered with. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver claimed that their landlady had threatened trouble in case they attempted to move.

Sent to Work Farm.
For being drunk a third time in the last few months, Robert Marshall, 61 years old, will have to spend the next two months on the work farm. He was arrested last evening and pleaded guilty when arraigned in police court this morning. The court refused the alternative of a fine.

Denies He Is Vagrant.
Clayed Everett, 43 years old, who was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Toewe and Bradley on a charge of vagrancy, pleaded not guilty when arraigned this morning. He will be tried this afternoon. Everett claims he has a position and expects to leave the city in a day or two.

Judge Morris to Twin Cities.
Federal Judge Page Morris left last evening for the Twin Cities, where he will conduct court for several days. He will return next Thursday.

All Reports Now Filed.
The amended corporation report of the Duluth-Edison Electric company was filed this morning with City Auditor B. J. Campbell. The report gives the company's expenses in greater detail than the first statement, but in its essentials is unchanged. All three reports reported by the city attorney as being incomplete within the meaning of the charter, have now been filed with supplementary statements. The others are those of the street railway company and the Great Northern Power company.

Church Statistics.
In the annual publication of the Protestant Episcopal church, the following statistics of the Duluth diocese are given: Clergy, 41; parishes and mission, 105; baptisms, 344; confirmed, 281; communicants, 3,185; marriages, 175; burials, 167; Sunday school teachers, 218, and Sunday school scholars, 1,865.

Golden Rule

This store, which after a brief career of less than three years, failed in Superior last month, carried one of the largest high-class stocks found among the big establishments at the Head of the Lakes. They had assets of $170,000, which were sold in Bankruptcy proceeding for a trifle over $100,000, but they owed to manufacturer and banks over $200,000. Their stock was much too large for the business they did.

The Columbia purchased the Men's and Boys' Clothing and Furnishings of which there were about $20,000 at wholesale cost. Instead of putting this good and clean stock into our stores and pocketing the whole 40 per cent extra profit we live up to the old Columbia Rule of "as bought, so sold," and give our friends in Duluth a chance to participate in the rare chance of a genuine

ROCKEFELLER BEHIND BIG CLEVELAND FUND

Proposes to Leave at Least $50,000,000 for City's Benefit.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 13.—That John D. Rockefeller is the guiding genius behind the Cleveland foundation, recently launched by F. H. Goff, president of the Cleveland Trust company, and that the oil king plans to leave not less than $50,000,000 to the trust fund, the income of which would be used for bettering Cleveland, was the substance of a report in circulation among bankers here today.

It was said that Mr. Rockefeller desires to leave a memorial in this city where his early life was spent, and he has decided upon the foundation as the best method. Goff was a former member of Rockefeller's legal firm and a close friend of the Standard Oil magnate.

WORTHINGTON WILL NOT ANSWER INQUIRY

Chicago, March 13.—John W. Worthington, who was accused of wrecking the American Banking association, of which he was president, refused to testify in an inquiry before a United States referee into the accounts of the association. Worthington pleaded that he might incriminate himself by testifying.

Counsel for the receiver, the Central Trust company, announced that an order would be sought to compel Worthington to testify.

WILL ANNOUNCE BETROTHAL SOON.

Washington, March 13.—Formal announcement of the engagement of Secretary McAdoo and Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, youngest daughter of the president and Mrs. Wilson, was expected to be made today at the White House.

Persons in a position to know said confirmation of reports of the engagement had been decided upon by the Wilson family, although it had not been intended to make the announcement at such an early date. Publication in many newspapers of the prospective marriage was said to have influenced the decision of the White House.

Rumors were about that with the marriage of Mr. McAdoo and Miss Wilson, which is expected to take place in June, the secretary would resign from the cabinet and be appointed ambassador to France, but White House officials said such reports were without foundation.

Later today those best informed declared it had been decided at the White House not to issue the formal announcement today, but to do so in the near future.

PARCEL POST MAN RUNS AFOUL LAW.

Washington, March 13.—Representative George J. Kindel of Denver, who for months has been agitating a reduction of parcel post rates and who recently spoke on the subject in the house, has run afoul the postal authorities in advertising the sale and distribution of his speech by means of a printed stamp on the back of copies he has mailed under frank as part of the congressional record.

Third Assistant Postmaster General Roper appealed to the department of justice, which gave an opinion stating that the postal law was being violated. Mr. Kindel says he defies the department.

ESTATE WILL PAY $82,000 BACK TAX

Rockford, Ill., March 13.—After long litigation, an agreement has been reached by which the estate of A. W. Barber, millionaire, who died at Crystal Lake, Ill., in 1912, will pay omitted taxes amounting to $82,000. Barber, it was said, paid taxes on an assessment of only $20,000 during the ten years he resided at Crystal Lake. The money will be divided among the various taxing bodies of McHenry county.

CREW CLAIMS SHIP IS UNSEAWORTHY

Gibraltar, March 13.—Part of the crew of the British steamer Batiscan, on her arrival here today, refused to proceed on the voyage to Philadelphia, declaring that the vessel was unseaworthy.

EXCUSES DAMAGE TO COSTLY PAINTING

London, March 13.—Votes for Women, the suffragette newspaper edited by Frederick and Emmeline Pethick Lawrence, comments today on the mutilation of the "Rokeby Venus" in the National gallery as follows:

"Miss May Richardson has demonstrated once more that society rests upon mutual forbearance and consent, and that if one section, however powerful, outrages the feelings of another section, however small, there are means of retaliation open to those who have been wronged which will be keenly felt by the community at large.

"Miss Richardson's action is, of course, widely criticized and condemned; but the real culprits are Premier Asquith and his government, who have taught women by precept and example that they care nothing for equity or justice or the priceless traditions of liberty. The only thing that influences them is a strong right arm, which can strike an irreparable blow."

$6,325,000 BONDS SOLD OVER COUNTER.

Boston, Mass., March 13.—The sale "over the counter" of $6,325,000 of state bonds, was completed yesterday, it was announced by Treasurer Frederick W. Mansfield. The sale was started on Feb. 13, after the treasurer had rejected bids by bond houses for the entire issue.

WHEAT FIRM AT THE CLOSE

Market Recovers Near the Finish of Day's Session After Early Weakness.

Flaxseed Sells Off on Lower Cables and Light Demand.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 13.—The market turned firm at the close on better demand. May wheat closed unchanged and July unchanged. May durum closed ¼c off and July ¼c off.

Oats closed ¾c up at 36⅝c. Rye closed a cent up at 54@56c for the best grades. There was again no market in barley.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 90¼c bid and calls at 90¾c bid.

The wheat market held up remarkably well today in the face of a long budget of bearish news.

Liverpool and all the other foreign markets were lower and depressed through estimates of large world's shipments and liberal offers from Russia. Export offers were few from any quarter and they were out of line.

Southwestern crop news was all bearish, indicating ideal conditions and prospects in the sections tributary to the St. Louis and Kansas City markets. Modern Miller's weekly report was extremely bearish.

The comparative statement of exports from North America during the first half of the British cereal year, showed that out of a total of 160,912,000 bu of corn exported, the United States had contributed 88,000,000 bu and Canada 72,912,000 bu.

Receipts at American primary markets today were 161,000 bu less than a year ago. Marketings at Minneapolis showed a sharp falling off, being 184 cars, compared with 319 last year. Stocks down there increased 360,000 bu during the week, as compared with a gain of 125,000 bu in the corresponding period last year. Duluth inspections came to 41 cars against 49 last year, and wheat stocks here increased 164,000 bu in the five days, bringing them up to 13,425,000 bu.

Local operators are disposed to sit tight marketwise at present. It is felt that supplies of spring wheat in the Northwest will have been exhausted before the appearance of the new winter wheat crop. "The crop killers may be expected to get in their work at any time and run prices up on any fellow who may have gone short," said a trade operator this morning.

May wheat opened unchanged at 91⅜c and it held at that basis up to the closing hour, after having weakened fractionally. The July option opened unchanged at 92¾c and declined 1⅛c. May durum opened unchanged at 90¾c and sold off ¼c. The July option opened ⅛c off at 91⅞c and declined ¼c more.

Flaxseed Closes Weak.

Trading in flaxseed fell off today and in the absence of any aggressive buying, quotations receded. The market was featureless throughout the session. With the execution of some selling orders at the opening, prices declined ½@⅝c and there they rested until near the close when further selling appeared with lower cables. Final quotations were at the low of the day and showed losses of 1¼c.

At Buenos Aires flax closed 1c off while theFinish at Antwerp came 1¼c off and at London ½c down.

May flax opened ¼c off at $1.59 and it closed 1¼c off at $1.58. The July option opened ½c down at $1.60 and it closed 1¼c lower for the day at $1.59¾.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.38¼ and July at $1.41 bid.

MARKET GOSSIP.

World's shipments exclusive of North America are estimated at 9,600,000 bu against 8,528,000 bu last week. Of this Europe will take about 8,800,000 bu. Total shipments last week were 12,336,000 bu and last year 13,472,000 bu. Arrivals into the United Kingdom were about 4,000,000 bu. Broomhall predicts a fair increase on passage.

Australian shipments of wheat this week were 2,744,000 bu, and Indian shipments of wheat 64,000. None are estimated for next week.

* * *

The Minneapolis cash market was steady with a good demand for the top grades. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at from 1@2½c over May and velvet chaff at from 1@1½c premium; flour sales were still limited. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold at from 91⅝ 92⅝c and No. 2 northern at from 88⅞ @90⅝c.

* * *

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "Bearish sentiment predominated among wheat traders after the close. It was the general opinion that increased power must make its appearance or values would work to a lower level as there was nothing in sight to cause any material upturn outside of the oversold pit conditions, which develop every few days. The volume of trade is so light that it takes little buying to absorb the surplus. Crop prospects were regarded as against the bulls and a general disbelief is expressed as to any damage of consequence so far."

* * *

The following is a comparative statement of exports from North America for the first half of the British cereal year as appearing in Broomhall's corn trade news. Total for six months was 160,912,000 bu of which United States contribution 88,000,000 bu, Canadian contribution 72,912,000 bu.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Lower American cables and pressure in Winnipeg caused selling at the opening here and values were ¼d lower. Following the opening there was further realizing with an additional decline of ¼d. The forecast is for about 3,000,000 bu from Australia this week and liberal world's shipments other than America. This together with larger Russian offers and liberal three-day receipts here and continued higher favorable American winter outlook, led to profit-taking. There were American selling orders in the market. At 1:30 p. m. the market was weak, ½d lower.

"Corn opened unchanged and later July advanced ¼d with the undertone steady. Steadiness of spot, firmer Plate offers and a fair export demand at Liverpool for Plate, served to offset the lower American cables."

Broomhall's Argentine agent cabled: "Weather is favorable for the movement and also harvesting of corn. Contracts for corn are being made at higher values of holders and the demand from the continent is increasing. Argentine wheat shipments were 1,776,000 bu against 2,726,000 bu last week and 6,856,000 bu last year. Available wheat there is 2,760,000 bu against 2,800,000 bu last week and 8,868,000 bu last year."

The Nebraska state board of agriculture shows the winter wheat acreage at about 3,500,000 acres against 3,033,610 a year ago. There is very little reliable data at present on conditions.

Broomhall's special Russian news: "In the southwest the weather is mild. Arrivals of wheat at Nicolaieff from the Volga region are light. Roads are almost impassable and therefore stocks at the ports light. The crop outlook is generally satisfactory."

* * *

Modern Miller says: "The winter wheat crop condition remains highly favorable. Texas has the largest and best stand the state has ever had. In Kansas March winds were heavy, but the plant is firmly rooted with moisture in the subsoil. In the soft winter wheat states the prospects are brilliant. Investigation shows the plant in Southern Illinois uninjured by February ice covering. Abandoned acreage this year promises to be the smallest on record."

Foreign consumers of flaxseed comment on their inability at present to secure supplies for immediate consumption. It is thought that until offerings enlarge materially, the present firmness in the market is likely to be sustained through the legitimate consumptive demand.

The American linseed area this season is expected to be increased not only in Montana, which is now the third state in importance to flax growing, but elsewhere a lot of new ground will be devoted to the cultivation of this oilseed.

Production of durum wheat in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota, comparing 95 per cent of all grown in the United States in 1913 was about 21,529,000 bu compared with 24,561,000 bu in 1912, 16,021,000 in 1911, 24,131,000 in 1910 and 37,831,000 in 1909. Of the total production of all wheat in the three states named, a smaller proportion (13.5 per cent) was durum than in any of the preceding four years. This was due in part to the fact that crop yields last year were relatively shortest in those sections where durum wheat is mostly grown, and in part to a greater preference for other varieties last year.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Holds Steady Owing to Strong Cash Demand.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 13.—A strong demand for cash wheat held the market comparatively steady here today in spite of lower cables and favorable reports from crop experts, now in the field.

Wheat—May opened 90⅛c; high, 90⅛@90⅝c; low, 90c; closed, 90½c. July opened 91½@91⅝c to 1½c; high, 92c; low, 91½c; closed, 91⅞@92c.

Flax, $1.56@1.58.

Flour was in strong demand today and all mills running at nearly full capacity. Prices unchanged. Shipments 77,740 bbl. Barley, 42@63c; rye, 56c, bran unchanged.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Bearish on Big World Shipment Prospect.

Chicago, March 13.—Prospect of liberal world shipments had a bearish influence today on wheat. The forecast was that shipments from countries other than America would be increased. Continued favorable outlook for the domestic winter crop tended also to discourage the bulls. Opening prices were ¼c to ⅜c lower and but little reaction followed.

Rumors of a threatened break in relations between Russia and Austria gave the bulls later some advantage. The close was steady at ⅛@¼c net advance.

Corn developed firmness on account of rural offerings being small. Higher views of Argentine holders helped to strengthen the market. Prices opened unchanged to ⅛c off and then gradually hardened.

Liberal sales at Missouri river points kept prices on an upward slant. There were unconfirmed reports that 1,000,000 bu was buying here in considerable amounts. The close was steady ½@⅝c over last night.

Sympathy with corn steadied oats. Cash houses did a good deal of the buying.

Higher prices for hogs were reflected in the provision market. Lard was in the best demand.

London Stocks.

London, March 13.—American securities opened uncertain. Trading was light and price changes were narrow during the forenoon, but later the list advanced sharply on New York and Continental buying and closed firm.

Bank Clearings.

New York, March 13.—Dun's Review tomorrow will say: An improving tendency in bank clearings is indicated this week by the most favorable comparison shown for some time past, the total $2,828,312,211, being only 1.9 per cent smaller than last year.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

After Sharp Declines at Opening, Prices Are Marked Up.

Speculation Flattens Out Toward the Close, Which Is Firm.

New York, March 13.—After sharp declines in various issues in the early Wall Street trading, steadiness of the speculative leaders encouraged bullish traders and under the influence of buying for both accounts, prices were marked up in striking fashion.

All of the important shares gained a point or more before the buying slackened. Shares which recently had been targets for bear attacks, such as Chesapeake & Ohio, New Haven and New York Central, took the lead in the upturn.

Bonds were irregular.

Trading was abnormally dull at the opening of the market today and prices of the leaders barely varied from yesterday's close. The widest movement was in Louisville, which lost 1¼. Canadian Pacific declined ⅝ to 203¾, the lowest price since 1911. Rock Island went to 4, a new low record.

Distribution of large buying orders galvanized the market into activity for a time and prices advanced swiftly. Canadian Pacific converted its loss of a point into a similar gain. Chesapeake & Ohio, Union Pacific, New York Central, Lehigh, Sugar, Bethlehem Steel and Westinghouse advanced 1 to 2 points. Rumely shares were weak.

Prevalence of bullish feeling sustained prices when buying by the short interest stopped. Scope of the rise which embraced a wide assortment of stocks indicated some increase in outside orders and renewed pool operations.

The demonstration of rising strength which the list displayed, ultimately brought support for the Gold and Rock Island stocks and bonds and they rebounded strongly.

The market closed firm. Bull speculators were content to maintain the list around the earlier high prices and not force further reduction of the short interest. Speculation flattened out toward the end.

POSTPONE DECISION ON RAISING LAKE LEVEL

Question Will Be Further Discussed at Meeting on April 7.

Maximum Raise of Seven Inches—Duluth Delegate Returns.

The international waterways commission took no action relative to the application of the Northern Michigan Power company for permission to raise the level of Lake Superior, but adjourned the hearing until the semi-annual meeting of the commission to be held at Washington, April 7, according to D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department. Mr. Reed returned this morning from Detroit, where he represented the city before the commission. The hearing was concluded yesterday.

Manager Reed commented upon the very noticeable disposition of the commission to be perfectly fair. He said that the objectors, consisting of representatives from Duluth and Port Arthur and officials of the Northern Pacific, Omaha and Soo railroads, were at a disadvantage as they came uninformed as to the intentions of the company and had no attorney who was familiar with the situation to cross-examine witnesses for them. But he stated the commissioners assisted them in several important instances by questioning the witnesses for the applicants upon their own initiative.

Seven-Inch Raise.

He explained that the Northern Michigan Power company desires to build a dike across St. Mary's river in order to utilize the water power and wants to be allowed to so construct it that the mean level of Lake Superior will be raised slightly less than seven inches. Those favoring this grant contended that this would be to the general advantage of navigation and the shipping interests, but they admitted that they had not given serious consideration to the effect during storms and that it would result in making the results worse by the six or seven inches which the level was raised. Among the principal witnesses for the applicants were United States and Canadian government engineers. Mr. Reed said this morning that both governments are interested in the project, as they own the property and control the riparian rights on their respective sides of the river and would each derive an estimated revenue of $68,000 per annum when the plant is in operation. These witnesses had a thorough knowledge of the proposition and were able to present it in the most favorable light, while most of the objectors' case had to be developed through cross-examination, for which they were not suitably prepared.

Manager Reed said that the representatives of the railroads would take up the matter with their superiors and that after these conferences had taken place a meeting of the objectors would probably be held in Duluth within a few days. At that time it is likely that plans will be outlined for the conduct of their case at the commission meeting April 7.

Water Pollution.

The international commission did not take up at any length the question of the pollution by sewage of the drinking supply in the Great Lakes. Mr. Reed said that the report of Dr. McLaughlin was presented at the Detroit meeting and that such consideration as it received was in executive session. Before holding any public hearings the commission will study the report.

Mr. Reed will meet with the city commission at the city hall this afternoon to present his report.

A. H. Comstock of the Marshall-Wells Hardware company, who represented Duluth's commercial interests, went from Detroit to New York. He will return to Duluth in a few days.

The members of the international commission are: James A. Tawney of Minnesota, chairman; Obadiah Gardner of Maine, R. B. Glen of North Carolina and Thomas C. Casgrain, Henry A. Powell and Charles A. Mack Greath of Canada.

NO SWITCHING CHARGE YET

No Dire Results to Business Even Were It Established.

In the Superior department of the morning paper Traffic Commissioner J. A. Little of Superior is quoted as saying that "it will cost Superior industries a million dollars annually to comply with the switching charges established by the interstate commerce commission, and that many concerns will have to go out of business unless the ruling is modified."

Mr. Little told The Herald that he was misquoted. He and other traffic men are well aware that the switching charges have not been established by the interstate commerce commission or any other body. In addition to this error, Mr. Little says that he did not say that many concerns would be put out of business unless such a ruling were modified, for the reason that concerns all over the United States would have to meet the charges if the ruling is ever made, and no particular community will be hit; but he expressed the opinion that if the charges are put into effect the consumer will be the only one hit, for the wholesale dealer will not stand the loss. Concerning the switching charges one of the Duluth traffic men said this morning:

"The proposal for charging for switching cars to tracks of wholesale concerns, coal docks, etc., was put up by the attorney for the Interstate commerce commission in connection with the request of the railroads of the country that they be permitted to advance the freight rates of the country 5 per cent as a whole, and as a suggestion to have the switching charges substituted for the 5 per cent advance. Neither has been ruled on yet. The continuation of the hearing, which was started some time ago, was to have taken place on Feb. 12, 13 and 14, but was postponed at the request of the carriers to March 12, 13 and 14. Now it has been again postponed at the request of the carriers until next month. So the matter has not only ben not passed on but not yet fully heard.

"The traffic commissioners of Duluth recently went to Chicago and conferred with the Industrial Traffic league there as to what was the best thing to do, and they decided to fight it."

Of course, were such a ruling made it would affect practically every industry at the Head of the Lakes, but in most cases the various industries and wholesale houses, it is pointed out, would have redress because of the fact that they have permitted the roads to put tracks on their property; and, while it is for the convenience of the dealer it is also convenient for the road in view of the fact that the road can use it for a general switching track where it can spot cars and sometimes store cars. The roads would have this to confront them should such a ruling be made.

WATCH OPIUM AND CHINESE

Border Towns Said to Be Scene of Smugglers' Operations.

Immigration officials in Duluth and border towns are on the constant lookout for Chinamen, a band of whom are reported to be working in Canada in an effort to smuggle many of their number into the United States and to also ship opium over the line.

A Chinese is now being held at International Falls for deportation to China and it is expected will be taken to San Francisco within a few days. He is the first of the gang arrested and was caught by one of the immigration officers at International Falls. Chinese are not allowed to enter the United States, unless by special permission, laborers being denied admission altogether. The plan worked by those in Canada is to go to a point near Fort Frances, then cross the river in darkness, at some point near International Falls. The authorities received word of this plan early last month and a constant watch has been kept along the whole border.

The local officials are also on the constant watch for Chinese, but have had little difficulty in keeping the Orientals out or arresting those that get into Duluth or the range towns.

BEHEADED BY TRAIN.

Peter Swenson Loses His Life Near Braham, Minn.

Cambridge, Minn., March 13.—Peter Swenson was killed by a north bound freight late Monday just this side of Braham. Swenson, a bachelor, with no occupation or permanent residence, lived generally in the vicinity of Grandy and Stanchfield, where he has been known for years. He was returning from Grasston afoot on the track and in an intoxicated state must have fallen asleep when he was hit by a north bound freight. The train men discovered the body and left it in charge of the section crew. The coroner was notified and the body was taken to Braham for burial. Swenson's body was mutilated; his head and left arm entirely being severed from the body.

PLANT TREES MAY 1.

Governor Hanna of North Dakota Issues Arbor Day Proclamation.

Bismarck, N. D., March 13.—Governor L. B. Hanna yesterday issued a proclamation fixing Friday, May 1, as Arbor day, and urging its general observance. Superintendent of Public Instruction E. J. Taylor, in accordance with the proclamation, hopes for the general observance of the day by the public schools of the state. A booklet giving a noutline of schemes for observing the day will be sent to all schools in the state.

PETITION FOR PUBLIC DITCH—
State of Minnesota, County of Carlton —ss.
District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

To the Judge of the District Court of the Eleventh Judicial District in the State of Minnesota:

The undersigned land owners, whose lands will be liable to be affected by, or assessed for, the expense of the construction of the ditch hereinafter described, would respectfully represent that the public health, convenience and welfare, and the reclamation of wet and overflowed lands, require the establishment and construction of a drainage system with several laterals and branch ditches, along the following described routes in the towns of Corona, Perch Lake and Red Clover, in the County of Carlton, and unorganized territory in Congressional townships 50 and ranges 18 and 19, in said county of St. Louis, Minnesota, and that the construction of same would be of public benefit and utility and promote the public health, remove stagnant water, improve the sanitary conditions, and will facilitate the building of public roads; that much of the lands in said drainage district are now wet and overflowed and unfit for agricultural purposes without drainage, and which would, if drained, become very productive land, and said drainage ditch would make practicable the settlement and development of a large part of Carlton and St. Louis counties.

A general description of the proposed starting point, route and terminus of said ditch is as follows:

Commencing at a meandered lake at a point seven hundred feet south of the center of section two (2) in township forty-eight (48), range nineteen (19), in Carlton County, Minnesota, and running thence north along the quarter line in said section 2 to Stony Brook; thence following the course of the Stony Brook as nearly as practicable in a northerly direction through sections thirty-five (35) and twenty-six (26), in township forty-nine (49), range nineteen (19), to Rice Lake; thence through Rice Lake to the outlet into the Stony Brook in the northeast part thereof; thence following the general course of the Stony Brook in a northerly direction through sections thirty (30) nineteen (19), eighteen (18), seventeen (17), seven and six (7 and 6), in township forty-nine (49), range eighteen (18), and sections twelve (12) and one (1), in township forty-nine (49), range nineteen (19), in Carlton county, and sections thirty-one (31), thirty-two (32), thirty-three (33), twenty-eight (28), twenty-nine (29), twenty-one (21), twenty-two (22) and sixteen (16), in township fifty (50), range eighteen (18), in St. Louis County, following the general course of said Stony Brook as far as practicable, and terminating at a point in said Stony Brook in section sixteen (16), township fifty (50), range eighteen (18), St. Louis County, five hundred (500) feet north of the dam now located and constructed in said Stony Brook in section 16, as its outlet; and also all laterals and branch ditches which may be found necessary by the Engineer, to fully drain the lands in the watershed of the proposed ditch.

That all of the meandered lakes affected by the proposed ditch are normally of a shallow, grassy and marshy character.

And your petitioners pray that you will proceed to establish such ditch and drainage system, and cause the same to be constructed as provided by chapter two hundred thirty (230) of the general laws of Minnesota for 1905, and acts amendatory thereof or supplemental thereto.

Dated August 7th, 1913.

MRS. PANKHURST OUT OF JAIL AGAIN---WEAK FROM HUNGER STRIKE

Suffragettes Charge Brutal Treatment By the Police.

Militants Smash Windows in McKenna's House—Six Arrested.

Burn Club Buildings Five Miles From Birmingham.

London, March 14.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, was again released from Holloway jail today. She had started a "hunger and thirst strike" immediately after her arrest on Sunday last at Glasgow, and is in a very weak and exhausted condition.

A demonstration had been arranged by the militant suffragettes outside of the prison, but this failed owing to the secrecy with which Mrs. Pankhurst was removed from the building. She was taken in a taxicab to a nursing home.

Suffragists charge the police with brutal treatment of the militant leader at the time of her arrest in Scotland. Mrs. Pankhurst fell during the scrimmage, and the militant newspaper says the police threw her bodily into a cab, where they allowed her to lie on the floor while they sat on the seats insulting her. An investigation of the incident is demanded.

Smash McKenna Windows.

A detachment of militant suffragettes armed with hatchets and hammers smashed every pane of glass on the ground floor of the residence of Reginald McKenna, home secretary, in Smith square, Westminster, today.

The six women arrived in the square in an automobile and took by surprise the policemen who keep continual guard over the homes of the state ministers. All of those who took part in the attack were arrested, however, as they were leaving. Mr. McKenna left town for the week-end yesterday.

The six women gave false names. They were later arraigned at Westminster police court and each sentenced to two months imprisonment, with hard labor.

The policemen who had been on guard at Mr. McKenna's residence testified that the women "crept stealthily in Indian file along the wall and then made a rush for the windows."

One of the prisoners, who gave the name "Boadicea," said in court:

"I wouldn't have given much for him—Mr. McKenna—if we had got inside."

Another of the women said: "It is a lucky thing for you we do not shoot."

All Pleaded Guilty.

All the women pleaded guilty and said they had been driven to break Mr. McKenna's windows by "the great brutality shown to our beloved leader."

The magistrate, in passing sentence, said he had never heard a sadder or more deplorable story than that which had been told to the court.

"Rot!" exclaimed one of the women.

Club Buildings Burned.

Birmingham, Eng., March 14.—A militant suffragette "arson squad" set the torch to the tennis club house and grandstand at the Olton club, five miles from this city early today. The building was burned to the ground.

GRAND DUCHESS ON TRIAL IN SWEDEN

Accused of Deserting Husband, as Part of Divorce Action.

Stockholm, Sweden, March 14.—The Grand Duchess Pavlovna of Russia, wife of Prince William of Sweden, second son of King Gustave V., was summoned today through the Swedish legation in St. Petersburg to appear in the court of assizes at Stockholm. She will there have to answer a charge of having deserted her husband. Divorce proceedings between the royal couple have been in progress for some time.

Prince William, who is now on a hunting expedition in Uganda, is not expected to return to Sweden before the end of April.

The grand duchess has been in St. Petersburg for some time. She is the daughter of the Grand Duke Paul Alexandrovitch and a cousin of the emperor of Russia. She is now in her 24th year. Her husband is in his 30th year and the marriage took place in 1908. They have one son, Prince Lennart, born in 1909.

Witnesses are to be heard by the court of assizes and the suit will be fought in the usual way. It was at one time thought possible to arrange a divorce without these formalities, but the Swedish law makes no exception in the case of royalties. The date of the hearing has not yet been fixed.

TEN ARE KILLED IN AUSTRALIAN WRECK.

Temora, N. S. W., March 14.—Ten passenger were killed and fifteen injured in a collision today between a mail train and freight locomotive at Exeter station, near Moss Vale. The accident occurred during a dense fog.

Among the killed were a man and his two daughters who were taking home the body of the man's wife, who had died in a hospital. A son of the same family was severely hurt.

GERMAN ARMY AVIATOR KILLED.

Koenigsberg, Germany, March 14.—The German aviator Lieut. De Lesser of the 175th West Prussian infantry regiment was instantly killed here today while attempting to make a landing. His aeroplane tipped over near the ground and the pilot was crushed beneath the motor.

FEARS FOR NATIONAL HONOR IN CANAL TOLLS

JOSEPH R. KNOWLAND, Republican Member of Congress From California.

KNOCK CANAL TOLLS REPEAL

Knowland and Lafferty Make Reports Against Sims Bill.

"National Honor" Is at Stake, Declares the Californian.

Washington, March 14.—Vigorous denunciation of the Sims bill, which he characterized as a notice to the world that the United States abandoned its policy on an American-controlled Panama canal and virtually surrendered its power to regulate its commerce because of the new "peace-at-any-price policy," featured a minority report to the house today by Representative Knowland of California against repeal of the tolls exemption clause of the Panama canal act.

The interestate commerce committee, of which Mr. Knowland is a member, has favorably reported the Sims bill, proposing a flat repeal.

"Situation Unparalleled."

The Knowland minority report said in part:

"A situation unparalleled and unprecedented in history now confronts this nation. The passage of the bill would give a British interpretation to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and thus surrender for all time rights vitally affecting this nation, commercially, strategically and politically.

"Thousands of patriotic American citizens insist that we cannot maintain our national honor in the present controversy if we abjectly surrender every American right at Panama.

"The history of this country would have been less glorious had we failed to urge our contentions, even when

NEW MONEY LAW TO HIT STOCK DEALING

Wisconsin Professor Says It Will Have Marked Effect.

Chicago, March 14.—A marked effect upon stock exchange business was predicted to result from the operation of the Federal reserve act by William Amasa Scott of the University of Wisconsin in an address here today to the Western Economic society.

"Readjustment of banking arrangements will result and will be permanent," said Prof. Scott. "Some of the most important exchange relations between banks will be severed, and new ones formed with the Federal reserve banks.

"It seems certain that the call loan business on the New York Stock Exchange will be considerably diminished. The reserve funds now devoted almost exclusively to that business will be diverted to other uses, and commercial paper will compete with these loans on the open market. The stock broker will no longer have the advantage over all other classes of borrowers of being able to furnish the most easily marketable security.

Cut Down Speculation.

"There is no good reason, however, for thinking that ample funds for the operation of the New York and other stock markets will not be forthcoming, but such funds will probably be drawn from strictly investment rather than commercial sources to a greater extent than at present, and the rates charged on them will not be subject to such wide fluctuations, but will ordinarily be higher than at present. As a consequence of these changes the proportion of speculative to other business ought to decline.

"Throughout the entire country, and especially in the reserve cities, the demand for commercial paper ought greatly to increase and the rate of discount correspondingly to fall. Such paper will everywhere constitute the chief element in the secondary reserves of all banks, non-member as well as member.

JUDGE SCORES ELLIS' LAWYER

Says He Abandoned Client's Interests in Fight for Life.

Orders Investigation of Conduct of Jail Physician.

Chicago, March 14.—William Cheney Ellis, Cincinnati leather merchant, convicted of killing his wife, accepted a sentence of fifteen years in the state penitentiary today without making an effort to get new trial. Formal motion for retrial, made by Ellis' counsel, was withdrawn and Judge Petit imposed the sentence set by the jury.

The imposition of the sentence by Judge Petit was marked by a denunciation from the bench directed at Ellis' counsel, whom he accused of "abandoning his client at a preliminary stage" of his fight for life.

Court Ordered Investigation.

Judge Petit directed Stephen Malato, assistant state's attorney, to investigate the conduct of Dr. Thomas Hogan, jail physician, who testified for Ellis.

"The action of Mr. Remus in withdrawing his motion for a new trial speaks volumes and has a sinister significance," said the judge. "It shows that he believes the testimony of his own medical witnesses to have been without foundation. Each of these alienists testified that Ellis was insane when he committed the crime and hence had no power to choose between right and wrong.

"If Mr. Remus believed the testimony of these doctors to be true, then he must believe that his client is innocent, and his action of today in aban-

NEW OBSTACLE TO NEW HAVEN REFORM

Government Lawyers Demand "Sound Lines" Be Relinquished.

Washington, March 14.—Department of justice attorneys in charge of the New Haven dissolution, at their conference today with the road's counsel, revived their demand that the New Haven prepare to get rid of its so-called Sound steamship lines. The demand came as a surprise to New Haven officials and to officials of the department itself not directly connected with the negotiations.

The announcement several weeeks ago by Chairman Howard Elliott that the railroad and the department had "agreed to agree," declared that the New Haven should rid itself of its outside steamship lines, but said plainly that determination of the Sound lines question should be left to the Interstate commerce commission. Under the Panama canal act no railroad is permitted, without commission authority, to own and operate steamship lines after July 1.

Obstacles More Serious.

The new development did not tend to clarify the situation, and it became more evident that the obstacles in the path of a complete understanding are growing more serious as the negotiations continue.

Although no official explanation of this new demand by the department was forthcoming, it was understood that T. W. Gregory and Jesse C. Adkins, the government attorneys in charge of the case, feel that provision for the disposition of the Sound lines is necessary to their side of the case.

$1,000 IN OLD COAT SOLD TO RAG MAN

St. Louis Woman Lets Family Depository Go for $2.

St. Louis, Mo., March 14.—Mrs. Sol Meyer, Jr., of this city, sold one of her husband's old coats for $2 a few days ago. A great bargain, she told her husband. Then he reminded her that the old coat had been the family safety deposit vault for a long time.

Mrs. Meyer frantically asked the police today to find the old clothes man, the old coat and the jewelry valued at $1,000, which was hidden in the coat.

THIEVES BIND FOUR MEN, BLOW SAFE AND GET $15,000 IN CASH

Carry Off Week's Payroll of Chicago Concern.

Investigator Sent By Telegraph Company Is Made Prisoner.

Chicago, March 14.—Five robbers broke into the mail order branch of the Hartman Furniture company at 3913 Wentworth avenue today, blew open the office safe, threw out its contents, threw aside valuable securities, discarded $40,000 in money orders and escaped with $15,000, the weekly payroll of the company.

The quintet worked with machine-like precision. A basement window afforded ingress. Leaving a guard outside the four attacked, bound and gagged a watchman in the basement. A second employe of the furniture company was surprised on the second floor and was bound, gagged and taken to the basement.

Proceeding through the building the five waylaid a third watchman and carried him also to the basement. Then they attacked the safe in the company's office on the second floor. The door was blown off with nitro-glycerin.

Captured Investigator.

Failure of the watchmen to make their hourly report on the burglar alarm service wires led a telegraph company to send one of its special watchmen to the building.

The outside guard of the burglars covered him with a revolver and escorted him within the building, where he, too, was bound, gagged and left with the three Hartman watchmen.

The robbers worked leisurely, and apparently left the valuable papers and money orders by design, taking only currency which would be less likely to lead to detection.

The bonds of one of the watchmen were loosely tied, and after several hours he worked himself free and released his companions, after which the police were notified of the robbery.

For a time the police believed that the robbers, confident of their ability to escape, had released the prisoners before leaving the building, but this was denied by the watchmen, who exhibited their cramped arms and legs as proofs that they had been roughly treated.

LEADERS IN WESTERN ARMY OF THE IDLE

RUTH WIGHTMAN, MRS. LULU WIGHTMAN, "GEN." CHARLES T. KELLEY.

Sacramento, Cal., March 14.—"General" Charles T. Kelley is the head of the "army of the unemployed" which was run out of Sacramento. Ruth Wightman and her mother, Lulu Wightman, are two of four women who accompany the army. There were 1,500 of these men when they left San Francisco under Kelley's leadership. Soon after the start they divided into factions, one giving allegiance to Kelley and the other to William A. Thorne. From San Francisco the "army" went to Oakland and then to Sacramento, en route to Washington. At most of the places where they stopped, they were fed by the householders as a means of hurrying them on, but at Sacramento the citizens decided to send them back to San Francisco. Transportation was offered them, but they declined to accept it. Then the police were sent after them with sticks and hose and they were routed out of their camp and driven across the river, where they still are in camp.

PATHETIC SCENES FEATURE CLOSING OF SIEGEL STORES

Sons of Eli Dine.

New York, March 14.—Twelve hundred sons of Eli, from the class of 1850 to that of 1917, gathered here last night at a Yale dinner, the first to be held in this city for a number of years. William Howard Taft, President Arthur Hadley of the university, and Walter Camp were among the speakers.

Employes Lose Savings as Well as Their Employment.

Bank Depositors May Get 40 Cents on the Dollar.

New York, March 14.—A little cheer came to the employes of the bankrupt Siegel stores here today with the announcement that John Claflin would place as many as possible of the 2,000 in various department stores throughout the city in which he is interested. This announcement means that at least three large department stores will furnish positions to Siegel employes. It is expected that other merchants will likewise come to the rescue.

Pathetic scenes were frequent today in the Fourteenth street store and the Simpson-Crawford store, which will close for good tonight by order of the court. The employes generally reported as usual, but it was plain that their hearts were not in the work as they waited on the bargain hunters who came in goodly numbers.

Many in Tears.

A lull in the work would find a gathering of little groups discussing the trouble that had overtaken them, and a girl or woman in tears was not an infrequent sight.

Hundreds of the store clerks, it appears, besides losing their jobs, will lose their savings. They were depositors in a small way in the defunct Siegel bank, their accounts averaging from $25 to $300. Moreover, the sick benefit fund of the two stores is swallowed up in the crash. Employes contributed 2 per cent of their salaries to this fund.

Besides the criminal proceedings against Henry Siegel and Frank E. Vogel, the affairs of the concern which they headed here are likely to be tied up with endless litigation.

Forty Cents on the Dollar.

New York, March 14.—An effort to settle on the basis of 40 cents on the dollar is expected to be made to the depositors in the private bank of Henry Siegel & Co.

This was announced at a meeting of the depositors, Louis Hoffman appearing on behalf of the attorneys for Henry Siegel and Frank P. Vogel, the company's partners, who are under indictment in connection with the failure of the Siegel department stores here. After the stores close tonight the assets will be inventoried by receivers.

A depositors' committee was appointed to confer with the attorneys, when it will be announced what security Siegel and Vogel are prepared to offer.

BLOW SAFE AND GET $20 IN STAMPS.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 14.—Safe blowers early today entered the plant of the Cownie Glove company and opened the safe after six explosions. They escaped with $20 in stamps.

VILLA WILL BE NEXT MEXICAN PRESIDENT, IS CLAIM OF FRIEND

Submission to Carranza Is Declared Only Pretense.

Arms Sent to Charge O'Shaughnessy Detained By Huerta.

Carranza Will Let U. S. Consuls Act for Foreigners.

Chihuahua, Mex., March 14.—"Villa, the one-time bandit, will be the next president of Mexico. That is his ambition, and despite all reports to the contrary, it will remain his ambition until he either is dead or president."

This declaration was made today by a friend so close to Gen. Villa as to give authority to the assertion. It was prompted by reports that the coming to Chihuahua of Gen. Carranza, recognized as the civil head of the revolution, was to bring about conditions more satisfactory to foreign governments and to place in the seat of authority better advisers than Gen. Villa appears to have in handling complications growing out of the killing of William S. Benton, a British subject.

That Villa and Carranza might meet and that they might publicly embrace as an evidence of their perfect harmony was given out as a possibility.

Villa Real Dictator.

Gen. Carranza is now on his way overland from Sonora, and a magnificent marble building has been prepared as the official residence or capitol, in which he is to perfect the details of government. But it was stated emphatically that the coming of Carranza is not to lessen in any way the power now wielded by Villa, who for months has been a dictator.

"Gen. Villa will remain supreme commander through the progress of the rebellion," said one of his advisers. "His succession of victories against the Federal forces, his sweeping away of the Huerta soldiers from the north of Mexico while Carranza remained in comparative obscurity on the Pacific slope, have so exalted him in the minds of his soldiers as to make his subordination to anyone else improbable.

"Gen. Villa could not afford to go south at the head of his troops in the attack on Torreon before he had first satisfied himself that his going

LAYS BIG FRAUDS TO LABOR AGENCIES

Missouri Official Has Been Working on an Investigation.

Kansas City, Mo., March 14.—Through a chain of labor agencies and their allies here, thousands of dollars are annually extorted from laborers shipped out on railroad construction work, according to James J. Barrett, deputy state labor commissioner, who has completed a state-wide investigation. His investigation was made while working under the guise of a laborer in many of the railroad camps of the state. He will report to Governor Major.

The state labor department ordered the superintendent of its Kansas City office to obtain warrants for the arrest of all persons masquerading as interpreters who are engaged in proselyting laborers for labor agencies.

NOTED CHURCH BUILT IN 1209 IS BURNED

St. Quirinus at Neuss, Germany, Destroyed By Fire.

Duesseldorf, Germany, March 14.—The famous Thirteenth century Church of St. Quirinus at Neuss, four miles from here, burst into flames at 6 o'clock this morning and the greater part of the edifice was quickly destroyed. At noon the tower, the celebrated chimes and the organ had gone, and the flames still were making headway in spite of the efforts of firemen from this city and from Cologne.

St. Quirinus was begun in the year 1209.

The tower which collapsed today was reconstructed in 1741.

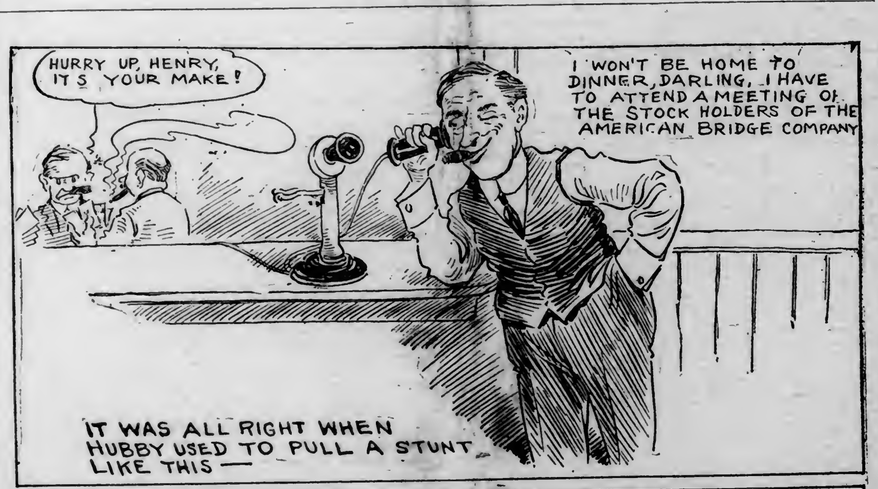

HAS FUNDS TO KEEP UP COPPER STRIKE

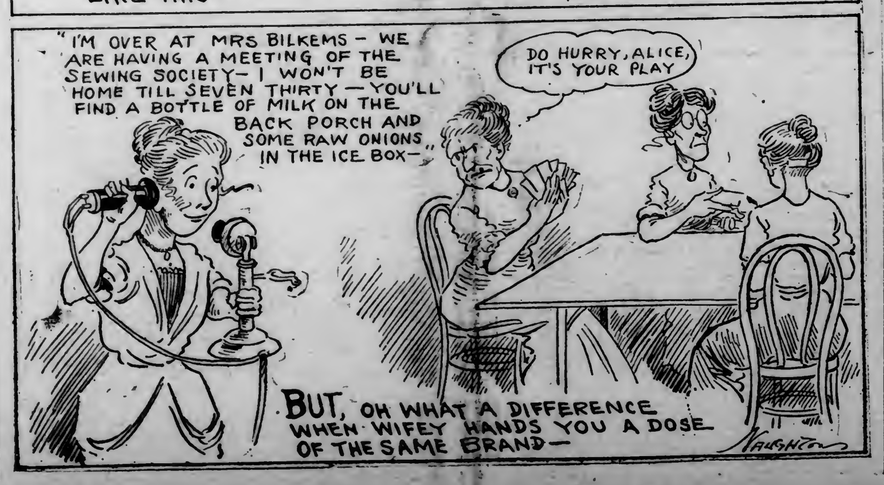

Western Federation May Be Getting Aid From A. F. of L.

Calumet, Mich., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—James A. Short, representative of Samuel Gompers, who has returned to the Copper country to "watch" the strike for the American Federation of Labor, said this morning that the Western Federation of Miners has plenty of money and can keep up the strike here another two or three months at least, and give the men all the necessary support. It is believed here from Short's remarks that the American federation is assisting the federation of miners in a small way with the strike.

W. P. Davidson, member of the executive council of the Western federation, is expected here today. It is improbable that he will bring a message from President Moyer to end the strike.

EX-PASTOR IS FOUND GUILTY

Albert Dahlstrom, Former Minnesota Preacher, White Slaver.

He Is Convicted of Taking Girl to Washington.

Seattle, Wash., March 14.—Albert Dahlstrom, founder of a religious sect known as "Heliga," which he says has 10,000 members in the United States and one of the tenets of which is said to be a belief in polygamy, was convicted yesterday of violation of the Mann white slave act in transporting Miss Edna Englund of Tacoma, Wash., from Fresno, Cal., to the state of Washington. Extracts from Dahlstrom's numerous books and pamphlets were introduced in evidence against him.

Edna Englund, who turned against Dahlstrom because he showed preference for her sister Hilda, was a witness against the clergyman. Hilda testified for him, saying that she herself bought the ticket on which Edna traveled from Fresno. The mother of the girls, who are young and attractive, was a witness for the government.

Some Minnesota Brides.

According to William R. Bryon, special agent of the department of justice, Dahlstrom has married and deserted a score of women in the Western part of the country since 1889. Bryon said he had in his records a long list of young Swedish women whom Dahlstrom is said to have converted to his religion and then lived with for a time in Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Eggleston, Minn., Denver, Col., Rockford, Ill., and elsewhere. He preached for a time in Two Harbors, Minn.

Was in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 14.—Dahlstrom formerly lived in Minneapolis and is said to have deserted a wife here. Efforts to locate Mrs. Dahlstrom since her husband was arrested several weeks ago, have been unavailing.

St. Paul and St. Cloud.

St. Paul, Minn., March 14.—Albert Dahlstrom, who was convicted at Seattle of violation of the Mann act, was pastor of the Swedish Baptist church here for a number of years, resigning in the spring of 1912 to accept the pastorate of a Swedish church at St. Cloud, Minn.

Dahlstrom came here from Chicago, and while legally married to a woman there, he was alleged by government officials to have bigamously married Ida Rasby of Eggleston, Minn., who became demented when her child was given to a Chicago family.

Founded Chicago Church.

Chicago, March 14.—Rev. Albert Dahlstrom, convicted in Seattle under the Mann white slave law, founded a religious sect known as the Church of Saints here in 1907. Its chief tenet, it was said, was plurality of wives. Mrs. Dahlstrom did not subscribe to the sentiments of the sect, and left him, and Dahlstrom sued for a divorce.

On the day the divorce was granted Dahlstrom was arrested charged with the abduction of Martha Pederson, daughter of one of his followers. Dahlstrom produced a letter signed by the girl saying that she had left home of her own will, and he was acquitted.

Two months later he married her in Michigan and on returning from his wedding trip, was arrested again on the complaint of his bride's father. He soon was released and the prosecution was dropped.

JUDGE WILLARD IS DEAD AT MILL CITY

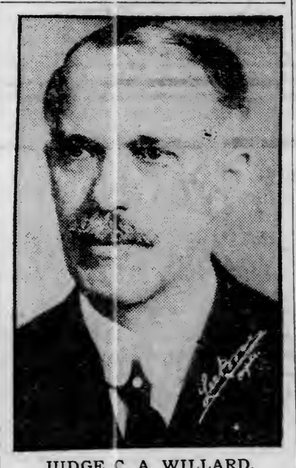

Death Results Five Weeks After Nervous Breakdown.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 14.—Judge C. A. Willard of the United States district court died at his home here at 11:20 o'clock last night. His death was the result of a nervous breakdown, suffered five weeks ago, from which he never recovered.

Judge Willard was born at St. Johnsbury, Vt., May 23, 1857, and received his early education in the common schools and the academies of the district. He took his collegiate course in Dartmouth college and, following his graduation, he entered the law college of Boston university. Upon his graduation from the law college he returned to his home at St. Johnsbury, which was the county seat of Caledonia county. There he was admitted to the bar in 1883, after appearing before an examining board of which Former Judge H. C. Belden of Minneapolis was a member.

Came West in 1884.

He came west early in 1884 and formed a law partnership in St. Paul with John W. Willis, who was later a district judge in Ramsey county. This partnership was dissolved a year later and on April 1, 1885, he formed a partnership with John C. Gilfillan and Henry C. Belden. The firm was known as Gilfillan, Belden and Willard. When H. C. Belden went on the district bench in 1895, the partnership was dissolved. At that time Stephen Willard, brother of Charles A. Willard, became a member of the firm in Judge Belden's place.

JUDGE C. A. WILLARD.

After the Philippine insurrection Henry Clay Ide, then a member of the Philippine commission asked Judge Belden to recommend someone for a justice of the Philippine supreme court, Judge Willard was recommended and received the appointment from the commission. The salary attached to the office at that time was $7,000 and after a few years he resigned and returned to the United States.

Returned to Philippines.

Later through the influence of President Taft, who was then special commissioner in the Philippines, the salary was raised to $10,000. President Roosevelt asked Judge Willard to again accept the place, and, after consulting his friends, he returned to the islands. He remained there until 1909, when he was appointed judge of the United States district court for Minnesota, and returned to Minneapolis.

Judge Willard was married to Miss Charlotte Hastings at Manila, in 1901.

VILLA WILL BE NEXT MEXICAN PRESIDENT, IS CLAIM OF FRIEND

will not result in the loss of any of his power."

In the absence of any indication that Gen. Villa intended to move southward immediately, this city, the largest in rebel territory, apparently has resigned itself to an indefinite state of revolution.

Chihuahua Condition Acute.

Outwardly conditions are almost normal. The military band discourses operatic music in the plaza, crowds promenade in the gay lights a wandering Tarahumare Indian, garbed only in a blanket, a pair of boots and a silk hat, joins the parade, and an enterprising merchant opens a soda water fountain. But the bugle calls, the silent disappearance of "suspects," the reports of executions, and the general knowledge that many people for months have been hiding in the basements of buildings, form another aspect of life, little mentioned.

The man on the hill—Gen. Villa, who resides on an elevation a few blocks from the United States consulate—is the one man who can pronounce life or death for any of those who stroll in the plaza or hide in the basements.

Terrazas is Hopeless.

Residing in his own marble home not far from the plaza, but held a prisoner, is Luis Terrazas, Jr., son of one of the richest families in Mexico, under the Diaz regime. As he paces up and down the tiled floor of his patio, not knowing what moment he may be called to face the firing squad, Terrazas can hear the cathedral bells, and at night the military band. When seen today the prisoner appeared to be utterly hopeless of his release.

He has been confined here ever since Gen. Villa's army entered the city last December.

When told that his father, now a refugee in El Paso, was making every effort to procure his release, the prisoner merely shook his head. More than once since his detention he has been subjected to tortures to reveal places where Terrazas' money was supposed to be hidden.

As understood here, Terrazas is being held by the rebels for three purposes. These are:

"So that money may be extorted from the Terrazas family, so that by threatening the execution of the prisoner, the clentifico party may be dissuaded from invading Mexico from the north, and so that the prisoner may sign documents turning Terrazas property over to Villa."

Arms Are Held Back.

Vera Cruz, Mex., March 14.—It has become known here that a shipment of arms sent to the American embassy in the Federal capital twelve days ago has not yet been placed in possession of Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge d'affaires. It is believed to have been held by the Federal authorities pending further negotiations.

It is rumored here that the authorities contend there has been some misunderstanding regarding the permission for the shipment.

The American authorities here were disposed to regard the matter as possibly without great importance.

Recognizes Consuls.

Washington, March 14.—Gen. Carranza has consented to have American consuls to look after the interests of foreigners in parts of Mexico under control of the Constitutionalists where their own governments have no consular representatives.

Where there are such representatives, he suggested that even where their governments have recognized Huerta these consuls may unofficially communicate with him without involving their governments. Also, he suggests his willingness to listen and heed any applications made to him directly by the friends and relatives of foreigners whose lives or property may be threatened, and to make investigation of every case and to punish any of his followers who may be culpable.

This is the substance of a telegraphic report made to Secretary Bryan today by American Consul Simpich at Nogales.

ANTI-MACHINE MEN HAVE CONFERENCE

St. Louis County Republicans Opposed to the Smith-Eberhart Combination Will Select Thirty-Nine Delegates to State Conference at Minneapolis to Be Held Next Thursday—City Hall the Place.

The county conference for anti-machine Republicans will be held this evening in the council chamber of the city hall.

The object is to select thirty-nine delegates to represent St. Louis county at the anti-machine state conference to be held next Thursday in Minneapolis to try to agree upon a candidate for governor to defeat Governor Eberhart for a renomination.

This movement, suggested in the beginning by William E. Lee of Long Prairie, a candidate for the nomination, is backed by some of the best men in the state. Of those who are behind the movement—such men as J. F. Jacobson of Madison, G. B. Bjornson and others—are men who have no "axes to grind" and whose sole object is known to be to rescue the state and their party from the grip of the machine, which is dominated by elements that are admittedly not of the best. The men behind the movement are giving it their time and money in an earnest effort to bring a new and more favorable condition about.

The county conferences are being held all over the state today. It is feared that St. Louis county may prove indifferent, for it was the only county in the state not represented at the meeting where the movement had its real beginning. J. E. Samuelson is county senator and is making an effort to get a good attendance.

Those who wish to see the Republican party in stronger hands than now control it are anxious that there be a good representation at the meeting tonight and that St. Louis county will send to Minneapolis next Thursday a representative delegation, uninstructed, in order that there may be a real get-together meeting there and that something may be accomplished.

DEATH SUMMONS MRS. SARAH KETCHUM

Succumbs at Bishop Morrison's Home After Long Illness.

Mrs. Sarah M. Ketchum, 67 years old, died early this morning at the residence of Bishop Morrison, 2131 East Superior street, where she had been the guest of Mrs. Morrison for the last year. She had been ill for the last two years, and her condition became serious last November.

Mrs. Ketchum came to Duluth about eighteen years ago, shortly after the death of her husband, Samuel S. Ketchum. She was very well known in the city and for several years had been a close companion of Mrs. Mary Dickinson, widow of Judge Daniel Dickinson. Last summer the two women were invited by Mrs. Morrison to spend the summer with her. It was their aim to go to California in the winter, but on account of Mrs. Ketchum's illness, the trip was postponed.

She is survived by a brother, Smith M. Weed, of Northern New York.

The body has been removed to the Stewart undertaking rooms, where the funeral arrangements will be made as soon as the brother is heard from.

To Grow Hair On a Bald Head

BY A SPECIALIST.

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair-tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces; Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces; Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics.—Advertisement.

ALL DEMAND IMPROVEMENT

Vermilion Road Men Make Appeal to Council in Body.

Murchison Promises to Do Work If City Funds Permit.

Owners or representatives of the entire frontage on Vermilion road from Fifth street to Forest Hill cemetery appeared before the city council yesterday afternoon to urge its improvement as early this season as possible.

The meeting was unique in that not a single dissenter appeared to offer objections. The property owners were unanimous in expressing their desire that the highway be paved without delay.

Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the division of public works, informed the delegation that the job would be done this season if the city's funds are in shape to handle it after provision has been made for the work preceding it on the schedule for this year. The first improvements will be the paving of West Superior street from Fifteenth to Twenty-fifth avenues and from Twenty-fifth to Thirtieth avenues; Vernon street from Grand Forks avenue to the west line of Bryant's addition; Twenty-ninth avenue from First alley to First street; a portion of First street and the Duluth Heights sewer. He explained that the improvements are governed by the revolving fund and the permanent improvement fund. Under the charter no contract can be let unless the revolving fund contains sufficient cash to meet the cost, while the cost of street intersections and storm sewers must be paid from the permanent improvement fund.

Engineer's Estimate.

The works commissioner said that the engineer's estimate for improving Vermilion road with gravel was $43,802, of which $3,368 was for street intersections and $9,174 for storm sewers. The estimate for concrete was $61,576, of which $5,940 was for street intersections and $9,174 for storm sewers. He added that the estimates did not include the cost of a bridge over Tischer's creek, figured at $10,000. It was the opinion of the property owners that the present bridge would serve for some time to come and that the structure need not be included in this year's contract. The city engineer stated that the storm sewers could be laid inside of the curb after paving was down, so that this expense could also be eliminated if the funds would not permit of their construction this summer.

Among those who appealed for quick action were H. W. Cheadle, W. A. Pryor, Henry Nolte and N. J. Upham. They asserted that the improvement is next in importance to the paving of West Superior street and that no other job would accommodate as many people as the paving of Vermilion road after the improvement of Woodland avenue became impossible. They pointed out that it would afford an outlet for the entire Woodland district, now almost inaccessible during unfavorable weather.

Committee Appointed.

The kind of pavement was touched upon briefly. A committee of three, consisting of H. W. Cheadle, W. A. Pryor and W. C. Sargent, was appointed by the property owners to take up this phase with the city engineer and the works commissioner. The committee will submit to the engineer the classes of pavements upon which they wish estimates prepared and bids secured.

Mr. Cheadle stated that he would strongly oppose any advance assessment. He declared that advance assessments are contrary to the charter, which makes no provision for them, and that they result in the payment of unjust assessments. He held that no assessments should be levied until the completion of any job, as this would give the property owners an opportunity to know whether or not they were being assessed according to benefits.

fully convinced of our right. When the Venezuela question stirred the nation it was a mistake, according to this new 'peace-at-any-price policy,' for President Grover Cleveland to have declared in a message that commanded the respect of the world: 'Today the United States is practically sovereign upon this continent, and its fiat is law upon the subjects to which it confines its interposition.'"

Cited Supreme Court.

The report warned the interstate commerce committee and members of the house that by the provisions of the Sims bill it would forever foreclose the right of the United States to pass through the canal without payment of tolls, either battleships, revenue cutters, colliers, transports or other government-owned craft.

The fact that the supreme court rendered a decision which sustained the contention that the provisions of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty are not applicable to vessels in the coastwise trade was cited as an additional argument against the repeal of the tolls provision.

Representative Lafferty of Oregon, in his report, said there was no doubt that any arbitration court would support the American contention in the tolls controversy.

"It is clear from the most cursory consideration of the matter," said he, "that the president has made a mountain out of a molehill in appearing in person before congress and directing the attention of the world to his declaration that unless congress surrenders what appear to be our plain rights, he will not know how to get along in the future."

doning the case at this preliminary stage is extraordinary, to say the least of it."

Doctor Contradicted Himself.

Judge Petit went on to declare that Dr. Hogan's testimony at the trial was directly opposite to his opinion expressed outside of the court.

"Two friends of the court have informed me that they talked to Hogan some time before the trial, and that he said to them that Ellis was sane, and never had been insane Then he testified in court that the man was insane."

Judge Petit extended his criticism to include other alienists introduced by the defense, and pointed out that their evidence had been ignored by the jury.

"Will this conviction cause members of the medical profession to hesitate before testifying in murder cases?" said Judge Petit. "Will the future show us that physicians have the highest regard for the administration of justice regardless of the fees involved?"

Obeyed Client's Wish.

Remus asserted that he withdrew his motion for a new trial at the request of his client. He said that Ellis was afraid of being sent to the asylum for the criminal insane, or of getting a more severe sentence from another jury.

Ellis appeared composed. He declared that he had nothing to say.

Dr. Hogan later issued a statement declaring that his testimony in the Ellis case was impartial and that he never had stated in private conversation that Ellis was sane at the time he committed the crime.

"I am a better judge of a person's sanity than is Judge Petit," said Dr. Hogan. "As to other assertions he evidently has been misinformed."

FIND CHARRED BONES IN ST. LOUIS RUINS

Twenty-Fourth Body Is Taken From Athletic Club Debris.

St. Louis, Mo., March 14.—A lot of charred bones, but no whole bodies, were taken from the ruins of the Missouri Athletic club early this morning. Twenty-three victims of the fire which destroyed the club and the Boatmen's bank building last Monday had been recovered last night.

This morning more than 100 workmen resumed the task of digging out the remaining seven bodies. The exact number of dead probably never will be known, as the number and condition of the human bones found among the ruins indicates that several of the dead were almost completely cremated. Of the twenty-three recovered, seventeen bodies have been identified.

The twenty-fourth body, which was recovered today, was identified as that of Roby Green, merchant of Herrin, Ill.

REUNION OF THE FIFTEENTH MINNESOTA

Duluthians, who were members of the Fifteenth Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, are planning to attend the annual reunion of the regiment to be held March 27 at St. Paul.

Arrangements for the gathering are now being made by the officers and it is expected that delegations will be sent from almost every city in the state. The secretary, Peter Hassel of St. Paul has issued the call for the meeting.

The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock and will mark the fifteenth anniversary of the organization of the regiment.

Chicago, March 14.—Friday the 13th was unlucky for truant husbands in Chicago. Thirteen women appeared before the clerk of the court of domestic relations and swore out thirteen warrants for thirteen husbands on thirteen charges of abandonment. The warrants were sent to thirteen police stations.

Andrew Higginson, the thirteenth defendant on the docket charged with abandonment, was ordered to pay his wife $13 a week.

FIRE DESTROYS SUBURBAN HOME

Fire of unknown origin last evening completely destroyed the two-story frame residence of Walter Janov at 552 South Fifth avenue, Homecroft park, where Janov operates a dairy.

Janov, who had been in town yesterday afternoon, came home about 9 o'clock last evening. He was met by his wife, who had been in the barn, and together they went to the house. Just as Janov opened the rear door, he was met by a puff of smoke. In a few minutes the entire building was a mass of flames and in an hour there was nothing left but the debris from the fallen walls.

Janov said this morning that he is unable to tell what started the fire, except that it might have originated from an overheated kitchen stove. He values the building and contents at $2,500, with $1,200 insurance.

Mr. and Mrs. Janov were compelled to spend the night with neighbors. They have been living at Homecroft park for the last year.

SODA SWEETENS ACID STOMACHS, ENDS DYSPEPSIA

When we eructate sour food, acrid fluids and we belch gases it doesn't mean the stomach is lacking in digestive juices, says a noted authority who states that nearly all stomach distress and indigestion is a result of acidity; meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the digestive organs. This irritating acid retards digestion and promotes food fermentation. Then everything eaten sours in the stomach like garbage sours in a can, forming gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon, producing a heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest or we eructate food, constantly belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, bloating, waterbrash and nausea.

He tells us to get a package of 10 grain Sodagen tablets at any pharmacy and take one tablet any time followed by a tumbler of water. This will instantly neutralize acidity, stop fermentation, absorb the gases and sweeten the entire digestive system.

A well-known local druggist says these 10 grain Sodagen tablets are an old favorite Antacid used by thousands of men and women because of their harmless nature, being composed of Soda, Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate U. S. P.

The Latest Styles For Spring

The one feature which has made Pictorial Review the fashion authority in over a million homes is its unfailing accuracy in showing the newest styles months in advance of all other publications.

The popular "Minaret" style was shown in Pictorial Review four months before it appeared in any other pattern company publication.

The first draped skirts were shown seven months before other companies illustrated this very popular design.

The latest models from Paris indicate that the Japanese collar will be the principal characteristic of the Spring and Summer fashions. We believe Pictorial Review will lead all others by many months in presenting this dainty and delightful design. The contains the newest and smartest styles, received from Paris during the last few weeks. In it you will find new designs never shown before in our own or in any other American publication.

To guard against bitter disappointment and loss you should examine this beautiful magazine before selecting the styles for your Spring wardrobe.

MISS ELIZABETH HOBBERSTAD

JACOB STENSHOLT.

The Varde club will celebrate its tenth anniversary tomorrow evening at the French school hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, with a program of music and plays. A Norwegian play, "Sovande Sorg," written by Hulda Garborg, one of Norway's famous women play writers, will feature the program.

Leading parts in the play will be taken by Miss Elizabeth Hobberstad and Jacob Stensholt, local young people who have scored a number of successes in amateur dramatic productions in this city. Others who will take part will be H. Hobberstad, Inga Lund, Olga Vaage and Caroline Hobberstad.

The Varde club is composed of about 200 Norwegian young people. It was organized ten years ago for the purpose of taking a prominent part in the celebration of Norway's independence day, May 17.

ASSESSMENTS ARE AGAIN UNDER FIRE

Twenty-Seventh Avenue Job Will Be Subject at Mass Meeting.

A mass meeting of property owners on Twenty-seventh avenue west will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the voting booth on Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street. It is expected that every property owner interested in the assessment for paving Twenty-seventh avenue will be present.

John Moir, chairman of the Twenty-seventh avenue improvement club said this morning that the property owners intended to demand a square deal. They aver that the paving has not been properly laid and that if they paid the assessment for the work at this time that they would have no redress in case the paving proved to be a failure.

The property owners claim that the contractor failed to use the proper proportions of sand, cement and gravel in laying the paving and that the city neglected to properly inspect the work. It is proposed to employ an attorney to enter a demurrer against paying of the assessment until such time as the paving has been laid properly.

LUTHERANS WILL MEET IN DULUTH

Churches of Lake Superior Circuit Will Convene Sunday.

The Lake Superior circuit of the United Norwegian Lutheran church will hold its semi-annual business session at the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, beginning tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock and continuing until Wednesday evening. The annual election of officers, plans for more extension work through the country districts and the securing of more pastors for the circuit will be taken up.

Rev. N. Lockrem of Superior will preach at the opening session. The annual address of the president will be given at 2:30 o'clock by Rev. J. H. Stenberg, president of the circuit. Discussions of live topics will be held following the opening address and every Norwegian Lutheran pastor of the district is expected to take part.

The meetings on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be held at 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. The officers of the circuit are Rev. Mr. Stenberg, president; Rev. Mr. Lockrem, vice president, and Rev. J. H. Nervig, secretary.

TRIP TO FATHERLAND.

Fully 300 Scandinavians Will Join Excursion Party.

That at least 300 residents from Duluth and outlying towns will visit Norway and Sweden this summer to attend the centennial celebration at Christiania during May, is the opinion of Fred W. Erickson of 2029 West Third street, who is now arranging special excursions for those desirous of traveling together.

Mr. Erickson said yesterday that he has already received a large number of inquiries regarding the excursions and that in his opinion Duluth Norwegians will be well represented at the celebration at Christiania, while the Swedish residents of this city will have a large delegation for the festival at Malmo, also in May.

Four separate parties are being arranged by Mr. Erickson for the excursions this spring. The first will leave Duluth on April 27 and the others on April 29, May 4 and the last on May 6. The last party will sail from New York on the liner Olympic on May 9.

SAYS HE WAS ROBBED OF $55,000 JEWELS

New York Man Tells Chicago Police of Pepper in Eyes.

Chicago, March 14.—Two armed men threw red pepper in the eyes of Daniel Epner, a New York jewelry salesman, and robbed him of a suitcase containing jewels valued at $55,000 last night, according to a tale told the police by Epner.

The men had followed him from a jewelry store on the West side, he said, and when he alighted from a street car, forced him to accompany them to a lonely spot on the Chicago & Northwestern viaduct, where he said they had robbed him.

The police were unable to verify Epner's story of former visits to jewelers.

PAID POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT.

Inserted by Frank L. Magie, in behalf of himself, candidate for sheriff. Amount to be paid $12.32.

TO THE PEOPLE OF ST. LOUIS COUNTY:

I am a candidate for nomination for sheriff of St. Louis County, Minnesota. I most respectfully ask the support of all taxpayers, citizens and voters. If nominated, I promise to conduct a clean, manly, aggressive, nonpartisan campaign for election.

In support of my candidacy, I call attention to the fact that before coming to St. Louis County my early life was spent on a farm and in the coal mines of Eastern Kansas. I served St. Louis County as a deputy sheriff for more than twenty years. I was appointed July 1, 1893 by Paul Sharvey, and resigned October 1, 1913. During my long, continuous term of service my constant purpose was to be efficient, humane and decent. I never shrank from the performance of my duty as I saw it. As reference I offer the testimony of former sheriffs now living and members of the bench and bar of this county, as well as those with whom I came in contact when seeking justice before that bar.

I have an honorable ambition to round out my term of service by an election to the office of sheriff. I believe that I have special qualifications for that office. I am confident that I can administer the affairs of the office in an economic and business-like way with fairness and efficiency.

I respectfully solicit your support. FRANK L. MAGIE.

COURT EVADES THE QUESTION

Does Not Decide Whether Sunstroke Is Disease or Accident.

Mooted Medical Question Up in Accident Insurance Case.

Is sunstroke an accident or a disease?

This question, one on which medical authorities differ, was put up to the supreme court of Minnesota in a St. Louis county case a few months ago, and might have been settled as a matter of law in this state had the higher court not evaded the question by settling the issues in dispute on another point of law.

The action at bar was upon an accident policy insuring the employes of Pickands-Mather & Co. against bodily injuries suffered through external, violent and accidental means. The policy as printed contained a provision that it did not cover casualties resulting from certain specific causes, among which sunstroke was included.

The Pickands-Mather company wanted a policy which covered sunstroke and for this reason the word sunstroke was stricken from the exceptions of the policy. At the trial of the case in district court, Edward Leidel, agent for the London Guarantee & Accident company, limited, the insurers, testified that the word sunstroke was crossed out in red ink from the list of exceptions in the policy at the request of the mining company, which wanted sunstroke covered by the policy.

John Mozine, an employe of the Pickands-Mather company, died June 22, 1912, from a sunstroke. The insurance company refused to pay the claim and suit was brought by his employers to recover the money for his estate. A jury in district court returned a verdict in favor of the Pickands-Mather company for $450, the amount sued for, to be held in trust by the company for the dead man's estate.

Comes to Fine Point.

The contention of the insurance company at the trial was that although the word "sunstroke" had been crossed from the list of exceptions not covered by the policy that the Pickands-Mather company was not entitled to recover on the theory that sunstroke was a disease and not an accident. If a disease, it would not come under the terms of the policy. Medical authorities are at variance on the subject.

Judge Fesler was asked to grant a new trial, but the motion was denied. From the order of the trial court denying a second trial of the case, an appeal was taken to the supreme court. In a decision handed down yesterday the order of the trial court was affirmed.

The supreme court held that a verbal contract had been made between the mining company and the insurance company for a policy covering sunstroke and that the policy should so be construed. The court in its syllabus stated:

"When the proper construction of a contract is not free from doubt, recourse may be had to the preliminary negotiations between the parties for the purpose of determining the correct construction to be given it."

The case was decided on this point and not upon whether or not sunstroke was an accident or a disease, although this was raised as an issue.

Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell represented Pickands-Mather & Co., and Alexander Marshall was attorney for the insurance company.

WILL BANISH WOMEN FROM FRENCH ARMY

Minister of War Says Historic Cantinieres Must Go.

Paris, March 14.—The picturesque Cantinieres, or women who take charge of the French regimental canteens, and who have played many heroic parts in French military history, no longer are to share the dangers of active service with the troops, according to the minister of war. The women, one of whom is commissioned to each battalion of infantry, regiment of cavalry or battery of artillery, in future are to be retained only in times of peace.

Formerly the women, wearing the uniform of their branch of the service, marched into battle with the troops, serving often as nurses, or carrying soothing drinks to the wounded. They were the wives of non-commissioned officers or musicians, and if their husbands died or were killed, usually married a comrade. Otherwise they coul dnot remain in the service.

"Weaken Soldiers' Courage."

The minister of war now has decided that the women are a tax on the food supply of the army and interfere with the rapid movement of troops marching to the front after mobilization. He says, too, they are a source of distraction to the soldiers, whose courage they weaken.

Napoleon I paid a high tribute to the cantinieres fortheir services during his army campaigns. Several of them wore made chevalieres of the Legion of Honor by him, one of them, Josephine Tiequart, for saving the life of her colonel by killing a Cossack who had attacked him during the retreat from Moscow. Another, Marie Tete de Bois, served in seventeen campaigns with the emperor, and met her death at Waterloo.

WANT CHURCHES TO HELP MEN GET WORK

Movement Begun in New York May Spread Throughout Nation.

New York, March 14.—A national movement to help the unemployed through the churches was discussed here today at a meeting of ministers of many denominations. All the clergymen in the city will be asked to sign a call for a general church meeting in New York to adopt a definite plan of action.

A tentative plan now under consideration is the establishment of free employment bureaus in all the principal cities of the country, which shall co-operate in their efforts. The plan contemplates also that every church throughout the United States shall have a voluntary unemployment committee to work with these state bureaus.

Frank S. Hamilton, who has succeeded Frank Tannenbaum as leader of unemployed among the Industrial Workers of the World since Tannenbaum was put in jail, said that the unemployed did not desire or expect help from any organized church movement.

"We may have to ask the churches for food and shelter temporarily," he said. "We expect to organize the unemployed in this city and every other city into a union that will demand decent wages and decent conditions in which to work. Governor Glynn's proposition to send unemployed into the country to work on farms is foolish. The country is under two feet of snow and there is nothing that can be done in the way of farm work."

KILLED HIMSELF ON WAY TO SWEDEN.

Boston, Mass., March 14.—A body found Thursday in the Mystic river has been identified as that of Frank Anderson of Moline, Ill., who disappeared while on his way to his old home in Sweden. Anderson reached here on Dec. 15 last. He was not seen afterward, but a hat and coat believed to be his were found on the river bank. The body was identified through a draft for $300 found in his clothing. The police think it a case of suicide.

BLOODY RIOT IN STREET IN DUBLIN.

Dublin, March 14.—Leading a march yesterday on the lord mayor's home at the head of an army of the unemployed, Capt. White, son of the late Field Marshal Sir George Stuart White, defender of Ladysmith during the Boer war, met a baton charge of the police so fiercely that five accusations of assault were laid against him. These were made by a police inspector, a sergeant of police, two policemen and the driver of a mail wagon.

Capt. White, wielding a large club, inflicted severe wounds on Inspector Purcell, who led the police. During the brief but sanguinary riot many heads among the attacking and defending forces were broken, among them that of Capt. White.

PRISONERS FEAST.

Prisoners at police headquarters last evening enjoyed a real dinner that was sent over by members of the North Star lodge. While the lodge members were feasting some one suggested the gift to the prisoners. The others fell in line and a large box containing turkey, cranberry sauce, potatoes, cakes and coffee, enough to feed twenty persons, was sent to the station.

SULZER LOSES AGAIN.

Hopes to Get Impeachment Up to Supreme Court.

Albany, N. Y., March 14.—Without passing upon the merits of the case, the appellate division, third department, sustained Supreme Court Justice Chester in his denial of the application of William Sulzer for a writ of mandamus to compel Comptroller Schmer to pay the salary of the former governor from the time of his impeachment. Preparations were begun immediately to have the case reviewed by the court of appeals. Mr. Sulzer hopes to have the United States supreme court pass upon the validity of his impeachment.

NEW ARBITRATION TREATIES GROWING

England and France Are Expected to Sign With Uncle Sam.

Washington, March 14.—Extension for five years of the existing arbitration treaty between the United States and Paraguay, which will expire next October, was ratified yesterday by the senate. In general form the treaty follows that of the series of arbitration treaties recently ratified.

Secretary Bryan announced that in the near future he will sign at one sitting new peace treaties with Argentina, Brazil and Chile, embodying the idea of investigation of difficulties that otherwise might lead to war.

Earlier in the day Ambassador Jusserand of France began negotiations with Mr. Bryan for such a treaty, and it is confidently expected by administration officials that either simultaneously with the signing of the pact with the three great South American countries, or shortly thereafter, treaties of this kind will be signed with both France and Great Britain.

The British foreign office has signified its acceptance of the principles of the Bryan peace treaties, as have thirty other nations, and final negotiations with Great Britain for the drafting of a treaty are expected shortly.

With the signature of treaties with what are known as the "A B C" countries of South America, as well as with Great Britain and France, it is expected Secretary Bryan will transmit the pacts to the senate for ratification.

HOW RESINOL CLEARS AWAY UGLY PIMPLES

It is so easy to get rid of pimples and blackheads with Resinol, and it costs so little, too, that anyone whose face is disfigured by these pests is foolish to keep on with useless cosmetics, or complicated "beauty treatments." See how simply it is done:

Bathe your face for several minutes with Resinol Soap and hot water, then apply a little Resinol Ointment very gently. Let this stay on ten minutes, and wash off with Resinol Soap and more hot water, finishing with a dash of cold water to close the pores. Do this once or twice a day, and you will be astonished to find how quickly the healing, antiseptic Resinol medication soothes and cleanses the pores, leaving the complexion clear and velvety.

Resinol stops itching instantly and speedily heals eczema, and other skin humors, dandruff, sores, burns and piles. Sold by all druggists, Resinol Ointment, 50 cts. and $1, Resinol Soap, 25 cts. For free trial size, write Dept. 3-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. Don't be deceived by worthless "imitations."

"GOLDEN RULE" CHIEF WOULD BE SHERIFF.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 14.—Fred Kohler, former chief of police, known as the "Golden Rule" chief, in an open letter announcing his candidacy for sheriff, says that he "has paid in full" for his dismissal from office a year ago.

Kohler was dismissed by the civil service commission after he had been found guilty of misconduct. He previously had been named in connection with a divorce suit.

In his letter, he said that he wished to rehabilitate himself in the opinion of his fellow citizens, and that no further penalty ought to be exacted of him.

U. S. EXPRESS VOTES TO DIE

Parcel Post Has Put Old Platt Concern Out of Business.

Dissolution Will Be as Rapid as Possible.

New York, March 14.—Directors of the United States Express company voted unanimously yesterday to liquidate its affairs and dissolve it in the shortest possible time. The resolution under which this action was recommended follows:

"Resolved, That pursuant to the power and authority conferred upon the board of directors of the United States Express company by its articles of association, the board unanimously declares that it is for the best interests of the company that the company be dissolved as soon as may be, without awaiting the expiration of its term of existence; and that its business and affairs be settled up and finally adjusted as promptly as may be done. The president is directed to inform the shareholders of the company of said action of the board."

Peabody Heads Committee.

A committee on liquidation which embraces the representatives of the leading interests in this company, including Charles A. Peabody, president of the Mutual Life Insurance company and the chief financial adviser of the Harriman estate; William A. Read, ex-Senator W. Murray Crane of Massachusetts and Haley Fiske, vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, was appointed to undertake the work of dissolution.

The precise means to be adopted for realizing on the company's assets were not disclosed, but it is thought likely a syndicate will be formed to take them over so that they may be disposed of to the best advantage.

Assets Not Determined.

There have been various estimates of the company's assets, but persons familiar with their value declare that the return to the shareholders will be between $90 and $100 a share. There is considerable contracts with railroads, which it is expected will be transferred to other express companies at a fair profit.

The step taken by the directors was foreshadowed a few weeks ago when the stock, which had sold down to 38 last December, suddenly rose on very large dealings from 65 to 84, its price of last Wednesday, and Wall Street was soon of the opinion, despite official denials, that disintegration was under way.

The success of the parcel post and the recent order of the interstate commerce commission resulting in a 16 per cent reduction in express charges, are held directly responsible for the company's retirement from business, after sixty years of continuous operation over some of the leading railroads of the country.

Earnings Have Fallen.

Earnings of the company for the five months of the fiscal year so far reported showed steady declines, with a deficit of $32,000 for November. Holiday business was fairly large but earnings continued to dwindle until some of the more influential interests became outspoken for liquidation.

The late Thomas C. Platt and his family were for years the dominant interests in United States express. In fact, their control was so complete they succeeded in warding off numerous demands and protests on the part of minority interests, and for many years practically nothing was known by the public of the affairs of the company, no meeting of the stockholders having been held in more than fifty years.

There are outstanding 100,000 shares of United States Express stock, and these are in comparatively few hands. The Harriman estate is believed to hold more than one-fifth of the whole, which the late E. H. Harriman acquired from the American and Adams Express companies, some time before his death, at an outlay of about $2,250,000. The interests of the Platt family, two of whom continued to be active in the management of the company, are said to be relatively small.

Will Sell Contracts.

The express company at one time had contracts covering 38,000 miles with some of the leading railway lines of the country. In part these contracts have expired, but the remaining ones are said to be of potential value, and it is assumed they will be transferred to one of the company's former competitors, probably the Wells-Fargo company, in which the Harriman interests have large holdings.

PHYSICIAN IS AWARDED FEE

Dr. Walker Given Verdict for $25 in Hotly Contested Case.

Dr. A. E. Walker in district court yesterday afternoon was awarded a verdict for $25 against Rudolph Morck.

The physician sued to collect a bill for this amount for professional services performed during the illness of an infant child in the Morck family last July. Morck refused to pay and claimed in a cross bill to the suit that as a result of overdoses of castor oil administered by the physician, the child's death had been caused. Morck counterclaimed $3,000 damages. Judge Cant dismissed the counterclaim on the motion of the physician's attorney. The court held that in the absence of any proof of wilful negligence the proper procedure would be a separate action for damages against the physician for damages brought by a legally appointed administrator of the child's estate.

CURING CHICAGO WOMEN OF SMOKING

Anti-Cigarette League Has Established Clinic for Them.

Chicago, March 14.—A clinic for women smokers was established yesterday by the Anti-Cigarette league, which has been successful in the breaking of the cigarette habit in boys who have appeared in the juvenile court. The treatment is simply spraying the throat with a solution of nitrate of silver.

"Fifteen women have already been treated by us," asserted Lucy Page Gaston, president of the league. "In every instance the destruction of the desire for cigarettes was the result. The first feminine applicant was a chorus girl who began puffing cigarettes in a spirit of bravado. One of her associates taught her how to inhale, and the habit obtained such a hold on her that she often rose in the night for a smoke.

"We are opening the clinic because we believe there are thousands of girls and women in Chicago who would rid themselves of the vice if they had the opportunity."

It is intended to treat women smokers who are sent to the house of correction.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL AND A MODERN FACTORY BUILDING NEARING COMPLETION IN WEST DULUTH

R. E. DENFELD HIGH SCHOOL RAPIDLY NEARING COMPLETION.

HANDSOME MODERN FACTORY UNDER CONSTRUCTION IN WEST DULUTH.

Two handsome buildings, one a high school and the other a modern factory are rapidly nearing completion in West Duluth. The R. E. Denfeld Industrial high school, which is being built adjoining the Ely school, will be ready to receive the students at the opening of school in September, and the Western Rug factory, under construction at Sixty-third avenue west and Grand avenue, will be in operation before the end of the summer.

Mild weather this winter has proven a boon to the contractors. Work has been pushed even during the most severe weather.

The Industrial high school will be one of the most modern school buildings in the city. In size it makes the Ely school look small. The building will have thirty rooms, an auditorium with a seating capacity for 1,200, a large gymnasium and fully equipped manual training and domestic science departments.

This school will greatly relieve the present congested condition of the schools in the western end of the city. It is estimated that the building will be sufficient to meet the needs of the community for at least ten years as a high school institution, and will remove the necessity of building additions to any West Duluth school building for at least five years.

The factory building will be modern in every way. It is planned along lines similar to the new Patrick factory in the West end. It will have every known convenience for its employes, giving plenty of light in the factory rooms. Rest rooms, bath rooms and lunch rooms are provided in the plans. The building is being constructed of concrete.

MAY DISPUTE ASSESSMENT

Commercial Club Discusses Payment for Polk Street Job.

A question as puzzling as "How Old Is Ann?" confronted the West Duluth Commercial club last night in the dispute of the members over the final assessment of the Polk street sewer. The question before the club was "How many terminals has the sewer?"

Lively discussion of the subject between a half dozen of the members was to the effect that at least three terminals had been built. Question was raised as to whether there were that many and as to which one was being used and which ones had been torn up. The matter is to be discussed further after a committee has investigated as to where the sewer now leads and what money has been spent. David Sang, Thomas Olafson and W. R. Getchell were appointed to investigate the question.

H. H. Phelps gave a short talk in which he said that he had not had the time to investigate the matter fully, but that he believed that the property owners should not object to making the payment. He stated that it would be cheaper for the property owners to pay up than to contest the assessment.

David Sang said he was not objecting to the paying of the amount, nor where other property owners. He said that what he was objecting to was having unauthorized work done which at any time in the future the property owners might again be called upon to pay for. He said that he understood some work had recently been done there and that another change had been made in the terminal route. He contended that the route had recently been changed so that the sewer now emptied at a point near Forty-ninth avenue.

Peter McCormick said that a crew had been working laying a sewer along the water front last summer, but that he did not know whether the pipe laid out to the bay front had been taken up. He was of the opinion that the new route was now being used.

Frank Watson and John Eklund gave reports of the Oneota paving committee in which they stated that Commissioner Murchison had abandoned the idea of having Oneota street paved, but that instead Superior street from Twenty-fifth to Thirtieth, Vernon to Third would be improved.

BOOK CLUB PLANS SOCIAL EVENING

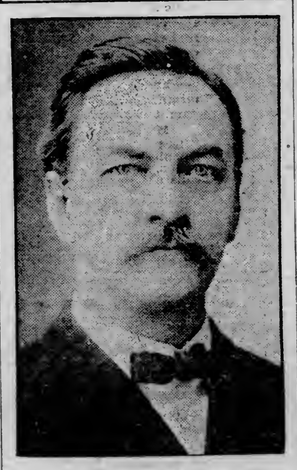

The West Duluth Book club has planned to entertain at a social session on Tuesday afternoon, March 31, at the West Duluth public library. A program of musical numbers will be given.

A feature of the program will be a dramatic reading given by Mrs. Mary Nelson, who will recite "As a Man Thinks," by Augustus Thomas. Women in charge of the program have planned to serve light refreshments.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. R. McGregor of West Duluth entertained yesterday afternoon for a few friends in honor of the birthday of her son, Allen Angus. The guests were: Russell Webber, Leone Harvey, Harry Harvey, Dorris Harvey, Robert Shaw, Blanch Harvey, Florence Harvey, and Mesdames L. Webber, E. Miller, A. Harvey, E. Mann, R. Wheeler and R. Webber.

STATE AUDITOR WILL BE LODGE'S GUEST

SAMUEL G. IVERSON.

State Auditor Samuel G. Iverson will be guest of honor at the meeting of West Duluth lodge, No. 198, I. O. O. F., at the Odd Fellows' hall, Central avenue and Cody street, Tuesday evening. The occasion of his visit is to be made a gala event with the local members.

Invitations to attend the meeting have been sent to the lodges of Duluth, West end and Proctor. A program of short addresses, musical numbers and refreshments is being arranged by the committee in charge.

PROGRAM FOR ST. PATRICK'S DAY

The young people of St. James Catholic church have planned to fittingly observe St. Patrick's day on Tuesday afternoon and evening. A play "Down East" will feature the program to be given at the Great Eastern hall, 210 North Central avenue.

Joseph J. Murphy of St. Paul will be the principal speaker. He will give a St. Patrick's day oration between the second and third acts of the play. Between the first and second act Miss Margaret Linehan will render a vocal solo.

The play is a comedy drama with the scene laid in a typical Eastern village. A matinee will be given at 4 p. m. and the evening performance will be at 8 p. m. The cast follows:

John Nutter, a shoemaker...Roy Sears
Wil. Nutter, his son....Clifford Bujold
Ned Hartshorn, his apprentice.....Leo Deutsch
Henry Douglas, a spendthrift.....Alex Bethune
Jarius Jordan, a Yankee spendthrift.....Frank Sears
Harriet Nutter, John's wife.....Cecilia Schulte
Mary Nutter, John's daughter.....Agnes Ehr
Sally Peesice, Yankee help.....Emeline Brett

INVITE GOVERNOR AND U. S. SENATOR

Commercial Club Makes Plans for Annual Banquet.

Plans for the annual banquet of the West Duluth Commercial club are rapidly being formulated, according to a report given by the chairmen of the various committees last night. The banquet will be held on April 30 at the Dormedy hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street.

Tickets will be out about April 1. The attendance to the banquet is to be limited to 300 guests. This was definitely decided upon last night. The committee reported that several requests in advance had been made for tickets and that probably there would be a bigger demand for them this year than ever before.

Several prominent speakers of statewide reputation have been invited to speak during the evening. The committee is not as yet ready to announce who have been invited, but it is rumored that Governor Eberhart and probably one of the state's United States senators will be present.

The supper will be served this year by the Ladies' Aid Society of the West Duluth Baptist church. The guests will be admitted to the hall at 7 o'clock on the banquet evening and it is expected that by 8:30 the speaking program will begin. It will probably be three weeks before any definite idea as to who will appear on the program is given out.

The members of the committee are: Andrew Myles, chairman; M. J. Murray, secretary; P. H. Martin, L. A. Barnes, David Sang, H. H. Phelps, Charles Kauppi, John A. Eklund, Charles G. Futter, C. F. W. Korth, A. G. Macaulay, Thomas Olafson, Louis H. Blechl and Daniel O'Keefe.

ORDINANCE MAY STAND IN WAY

Signers of Petition to Bar Infirmary Withdraw Their Names.

The Catholic societies interested in the establishment of the Thomas L. Feigh infirmary for crippled children in the old Prescott home on Fifty-fourth avenue west and Fifth street may be prevented from using the home for that purpose on account of present building ordinances. The ordinance provides that all such buildings must be fireproof.

Yesterday afternoon some of the signers of the petition to make the two blocks purely a residence district were at the city hall hunting up the petition to have their names withdrawn. They claimed that the intent of the petition had been misrepresented to them. They said they had no idea that the petition would tend to keep the societies from establishing the infirmary in the Prescott home, but that it was designed to keep stores, barns and other nuisances out of the blocks.

SUN'S RAYS PUT AN END TO CURLING

Old Sol has intervened in the curling game. His heated rays yesterday caused the ice under the roof of the Western Curling club to resemble the surface of a mill pond. When curling enthusiasts went there last evening to witness a game between Wade and Iltis in the finals of the Henrickssen event they found playing out of the question. A couple of the "husky" young men of the club attempted to throw stones through the "house" but only after repeated attempts were they able to get them over the "hog line."

In case of colder weather this evening members of the two rinks have planned to play the scheduled game. It is proposed to wait until about 10 or 11 o'clock to start the game.

Cleaning Streets.

Street Commissioner P. H. McGraw and a crew of four men have been busily engaged during the last few days digging trenches through ice in the streets to allow the water to drain off. The work has progressed so rapidly in spite of the small crew that within another two or three days it is expected that the streets will be dry.

Mr. McGraw intends putting some of the men at work cleaning the crossings as soon as the ice has melted a little more. From the energy being put in the work at present the streets of West Duluth will soon be presentable.

West Duluth Briefs.

Rev. W. Thomson of Eveleth will speak tomorrow night at the Holy Apostle's church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Ellnor street.

Scandinavian churches of West Duluth will begin a series of revival meetings tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Swedish Mission church, Fifty-ninth avenue and Green street.

Miss Janet Campbell is reported seriously ill at her home.

Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the Asbury M. E. church, will give an illustrated sermon on "Seeking the Lost" at the church tomorrow evening.

Albert Honing of Breckenridge, Minn., is spending a few days visiting friends in this end of the city.

MEDICS SAID TO HAVE NO LICENSE

Three Arrested Accused of Practicing Medicine Without Legal Right.

Charles E. French of 2622 West Third street, and E. H. Brommund and Otto Brommund of 1 West Superior street, were arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of practicing medicine without a state license.

The three men pleaded not guilty when arraigned in police court following their arrest. The trial of Dr. French was set for 10 o'clock next Wednesday morning and that of the two Brommunds was set for 10 o'clock next Friday morning. They were allowed to leave on their own recognizance.

The two Brommunds were arrested on the complaint of Dr. C. H. Schroder and are charged with practicing medicine without a license from Nov. 1, 1912, to March 1, 1913. They were arrested by Court Officer McDonald.

Dr. French was taken in custody by Sergt. Holmstrom on the complaint filed by Christ Wold, who accuses the West end man of practicing medicine without a license from Feb. 1, 1914, to Feb. 15, 1914.

PASSES A BAD CHECK; ESCAPES

A woodsman, giving his name as Joseph Clark, yesterday afternoon passed a worthless check amounting to $141.24 on the Columbia Clothing company as payment for several dollars' worth of clothing he had purchased.

After cashing the check doubt arose in the mind of the clothing store salesman as to the validity of the paper, and he asked Clark to leave his address. This Clark did, giving his address as 930 Twenty-fourth avenue east.

A little later the management of the store, still doubting the check, notified the police and an investigation disclosed the fact that there is no such number as 930 Twenty-fourth avenue east. The police began an immediate search for Clark, but all efforts to find him failed.

Clark, who is a woodsman, worked for a few days for the Persinger & Banta camp near Brookston and it is believed that he obtained a blank check at the camp before leaving. Clark is described as being about 40 years old, five feet eight inches tall and weighing 150 pounds.

A Stitch in Time Saves Nine

Surely a wise old saying. A stitch in time would have averted many a catastrophe. Health, Fortune and Life have been lost by failure to take that stitch in time. Woe and Want, Famine and Failure, Distress and Disaster follow close on Duty Neglected, Opportunity overlooked. Napolean would have been victorious at Waterloo; Old Rome would not have lost her power and prestige if they had taken that stitch in time. But, say! This is gettin' gloomy. Sounds like a funeral oration; was thinkin' about the fellow who failed to order Pittsburgh's PITTSTON, the guaranteed hard coal, last fall. He certainly dropped a stitch, and also his wad. Waste and decay are the unchangeable laws of Nature. Grouch and Gloom will get the man who does not fill his bin with Pittsburgh's PITTSTON, the Guaranteed hard coal. The Joy Boys are marching—they follow every wagon load of Pittsburgh's PITTSTON, the guaranteed hard coal. They go right into the house, abide there, work there, as long as PITTSTON is on the job. The incomparable PITTSTON costs no more than the ordinary kind. It is true—it costs no more, notwithstanding all reports to the contrary. Wake up, my friends! Be one of the Joy Boys.

All Rheumatism Curable

By Any Remedy Neutralizing the Acids, Dissolving the Solids and Removing the Cause.

One of the most important functions of the liver is to convert the nitrogenous waste product of the body into a compound called urea. After urea is formed it is converted to the kidneys in the blood and is removed from the system. When the urea-forming function of the liver is impaired, the elements which in health unite to form urea are formed into a compound called uric acid. If the kidneys are healthy the uric acid may for some time be removed, but this extra work for the kidneys will soon derange them, too; it is then that uric acid remains in the system. Next this poison is absorbed by the Blood and deposited in the Arteries, Tendons, Joints, Muscles and Capillaries. If the joints are affected it is called Articular Rheumatism, Sciatica if the nerve by that name is affected. If the poison lodges in the muscles it is Muscular Rheumatism. Pain at the end of the spine is Lumbago. Often uric acid deposits in the musculature of the heart and we have Rheumatism of the Heart, the most fatal of all forms of Rheumatism. All Forms of Rheumatism originate from the same cause and attack the weakest part of the body, therefore, all Rheumatism can be cured by any remedy which eliminates uric acid by dissolving the deposits, thus removing the cause. Rheumatism, a Blood Disease caused by Uric Acid, Successful Treatment consists of two things: First, to remove the acid present. Second, to stop its formation. No permanent benefit can be derived by clearing the system of uric acid unless you remove the cause. Lithia, Bicarbonate of Sodium, Salicylic Acid and Potash are given to neutrallze the acid, but these drugs do not stop the formation.

THE TREATMENT THAT CURES.

In treating Rheumatism and uric acid troubles it should be remembered that the skin assists the kidneys in removing waste matter from the system. Millions of glands exist in the skin and in a healthy person excrete about two pounds perspiration daily. During cold weather perspiration is retarded and it is then that Rheumatism sets in.

With Electro-Vito-Tox-Absorb you are not subjected to nauseating drugs. It is a natural process, painless and pleasant. It acts by opening the millions of skin pores to let the poison out. This takes the burden away from the liver and kidneys, restoring these organs to speedy health. It further acts by regulating all internal glands which stops the formation of uric acid. If you suffer with Rheumatism or Neuralgia just convince yourself of this greatest of all cures for Rheumatism. A few Treatments will convince the most skeptical. Free advice and consultation.

TAKE WARNING FROM ST. LOUIS

Duluth Will Have Survey of Hotels, Schools and Tenements.

Must Comply With Safety Regulations--New Ordinance, If Needed.

A complete survey will be made of all hotels, boarding houses, apartment houses, factories, tenements, schools, office buildings, theaters and assembly halls in the city to determine whether or not they are complying with the regulations governing safety appliances in case of fire.

This decision was reached yesterday afternoon following a conference between Safety Commissioner W. A. Hicken and Fire Chief Joseph Randall.

Commissioner Hicken will also carefully scrutinize the ordinances governing these buildings and if he finds that they are inadequate he will recommend amendments or new ordinances rectifying them. He will consult the city officials who are familiar with them and then plans to ask the theater and assembly hall owners and managers and the agents of buildings to met with him, or the commission, to consider the situation.

The safety commissioner stated this morning that every possible precaution should be taken to erect safeguards to prevent loss of life in case of fire. He said that after he has thoroughly familiarized himself with local conditions and any needed changes made in ordinances, he expects to institute regular inspections. By so doing he states that slackness and carelessness will be eliminated, as there is a tendency to backslide when close attention is not paid to these features.

The building ordinances require fire escapes to be attached to all buildings over two stories high where lives might be lost in case of fire. They also require that the exits be designated by red lights; that signs posted with directions for reaching the nearest fire escape, and that a system of gongs be installed to give warning in case of fire. Most buildings in Duluth which should be equipped with fire escapes have them, but it is claimed that in some of them the other requirements are not being observed as they should. The fire warden has devoted much time to this work but his duties are so numerous that it has been impossible for him to cover the field of safety precautions in the thorough manner planned by Commissioner Hicken.

PAVING WILL START EARLY

City Will Open Season on Twenty-Ninth Avenue Job.

The local street improvement season will open as soon as the weather permits with the paving of Twenty-ninth avenue west from First alley to First street.

The first half of the block between Superior and First streets was finished last year and the other half will be completed the first thing this spring. Concrete will be laid.

The work will be done at the same unit prices as bid for the work last fall. This was agreed to this morning at a conference between Commissioner Murchison, head of the works division, and Contractors Johnson and Olson.

The other jobs scheduled for this year will be started as soon thereafter as possible. These include the paving of West Superior street between Fifteenth and Twenty-fifth avenues, which will be done by day labor under the direction of the works division; West Superior street, between Twenty-fifth and Thirtieth avenues; Vernon street, First street, the Duluth Heights sewer and Vermilion road.

At the council meeting Monday Commissioner Murchison will introduce a resolution ordering the improvement of the block connecting First street with Vernon street. This was not included in the petitions for either the Vernon street or the First street jobs.

KOHNEN'S SALOON TO CLOSE FOR DAY

Frank Kohnen, proprietor of the saloon at 1002 Garfield avenue, will be required to keep his place closed from 11 o'clock tonight until the council passes upon his application for a new license Monday afternoon.

Kohnen made his application too late to have it advertised two weeks before last Monday's meeting, as required by law. Therefore it was advertised to come up for consideration at Monday's meeting. His license expires tonight, so he will be unable to transact any business until Monday afternoon, when the license will likely be granted.

The same thing will apply to Gust Egdahl's saloon at 502 West Superior street. His license will expire on a Saturday night and another cannot be granted until the following Monday, as the application was made too late to advertise it for a previous meeting.

There will be no repetition of the Garfield avenue case where a saloon was allowed to operate without a license, although it was understood that the license would be granted when it came up for consideration.

WILL IMPROVE DULUTH PARKS

Program for Year More Extensive Than Ever Before.

Extensive improvements have been planned for the Duluth park system during the coming season, in addition to the regular maintenance program, said Mayor Prince yesterday before leaving for Bessemer.

The mayor said that the year's work has been decided upon and that it will be on a scale considerably larger than was possible last summer.

The work planned includes extending the boulevard from its present terminus at Earle street to Fairmont park; the improvement of Lake Shore park, and the erection of three new comfort stations, as well as the improvement of a considerable part of the park driveways.

The route for the boulevard extension has been surveyed and the work will be done under the direction of Henry Cleveland, manager of the park department. It will be a most valuable addition to what is already one of the finest driveways in the country.

New walks and flower gardens will be laid out in Lake Shore park and a large number of shade trees will be planted. The Iron Range will put in a new steel trestle and the lower and prettiest part of the property, that along the lake shore, will be beautified and improved so that much use can be made of it. The mayor pointed out that this will provide a park readily accessible from the downtown section, which is now lacking.

The new comfort stations, which it is estimated will cost about $500 each, will be placed in Fairmont, Lincoln and Chester parks, where they have been needed for many years. One was built at Lester park last fall.

A portable rock crusher will be purchased and with this Manager Cleveland says that he will furnish first-class roads at a low cost. The machine will also be used for producing crushed rock for resurfacing portions of the Boulevard and the park drives. Many new shade trees and additional flower gardens will be provided as well as a considerable number of new seats, part of which will be of concrete.

CIVIL SERVICE TESTS IN DULUTH

During April a large number of civil service examinations will be held here to fill government positions in the United States and the possessions.

Information regarding these examinations may be obtained by writing the department at Washington or from E. M. Barker, superintendent of the registry department, at the Duluth postoffice, who is local secretary of the examining board.

The positions for which examinations will be held and the respective salaries follow: Junior pharmacologist, $1,200; entomological ranger, $840; entomological assistant, $1,800; reservation inspector, $1,500; sanitary engineer, $2,000; deputy commissioner of shipping, $900; assistant drainage engineer, $1,000; medical interne, $900; assistant engineer in forest products, $900; laboratory apprentice, $480; surveyor-draftsman, $1,200; dentist, $1,500; and assistant explosives' engineer, $1,620.

LEG CRUSHED UNDER TRAIN

About to board a train at Two Harbors this morning just as it was pulling out for Duluth, Joseph Magnuson, 24 years old, accidentally slipped and fell underneath a car, which crushed his left leg.

The injured man was placed aboard the train and brought to Duluth this noon. He is now at St. Luke's hospital, where the amputation of his limb was found necessary. He will live.

Magnuson lives at Two Harbors.

PHONE COMPANY PROTESTS.

Appeals for Exemption on Twenty-third Avenue Paving.

The Zenith Telephone company has filed notice of appeal from its assessment for the paving of Twenty-third avenue west with the city clerk, who will present it to the council at its Monday afternoon meeting.

The company claims exemption from the assessment under the gross earnings law. It sets forth that the property on Twenty-third avenue west has been used as a telephone exchange for three years and that as it has paid a gross earnings tax of 3 per cent to the state it cannot be held for the assessment, as the gross earnings tax is in lieu of all other taxes or assessments.

WHEN RUN DOWN

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the Reliable Tonic Medicine, Builds Up.

The reason why you feel so tired all the time at this season is that your blood is impure and impoverished. It lacks vitality. It is not the rich red blood that gives life to the whole body, perfects digestion and enables all the organs to perform their functions as they should.

From any druggist get Hood's Sarsaparilla. It will make you feel better, look better, eat and sleep better. It is the old reliable tried and true all-the-year-round blood purifier and enricher, tonic and appetizer. It revitalizes the blood, and is especially useful in building up the debilitated and run-down.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is helping thousands at this time of year. Let it help you. Get a bottle today and begin taking it at once. Be sure to get Hood's. Nothing else acts like it.

THREE HELD FOR GRAND LARCENY

Three men arrested yesterday on charges of grand larceny in the second degree were this morning bound over to the May term of the grand jury. Bail in each case was fixed at $250.

Louis Charrier, 19, and Paul Konczak, 23, were arrested yesterday afternoon following an effort they made to sell some beef hides to a West end butcher. They aroused his suspicions and he immediately notified the police. Lieut. Wilcox of the West Duluth station arrested Konczak, and Patrolman Sundberg of the West end station took Charrier into custody.

In police court this morning the two young men were charged with having stolen eighteen beef hides valued at $50 from a Soo line freight car. They waived examination and were bound over to the grand jury.

Andrew Aho, who was arrested by Patrolman Johnson and Youngberg on a charge of having stolen $9.50 worth of beef from a refrigerator car belonging to the Armour company, also waived examination when brought before Judge Cutting and was bound over to the jury with the other young men. He is 33 years old.

NEW TRIAL MAY BE ALLOWED

Judge Cant in district court this morning entertained a motion for a new trial of the personal injury suit brought by George Arvesen against the Boston Coal Dock & Wharf company, in which Arveson on Dec. 22, 1913, received a verdict for $11,000 for injuries which have left him a helpless and life-long cripple.

Arveson on May 29, 1913, was employed as a laborer on the Boston coal dock at West Duluth. While engaged at the work of oiling the hoisting apparatus at a time when it was not in action, Gust Olson, his brother-in-law, and John Peterson, fellow workers, carelessly started the machinery. Arveson was caught and crushed between different parts of the superstructure.

The accident resulted in two fractures of his leg, a permanent shortening of his lower limb and other injuries which have totally incapacitated him for work. The verdict was one of the largest personal injury awards which have been made in the local courts for some time.

I. K. Lewis of Abbott, McPherran, Gilbert & Lewis argued in support of the motion for a new trial and John Jenswold, Jr., appeared in opposition. Judge Cant took the case under advisement.

PROVE CITY WATER PURE

The city's supply of drinking water continues pure, as shown by the laboratory report received yesterday by the health department.

Each day the branch state laboratory maintained in this city analyzes two samples of water, one taken from the well at Lakewood and the other from a city faucet. These are examined to determine if the drinking supply contains bacteria or colon bacilli. The former indicate sewage pollution and the latter are the germs of typhoid fever.

The reports of last month were forwarded to the health department yesterday and show beyond question that the water is pure. The same result has been produced by the analyses which have been made for months past.

This has been decidedly reassuring to the local officials, particularly in view of the widespread reports of the waters of the Great Lakes being contaminated by sewage. Most of the pollution has been in the lower waters of the Great Lakes and substantiates the assertions of the Duluth authorities that the western end of Lake Superior will be the last to be affected. They realize that the increased dumping of sewage constitutes a menace to the water supply and that plans should be formed to meet the problem. But if the reports as to the purity of the supply continue, they are hopeful that the heavy expenditure which would be necessary to provide a system of intercepting sewers and a sewage disposal plant will not be necessary for some years.

For further protection the water and light department is planning to make a careful examination of the intake pipe to learn whether or not any leaks exist, as these would be a greater menace than dangers at the intake, which is sixty feet under the surface. If any leaks are found they will be repaired without loss of time.

SAYS BAUCH WAS EXECUTED

Washington, March 14.—That Gustav Bauch, the American, was executed by Pancho Villa at Juarez, was declared today before the house foreign affairs committee by El Frego Baca of Albuquerque, N. M., once a candidate for congress.

Baca testified that Bauch was in the same cell with a cousin of his, J. J. Baca of New Mexico, and a third man. Bauch and the other men were taken out and executed, according to the cousin's story, which Baca related. The cousin was released. Villa had imprisoned him because he did not like the looks of his hat.

Benton, the Scotchman executed by Villa, went unarmed to Juarez on the visit which ended in his execution, Baca declared.

Says Carranza Fears Villa.

"Carranza lives in fear of Villa," said Baca, "so much so that he would not sleep in the same room with him."

He praised the supporters of Huerta and declared Villa's men were fighting for plunder.

Baca was presented to the committee by Representative Ainey, Republican of Pennsylvania.

Mexico Will Foot Bills.

El Paso, Tex., March 14.—Harris Walthal, of counsel representing the Huerta government in the habeas corpus proceedings to secure the release of the 5,000 Mexican prisoners held at Fort Bliss, said today that if the case is successful this city need not fear that it will have to care for a horde of penniless guests.

"The Mexican government is prepared to remove the prisoners to any Federal port of entry designated by the United States the moment they are released," said Mr. Walthal.

HOT CAMPAIGN TO HEAD INDIAN TRIBE

Marinette, Wis., March 14.—There is considerably rivalry for the chieftainship of a Pottawatomie tribe of Indians in Marinette county who number 400. John Thunder and Frank Kaquetush are the opposing candidates and the tribe will soon hold an election.

The local Pottawatomies expect a good slice of the recent $400,000 appropriation made by the government for distribution among them, and this has accentuated interest in the contest for chief.

BOYS ORGANIZE FOR ATHLETICS

The Duluth Sunday School Athletic association has been launched.

At a meeting held at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., J. R. Batchelor was elected president of the association; W. H. Shilling was elected secretary; Ben McCabe, vice president; Charles Diers, assistant secretary, and Rollin Hawkes, treasurer. The following Sunday schools were registered in the league: First Presbyterian, Second Presbyterian, Congregational, Westminster Presbyterian, First M. E., Glen Avon Presbyterian. Amy Sunday school may enter by communicating with either the president or secretary, who will be glad to give full information.

The first big event to be carried out will be an indoor field meet Friday, April 17. This will probably be given in the Armory. A special committee will meet Monday evening at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. to make out the list of events. The division will probably be according to weights. Banners will be awarded in the different divisions. Other athletic activities will be promoted from time to time.

FOND DU LAC FIVE DEFEATS BEMIDJIS.

Bemidji, Minn., March 14.—The Fond du Lac, Wis., basket ball team defeated the local team here last night, 29 to 23. On Thursday night the visitors won also, 32 to 26. The Wisconsin team will play in Duluth and Superior next week and then disband for the season.

WINS THIRTEENTH GAME ON MARCH 13

Fargo, N. D., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Thirteen" has no terrors for the Fargo high school basket ball team, as last night the locals defeated the Keokuk, Iowa, five in Chicago in the elimination contest for the mid-West championship. It was Fargo's thirteenth game, was played on Friday, the 13th, and the score in each half was 13. Fargo has won at least third place and stands a chance to secure still higher honors in the championship race.

FIFTY MILLIONS BEHIND FEDS

Chicago, March 14.—President Gilmore of the Federal league today gave out a list of the league's owners and backers which shows according to his figures, that there is $50,000,000 behind the organization. Twelve millionaires are on the roster, he said. The wealthiest club is that in Brooklyn, where the Wards are credited with capital amounting to $25,000,000.

Gilmore's list with the millionaires marked "M" follows:

Pittsburg—Edwin Gwinner, president (M); William Kerr, vice president; William McCollough, secretary.

Buffalo—William Robertson, president (M); Walter Mullen, vice president; F. Cabanna, treasurer (M); Owen Ausperger, secretary.

Baltimore—Carrol Rasin, president (M); J. S. Wilson, Jr., treasurer (M); Harry Goldman, secretary; Ned Hanlon.

Brooklyn—R. B. Ward, president (M); G. S. Ward, vice president (M); Walter Ward, treasurer (M); John Ward, secretary.

St. Louis—Ed Steininger, president; Otto Stiffel (M); Phil Ball (M.

Indianapolis—J. Edwin Krause, president; John A. George, Bert McBride, E. E. Gates, W. K. Watkins, secretary.

Kansas City—C. O. Madison, president; S. S. Gordon, Henry Neily, secretary.

DID NOT REPORT TO THE REFEREE

W. H. Schilling, coach and director of athletics at the Central high school, declares that the report of the basket ball game played between the Central high team and that from Hibbing last evening is rather unfair. He asserts that up to the last minute and a half of play the scorekeepers for Hibbing and Duluth tallied, the score being 30 to 29 in favor of Duluth. No score was made in the remaining time, he says, but at the finish the score of the Hibbing man had become 30-30. No protest was made to Referee Connolly of Superior, Mr. Schilling says, and in fact no protest was made at all until the players went to the dressing room after the referee had left the building.

"Then they declared that the score should be 30-30," said Mr. Schilling this morning.

SPECIAL $59.10

This Grafonola, equipped with the new No. 6 Reproducer and tone arm, the VERY LATEST improvement, and the best; including 14 Double Records, 28 Selections—enough of the world's best music for an entire evening's entertainment—all on easy payments.

You cannot weigh a Grafonola in terms of dollars—it must be placed upon the same terms as patriotism, love of home, love of kindred; for its not the instrument itself that gives it worth, it's the atmosphere it creates in the home.

The songless home is apt to be the weak home; it's the home usually where people discuss whether life is worth living; it's the home where the boy and girl, finding no fund of happiness and amusement, seek their pleasures elsewhere—it's too often the average home where life is unrelieved by any ready-at-hand enjoyment. The songless home does not mould strong characters.

The coming of the Grafonola into such a home is more than the chance acquaintance who can entertain at times by a song or instrumental selection. It is the friend of all the family and can be drawn on for many a happy hour.

Do not fail to come in and let us show you the new improved Grafonola—it brings the actual lifelikeness of the artists to your home.

Interlocking Tile Hy-Pex Face Brick

Sold By Standard Salt & Cement Company,
Building Materials,
237 to 249 Lake Avenue South

A MODERN FIREPROOF RESIDENCE

The above design, the first of The Herald's series embracing nine types of houses, is what is called the American type. It is constructed of interlocking tile with the exterior of first floor covered with stucco. The second floor is laid up with cement and mosaic tile, with a fireproof roof made of ground slate shingles. The plan is well arranged with a large living room running accross the house in the front with a dining room opening off from same. There is a door leading from the dining room into the den or porch, as same can be used for that purpose if so desired. A large pantry and kitchen of ample size gives this home all modern conveniences. The second floor has 5 bedrooms and bath. All rooms are well lighted and have large closets. The finish of the first floor is Washington fir with maple floors, and the second floor finish is birch with maple floors. The house would cost to build, in the city of Duluth, about $4,500.00, complete with plumbing and heating.

The Most Modern Homes Use Electric Appliances

Even homes enjoying the advantages of Electric Light have not reached the highest point of domestic efficiency, unless they are quipped with one or more of the handy electrical household appliances. Besides a saving of time and labor, tasks are performed better and with an indescribable feeling of satisfaction.

Lessen the Household Labors

An Electric Vacuum Cleaner cleans thoroughly and quickly. It does not stir up the germ-laden dust as a broom does, and it avoids the back-breaking labor of sweeping. An Electric Sewing Machine Motor allows you to do a great deal more work than you can accomplish on a foot-power machine—saves time and strength as well. You owe it to yourself to investigate.

LABOR BACK OF FESTIVAL

About 3,000 Trade Unionists Offer Their Hearty Co-operation.

Federated Trades Assembly Appoints Committee of Three Members.

More than 3,000 trade unionists of Duluth placed their stamp of approval on the proposed midsummer pageant for Duluth for 1915, when the Duluth Federated Trades assembly in regular session at Kalamazoo hall last evening appointed a committee from its membership to co-operate with the merchants and all civic organizations in preparing plans for the big festival.

The committee named consists of Peter Schaefer, chairman; James Downing and A. G. Catlin. The action on the part of the trades assembly was taken at the instigation of the Retail Merchants' association which is active in organizing a general executive committee to take charge of the pageant. The trades assembly is the fifteenth organization to fall into line with the idea of the summer festival.

At its meeting last evening, the trades assembly appointed W. J. Dutcher to take the place of S. S. McDonald on the committee which has charge of arrangements for the convention of the State Federation of Labor in July.

MACHINE GUN IS USED ON AIRSHIP.

Berlin, March 14.—The German military airship "Z 5," during target practice over the Doeberitz military grounds with a machine gun and at a range of about 5,000 feet, frequently hit a target 33 by 12 feet, which was suspended from a huge kite. Several hits also were registered at a distance of more than 6,000 feet.

SEES NEW ERA OF BUSINESS DAWNING

L. TRAUBMANN.

L. Traubmann of the Silberstein & Bondy company, who has just returned after a month's absence in the Eastern markets, says that he has been greatly impressed with the confidence shown in President Wilson by the wholesalers and manufacturers who seem to feel that a new era is dawning for the business interests of America as soon as the new methods are operative.

Politics, he says, is much discussed in New York, and he believes that Tammany will be routed in the state unless new leaders are installed. Money is cheap and no trouble is being experienced in financing propositions of merit. Questionable deals are given no consideration in Wall street, he says.

Mr. Traubmann, who spent his early life in New York, says the trend of trade is going more and more up town and the number of empty stores on lower Broadway is increasing every day. Duluth, he says, is more in the public eye than ever before and predictions are being made that in a few years it will be the largest city in the state.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

THE central council of public health of the city of New York has prepared a report on the typhoid fever epidemic in the borough of Manhattan last fall. The report, which is an exhaustive one, shows that the recent outbreak of the disease had its origin in contaminated milk. This fact, in the opinion of Dr. Armstrong and E. H. Lewinski-Corwin, Ph. D., who prepared the report, emphasizes the need for efficient pasteurization of all raw and certified milk. In order to impress upon the medical profession the fact that sanitary supervision in this country does not begin to safeguard the public against typhoid to the extent that it does in Europe, the council has prepared this comparative table of the death rates in 1910: Deaths from typhoid fever per 100,000 population—Hamburg, 2.5; Berlin, 3.6; London, 4; Vienna, 4.1; Paris, 6.7. In contrast the figures of the five largest American cities for the same year are: New York, 11.6; Boston, 1.6; Chicago, 13.7; Philadelphia, 17.4; Washington, D. C., 23.2.

Duluth has been comparatively free of typhoid and 90 per cent of the cases reported here have come from outside points. In none of these cases has the disease been traceable to the milk supply. Almost invariably investigation has discovered that typhoid was contracted from drinking impure water. Last fall there was a small epidemic at Gary, due to the consumption of well water into which surface water drained. Spread of the disease was checked by removing the patients to hospitals and safeguarding the drinking supply.

BANNER LAND SALE IS HELD AT WALKER

Over 7,500 Acres Sold, Breaking All Cass County Records.

Walker, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Over 7,500 acres of state land with a cash value of $62,000 were sold here yesterday at the first Cass county state land sale of the year. The sale was the largest ever held in Cass county and the number of acres sold equals the sale of the eight sales of last year. The average price per acre was $8.25 as compared with $5.25 in 1913.

The highest price paid per acre was $27.50, the appraised value being $15. Bidding was spirited in a great majority of the descriptions, there being nearly 300 bidders present, representing towns and cities all over the state and North Dakota.

High Average Price.

The average price per acre is the highest ever established at a state sale in the county and the manner in which the prices were advanced by competitive biddings, proved that the low-priced lands of the county were fast becoming a thing of the past.

Bidders were present from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Bemidji, St. Cloud, Brainerd, Fairmont, Rushmore and Staples, as also from Volum and Steele, N. D. This is the third state sale held that Chief Clerk Theodore Nelson of the state land department has been this year, the others being at International Falls, where 3,800 acres were sold and Bemidji with 2,000.

COURT TELLS HOW TO UNSCRAMBLE COAL

Lake Shore Road Must Buy Kanawha & Michigan Stock.

Columbus, Ohio, March 14.—The terms upon which the Hocking Valley, Toledo & Ohio Central, Chesapeake & Ohio and Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroads shall dispose of their equity in the Sunday Creek Coal company and the Continental Coal & Coke company, and by which the Chesapeake & Ohio shall dispose of its interests in the Kanawha & Michigan road, are prescribed in a decree handed down here today by United States Circuit Judges Warrington, Knappen and Denison.

The same court handed down an opinion in December, 1912, that these holdings were in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

By the decree given today, the Lake Shore is given two months in which it must purchase the stock of the Kanawha & Michigan, now owned by the Chesapeake & Ohio, or the joint interest of both roads in the Kanawha & Michigan must be sold to others.

The same time is allowed for complete disposal by private sale of the Sunday Creek Coal company's stock and that of the Continental Coal & Coke company by the railroads now holding it.

If these decrees are not carried out in that time, the court will appoint a master to direct the dissolution.

The principal feature of the decree toady is that the Lake Shore road virtually is compelled to buy the Kanawha & Michigan stock now owned by the Chesapeake & Ohio.

According to the former decision, the Chesapeake & Ohio was forced to sell its interest, but since the Lake Shore was not compelled to buy it openly, Chesapeake & Ohio officials feared the sale of the stock would be forced at an extremely low price, according to statements of council for the Chesapeake & Ohio made here today.

ROTZEL TALKS TO OFFICE MEN

Prof. C. L. Rotzel of the extension division of the University of Minnesota addressed the weekly meeting of the Duluth Association of Office Men at the Commercial club last evening and gave a very interesting talk on practical accounting. He discussed the various systems used and dissected their efficiency. He illustrated his remarks by relating several phases of his own experience. Owing to the fact that his own class in accounting began early, his address was brief.

About thirty members of the association were present and besides them a number of visiting accountants from outside of the city, attended as guests.

The matter of voting approval of the midsummer festival and appointing a committee to co-operate with those already appointed from other organizations, was postponed until week after next when the regular monthly dinner of the association will take place.

STARTLING FEATURES AT JINGLING SHOWS

The Jingling Bros. circus, which will appear at the Y. M. C. A. March 23 and 24, has arranged a remarkable array of events. The four-oared crew, said to be the greatest aggregation of water athletes on record, will be featured. Startling features of every description will be shown.

Arrangements have been completed for the non-collapsible "no-shine" circus seats. Hicken's refreshment booth will be marked by the owner's red tie. Nothing will be sold at this booth after 11 p. m. Some of the real "screams" of the evening will be presented by Mary's Little Lamb and contingent of inimitable clowns. The Human pin-wheels in death-defying gyrations will be seen on the high bar.

Jingling Brothers will present Prof. Jake Linkenstransdringer and his justly famous star performers. One number, composed by the bass drummer, is entitled "The Humoresque." College people will be interested in "Spicy & Juicy. Every man a Girl, every Girl a Lady" A prize will be offered to the man, woman or child who correctly identifies the ring-master. A special feature, arranged for the particular entertainment of the disciples of Izaak Walton, will be "Smiling Bill" Vogt, the boss bait-caster of the world, in his wonderful exhibition of bait casting.

In the Kelly Hardware company's windows on Monday and Tuesday noons, March 23 and 24, there will be a free exhibition by the clowns.

'YOU TORE YOUR GOWN,' KING'S WORD TO LADY

Belgian Ruler Has Wearer of Slit Skirt Escorted From Ball.

Brussels, March 14.—At the court ball last night, the observant eye of King Albert espied a woman entering the ball room with an extreme slit skirt. The king whispered something to the court marshal, who immediately ordered the woman out of the room. At the door of the ball room the marshal, bowing to the woman, said:

"His majesty noticed that you had torn your dress upon one side and requested me to escort you to your carriage so that you may return home and have the damage repaired."

HEADS OFF SMUGGLING OF CHINESE TO U. S.

Motorcycle Policeman Overtakes Automobile and Makes Big Haul.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 14.—By overtaking an automobile and capturing eighteen Chinese and two members of an alleged smuggling syndicate, a motorcycle policeman at Los Angeles harbor, San Pedro, early today frustrated a plot to smuggle into this country a large party of Orientals. Four more contraband immigrants were caught after daylight, but ten Chinese and the launch which brought them probably from Lower California escaped out to sea.

COOPER DENIES HE WILL GO TO EGYPT.

New York, March 14.—Hugh L. Cooper of New York, the engineer who built the Keokuk power dam across the Mississippi, denied today the recent report from Washington that he had been designated consulting engineer for the Egyptian government in the construction of the new Nile dam.

Mr. Cooper was at a loss to understand how this report originated, except that it might have emanated from the fact that recently he had submitted to the Egyptian government certain plans for the development of power from the Assouan dam.

Mr. Cooper has just returned from Egypt. He said he had not approached the Egyptian government with respect to work on the new Nile dam, and expressed the opinion that the work now being done by the Egyptian engineering department was of a very high character.

INTERIOR IOWA RATE DECISION IS MADE

Tariffs Sought By Railroads Are Approved With Limitations.

Washington, March 14.—A final determination of the so-called Interior Iowa Cities case was reached today when the interstate commerce commission approved proportional class freight rates, submitted by the railroads, "for the transportation of traffic originating and destined to points east of the Indiana-Illinois state line, between upper Mississippi river crossings and junction points in Iowa, and to maintain higher proportional rates on like traffic at intermediate points."

The higher rates to intermediate points must not exceed, however, the proportional through rates by more than 2 cents a hundred pounds on first and second-class freight, or more than 1 cent on other classes.

The case was brought on complaint of the state of Iowa against the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railway, and the New York Central lines and other railroads. The decision had been pending for many months.

PHI DELTS WILL MEET.

Gathering for Duluth Members of Fraternity Is Called.

The annual banquet of Duluth members of the Phi Delta Theta, a Greek letter college fraternity, will be held at 6:15 o'clock tonight at the Commercial club. The gathering is generally held March 15 of each year, but as the date falls on Sunday this year the banquet is being held one night earlier. There are about thirty Duluth members, and any visiting members of the fraternity are expected to be present. Warren E. Greene is president of the local organization.

LABOR IN LINE, TOO.

The Trades Assembly last night added its approval to the project for a great midsummer festival and pageant in 1915, and appointed a committee to co-operate with the general committee now being formed.

This is most fitting and most welcome. To build a committee representing the activities of the community, as this general committee on arrangements is to do, without including labor, would be to erect a structure and omit the foundation.

The Trades Assembly represents officially the ranks of organized labor in Duluth, numbering something like four thousand citizens. Its action brings to the support of the Fete of the Voyageurs the largest single organized element in the community. It is, therefore, indispensable and is welcomed accordingly.

Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson evinced the courage of her father's convictions in allowing her engagement to be announced on Friday the 13th.

SEX MADNESS.

One of the judges in a New York court which sustained a judgment against one of the many infamous "white slave" films said the other day: "It would seem that a large section of our people are sex mad."

The New York World swallows the phrase, and says:

> The phrase happily describes a prevailing form of social mania. People have rediscovered the fact that "male and female created He them"—they have rediscovered Genesis, and the sensational nature of the discovery has upset their mental balance. They see sex in every interest or activity or passing emotion that actuates mankind, and proclaim the fact from the housetops.
>
> Instead of the old prudery about sex questions, there is now the utmost frankness; in place of reticence, there is the widest publicity, from which even the kindergarten does not escape. Instead of the old policy of minimizing the importance of sex, there is the policy of magnifying it. From one extreme we have gone to the other, and with equal lack of sanity.
> To the perfectly balanced mind, sex questions are of only relatively more concern than questions of diet. It is only under the hysterical self-consciousness of the moment that they have been distorted and the sense of proportion destroyed. Doubtless the obsession will pass in time. • • • But what a commentary on our superior attitude toward the delusions of the middle ages is our present popular hysteria on the subject of sex!

The effect of it all is to increase sex-consciousness. And people were sex-conscious enough before. Too much sex-consciousness is responsible for much of the trouble and misery in the world. The fact that sex-consciousness has been more or less kept from youth, and more or less restricted in one of the sexes, has averted much of this trouble and misery.

And here a lot of misguided if well-meaning fools, abetted by greedy panderers of the stage and of the book and magazine press, have been deliberately seeking to increase abnormal sex-consciousness among the young and among the unsteadily moral of all ages and both sexes! It is worse than playing with fire, worse than toying with lyddite.

Instead of wholesome reticence and repression, we have had an orgy of gloating license that has smashed the gates of decency and flooded the country with hysteric indecency.

But both the judge and the World blame the public. That's wrong. How much of it all has deserved the term "popular?"

Our impression is that the public, for its part, through it all has been somewhat shamefaced, a little bewildered, and a good deal disgusted.

It was not the public that discovered sex, that discovered vice, that announced the astounding discovery that evil is evil and sin is sin, and that grew excited about it.

It was the novelists, the magazine writers, the professional sensationmongers, the theatrical panders of the "legitimate" and motion picture stage, and the hysterical and psycopathetically prurient "reformers."

For these, it has been a feast. The trade of moral scavenging has been made respectable and profitable. Perhaps some small sections of the public have been excited. The hysterical "reformers" certainly were. The general public, though, has had little part in it except to avert its eyes and to hold its nose.

If the sex mania is waning, it is because the public is tired of nose-holding, and shows a disposition to insist that its authorities begin to apply the laws against indecency that were, for the moment, overthrown and in abeyance.

Duluth, in the meantime, though well guarded indeed against saloon evils, has not been guarded at all against far greater perils from vicious plays and motion picture films. It seems about time the bars were put up against this sort of thing also.

How would it suit the militants if England were to grant the suffrage to all women who could show a record free from jail service?

A SOCIAL SURVEY.

The interchurch council and Mayor Prince are considering ways and means for a social survey of Duluth.

Social welfare work is growing to be a larger and larger factor in public activity. To be truly aimed and successful to the utmost, it must be guided by knowledge of actual conditions and actual needs. That knowledge can be gained only through a social survey.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that the interchurch council and Mayor Prince will be able to work out a plan.

Now that Goethals has built the canal, it is proposed to erect a monument to Ferdinand de Lesseps. It seems a good deal like putting up a memorial to Darius Green at the scene of the Wright brothers' success.

GOING A-FISHING.

Mingled with the lingering chill in the air is a daily waxing strain of spring's gentleness. The sun goes higher every day, and every day its rays grow stronger. Presently the streams will burst their winter bonds, and then—

Says Isaac Walton:

> And now, scholar, I think it will be time to repair our angle rods, and you shall choose which shall be yours, and it is an even lay one of them catches.
>
> • • • No life, my honest scholar, is so happy and so pleasant as the life of a well-governed angler, for when the lawyer is swallowed up with business and the statesman is preventing or contriving plots, then we sit on cowslip banks, hear the birds sing and possess ourselves in as much quietness as the silent silver stream, which we now see glide so quietly by us. Indeed, my good scholar, we may say of angling as Dr. Boteler said of strawberries: "Doubtless God could have made a better berry, but doubtless God never did;" and so, if I might be the judge, "God never did make a more calm, quiet, innocent recreation than angling."
> I'll tell you, scholar, when I sat last on this primrose bank and looked down these meadows, I thought of them as Charles the emperor did of the city of Florence, "that they were too pleasant to be looked on, but only on holidays."

Some day, pretty soon, you will go up in the attic and get together the implements of this gentlest of pursuits—the rod, the reel, the flybook, the creel, the tin baitbox. You will hie yourself, with a spade, to the garden, where you will dig bait. In the early morning you will rise betimes, and take a train or automobile to the stream of your choice.

A brisk walk by trail or old logging road, perhaps over ancient corduroy that sinks into mossy dampness under your tread, brings you to the bank. As you approach, through the bare poles of the brush—just beginning to be faintly touched with the tender green of bursting leaf and the silver-gray of the catkins, you catch a silvery glimpse of the stream, shot with light from the sun, and you hear the murmur of its troubled journey over its rough bed.

At the brink you pause to joint your rod and to put reel and line and hook in readiness. You breathe in joyously the fresh, clean, invigorating air of spring in the undefiled outdoors. At your feet are spring flowers—the dainty spring beauty and anemone and bloodroot in the woods, the broad hepatic leaves and the rich golden blossom of the marsh marigold at the streamside. It is spring—spring in the leaping waters of the brook, spring in the bursting bud and leaf and bloom of the woods and fields, spring in your heart and in the joyous new impulse of the blood in your veins.

All in readiness, you cast deftly under the foam caught by a fallen tree trunk at the side of a pool at the foot of the rapids. A rush, a jerk, a tightened line, a fight for life on the one side and for prey on the other, a flash of brilliant color curving and twisting in the air, and the brief leaping of a thing of beauty in your basket. You have caught your first trout of the season!

At noon—very likely sooner, for this brisk work in this life-giving air sharpens the appetite amazingly—you sit on a rock by the stream and investigate the contents of the package of lunch friend wife has had prepared for you. The stream ripples by, the sun glints on its waters, the birds sing in the trees, the sandwiches taste like ambrosia, the dull world with its sordid cares is far away and forgotten—you are contented and happy.

At nightfall, the day's pleasuring over, you trudge back to the train or the automobile. You get home tired, hungry, dirty, sleepy and happy. A bath, supper, a soft bed, sound sleep—and you are ready for another week's work to earn the glorious privilege of another day in the woods.

Yes, doubtless God might have made "a more calm, quiet, innocent recreation than angling;" but doubtless God never did.

After the way some congressmen have used the frank privilege it certainly sounds odd to hear them worry about the expense of the parcel post to the government.

HOW TIMES CHANGE!

One of the four reasons why there was no parcel post, given by John Wanamaker when he was postmaster general, was the United States Express company.

The head of the United States Express company in those days was United States Senator Thomas C. Platt.

The principal bulwark in the congress of the United States against the people's demand for the parcel post was Senator Platt.

Senator Platt is dead.

The parcel post has come at last.

The United States Express company is going out of business.

How times have changed!

New York I. W. W. leaders are urging their followers to refuse to do farm work, on the ground that hoeing potatoes is beneath them. About the only thing that can convince that kind of an outfit of the dignity of hoeing potatoes is to give it a good spell at breaking rock.

DREAMS.

Says the Savannah Press: "The small navy fad finds its adherents in those who live inland and forget that the country is bordered on both sides by coasts which need their own peculiar police force."

It would be as fair to say that the large navy fad finds its adherents largely among those who live in coast cities, who eat mince pie and pickles and have bad dreams—like Boston did when it cowered in anticipation of a bombardment from a Spanish fleet.

But a good deal of the impetus for a large navy comes from manufacturers of war materials and their dupes.

Col. Roosevelt having once more got within touch with civilization, the country may look for some fresh pronunciamentos by the unbossed party.

THE AMERICAN HABIT OF UNTHRIFT.

One of the experts of the department of agriculture says that if all the good food wasted in this country could be saved, the problem of the cost of living would interest very few.

We haven't a doubt of it; but we must confess to a grave doubt whether there will soon be any lessening of interest in the cost of living on that account.

Most of us want the high-cost-of-living problem solved by some royal road that will let us keep on wasting. We want the trusts busted, the tariff reduced, food costs ruled by statute, or some other magic cure that will let us live extravagantly and still have an ample margin between income and outgo.

We are, in that respect, much like certain gourmands. They stuff themselves and get fat and logy and finally sick. Then they want the doctor to give them some magic pill that will dissolve the fat and cure the sickness, and let them get back quickly to gorging themselves again.

There isn't much use talking about the benefit of saving wastes so long as we feel that way. True, if we saved, if we spent less than we earned, we'd get ahead; but that's too humdrum and commonplace a way. True, if we averted waste in our households, we could make a great inroad on the high cost of living; but that's altogether too prosaic a solution.

If we didn't run bills and occasionally forget to pay; if we didn't insist on having a paper of pins sent out per delivery wagon; if we went more to the market and picked our food sagaciously instead of ordering by telephone; if we were content with the more nutritious flank and chuck instead of the more ostentatious porterhouse; if we would live according to our means instead in imitation of somebody with twice our means: if we would do these and a hundred other sensible things the problem of high cost living would diminish.

But that's the trouble with us: these things are TOO sensible.

We want a royal road to everything—to good moral conditions by statute instead of by reformation; to riches by a lucky speculation instead of by living within our means and saving; to good government by a magic system instead of by vigilant and well-informed public spirit.

There isn't the slightest doubt that the department of agriculture expert is right. There IS great waste of foodstuffs: on the farm, in cost of hauling because of bad roads, in cost of marketing because of too many middlemen and lack of co-operative marketing, in retail distribution because of the credit system, wasteful buying and a needlessly expensive delivery system, and in the household because we think it shameful to be thrifty.

But there can be no improvement in any of these things so long as the American people demand a royal road to fortune, and refuse to take the slow, painful but sure road of thrift.

If it is true that Ambassador Page made the Englishmen laugh, he is at least entitled to that much in the way of extenuating circumstances.

DR. HOFFMAN'S NOON MEETINGS.

The Herald has had occasion frequently to yield tribute to the value of the noon religious meetings at the Lyceum theater which Dr. Rice made an annual feature. It is pleasant to note, therefore, that these meetings are to be continued by Dr. John W. Hoffman, the new pastor of the First Methodist church, beginning Monday, March 23, and continuing daily through that week.

These meetings bring a flash of religion to illuminate the business life of the community in the very midst of its activities—not only because they are held down town in the heart of the business district, but because they are held in the heart of the business day, at a time when many have a breathing spell from their labors and freedom to drop in for the short time the meetings last.

This is a departure indeed from the rut of a religion and worship confined to Sunday only and all but forgotten for the six intervening days of the week. It is a departure indeed from the rut of religion and worship confined wholly to the church edifice. It is bringing the church and its faith out into the busy highways of the week day's work, and it is bringing to the busy world a glimpse of the faith that inspires the finest religion that ever lightened a drab world.

Though the speaker is the pastor of a Methodist church, these are not Methodist meetings, but public meetings in every sense of the word. There is no collection. Song service, address and all are to be confined to forty minutes. Nearly everybody can spare that much time. It will be worth everybody's time to spare it for such a purpose.

Incidentally, one may hope that those Illinois women who are refusing to vote at the primaries will some day recall the suffrage argument that so many men stay away from the polls.

TOO MANY HOLIDAYS?

The Chicago News is complaining because the banks closed on Lincoln's birthday, Washington's birthday and primary election day. It thinks there are too many holidays.

The Springfield Republican is complaining because the Massachusetts legislature is talking of making New Year's day a legal holiday. It thinks there are too many holidays.

A legal holiday on a city primary election day does seem like rubbing it in; but is it a fact that there are too many holidays?

We have a notion that we should all live at least as long and at least as happily, get just as much to eat and just as much sleep, extract a little more good out of life, get more out of the flowers and the trees and the open country, if holidays came at fairly frequent intervals—more frequently, indeed, than is the case now.

There are not so many legal holidays. There are only four that are observed in all the states. The list, outside of election days and holidays observed by single states only, is as follows:

New Year's day—Observed by all the states except Kansas and Massachusetts.

January 19, Lee's birthday—Observed by eight of the once Confederate states.

February 12, Lincoln's birthday—Observed by twenty-one states.

February 22, Washington's birthday—Observed by all the states.

Good Friday—Observed by eleven states.

April 19, Patriot's day—Observed by Maine and Massachusetts.

April 26, Confederate Memorial day—Observed by four states.

May 10, Confederate Memorial day—Observed by two states.

May 30, Memorial day—Observed by all but eight states.

June 3, Jefferson Davis's birthday—Observed by eight states.

July 4, Independence day—Observed by all the states.

First Monday in September. Labor Day—Observed by all the states.

Last Thursday in November, Thanksgiving day—Observed by nearly all the states.

December 25, Christmas day—Observed by all the states.

Minnesota, which averages well up with its number of legal holidays, observes eight every year, and one—general election day—every other year. The legal holidays in Minnesota are as follows: New Year's day, Lincoln's Birthday, Washington's Birthday, Good Friday, Memorial day, Fourth of July, Labor day and Christmas. Of the eight holidays—nine in the even-numbered years—only five are generally observed by a cessation of business. The others are observed only by banks and public offices.

Humanity would be just as happy and long-lived and prosperous if there were a real holiday, available for recreation, about once a month.

Next time Ambassador Page talks extemporaneously he will make careful preparation in advance.

A Minnesota Sentence

New York Sun: Mr. Evarts' habit of long sentences and his saying that criminals were the only persons who objected thereto are traditional. It should be said, however, of this method of syntax that the clearness of his thought was a sure clue through his most labyrinthine sentence; the ears that heard him and the eyes that read him followed easily his seemingly devious ways. His clauses and dependencies led to his purpose and final period, and it is hardly too much to say that even his parentheses were straight. There was nothing of awkwardness or of confusion. He was a man of genius talking in his own way.

The concise and shortstop method is better for most of us, but it is a pleasure to know that Mr. Evarts has a Gopher disciple whose long distance work is able, even if he doesn't altogether equal the master in maintaining pikestaff plainness throughout. An editorial in our esteemed Banana Belt contemporary the Brainerd Dispatch contains a passage whose linked and lingering character has an interest of curiosity. The Sun dedicates it to the School of Syntax:

> "The plan is a good one, for the candidate who is successful in withstanding the elimination process and who stands out in bold relief after the convention as the choice of all the people in the state who did not cast their ballots for Eberhart for governor in 1912, provided, always, that the gentlemen who propose to hold caucuses in the different counties of the state for the purpose of electing delegates to a state convention to be held at Minneapolis at which time it is proposed to nominate a so-called anti-machine candidate for governor, are successful in building up their organization, which would be called a 'machine' by them if the state of things was reversed, and making it so strong that the gentlemen who have already announced their desire to enter the race for the nomination of governor in opposition to the present executive and also in opposition to every other man who aspires to the position of governor will all acquiesce and devote their time, influence and the influence of the men who want to see them succeed in their political ambition, to the election of the gentleman who is placed in nomination for governor at the state convention in opposition to the state primary election law, no matter how peaceful the gathering may be."

No panting, no asthmatic wheeze; the lungs are not winded; the athlete arrives at the goal in the pink of form. If we measure correctly, he has "covered" 218 words. An admirable performance. What is the "record?" What, indeed, was Mr. Evarts' "record?" According to an oracle that we have consulted, 132 words. Isn't that an error? Can the Gopher champion be so overwhelmingly victorious.

A Menace

God shields us from the plague of bigotry,
The horror shedding pest that chills the heart,
That shrivels up the springs of charity
And dams the sources when our friendships start.

A demon from the foulest haunts of hell
Is this that comes in fawning, pious guise,
Convincing man that he is doing well,
When he ignores the truth and scatters lies.

Conspirator of blindness, shunning light
As minions of the darkness shun the day,
Before its coming wisdom takes its flight,
Hypocrisy attends it on its way.

Weak mortal yields their talents to its blight,
And conjure up disaster to the state
If fellowmen may yet retain the right
To worship God as consciences dictate.

The truth confronts them as an open book,
And he who wills is welcome to partake.
But, stricken with the plague, they will not look.
They slaughter honor, for aversion's sake.

Besmearing innocence with foulest slime
Of falsehood all their time and efforts bend,
Against the monstrous chronicles of crime
They will not seek their neighbor to defend.

They take the lying demon to their breast,
They give him of their wealth, that he may thrive,
And formulate still viler slanders than the rest
And blacker, fouler doings to contrive.

Ill fares the land where bigotry holds sway
And Christianity is thrown aside.
There virtue, honor, truth are cast away,
There strife and discord must perforce abide.

Radium a Cure for Warts.

The World's Work: Radium is a practically perfect cure for warts. The common wart can at times assume the most annoying forms. As it is formed by the growth of skin cells, it can appear in the most awkward and annoying places. And it is difficult to uproot. One good application of radium, however, destroys it. Hold it over the wart for, say, thirty minutes; in a few days a pink zone appears around the base, the wart flattens and soon disappears.

An especially aggravated case testified to this magic power. A young girl, with a beautiful voice, had developed a wart-like mass in her vocal cords. The surgeon had several times removed it with the knife, but it recurred with increased virulence. Gradually the voice grew huskier until all ability to talk or sing was lost. The girl had the utmost difficulty in breathing. After a single application of a small amount of radium the mass began to retrogress. Three months later she was using her fine singing voice before an admiring medical society.

The Wilson Touch

Editorial in the New York Evening Post.

Editorial in the New York Evening Post: We know, by long tradition, of "the Nelson touch"—that indefinable stamp of personality and of genius which the great admiral used to put upon a plan of battle. The thing is as fascinating to study in politics as it is in war. What a lift and refreshing it is to those whose business compels them to follow public affairs, when a statesman arrives who breaks the old conventional moulds, and invents and displays new methods all instinct with his own individuality! This is what President Wilson has been doing for the past twelve months. Today marks the end of his first year in office. During that period, it may safely be said that American politics has been more interesting—we do not say more exciting—than for a generation. The interest has been that of watching an original and powerful mind striking out on new lines. Upon all the chief governmental events of the year the Wilson touch has been placed; and to try to make out just what that is may well absorb the thoughts of political students.

It is one of those cases in which the way of doing things is, in a sense, more important than the things done. For once you know the method, you can infer future results. And it is President Wilson's method which has impressed all observers, even more than his extraordinary record of achievement. Upon the latter, it is not necessary to dwell at length. The facts are known to all. Even the president's opponents agree that the res gesta of his first year out-bulk the record of the ordinary administration's four years. To have put behind him two capital measures like the tariff revision and the currency bill in less than ten months; to have next persuaded the senate to ratify the long-suspended arbitration treaties; and finally to have convinced congress that it ought to repeal the tolls-exemption clause of the Panama act—all this is an achievement which for mere size and weight, as well as for being unexpected and unprecedented, appeals to the dullest imagination. There has been nothing like it since the Civil war. You have only to think of Wilson in connection with humdrum presidents like Hayes and McKinley, or even with forceful and outstanding presidents like Cleveland and Roosevelt, to see how his personality challenges comparison with the very highest.

What, then, has been his secret? Where are the hidings of his power? It is impossible to put one's finger precisely upon the pulse of the machine. But we can note how it operates. We can observe the method, even if we cannot nicely measure the dynamic thrust behind it. And it is evident that the first element in the Wilson touch is a perfectly clear and definite idea of what is wanted. Ex-President Taft remarks this in his recent generous appreciation of Wilson. He declares that the president knows perfectly what he desires before he goes to congress to get it. And, of course, this intellectual grasp of his subject persists in all his personal discussions with congressmen. He can out-argue them because he has out-thought them. The vague men go down inevitably before the definite man. It was Mirabeau, we believe, who predicted the rise of a French politician at the time of the Revolution, saying of him: "Look out for that man. He knows just what he wants, and he means precisely what he says."

In the process of execution, Mr. Wilson has shown how to be effective without being noisy, how to bring about what amounts to a revolution with the quiet air of a man taking a stroll in the country. He has displayed an audacity fitted to take one's breath away, yet he has done it with smiling ease and unconcern. No thunderings in the index have preceded it, no loud echoes of the storm have followed. The impression is that he has simply been doing the most natural thing in the world. Such was the air which he threw about his first going to congress to read his message in person. He almost made it appear like a dropping in to afternoon tea! Why should he remain upon his "isolated island of jealous power," the White House, when by going to the other end of Pennsylvania avenue he could have a nice neighborly time with his "colleagues" in congress? In the face of such an attitude, talk of "usurpation," or of tyrannical domination by an overbearing executive, falls flat. It is impossible to erect a man chatting by the fire into a man on horseback.

All this looks easy, as Wilson has done it, but let anybody else try it! Any work of perfect skill looks easy to those who do not know what tense effort lies behind it. And President Wilson has not spared labor. His method is one thing; the energy he has put into it is another. Such inspiring and drive as have come from the White House since March 4, 1913, take it out of a man. But the president has prudently conserved his strength. He has not stretched himself thin over the whole country. Only two set speeches, if we remember aright, has he made in public during the past year. If other presidents have made themselves cheap by going everywhere, Wilson has consulted both his work in hand and the dignity of his office by staying in Washington. If others have talked on every conceivable subject, he has held his verbal fire until the time came when he could make it telling. The net impression he has made is that of a strong man following a course which he had carefully marked out for himself in advance; his time not his own, but for public business; relaxation only for health and not for the delectation of busybodies and cronies; with the constant application of a will that has a spring like fine steel to the dispatch of great affairs.

We are told that we must make allowance for Wilson's "luck." Circumstances were so uncommonly favorable to him. Very well; imagine him dying a week after inauguration and Marshall dealing with the same circumstances! It is useless to try to get away from native power and political genius. They work their will with ease where others would fail miserably. It is doubtless true that President Wilson will have to face a certain reaction. His prestige will not always seem so undimmed as now, his authority so great. But come what may, he has already revealed to his countrymen a public character in whom they will delight if they agree with Emerson that nothing is more inspiring than to note the facility with which a man of native force will move among ancient conventions, by fresh handling bending all to his purposes.

Twenty Years Ago

From the Herald of this date, 1894.

Dr. Bates was elected president of the village of Virginia yesterday. John O'Connor, Charles Farm and J. C. Jackson were elected trustees, D. Christopher recorder, J. R. James treasurer, and Charles E. Nelson constable.

The election at Fond du Lac yesterday was exciting and hotly contested. The fight centered on the contests between Charles Gasper and Ole Holm for president and W. H. Hollenbeck and D. L. Bishop for recorder. Gasper and Hollenbeck were elected by small majorities. O. H. Peterson, E. L. Hogstead and C. F. Olson were elected trustees, and O. H. Miller treasurer.

W. N. Moulton was elected president of the village of Two Harbors yesterday.

Alfred and Leonidas Merritt of Duluth yesterday secured a temporary injunction from Judge Ingraham of the New York supreme court, restraining the American Steel Barge company from selling or disposing of 1,331 shares of the capital stock of the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron mines. This is stock which C. W. Wetmore hypothecated and of which the Merritts claim to be the actual owners.

F. McRae of Potoski, Mich., has moved to West Duluth and will open a barber shop on Fourth street north.

The cooper shop and barrel factory of Dowd & Co. on Hughitt slip at Superior, together with all of the buildings adjoining, were destroyed by fire this morning. Forty coopers were working in the second story and their escape was cut off, so that they had to jump to the ice in the slip, a distance of thirty feet. Seven of the men were badly injured, breaking arms, legs, ribs and other bones. The injured include Edward Chappell of Duluth, Paul Weiss, Charles J. Thompson, Arthur E. Ladd, John Schultz, W. J. Cole and Philip Youst. The loss on the buildings is $20,000, and the workmen lost tools and effects valued at $2,000.

Joel P. Heatwole of the Northfield News has been elected mayor of Northfield by a large majority.

Michael Norris has secured a temporary injunction from Judge Lewis, restraining the mayor and city clerk from issuing the $800,000 water bonds sold by the council to the Duluth Trust company.

The Swedish Republican club was organized last evening at the office of Carl M. Johanson in the Torrey building, with the following officers: J. W. Nelson, president; Nels Hall and C. W. Wilson, vice-presidents; S. H. Eckman, secretary; Charles Hall, treasurer; E. G. Swanstrom, Dr. J. J. Eklund, Andrew Swordling, C. W. Ericson and Charles W. Renard, executive committee.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Think of These Things.

A pessimist sat next to me on the train the other day. Glancing over the paper in his hand he exclaimed. "Look at that record of vice! What a commentary on human nature!"

There was indeed spread before us that morning a discouraging array of arrests, scandals, graft exposures, stories of large misdoings of corporations and the like. One's optimism was sobered in looking over the dismal list. If this was a true picture of the state of modern society one might feel alarm with reason. We are reeling back to the pit if there is no other news "fit to print" than such as that on the sheet before us.

Happily there is another side of the picture, a beautiful and cheering one; and upon it we should never neglect to look. Let us remember the splendid exhortation which says, "Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things."

Think, then, for a moment on the honest and the pure things. Reflect that while there is a lot of bad in the world, there is also an amazing amount of good. For every exploited criminal there are scores of unheralded virtuous and law-abiding citizens. For every defaulting cashier, hundreds of honest ones live lives of probity and faithfulness. For every family torn asunder by scandal, thousands of American households are bound together in blessed ties of mutual love and trust. Such reflections, founded as they are on fact, should help us to believe in the essential health of our body politic.

It is well to remember that there are in the United States unnumbered thousands of honorable business men. There are thousands of public officials likewise to whose hands no unrighteous dollar ever sticks, who do their work faithfully, and with a fine regard for the service they can render.

Never in history has there been so much self-sacrificing devotion as at this hour, expressed in churches, charities, hospitals, institutions for all sorts of human uplift. It is well for us at times to turn our eyes from the rascals and to gaze upon the saints. No headlines blazon their faithfulness to the world—but it is there.

The heroic spirit is widely diffused. It needs but the call of some crisis to bring it to expression. Let the steamer Monroe go down in a wintry sea and there is a splendid young wireless operator to remove the lifebelt that would have saved him and put it on a helpless passenger. Stewards, unhonored and unsung, spend their last hours in rescuing their charges. Firemen by the hundred are risking their lives each week in every big city. Engineers, conductors, elevator men, teachers, doctors, nurses and a host of others every day are giving the lie to the surface assumption of pessimism that humanity is selfish and depraved.

There is a picture in Pilgrim's Progress in which Christian is taken by the interpreter into a room where he sees someone throwing water on a fire, and the more water is thrown the hotter the fire burns. He cannot understand it till the interpreter takes him to the other side of the partition and there he finds that someone unseen is feeding the fire with oil. Not otherwise the flame of our national life is kept burning brightly by the devotion of thousands of clean living and faithful men and women, whose reward is found not in glaring headlines, but in self-respect and in the conscious favor of Almighty God.

By SAVOYARD

Washington, March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Base is the slave that pays.—Ancient Pistol.

Some folks, who have an old-fashioned idea that it is profound truth that honesty is the best policy, that serene conscience is a good thing to have about the house, and a more or less valuable monitor, think it would be decent, and certainly high-minded, to pay to the South American republic, Colombia, the fair price for the land we seized from her and appropriated not only to our own use but to the world's use. The only issue here raised is that which has pestered mankind from the beginning—Right vs. Wrong.

No well-ordered mind can hesitate for one moment about the thing. It was decided in a leading case recorded in Holy Writ—First Kings, xxi., 1-2:

"And it came to pass after these things Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard which was in Jezreel hard by the palace of Ahab, King of Samaria.

"And Ahab spake unto Naboth, saying, Give me thy vineyard, that I may have it for a garden of herbs."

Now, this fellow Naboth was a stubborn and unreasonable chap and refused. The king destroyed him. No doubt that vineyard as a garden for the king was better for mankind, and so the king took it over; but the Bible tells us what the Lord Almighty thought about it and He decided the case against the strong that had overcome the weak. It was a just decision, and for her iniquity Jezebel, that prompted her spouse to the robbery, is a byword in every tongue that is acquainted with the Bible.

Shall we be classed with Ahab and Jezebel? If not, let us pay Colombia for the land we forcibly took from her. Revolution be hanged! It is just come out in a book writ by Bunau-Varilla that he did it all in Room 1,162 of the Waldorf-Astoria, New York. Had yeggmen done what the United States did on that occasion and been caught in the act every devil of 'em would be in the penitentiary right now, if any justice abided in the court of oyer and terminer.

I don't say this robbery was not necessary, but I do say let us pay for what we took. That is the decent thing to do—and what is better to the purpose, it is the prudent thing to do.

As a vulgar matter of profit the payment of this money, $25,000,000, would be the most remunerative investment this country could make, the amount considered. It would tend to conciliate every one of the more than a score of the "Latin American" republics to the south of us, each one of which believes that we are a bully, a bear, a thief, a parvenue.

Now there is no sort of doubt that South America has just appeared on the carpet of the world's "business." The country that gets the lion's share of the trade of that continent will reap more than once was called "the wealth of either Ind." Can we get it by proving a bully? Nay, verily. Your merchant to be successful must command the friendship as well as attract the shrewdness of the customer. Our treatment of Colombia, whom we robbed when we took that canal strip, whom we cheated when we allowed free tolls for American ships in the coastwise trade passing through the canal, gave this warning to all the world and especially to our South American brethren:

"Be vigilant, and if you eat soup with the devil, be sure you have a long ladle."

And that is the fix we are in because we have assumed that the opportunity to be dishonest makes it imperative that we shall be a rascal.

For "argument" against the payment of honest debt, I think this preachment from the Washington Post, touching the matter I have tried to discuss, takes the cake:

"The planters of Georgia, of South Carolina, of Mississippi, of Texas; the farmers of Maine, of New York, of Ohio, of Michigan, of Missouri, of Kansas and Nebraska, are to help foot the bills by this program of diplomats, most generous with the money of the people. These farmers and planters of the United States are to pay for the improvements of the roads, the rivers and the harbors of Colombia, according to the reports from Bogota, based upon assurances from the United States, and the senators and representatives in this congress are expected to vote the millions of United States cash that will enable the Colombians to enter into a financial paradise.

"Our country needs millions of dollars for its navy; it requires millions of dollars for its army; it needs good roads in every state in the Union; it stands badly in need of improvements of its rivers, its harbors, its canals; it stands ready for railroads in Alaska, for a vast, extensive and expensive system of agricultural development, and all these must be paid for by taxes derived from our own people, millions of them embarrassed by these taxes needed for our own country, and they surely will resent the voting away of more of their cash to a nation that for months and years held up the construction of the Panama canal.

"The country has enough embarrassment already from diplomatic agreements entered into without due consideration.

"Senators and representatives, and the administration have yet to reconcile party pledges and diplomatic blunders.

"Others may press for correction any day or week, and even if they did not our taxpayers, our voters, the people of the United States, have no money they wish voted to pay regards to Colombia for her stand against the commercial, financial and industrial progress of all the other nations of this continent and those of all the other continents as well."

Precisely. It is a hardship for a man to work for money to pay a debt that he owes, therefore there is no obligation imposed on him to pay. I have a new pair of shoes. I owe the merchant from whom I purchased them $6. It is a hardship, resulting to me, to work for $6 with which to discharge this debt, and according to the Washington Post I am a fool and an imbecile to discharge the debt.

"Base is the slave that pays."

Buy goods from all quarters, or rather, steal them, sell them regardless of price, put the money in your pocket and ask for a discharge in bankruptcy, is the basis of many a fortune, and it is the soul of the philosophy of the Washington Post in the foregoing extract.

But above and beyond all—high in the heavens, radiant in the mind and effulgent in the conscience of every honest man, is the apostrophe to justice by an English clergyman, which I fear I am all too fond of quoting, but I'll pester you with it once more:

"Truth is its handmaid; Freedom is its chief; Peace is its companion; Safety walks in its steps; Victory follows in its train. It is the brightest emanation of the Gospel; it is the greatest attribute to God. It is that center round which human interests and passions turn, and Justice, sitting on high, sees genius and power and wealth and truth revolve around her throne and marks out their orbits and teaches their paths and rules with a strong hand and warns with a loud voice and carries order and discipline into a world which, but for her, would be a wild waste of passions."

I do hope some bright, honest, ingenuous boy will read that, commit it to mind, make it monitor, act it all his life.

And that's why I'm going to pay the full $6 for them there shoes.

HOW TO CONQUER YOUR NERVOUSNESS

Don't get the idea that the way to win out over nervousness is to take a lot of strenuous gymnastic exercises. Especially is this the case with regard to an indoor gym. The use of certain bodily muscles to maintain the system in a healthy poise is very helpful. In fact, it is oftentimes absolutely necessary. But the great truth is that it is air—clean, pure fresh air—the more the better—that furnishes 75 per cent of the medicine you can take to conquer your nervousness. The exercise is of secondary importance.

When you sleep out of doors or live out of doors, as the tubercular patients must do to win out against their ailment, it is really surprising to see how quickly a ravenous and perfectly healthy appetite will develop. Somehow the flesh is compelled to consume more of the bodily nutritive materials when you force it to live out of doors. That's the reason why a camping trip to the hills always does the average vacationist so much good. He gets air—the genuine raw and unsheltered product. The varying temperatures—even as great as a daily difference of from 30 to 60 degs. swing of the thermometer—keep the natural body processes going in better shape. The point to be remembered, of course, is that in obtaining the aid you be toastily clad. This is especially important when sleeping out of doors.

Don't mistake me, please. Gymnasiums are fine and necessary. But they consume vitality in much greater proportion for what a nervous individual obtains from them, as compared with the invigorating influence of living in the out of doors both night and day.

Your own individual ideas can be made to help your nerves a lot also. Oftentimes, by quietly determining that some particular habit is too much of a strain, you can cut it out. Some time ago I was asked for a prescription as to "how to break away from the tobacco habit." The man said the love of tobacco was greater to him than his life, although his love for his family meant more to him than his own self. This was published in a previous Doctor's Helps article. Procure it; follow its principles.

The basis for winning out over any form of functional nervousness in great part lies in the curtailing of exhaustive wastes of energy, and everybody must learn to use his own judgments as to where they are unduly wasting their supply of nervous energy. This is what you must do if you will quickly conquer your nervousness. You must learn to discriminate. Procure also the article "About Mental Depression and Uneasiness" and supplement the counsel given in these two articles by the common-sense use of your own judgment. Learn to stand upon your own feet, both mentally and physically. There are no drugs that offer a true cure. There is a good and valuable book which, however, will give you some important hints. It is written by a French physician, Dr. Du Bois. The title is "The Psychic Treatment of Nervous Disorders." I would advise you to study this book from cover to cover, and then apply its teachings, supplemented and mellowed by your own individual judgment.

There are many specific methods of overcoming the chronically nervous troubles. Many physicians are particularly impressed with the benefits of the indoors gymnasium, swimming pool, horseback riding, walking, just ordinary play and exercise as might be indulged in with the children in a baseball game or old-fashioned "shinny" or "duck." A good romp out of doors is always beneficial. The real helpfulness of the play spirit can never be overestimated. The happier you can enter into every phase of your daily life the quicker you are advancing on the highway to relief from nervousness. Happiness cuts out lost motion. Did you ever watch a bunch of kittens play or a cat frolic about after its tail? There isn't a bit of unnecessary fuss made or any energy consumed unnecessarily. Every muscle movement is co-ordinated easily and naturally with the general movement of the cat or the kittens. They are playing without knowing or being bothered about any exercise idea. Mere mechanical exercise would be a bore to a cat or kitten. It isn't natural. Enjoy yourself, therefore.

ITCHING ECZEMA SOMETHING FIERCE

Covered Face. Ashamed to Go Away from Home. Broke Out as Rash. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Etna Green, Ind.—"When but a young girl my face broke out with eczema and kept getting worse. I was ashamed to go away from home. The trouble broke out as a rash and covered the most of my face, especially the chin and cheeks. The itching and burning were something fierce causing me to rub it which caused it to spread. When out in the wind the burning was worse than ever.

"I tried ——— and Ointment without the desired effect. I had suffered with it for several years until finally I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them for a month or more I could feel a great change in my face. I continued using Cuticura Soap and Ointment for a year and was entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Ruby Sponseller, June 13, 1913.

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores. Sold throughout the world. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

☞Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

SAGA OF NORWEGIAN-AMERICAN

Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota Contributes Eulogy of Pioneers of His Race to Book Going to Christiana Centennial as Part of Minnesota Exhibit Next May.

A book dealing with the activity of Norwegians in Minnesota will form part of the Minnesota exhibit at the Norwegian centennial to be held next May at Christiania, Norway, and it will deal with the relation of the people of that race to the growth of the state, politically, socially and commercially. Naturally one of the first asked to contribute to this book was Knute Nelson senior United States senator from Minnesota, and the leading member of the Norwegian race in this commonwealth, and perhaps the leading Norwegian of the United States. His article follows:

"For many years past the scholars of Norway have given considerable attention to the Viking expeditions of the ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth centuries, and have, through much research, secured and published a large amount of valuable and interesting data and information on the subject.

"These annals of the remote past describe most vividly the great valor and enterprise of our ancestors of those days. As conquering explorers and invaders they were unrivaled, but as permanent colonizers and settlers, except in the case of Iceland, they fell short, and were either expelled from, or absorbed and obliterated by the people of the lands they invaded. This was owing partly to the sea-roving spirit which possessed them, partly to the comparative paucity of their numbers, and to a large extent to the scant population of their native land which had few to spare for colonizing purposes. But, while they were unable to establish permanent colonies, they, nevertheless, left their impress upon the lands and the peoples where they settled, which has in a measure survived.

"While the descendants of Ganger Rolf and his follower soon became Frenchmen, yet they became Frenchmen of a superior and distinct type—with a dominating influence not only in France, but also in England, where their power was for centuries paramount.

Modern Vikings.

"While the scholars and historians of Norway have given much attention and study to these ancient vikings, they have given but scant attention to the vikings of the nineteenth century who have from time to time invaded and affected permanent settlements in the new world, and who have impressed themselves and their character more or less upon their new environment. Their saga, in its entirety, full scope and bearing, remains to be written by some future historian of the Norwegian people. Though much valuable data has already been contributed by Anderson, Heland, Flom and others, no history of these people will be complete without the saga of these vikings, in modern times designated by the plainer and less euphonious term of emigrants. Their struggles and their trials, on sea and land, has been no less adventuresome, no less strenuous and no less heroic than that of the ancient vikings, though less barbarous and more in harmony with the spirit of the age.

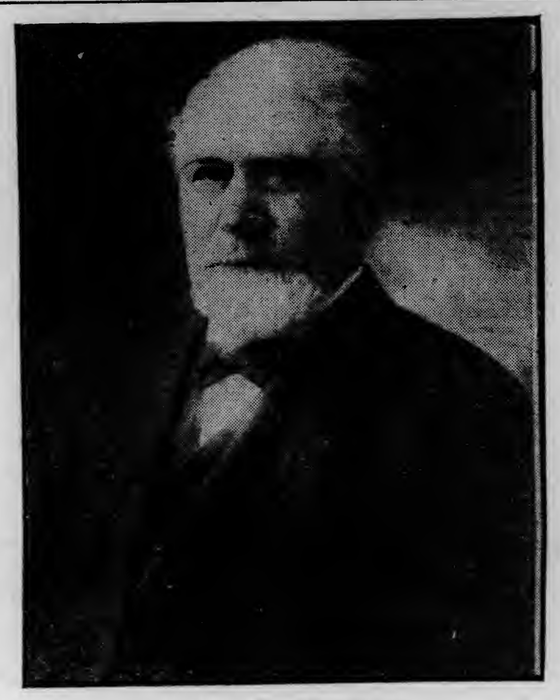

"Cleng Peersan may in a measure be regarded as the Ganger Rolf of the nineteenth century, at least to this extent, that he gave the first effective impetus to the beginning of the modern exodus. It was his inspiration that embarked those fifty-two hardy pilgrims on their tiny and ill-fitted craft on their venturesome voyage to the new world, eighty-nine years ago, and more than a thousand years after the days of Leif Erickson. Their voyage was most tedious, trying and perilous. Ignorant of the language and of the country, they were unfortunate in settling in a locality poorly adapted for their wants and for new homes. Death took a large toll among them and the residue soon sought more propitious homes in the fertile lands of the upper valley of the Mississippi river, where their descendants have become prominent in many useful callings. The original settlement at Kendall, N. Y., where these brave pioneers first located, has long ago ceased to be anything but a mere historical reminiscence, though most instructive in respect to the trials and fortitude of the settlers.

"Cleng Peersan was a restless, but most unselfish wanderer and explorer. He was not satisfied with the outlook in New York, but sought for the promised land in the far West. Eager but penniless he started afoot through the roadless wilderness, getting a bite to eat here and there wherever he could, and sleeping on the bare ground, under the open sky whenever he became exhausted and night overtook him. He finally, in 1833, after many weary weeks and months, footsore, tired and exhausted, found the promised land in La Salle county, Illinois, a veritable Paradise then and ever since. No better or lovlier spot for a settlement could have been found anywhere and this discovery of Peerson's turned thenceforth the tide of Norwegian immigration to the upper part of the great Mississippi valley—especially to the great states of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota. The Fox river settlement in La Salle county, Illinois, begun in 1834, may fairly be considered as the first permanent and the parent settlement of the Norwegians in the new world in the nineteenth century.

Their First Home.

"From this beginning sprang other settlements in Illinois and extensive settlements first in Wisconsin, then in Iowa, and finally in Minnesota, and afterwards, in subsequent years, extensive settlements in North and South Dakota.

"The early settlers labored under many drawbacks and endured much. They were chiefly of the peasant class—crossed the ocean in small and poorly equipped sailing vessels—landed with scant means and, in ignorance of the language and the country, trekked to the then far West on canal boats, on slow-going and poorly equipped steamboats, and then with slow-going ox teams and afoot to their places of destination. The journey itself was a great test of their courage and endurance. Some fell by the wayside but the great mass finally, after many trials, reached their new homes—but it was a wilderness of prairie and woodland, without roads, churches, schools, houses or other habitations. The settlers found themselves like so many Robison Crusoes in their new environment. They were well-nigh empty handed, and as such they had to make their first start. Huts of logs or earth for temporary dwellings, was the first consideration; then followed breaking, plowing, planting and fencing; then came the construction of roads, temporary school houses and churches. They wanted their children to have better school advantages than they themselves had enjoyed and the religion of their fathers was dear to them. They needed the solace of it as a comfort to them in the midst of their many trials. Not the least of their trials came from epidemics and from adverse and varied climatic conditions. Doctors and medicines were scarce, far off and hard to get. Many heroic men and women perished during these early years—died often times for want of proper care. While no fine tablets are erected over their graves, their memory is enshrouded in the hearts of the old settlers. They were the heroes who fell in the great campaign for the subjugation of the wilderness. When they fell the survivors, with tears in their eyes and pain in their hearts, closed up their ranks and bravely moved forward to ultimate success and victory. The viking spirit survived and overcame all obstacles. The viking became in time a model American citizen.

SENATOR KNUTE NELSON.

Where Many Perished.

"While the settlement at Kendall, N. Y., was in an unsuitable locality—the most unfortunate of all was the attempted Beaver Creek settlement south of Chicago, in the low, swampy and miasmatic prairies of those days. This settlement proved a veritable pest house and many brave and stout hearts perished there. Foremost among these was the student, Ole Rynning, the son of a Lutheran minister, and for some time a student at the University of Christiania. In some way things had gone amiss with him; the thread of his life in Norway had been broken and he joined the army of immigrants for the far West, helped and encouraged them in their many trials and sorrows and bore his full share of them while he lived. But his life was brief; within a year he succumbed to the deadly miasma of Beaver creek and passed away, a veritable martyr among the early settlers. It was while he was confined to a bed of sickness with frost-bitten feet that he composed a small booklet describing truly and justly the character and conditions of our Western country and the difficulties and advantages of immigration and settlement. There was nothing bombastic in the book. It was a plain, unvarnished narrative and indicated that he was a man of keen observation and sound judgment. The book had extensive circulation in Norway and was a great factor in promoting immigration. Rynning lies buried in an unknown grave near the place of his death, and there is no vestige of Norwegians in that neighborhood.

Do Them Honor.

"Our people—the descendants of the early settlers—ought to erect at some suitable place in the Fox river settlement in La Salle county, Ill., statues of Cleng Peerson and Ole Rynning to commemorate their services and heroism in the cause of immigration, for they are our real heroes and we have been their beneficiaries.

"Except in the cases of Kendall and Beaver Creek, the immigrants were fortunate in securing locations for their settlements. As a rule they selected the best of localities and the best of the lands in those localities. The older settlements bear witness to these facts. There are no better improved or better equipped farms, and no more propsperous farmers in this country than to be found in the old Norwegian settlements, and it is as farmers that our people have made the finest record in this country. The great mass of them have had the good sense to settle in the country and become farmers, instead of flocking to the cities and becoming mere laborers in the congested beehives of industry, as is the case with so many immigrants from Southern Europe. And this was especially and more universally the case with the immigrants who came here before the days of the Civil war. In those days immigration was mostly from the rural communities. In later years the towns and the cities have furnished a considerable complement to the volume of immigration, and these town-bred people have shown more of a disposition to settle in our cities than those coming from rural communities. But many of these town-bred people have been quite successful as mechanics, tradesmen and professional men in our cities and large industrial communities.

"Three quarters of a million have, from first to last, left the mother country for America. The survivors and their descendants in this country are today not less than one and a half million, perhaps two million. Through their churches, their schools, their periodicals and their newspapers, and through their energy, industry and their loyalty they have not been an insignificant factor in the development of this great country—and they have been no discredit to the mother country. Their saga is worthy of the study and attention of the true historian of the Norwegian people of the nineteenth century."

DOMINATED BY WITCH DOCTORS

Natives of Southern Nigeria Are Victims of Superstition.

London, March 14.—P. Amaury Talbot, of the Nigerian political service, who has traveled much through Africa studying the various tribes, says the Ibibios, natives of Southern Nigeria, who are of such a low type that they are called "mud-fish," rank among the most ancient of Southern Nigerian tribes, and speak different dialects of a very old and primitive tongue.

Witch doctors dominate the life of the race. As a protection against farm thefts, certain spells are recited over the long hoe used for breaking up the ground, and a "medicine" poured over it, after which it is given back to its owner to be hung up in some conspicuous place on the plantation. No sooner does the thief creep over the boundary than the magic hoe springs to his hand. Unconsciously his fingers clasp themselves around the haft. He is bent down by a power there is no resisting, and finds himself forced against his will to hoe and hoe.

Not for a moment can he pause, even to straighten his back, so long as a single weed remains on the farm, a single yam needs banking or a single clod would be the better of breaking. So long must the evil-doer continue to work for the man he had intended to rob. Only when the owner arrives on the scene, should he so wish, can the magic hoe be released from the hand of the thief. It is not said whether the magic has ever worked.

Quaint burial customs prevail. Slaves are frequently sacrificed at the death of a chief and buried with him. Until prohibited by the government, chiefs were buried in their houses with strange ritual and sacrifice. A burial chamber was prepared underneath one of the rooms, and in this the chief's body was placed. His best loved wife and two of the most beautiful of his slaves entered the room and seated themselves at a table opposite their lord. After some ceremonial, all but the women withdrew, the chamber was sealed up, and the unfortunate women were left to a lingering death.

HAMPTON COURT'S DISADVANTAGES

Tenants of Apartments Granted By King Must Pay High Taxes.

London, March 14.—Mrs. Scott, mother of Capt. Scott, who lost his life in returning from the South Pole, has been offered one of the apartments in Hampton court palace. These are at the disposal of the king, who usually grants them to widows of men who have distinguished themselves in national service. Although the apartments are finely appointed, they are not always a delight to those to whom the king offers them rent free. It is customary for the tenants to pay the rates and taxes, which amount to something like $300 a year. For this price a fairly good cottage can be obtained in the vicinity. Hampton court has its disadvantages, among them gossip and misunderstandings, as the life is somewhat like that of a community. Many of the apartments also are very high up and have no elevators. This inconvenience is not altogether met by a basket on the end of a string let down to the postman or tradesman. On the other hand, the rooms are very beautiful and the tenants have the use of the gardens in the early morning before the crowds of visitors arrive.

CASTING THE EDITORIAL FLY INTO A POND OF SPORT CHAT

Reviewing the Events of the Past and Conjecturing Upon the Events of the Future---A Week-End Resume of the Various Sides of the Passing Sport Show.

BY BRUCE.

SECRETARY JOHN E. MacGREGOR of the curling club announced yesterday that efforts to persuade the winner of the series of hockey games for the championship of the United States to meet the Duluth Curling Club team, have proved futile. Unless the Monarchs can be persuaded to come here for a game, it does not look at the present time as if there will be any more large contests during the season.

The time is propitious, therefore, for throwing enconiums.

During the season that is waning we have had some of the best hockey games in the country—maybe one of the best in the final contest with the Vics of Winnipeg. For the delectable menu of sport service the officials of the club are surely deserving of the gratitude of the fans of this city.

A stupendous task was undertaken in the construction of the curling club building. This was the first glowing contribution to the sport program of the town. For years the cry has gone forth that an enclosed rink and big hockey were the crying need of the town. It was the curling officials and the members of the club closely allied with these officials who have made this long talked-of project possible.

And along with the most magnificent home of curling in the world we have practically completed a great hockey season, from the standpoint of sport and are nearly at the end of the most successful curling season in the history of the club.

While the curling club has not made any money out of the best hockey this town has ever had, the fact remains that from the standpoint of sport there is the ample satisfaction that comes from giving the very best.

Some of the followers of the game complained over the team at the start of the season. The team came along and developed into one of the best sevens in the country. There has been nothing to complain over—there have been a multitude of details to be devoutly thankful for. It is no weak-shouldered proposition, this meeting of the financial problems that travel with the construction and maintenance of a club of such magnitude. The club officials are meeting these financial problems and at the same time giving Duluth the best brand of winter sport in its history—therefore we say THANK YOU.

Lo the Lowly Feds.

JOE FAVERSHAM TINKER'S tinkered team is at the present writing basking in the sunlight of Shreveport, La., which be, brother, down in the sand district. And Duluthians, lend us your ears: Jawn Kading is one of the candidates trying out for first base. We hope the folks down Ean Claire way read this. Charley Weeghman, one of the owners of the Chicago Federal team, you remember, looked over the athletes the other day and then casually remarked that he would like to have another star in the outfield.

Of course it is all right to casually remark something like that. But the next casual remark was that he guessed he would try to get Ty Cobb to take an outfield post with his team. We ask you, earnestly and with tears in our eyes: "Can you imagine Jawn Kading and Ty Cobb on the same team?"

Listen, if Jawn was on third and Ty should hit a home run inside the grounds he would spike Jawn in the back calves at the plate.

But the nerve of Weeghman. That's what is so maddening to the other leagues—the real leagues if you insist. Imagine casually remarking about securing the services of Ty Cobb! The Federal people are dangerously difficult to comprehend.

The Death of Naughton.

THE pallid hand of death touched "Uncle Bill" Naughton and perhaps the most widely read sporting writer in the United States has joined the silent majority. Huge of body, big of brain and clean of mind was the dean of the sporting writers of the land. His pen was an alluring one, instructive, able and interesting. Tales he told of the ring, so ingenious that they seemed like fables from a land of mystery. Naughton made the reading public acquainted with the human and intimate side of the boxer. He wrote so entertainingly of ring affairs that thousands read his stories.

W. W. Naughton was a graduate of the Auckland, New Zealand, college and came to San Francisco at an early date. Like Bret Harte, William Dean Howells and others he learned the rudiments of his craft from the case.

From a general writer on one of the San Francisco papers Naughton specialized in sports and became the universal authority on pugilism. Bill was dean of the press gang at all of the big fights of the country. No battle seemed complete without Naughton. Yesterday he sat among us, making brighter by his presence a world that is surged with sorrow; today he is gone stealing through the shadows of the other world, mourned by friends who reverence his memory.

The Ball Players' Friend.

SCANNING an exchange while waiting for three done in the dark, we noticed where some player in the clutches of the organized branch of the game vigorously cussed the pernicious activities of the Federal league. All of this impells us to inquire mentally as to the umbrage of the hero of the diamond.

Tris Speaker would not be signed for a salary that is variously estimated from $12,000 to $18,600 were it not for the Federal league. Large Ed Sweeney of the Yankees would not be identified with a contract that calls for one of the largest salaries received by any catcher in the business, were it not that the Federal officials were coaxing Edward.

Before the close of last season, if we remember correctly, there was some desultory talk regarding the more or less blase spirit of Sam Crawford upon the baseball field. We hasten to add upon the ball field, as Crawford was a barber before he took upon himself the practice of busting three base hits when the bases are filled. You might notice that the officials of the Detroit club had envoys, envious envoys, one might say, at the dock to sign Samuel to a nice and fat contract. Credit the Federal league with an assist on this play.

No, Muriel Morton, we fail to see why any baseball player in the world, lest he be old and blind and is sore at the Feds for not starting their campaign back a couple of decades, should shout forth a grievance against the new league. It has increased the salaries for the time being at least and made ball playing almost as lucrative as the plumbing and meat business.

It Was an Oversight.

SOMEONE writes in to us asking that we express his thanks to the butcher who gave him an extra chop. Anyone receiving an extra chop should be perfectly willing to pay for a want ad and advertise the fact. Don't be cheap.

What's Ailing the Kid.

FRIENDS of Kid Paul are genuinely alarmed. They believe that something has happened to the boxer. He has not issued a challenge for the last six months and this has led to the belief that he has disappeared.

A Real Estate Venture.

IF the number of leagues continue to increase there will be a real estate boom in the southland. Most every prominent limb-warming spot on the map has been seized and reconstructed by the hordes of invading baseball players. If some of the rich brewers become peeved at some of the rich bakers and start a new league, the price of land is due for an increase.

UNIVERSALS TAKE SEASON'S HONORS

The basketball championship in the Commercial league was cinched last night by the Duluth Universals when they defeated the Big Duluth quintet by a score of 45 to 24 at the Y. M. C. A. Williamson and Boerner starred for the flour quint. Boerner dropped in ten baskets. Lyford starred for the losing team by putting up a sterling article of ball.

In the game between the Glass Block quint and the Kelley Hardware the former defeated the latter by a score of 37 to 10. P. Moore and Brood of the Glass Block played in rare form. Following are the lineups:

Duluth Universals—		Big Duluth—
Boerner	f	Lyford
Cole-Johnston	f	Reefus
Bishopp	c	Fredrickson
Williamson	g	Kerns
Smith	g	Richardson
Kelly Hardware—		Glass Block—

FINAL SCORE IS DISPUTED

Winner of Duluth-Hibbing Basket Ball Game Is Undecided.

The basket ball contest between the Duluth Central high school and the Hibbing high school quint at the Washington gymnasium last night ended in dispute.

The game was hotly contested throughout and when the final gong sounded the Hibbing scorer had the score 29 all while the Duluth scorer had the score, Duluth 30, and Hibbing 29. Duluth had the backing of a large number of spectators while on the other hand several other spectators had kept the score and supported Hibbing's claim. The result will probably remain undecided.

During the first half Duluth had the better of the play, which ended 15 to 12 in favor of the Zenith City boys. O'Brien at center and Matt Brown at guard starred for the locals. Israel Sher, manager of the Hibbing team, said that he regretted the dispute, but as several Duluth men upheld the Hibbing claim, he thought their scorer should receive consideration.

Yale Defeats Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., March 14.—Yale defeated Princeton in their annual dual gymnastic meet last night by the score of 30 to 24.

REMINISCENT GOSSIP OF NEW ORLEANS RING DAYS

Many Fight Followers Doubted If Corbett Would Dare to Enter the Ring With John L. Sullivan---Dixon's Fight With Skelly.

New Orleans, March 14.—Until the Nelson-Gans fight at Goldfield and the Jeffries-—ohnson fight at Reno, no other event in ring history had been ranked with the importance of the Corbett-Sullivan fight at the Olympic club in this city. So great was that battle in all the things that go to make a fight great, and so startling was the result that few persons now recall that it was but one of a series of fights held at the Olympic club on three consecutive nights.

The Olympic carnival of Sept. 5, 6 and 7, 1892, stands to this day as the biggest pugilistic enterprise on record, and in many ways the most successful. Three titles were fought for. Larger purses than were known up to that time were given. With the exception of the Jeffries-Johnson fight, more persons traveled more miles to see a fight at that time than ever before or since.

Here are the facts that show the magnitude of the Olympic's three-night carnival of boxing:

The spectators paid $103,000 at the gate.

The club paid purses of $42,500.

The club profited over $42,000.

The fighters put up $20,000 in side bets.

Nearly half a million dollars were wagered in New Orleans alone, and much more bet on three fights within such a short space of time than has ever been known.

The first fight was that between Jack McAuliffe and Billy Myer, the best lightweights of the day. They fought for the lightweight championship, and set 138 pounds as their fighting weight, or rather McAuliffe did, for he was champion and then, as Willie Ritchie recently did, the champion moved the fighting notch almost to suit himself. In this case McAuliffe could have made the generally accepted limit of 133 pounds, but he wouldn't. Jack's habits were such that training was distasteful, and, in fact, he had before that conceded the championship to Jimmy Carroll just before beating Carroll, because he was tired of getting down to weight. McAuliffe won from Myer and settled a long standing grudge between them.

The second fight was between George Dixon, the great little negro featherweight champion, and Jack Skelly, who is now sporting writer at Yonkers, N. Y. Dixon won.

The carnival wound up with the big event of that decade—the Sullivan-Corbett fight.

After Fitz Won.

The determination of the Olympic officials to stage a big carnival, at which all of the championships were to be fought for, was arrived at the day after Fitzsimmons defeated Maher. Charley Mitchell and Frank Slavin, with their challenges, and James J. Corbett, with his more modest declaration that he didn't want to presume so much as to challenge a fellow American who held the title, but wished that Sullivan would challenge him, had about run John L. Sullivan to cover. Myer, having defeated Carroll and drawn with Bowen, was demanding another match with McAuliffe, with whom he had drawn in sixty-four rounds. Jim Hall had come over from Australia with the boast that he had defeated Fitzsimmons. William H. Reynolds of Brooklyn had offered to bet $5,000 that Skelly, the amateur, could defeat Dixon.

So there were four matches that would surely attract the attention of the entire world. Charlie Noel, president; W. D. Ross, secretary, and Frank Williams, matchmaker, started to work.

But no sooner had the details of how Fitzsimmons had licked Maher been read all over the country than the many challengers of Fitz found engagements in others parts of the world. Hall, who, it had developed, had beaten Fitz in Australia by "prearrangement," was willing, but he had an engagement to tour Europe. Ted Pritchard was willing, but he had made a match with O'Brien. When the latter was taken sick, offers to those two were renewed, but by this time Hall and Pritchard had rushed into a match with each other. O'Brien was finally signed to meet Fitz, but he took sick again. So the Fitzsimmons fight was called off. He later met Hall in New Orleans and won with ease.

For a long time after the match was made there was much doubt about Jim Corbett ever daring to crawl into a ring with the mighty John L. But after $2,500 was posted by each side with a New York sporting editor and the fighters started training, the carnival began to assume the shape of a reality, and all through that summer newspapers all over the world were full of it. Many newspapers used more actual type to tell about the training of the two gladiators than they did prior to the Reno affair, though fewer photographs and illustrations, for newspaper photography and engraving were not near then what they are now.

The crowds started coming to New Orleans from all directions several weeks before the fights were to take place. Most of the big betters from the East were early arrivals, and the betting began earnestly many days before the fighters reached the end of their training. The ponies were almost forgotten in the poolrooms at times, so intense was the interest in the approaching battles.

An illustration of how keen the betting was on the McAuliffe-Myer fight can be seen in the fact that a big pool of McAuliffe supporters put $10,000 together to bet on Myer in order to create odds on McAuliffe's opponent. New Orleans and Chicago betters were already strong for Myer, and when $10,000 more Myer money became visible the New Orleansians and Chicagoans began to fear that there wouldn't be enough McAuliffe money on hand. Myer was made favorite at 4 to 5, and then the Easterners came with loads of McAuliffe money, and soon the Myer people let up offering odds. This was but a signal for the McAuliffe men to "lay off" again. In a day or so Myer was favorite once more, and so he continued to be, although the Easterners got down all their coin.

Dixon Was Favorite.

Dixon was the betting favorite in his fight with Skelly, and Dixon money went begging at 3 to 10. This match was a mistake all around. It not only sent against Dixon a man who was in no way equipped to fight him, but it brought together a white man and a negro and kindled the fires of the opposition that eventually put the Olympic out of business. Although nothing was done to destroy the carnival, the Olympic was warned by the newspapers after it was all over that another match of this sort would surely crystallize all the sentiment against fighting.

Sullivan was, of course, favorite over Corbett at 2 to 5, and while there was much more Sullivan money at all times there was really more Corbett money than the most expert gamblers expected. Corbett didn't go into the fight entirely without supporters. Hundreds were with him, and a few men, who were considered the best of judges, conceded him a good chance to whip Sullivan.

The night before the Corbett-Sullivan fight the poolrooms reported that they had taken in $100,000. They were then offering 25 to 100 on Sullivan and 3 to 1 on Corbett.

Probably the luckiest better of all was George Clark, the noted Chicago gambler. Clark, who was one of Fitzsimmons' backers, had won a great deal of money on Fitz in his fights with Jack Dempsey and Peter Maher. When Myer and McAuliffe were matched he picked Myer and put up $1,000 of Myer's stake, besides laying a small bet of $300 against $2,000 on the combination, McAuliffe-Dixon-Sullivan. The night before Myer was to fight Clark went to him and asked him what he weighed. Myer told him he was deaf. Clark repeated the question. Myer told him he was dumb, feeling the insult keenly, Clark withdrew the $1,000 he had in Myer's stake and bet most of it on McAuliffe, winning $800 instead of losing $1,000. He then hedged on his combination bet by laying heavily on Dixon and Corbett.

Billy Reynolds, Skelly's backer, started in to win a fortune, but got no further than the second fight. He won $4,200 on McAuliffe, and the next night dropped $12,000 on his Brooklyn protege.

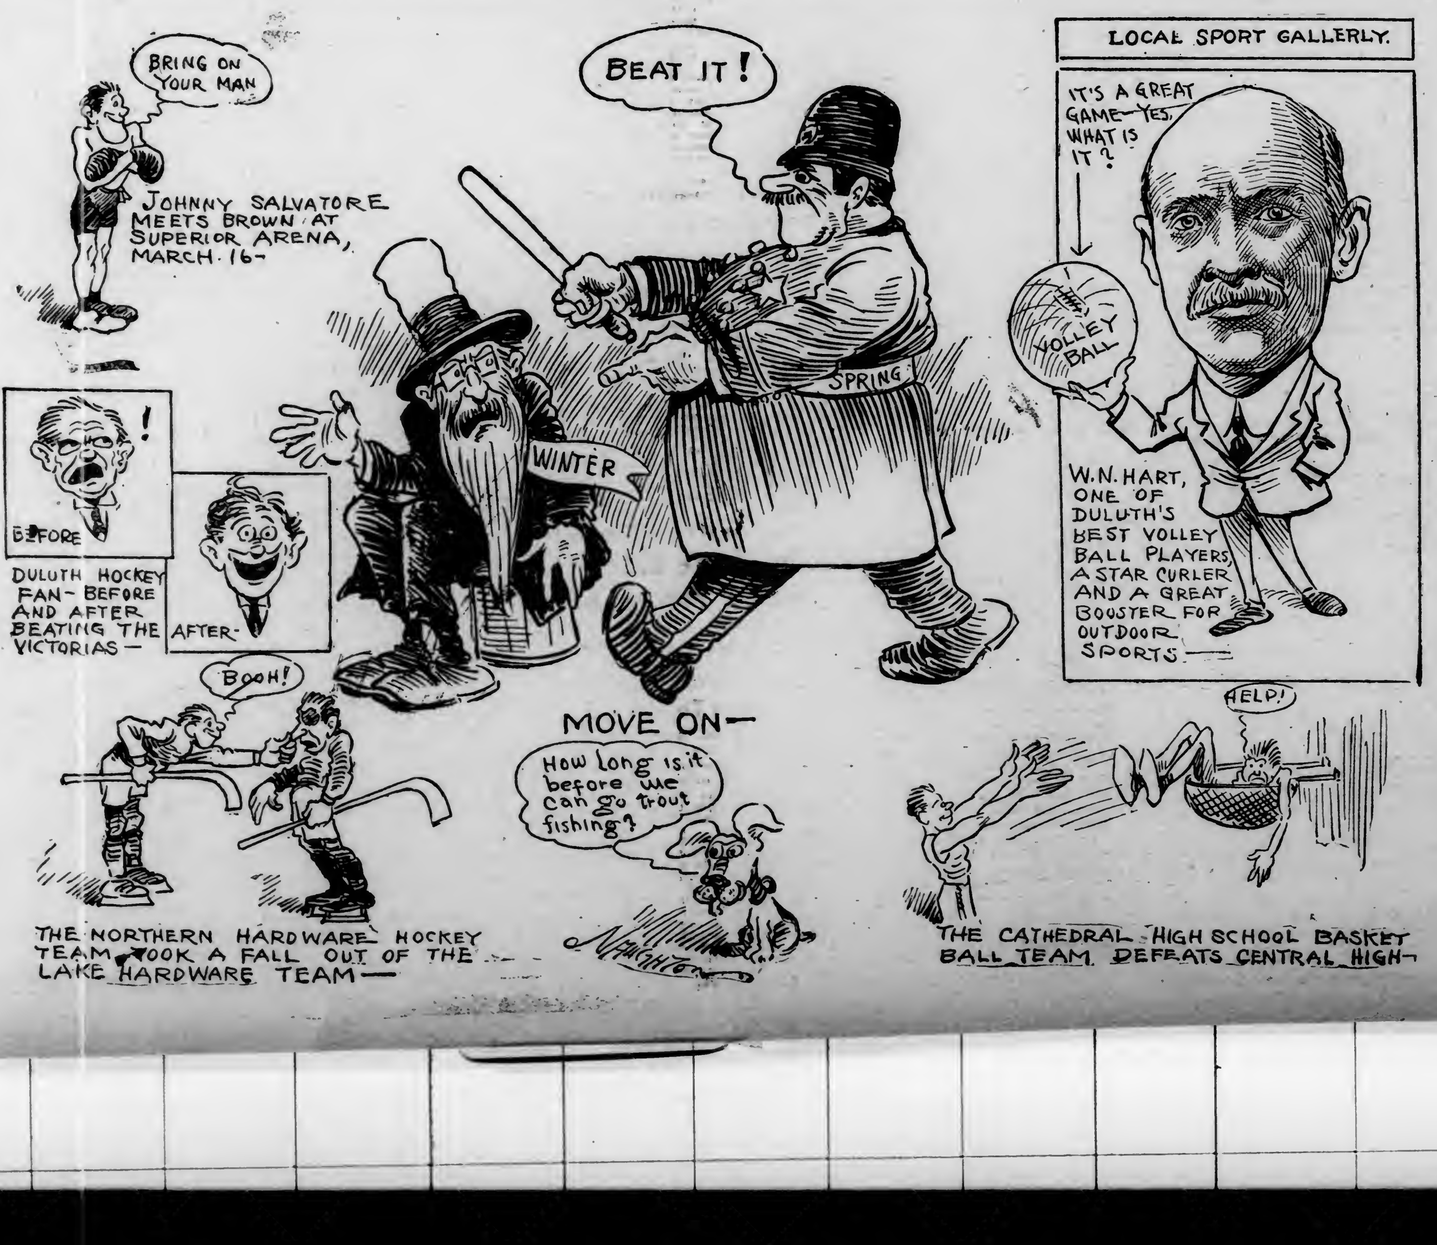

PEORIA GETS IT.

American Bowling Congress Goes There Next Year.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 14.—At the meeting of the American Bowling congress here yesterday, it was voted to hold the tournament at Peoria, Ill., next year. The ticket nominated by the executive committee was elected without dissent. The new officers are:

President, Edward J. Ryan, Detroit; first vice president, Robert W. Brown, Louisville; second vice president, William Agnew, Cleveland; third vice president, John T. Smith, Buffalo; treasurer, Frank L. Pasdeloup, Chicago; secretary, A. L. Langtry, Milwaukee.

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK AS SEEN BY THE HERALD CARTOONIST

STANLEY KETCHEL WAS A GREAT FIGHT CARD

If Michigan Assassin Had Lived He Would Have Made Fortune.

Gun Plays Were Means of Amusement to the Cowboy Fighter.

New York, March 14.—Just now in fistiana no name is mentioned oftener perhaps than that of the great fighting Pole, Stanley Ketchel. Every time a fight crowd sees two lumbering heavyweights—to say nothing of the near heavies—blustering and slopping about a ring, from every lip comes the sigh, "Poor 'Steve' Ketchel—what he would have done to this beef brigade!"

Had Ketchel lived until now, writes "gloe," he would have been a greater sensational than when he was fighting under the title "The Michigan Assassin," a fighting name, by the way, bestowed on him by the writer and which stuck to him until his untimely end. He died just when boxing began to boom, particularly in New York, where Ketchel would have broken all records as a fistic money-maker. Just at the time of his taking off an entirely new crop of middle and heavy weights bobbed up. Looking down the long list there doesn't appear a single man who could have successfully fought off the dashing Michigander.

About six months after Ketchel's defeat by Jack Johnson, the writer assumed the management of Ketchel's affairs. Close association with him proved highly exciting at times, especially so when Ketchel in boyish fun would play "Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief," on the buttons of one's waistcoat with a long blue revolver that at times grew in one's eyes to the proportions of a field piece!

Ketchel had his good points as well as his bad. Not that Ketchel was vicious or cruel. He had a wonderful personality and a great heart, but with all that was just a plain cave man in many respects. He would take sudden dislikes to persons when least expected and the only thing left to do would be to plant them in different counties. Big and strong and certainly able to protect himself from the assault of any man living, Ketchel had the old western notion that all "affairs" were considered settled only after the smoke of a six-shooter had cleared away. It was a matter of fact, it was principally because Ketchel reached for his six-shooter that his slayer was forced to shoot him through the back on Col. Dickerson's ranch in Missouri.

Experience of Wheeling.

Perhaps the most uncomfortable half hour I ever put in with Ketchel was in Wheeling, W. Va. It was the day after the Klaus-Ketchel fight in Pittsburg. We had gone there to show at a local theater for a week. On arriving we went into the hotel for lunch. It happened that the waiters were all colored fellows.

The buffeting he had received from Jack Johnson was still fresh in Ketchel's mind. Here was "a quiet little out-of-the-way place," as Ketchel put it. "And a good chance to cut down the colored population just a trifle." And with that Ketchel pulled out of his trouser leg the inevitable revolver, looking colder and bluer and longer than ever. For fully thirty minutes he begged the privilege of killing four of the most formidable looking of the waiters. Not a mouthful did he eat. He sat there figuring on a "combination shot" and a "quick get away."

It was only after promising him that I would come back again that night and allow him to snuff out the lives of two of them at least that we completed our meal. By that time every waiter in the place knew that Stanley Ketchel was in the room and that he was on the point of shooting up the place. Never in this world did colored waiters move about over a dining room floor quicker than those fellows did when they caught sight of the gun in Steve's lap and the wicked light in his strange eyes, the eyes that never flinched when a battle was on.

His Hardest Fight.

I asked Ketchel once what he considered his hardest fight.

"The one I had with that big Swede in the streets of Grand Rapids," he answered. "This Swede had been bullying the whole town. Everybody was afraid of him. We met. I was something of a champ among the biggest boys even then. The Swede said something and I answered him. We got to work right off the reel. They talk about that fight yet. We fought for an hour. No one wanted to stop it while there was a chance to whip the town bully.

"Well, when they led me home with both my eyes closed I left the bully on his back in the gutter. When I got home my mother backed me up against the barn and turned the hose on me to wash off the blood and mud. She didn't recognize me even then until I made motions with my hands.

My lips were too puffed to speak. When the bully got out of bed a week later he was entirely cured of his rough habits."

Ketchel was very religious. He took a great deal of pride in a library he was supplying the Notre Dame convent in Grand Rapids. As a boy he attended the Sisters' school for a while. Any time after he became famous that he returned home, there was a celebration at the school. A big chair would be drawn up in the center of the room and all the children would sit around Ketchel and feed him cake, and in return Ketchel would give an account of his travels in the big outside world. When his body was taken home to Grand Rapids for its final rest, these same school children led the funeral cortege through the streets, strewing poor Steve's last path with roses.

In the hem at the bottom of Ketchel's fighting trunks he had sewed in many little religious medals that different people had given him. Ketchel guarded those trunks always with a fierce earnestness. It broke his heart when he took his famous green silk trunks out of his grip long after the fatal fight in Los Angeles with Papke and they crumpled to dust in his hands. "Papke had set me down so often that they were full of resin and they were put away that way and wet and they rotted," said Ketchel. "So my mother made me a new pair and the medals were all sewed in those."

Pranks at Butte.

Ketchel used to tell of his pranks around Butte with a great deal of glee.

"There was a fellow who came there once and offered to knock out all comers in four rounds," he said. "He hunted me out by chance and I was hired to stand behind a drop curtain on the stage of the town, and this was my job: My employer handed me a big gas pipe wrapped in cloth. 'Now in the third round I'll back them up against the drop curtain and when I let fly a right, you let fly the gas pipe,' he ordered. Well, for two weeks I knocked most of Butte's favorite citizens dead every time the 'professor' backed them against the curtain.

"But one night I scrambled the eggs. One big miner was giving him fits and it was the 'professor' who was always being backed into the drop. I waited patiently for the tide to switch, but the miner couldn't be headed. When he finally backed the 'professor' into the drop again, I couldn't resist the temptation to give him a dose of his own medicine. I brought my right down with all my force. It took them four hours to fan the 'professor' back into the land of the living."

Ketchel was very superstitious in the ring. He would never start to fight before he had shaken hands all around with every trainer and bottle holder. On the night he knocked out Jack O'Brien in Philadelphia, just as the gong rang for the first round, Ketchel suddenly remembered that he hadn't shaken the hand of "Pete," his Goat," a camp mascot. "Where's Pete?" yelled Ketchel over the ropes. "Here I am," came a voice from the rear of the building. By this time O'Brien had walked clear across the ring and stood in a fighting position right back of Ketchel.

Stanley turned and saw O'Brien. He started to fiddle at O'Brien with his left hand, all the time looking over his shoulder for "Pete, the Goat." Finally Ketchel saw Pete worming his way down the aisle to the ring. When he got to the corner Pete reached up with outstretched hand. Ketchel saw it, jabbed at O'Brien with his left and then reached back and clutched Pete's hand. Then he turned with an air of utter satisfaction and knocked O'Brien out in a round.

Ketchel had an idea that he was as clever as any fighter living. He always stormed about it. "They say that when a fellow just missed knocking me out by half an inch that I'm lucky," he said.

"Those fellows never give me credit for cleverness. If I pull my head away half an inch they say I'm lucky and the other fellow is unlucky."

"You never saw me miss a fellow so often with my left hand, did you?" asked O'Brien. "Well, I did miss. Ketchel has a tricky way of avoiding your punches. When he seems to be rolling about and on the point of going down with your next punch he is in reality making a fool out of you. Don't let them tell you that Ketchel isn't clever. It may look to be awkwardness, but it is undoubted cleverness."

One night at dinner Ketchel and a number of us were sitting around a big table on which rested a glass tank filled with queer fish and tadpoles. Langdon Smith's "Evolution" came up in the talk and some one dug it out and read it. When they explained to Ketchel that one idea of life is that we all evolved from tadpoles, those same pollywogs became a source of intense interest to Ketchel. Later that night I found him lying flat on his stomach on the floor with the fish tank before him, gazing intently on the tadpoles. It was some moments before he noticed my presence. Then he turned and looked up at me. "John," he said, "Did we really come from one of these things?"

"Yes," I answered. "That's the theory."

"And do we go back into one?"

"That's what they say," I answered.

"Gee, ain't that hell?" snapped Ketchel, and he resumed his gaze on the tadpoles. Ketchel got a copy of "Evolution" and we often found him off in the woods around camp, struggling with the big words and the big thought in Smith's masterpiece.

"The Ballad of Reading Gaol" was another favorite of Ketchel's.

Had Lucky Bracelet.

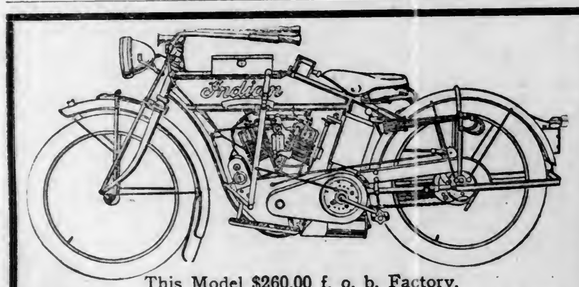

Bob Davis, the Munsey editor, was a great crony of Ketchel's. Bob was presented with a wristband that was simply a thick hair, supposed to have been taken from the tail of a sacred elephant in India. A tiny gold clasp held it securely around one's wrist. A charm was supposed to settle on any one who wore it. Davis presented the little bracelet to Ketchel and he wore it around his wrist under his glove the night he fought Langord in Philadelphia. Ketchel won that night and you couldn't convince him that it wasn't because of the bracelet.

"When I picked him up in my arms, his last words were, 'I'll be all right, Colonel—I've got my lucky little bracelet on. Take me home to mother,'" said Col. Dickerson in telling me of Ketchel's end. "He firmly believed that the little hair bracelet would keep him from any harm. We never really found out all that led to Stanley's sad end. I loved the boy so much that when I heard of his being shot I chartered a train and rushed nurses and doctors to where he lay mortally wounded on my ranch. I was in another town when I heard of it. After the shooting the camp was so panic-stricken that it was hours before even a start was made to aid Ketchel. The pole, one from a .22 rifle, had penetrated the lung through his back and he died finally of an internal hemorrhage.

"When I got to the ranch, Stanley was laid out on the same rough farm table at which he had been seated when his slayer appeared in the doorway. Ketchel's first words were, 'They tried to get my roll, Colonel.' He did have a lot of money on him and when they caught the man who slew him, they found Ketchel's money on him.

"I offered a reward for the slayer's body. When the posse started out to hunt the man down, I called them together and said: 'Gentlemen, the reward will be paid when you bring in the man's dead body.'

"I didn't want to take any chance of Stanley's death going unavenged. Well, two farmers captured the man and turned him over to the posse. I refused to pay the reward and we had a lawsuit. The man was tried, with his wife as an accomplice. Both were given life. A new trial was given them and the woman was let go. The man got a second sentence and is now serving out his sentence of life imprisonment."

CROOKSTON CLAIMS A HOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP

THE CROOKSTON TEAM.

Crookston, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Crookston hockey team won the championship of Northwestern Minnesota and North Dakota by defeating Grand Forks two out of the three games of the series; the game lost to the Forks being the only one lost this season. The Crookston team played a score of minor games, winning them all, and in the championship series won five out of the six games played. Crookston defeated the following teams by the scores given below: Grand Forks, 3-0 and 4-2; Hallock, 5-1; Kemidji, 5-1; Hannah, N. D., 1-0.

In the game which Grand Forks won from Crookston, at the end of the two 25-minute halves the score was tied, 1-1, but during the ten minutes extra play Grand Forks made two more scores, making final score 3 to 1 in favor of the Forks. To cinch the championship tighter the Hannah team had defeated Grand Forks, Crookston then defeating the Hannah team, 1 to 0.

The Crookston team has held the championship for three years. Three years ago, their first season organized, out of thirteen games played in the championship series, Crookston won eleven.

Next year the Crookston team plan a month's tour of Minnesota and North Dakota, following which they will play a series of games in Winnipeg.

WRESTLER HURT IN BOUT AT GRAND FORKS.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—After he had been injured when he fell from the mat, Al Francis of St. Paul forfeited his wrestling bout with Loren Curtis of Red Lake Falls, Minn., the mill being one of the fastest and most grueling ever staged on a local mat. His injury made it necessary for Francis to cancel a bout scheduled in St. Paul for tonight.

Curtis gained the first fall on Francis in an hour and fifteen minutes. It was while Curtis was working for the second fall, and just after Francis had broken from a hard hold, that he was rushed by Curtis and thrown to the floor. A cartilage of a rib was dislocated as a result, according to the physician attending him.

COACH COOKE HAS HOPES FOR 1914-5

Will Have Veterans in University Basket Ball Team Then.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the close of the basket ball season the standing of the Minnesota university quint is .333. The team has won four games and lost eight during the season, thus leaving them in sixth position in the conference.

In spite of the hard luck in which his teams have played for the past two seasons, Dr. Cooke is still hoping that next year will see the University of Minnesota represented by a basket ball team of more than mediocre ability. Nine of this year's varsity players will be eligible next year for intercollegiate competition unless they run afoul of some professor. Stadsvold has still another year of competition, as have Gilliman and Croswell, while Pynn, Lewis, Petraborg, Mc-Geary and Bierman can play two years more on the 'varsity team. In addition to these men, Dr. Cooke will have some promising material available from this year's freshman squad.

This afternoon the annual freshman-sophomore track meet takes place at 3 o'clock. From the interest the underclass athletes are taking in the meet, it is evident that there will be some red hot competition. Fred Watson will captain the sophomores, while L. R. Howell and W. E. Hamilton will divide the honor of freshman captain between them.

In the first practice meet of the track season, Coach Frank was highly pleased with the results of the team, which was for the most part new to the game. Of the fifteen men who made the trip to Faribault many were green, and save for Capt. Spink and Lindenberg were making their first appearance. Although the Minnesota team was defeated by Shattuck, when viewed in this light, the results are encouraging. The trip was marred by the accident incurred by Capt. Spink, who after easily taking first place in the short dash, fell and hurt his ankle in the 220-yard dash. The meet showed up a number of promising candidates. The showing of Al Bierman in the broad and high jumps, where he got first and second respectively, came as a great surprise, as did the placing of St. Marie in the mile, for the team went to Shattuck without much preparation in the weights, jumps or in the mile.

LAPORTE WILL BE GOOD.

Hold-Out of Kaws Promises to Sign Up for Present Year.

Chicago, March 14.—Frank Laporte, reputed to have jumped to the Federals, has agreed to terms offered by the Kansas City association club last fall, and promised to join the club March 15, according to George Tebeau, Kansas City owner, who is in Chicago to attend the schedule meeting of the American association.

When the deal was made by which Laporte was transferred from Washington to Kansas City, the negotiations between organized baseball and the players' fraternity were in progress and Laporte refused to sign unless an agreement betwen players and owners was reached. However, he agreed to sign and declared the salary offered him by Tebeau satisfactory.

The association's schedule, though it will not be formally presented to the league magnates until today, will be so drawn up, it is understood, that it will keep the new Cleveland association team off its home grounds until the Cleveland Americans have had time to open the season.

M. E. Cantillon of Minneapolis, with Tebeau, drew up the chart and went over it last night with President Chivington.

Other association leaders who reported for the meeting were J. C. McGill and W. C. Smith of Indianapolis, and Thomas A. Baker of Louisville.

GETS INTO SEMI-FINALS.

Beaumont of Chicago Scores in Roller Skating Tournament.

Detroit, Mich., March 14.—By winning the semi-final heat in last night's amateur roller skating championships, Howarth Beaumont of Chicago earned the right to a place in the grand final next Wednesday. Beaumont showed great speed and had no trouble in defeating his opponents. The time of the semi-final was 3:11 4-5.

Roland Cloni, the Italian professional champion, in an attempt to lower the record for a quarter of a mile, covered the distance in 45 3-5 seconds, or 4 1-5 seconds slower than the present mark.

In the first lap of the second heat Wythe of Buffalo fell and four of the five men following tumbled over him. No one was injured, but the mishap gave Eglington, the Englishman, who was leading at the time, an easy victory.

ARTIFICIAL ICE RINK PLANNED

Agitation to Build One at Princeton Revived—Six-Man College Hockey Teams Proposed—All-Collegiate Water Polo Teams Selected.

New York, March 14.—The brilliant record of the Princeton hockey team during the season just completed has led to an agitation for the building of an artificial ice rink at Princeton next winter. The idea found favor with both undergraduates and alumni two years ago but beyond securing estimates for a rink and freezing plant nothing was done. The Prince Alumni Weekly, in discussing the revived project, state editorially:

"You can't play hockey without ice, and while Lake Carnegie usually freezes over three or four times during the winter, the ice ordinarily does not remain long enough to afford regular practice. In this sport we are at an obvious disadvantage in the competitions with our chief opponents in the farther north latitudes of New England. In the absence of ice at Princeton, to get their practice our hockey players are obliged to go to the rink in New York, but they can do this only two or three times a week, and that at the latter end of the season. Under these circumstances it is extremely difficult to develop players, and particularly team play. There are other serious objections to New York as the scene of our participation in this branch of sport. All the arguments for playing college games on college ground hold with peculiar force in this game. Hockey is too well established as an excellent college game to be abandoned, but if it is to be continued at Princeton, we must have our own rink. Yale has a rink in New Haven and Harvard has one in Boston. With a rink at Princeton, home-and-home games could be arranged as in the case of baseball and football."

The record of the Princeton seven in winning the intercollegiate championship under these adverse training conditions was an exceedingly meritorious performance. Aside from the Harvard team none of the Eastern college sevens were able to check the fast and clever individual and team play of the Tigers. In all thirteen games were played, and of these but three were lost. Harvard won one of the three contests scheduled and Ottawa college won both games against Princeton, but only after exceedingly close and extra period struggles. That the Tigers should force the Canadian collegians to the limit to win is the best evidence of the caliber of the Princeton seven of 1913-14.

The season's record including both the intercollegiate and exhibition games follows: Princeton 8, St. Paul's school, 3; Princeton, 5, Toronto 2; Cornell 1; Princeton 2; Dartmouth 0; Princeton 5, Army 0; Princeton 1, Harvard 2; Princeton 5, Yale 3; Princeton 3, Yale 1; Princeton 4, Harvard 2; Princeton 4, Harvard 1; Princeton 2, Ottawa 3.

In total goals scored the Orange and Black team more than doubled the figures of its opponents. In the thirteen games played Princeton netted 54 goals to her opponents 23. This was due in great part to the dashing play and speed of Capt. Kuhn and "Hobey" Baker. Not including the final game with Ottawa, each of these players scored 18 goals; more than half of the total record for the season. It is probable that the record of the Princeton seven of the present season will not be duplicated for several years at least, even should the contemplated rink be built during the coming summer.

Six-Man Teams.

In connection with the intercollegiate hockey season which has just terminated there is considerable discussion among the colleges most interested relative to reducing the number of players from seven to six. This plan, which developed in Canada several years ago, was brought about by the necessary financial curtailment in professional hockey circles where big salaries were paid the Canadian stars. It was also tried out this winter by the teams of the Amateur Hockey league in New York during the second half of the season with fair success. Where rinks are comparatively small six-man teams permit of a faster game than when fourteen players are on the ice.

A poll taken among the leading college sevens of the East shows that a majority of the captains are in favor of the reduction in the number of players. Those who favor the plan include Capt. Heron of the Yale seven; Capt. R. M. Kimball of the Amherst team; Capt. N. D. McLeod of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology squad; Capt. D. W. Jones of the Massachusetts Agricultural College seven, and Capt. O. M. Clark of the Cornell team. Capt. R. Millbank of Columbia is opposed to the move. He admits that the game is faster but states that in his opinion it spoils team work and materially reduces the chances of players "making" the team.

Water Polo Teams.

Coach Frank L. Sullivan of the Princeton swimming team has selected the following swimmers for his all-collegiate water polo teams:

First team—Hessenbrauch, Princeton, center; Shyrock, Pennsylvania, right forward; Monquin, Columbia, left forward; Smith, Yale, left back; Von Holt, Yale, right back; Braden, Yale, goal. Second team—Steiner, Yale, center; Selby, Princeton, right forward; Wensley, Columbia, left forward; Maze, Columbia, right back; Butler, Princeton, left back; Marcy, Pennsylvania, goal.

The Intercollegiate Swimming league season which recently closed, found Princeton the winner of the water polo tournament, with four straight victories, yet the Tigers placed but one man on the first team and two on the second. Yale with three victories and one defeat furnished three and Columbia and Pennsylvania each one. The final standing in both the polo and swimming divisions were as follows:

Water polo—Princeton, Yale, Columbia, Pennsylvania, College City of New York.

Swimming—Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania, College City of New York, Columbia.

"Summer Baseball."

The initial vote on the question of permitting the playing of "summer baseball" by the students of Amherst college showed 227 votes in favor of the plan to 115 against the proposal. The balloting, which was in the order of a straw vote, has no direct or positive bearing on the final action of the

THE GOOD JUDGE AND THE GENERAL

TAKE a small chew of "Right-Cut"—and see for yourself that a nibble of real tobacco is better than a big wad of the old kind.

Pure, sappy, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough. "Finest flavor ever," old-time tobacco users say. Different from the old kind. Richer, more satisfying.

And a ready chew. The full fine flavor comes along easy and naturally without grinding. You take less than a quarter your old size chew—and it lasts you longer.

student council which may be delayed for several weeks.

The question will now go before the student council for final decision. The action by the council is in accordance with the constitution of the association which grants to the council the power of "formulation and enforcement of eligibility rules excepting scholarship rules."

In this decision the council will take into consideration the vote of the students' association as one of the important factors connected with the question, but it may not necessarily decide the question in accordance with the student vote. Among other probable factors it will consider are the opinions of alumni and faculty.

The vote cast by the student body last year upon the summer baseball question totaled 190 votes for and 57 against summer baseball. A comparison of these figures with the present vote shows that last year, of the 247 men of the college voting, 77 per cent favored the measure while this year only 66 per cent out of 342, are for it; or that 11 per cent more of the votes cast are against summer baseball.

Sectional Racing Shell.

The University of Pennsylvania rowing authorities have ordered a new sectional eight-oared racing shell for the freshmen crew. This is the second shell of this type ordered at the suggestion of Coach Nickalls. These models are used extensively in England. The several detachable compartments afford great time-saving in transportation. The new eight-oared varsity shell, the first sectional shell at Pennsylvania, has been delivered and will be put into commission as soon as the weather permits.

DULUTH BOATS ARE ON THE WAY

New Eqipment Expected to Reach Here By April 1.

James E. Ten Eyck announced today that all of the Davy boats that have been under construction for the Duluth Boat club for the last six months were shipped yesterday from the works at Cambridge, Mass.

In the large consignment to the local club, the largest order, by the way, that has been booked in the West, are two sectional eights, two fours, two doubles and two sectional work barges, in addition to the two new singles for Jimmy Ten Eyck and a single for Hoover, who is going out for the sculls.

Part of the old boats of the club were sold last fall. The new equipment will place the Duluth Boat club just as far ahead of the other clubs of the West in the matter of boats as the club is ahead of the other clubs in the matter of strength.

It is expected that the new boats will reach Duluth before the first of April and will be immediately set up by Jack, the indispensable boatman and reckless plunger.

Added to the boats already in the possession of the club, the new shells will give the best club in the West about the best boats in the country.

AMERICUS MAKES GREAT FRED BEELL CRY QUITS.

Kansas City, Mo., March 14.—Fred Beell, the Wisconsin wrestler, after losing the first fall of a match here last night to Gus Schoenlein ("Americus") of Baltimore, quit in the second attempt while Schoenlein had him locked in a head scissors hold.

Beell, after the match, said that his body was so dry he could not get out of the hold, which was giving him much pain.

BASEBALL DECISIONS.

National Board Announces Claims Allowed and Releases.

Auburn, N. Y., March 14.—The national board of baseball arbitration today gave out the following decisions:

Claims allowed—L. Larsen against Virginia, Minn.; application of Jack Richards to be a free agent.

The following players have been released by purchase: By St. Louis, National league, Trekell to Denver; by Cincinnati, National league, Robertson to Savannah; by Keokuk, Mauer to St. Louis National league; by Long Branch, Gonsales to Cincinnati National league; by Montreal, Mill to Cincinnati National league; by St. Louis American league, Graff to Chattanooga; by Washington, Barton, Calvo and Love to Los Angeles; by Boston American league, Snell to Toronto; by Denver, Channel to New York American league.

FANCY BILLIARD PLAYING

Former Amateur Champion and Opponent Show Well.

New York, March 14.—With a splendid run of 105, which is the high mark, so far, in the national amateur billiard tournament, Morris D. Brown of Brooklyn, a former holder of the championship, took the lead from Eugene L. Milburn of Memphis, Tenn., in the twenty-second inning of yesterday's game and won in the thirty-seventh inning by 400 to 266. The men alternated in the lead, a few points apart, for twenty-one innings, but after his big run, Brown kept the lead, playing steadily and after thirty innings had been played, he was more than 200 points ahead.

Milburn was not dismayed by the odds against him for his three following turns, with clusters of 45, 34 and 21, he added 100 caroms to his string. His runs of 45 and 34 were made up mostly of close nursing and line plays, than which nothing better has been shown at the amateur billiard club this week.

Brown 400, average 10 30-37; high runs 105, 44, 27.

Milburn 266, average 7 14-36; high runs 45, 34, 21.

ELIGIBLES ANNOUNCED.

Purses Apportioned for Kentucky Futurity Races for Three Years.

Lexington, Ky., March 14.—The list of eligibles to the Kentucky futurities to be trotted here at the fall meetings ers' association in 1914-15-16 are announced and enable the association to distribute $26,000 between the four events as follows:

Five thousand for 2-year-old trotters at the meeting of 1914; $2,000 for 3-year-old pacers at the meeting of 1915; $14,000 for 3-year-old trotters at the meeting of 1915, and $5,000 for 4-year-old trotters at the meeting of 1916. A gold cup will go to the winner of the 4-year-old event.

CHAMPION LOSES.

Miss Ravenscroft Beaten in Foursome Given in Her Honor.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 14.—The United States yesterday won the international mixed golf foursomes here, arranged in honor of Miss Gladys Ravenscroft of England, holder of the woman's national championship in this country. The score was 4 to 2, with one match of the seven halved.

Miss Ravenscroft played with E. A. Johnston of England, but was unable to win from Parker W. Whitmore of Brookline and Mrs. William West of Camden, N. J., the match being halved.

THREE WORLD'S TOURISTS

TOM DALY, SCHAEFER, JIM FABER.

BAD ICE DELAYS LEAGUE GAMES AT CURLING RINK

Water and soft ice prevented the double header event at the curling rink last night when the Bagleys and Kelleys were to line up in the first match and the Northerns and Big Duluths in the second. These games will be played tonight if the ice is in condition.

The protest committee consisting of Charles McLennan, Ray Fenton and Joe Linder, heard two complaints last night. No decision was made by the committee, but a final report will be written and handed to President Harbison Monday night.

The Kelleys protested against the Lakes, charging that in their game the goal was moved and that if the cage had been in its proper position, no goal would have been made. They assert also that the goal umpire has the final word as to what constitutes a goal, and the shot should not have been counted, as the umpire called "no goal."

The Big Duluths contested their game with the Northerns, charging that McCormick and Warner had not signed contracts one week before they played, as the rules of the league require.

What will probably be the final meeting of the year will be held Wednesday evening at the Northern hardware store.

BOWLING CONGRESS ON.

Big Tournament Starts in Full Blast at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 14.—Buffalo's American bowling congress tournament started in full blast last night, 32 teams competing in the five-men event, making up two squads of 16 teams each.

William Schall's team of Chicago shot high score in the first squad, totaling 2,801 and taking second place in the five-men standing. The Silver Edge team of South Bend, Ind., took third place in the five-men event with a total of 2,782. Schall's team started with 939 in the first game, followed with 897 and finished with 965.

The Howard Majors of Chicago took first place in the five-men event in the late bowling with a score of 2,881. The Petersons of Chicago took third place with a score of 2,845.

Baseball Scores.

Wilmington, N. C., March 14.—The Philadelphia Nationals defeated the Jersey City Internationals here yesterday. The game was witnessed by Governor John K. Tener, president of the National league; President William F. Baker of the Philadelphia club and a party of eight other Philadelphians, who are here for a two-days' stay. Score:

Philadelphia, 11; Jersey City, 10.

Tampa, Fla., March 14.—The Philadelphia Americans defeated the Chicago Nationals yesterday Score:

Cubs, 2; Athletics, 6.

San Francisco, Cal., March 14.—The Chicago Americans No. 1 defeated the San Francisco team of the Pacific coast league yesterday. Score:

Chicago, 4; San Francisco, 0.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 14.—The Venice Coast league team yesterday defeated the Chicago Americans. Score: Venice, 9; Chicago, 2.

AITKIN FIVE WINS.

Defeats Wadena and Becomes Sixth Congressional District Champion.

Brainerd, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Playing fast, aggressive basket ball Aitkin defeated Wadena here 39 to 8, winning the championship of the Sixth congressional district and qualifying to enter the state tournament at Carlton college, Northfield, March 20 and 21. This makes twelve straight victories for the Aitkin high school team this season.

WOULD BLOCK PLANT OF CHICAGO FEDERALS.

Chicago, March 14.—A suit to prevent the erection of the Chicago Federal league plant was brought in the Cook county circuit court yesterday by Herman Croon, owner of property near the site of the proposed park. The plaintiff asserted in his bill that Charles Weegman, William Walker and James A. Gilmore, incorporators of the club, had failed to file with the building commissioner the written consent of a majority of the property owners on the streets surrounding the park.

An injunction restraining the defendants from building grand stands and from advertising their intention of holding public exhibitions of baseball was asked.

Two hundred men have been at work on the park for more than a week and the concrete foundations of the grand stands and bleachers are about complete.

Danville, Pa., March 14.—The Buffalo Federal league squad of baseball players arrived here last night. There are twenty-six in the party.

ASKS HIS SUPPORT.

Influence of Chairman of Appropriations Committee Solicited.

New York, March 14.—The board of governors of the Aeroclub of America yesterday sent to Representative John Fitzgerald, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, a telegram asking him to use his influence in support of the bill designed to set aside $50,000 for aeronautical research at the Langley Aeronautical laboratory at the Smithsonian Institute and to have Potomac park reserved for aeronautical experiments. The message was signed by Allan R. Hawley, the president.

It was stated that the club's movement has the co-operation of twenty-six other aero organizations in all parts of the country.

MIKE GIBBONS AND SPIKE KELLY MATCHED

It was announced yesterday that Mike Gibbons of St. Paul and "Spike" Kelly of Superior would clash before the Twin Ports Athletic club in the near future. The two men met at Kenosha last fall and Gibbons was credited with the decision by all of the Chicago papers.

Tyrus Will Report.

New Orleans, La., March 14.—A telegram was received here last night from Manager Hugh Jennings of the Detroit Americans at Gulport, Miss., saying Tyrus Cobb, outfielder, would join the Tigers here today when the team would arrive for a series of games with the New Orleans Southern League club.

High School Basket Ball.

Chicago, March 14.—Peoria high school yesterday scored another victory in the Central states basket ball tournament, defeating Naperville, 40 to 17. Deerfield high defeated Gary, Ind., 40 to 16 and Fargo, N. D. high won from the Keokuk, Iowa, 26 to 11.

ALLOW NEW RECORDS.

American Association Acts on Mulford and Disbrow Cases.

New York, March 14.—The first meeting of the contest board of the American Automobile association, under the chairmanship of R. Kennerdell, was held recently. Two new records were recognized. The 200-mile mark of Ralph Mulford in a Mason, made at Columbus Ohio, on a mile track on July 4, 1913, was allowed, the time being 3:21:48. The previous record was held by Earl Cooper in a Stutz and was 3:27:23, made at Fresno, Cal., Feb. 10, 1913. The other record allowed was fifty miles by Louis Disbrow in a Simplex at Detroit, Sept. 29, 1912. Disbrow's time was 45:23, and replaces the previous record of 47:21.65 made by De Palma in a Simplex at Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 16, 1911.

The board received a communication from the Cyclecar Manufacturers' National association notifying it of the desire of the cyclecar makers to operate under A. A. A. sanction. The board already is busy formulating cyclecar rules in anticipation of contests during 1914.

The matter of revision of the contest rules for 1914 was taken up and consideration given to suggestions received from manufacturers, affiliated clubs, registered drivers and others interested in the sport.

TEXAS WILL TEST CONVICT LABOR

Austin, Tex., March 14.—Following the lead of Colorado, Illinois and other states, Texas will soon make a test of the use of convict labor on the public highways without guards or shackles. If the experiment proves successful, it will mean the construction of hundreds of miles of good roads in the state at a minimum cost.

The plan will be tried out in Smith county, in Northern Texas, in Road District No. 1 of that county. Most of the work will be done on roads radiating from the town of Lindale, a recent bond issue of $75,000 being available. By using the convict labor, it is expected to build sixty miles of macadam road. Governor O. B. Colquitt has entered into a road contract with the road district whereby the district will receive fifty convicts, paying the state $15 for each man per month. Of this amount, $7.50 will be credited to the penitentiary fund and $7.50 will be credited to the personal account of the convict.

The Motor World

SPRING AROUSES INTEREST IN CARS

J. T. Peacha, Jr., Gives List of "Don'ts" to Auto Enthusiasts.

"Balmy, sunny, flowery spring, with its inevitable and irresistable call to the open, is turning man's thoughts to motor cars," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., of the Interstate Auto company.

"Wherever motorists meet, the difference of opinion that sells all types of cars, good and bad, is being voiced in cocksure phrases that mystify the uninitiated. Therefore, the prospective buyer of his first car should close his ears to technical talk until he first satisfies himself regarding certain very material, plain and practical questions. Here are a few 'don'ts' for him:

"Don't buy a car unless you are satisfied that the manufacturers are sound, because upon their remaining permanently in business depends two very important considerations viz: the ability to obtain duplicate parts for your car, should you need them, and the market value of the car in case you ever wish to sell or trade it.

"Don't buy a car unless you know something about the dealer. Be sure that he stands well with present owners, for upon his willingness, as well as his facilities, to look after the mechanical welfare of your car and guide you through your first year of experience, depends the measure of your satisfaction.

Don't buy a car that is in any sense an experiment. It may be all right for the fellow who is something of an automobile mechanic to stake his money and peace of mind against that which is new and unproved, but your course is to buy a car whose mechanical features have been found safe and correct in actual service and understood by garage men wherever you are likely to drive.

"Don't buy a complicated car. Look for the simple chassis, with parts accessible and easily operated.

"Don't be 'carried away' by features of beauty and comfort alone. Remember that while good looks and easy riding are important, that the 'real car,' the car that is going to either delight or exasperate you, is the car beneath the hood and floor.

"By bearing in mind these sample don'ts, for there are several others that will develop when you go into the question more deeply, you will be started on the right track."

500-MILE RACE IS NOW IN SPOTLIGHT

Six Nations Will Battle on the Indianapolis Speedway.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 14.—With the Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races off the slate, the racing world once more is turning its attention to the next 500-mile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway. This event gives promise of being the greatest contest in motor history, with no less than six nations battling for supremacy.

As last year, the foreign contingent seems likely to rule a favorite over the home aggregaton. The presence of such men as Boillot, Goux, Chassagne, Guyot, and Christiaens in the invading ranks is held sufficient to insure a European victory.

Boillot, for instance, is admittedly the greatest driver of his time, a man who has won more big events than he has fingers and toes, among them the two Grand Prix races of 1912 and 1913. This entrant alone is thought capable of vanquishing the entire American field. And then there are others.

Goux is but a slight shade behind Boillot in brilliancy. Both driving Peugeot cars, the pair usually finishes one, two. What Goux is capable of, the last 500-mile race, which he won, hands down, conclusively demonstrated.

Chassagne comes as the undisputed speed king of Europe, having covered more territory in an hour than any other human being, either alive or dead. One hundred and twelve miles did he reel off in his Sunbeam on the Brooklands track recently before the hour mark was reached. Driving a car of the same make at Indianapolis, he is expected to push the other entrants to the limit.

Guyot is one of the coolest and craftiest drivers in the game. Last year at Le Mans, where a second edition of the Grand Prix is anually run, he was but barely nosed out for first by his teammate, Bablot, with an average of 76.8, the European high-water mark. Guyot will drive the same car at Indianapolis he handled at Le Mans. Christiaens, who will compete in an Excelsior, is a lesser light, but a no less a formidable one. His chief claim to fame is his uncanny ability to whisk round corners, an art which he has no peer. He is a pilot who will bear lots of watching.

The American field is as yet in the making, and, therefore, not subject to much comment. To date Burman and Cooper loom up as the chief defenders. Both these men are thought capable of holding their own with anything the other side of the water can produce, providing their cars stand the gaff. On this the race will hinge.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

"You tell me what car a man is driving for business purposes and how much tire mileage he is getting, and I can come pretty near telling you what business he is in," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., of the Interstate Auto company. "Of course, allowance must be made for difference in various makes of tires, as well as cars, but at that the variation in reported mileage is so great that the manner of taking corners and rough places is as apparent from the longevity of tires as anything well could be.

"Clergymen get the best tire service, for they usually travel leisurely, in keeping with the dignity of their calling. Physicians in the city obtain high mileage while their brothers in the country do not. Rear estate men and salesmen are hard on tires. But the hardest are those who drive only for pleasure."

A large number of merchants desiring light, economical and quick delivery service are looking to the Ford to answer the demand of their business. A great many Fords have already been sold for this purpose. The Mutual Auto company remove the Ford bodies and place an express delivery body attached with strong bolts, thus making a delivery car which can be easily changed to a touring car by simply removing the bolts and changing the bodies. This appeals to the small retailer who can use his Ford car for business week days and on Sundays place his touring car body on his Ford and take his family for a trip anywhere they would like to go. The practicability of this scheme has been well proven in Duluth, as the Culbertson brothers, wholesale fruit house, have used a Ford delivery for the past year and have obtained satisfactory results.

E. Wilhelm of Lansing, Mich., who has charge of the northern territory service department of the Oldsmobile factory, has been in Duluth the past week, making his first monthly visit to Duluth and Northern Minnesota, taking care of the Oldsmobile owners and placing their cars in A1 shape for the year. The Oldsmobile factory has divided up the country into territories and placed an expert in charge of each territory and this expert makes every point in his territory at least once a month, keeping in touch with the owners and their cars. The Oldsmobile is noted for this kind of service which the company have had in force for many years past.

The Mutual Auto company received last week a shipment of Detroit Electrics, which were delivered to their new owners, who are more than satisfied with thei rchoice of an electric vehicle. One of these cars was delivered to W. G. Hegardt of the American Exchange National bank, and this is the second Detroit electric that Mr. Hegardt has purchased. The other cars were placed in Duluth and Superior and are now noticeable on the streets by reason of their beautiful lines and luxurious appearance.

According to an official of the Kissel Motor Car company, February and March are the best months to dispose of second-hand cars. It is explained that buyers of used cars are naturally on the lookout for the best bargains and consequently "shop early." The more buyers in competition, the better the price obtained for a car, is the apparently sound basis for advising those who intend selling their cars to list them early.

"The time is undoubtedly coming when, in the large cities, automobiles will be sold to quite an extent by women," says Arthur Holmes, vice president and sales manager of the Franklin Automobile company.

"It would certainly help a dealer to have a woman selling for him, especially if she is able to do her own demonstrating. The effect would be to inspire confidence in the women purchasers of automobiles. We have seen a good many cases this past year of women buying cars, and most of our dealers have taught women how to drive a car."

E. J. Filiatrault of the Mutual Auto company received word the last week that only 274 Chalmers Sixes remained to be hold at the Chalmers factory. Such a condition especially at this time of the year, practically before the automobile season is opened, proves the popularity of Chalmers cars throughout the United States and Canada. The Mutual Auto company, however, placed its orders early enough so that it will be able to receive a portion of the remaining 274 cars.

AMERICAN CAR EXCELS IN MOTOR

Smaller Foreign Machine Is Said to Have Less Endurance.

The main problem which foreign manufacturers have encountered in trying to compete with the moderate-price American automobile, has been that of producing a powerful motor. This one feature has proved the stumbling block in every attempt thus far made to compete with American manufacturers, and it bids fair to continue as the unsurmountable obstacle in any attempted competition.

The aim of foreign manufacturers of small cars, especially those in England, according to officials of the Willys-Overland company of Toledo, Ohio, has thus far been to provide a powerful and speedy light car. To accomplish an output of even a moderate horsepower and speed, English makers have utilized an engine of small bore and stroke, depending on the speed of the piston to develop the necessary power. As a result the light car of foreign manufacture has not yet made a pronounced success. The American car of medium price, on the other hand, has a large motor of comparatively low speed. This car has proved a long-lived vehicle. There is no doubt that the American plan of providing a big engine, and restricting the number of revolutions, is vastly superior to that of the English maker, for the medium-priced car built in the United States is still giving excellent service with a minimum of repairs and adjustments, when the English light car has been worn out.

It is obvious that the motor which runs at low speed must outwear the high-speed engine, especially in an automobile—for in the latter "every minor road inequality is a severe strain and chock. In the former these shocks do not occur, for the low speed engine has plenty of reserve stability to overcome excessive vibration due to rough roads.

IS STANDARDIZED.

Cartercar Manufacturer Tells of Progress of Auto Industry.

"The motor car is the only means of transportation that is standardized the world over," and this fact is all the more remarkable because the motor car industry is scarcely a score of years old," said Harry R. Radford, vice president and general manager of the Cartercar company, Pontiac, Mich.

"In Europe, Asia, Africa, South America, Australia and the United States you see thousands of motor cars in use and they are built on practically the same principle, every one of them. But when you travel you will see railways, street cars, interurbans and steamboats of all descriptions. Even in England, which is so closely related to this country you will see street cars and railway trains constructed entirely different from those in America. The owner of any well known car can tour clear around the world, and in practically every city he may visit he can easily find repairs, tires and anything that he may need. While on the other hand the mechanic in England, France or Germany would probably know very little about repairing the American trolley or street car or the American railway coach or locomotive.

"Motor car builders the world over seem to have gotten together in forming their ideas, and what one has discovered the other has been quick to take up. The Frenchman may produce a new shape of body, and if it proves popular you will see the very same thing here inside of a very few months. But the English have probably given more points to the American builders that any of the others. The English stream line body has proved very popular here, and it has been one of the most prominent features of American cars during the past year. The Cartercars with just this type of design, modified to resemble the American style somewhat, have caused a surprisingly large amount of favorable comment.

"Business has been very good this year, in fact much better than before. We have broken all our sales records, which is certainly going some for a year when some people have been inclined to talk hard times. There are certainly no such thing as hard times at present in the motor car business, and I can see no reason for there ever being any, as long as the people have as much money on hand as at the present time."

Mrs. G. A. Obermeyer of 123 First avenue west is the local agent for the Cartercar and the Metz Speedster.

FORD PRODUCTION.

Detroit, Mich., March 14.—More than 1,000 completed automobiles a day for twenty-four consecutive days was the new record hung up during February by the Ford Motor company. February shattered all previous production records of the company. During this single, short month 24,621 Model Ts were built and shipped. This excelled the month of January, itself a record smasher, during which 22,936 Model Ts were built and shipped to branches and agents throughout the world.

Prior to January, 1914, the company's big month came in June, 1913, when 22,049 Model Ts passed out through the factory's doors.

But not only did the company in February break all records of previous months but it also set a new highwater mark for a day's production of automobiles, when on the 27th of the month it turned out 1,636 complete Fords. The previous daily production record for automobiles, also a Ford record, was made one day last spring when the big factory in Highland park, Mich., built more than 1,300 cars.

Despite this big production and the big outputs of the Ford factory at Ford, Ont., and Manchester, Eng., the company probably will not be able to supply the world-wide demand for this low-priced car.

MOTORCYCLE NOTES

An aggressive membership campaign was launched on March 1 by the Federation of American Motor cyclists. Practically every motorcycle club in the United States is planning to leave nothing undone to bring every possible non-A. A. M. motorcycle rider into the national organization by June 30.

It is estimated that there are 225,000 motorcyclists now in the United States. On March 1, 25,917 of these were members of the F. A. M. It is hoped that there will be at least 30,000 members by the time of the annual convention in July. And from the enthusiasm with which the various clubs have started into this campaign, the result will probably go even beyond that figure.

Twenty-five awards are offered to the affiliated clubs bringing in the greatest number of riders during the next four months. Handsome awards will also be given the non-F. A. M. clubs affiliating the largest number of new members during any one month—March, April, May or June.

The success of the motorcycles already used for patrolling the national forests, has caused Uncle Sam to purchase a number of additional machines for use in the work this season. The Deadwood and Custer, S. D., stations are among those that will soon be equipped with two-wheelers. The dry seasons in the Black Hills district makes the danger from fires extremely great. And as an incipient fire in this dry timber, given only a few minutes' start, can cause the destruction of hundreds of acres of forest, it is essential that the patrolmen have the most rapid means of travel possible. In addition to the speed with which the two-wheeler can reach an incipient blaze, the fact that the new machines will be equipped with fire fighting apparatus will make them especially valuable in this service.

What promises to be the largest motorcycle event ever held in California is being arranged for April 19, by the Capital City Motorcycle club of Sacramento. A program of races will take place at the fair grounds, and it is expected that at least 4,000 visitors will attend. Tours are being arranged from many cities of the state, to center in Sacramento, and awards are offered to the largest representation of motorcyclists riding from any one city to the meet. A prize is also to be given the motorcyclist who rides his machine the longest distance to attend the event.

Among the season's events planned by the Houston, Texas, Motorcycle club is a series of weekly night runs which promise to be very popular. Once a week the Houston motorcyclists will start from the clubrooms at 7:30 o'clock, take a couple hours' jaunt to some nearby town and return. The first run of this sort was made to the Jacinto battleground.

Two girl motorcyclists of West Philadelphia, Pa., Misses E. P. Winslow and J. H. Lynch, contemplate riding their motorcycles to the Panama-Pacific exposition next year.

Youngstown, Ohio motorcyclists are contemplating erecting a modern clubhouse at the outskirts of the city, this spring.

Wilson Indorsed.

Boston, March 14. — President Wilson's attitude on the Panama tolls question was indorsed in the house of representatives when a resolution protesting against the repeal of the provision of the canal act exempting American coastwise shipping from canal tolls was defeated by a vote of 105 to 91.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS OF DULUTH DISTRICT WILL HOLD QUARTERLY RALLY AND CONFERENCE

THOMAS JOHNSON,
President Duluth C. E. Union.

CECIL J. HOCKIN,
Vice President Minnesota C. E.

E. H. McALLISTER,
Vice President Duluth C. E.

The Duluth district of the Christian Endeavor union will hold its first quarterly rally and conference next Wednesday evening at the Union church, K. P. hall, 118 West Superior street.

R. A. Walker, field secretary of Indiana and Minnesota, will make the principal address of the rally. He will address the members of the union at 6:15 o'clock, following which a luncheon will be served by the women of the Union church. Only the officers and chairmen will be present at this meeting, which will discuss the best methods for Endeavor work in Duluth during the coming year.

At 8 o'clock the general mass meeting will be held and delegations are expected from the following societies in Duluth and suburbs: First Baptist, First Presbyterian, First Christian, Glen Avon Presbyterian, Harvey Webb M. E., Highland Presbyterian, Lakeside Presbyterian, Pilgrim Congregational, Second Presbyterian, Union Church, Westminster Presbyterian, Proctor Epworth League, Fond du Lac C. E. society and Park Point mission.

Thomas Johnson, president of the Duluth union, will preside at the meetings. Next Thursday Mr. Walker will leave for the range to conduct rallies at Two Harbors, Ely, Eveleth, Virginia, Coleraine and Hibbing. He will be accompanied by C. J. Hockin of this city, vice president of the state C. E. union.

Lyceum

That splendid melodramatic farce, "Officer 666," a play that has absorbed the attention and attracted crowded houses to the Gaiety theater in New York and the Grand opera house, Chicago, for the last year, will be presented at the Lyceum tomorrow, matinee and night and Monday and Tuesday nights.

The story of "Officer 666" is all about a gentlemanly burglar who is a student of art as well. His particular hobby is old paintings. When the play opens he is found to be negotiating one of his famous conps and has chosen as his base of operations the home of Travers Gladwin, a rich New Yorker absent on a tour of the world. Returning unexpectedly, the young millionaire discovers that the picture "expert" has been masquerading as the owner of his home in upper Fifth avenue, and he is about to make his "getaway" with a particularly valuable lot of art objects as a part of his impedimenta. It is around those incidents that Augustin MacHugh has woven his play, which is said to be filled with dramatic surprises and clean fun that is particularly appealing to Americans of the present day. How the young millionaire outwits this particular Raffles by borrowing the uniform of a policeman and appearing as "Officer 666;" how in doing so he meets the burglar's sweetheart, a society girl who thinks he is a millionaire, and who is arrested as the crook's accomplice; and how, thrilled by the charm of her personality, the sure-enough millionaire falls in love with her at first sight and saves her from the thief, who though finally trapped is still triumphant, is left to the telling of the players, who will unfold the story.

"Officer 666" is an original play, and its success is all the more gratifying because of the fact that it is purely American from start to finish.

There have been comparatively few American players so fortunate as to achieve success in London and success in London spells absolute success in Great Britain—as no Broadway success ever counts throughout the United States. And the strangest part of this fact is that Miss Rose Stahl made her great success first in a sketch, then in a play in which American idiom, or slang, played a tremendous part. No one pretends that the English understood all the slang in "The Chorus Lady," but that they appreciated it is evident by the fact that both the sketch and the play had long engagements in London.

Miss Stahl played Patricia O'Brien 2,650 times—1,100 times in vaudeville, 103 times in London and 1,447 times in America and never missed a performance. She has such confidence in Charles Klein's play, "Maggie Pepper," in which she is now playing, that she expects to exceed that record.

When Miss Stahl went to London with "The Chorus Lady" there were many who raised skeptical eyebrows at the thought of England taking to the thoroughly American brand of humor. Yet Miss Stahl's reception in London has never been excelled in America, which has placed her among its foremost actresses. Among the interesting people who received Miss Stahl and praised her art were J. M. Barrie, Ellen Terry, Maurice Howlett, Graham Robertson, and Alfred Sutro. She was the special guest of the Barries at their place at Black Lake, in Surrey, where a large company was invited to meet the American invader of the London stage.

Everyone is now familiar with the line in "The Chorus Lady," when Patricia O'Brien says: "Girls, don't I look like Ellen Terry?" The remarkable resemblance has been noted everywhere. During Miss Stahl's London visit she became a fast friend of the great English actress, who used often to visit her in the dressing room. On the closing night in London a scene took place that made a mark in the long record of "The Chorus Lady." When Rose Stahl read the familiar line Ellen Terry rose up in her box and waved her hand at the actress. The house recognized her immediately.

For the first time in her professional career Miss Stahl acknowledged a friend in the audience by bowing, and the house fairly went mad in its ovation of the two great favorites.

Miss Stahl holds her London engagement as one of the most delightful experiences of her whole career—not so much for the artistic triumph which she personally achieved, but the stimulus given by her reception among and contact with the intellectual and artistic people of the great capital was a genuine delight to a student. And when we remember it is the supposedly cold and unsympathetic English who awarded our actress this wreath of laurel, it makes the triumph more remarkable.

Miss Stahl will be seen at the Lyceum next Friday and Saturday matinee and night.

"Mutt and Jeff in Panama," the new Gus Hill production, will be an early attraction at the Lyceum.

This season Bud Fisher's famous characters, who have set the whole world laughing, will be the heroes of many exciting and withal humorous adventures and amidst surroundings conductive to their established and well-earned reputations. The play is in three acts and three scenes. It is by Owen Davis, with lyrics and music by Will H. Cobb and Leo Edwards. The piece is a combination of melodrama and musical comedy, telling an unusual story, blended with bright lines, snappy dialogue and thrilling situations. As a contribution where the word high-class may be judiciously and appropriately applied it is under a distinct and unique caption. "Mutt and Jeff" have plenty to do and their efforts in behalf of their country not alone establish them as worthy citizens but as real patriots of a glorious and incomparable country.

In "The Quaker Girl," the great three-act English musical play which comes to the Lyceum theater the last week in March, there is in the second act, a Parisian dressmaker's salon, where exquisite gowns are displayed on lovely models, and the mistress of the salon is Madame Blum, played by Andree Corday. Miss Cordray is very much in love with her role, simply for the joy she gets out of handling those lovely costumes. According to her, the world owes a debt of gratitude to the makers of beautiful clothes. "Who doesn't enjoy looking at a beautiful object," says Miss Corday, "and what is more fascinating than a costume designed to set off to the best advantage the lines of the human figure, in colors that suggest flowers in spring, and softness of texture that bring back again childish visions of fairy gauzes. A beautiful woman beautifully dressed, is a sight to gladden the gloomiest of days, and is the one bit of silver that shines through and brightens the lives of care-ridden masculinity. There are some women in the world, who, like Alice Hagen Rice's Lovey Mary, have been brought up to believe that the Lord meant them to be plain, and they don't dare thwart the designs of Providence, but the dowdy woman can never be a success. Fine feathers may not make fine birds, but they do attract attention, and secure for the wearer an opportunity, at least, to show what she can do. The trouble about being dowdily dressed is that it seems to indicate a spirit that is careless and unobservant of the trend of the times. The woman who is conscious of being nicely and appropriately dressed, has an air of assertive confidence that is apt to impress everyone with whom she comes in contact. Of course, I don't mean the kind of dressing that is only for display and to attract attention, but rather that attention to harmonious colors and attractive arrangements, which, added to immaculate neatness, will make of the simplest costume a thing of beauty, and a joy to all concerned.

"The Ham Tree," George V Hobart and Jean Schwartz' musical comedy, with McIntyre and Heath starring in their familiar characters, one the optimistic negro minstrel man, the other a pessimistic "chambermaid in a livery stable," will be the attraction at the Lyceum two days in April, under the management of John Cort. The music of "The Ham Tree" is by Jean Schwartz, the lyrics by William Jerome, and the book by George V Hobart. The production is staked by Ned Wayburn, who selected the dancing chorus from over 1,000 applicants.

An announcement which should bring joy to all lovers of good theatricals is the forthcoming presentation here of "Little Women," Louisa M. Alcott's immortal story, which has been adapted for stage purposes by Marion de Forest and produced by William A. Brady. The dates are in April. "Little Women," as it is pictured by Miss Alcott in her book of that name, is in truth the story of the four Alcott girls, the daughters of Bronson Alcott. Brought up in the atmosphere of "plain living and high thinking," with Emerson, Thoreau and Hawthorne as neighbors and family friends, what wonder that the reader of today is startled by the modern spirit which Miss Alcott, the Jo of the story, has put into her little book? The cast of "Little Women" will present a notable example of the absence of any exploited "star." The nature of the story precludes any possibility of a one-star part, and it is also notable in that one character cannot be exploited at the expense of the other.

There is a belief among theatrical producers that a poet may write a play but it takes a fortune to produce it. This is true of Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird," the fantasy, which is conceded to be one of the most expensive plays ever produced in America.

Maeterlinck is anything but practical. In one of the scenes, for instance, he required that tombstones open and become a garden of flowers; and the producers had to make this spectacular transformation. It cost three months of constant experimentation and some $20,000 before it was practicable. Three different scenes were destroyed before the producers at the New theater considered that they had built one at least adequate to the poet's conception.

Possibly the largest item in the cost of production is the lighting. There are many transformation effects in the piece which depend largely on the ebb and flow of a tremendous volume of light. With the production approximately 60,000 incandescent lights are used, giving the scene the transparent and eerie quality of Fairyland. Converted into candle power, this is equal to the light of nearly a million candles. Fourteen electricians are required on the stage to manipulate the switches and lamps.

Indeed, half as many people are required to "work" the show as are needed to act it. In the production there are 160 people and fifty-five of them are never seen from the front. Eleven scenes in all are reproduced, and so elaborate and massive are they that eighty-seven drop pieces are hung from the gridirons.

Once these scenes are lowered, fourteen men are needed to adjust them and to put the movable pieces of scenery into place; besides these, another group of eighteen men are used to set in place the properties and to operate them when necessary during the transformations. There is, for instance, the water tap, out of which water flows and is transformed into a shimmering, sylph-like creature; there is the bread pan, out of which rolls Bread, a huge, pompous, Falstaffian individual; there is the sugar wrapper, through which Sugar, with his candy fingers, bursts forth; there is the jar of milk, which falls from the table, breaks and reveals a beautiful, timid girl, personifying Milk. All these effects demand unceasing attention behind the scenes to keep them mysterious and fantastic. Therein lies the tremendous cost of this production over others somewhat similar in design and conception.

ODIVA,
At the Orpheum Next Week.

Orpheum

A double headline bill will be the attraction at the Orpheum theater for the week beginning with the Sunday matinee. Odiva, that slender embodiment of grace and agility, will be presented in the attractive act which has delighted so many Orpheum patrons. The other act that will share the headline honors is Lillian Shaw, vocal dialect comedienne who will appear for the first time at the Duluth Orpheum.

Odiva is billed as the "Sensational Plunging Samoan Nymph," and her act, presented in a glass tank with the assistance of a school of trained Pacific sea lions, has the charm of novelty. The grace and freedom of motion and skill in her field have made the act one of the most popular seen in vaudeville. Odiva first learned aquatic skill among the pearl divers of Samoa. The stage setting provided for the act is most attractive. Hills are shown down which tumbles a brooklet which flows into a pond. The pond is the glass tank in which every move of the swimmer is seen by the audience. From the rocks that reach high into the flies she does her sensational and beautiful dives. The school of sea lions sporting in their native element and the wonderful grace and skill of the pretty diver, all shown in a setting attractive and unusual, make up an act that has delighted thousands of amusement lovers. In connection with Odiva's engagement a diving contest for Duluthians will be held Tuesday and Friday.

Lillian Shaw is a dialect comedienne who has won favor among a large part of the vaudeville public and her first visit to Duluth is sure to win for her many friends among the Orpheum patrons here. Her Italian-American songs have been especially popular. The act opens with a Hebrew character portrayal and song. She sings of the woes and worries of a young mother and has won much approval for the comedy she elicits from this song alone. Among other songs in the Italian dialect she sings "I Gotta de Rock," that has proved highly popular.

The furore of dancing that has swept the country has stimulated interest in all kinds of dancing and not alone in the much-discussed modern steps. The Russian people have native dances that surpass those of most countries in the interest of their rhythm and the joyous abandon that characterizes them. The six Samarins who will be at the Orpheum next week compose a company of dancers who have just arrived in this country for an Orpheum tour. The intricate steps and rapid whirls of their dances have stimulated much interest in the public.

The Berrens will offer a musical act that is said to be especially satisfactory. Violin and piano playing form the foundation of the act which has a surprise feature that interests any audience fond of musical features.

Horace Wright and Rene Dietrich have been one of the real sensations of the circuit this season with their singing act. Both of them are said to have voices far better than the average vaudeville caliber. They are billed as "The Somewhat Different Singers" and proved the hit of the Minneapolis bill this week.

The other two acts will be Wheeler and Wilson in an act consisting of singing and dancing and the Moralis brothers in a novelty act which they call "A Bachelor's Dream."

The exclusive Orpheum photoplays and the overture by Director Bradbury's symphony orchestra will complete the bill, which will continue all week.

* * *

A new cult, known as the "Militant Antis," has for its first member, Julia Nash. A small Woman's Right club recently saw her in "Her First Case," the sketch in which she is playing over the Orpheum circuit, and spotted her as a "V. for V." woman. When they called, Miss Nash displayed almost to the point of militancy, a violent "anti" tendency.

* * *

Orpheum audiences will remember the fricky cavortings of Freshy Butinsky in Gus Edwards' "School Boys and Girls." Freshy is again on the Orpheum circuit as a real grown-up "single term." He is Herman Timberg.

* * *

Eddie Foy and the seven little Foys took a jaunt last week from the Palace theater, New York, to the Orpheum theater, Kansas City. The Foys enjoyed the journey and were a joy to all the travelers they met. The youngsters are as interesting off the stage as on. They are now en tour of the Orpheum circuit.

* * *

A terrible pest has been developed all along the Orpheum circuit by Cheerbert's Manchurian Japs. These chink acrobats, in one of their tricks, swing about by their queues after each show, the pests, by the hundreds on their way out, after seeing this feat, tell some attendant "Exqueues me!" As yet there have been no fatalities, but ushers by the score have resigned.

* * *

The name of Alice Eis, of Eis and French, dancing pantomimists, presenting "The Dance of Fortune," on the Orpheum circuit, is pronounced "ice," but critics have pronounced the act quite the antithesis of ice.

* * *

Harry Pauli and Hazel Boyne are the latest team of "society dancers" to break into vaudeville. In Brooklyn, from whence comes Miss Boyne and the "Happy Holligan" accent, she is known as Miss Burn, but that makes no difference in the pronunciation.

* * *

Ben Deely will return shortly to the Orpheum circuit in his most amusing skit, "The New Bellboy." There is also a new and most charming guest in the hotel in the person of Marie Wayne, who is a very pretty and clever ingenue, making her first trip West.

* * *

The real big names of the hour on the Orpheum circuit are Blanche Bates and Sir James Matthew Barrie. Miss Bates is headed westward to start her tour in Sir James Matthew Barrie's "Half on Hour."

* * *

Odiva, the water queen, is starting on her second Orpheum circuit tour. This season her act is augmented by a troupe of Pacific sea lions.

* * *

Among the old acts now starting a return tour of the Orpheum circuit are Hufford and Chain and Johnny Small and his Small Sisters. Sidney Jarvis and Virginia Dare, and Bessie Wynn are taking their first Western trip.

AT EMPRESS

James P. Lee and his daughter, Miss Madeline Lee, are featured in a tabloid, "The Funny Moon," which will be seen at the Empress for four days starting with the matinee performance Sunday afternoon. The piece was written by Mr. Lee who has many similar comedies to his credit. It is a farce comedy with the incidental musical numbers, presented by a company of twenty people.

James P. Lee is said to be a comedian of the type that is too scarce. He seems to realize what is needed to make up capital entertainment, and has so arranged this tabloid that it does not depend upon a Dutch, Jew or Irish comedian to get the laughs, by slapstick methods, yet provides ample, good clean fun, having sufficient comedy to pass the most critical inspection.

Miss Madeline Lee, a beautiful and charming singing comedienne, brings an attractive personality and a voice of rare charm to the show. She leads in "Peg o' My Heart," and the "Isle D'Amour." A clever chorus of girls support her. "Mammy Jinny's Jubilee" is made into a dancing number by the chorus which is considered expert in this line. Miss Lee has a duet with Roy Kinslow, rendered in Italian costume, which is especially enjoyable.

The scenery used in "The Funny Moon", is worthy of special mention. The set is an interior, showing the library of a mansion. The girls are prettily costumed and the principals expensively attired. Miss Lee wears three fashionable dresses during the action of the play.

The supporting company includes: Roy Kinslow, Frank Rogers, Raymond Wilber, Marie Barbier, Rilla McMillan, Angelus Lee and Madge Leon and a capable chorus.

A surprise will be offered Empress theater patrons next Friday at both the evening performances in the extra feature of a "Rag Time Piano Player" contest. Arrangements are now going on to make this extra added feature to the regular shows on Friday a success. Roy Flaaten, musical director of the Empress theater orchestra, will be in charge of the entries and claims to have five of the greatest rag time players in this part of the country.

Each player will be given his own choice of pieces to play, say two in number, and after the whole review the audience will act as judges of the winner. Thirty dollars in prizes will be offered.

Lovers of rag time music will have their innings at this contest.

For the last half of the week of March 15, commencing with the matinee Thursday, a new program of vaudeville acts and the feature film "North of 53" will hold the boards. The Lutz brothers will head the bill. Clare Lutz is considered one of the world's expert marksmen. Sullivan and Mason offer a neat act of character songs. The two boys are said to be very good singers and have a novel idea in the way of presenting their selections. Bernard and Scrath, billed as "The Nervous Fellow and the Talkative Girl" are clever presenters of comedy and bright jokes. The Musical Fredericks will give an act full of catchy music intermingled with comedy. Their selections are of a wide range from opera and classical pieces to rags and popular songs.

The feature film "North of 53" will close this program. This drama of the Canadian Northwest breathes of lumber camps and piney woods and the rude life of trading stations.

* * *

The engagement of the dramatization of the well known novel "The Count of Monte Cristo" will be looked forward to with interest by theatergoers of Duluth.

Most readers of fiction are familiar with the theme of "The Count of Monte Cristo," the heroic figure of Edmund Dantes, Prisoner No. 17, Abbe Busoni and the Count of Monte Cristo as the hero is known throughout the action of the play. The cast will be headed by a well known stock actor, Chester Bishop.

It will be seen at the Empress for four days, opening March 22.

"A Hot Old Time" will be seen at the Empress theater, commencing Sunday, March 29, for four days. It contains such songs as "Piccolo Band," "Ragging the Nursery Rhymes," "Ragtime Sailor Man," "Down in Chattanooga" and "The Irish Tango," besides half a dozen others.

AT THE REX

Duluth theater-goers will, all of next week, have an opportunity of seeing one of the greatest motion picture films acted in the latest decade. It is the interpretation of Victor Hugo's masterpiece, "Les Miserables," and will be shown at the Rex theater.

The cast that acted in the picture includes a large number of French stars and the production entailed a cost of nearly $100,000. The film is considered an exact interpretation of the original novel and is complete in almost every detail. There are four separate reels.

"Les Miserables" is known to thousands of readers throughout the world, the work having been translated in almost every tongue. It tells the story of Jean Valjean, a young Frenchman, who finds himself at an early age without funds and an aged mother to support. The boy steals a loaf of bread and for the theft is sent to the prison for a period of five years.

After a short time, Valjean manages to escape from prison and goes wandering about France. He steals some candlesticks from a priest, who gave him lodging for the night, but through the latter's kindness, escapes prison. The priest gives Valjean a letter to his brother and it is in the town of Montreuil that the former prisoner makes a success. He becomes mayor of the village and its most beloved citizen.

While mayor Valjean hears of the arrest of a man in Paris supposed to be Jean Valjean and rather than see the other suffer for his sake, he discloses his real identity and is again arrested. He escapes from prison again and this time goes to Paris, where he becomes wealthy. He dies later, leaving his fortune to Cosette, his ward, about whom a beautiful love story is woven in the love tale of Valjean.

BIG PETITION FOR THE PLUMAGE BILL

Public Opinion Favors Putting an End to Plumage Traffic.

London, March 14.—A petition in favor of the plumage bill to be presented to the house of commons has been signed by 21,585 persons who visited the bird court of the exhibition of Australian Manufacturers last fall. So strong is Australian opinion in favor of the bill that it is stated in official circles that had the petition been circulated publicly it would undoubtedly have been signed by 95 per cent of the population.

This intense feeling is due, apart from humanitarian reasons, to the conviction that systematic slaughter of birds for the plumage market is having a most detrimental affect upon agriculture. Public opinion is also incensed by the fact that prohibited skins and feathers are smuggled out of the country in spite of the vigilance of the authorities, and it is recognized that only the closure of the home markets can effectually put an end to the traffic.

The watch hairspring was the invention of Dr. Robert Hooke, an Englishman, in 1658, and Hooke was also the first to use the lever escapement in 1666. The use of jewels for the bearings of the pivots was introduced about 1700, and the compensation balance was invented in 1767.

BERLIN NOW DEN OF VICE

Members of Prussian Diet Urge Putting on the Brakes.

"Darkest Spot in Prussia and in the German Empire."

Berlin, March 14.—For years Berlin strove to become the greatest all-night city in the world. Now when it boasts that distinction there are widespread appeals for putting on the brakes.

Out of the 443 members of the Prussian diet, 370 have backed the assertion that the city is a den of vice, and have petitioned the minister of the interior to "ward off the dangers to which the bodies and souls of youths are exposed."

The forty members of the Progressive party in the diet have not joined in the petition, but their spokesman declared that in a general way it expressed their desires.

"Darkest Spot in Empire."

Baron Schenck zu Schweinsberg, speaking for the Conservatives, made a bitter attack upon conditions in Berlin. The number of dissolute women, he said, was increasing tremendously, with all the evils that follow in their train. "Berlin by night" had become an advertising slogan, known throughout the world. As a matter of fact, Berlin by night was "the darkest spot in Prussia and in the German empire." Cabarets, dance halls and dangerous drinking places were destroying the youth, and when a move was made against them, the cry went up that the police were threatening business. The baron also attacked the cinematograph as a factor in demoralization.

A Free Conservative representative, Herr Vocter, seconded Baron zu Schweinberg's statements. The city's night program, he said, is made up as follows: From 8 to 11 o'clock, theater; 11 to 12, wine restaurants or dance halls; 2 to 4, bars; 4 to 6, "night resorts." The advocates of all-night revelry, he said, defended their attitude by declaring that Berlin is one of the world's great cities and must cater to visitors from abroad. They overlooked the fact that the public places in London close at midnight and on Paris boulevards at 1 o'clock.

Youth Demoralized.

"He who knows our night life knows what demoralization it causes among our youth," said the deputy.

Representatives of the Clerical and National Liberal parties also attacked existing conditions. Dr. Schroeder of the National Liberals deplored the fact that these conditions were not confined to Berlin. The smaller cities, too, are becoming infected, he said.

Johann von Dallwitz, minister of the interior, declared that there were great obstacles in the way of a successful campaign against the dangers of present conditions. He said the government was trying to reduce the number of doubtful resorts and had actually effected a considerable reduction in the number of places holding all-night licenses. It was hoped eventually to abolish entirely the so-called "animation bars," where female waitresses urge the guests to drink as much and as often as possible, and he expected much from the new measure about to be laid before the reichstag for the regulation of the liquor traffic throughout the empire.

Reason for Later Hours.

No earnest defender of the night life of German cities in all its phrases has as yet replied to the attacks in the diet, but one apologist has directed attention to the reason justifying later hours for restaurants and cafes in Germany than in other countries. This is the manner in which the working day is divided. The average business house suspends operations for from one and one-half to two and one-half hours at noon, when the big meal of the day is taken, and closes only at 8. This forces the employes to work into the evening, and if they wish to visit theater, moving picture show or concert, they must go directly from their place of business without pausing for supper. The after-theater supper is not a luxury for them but a necessity, and they make up a big part of the crowd that fills the public eating and drinking places from 11 until 2 o'clock.

MISSING ESTATE SWINDLE AGAIN

London Embassy Is Overwhelmed By Letters From American "Heirs."

London, March 14.—The missing estate swindle is evidently again being worked extensively in the United States. The embassy here is overwhelmed with letters from American "heirs" asking how best to secure estates due them. Some letters indicate that victims were induced to part with all their property to pay expenses of pseudo representatives of the chancery court.

Ten years ago the state department at Washington received so many requests about missing estates in chancery that a special investigation was made by Henry White, then first secretary of the American embassy here. He reported that it would be practically impossible for any American to secure an estate from the court of chancery. The report showed that the large estates constantly spoken of as "dormant in chancery" or "awaiting claimants in the Bank of England" were purely imaginary, and usually the invention of swindlers, who obtain money for the prosecution of claims to fictitious fortunes.

The funds in chancery open to claim are few, averaging less than $1,800 each, two only approaching $75,000, and most of them inevitably would consume their own value in the expenses of recovery. The fullest proofs of genealogy are demanded, and in the case of Americans such proofs are almost impossible. Even the clearest claims are usually barred by the statute of limitations. About the time of this report the inquiries became so heavy that they overloaded the correspondence of the embassy, and a printed form of reply was adopted and this is in use today.

Last year when one of these swindlers persuaded a number of alleged descendants in America that the estate of their ancestor Sir Francis Drake was ready for distribution by the court of chancery, the swindle was widely exposed by the American newspapers, with the result that the inquiries practically ceased until within the past few weeks.

BALFOUR AND HOME RULE FOR IRELAND

Former Prime Minister May Bring Extreme Unionists Into Line.

London, March 14.—Arthur Balfour, once prime minister and also formerly Unionist leader in the house of commons, is to take a very prominent part in the negotiations for the settlement of the Irish question. He acquired a very extensive knowledge of the situation during his term as chief secretary for Ireland, and he has had experience in the handling of delicate political problems, not the least of which was that arising over the split in the Unionist party over tariff reform.

When an agreement on the Irish question was first mooted last year Bonar Law, the present Unionist leader, immediately called Mr. Balfour to his assistance. Soon after the opening of parliament Mr. Balfour had a long audience with the king and has been keeping in close touch with the leaders at Westminster.

The general opinion is that Mr. Balfour shares King George's view that some compromise should be arrived at and this will go a long way toward bringing the extreme Unionists into line. As it is, the large majority of the party desire a settlement but difficulty has been found in inducing the Ulsterites and the English "diehards" to come around to the same view. When Mr. Balfour speaks, especially if it is thought that he expresses the wishes of the king, these irreconcilables will follow him. While Mr. Balfour has attacked the home rule bill from every angle and has referred to it as "lopsided federalism," not once has he referred to the Ulster threat of revolution or Ulster's general opposition to any form of home rule.

"A YARD OF CAT" THAT HAS BEEN TRAINED TO PERFORM TRICKS

MISS EDITH CHARLSON AND "DUDLEY."

THE mere mention of "a yard of cats," the ordinary, back-alley kind, is enough to send the shivers chasing up and down the spinal column of the average mortal. For fortunate, indeed, is the human who has not had occasion to hurl imprecations at the "critters" enjoying a seance under the bedroom window.

But Miss Edith Charlson of 124 Tenth avenue east has "a yard of cat"—notice the singular—for which she wouldn't take a great deal. And that "yard of cat" is of the ordinary, back-alley variety. "Dudley" doesn't boast any blue blood in his veins.

Although "Dudley" is no lordly Maltese or stately Angora; although he has no family tree, and although he is of the ordinary breed, he is a most unusual feline. "Dudley" is a cat among cats, and extremely rare is the member of the cat family which can come into his class.

Is Trained Cat.

For "Dudley" is possessed of accomplishments and intelligence of an exceptional order. He is a trained cat and though he is but six months old he has a repertoire of tricks, the performing of which he enjoys as much as those whom he entertains. Not only he is unusual in his attainments, but in size he is one in thousands. It is doubtful if there is another cat in the city as big as "Dudley."

"Be a big, big pussy," says Miss Charlson to him, mottoning with her hands. "Dudley" lies down on the floor and with tail and paws extended, stretches himself out like a bunch of rubber. The tape shows that he measures well over thirty-six inches, "a yard of cat." When he was 5 months old he weighed eight and a half pounds, and he has gained some since, but he has not recently been on the scales to determine just how much. "Dudley" has grown so rapidly since birth that one could almost see him develop. He has been fed on warm milk and potatoes and will sniff disdainfully at the choicest morsels of meat or other dainties when that dish is placed before him.

Does Not Meow.

When feeding time comes around "Dudley" will sit up and beg for what he wants. Another strange thing about "Dudley" is that he has never been known to meow as other cats do. He makes a funny little sound down in his throat, a sort of cross between a sob and a wail, and when he wants his warm milk and potatoes, he exercises his vocal powers, supplementing them with an eloquent plea from his big eyes. And if his mistress pays no attention to him he goes over to her and sits up and begins pawing her, continuing his odd noises and in no way abating the appeal in his eyes.

"Dudley" shakes hands, jumps over hurdles and through hoops, rolls over, plays at being dead, and knows how to ask when he wants to go outdoors for a romp, and to bang his paw against the kitchen door when he desires to gain admittance. He appears to realize that some one is more likely to be in the kitchen to let him in than in the front of the house. One of his favorite pastimes is playing "hide-and-seek," and he has as much fun out of it as the others who take part in the game. He likes to be read to sleep, and if he sees some one pick up a book and hears them commence reading aloud he curls himself up in a comfortable spot and is soon in the land of dreams.

Miss Charlson has raised "Dudley" from the day he was born. She appears to have the faculty of exercising a charm over animals and has had no trouble in teaching "Dudley" he numerous feats in which he delights. Perhaps one reason for his willing response is that he has never known a cross word during his short span on this mortal sphere. "Dudley" will obey Miss Louise Schneller, the close friend of Miss Charlson, as he will his mistress, and often teases her to indulge in a game of "hide and seek" with him.

M'INTOSH, POLK COUNTY, BOASTS OF SPLENDID SCHOOL

BOYS WHO PARTICIPATED IN TWENTY-ACRE CORN GROWING CONTEST, THE FIRST PRIZE FOR WHICH WAS 74.6 BUSHELS AND THE AVERAGE 61.2.

McIntosh, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The residents of this Polk county town are proud of the Putnam high school which is considered the equal of any in the state. Under the superintendency of Supt. A. J. Jedlicka it has taken front rank. Four schools are associated with it, the districts covering about a township. The manual training, domestic science, teachers training and agricultural departments of the systems are of a high order. E. W. Vancura, the director of the agricultural department during the two years has placed the department upon a firm basis, and has shown that small tracts when well taken care of can bring good results.

Associated Schools.

The arduous task of associating country school districts where association had failed before could only be appreciated by those that have been working along these lines. Yet in one single season Mr. Jedlicka, working almost alone, had brought into association four districts with a territory of about a township. These associated districts insured the success of the Putnam school; they brought into the central district additional funds; they brought in country school children and opened the field for the agricultural department to do its extension work among the farmers. A scheme has been organized whereby the children in the several schools of the associated districts compete with one another in the industrial work that they turn out. This contest has been an annual feature of great interest in which the children are working along definite and directed lines. The exhibits at each year's contest have shown remarkable advancement and have been the cause of much local pride for the children in their own districts.

School Extension Work.

But by far the most important work of the school in the associated districts has been done in extension work. This consists of meetings every month in the school houses where the superintendent and the agricultural instructor in conjunction with singing talent from the high school have given evening programs. In the neighborhood of a hundred of these meetings have been held and over 4,000 people have had the privilege of listening to them.

Then, Mr. Vancura travels among the farmers during the summer time and visits boys in the corn contests which he promotes. He has been busy in every way giving advice and aiding in drainage problems and a multitude of other things.

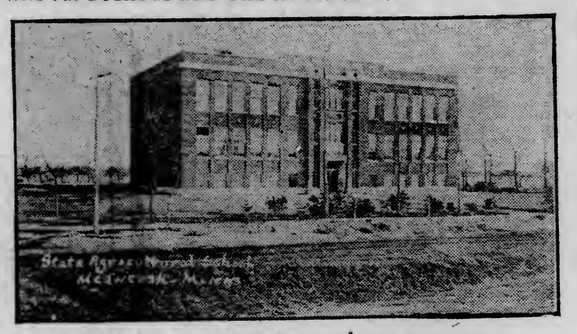

He has produced grain and seed and other products from twelve acres that would bring over $600 or over $50 an acre. He has successfully introduced and grown to maturity two different varieties of corn and distributed the seed, selling some, to and among the farmers. A scheme inaugurated by Mr. Jedlicka, and carried out by Mr. Vancura, proved a great success. This was the planting of cucumbers upon a larger scale and then pickling them and selling the pickles. Boys were employed during summer months to pick the pickles and thus given an opportunity to do what they could easily accomplish. These pickles were pronounced so good that they found ready sale not only in the town but were shipped in barrel lots to Crookston, Thief River Falls and to stations along the line.

School Gymnasium.

In the year 1911 when there was no place for the boys to play, Mr. Jedlicka made up a subscription list, himself paying $100 and thus getting a subscription of $1,000 to build up a gymnasium with. The money was quickly raised and the gymnasium built by the classes in the manual training shop, under the direction of the manual training instructor, P. E. Erickson, now manual training instructor at Wells, Minn.

New School House.

The expansion of the work and the increase of the number of pupils in the school, especially those from the country, necessitated the building of a new school house. McIntosh today has one of the best school houses that money could build, and it has been so planned that when the time for the old building's discontinuation comes the new building may be completed to house the entire system. This building is modern in every way and affords a comfort to the children that they had not enjoyed in the past.

PUTNAM AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL, McINTOSH.

SUPT. A. J. JEDLICKA.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Prof. E. M. Morgan Elected President of Governors of Men's Union.

Entrance Requirements for College of Agriculture Are Raised.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. E. M. Morgan of the law school was elected president of the board of governors of the Men's union at a meeting of the board last Saturday. Prof. Morgan succeeds Prof. Jenks, who is absent on leave from the university. Work on the remodeling of the old chemistry building, which is to be made over into a men's building will begin this summer. The sum of $17,500 was set aside for this purpose by the last legislature. Prof. Morgan said Thursday that he hoped to have the dining hall ready for use at the end of this coming summer. Plans for the remodeling of the chemistry building are in the hands of L. A. Lamoreaux, who, as an alumnus of the university, was active in the work of the Men's union when he was in college. The plans call for remodeling the interior of the building upon radical lines. Rooms will be furnished for the various organizations upon the campus. A small amphitheater will be built in one end of the building to afford a place for rehearsals for the various dramatic activities on the campus. Work on the new chemistry building is progressing rapidly. Indications are that it will be ready for occupancy before the end of the present school year, at which time a removal will be made from the old quarters, leaving the old chemistry building in the hands of the Men's union.

Requirements Increased.

At least six months practical experience or a practical knowledge equivalent thereto will hereafter be required for entrance to the Minnesota college of agriculture. Such was the decision of the college council, composed of members of the faculty, at its meeting Thursday. In addition to this requirement, six additional months of practical experience will be required of students in this college before he can receive a diploma. A statement of certificate showing this experience will be required of all students who register, but this in the case of those students coming directly from the farms, will prove merely a matter of form," said Dean Woods Tuesday. "The object of the requirement is to make the courses more practical and applicable to the general training of the student. It will be in the nature of a laboratory course in which the student may put into effect the knowledge gained through the winter."

Vaudeville Was Success.

The students' council vaudeville given in the farm chapel on last Saturday was pronounced a success by the large audience in attendance. The program began by an overture by the farm school orchestra. The headliner for the evening was a musical comedy, entitled "Splash," in which Catherine Anderson and Floyd Sherman starred. Among the other numbers was a drill by the crack squad, an illustrated talk by Bart, the cartoonist of the Minneapolis Journal, and some songs by the Farm Glee club.

Prof. Thurston to Stay.

Prof. E. S. Thurston of the university law faculty has decided not to accept the offer of a like position in the Yale law college. It is understood that university authorities have met the salary offer of the Yale board.

Medical Students Meet.

The sophomore pre-medic class had a smoker in the smoking room of Millard hall Tuesday night, and a large number of the pre-medics attended. Dean Lyons and Dr. Jackson, head of the anatomy department, were present. Dr. Jackson, in a short address, proposed that idea that the class begin a Students' Medical association, which would hold frequent meetings, at which students themselves would read original papers. Dean Lyons voiced Dr. Jackson's sentiments and said such an association would undoubtedly aid in the all-around development of the medical students.

Employment for Graduates.

The Minnesota College of Agriculture has appointed a committee to represent the institution in the matter of securing employment for its graduates. Large numbers of the students who graduate in the home economics and agricultural departments are sought every year, at this time, and it is the purpose of the college to bring the students seeking employment in touch with these requests, in the most effective way possible. Prof. A. V. Storm, chairman of the committee, stated Thursday that applications for graduates from the class of 1914 were already beginning to come in gratifying numbers.

Agricultural Commencement.

Commencement is in plain sight at the agricultural school and will be held on March 25. All work at the school is being rounded out with the approach of the end of the school year. There will be an extemporaneous speaking contest at the school on next Tuesday. A medal will be presented to the winner, and two cash prizes will be awarded to the second and third best. This medal is contested for annually and is presented by its holder to the new winner.

The Dramatic Club.

At the meeting of the University Dramatic club, Wednesday noon, nine new Thespians were elected to membership in the club. It has been the policy of the Masquers to elect only those who have played a speaking part in a production of the club. The election is held by secret written ballot and only those who have positively demonstrated their dramatic ability are voted into the club. The club is now considering the "Professor's Love Story" and the "Private Secretary" for its spring production. Whichever play is chosen, will be presented at some over-town theater, probably the Princess or the Metropolitan, and then will subsequently be taken on the road for the university extension week.

To Translate Into Japanese.

Dr. Samuel G. Smith, of the department of sociology, is in receipt of a letter from a literary association of Tokio, Japan, asking permission to translate his latest text into the Japanese language. "Our object," says the writer, "is to reach those people of our nation who are not able to study the Western authorities in the original."

Ex-President Taft Coming.

Ex-President W. H. Taft is coming to Minneapolis to fill a lecture engagement with the law school, in the week of March 16 to 20. During his stay of five days he will fill, besides the four lectures to law students, over sixteen other engagements. To the university world, he will appear at chapel in the armory on Thursday noon, March 19. Prof. Taft will lecture to the classes of the law school on the first four days of his visit. His lectures will concern the government policy in respect to the trusts, particularly legislation in judicial decisions concerning the Standard Oil and Tobacco trust. On Wednesday, he will probably be entertained by the Minnesota Chapter of the Psi Upsilon fraternity, of which he is a member. On Thursday comes the assembly in the Armory, after which he will be entertained by President and Mrs. Vincent at luncheon. Early in the evening, he will be a guest of the Fraternity men, when they will entertain him at their Pan-Hellenic dinner.

Students' Expenses and Earnings.

According to figures compiled by the department of statistics of the university, seventeen men and seventeen women students attended college last year, at an expense of $260 for the year. The average total expense as computed from the reports of 2,659 students was $536.81 for men and $474.48 for women. Tuition and fees in the professional schools raised the average for the men. In the academic college, the average expenses for men were $469.52, while for the women students in the same college was $487. Only 62 men and 14 women reported a total expense of over $850. During the twelve months ending with June, 1913, the gross earnings of both men and women students totaled over $400,000. Almost 60 per cent of the men students did outside work during the college year, while 12 per cent of the women aided themselves in some material way. The average earnings of men during the college year was $161.16, and for the women $99.14. The average earnings for the men students for the summer vacation was $161.51, and of the women $68.25.

Students Fail to Pass.

One hundred and forty students have been dropped from the rolls at the university for failure to pass spring examinations, according to the announcement from Registrar E. B. Pierce's office Thursday. These failures are higher numerically and proportionately than last year, there being 121, or 4 per cent then, as against 4½ per cent now. "There seems to be no reason to believe that there is any unusual margin of deficiency or notable change in the standards," said President Vincent.

DIRECTORY OF CHARITIES

Associated Charities Prepares List of Societies and Institutions Working for Social Betterment.

Few Duluthians realize the number of charitable organizations existing in Duluth or caring for Duluth cases.

Apparently there is an institution or an organization to care for almost every conceivable case of destitution or illness.

During the last week or two the Associated Charities has been preparing a list of the societies and institutions engaged in different kinds of social relief work. They are classified according to the class of cases they care for, and a glance at the list will show just what society or institution any given case may be assigned to.

The list follows:

Coming of The Sunbeam

How to Avoid those Pains and Distress Which so Many Mothers Have Suffered

It is a pity more women do not know of Mother's Friend. This remedy softens the muscles, enables them to expand without strain and enables women to go through the ordeal without pain, nausea, morning sickness or other dreaded symptoms so familiar to many mothers.

There is no foolish diet to harass the mind. Thousands of women no longer resign themselves to the thought that sickness and distress are natural. They know better, for in Mother's Friend they have found how easy it is to banish all those dreaded experiences.

It is a subject every woman should be familiar with, and even though she may not require such a remedy, she will now and then meet some prospective mother to whom a word in time about Mother's Friend will come as a wonderful blessing. This famous remedy is sold by all druggists, and is only $1.00 a bottle. It is for external use only. Write to-day to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 227 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most valuable book to expectant mothers.

MISSIONARY STATESMAN ON OUR IMMIGRATION POLICY

Political circles in Washington are taking deep interest in the plan of Rev. Dr. Sidney L. Gulick of Japan for the settlement of the immigration problem. Dr. Gulick is a missionary of the American board (the foreign society of the Congregational denomination) and has been in Japan for twenty-six years. He is dean of the theological department of the Doshisha, the leading Christian university of Japan, and also lecturer in the Imperial university at Tokio. He is now on furlough in this country.

Dr. Gulick has been called before the senate committee on foreign relations where he was questioned closely as to the details of the bill which he has prepared looking not only to a settlement of our difficulties with Japan but also to a law covering the entire alien problem. A bolder and more original measure has rarely come before congress. President Wilson became interested in the proposition and after an extended interview with Prof. Gulick asked him to state the proposition in writing, promising to give it careful consideration. Secretary Bryan was equally cordial. A significant fact is that the Japanese ambassador, Viscount Sutemi Chinda, is advised of the new proposals arising from this unexpected source, and is co-operating heartily.

What is this measure which causes the doors of the White House, the state department and senate committee rooms to open so readily?" Prof. Gulick advocates the limitation of all immigration to 5 per cent annually of those already naturalized with their American-born children. This rate would allow to enter all who might come from North Europe, would cut down immigration somewhat from South and East Europe, and allow only a slight immigration from Asia. This would avoid the objection of differential treatment of the nations and so be in equal harmony with the dignity of all.

The principle on which he bases this rate is that we should admit no more aliens from any people than we can assimilate. Assimilation, however, takes place largely by means of those already naturalized, who know the languages, customs and ideals of both lands.

Also a bureau of education to set standards, prepare textbooks, and hold examinations free of charge. The registration fee should be reduced with every examination passed.

Also a bureau of naturalization. Certificates of graduation from the bureau of education and of good behavior from the bureau of registration should be essential to naturalization.

All new citizens should take the oath of allegiance to the flag on the Fourth of July; on which day there should be processions with banners and badges, welcome orations and responses.

Eligibility to American citizenship should be based on personal qualification. The mere fact of race should be neither qualification nor a disqualification.

Such a policy, Dr. Gulick contends, would completely solve, not only the perplexing Japanese problem, but also the dreaded yellow peril. It would put America right with all Asia; maintain and deepen our international friendship; and help to promote the uplift of China and secure our share of the enormous commerce which is to develop between China and the West in the near future.

Whatever may be judged as to the merits of Prof. Gulick's bill, all must recognize the measure as intended to be highly constructive, a genuine contribution to a most difficult problem. That it should arise from a missionary is only one among many evidences as to the high quality of the men being sent to the foreign lands by the leading mission boards. Prof. Gulick is not the only famous man who bears this name. The American board has sent out five members of this talented family: Rev. Peter J. Gulick, Prof. Gulick's grandfather, was one of the early missionaries to the Sandwich Islands; his father, Rev. Luther H. Gulick, was also a missionary to Micronesia, and he has two uncles now in the service of the American board, both distinguished men, Rev. O. H. Gulick now in Honolulu, whose work was mainly in Japan, and Rev. William H. Gulick, who with his talented wife went to Spain in 1871, a man beloved and honored throughout that country as a statesman, a missionary, and a Christian gentleman.

AUGURS WELL FOR OYSTER FARMING

London, March 14.—The interesting discovery has been made, according to a consular report from Algeria, of the adaptability of the oyster to change in its surroundings. The inspector of fisheries in the Arzew district states that he found that as the result of the slow closing of the mouth of the river La Macta by a sand-bar the edible oyster had almost completely adapted itself to an existence in fresh water. Oysters were found thriving in parts of the river entirely devoid of salt. It would seem from this, adds the inspector, that the adaptability of the oyster to changes in its surroundings—provided this takes place slowly—is very great, a fact that augurs well for the success of oyster farming.

FROM HIS MOTHER.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: "Papa, the phrenologist says I ought to be a preacher. He says I have great talent in that line."

"I shouldn't wonder," replied father; "you probably inherit it from your mother."

SHRINERS WILL ADVERTISE DULUTH

This is a reproduction of the emblem which will be placed on the badges to be worn by Duluth Shriners on their pilgrimage to Atlanta, Ga., next May to attend the annual meeting of the Imperial council, Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

The badges will be of white satin, each twelve inches in length and three inches wide. The emblem will be printed on the badges in black ink. From the top of each badge will dangle a shower of the Shrine colors, red, yellow and green.

Duluth's reputation as a cool spot during the summer months will be well advertised by the local nobles who will attend. The Duluth delegation will leave for Atlanta on May 8.

"CASCARETS" CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

Feel Bully! No Headache, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath, Constipation.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

Lent continues to check the social activities of Duluth.

Little formal entertaining is being done, and the season is the dullest of the year in social circles.

Duluthians who have been in California or Florida for the winter have not yet begun to return, and most of them plan to spend the rest of March and the first part of April away from Duluth, although this year it is doubtful if they are more fortunate in respect to weather, than those who have remained in the city.

What entertaining was done during the week consisted chiefly of small informal dinner and bridge parties.

The club women are winding up their year's work. The Matinee Musical will complete a very successful season this month, the final program being the students' vaudeville which will be given on Saturday, March 28. The student members are now busy rehearsing for this novel entertainment, which will be under the direction of Mrs. Stephen H. Jones.

The approaching lecture by Dr. H. W. Wiley under the auspices of the Housewives' league, is of interest to every housewife.

Next Tuesday evening the annual banquet of the Young Women's Christian association will be held. The hostesses will be as follows:

Mesdames T. W. Hoopes, O. W. Rowe, S. E. Atkins, W. E. Sherwood, F. C. Bowman, R. T. Huge, S. W. De Vey, David Davis, T. L. Chapman, J. H. McLean, W. A. McGonagle. Misses Helen Congdon, Moody, Needham.

St. Patrick's day will be fittingly celebrated next week and little Irish plays will be presented by several organizations.

NORMAL SCHOOL WILL GRADUATE LARGEST CLASS IN ITS HISTORY

SENIOR GRADUATING CLASS AT NORMAL SCHOOL.

With the reorganization of the Duluth normal school classes this week in preparation for the new semester, it is expected that the senior graduation class will be the largest in the history of the local institution.

At the office of President Bohannon it was said yesterday afternoon that the total membership of the class will reach fifty by the time the reorganization is completed, within the next few days. The accompanying photograph does not show the complete class on this account.

Should the entire class graduate this June, it will be the largest in the history of the local institution. An interesting fact is that the graduation classes have increased each year since the normal school was opened, nearly thirteen years ago.

President Bohannon has not yet announced graduation week, but it will probably be during the early part of June.

Lodge Affairs

Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth will speak on "Ireland" at the regular meeting of Duluth council, No. 3, Modern Samaritans, Monday evening. The program will include vocal selections by Miss Margaret Linehan.

During the winter months the council has staked a "national night" once each month, featuring the songs and traditions of some particular nation on each occasion. The meetings have been highly successful from the standpoint of attendance. In April an English national program will be arranged under the direction of W. A. Atherton.

The regular business meeting will take place Monday evening between 8 and 9 o'clock and the program will commence sharply at 9:15. Dancing will follow the program.

The regular monthly dance will be held March 23.

LAKESIDE MASONS ENTERTAIN "LADIES"

Lakeside lodge, No. 281, A. F. & A. M., entertained at a "ladies' night" affair last evening at the Masonic lodge rooms in the Lakeside town hall. About ninety people attended the entertainment.

Every woman present was presented with a rad carnation and the evening was spent at music and cards, bridge and five hundred being played.

Miss Agnes Mae Johnson read two selections, both of which were well received. The Zenith quartet and Messrs. Quayle and A. B. McKnight sang.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

"Newly-Weds" Can Start On Much Less Than $30 a Week.

At least $30 a week say a handful of maids in a Western city, who have formed themselves into a club known as the $30 club. That must be the salary of the man any one of them weds. I believe that some provision has been made for the young man who does not receive more than $25 a week. If he earns $25 and can start housekeeping, free from all debt, he will be accepted.

Undoubtedly, these young ladies possess a considerable amount of common sense. They show it when they frown upon a man who does not earn enough to support one, let alone two. In spite of this, however, there would be few marriages in this club if its membership swelled very rapidly, or marriages anywhere if girls in different sections of the country decided to adopt and act upon the $30 basis.

In the first place the average man's wage is far below the $30 mark. I cannot state what it is to a dollar and a cent because I do not know, but I have heard or read somewhere that more men receive less than $15 at the end of each week than are paid over that amount. The position in life of every one of the members of the $30 club may be far above the average, and the girls themselves accustomed in their parent's homes to luxuries that could not be bought with double that sum.

I sincerely hope that every one of these girls wins a husband for herself who will meet all requirements, including that of salary, but if one or two of them find they are going to lose their chances of happiness unless they compromise on an $18 or $20 salary, by all means let them compromise and together work for the larger salary. Even if it never comes they will find that they can live and be happy and comfortable without it.

I am no believer in some of the widely advertised schemes for supporting a family on $1 a week and putting a nest-egg by for the rainy day. I should not want to attempt it with the food market in its present state, and meat, butter and eggs and like commodities at their present prices.

On the other hand, $30 is an ample sum for young people to begin wedded life on. If they have health, love one another, and have the right idea of life, they can safely begin on much less and be the better for the economies they have had to practice.

It is not so much what a man earns as what he saves. If before he marries he has saved enough to furnish his home, he can venture upon the sea of matrimony on quite a modest salary.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB WILL BE HEARD IN CONCERT HERE

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA GLEE CLUB.
From Left to Right, Front Row—Farnquist, Hanson, Carlyle, Scott (Director), Balch, Agnew, Smith, Carlson. Second Row—Stacey, Winterble, Stewart, Durham, Johnson, Stori. Third Row—Grant, Thorson, Reinhardt, Wahlquist, Richards, Roberts. Back Row—West, Hofstad, Fischer, Lund, Olson, P. E. Scott.

THE Minnesota Glee club will be heard in concert at the Pilgrim Congregational church on the evening of March 20.

William MacPhail of Minneapolis, violinist, will be the assisting soloist.

Prominent among the members of the club are Ingolf Grindeland, Earle Balch, Oscar Jerde, R. O. Webster, Victor Lundberg and Ernest Golden.

Ingolf Grindeland, who has been called the Caruso of the University of Minnesota, has been a member of the glee club three years. Earle Balch, both an excellent pianist and singer, has been in great demand in the Twin Cities. He was soloist with an orchestra on one of the leading Lyceum bureaus last summer.

Oscar Jerde, who, like Balch, is an excellent basso, has been identified with the Luther college chorus of Decorah, Iowa, and with other musical organizations.

Russell O. Webster, who is both a member of the club and its manager, has been prominent in musical circles at the university for three years. He is a member of the honorary musical fraternity, Mu Phi Delta. Mr. Webster was president of the glee club last year and was instrumental in securing the long tours last year and this.

Ernest Golden is probably the best known member of the club. He began his musical career as a choir boy in the East, where he traveled as a soloist. In his teens he directed a light opera company. Mr. Golden is an accomplished pianist. He has written several operas, one of which was presented by last year's senior class of the university.

The program follows:

"Soldier's Chorus" ..... Gounod
Solo—"All Through the Night" ..... Old Welsh
William L. Smith.

DULUTH YOUNG WOMEN ENJOYING THE LAST DAYS OF THE COASTING AND BOBBING SEASON

SPILLED.

ROUNDING A CURVE.

READY TO START.

THE EASIEST WAY TO DESCEND A HILL.
—Photos by McKenzie.

The open season for "coasting" and "bobbing" parties is drawing to a close.

And unless old Sol is a little more merciful in his treatment of the lily-white blanket which covers the Duluth hills than he has been within the last few days, tobogganists will be taking their last shoot down the slide next week.

Owing to the recent thaw, the sliding season is practically over. On a few hills within easy reach of suburban car lines, there is enough snow left to carry a "bob" down.

The season for slidding, skiing and snow-shoeing has been short, but many Duluthians have taken advantage of it. Nearly every Sunday and holiday, hundreds of Duluth young people are out in the open air enjoying these winter sports.

The pictures reproduced above were taken last week on the Chester Creek hill.

Northwest. Mrs. Walker and daughter, Helen, will remain until June.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The hockey championship of the high school was made by the sophomores, the final game being played at the curling club rink.

The sophomores defeated their junior rivals earlier in the season, but as the juniors defeated both the freshmen and seniors, it was necessary for the championship team to defeat the team of second highest standing at least two games. The sophomores consequently took the long end of both these games by scores of 4 to 3 and 3 to 2.

One of the important games of the basket ball season occurred Friday night, when the Central team clashed with the strong Hibbing high school team, champions of the range. Hibbing had previously defeated the Central team at Hibbing by the score of 26 to 22.

* * *

A very important rehearsal of all high school students who are members of the Matinee Musicale occurred on Friday afternoon at the close of school.

* * *

The stump held its regular program on Wednesday, at which time Irving Graner gave an exposition of the recent "overthrow of Tammany." Philip Altman spoke on "Certain Modern Phases of Literary Interpretation." President Oliver Vivian resigned his position because of other interests, and the society immediately filled the vacancy by the election of George Sullivan to the presidency.

* * *

The Freshmen Girls' Literary society at their last meeting selected "Delphian" as the name of their organization.

* * *

The Freshmen Boys' Literary club held its regular weekly meeting on Wednesday, at which time a general discussion was held on President Wilson's foreign policy regarding Mexico.

* * *

The Thalian society, composed of advanced mathematics students, held a meeting on Thursday afternoon, at which time Miss Wells addressed the members.

* * *

The high school orchestra is making good progress in the rehearsals which are being held preparatory to furnishing music for the class play of the seniors which will be given on April 17 and 18.

* * *

The French club held its fudge party on Wednesday, about forty students taking part in the ceremonies. The events of the afternoon were in charge of Margaret Hoyt, Fanny Weinberg and Alice Holahan.

* * *

The Zenith board held an important meeting on Wednesday, at which time the seniors were urged to complete their contributions to the class section, and Harold Bradley, editor-in-chief, urged that a few more appropriate kodak views be secured.

* * *

L. F. Erickson, who was secured last fall some time after the opening of school to take charge of the Swedish and Norwegian class, has resigned, and left for St. Paul to take up work in that city.

* * *

On Tuesday evening at the cathedral gymnasium occurred one of the scheduled games of basket ball between the Duluth Central team and the Cathedral high quintet. Playing in poor luck and also outplayed by the superior all-around work of the Cathedral boys, the Central team was defeated by the score of 48 to 8. Owing to the fact that several new men are out to help strengthen the team for the final game with the Cathedral boys, the chances for Central's playing a much better game in the final contest of the season next Friday night in their own gymnasium are very good. The "come back spirit" is awakened at Central and those who witness the game on Friday night, March 20, will see one of the fastest games ever played at the Washington gymnasium.

The Duluth Central debating team won its first interscholastic debate of the season on last Saturday evening, by defeating the debating trio of the Cloquet High school, at Cloquet. The Central team upheld the affirmative side of the question, which is acknowledged to be the more difficult side of the argument on the following: "Resolved, That All Judges Should Be Made Subject to the Recall, Constitutionally Granted."

Work along lines of their special interest is encouraged among the biology students. At present a detailed dissection of a cat is being made by George Macfarlane, Sam Litman and Harold Pattison. These boys spend about two hours per day at this special work.

MATINEE MUSICALE STUDENTS WILL GIVE VAUDEVILLE SHOW

LOUIS GOMBERG AS MOZART.

THE annual student vaudeville show and frolic of the Matinee Musicale will be held on March 28 at the new Masonic temple. The program will begin at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and will be in charge of Mrs. Stephen H. Jones.

The student vaudeville is an annual feature of the Matinee Musicale, and is one of the most popular entertainments given each year under the direction of the members. It is the one afternoon when the usual conventionality of a musical gathering is dropped.

A student orchestra will render several selections and the members will be led by little Louis Gomberg, who will portray the character of Mozart, the great composer.

The headline "act" for the vaudeville show will be exeracts from "The Mikado." Local song hits and selections from the opera will be sung. Charles Young, the only boy student in the society, will give a tenor solo.

Prof. Leo will introduce some new dances as one of the numbers. Miss Nellie Stoughton, who is directing the dances at the schools of the city, will also present some of her dances, and Miss Berta Schmied and her brother, Leo Schmied, will be seen in the new ballroom dances.

Several other numbers now in preparation will be presented and the entertainment promises to be one of the most enjoyable of the society's very successful season.

WOMEN'S CLUBS WILL MEET IN CLOQUET MAY 4

Annual Convention of Clubs in Eighth Congressional District Being Planned—Two Days' Program.

PLANS are being made for the sixth annual convention of the Federated Women's clubs of the Eighth congressional district of Minnesota, to be held in Cloquet May 4 and 5.

There are 600 club members in the district and the Cloquet women expect many visitors.

On Tuesday, May 4, the visitors will be entertained at luncheon served by the domestic science class of the Cloquet high school. Immediately after the luncheon the convention will open in the auditorium of the new Masonic temple. In the evening an address will be given by some prominent platform speaker, who has not been decided upon. A reception will follow the address.

Sessions will be resumed Wednesday morning, May 5, and it is probable that by evening the majority of the guests will have left for their homes.

Among those who will take part in the program on child welfare will be Mrs. C. L. Atwood of St. Cloud, the president of the Minnesota Federated Women's clubs. Her subject will be "The New Community Spirit."

Committees from the Cloquet club in charge of the convention plans, follow:

General chairman—Mrs. Fred Vibert.
Finance and speaker—Mrs. Hugo Schlenk, Mrs. W. G. Dolan, Mrs. H. G. W. Havens, Mrs. John Dunlavy.

Ushers—Mrs. W. F. Heasley, Miss Helen B. Halsh, Miss Helen M. McNair.

Mrs. J. T. Sheean and Mrs. E. S. Davis will be the official representatives of the Cloquet club at the convention.

Quality Furniture

Picturesque New Furniture Full of Charm and Yet Withal Priced Very Inexpensively

This early Spring announcement concerns a sale as well as a show—it is a value-giving event as well as an object lesson in furniture of high quality. And by that we mean furniture that will command immediate and close attention from those discerning folks who are fortunate enough to see it. Built with the idea that you home lovers would rather have quality than quantity and goodness more than just simply "looks." It is artistic without a jarring note—fine without freakishness. It is furniture that can be handed down as heirlooms to your children's children.

PLAYS IN NEW YORK.

Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra Is Heard in the Metropolis.

THE Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, conducted by Emil Oberhoffer, was heard in New York the first week of this month. "Musical America" of March 7 says: "Mr. Oberhoffer conducts with a certain authority, with enthusiasm and with a knowledge of his scores, though he refuses to have them in front of him. A brilliant New York critic remarked a month ago that it is indeed a late day to attempt to impress a New York audience by conducting symphonic works from memory."

Eugen Ysaye was the soloist of the concert. A critic said the agreeable feature of Ysaye's numbers was the fine accompaniments Conductor Oberhoffer gave.

SOCIAL CENTERS.

Activities Planned By Various Clubs for Coming Week.

The Junior Woman's club of Bryant Social Center will meet Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. "Nursing as a Profession" will be discussed.

At the meeting of the Irving Social Center Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be a glee club rehearsal, folk dancing, classes, athletics, meetings of the Debating and Dramatic clubs and a cooking exhibit.

Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Lakeside Social Center there will be two basket ball games. The Lakeside girls will play the S. P. A. A. quintet and the Lakeside boys against the Lake Hardware team.

Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock there will be an open meeting of the Bryant Social Center. Prof. John Ohrol will discuss the Balliss trial in Russia and moving pictures.

Thursday evening a supper will be given by the Irving Social Center Dramatic club at Irving school.

D. A. R. Meeting.

The Greysolon du Lhut chapter, D. A. R., will meet at the home of Mrs. George Ebert of 1909 Greysolon road Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. W. A. Coventry will be the assisting hostess. Roll call will be answered by quaint sayings. Miss Jessie Spalding will lead the discussion, "Americans in Song and Story." There will be vocal and instrumental music.

Will Give Play.

The Sunday school children of Temple Emanuel will present "Esther," a five-act play, Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the temple, Seventh avenue east and Second street.

"The Four-Leaved Shamrock."

TUESDAY evening the Young Men's sodality of St. Clement's church, assisted by the Young Ladies' sodality, will give "The Four-Leaved Shamrock," a three-act comedy. The story tells of the O'Gorman family who are reduced from carriages and fine horses to nothing but an old jaunting car and a poor blind donkey. Mr. and Mrs. O'Gorman are heartbroken over their reduced circumstances and welcome the offer of Lord Killgavan to marry their daughter, Rose. Their grief is great when the sham lord and his French valet skip off with what remains of their family plate but this is all changed when the long-lost deeds to Glenwhyllion estate are found through the secret of the four-leaved shamrock ring which Hugh, the poor Irish boy, Rose's lover, presents to her. Molly O'Donnell, the old servant, with her hatred for the "Frinch valley" is a strong comedy part. Miss Tetbury Tattleton, the literary lady, although considered a nuisance and a busy body, earns the thanks of the family by exposing the fraud Lord Killgavan. The play ends happily by everyone praising the four-leaved shamrock and dancing a real old Irish jig to be danced at the wedding of Rose and Hugh.

The evening's program has been arranged as follows: Piano solo by Miss Mary Wade, oration by J. J. Murphy of St. Paul, vocal solo by James Wade, piano solo by Miss Elizabeth Devaney,

AMATEURS WILL PRESENT ROMANTIC IRISH COMEDY

JAMES LYDON.

VIRGINIA SMITH.

MISS ETHEL GRENIER.

MYLES AROON," the romantic Irish comedy-drama in four acts by George Jessop and Horace Townsend, will be given in the Cathedral auditorium Tuesday evening, March 17, at 8 p. m. The play will follow a lecture by Father Walsh of St. Paul.

The scene of Myles Aroon is laid in County West Meath, Ireland. The play is the story of a young Irishman, Myles Aroon, who is engaged by Lady Glover as assistant gardener. Squire Thurston, whose suit has been rejected by Lady Glover, and Mike Carney, Lady Glover's head gardener, find a valuable bracelet she has dropped and they form a conspiracy to make it appear that Myles had stolen it. Through all the doubt and suspicion, Myles' sweetheart, Maggie Farrell, who is also in Lady Glover's service as nursemaid, remains loyad and tries to help him prove his innocence. With true Irish strategy Myles discovers the real thief, exposes him to Lady Glover and gets back his position as gardener.

The part of Myles Aroon will be taken by James W. Lydon, who is well known in amateur dramatic circles, having played important roles in practically every play staged by the Cathedral club.

Special Irish costumes for the piece have been ordered from a Minneapolis costumer. The music will be furnished by Flaaten's orchiestra.

The cast is:

Myles Aroon, a young Irish gardener ..... James W. Lydon
Squire Thornton, the last of a wicked family ..... F. Archie McDowell
Mike Carney, Lady Glover's gardener ..... P. W. Casey

Anne O'Connor, guest of Lady Glover ..... Anne Toben
Nora, peasant girl ..... Belle Powers
Katie, peasant girl ..... Anne Toben
Police officer ..... Edward F. Casey

ORPHEUS SINGERS AND JOEL MOSSBERG HEARD IN CONCERT

THE Orpheus Singing society last evening presented a concert program at the Pilgrim Congregational church. Joel Mossberg, baritone, was soloist, and his fine voice was displayed to excellent advantage in several languages.

There was a fairly large attendance and the applause which the entertainers aroused was enthusiastic. So fine were the chorus numbers that many encores were demanded. The rendering by the chorus of "Hor Oss, Sven" was splendidly done. Their second selection, "Sta Stark," also was ably given. The chorus sang under the very capable direction of W. A. Anderson.

Mr. Mossberg left a fine impression on his audience, and his strong, clear voice and perfect enunciation in several languages, were deserving of the hearty response with which he met. Among his numbers were "On the Road to Mandalay," and Italian and Swedish groups. Miss Swanberg rendered a very capable accompaniment.

The personnel of the Orpheus Singing society is as follows:

First tenors, John Lantz, L. E. Melander, O. G. Olson, E. F. Swanson, S. Edman, A. B. Welander, R. Berg, Albin Olund, Arthur Peterson and Iver Holmberg; second tenors, C. W. Lindstrom, Linus Olson, Ludwig Strand, W. E. Saari, Harold Granquist, C. E. Linden and A. J. Sundquist; first bass, Fritz Noreen, Theodore Anderson, C. G. Carlson, Otto Holmstrom, A. W. Johnson, Arthur Nelson, Dave Nelson, Henning Orrfalt, George Wolean, A. E. Olund; second bass, Alfred Anderson, Carl Johnson, John Myhrman, Dan Myhrman, Ole Myhrman, Ralph Granquist, Herman Lundholm; director, W. A. Anderson.

FAMOUS ENGLISH SINGERS WILL BE HEARD IN CONCERT HERE

MME. CLARA BUTT AND KENNERLY RUMFORD.

"The Gods have been kind to Clara Butt," declares a London writer commenting upon the phenomenal art of the great English contralto. "They have given her gifts that have won for her fame and fortune. And far above all that, they have given here a voice that can stir the hearts of men, and arouse emotions long forgotten. Such a voice does not only sing. It exhorts, it encourages, it stimulates. Let such a voice sing in a crowded hall in a time of national excitement, and it will arouse men to do its bidding."

Mme. Butt was born in Southwick, Sussex, England. At an early age her remarkable voice began to develop, though her own people, oddly, did not think it at all extraordinary. It was left to a casual caller to observe that her vocal abilities were unusual. Overhearing her singing one day, the visitor remarked to the young woman's mother, "What a wonderful voice your boy has." On being told it was a girl singing, the caller urged the parents to secure the best masters obtainable, and ultimately the advice was followed. A local teacher took her in hand, but, curiously enough, trained her as a soprano.

It was not for several years, that the young singer's talent was really discovered, and her voice was "placed" as a contralto. Four years at the Royal Conservatory brought marvelous results, and then Mme. Butt went to Paris to complete her studies and enter upon a public career. On her reappearance in London she was hailed as the queen of English contraltos, and since then she has taken the world by storm. Loudon Charlton has so arranged the Butt-Rumford tour that the artists will spend three months in America en route to their home in England following a phenomenally successful tour of Australia.

FATHERS AND SONS SIT DOWN TO BANQUET TOGETHER

The first "Father and Son" banquet conducted by the boys' department, Y. M. C. A., was held last evening at the boys' building.

Every seat in the big club room was taken, and the event was one of the most interesting and successful ever held by the boys' department.

The dinner was served by a special committee of boys. The program began at 7:30 with Richard Cullum as toastmaster. His work would have done credit to a man of mature years. With fitting remarks each speaker was introduced.

Willard Thorp made the address of welcome. He at once made it very clear to every "dad" that he was most welcome and gave the guests a cordial invitation to visit the club whenever they had the time.

Irving Grover gave the talk on "The Kind of a Dad a Boy Likes to Have" and in a very forcible way he "put the 'dads' next" from a boy's standpoint. He liked a "dad" that he could brag about to others, he said, a "dad" that was perfectly frank, a "dad" that understood him, a "dad" that sympathized with him when in trouble and one with whom he could talk over the problems of his life. "The kind of a 'dad' a boy does not like is the 'dad' who drinks and does other things that makes a fellow ashamed of him," he said.

Watson S. Moore spoke on the kind of a boy a "dad" likes to have. The first thing a "dad' likes to have his boy is good looking, he said, for the first thing people say when they see the boy, "he's the dead image of his father." A "dad" likes a boy, who is prompt in doing the work that is assigned him, one who is thrifty, earns some money for himself and is not always depending on the family purse, a boy who is truthful, one who is perfectly honest. His address was filled with appropriate stories which struck ten with every boy.

N. D. McLeod spoke on the topic "Father and Son" showing the need of a close friendship.

Miss Mina McAskill, Fred Campbell and J. R. Batchelor rendered a musical program which was very much appreciated. The evening closed with some moving pictures.

The Father and Son dinner will be made an annual affair.

MAIL ORDER STOCK DECLARED WORTHLESS

Two Indicted Men Are Arraigned at Syracuse, N. Y.

Albany, N. Y., March 14.—Two or three officers of the Heffron company, a Syracuse mail order house, who are under indictment on a charge of using the mails to defraud, were arraigned before Federal Judge Ray here. William H. Stansfield, the vice president, who is engaged in banking in Syracuse and manufacturing in Utica, and George W. Loop, the secretary and treasurer, pleaded not guilty. Stansfield's bond was fixed at $6,000 and Loop's at $10,000. Each gave bond. William E. Heffron, the president, is being sought in New York by United States authorities.

The firm, which was formerly known at the Heffron-Tanner company, recently went into bankruptcy. Stock said to approximate $760,000 had been sold in various parts of the country. Representation was made, according to Federal authorities, that it would pay 10 per cent on par and had a market value above par, but it is said to be practically worthless. Household supplies were handled principally by the firm.

Loop formerly was a railroad man and he is said to have induced many persons engaged in that work to purchase stock. Stansfield, it is said, never has been active in the company, but owned much stock.

BEGGARED BY PANIC; WEALTH ELUDES HIM

Chicago Pioneer Who Wandered Since 1873—Dies in Denver.

Denver, Colo., March 14.—Two letters written eighteen years ago have solved the mystery surrounding the death here on Feb. 23 of an aged recluse, whose body was found in a vacant building in the downtown rooming house district. The coroner's office announces the man was Charles Boetcher, 86 years old, pioneer of Chicago. A son, Theodore E. Bettcher, still lives in Chicago.

Boetcher is said to have been a wealthy building contractor in Chicago until the panic of 1873, when he lost his fortune. He then came to Denver, where he lived the life of a hermit.

Wanderer Since 1873.

Chicago, March 14.—Charles Boetcher, the aged recluse who died at Denver, had been a wanderer about the United States since 1873, seeking to regain a fortune he lost in the panic of that year, according to Theodore Bettcher, his son. The son said that his son, W. F. Bettcher, had gone to Denver to care for the body of his grandfather.

Boetcher, according to his son, had been a wealthy contractor here prior to 1873, but had lost most of his wealth that year.

"Every few years I would hear of my father from some distant city," said Bettcher, "and I always would make an effort to have him come home and live with me, but he always wanted to get rich again before he would return."

IRON RIVER, MICH.

Iron River, Mich., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—B. Magoffin of Deerwood was a business visitor during the week.

W. J. Phillips left Sunday to attend the meeting of chemists for the Steel corporation at Duluth.

Mrs. A. F. Jones of Baraboo was in town a few days last week.

The Twentieth Century club met on Friday at the home of Mrs. Ames. Papers were read by Mrs. H. J. Fisher and by Mrs. N. E. Fisher on "Rights and Privileges of Children" and the "Montessori Method." Fourteen members were present.

P. L. Boyington was a Crystal Falls visitor Tuesday night, driving over in his auto.

L. J. McLord of Duluth was in town Saturday.

Capt. Harry McDermott returned from Cleveland Tuesday, where he has been for the past two months superintending the erection of his patent-loading device at the shops of the Secrer-Wellman & Morgan company.

The Miners' State bank has issued about 3,000 announcements of the opening of its new building on Monday.

Mrs. N. MacPherson is spending the week at the home of her son, A. D. MacPherson.

B. Krom has moved his family into their handsome new residence on Cayuga street, his former place being now occupied by C. C. Ritz and family.

QUITS U. S. JOB; "PAY TOO POOR."

San Francisco Cal., March 14.—B. D. Townsend, special assistant to the United States attorney general, has wired his resignation to the attorney general, and gave as his reason for retiring that he could no longer give his service to the government at the compensation it is willing to pay.

Mr. Townsend has been connected with the department of justice since August, 1904.

FIVE BUILDINGS FOR WESLEYAN.

Middletown, Conn., March 14.—At Wesleyan university today it was announced that the board of trustees has voted to build an astronomical observatory, a new armitory, a new library, a new chemical laboratory and a fraternity house. The buildings call for an expenditure of about $1,000,000.

RECEIVER FOR THE INTER-OCEAN.

Chicago, March 14.—Herman H. Kohlsaat, president of the Inter Ocean Newspaper company, has been appointed receiver for the Inter Ocean by Federal Judge George A. Carpenter.

Chancery proceedings were started by the Lake Superior Paper company, which alleged that, because of conflicting claims, a receiver was necessary to conserve the property and conserve its good will as a going concern. Shortly after the appointment of Mr. Kohlsaat, a bill was filed in the state courts by the Central Trust company asking that a receiver be appointed.

These activities followed the filing of a suit by George Wheeler Hinman, president of Marietta college at Marietta, Ohio, former owner of the paper, against Mr. Kohlsaat for the recovery of an alleged unpaid balance of $96,252 on a note for $177,500 given by Mr. Kohlsaat in part payment for the paper.

Mr. Kohlsaat stated that the paper would continue to be published.

WIDOW CONFESSES; MAN IS SET FREE.

Chicago, March 14.—George Penrose, who was on trial with Mrs. Louis Van Keuren, charged with killing the woman's husband last June, received his freedom yesterday after Mrs. Van Keuren had confessed that she shot and killed her husband. Van Keuren, she said, had broken down the door to her apartment and she shot without knowing who was attempting to enter the rooms.

The state rested its case after the confession had been read, and the court took Penrose's case from the jury and gave him his liberty.

CALLS FOR NEW BIDS ON COUNTY ROAD WORK

County Auditor Odin Halden is readvertising for bids for the construction of state rural highway No. 4, which was legally established by the county board at its meeting on Sept. 27, 1913. The bids will be received up to 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, April 11. They must be based on the specifications of the engineer's report on file in the county auditor's office.

The new road will extend from the intersection of the Culver and Miller Trunk roads west to the county line. This will involve 31.8 miles of clearing and grubbing of right-of-way; 94,000 cubic yards of ditching; 38,000 cubic yards of turnpiking; 18,000 cubic yards of earth to be hauled on to the road where it traverses swampy land; 13,000 cubic yards of excavation, cut and fill work; 37,000 cubic yards of graveling and 74 corrugated galvanized metal culverts, varying from 15 inches to 48 inches in diameter. The estimated cost of the highway exclusive of engineering expenses, according to the engineer's estimate is $153,000. Contracts for building bridges on the road have been let.

IS ANNOUNCED AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Betrothal of Eleanor Wilson and Secretary McAdoo Confirmed.

Washington, March 14.—"The president and Mrs. Wilson announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Eleanor Randolph, to Hon. William Gibbs McAdoo."

This announcement was given out at the White House by Secretary Tumulty late Friday, after a day of speculation over the prospects for another White House wedding in June.

For weeks there have been rumors that the president's daughter and the secretary of the treasury would be married soon, and in the last day or two there has been no denial that an announcement could be expected. The exact date of the wedding is not known, but it is generally believed that it will be some time in June.

"Her Father's Pet."

There has been extraordinary interest in the engagement among officials and the many friends Miss Wilson and the cabinet officer have made during the year they have been in the capital. The youngest of the family, Miss Eleanor is said to be her father's pet, and there is a strong personal friendship between the president and the man who is to marry his daughter.

Reports that Secretary McAdoo would retire from the cabinet after his marriage and perhaps become an ambassador to France, were set at rest last night by White House officials, who said emphatically, that he was expected to remain at the head of the treasury department.

Miss Wilson will be the fourteenth White House bride, and the second of President Wilson's daughters to marry in the nation's executive mansion. Her sister, Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, became Mrs. F. B. Sayre in the East room on Nov. 25 last.

Not Real Surprise.

Washington society has not been altogether unprepared for the news of the engagement, for the couple have been seen together at many dances and social functions. Though Secretary McAdoo is 50 years old and Miss Wilson is 24, intimate friends of the secretary say "he is as young as a man of 30." He is fond of tennis and outdoor sports, and played tennis often on the White House courts with Miss Wilson last spring and fall. Miss Wilson is athletic, a good horsewoman, and delights in outdoor life.

Amusements

AT THE LYCEUM.

"Within the Law" Opens a Return Engagement in Duluth.

Although seen here but a few months ago, "Within the Law" proved just as popular when it opened a two-day return engagement at the Lyceum theater last evening. A large audience witnessed the opening performance and from all appearances enjoyed the production as thoroughly as did those who saw it the first time it was here.

There is something fascinating about the play and it seems to hold the audience in a firm grip.

The cast is almost identical with the one that appeared here earlier in the season. Miss Jane Gordon is still portraying Mary Turner, about whom the plot hangs, while the characters of Joe Carson, Agnes Lynch and Inspector Burke are still handled and capably, too, by Miss Eileen Wilson, William Lambert and Daniel Sullivan, respectively.

Miss Gordon is wonderfully effective in the emotional scenes. As Joe Carson, Mr. Lambert makes an excellent crook. Miss Wilson as Agnes Lynch is the comedy hit of the production and her lines and the manner in which they are delivered keep the audience in constant good humor while she is on the stage.

The story of "Within the Law" is known to almost every theatergoer. It tells of the sending of Mary Turner to Sing Sing for the alleged theft of some goods in a department store, where she was employed. She is innocent and vows vengeance on her employer, who sends her to prison. Upon leaving Sing Sing, Mary comes to New York and after being hounded by the police and thrown out of employment because of the efforts of the authorities, she joins a band of crooks.

The young woman finally meets the son of her former employer and as part of her vengeance, succeeds in marrying him. Of course, they finally love each other, but only after a robbery and murder, in which a stool pigeon is killed.

The production is well staged. It will be presented again this afternoon and evening.

ON THE IRON RANGES

TRUCK FARMING ON LARGE SCALE

Planned By Farmer Living Near to Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—D. C. Anderson, a Prairie River farmer, living two miles east of Grand Rapids, is planning to engage in truck gardening on an extensive scale. He is putting up a hothouse to be heated with a hot water plant, and expects to supply the local market with everything in the vegetable line, at a date earlier than usual.

Mr. Anderson has figured out that truck gardening can be made to pay big profits, and proposes to give it a thorough and practical test. He was in town today and purchased a heating plant for use in the hothouse.

MINING CONCERNS MUCH INTERESTED

Right to Reache Mines Involved in Hibbing Damage Case.

Hibbing, March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—An appeal to the supreme court is to be perfected within the next few weeks in the case of Joseph Minelli against the Oliver Iron Mining company, in which the jury returned a verdict yesterday afternoon for $1,800, of which $600 was for the depreciation of the property due to the removal of the viaduct over the Sellers pit.

The case is in the nature of a test of the right of the mining companies to remove a traveled highway without providing some other manner equally as convenient for ingress and egress to adjacent property. The higher court will be asked to rule on this phase of the question, there being little dispute, it is understood, over the question of the right to sue for damages sustained by flying missiles from the blasting.

Other Cases Expected.

Should the district court be confirmed by the supreme court it is claimed that there are several scores of similar cases that will be brought at once by property owners along the various open pits at the boundaries of the village, who claim a depreciation of their property because of the removal of the streets.

The Minelli case was contested at every step and the record is well filled with objections and exceptions made by the attorneys for both sides.

HIBBING MINING CAPTAIN CALLED

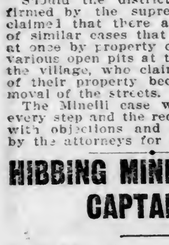

J. A. Hoskings, Who Came Twelve Years Ago From Ironwood, Passes.

Hibbing, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. J. A. Hosking died early this morning after an illness of three weeks. He was born in Cornwall, Eng. He first came to Ironwood, Mich., twenty-eight years ago and arrived in Hibbing twelve years ago. He was employed by the Pickands-Mather and the Inland Steel company. He was 53 years old and leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters. The funeral arrangements are not completed.

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich. — "I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, 'I don't need any more,' and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway.' So I took it for three months and got well and strong."—Mrs. ALONZO E. BAKER, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

Not Well Enough to Work.

In these words is hidden the tragedy of many a woman, housekeeper or wage earner who supports herself and is often helping to support a family, on meagre wages. Whether in house, office, factory, shop, store or kitchen, woman should remember that there is one tried and true remedy for the ills to which all women are prone, and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It promotes that vigor which makes work easy. The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

tions of this kind will be severely prosecuted and that no toleration of such acts will be allowed by his office. An energetic campaign along similar lines is being conducted all over the range.

ROAD EXTENSION AROUSES INTEREST

Towns Along Route of Proposed Trolley Extension on Qui Vive.

Hibbing, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Great interest is being shown by the towns along the line of the proposed extension of the Mesaba electric road in the progress of the investigation that is being made by the officials of the company and the Eastern engineers. Secretary Lewis of the local Commercial club is deluged with communications offering figures and any other assistance that he may require in properly presenting his case to the company.

To Outline Work.

Mr. Lewis, on Tuesday, will attend a meeting of the Grand Rapids boosters and will there outline the work that has been carried on. Grand Rapids is anxious to see the extension carried on to that town and the meeting Tuesday will be mainly for the purpose of discussing ways and means. Other invitations have also been received by Mr. Lewis from the towns in this section of the county to address different organizations on the club work.

The next regular meeting of the village council will be held at the village hall next Wednesday evening.

EXPECT DISCLOSURES.

Rumor Has It Eveleth City Accounts Are Not Right.

Eveleth, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The accountants who made an audit of the city's records for the two years 1912 and 1913, will submit a report to the city council to be read at a meeting next Tuesday.

There is an unconfirmed rumor that the accountants have made some sensational discoveries of discrepances in accounts, but this report cannot be verified.

ARREST SALOON KEEPER.

Hibbing Man Alleged to Have Served Liquor to Minors.

Hibbing, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Marino Sonaglio, a local saloon keeper, was arrested on complaints issued by the range probation officer charging him with selling liquor to minors and allowing minors to frequent his saloon. The case will be heard Monday in municipal court. Mr. Everett asserts that violations of this kind will be severely prosecuted and that no toleration of such acts will be allowed by his office. An energetic campaign along similar lines is being conducted all over the range.

PAY-DAY FIGHT.

Six Men Implicated Are Fined in Eveleth Court.

Eveleth, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—A pay day row following too much drinking after being paid at one of the mines brought on a cutting affray Thursday night that was aired in municipal court yesterday, and two Austrians were fined.

Three men were hurt. Andrew Steblay had his head gashed, his left hand cut and received stabs in the back and right shoulder. John Rupert received a gash from the forehead to the lip on the right side of his face. Both the upper and the lower eye lids were cut through, but the eyeball was not injured. John Semich received three wounds on the head.

John Semich and Frank Rupert pleaded guilty to assault in the third degree and drunkenness. Municipal Judge Moylan fined each $40 and costs or thirty days for drunkenness and $100 and costs or ninety days for the assault. The judge lectured the prisoners on the evils of weapon carrying and stated that he would always impose the maximum sentence in such cases. The fines were paid at once.

Frank Russ, Tony Skroba, Andrew Steblay and Frank Steblay were found guilty of being drunk. Charges against them for assault were dismissed. Each was fined $25 and costs or thirty days in jail. The fines will probably be paid.

HIBBING HEALTH IS CONSIDERED GOOD

Of 320 Contagious Disease Cases Last Year Only One Fatal.

Hibbing, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Though there were 320 cases of contagious diseases in Hibbing during the past year, only one resulted fatally, according to the annual report of Dr. C. F. Morsman, village health officer.

The cases were divided as follows: Measles, 199; scarlet fever, 62; typhoid, 17; trachoma, 14; diphtheria, 11; chickenpox, 10; smallpox, 4; polio-myelitis, 2; pulmonary tuberculosis, 1. The one death was from scarlet fever.

The department fumigated 114 places after the disappearance of the contagious diseases and six houses at the request of property owners after the removal of tenants.

Policemen Used.

It was necessary in the spring during the period when scarlet fever was prevalent to have policemen in the districts where foreigners resided to see that the quarantine regulations were observed. These people did not seem to appreciate the necessity for observing strict quarantine.

There was ordered for use at the school buildings 400 pounds of formaldehyde and twenty-five cans of briquettes to be used in fumigating the school rooms. The small formaldehyde fumigators used for houses were not effective in the large rooms.

The system of garbage collection followed during the past year proved very successful. There are yet a large number of householders who have not provided themselves with garbage cans with tight covers. In general the health of the village is very good, according to the report.

SETTLER WINS OUT IN LAND CONTEST

Defeats State of Minnesota After Ten Years' Litigation.

Deer River, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Scott, a settler whose claim adjoins the village limits to the south, received work from his attorney, J. E. Lundrigan at Cass Lake Tuesday that the general land office at Washington had decided the state contest case involving his land in his favor. Mr. Scott has been fighting the state of Minnesota under its swamp land claim for ten years and the decision gives him final claim of his 160 acres.

THREATENS SUICIDE.

Finnish Woman Would Kill Self Before Returning to Native Land.

Virginia, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lepi Koski, a Finn woman, 25 years old, objects to returning to Finland and threatened yesterday that rather than do so she would commit suicide. A deputy United States immigration commissioner from Duluth arrested her yesterday at the Frisco cafe, where she had secured employment in the kitchen.

In Superior, something over a year ago, she was discovered in a resort, where she was employed as a domestic. It was found that she was not strong mentally and that she did not know the nature of the place. She was later sent to one of the towns in Upper Michigan, where she again got into trouble and was adjudged insane and committed to the asylum at Newberry. She escaped from the institution but was apprehenended and deported to her old home in Finland. About three weeks ago she returned to this country and succeeded in eluding the officers at Castle Garden and came straight to Virginia. Her mother, who is the wife of Frank Maki, a Finnish homesteader, resides about ten miles from Virginia.

Her stepfather was unable to furnish $1,000 bonds and the young woman was taken to Duluth this afternoon by the deputy immigration commissioner.

SELLS FIVE FORTIES NEAR DEER RIVER.

Deer River, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Morisset, a land dealer of Deer River, yesterday sold to local parties five forty-acre tracts of land lying within a few miles of town. The purchasers were Henry Seaman, Byron L. Seaman and A. E. McGuire. Mr. Morisset will leave next week for Duluth to enter the employ of the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company in its land department.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FAIR

Each weather report these days shows the atmospheric conditions as warmer. The lowest mark of last night was about equal to the highest of the day before. And today bids fair to break that record with its almost summer warmth. Snow is fading fast as mist, and out-door wraps are being discarded. And fair weather is promised for tonight and Sunday.

Stormy weather prevailed a year ago today. The sun rose this morning at 6:23 o'clock and will set this evening at 6:12, giving eleven hours and forty-nine minutes of sunshine, four minutes more than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson made the following comment on weather conditions:

"Fair weather was the rule during the last twenty-four hours, very little if any rain or snow occurring anywhere. Somewhat colder temperature prevails in Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Northeastern North Dakota but elsewhere it is warmer generally. Light frost occurred last night at New Orleans and Jacksonville."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, March 14.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana—Fair tonight and Sunday; moderate temperature.

Lower Michigan—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday.

Upper Michigan—Partly cloudy and colder tonight; Sunday fair.

THE IMPORTANCE OF HUMUS.

What Is Humus and Why Needed.

BY W. H. STVENSON,
Iowa State Agricultural Experiment Station.

All soils that are really productive contain decaying roots, leaves and animal life. We call this partly decayed organic matter humus. This material is the life of the soil. It is impossible to grow good crops unless the soil is well supplied with humus.

Humus has many functions in soils. It makes heavy soils open and porous, and this promotes aeration. Clay soils are especially benefited from the standpoint of these changes. It increases the water holding power and thus is an important factor in making sandy soils productive. It supplies the bacteria of the soil with food. These bacteria are indispensable because some of them make the nitrogen of the soil available for plants, while others fix atmospheric nitrogen in the soil and render it available as a plant food. Humus gradually decays and liberates carbonic acid gas. This acts on the minerals of the soil and liberates at least a small portion of the plant food which they contain. As a rule, dark colored soils contain a considerable amount of humus and are fertile.

Plants Supplement Manures.

If there were an abundance of manure on all farms, the problem of keeping soils supplied with organic matter and humus would be easily solved. All that would be required would be the application of the manure to keep all the land supplied with organic matter. But there will never be enough of this material because all of the soil products of the farm cannot be fed to animals. The human race must have other food than milk and meat. Therefore we must depend upon plants to supplement manures and furnish an adequate supply of humus. In some cases we may use only their roots and stubble; often the entire plant will be plowed under.

If only a limited amount of manure is available it is often advisable to use it to grow some clover or other crop to plow under. When used in this way more humus is secured than would be the case if the manure were used directly. In general the clovers are the best plants to grow for a supply of organic matter. There would be practically no limit to the amount of this material which would be available if farmers would put their lands in shape to grow clover successfully. This crop in recent years has been failing more and more, and land has become deficient in organic matter, and less productive. Drainage, fertilization, and use of lime will help many farmers to get the cloved they must have in order to keep their soils stocked with humus.

SPRAYING FOR SAN JOSE SCALE.

The Only Way to Overcome Pests.

BY H. W. DOYLE,
Department of Agriculture, Kansas.

Look for a flattened circular scale about the size of the head of a pin. The color is almost or quite black, with a ring near the center, on the inside of which may be distinguished a small nipple. The multiplying powers of the San Jose scale are enormous. They lie flat against the bark, skin or fruit or leaves of trees and rapidly cover the entire plant with a continuous layer of minute scales. Each scale sucks sap through a tiny beak. Fruit and scales cannot grow on the same tree. Young trees succumb. The San Jose scale is especially fond of the peach, currant, plum, pear and apple.

Hopelessly infested trees should be cut down and burned completely. A very effective spray, which also destroys peach leaf curl, apple scab and other fungous diseases, is one consisting of twenty pounds of quicklime, fifteen pounds of flowers of sulphur and fifty gallons of water.

Preparing the Lime and Sulphur.

With a little water mix the sulphur into a thick paste in a separate vessel. Place the lime with about ten gallons of warm water in a thirty gallon iron kettle over a fire. Add water as needed to keep the slaking lime from sputtering, stirring frequently. When the lime is broken up into a pasty mass add the sulphur. Then boil for an hour, adding hot water from time to time. When the color changes to clear brown remove from the fire and add hot water to make fifty gallons. Stir and strain through burlap or an iron or brass strainer with at least twenty threads to the inch. Use while warm. In using lime provide covers for the horses for protection against the spray. Old cotton sheeting or bags sewed together will answer the purpose.

Apply in the spring just before the buds open. Before spraying is attempted trees should be severely pruned and all loose bark scraped off. Absolute thoroughness in covering all scales is necessary because the spray kills by contact only.

In orchards of one hundred trees or less a good spray pump with a large air chamber, mounted on a fifty-gallon barrel, will answer the purpose. All working parts should be of brass. It should be fitted with a twenty-foot hose, an eight to twelve-foot extension rod and a nozzle that will throw a fine, misty spray. At least two men will be required to operate the apparatus, one to pump and the other to manage the hose. Large sprayers with gasoline engine power are used in big orchards.

REARING THE CHICKS.

Interesting But Exacting Work.

By E. K. PARKINSON.

With the hatching of little chicks the arduous duties of a protector, a dietitian and a family physician rolled into one all begin at once. For the would-be poultry raiser must have ceaseless vigilance and boundless patience, as the troubles of chickhood are quite as numerous as those of youngsters, and success depends upon inherited constitutional vigor, comfort, such as freedom from lice and plenty of room in which to exercise, food of the right kind and in the right quantities and protection from weather accidents and natural enemies.

The first three or four weeks are the critical periods and protection is very necessary, embracing as it does the safe-guarding against overheating, cold and storms, rats, cats, weasels, hawks and such accidents as drowning, smoking lamps and pugnacious mothers.

If the chicks are to be reared by hens provide large, safe coops, with board floors and weather tight roofs and sides. Allow room enough for the mother to have an outdoor run, where she may dust herself and exercise properly in and about the coops and brooders; also be keenly on the lookout for head lice, for these little pests will fasten on the heads of the chicks and gradually suck their blood until they die. Another ailment common among flocks of young chickens is leg weakness, which is chiefly caused by using feed lacking in proper bone and animal matter and to close confinement in overheated brooders.

Gapes and Other Troubles.

We all have had more or less experience with gapes caused by a small Y shaped worm about half an inch long, which fastens itself to the interior walls of the windpipe, weakening the chicks by sucking their blood and eventually causing strangulation, but bu moving the chicks frequently to new ground, keeping them off the wet grass and, for emergencies, having on hand some good gape remedy, this pest may be easily exterminated. There is also another disease th chicks are heir to, which is white diarrhea. Its distinguishing characteristic is a sleepy appearance, drooping wings, rough feathers combined with diarrhea This disease may be brought in by infected breeders, poor eggs for hatching or by baby chicks themselves. Where chicks are badly infected destroy them at once. If only one or two seem afflicted disinfect the brooders, coops, feed, water dishes, etc., try one of the standard remedies.

WHY EUROPEAN FARMERS CO-OPERATE.

Their Reasons and Methods.

By B. H. HIBBARD,
University of Wisconsin.

The qestion is often asked why European farmers co-operate while American farmers struggle along unorganized. It is not because of any fundamental differences in the men, but rather to the widely different conditions under which the farming of Europe and that of America is done. The European farmer was in desperate circumstances. Something had to be done. For example, the hard times of the midle of the nineteenth century lft th Grman farmer in a fair way to lose the ownership of his farm, for he was without money and almost without credit. Fortunately a wise and benevolent man started a co-operative credit company and so marked was its success that there are today over 15,000 such companies alone, and they are still increasing in numbers at a rapid rate.

In the dairy business there was a similar cause for the development of co-operation. In Denmark, for example, ther was no adequate market for the butter made on the farms. It was necessary that something be done, and about thirty years ago the Danes adopted the co-operative system of butter making, which had been tried both in the United States and in eGrmany, and have made it one of the remarkable examples of agricultural co-operation in the world. Butter is one of their main products, and, finding it almost impossible to market it otherwise, they learned to market it so successfully co-operatively that Denmark, only one-third as large as the state of New York, and with a population equal to that of Iowa, exports $1,000,000 worth of butter a week.

Success Due to Several Causes.

The success of co-operation in Europe, though due in the main to the dire need of the farmer, compelling him to submit to regulations not always to his liking, is due to other circumstances as well. For one thing, the European farmer is permanetnly located and rarely sells one farm and moves to another. This gives stability which an American community seldom has. Again the European farmers live in villages and are near neighbors, with all that that implies. No doubt, too, the European farmer is more inclined to submit to authority than his American brother who is traditionally independent. Finally, the European farmer has been willing to follow the leadership of men who have made it a life work to improve agricultural conditions, whereas the American farmer will not readily follow leaders of his own type.

CURING MEAT.

By ANDREW BOSS,
Agriculturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

Meat that is to be cured should always be thoroughly cooled and be cut into convenient sizes before it is put into the brine or packed in dry salt. The pieces most commonly used for this purpose are ham, shoulder and bacon pieces from pork; and the cheaper cuts, such as the plate, shoulder and chuck ribs, of beef. Mutton is very seldom cured and preserved, but is mostly used fresh. All the pieces that are to go through the curing process should be well trimmed, so as to have no ragged edges or scraggy ends left, as these portions will become dry and be practically wasted.

The two methods of curing meat that are commonly used are the brine process and dry curing. Brine-cured meats are probably the best for farm use, for several reasons. In the first place, on most farms it is impossible to secure a desirable place in which to dry-cure. It is also less trouble to handle the meat when brine-cured; as the only attention that it requires is to properly prepare and pack the meat in the vessel, and prepare the brine for it. Whereas, in the case of the dry-curing method, it requires considerable time to rub and salt the meat at different times.

ARCTIC ISLANDS MAY BE NEUTRAL

International Conferences to Decide Future Control of Spitzbergen.

Christiania, March 14.—The Arctic islands of Spitzbergen, unclaimed and almost uninhabited, the resort of whalers and walrus hunters and the only place within the Arctic circle visited by tourists, are this summer to engage the attention of the powers, including the United States, in an effort officially to declare them neutral and provide for their policing during the summer months, when lawlessness on the part of the crews of visiting whalers and seal hunters has been increasing.

No power ever has made a serious claim to Spitzbergen, the mountainous islands north of Norway and northeast of Greenland having been regarded as almost valueless. But the discovery of coal, which is being worked principally by American capital, has completely changed the outlook and incidentally brought the United States into the group of powers whose voices are to be heard concerning the future of the Islands.

Two international conferences will be held before July. Early in June representatives of Russia, Sweden and Norway will meet in Christiania to draw up proposals to be submitted to the general conference to be held two weeks later.

Great Britain, France, Holland, Germany, Denmark and the United States will be represented in the general conference, the United States having been invited because of the coal interests of American citizens there. These mines are located on Advent bay and have been worked in summer since 1905. Some of the miners occasionally spend the winter in their quarters and are completely shut off from the outer world for about eight months.

British participation is justified on coaling operations also, while Germans are interested as owners of an important meteorological station there.

If the memorandum submitted by the Norwegian government is confirmed by the conferences, Spitzbergen will be declared neutral territory, open to all nations, but under the control of three northern powers. The administration would be in the hands of a commission of three members—a Russian, Swede and Norwegian—the expenses of government being met by land taxes and other arrangements for revenue, subject to the assent of all the signatory powers. It is proposed that this international convention shall be renewable every eighteen years.

Spitzbergen is 625 miles from the North Pole. It was from one of these islands that two unsuccessful attempts have been made to reach the Pole by balloon. The Swedish engineer, S. A. Andree, assayed the trip in 1897, but was never heard from after he left the island. Walter W. Wellman, an American, tried the same thing ten years later, but never got far away from the base.

BIG GATHERING OF SURGEONS EXPECTED

American and Canadian Medical Men to Meet in London.

London, March 14.—The Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America, to be held here during the week beginning July 27, will bring more American and Canadian medical men to London than the World's Medical congress held here last year. The comm'ttee on transportation is having difficulty in getting steamship accommodation for the delegates, as they expect to provide for 1,500 travelers over a short period during the busiest time of the trans-Atlantic tourist season.

This will be the fourth congress of the organization, which hitherto always met in America. Dr. Franklin H. Martin of Chicago, secretary general of the congress, has been here in company with Dr. A. D. Ballou, also of Chicago, arranging with the English committee for the program of the congress.

Among the surgeons who have already accepted invitations to address the congress are: Dr. Charles H. Mayo, Rochester, Minn.; Dr. John B. Murphy, Chicago; Prof. Tuffier, Paris; Dr. Robert Jones, Liverpool; Dr. G. E. Armstrong, Montreal; Dr. George Emerson Brewer, New York; Dr. E. Wylls Andrews, Chicago.

The American delegates will be welcomed at a formal meeting by Ambassador Walter Hines Page.

The London surgeons are keenly interested in the coming congress and are making extensive preparations to demonstrate everything London has to show in the way of surgery. One of the stated objects of the congress is to make the American surgeons realize their own limitations, and while attempting to aid this desire the London surgeons expect their American colleagues to reciprocate.

MEN'S DISEASES!

The more medical science advances, the more apparent becomes the folly of employing harsh and dangerous measures in attempting to cure the ailments of men. Drastic dosing and useless cutting have done irreparable injury in thousands of cases. We cure all special diseases of men promptly and permanently by painless methods that cannot possibly produce undesirable results.

OUR TREATMENT.

Functional derangement is not a disease. To stimulate activity by the use of powerful tonics is an easy matter, but such results are merely temporary drug effects. We have in our service the most powerful X-Ray and High-Potential-frequentcy machines; with these machines we will build up your broken down system quicker than gallons of medicines and a surgeon's knife could do. Our treatment is local and constitutional, and corrects every abnormal condition of that vital center. Our cures are real cures and are permanent.

Twenty years of successful practice as Doctors in Men's Diseases justifies every claim we make. We promise our patients a complete cure in every instance, and in cases where we cannot safely make this promise, we positively refuse to treat.

DEPENDABLE TREATMENT.

Our treatment is absolutely painless, and perfect results can be depended upon in every instance. We do no cutting, burning or dilating, like is usually done in strictures, piles and wormlike veins.

VARICOSE VEINS.

Absolutely painless treatment that cures completely. Investigate our method. It is the only thoroughly scientific treatment for this disease being employed. Instead of cutting the wormlike masses, we dissolve them and remove the cause forever.

BLOOD POISON.

No dangerous minerals to drive the virus to the interior, but harmless blood cleansing remedies that remove the last poisonous taint and clean out and clear up the system. "606" is given after the system is thoroughly cleansed of the poisons that circulate in the blood. No cure is perfect, no matter if a patient had 10 injections of '606.'

STOMACH TROUBLES.

have the least attention from patient and doctor. Last week a man came in our office who thought he had a little Dyspepsia, and it proved to be a cancer. Come in, we will cure you.

TIME TO PLANT SEEDS OF FLOWERS

Begin to Plant Them Under Glass These Days to Obtain Early Blooms.

It is time now to plant seeds for some of the flowers that are to grace the outdoor garden later on. Whether your flower garden is a half-acre lot or just a plain window box, the flowers that you raise yourself will seem more your own than those that the florist starts for you, and the only way to get early blossoms is to plant the seeds now, under glass.

Some amateur gardners are successful with seeds planted in a shallow box placed in a sunny window. The window glass serves to protect the tiny plants from too sudden changes of temperature. But a more usually successful method is to plant the seeds in boxes, cover them with glass and leave them out-of-doors in a sheltered place.

Of first importance is the soil in which the seeds are to be sowed. It should be made up of garden soil, lightened with sand so that it will not cake and harden and mixed with some reliable fertilizer. Prepare the soil several days before it is needed, moisten it with a fine spray and put it in the sun, covered with glass, so that it may become warm and friable before the seeds are planted. Before the soil is put in the boxes a layer of broken flower crocks should be put in, to supply proper drainage. Over this should go a layer of coarse fiber of some sort to keep the fine soil from washing down.

The top soil, for the depth of an inch, should be rubbed through a fine wire sieve. The seeds should be sprinkled carefully over it and not collect in any depressions. If the seeds are very small they need not be covered with any earth. If they are not of the tiniest sort—like those of cockscomb, for instance, which are almost infinitesmal—mix them with sand before strewing them over the soil. Larger seeds still can be lightly covered with fine soil.

As soon as the seeds are in or on the soil, water them with a very fine spray. An automizer makes a good spray, easily worked and fine enough not to disturb either soil or seeds.

The water used to spray seeds and seedlings, by the way, should be drawn some time before it is needed, and kept in the sun, in a big bucket, to warm.

As soon as the newly planted seeds have been moistened they should be put in the sunshine. Of course, while the nights are chilly, the boxes of seeds and seedlings must be brought in the house and on stormy days they must not be taken out of doors. When the weather is fine the glass covers must be raised to ventilate the boxes. They can be entirely removed in mild weather or else propped up on stones or sticks an inch or so from the top of the box. On days when the boxes are kept in the house they must also be opened for ventilation.

Be sure that the soil reaches the top of the box, almost, so that the edges will not cast a shadow over any of the tiny seedlings and so deprive them of the sunlight which is their life.

As soon as the little seedlings make their appearance, be doubly careful of them, for a sudden draught may blight them, too hot sun may scorch them and a lack of moisture will surely starve them. When the normal temperature is warm and comfortable, the seedlings, which by that time may have become too large for their boxes and have been transplanted into pots, may be set out in the garden.

VITALITY OF SEED.

BY A. F. WOODS.
Dean, Department of Agriculture, University Farm, St. Paul.

Assuming that every care has been taken to get seed well adapted to the conditions of culture, it is still important to see that the seed is of good vitality and capable of producing strong, vigorous plants. Great waste of land and labor results every year from the use of seed of low vitality.

Poor seed cannot produce good plants, and poor plants give poor returns or none at all. Seed should always be tested before planting, and seed of low vitality rejected. Some of this poor seed is introduced to blend with good seed so that it can be sold at a lower price. Some of the worst weeds have been introduced and spread in this way. The loss from weeds and the cost of fighting them is great and is so well understood as to need no discussion.

Farmers often buy cheap seed thinking that they are saving money, when as a matter of fact they are paying two or three times as much for the small amount of good seed obtained as they would pay had they bought good seed in the first place at twice the rate per pound paid for the poor seed.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

By LEROY CADY.
Associate Horticulturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

Watch the hotbeds closely.

Ventilate hotbeds on the side away from the wind if possible.

Manure may be spread on the garden and plowed in next spring.

Be sure the manure is heating evenly before it is put in the frame.

If hotbed manure does not heat readily, put on a few buckets of hot water.

Bank hotbeds with manure that is not heating. Dry manure will not be so likely to freeze and take heat from the frame.

When pruning, have a reason for every cut made, and cut close to the limb or trunk. Leave no stubs.

Pruning may be done late in March. Cover all wounds over one-half inch in diameter with white lead or grafting wax.

Seed for most early plants may be sown at this time. Transplant when large enough and keep growing nicely till they are ready to set in the field.

Inspect all garden tools, sharpen and put them into the best condition. Perhaps there are some new ones that should be purchased. Now is a good time. Look them up.

Grafting wax is made by melting together 4 pounds of resin, 2 pounds of beeswax and 1 pound of unsalted tallow. Heat this about 15 or 20 minutes, then throw into cold water and pull in the same manner as molasses candy.

KEEPING QUALITIES OF CHOLERA SERUM.

BY H. PRESTON HOPKINS.
Assistant Veterinarian, University Farm, St. Paul.

Letters are frequently received, asking how long hog cholera serum may be kept. This question cannot be answered by giving a certain number of days, weeks or months, as the conditions under which the serum was produced must be taken into consideration as well as the conditions surrounding it after it leaves the laboratory.

Serum cannot be produced, with present methods, so that it will be absolutely free from germs. It should be the constant aim of serum-producers to keep the serum as free from contamination as possible during the time that it is in their hands. For the purpose of destroying the few germs that may get into the serum during its preparation, carbolic acid is added in the proportion of 1 part of acid to 200 parts of serum. This will kill the majority of the germs, and keep the rest from growing, provided that the serum is kept cool.

Serum has been known to remain good for two years, but this could hardly be expected of all serum. At the state serum plant, at University farm, serum is stored in large refrigerators, at a temperature of about 40 deg. Fahrenheit. The bottles are sealed air-tight and kept in darkness. In this way serum can be kept for a number of months.

All station serum sent out is to be used promptly, and not kept on hand. The station does not furnish serum to veterinarians for them to keep on hand for use as needed. The practice of commercial serum plants allowing druggists to keep a stock on hand, under various favorable conditions, cannot be too severely condemned. It is quite likely that a large share of the poor results obtained with commercial serum last summer was due to the fact that it had been kept too long, and under improper conditions. The serum was probably potent when it left the laboratories, but its strength and purity had been impaired by improper methods of shipping and storing.

Indeed, serum is very much like milk. It may be drawn carefully, but spoiled by subsequent handling. Station serum is sent by express in most cases, and should be removed from the express office immediately upon its arrival and kept in a cool place until the arrival of the veterinarian who is to administer it. Do not allow it to freeze.

NO FRUIT WITHOUT BEES.

BY FRANCIS JAEGER,
Agriculturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

If there were no bees, fruit trees and other plants could not produce any fruit. Apple, plum, cucumber, clover, alsike, alfalfa are fertilized by bees. Honey is the bait with which the bee is induced to perform this task. The colored, fragrant petals of the blossom are the advertising signboard telling the bee where the honey may be found. If the blossom is to "set fruit," the bee with its fuzzy body must brush some of the yellow dust called pollen from the male organs or anthers at the bottom of the blossom, and flying away to another blossom, deposit this pollen on the female organ called the stigma. The blossoms are so arranged that to get at the honey the bee must first brush, with its pollen-covered body, against the stigma, thus completing the pollination. As soon as it has performed this duty, it may draw a check for the work in the form of a drop of honey at the bottom of the blossom. While drawing this pay the bee is involuntarily covered with pollen again and made ready to proceed to the next blossom and repeat the process.

ORCHARD SPECIALIST.

The Agricultural Extension Division, University Farm, St. Paul, is ready to send R. S. Mackintosh, horticultural specialist, to communities requesting help in pruning, top grafting and spraying fruit trees. A petition should be signed by at least twelve fruit-growers. The work is to be carried on in orchards where trees may be pruned, top grafted or sprayed. No one should sign a petition unless willing to assist in doing the actual work himself. The petitions should be sent in at once.

KEEPING SMOKED MEATS

By ANDREW BOSS,
Agriculturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

During moderate weather, smoked meat may be left in the smokehouse for some time. The house should be kept perfectly dark, and well enough ventilated to prevent dampness. A dry, cool cellar or attic, with free circulation, will be a satisfactory place for smoked meats and the flies are excluded.

If to be held only a short time, hams and bacon will need only to be hung out separately, without covering. For longer keeping, it will be necessary to wrap them first in waxed paper and then in burlap, canvas or muslin, and to hang them in an airy, cool place; the object being to gain a uniform temperature and to keep away insects.

SEED CORN PATCH.

By C. P. BULL,
Association Farm Crops, University Farm, St. Paul.

Start a separate breeding plat of corn this year. It's the only way to insure perfect purity, strong vitality, and uniform type. Many farmers are now trying this plan of getting good seed corn. A quarter or half acre is enough land, but it must be separate from other corn to prevent crossing. It must be in good condition to make strong plants. It must be uniform in fertility to make selection safe. Plant only the best seed obtainable. Suit yourself as to variety and go ahead.

FOSTERING FARMERS' CO-OPERATIVE EFFORT

BY A. D. WILSON.
Director of Agricultural Extension Farm, St. Paul.

Some of the following undertakings may well be fostered by the farmers club. The producers in a community should decide on one variety of potatoes or other market crop to produce, and then find some way of marketing it jointly. One or two leading breeds of each kind of livestock should be adopted. Pure-bred sires may be purchased and used co-operatively, to the advantage of everyone. Feed, flour and cement, and other supplies that can be handled in large lots, may be purchased co-operatively, usually at a considerable saving.

The question of organizing a livestock shipping association is worth considering where livestock is an important factor. Home conveniences, and a beef club for supplying fresh meat should be considered. When dairying is important, the organization of a cow-testing association is valuable. In any neighborhood, community effort along the line of road improvement is worth very careful consideration. Such matters as organizing a creamery, cheese factory, or farmers' elevator, the purchase of a stallion, or the introduction of a general drainage system for the community, should be considered by the club and acted upon only after all the facts in the case are known. One of the latest attempts of a farmers' club is to organize a co-operative laundry in connection with a co-operative creamery. In short, every enterprise connected with the farms, homes, or schools may be profitably considered by the club.

RESTOCKING HOGS IN CHOLERA TERRITORY

BY M. H. REYNOLDS.
Veterinarian, University Farm, St. Paul.

The only process of immunization that can be relied upon for susceptible hogs going into territory that has been infected within a year is the serum-virus treatment. Hogs so treated should be regarded as objects of suspicion for three weeks, on account of possible vaccination cholera within that time.

A farmer living on an uninfected farm in infected territory can safely purchase only (1) hogs that have been through cholera some months before or (2) hogs previously susceptible that have received scrum-virus treatment three weeks or more before they are moved to his farm. In any case, hogs going to an uninfected farm should be kept entirely apart from the healthy hogs already on the farm, taken care of by a separate herdsman, and kept in quarantine for at least two weeks.

GEESE.

By C. E. BROWN,
Poultryman, Northwest Experimental Station, Crookston, Minn.

The Toulouse is one of the best breed of geese for the farm. As a rule they are splendid layers, of very quiet disposition, excellent setters, and make good mothers. The general color is dark gray or blue-gray. Standard weight: Gander, 20 lbs.; goose, 18 lbs. Embden geese are pure white, and have the same general characteristics as the Toulouse.

The African geese are of the same weight as the Toulouse; but they are not so quiet, are more rangy, with long necks and a black knot on the top of their heads. They are splendid layers and settlers.

THE CHINCH BUG.

By C. W. HOWARD,
Assistant Entomologist, University Farm, St. Paul.

The chinch bug is an old Minnesota insect, although it has not been prevalent in the state for a few years. Some of our neighboring states have suffered from its ravages quite recently, and only last summer one report of its presence was made in Minnesota.

Warnings have recently been issued by the United States department of agriculture suggesting to the farmer the most up-to-date methods for its destruction. Bulletin No. 191 of the Kansas experiment station, Manhattan, Kan., upon the chinch bug, has also been recently issued, and those interested will find it an excellent summary of the whole question.

Chinch bugs spend the winter in rubbish, corn shocks, corn husks, grass clumps in meadows and pastures and along roadsides, etc. The majority seem to perish during the winter, except those concealed in the grass clumps. This is contrary to our older notions of the hibernation of these insects. The most practical remedy found in Kansas for their control is destruction by fire before they leave their winter quarters in the spring. It has been found better to burn them in late fall or early winter, but if other conditions are favorable this method can be used in spring, before the bugs have begun to migrate. It seems to have more effect if carried out during the winter when the grass is dryer. To be most effective the fire should burn slowly so that the heat may penetrate the deepest portions of the grass clumps and reach all the bugs.

LET STANDARD OIL FIGHT OWN BATTLE.

Washington, March 14.—President Wilson and his cabinet yesterday had before them the question of whether a protest should be made to the German government on behalf of the Standard Oil company, which claims that a pending bill in the reichstag would injure its business in Germany. Indications at the conclusion of the meeting were that a protest of that nature made by the Taft administration would not be renewed, and that the Wilson administration would refrain from taking any part in what it considers a fight between American independent oil concerns and the Standard Oil company.

CARELESS WORK ON AEROPLANE FOUND.

London, March 14.—An inquest into the death of C. R. W. Allen of the Welsh regiment and Lieut. J. E. G. Burroughs of the Wiltshire regiment, who were killed at the military aerodrome on Salisbury plain last Wednesday, has caused a sensation.

Expert testimony adduced was to the effect that the collapse of the aeroplane in which the two men were flying was due to a broken rudder post which was weakened by having been "filed carelessly" by some person. Maj. Brooke-Popham, commandant of the flying corps at Salisbury, asserted that if the finding of the inquest proved true, some one was guilty of criminal negligence.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

CHARGE JURY FIXING IN TRIAL OF M'LEAN COOPER

Acquittal of Slayer of North Dakotan Is Laid to Bribery.

Tracy Bangs, Grand Forks Lawyer, and Others Are Arrested.

Grand Forks, N. D., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charges of bribery, as a result of the acquittal in the district court here two years ago, of McLean Cooper, charged with murder, were today lodged against his counsel, his father, a juryman, a bailiff and a friend of the Cooper family.

Tracy R. Bangs, chief counsel for Cooper, one of the leading attorneys of North Dakota, and former supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias lodge, is the attorney accused.

Others involved are: Harry Cooper of Hillsboro, prominent realty operator and farmer, father of McLean Cooper; Andrew Sullivan, bailiff in charge of the jury, son of Capt. Sullivan of the Grand Forks police department; J. C. Stevens, a juryman and farmer, accused of agreeing to accept cash, and actually receiving the same; J. C. Mahon of Inkster, business man, charged with acting in the capacity of go-between.

Cooper, Sullivan and Mahon were released under bonds.

Mr. Bangs was released on his own recognizance.

For several weeks detectives have been working here and it is on the strength of an alleged confession by Andy Sullivan that the prosecution has been launched.

The Acquittal of Cooper.

McLean Cooper, aged 23, was freed of the murder of Charley Ross, foreman on Harry Cooper's farm near Hillsboro. The trial was one of sensational incidents, the plea of the accused being self-defense, although Ross was shot in the back.

Ross was laid up in a Hillsboro hospital several months, paralyzed, and made an ante-mortem statement that figured extensively in the trial.

There had been a misunderstanding between young Cooper and Ross as to which one was in charge of the farm, the elder Cooper being absent. Evidence introduced at the trial was strongly against Cooper, and included statements showing that Cooper, previous to the time he shot Ross, had fired several bullets in dangerous proximity to the victim.

In raising the plea of self-defense, young Cooper maintained that he shot Ross as the latter was going to get a rifle with which to kill him.

Acquittal Raised Protest.

Cooper's acquittal resulted in a storm of protest sweeping this section. While it has never been definitely known, it was generally understood that the late Judge Templeton, who presided over the case, conducted a private investigation of the affair, but without success.

Attorney Bangs, accused in the case, was the chief counsel for Judge John F. Cowan before the high court of impeachment three years ago, and he also was the attorney for Martin Anderson, accused of the Funk murder at Washburn, both of whom were acquitted. He has resided in Grand Forks thirty years, and is prominently known throughout the Northwest.

TRACY R. BANGS, Accused Lawyer.

WILL PAY DEPOSITORS.

Patrons of Suspended Mandan Institution Will Not Lose Anything.

Mandan, N. D., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Depositors in the Farmers' and Merchants' State bank, closed recently by State Bank Examiner Severtson, will not lose by the transaction, according to the bank examiner, who returned to Bismarck after spending several days here and he is confident that the bank's affairs will be satisfactorily adjusted.

Affairs of the institution are being rapidly adjusted in such manner that there appears little question but what it will be reopened.

PICKS JAIL LOCK, MAKING GETAWAY.

Minot, N. D., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Nealy successfully "picked" the lock of the city jail at Kenmare, where he was held charged with robbery at Niobe, N. D., making his getaway, while Herbert Munson, an alleged accomplice, remained to face trial.

Nealy had been bound over to the district court and was to be brought to Minot yesterday to be placed in the county jail.

BAR FROM SCHOOL ALL NOT VACCINATED.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 14.—Judge Halsey issued an alternative writ of mandamus to compel Health Commissioner Kraft to exclude all children from the Twenty-seventh school who have not been vaccinated.

The writ is issued on petition of Rudolph Rossberg, who alleges that his son has been barred from the school for twenty-five days because he would not be vaccinated. Other unvaccinated children are attending daily, among them a sister of the Rossberg boy. Rossberg alleges discrimination.

DIAMOND DRILLS TACKLE NEW GROUND.

Couderay, Wis., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The two diamond drills under Supt. Pearl of the Oliver Iron Mining company, which have been drilling for iron ore during the last six months between here and Birchwood, have been moved to northeast of Birchwood and are drilling between Edgewater and Stone Lake.

The results of the drilling is kept a secret.

The operators secured options on thousands of acres of land in that locality before drilling operations were started.

Thieves During Dance.

Wyndmere, N. D., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—During the absence of many residents from their homes during the progress of a dance, a local thief became very active. Several homes were visited. He was frightened away in some instances and in others raided residences. He was evidently seeking only money, as valuables that might lead to detection were overlooked. The work was evidently that of an amateur.

Hears of Son's Conviction.

Milton, N. D., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Gunhus Holum, the 80-year-old mother of Matt Holum, who was convicted of wife murder in the district court in Grand Forks, was informed yesterday that her son had been sent to the state penitentiary for life. Under the strain of the trial Mrs. Holum became critically ill. The old woman, when told of the conviction, knelt in prayer.

GOT ALL HE ASKED.

W. H. Vye Given $25,000 for Losing Wife's Affections.

Bemidji, Minn., March 14.—It took a district court jury only one hour and twenty minutes yesterday afternoon to find in full for W. H. Vye, in his damage suit against W. A. Gould, his former business associate, for alienating the affections of Mrs. Vye, the jury awarding damages for $25,000, the amount asked and costs. The case began before Judge Stanton here Tuesday and was full of sensational and racy testimony relative to the alleged actions of Gould and the woman.

Vye's 14-year-old daughter testified that she had seen an endearing letter from Gould to her mother and that she had seen the two together.

Testimony was introduced alleging that Vye had made improper advances toward Jessamine Gould, daughter of W. A. Gould, Miss Gould corroborating these statements on the witness stand.

A stay of sixty days was granted. Charges and counter charges marked the testimony in the case, both Vye and Gould spending considerable time in the witness chair.

Edgerton—George W. Hargraves, 64 years old, prominent builder and contractor, coming here from Juneau thirty years ago, died suddenly Wednesday night at the residence of Dr. McChesney. Heart failure was the cause of death.

Waukesha—Thomas H. Tucker, 94 years old, a resident of Brookfield Junction more than seventy years, died on Thursday. He was born Sept. 16, 1820, in New York state, and was station agent for the Milwaukee road, postmaster and justice of the peace.

Oconomowoc—Elon Munger, one of Oconomowoc's first residents, having located here sixty-seven years ago, died Wednesday night at his residence, aged 88 years. Mr. Munger was born in New York and came to Oconomowoc when 21 years of age.

Neenah—Only the quick action of one of the mill hands in slashing his coat loose with a knife was what saved Ernest Minton, an office employe of the Neenah Paper company, from being drawn into the calendars of one of the paper machines. Minton's back was turned when he unconsciously let his coat get caught.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Iron Mountain—Manager Martin of the Michigan State Telephone company is advised that an appropriation had been made for the much discussed toll line from Iron Mountain along the county road to Sagola, Channing, Witch Lake and Republic. Construction work will commence at once. The amount appropriated for the work is $23,180.

Houghton—At the annual meeting of the Houghton Rod and Gun club, the former officers of the organization were re-elected as follows: President, C. T. Ferris; vice president, John M. Nelson; treasurer, Ivan Hart; secretary, H. W. Gramms.

Marquette—That Marquette is to have a full-time health officer now seems a certainty.

Negaunee—Three thousand one hundred and six books were withdrawn from the library during the month ending Feb. 15. Twenty-two new books were placed on the shelves of the library yesterday.

Calumet—The local lodge of Elks elected these officers: Exalted ruler, James T. Fisher; esteemed leading knight, Oscar Keckonen; esteemed loyal knight, John J. Ellis, Jr.; esteemed lecturing knight, William Hawes; secretary, John Sweeney; treasurer, J. Bruce Paton; tyler, P. J. Brennan; trustee, Harry Scott; delegate to national convention in Denver, James T. Fisher; alternate, Dr. M. A. Thometz.

Houghton—Steve Nelmon, Nestor Wessa and Ole Rinn, three lumberjacks who came to Houghton Tuesday morning, were shipped out the next day by Justice Little. The three men wandered into the village and had no funds with which to obtain lodging, so officers of the law placed them in the jail for the night.

Laurium—Members of the Laurium fire department at their regular meeting this week, voted to make application to the council at its next regular meeting for an increase in salary. This matter has been under consideration for some time and it is generally felt it should receive favorable attention at the hands of the trustees.

Marquette—The population of the Marquette prison March 12 was 334 convicts.

Negaunee—Joseph, the 12-year-old son of Thomas W. Beard of Bluff street, died March 12 from typhoid fever. The family are recent arrivals here from England. The funeral will probably be held Sunday afternoon, with interment in the Ishpeming cemetery.

Ishpeming—Ishpeming is among the few cities of the state where the death rate is less than 10.0 per estimated 1,000 population, according to the current Bulletin of Vital Statistics. During January ten deaths were recorded here, a rate of 9.1.

Marquette—J. E. Burtless, who was recently operated on for goitre at St. Luke's hospital, is convalescing at home. The operation was wholly successful and Mr. Burtless has been making satisfactory progress.

Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer

Will Restore the Original Color to Gray and Faded Hair

-And We DO Prove It!

For years we have displayed in drug store windows a woman with gray hair on one side of her head, the other half of her hair being restored to the original color by Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer. Those who have seen this display have seen with their own eyes the truly wonderful powers of Mary T. Goldman's Hair Restorer to restore the original color to gray and faded hair.

The Original Preparation

All good things are copied. Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer is the original preparation, so beware of imitations with names that look and sound like the original. There are now many imitations being sold. They have copied labels, boxes and style of bottle as nearly as they dare. But it's what's inside the bottle that counts. Poor imitations made to sell at a low wholesale price are found at dealers' who want to make 50 to 75 per cent more than they can make by selling the original Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer. Some dealers buy these poor imitations so cheap that they can and do pay their clerks 10c commission on every bottle they sell. And you pay the commission and get a worthless article besides. Think it over. Then insist on the genuine

Further Proof at My Expense—$1 Bottle FREE!

Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer is as clean and pure as water and contains no thick, heavy Lead and Sulphur that must be shaken up. It does not give the hair a "dyed" appearance because it is so mild.

The hair will be restored to its original color in from four to eight days. Where the hair is just beginning to turn gray, the grayness will simply disappear with one or two applications.

It is absolutely harmless and over 100,000 satisfied users have proved it.

This offer is only for those who have not used Mary T. Goldman's Gray Hair Restorer and this offer is good for 10 days only, so write today. Remember, we send the full-size bottle that is regularly sold for $1.00. Every bottle is sent prepaid.

MARKET HAS AN UPTURN

Wheat Closes Higher With Good Buying in Late Trading.

Flaxseed Bulges Sharply on Strong Demand From Crushers.

Duluth Board of Trade, March 14.—The wheat market turned firm today after a slightly weak opening as a result of the lighter receipts and an improvement in Eastern inquiry. Liverpool cables were fractionally higher, nd there was some evening up from traders, all going to account for strength at the close.

May wheat opened unchanged at 91½@91¾c, and it closed ⅝c up at 91⅞c. The July option opened unchanged at 92½c and closed ⅝c up. There was no trading in durum till late in the session. The May option closed ⅛c up at 90¾c, and July was closed ⅛c up nominally, at 92c.

Oats were slightly weaker on liberal offerings, closing ⅛c off at 36½c. Rye closed unchanged at from 54@56c for the best grades. There was no market in barley.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed at 36½@36⅝c, and July at 37⅞c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at 90½c asked and calls at 91c bid.

The general news of the day was bearish. The weather over the winter wheat belt was reported to be ideal, and the crop outlook was regarded as brilliant by experts. Against this situation came the belief that the statistical position of spring wheat is strong. Operators predict that in view of the comparatively light stocks remaining in the country, millers will be doing some scrambling for it before the new season's crop is ready to market. It was noted at Chicago that every decline in spring wheat futures discloses accumulation and constantly improved reactions.

The wheat run to the Minneapolis market is regarded as having spent itself. Receipts there today were 207 cars, just 100 less than last year. On the other hand marketings at Duluth were better, receipts for the day being 60 cars against 35 a year ago. Wheat stocks in the elevators here showed an increase of 171,000 bu in the week, bringing stores up to 13,432,000 bu. Stores of all grains here gained only 85,000 bu in the week, and now stand at 20,182,000 bu exclusive of the amount afloat.

Sharp Bulge in Flax.

Flaxseed took on another sharp upward turn attributable to the appearance of good buying by crushers at the opening. At the bottom of it all was the extremely bullish foreign situation in the seed. Buenos Aires closed 2¾c up; Antwerp 1¼c up and London ⅞c up.

Receipts of the seed are now only a fraction of what they were last year and traders do not look for any improvement in that respect. May flax opened ¼c up at $1.58¼ and it closed with an advance of 1⅞c for the day at $1.59⅞ asked. The July option closed with a similar bulge at $1.61⅝.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed at $1.59½ bid.

An improved tone in the flour trade is reported by the Duluth-Superior Milling company. Carlot buyers are said to be coming in the market more freely, though the big jobbers are not as yet buying to any extent. Mixed car business in the East is good on account of the scarcity in feeds. Betterment in export trade is expected to come about through a cent reduction in the ocean freight rate that became effective today. The local milling company advised the working of some export business in patent flour during the week.

The Minneapolis cash market was firm with good demand. No. 1 northern blue stem sold at 1@2½c over May, and velvet chaff at 1@1½c premium.

Flour sales were moderate. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold at 91½@93c, and No. 2 northern at from 89½@91c.

Indian linseed shipments to the United Kingdom this week were 7,000 bu and to the Continent 98,000 bu.

From Argentina to the United Kingdom there was shipped 533,000 bu, to the Continent 2,330,000 bu.

Price Current says: "In the surplus corn states and in the states of large animal feeding, the reserves are the lowest in years, especially in corn. The seven big corn states held 404,000,000 bu on March 1 compared with 785,000,000 bu last year and 510,000,000 bu two years ago. It is certain that the entire amount of available corn in the West will be needed to maintain the farm animals until the new crop, and as there is a shortage in the adjacent states compared with last year, the domestic market ought to be a good one from now on. The peculiar feature about the reserves of corn is the much larger percentage remaining on farms in the Eastern and Southern states, a condition which was shown last year also."

Baker received the following wire from Minneapolis: "There is no underlying strength in this wheat market. Corn is the only thing holding up. They are reporting better cash corn demand from the East with good sales in the past few days. Foreign bids on wheat are generally 2 to 3c out of line. We have reports from South Dakota and Montana that farmers will be in the fields in a short time if this warm weather keeps up."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool—"Wheat opened with some covering by shorts with prices ⅛@¼d higher, stimulated by the unexpected steadiness in America yesterday, serength in Winnipeg and Buenos Aires, an improved demand here for Manitobas. Following the opening, profit-taking developed on a reduced inquiry for cargoes and parcels, and prices lost most of the early advance. Expectations are for liberal world's shipments this week, and the Modern Miller report further emphasizes the brilliant American winter outlook. At the close the market was easier, unchanged to ¼d higher.

Corn opened ¾d higher and further gained ¼@½d, with support in March. Firmer American cables yesterday, strength in Buenos Aires, firmness in spot, unfavorable weather in Argentine and a good cash demand for nearby cargoes helped advance. At the close the undertone was very firm ½@¾d higher."

John Inglis of Chicago wired from Enid, Okla: "Northern Oklahoma wheat in perfect condition. Cattle, hogs and horses are still ranging on the wheat fields. All stock is in good condition. There is a very large acreage in oats. Seeding is finished."

* * *

The Chicago Inter Ocean says: "It was the gossip of the wheat trade last night that there would have to be more buying power under the market than at present, if the bulge will extend much further. A leading local professional is said to have materially reduced his commitments through offers, while the buying of May and selling of July which has so mystified the trade, was undoing spreads between this and other markets, which partly accounted for their comparative weakness. Bulls believe that there will be a better demand for hard winter from Eastern mills shortly, and that with the Southwest dry, crop damage reports would be coming from there."

CHANGE CORN GRADES.

Chicago Board of Trade Also Will Revise Discounts.

Chicago, March 14.—A half-cent premium on the choicest grades of unmixed corn was proposed at a board of trade mass meeting called to consider the new government grading scale. For the first time in the history of the Chicago board, it was proposed to put Nos. 1 and 2 unmixed white and yellow corn at a premium of ¼c while Nos. 1 and 2 mixed would be deliverable at the flat contract price.

Many changes have been made necessary in connection with the delivery of corn on board of trade contracts by different grades established by the government. The proposal to create premium grades was wrangled over a long time, and finalty carried by a vote of 43 to 19.

Changes in Discounts.

The changes in the moisture contents of the new grades promulgated by the government necessitated changes also in the discounts at which the lower grades of corn are to be delivered. The following is a list of the new discounts and premiums suggested and referred back to the joint rules and grain committees:

Nos. 1 and 2 white, ½c premium.
Nos. 1 and 2 yellow, ½c premium.
Nos. 1 and 2 mixed, flat.
Nos. 3 yellow and 3 white, 2c discount.
No. 3 mixed, 2½c discount.
Nos. 3 yellow and 4 white, 4½c discount.
No. 4 mixed, 5c discount.

The four grades are not deliverable except in November, December, January and February.

Board Will Ballot.

The changes thus formulated were added to a motion declaring approved the resolution of the joint committee that the Chicago board change its grades in conformity with the new government grading system. The whole was then referred back to the committee, which will prepare for the taking of a formal ballot by the board to confirm its action.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Market Opens Higher and the Initial Gains Are Extended.

Rise Checked By Weakness of Coalers and New Haven.

New York, March 14.—Opening prices today were generally higher, except in the case of New Haven, which lost a point. United States Express jumped three points, owing to the belief that as a result of dissolution and distribution of assets, the share-holders would receive more than the market value of the stock. Chesapeake & Ohio rose a point, Smelting 1⅝ and Louisville 1¾.

Some extension of the initial gains were made with a broader inquiry for certain investment specialties. American Telephone gained 1⅞ and North American 2⅜.

The market closed easy. The decision of the Federal courts ordering disolution of the bituminous coal combine weakened all the coalers toward the close. New Haven, after making up its loss, eased off, dropping 2 points. These declines checked the general rise, but there was only a slight reaction.

Bonds were steady.

BETTER TONE IN COPPER ISSUES

Leading Stocks Show Moderate Advances--Butte & Superior Has Reaction.

There was good trading in mining stocks at Boston today, and on the net result prices showed moderate advances through the list.

Butte & Superior again absorbed a large proportion of the day's trading. The market in the stock turned weak on the denial of the striking of a new ore body in the mine as reported yesterday. The stock at one time in the session dropped $1, but it closed fractionally better with a loss of 63 cents at $36.12. North Butte was strong, closing 50 cents up at $28; Calumet & Arizona closed 25 cents up at $67; Franklin 25 cents up at $6.50; Granby 50 cents up at $85.50; Shattuck $1 down at $27. Butte & Ballaklava 25 cents up at $2.75; Greene-Cananea unchanged at $36; Alaska Gold 25 cents up at $21.50, and Amalgamated Copper a fraction up at $74.12.

In the Duluth curb list, Calumet & Corbin sold at 28 and 29 cents and it closed at 28 cents bid.

Gay & Sturgis received the following closing letter from Boston: "Prices were very firm today. There were not many fluctuations but there was a very encouraging tone to the market. The chief item of interest today was the bank statement, which was very good. It looks as though prices would be higher next week. The fact that stocks have been so firm in face of a good deal of bad news, has engendered a good deal of quiet confidence."

The following wire in reference to Butte & Superior was received by Gay & Sturgis from Boston today: "The reports contained in press dispatches from Butte & Superior contain more or less technical denials of our dispatch of yesterday. The engineers of the company in denying a new strike say that there is a basis for our statement in the fact that the ore body on both the 1,400 and the 1,500-foot levels is showing increased values and is widening out.

"The fact is that our news of yesterday is officially confirmed except as to the value of the ore on which no official expression is made other than that it shows increased values and makes an excellent showing for five sets or 30 to 35 feet.

"The statement that no new strike has been made is simply based on the fact that the showing has been found in the same vein in the Four Johns property in which the company was working in the Black Rock vein and is perhaps a widening of an ore body already reached.

"The most important feature of the development is that the ore has been proved in the Four Johns claims as that claim is removed from the possibility of trouble with Senator Clark in which the company is involved on the other end of the property. In other words, the existence of valuable ore bodies has been proved in the end of the property removed from dispute and by thus adding to the known ore area the litigation with Senator Clark has become of decidedly less importance."

WEINMAN'S DRUG STORE IS LOOTED

Burglars Take Candies, Cigars and Many Other Articles.

Weinman's pharmacy at 1502 East Superior street was entered sometime last night and about $75 worth of candies, cigarettes, cigars and toilet articles stolen.

The burglary was discovered by one of the clerks this morning. It is believed that the theft was committed by boys, as a large quantity of candy was contained in the loot. The police have been notified, but have so far failed to throw any light on the burglary. Sergeant Robert and Detective Irvine are at work on the case.

Entrance in the drug store was gained through the cellar, the burglars having pried open a cellar door leading down to the basement and then breaking open the basement door into the building. The storm window at the rear of the building was found removed and it is believed that the burglars had at first attempted to gain entrance in this way, and failing, resorted to the cellar door.

FIRST FLUSHING FOR CITY STREETS

Workmen Busy Removing the Winter's Accumulation of Filth.

The first flushing of the season was started on Superior street this morning by the works division.

A crew of men was started yesterday removing the winter's accumulation of filth from the city's main thoroughfare and as soon as they have cleared away the bulk of it the flushing cart washes the pavement.

Gangs are also at work opening the gutters and storm sewers in various parts of the city, but the central section is receiving the chief attention. Twenty extra men have been placed in the business district and the outlaying sections are being cared for by the regular crews.

Superior

SAY CITY IS BEING GIVEN BLACK EYE

That Superior was getting a lot of undersirable notoriety from reports published in its evening paper, and grumblings of "calamity howlers," that the city was now on the eve of great prosperity and that the present conditions in the city were not as bad as painted, were some of the contentions made by speakers last night at the meeting of the Boosters' club. The meeting was attended by more than 500 voters.

Many of the speakers praised Mayor Konkel for his administration and also gave boosts for Commissioner O'Hare, whose re-election was recommended. The only candidate to speak at the meeting was Nils Peterson, candidate for mayor.

Charles Blaxa, secretary of the club, reported that the club now had 837 members and that before long the membership would easily pass the 1,000 mark.

CARLISLE "QUARTER" OUT OF TRAINING

Jim Thompson, who played the position of quarterback for the Carlisle football team last fall, is in the city testifying before the grand jury about illegal sale of liquor to Indians on the reservation. Last evening "Jim" broke training and got out with the boys. He wound up at the police station and this morning pleaded guilty to having been drunk. He promised to resume training again if he was allowed to depart, and Judge Parker allowed him to go on a suspended sentence.

U. S. Attorney to Speak.

John A. Aylward of Madison, United States district attorney for the Western district of Wisconsin, will be the principal speaker this evening at the meeting of the Six o'Clock club. Mr. Aylward will speak on "Taxation."

Will Build Viaduct.

The Belknap street viaduct will be built by the railroads this year following litigation in the courts which has extended over a period of three years. The announcement was made yesterday afternoon at a conference between members of the city commission and representatives of the contracting firm of Frankman Brothers.

The city has for the last three years attempted to get the various railroads to build the viaduct and recent decisions of the state railroad commission which apportioned the cost among the various roads has finally spurred them to action.

KILLS WOLF ON ICE FLOE WITH HIS PIKE

Marinette, Wis., March 14.—Alex Johnson, a fisherman of Liberty Grove, Door county, brought in a wolf for bounty which he killed by spearing. Off Rowley's bay, he saw the animal afloat on a cake of ice. After breaking the ice by ramming it with his boat, Johnson speared the animal in the head with a pike pole.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

New York, March 14.—Dun's Review today says: Considerable irregularity still characterizes the business situation and statistics of trade movements are conflicting. As measured by bank clearings the volume of transactions continues smaller than a year ago, there being a loss this week of 1.9 per cent, while gross earnings of railroads reporting for February were 7.8 per cent smaller than in the corresponding period for 1913. On the other hand further substantial reduction occurred in the number of idle freight cars, the gain in the unfilled tonnage of the principal iron and steel interest last month surpassed expectations and there was a decrease in surplus stocks of copper. Current reports from leading centers, however, lacking in uniformity and indicate that the effects of the recent storms have not entirely disappeared.

Failures this week are 341 against 309 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 32 against 35 last year.

WIFE ALLEGES HER HUSBAND TEMPTED HER TO DRINK

Says He Then Paraded Her Shame—John E. Brotherton Is Ordered to Pay Temporary Alimony Pending Divorce Hearing.

Tempting one's wife to drink to excess and then parading her shame before the public, constitutes cruelty within the meaning of the divorce statutes of Minnesota, according to a decision handed down in district court this morning by Judge Cant in overruling a demurrer interposed by John E. Brotherton, 44, West Duluth fuel dealer, to the complaint filed by his wife, Ida Brotherton, 37, in divorce proceedings pending before the court.

And if the sordid story of her unhappy married life with Brotherton is as she relates it in her petition for a divorce, she is entitled to the decree, according to Judge Cant. After overruling the demurrer, Judge Cant, on the motion of A. E. McManus, attorney for Mrs. Brotherton, made an order requiring Brotherton to pay his wife temporary alimony, attorney's fees and suit money with which to prosecute the action. James A. Wharton, a local attorney, appeared for Brotherton.

Mrs. Brotherton, through her attorney, asked for $250 suit money, $150 for attorney's fees, and $15 a week temporary alimony, claiming that her husband had a prosperous business at West Duluth with a monthly income of $400. Brotherton, through his attorney, stated that the monthly income was $100 a month and that the plaintiff in the divorce action had a monthly income from property of her own amounting to $67 a month. The court, however, ordered Brotherton to pay $10 a month temporary alimony, $50 attorney's fees, and $25 suit money.

Drink Caused Downfall.

Drink caused the downfall of the Brotherton household, according to the stories told in papers filed by parties to the divorce action. Mrs. Brotherton admits that she has a weakness in her liking for liquor but she claims that her husband is responsible for it. Brotherton denies this and alleges that she was an habitual drunkard when she married him.

The Brothertons were married on Sept. 20, 1912, by a Presbyterian minister. According to the story of Mrs. Brotherton they were drinking together on their wedding day and were both intoxicated when the wedding vows were taken. This is also denied by Brotherton in his answer to the case.

Mrs. Brotherton has been married on two former occasions. William Donaldson, one of her former husbands, was a saloon keeper and it was while that she was living with him that she acquired her taste for liquor. She claims, however, that she never drank to excess while the wife of Donaldson.

Brotherton, the defendant in the divorce action, has also been married before, his first wife having died.

Husband Tempted Her.

Ever since their wedding day, Mrs. Brotherton claims, Brotherton has sought to undermine her character. She claims that although he was fully aware of her weakness and her desire for liquor, he tempted her continuously and that he often drank with her until both were intoxicated.

Brotherton is of the Catholic faith and his wife is a Protestant. About two months after their wedding, she claims, he ordered her to leave the house, stating that he was "living in sin" with her.

Mrs. Brotherton alleges that she left and pursuant to his directions went to the House of the Good Shepherd, a correctional institution at St. Paul.

Twenty-four hours later, she claims, he turned up at St. Paul and besought her to return to their home at West Duluth. She returned.

Upon her return, she alleges that she was sick for several days and that as soon as she was able to be on her feet again, her husband's conscience again bothered him and that following his orders, she left again. This time she went to her mother's home.

A month later found her back in her own home, Brotherton having again asked her to return, she says. It did not last long, however, and according to her story, when her husband's conscience again pricked him she was obliged to again leave. This time she went to Stillwater to seek employment, she says.

On July 4, 1913, she claims that they celebrated Independence Day by getting drunk at the St. Louis hotel, after which she claims that they took rooms for the night at the Clifton hotel, which she claims was at that time reputed to be a house of ill-fame.

On Aug. 21, 1913, she alleges that for the purpose of humiliating and disgracing her he caused her arrest on the grounds of drunkenness. She spent the night in jail after the officers had taken her from her own bedroom. The next day in court she pleaded guilty to the charge and was paroled under her sister, Mrs. Jesse Butchart.

Mrs. Butchart placed her in the House of the Good Shepherd at Milwaukee, where she remained until Feb. 23 last.

"TWO YEARS AT OXFORD" FAIL TO KEEP HIM OUT OF REFORMATORY

An appeal replete with high-sounding phrases and a conglomerate jumble of words written by James Arthur Williams, alias Dr. James W. McDonald, Jr., to Judge Dancer, availed Williams nothing in the way of leniency when Williams came before the court for sentence yesterday afternoon.

Williams, arrested and indicted under the name of McDonald, on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree, had previously pleaded guilty to the offense. Judge Dancer, after listening to a rather unbelievable story of the man's career, sentenced him to the St. Cloud reformatory on the indeterminate plan. He will serve from one to five years.

Williams was arrested on Jan. 20 last on a charge of having secured a $120 diamond from the Henricksen Jewelry company of this city on a worthless check. At the time of his arrest he was said to have been wanted in Minneapolis for similar offenses.

Williams, it developed at the hearing yesterday, had served time in various penitentiaries since 1908. He declared that he was 24 years old and that he was highly educated, having had two years' training at Oxford university and one in Fisk university in this country. He said that he had passed the check at the jewelry store because he was sadly in need of coin, and that if the judge would let him off, he would never, never, do it again.

The judge, however, told the prisoner that he would have to convince the prison authorities of St. Cloud that he intended to start life anew along honest lines if he expected to get out of St. Cloud without serving the maximum sentence.

RIFLE RANGE NO MENACE

Commissioner Hicken Inspects Place Complained of—Finds No Fault.

After viewing the rifle range at Warner avenue and West Tenth street yesterday afternoon Commissioner William A. Hicken, head of the safety division, said that he could not see any objection to it.

Accompanied by Joseph Randall, chief of the fire department, Col. F. E. Resche of the Minnesota National Guard, and several members of the Fifth Ward Hillside Improvement club, the safety commissioner walked over the ground. At a recent meeting the Fifth Ward club passed a resolution declaring that the maintenance of the rifle range constituted a nuisance and asked that it be abated. The resolution stated that the range was a rendezvous for gun toters and that they broke the Sunday quiet. While on the range the club members still asserted that further use of the grounds as a rifle range should be prohibited.

Commissioner Hicken, to whom the club's resolution was referred for investigation and report, said that he could not understand why the rifle range was objectionable. He asserted that the bank back of the target affords ample protection and that it is both high enough and wide enough to stop all bullets. He added that the only danger could be from shots fired by careless or irresponsible persons and that he felt certain that the members of the militia could not be put in that class. In addition to that he said that the property about the range is not settled.

Before leaving for Bessemer, Mich., yesterday Mayor Prince said that he had gone over the ground in company with several other members of the commission and that he did not think a reasonable objection could be raised against the continuance of the rifle range.

Commissioner Hicken will report the results of his investigation to the council Monday afternoon and it is considered probable that the request of the objectors will be denied.

MANY MEN BECOME CAMELS OF WORLD

An unusually large number of men were made Camels of the World last night—but whether or not they agreed to go eight days without a drink is another matter.

The order of Camels was recently established in Duluth and now has almost 800 members. The banner initiation took place last night, when 158 men were trotted across the hot sands of the desert, the scene of the desert being laid in K. P. hall, 118 West Superior street. The temple has grown to such an extent that it is now considering a proposition of renting club rooms, and the large crowd of last evening, together with the prospect of still further large classes, seems to make it imperative that some provision better than it now has should be made.

It was the purpose of C. Herbal Morris, international organizer, who was here last night, to close the charter, but at the solicitation of the members, who promise several large classes yet, he left the charter open until April 17.

Owing to the fact that Governor Eberhart, who is a Camel, will come to Duluth to visit the local temple next Saturday, the regular meeting of next week has been put over from Friday to Saturday.

The governor will be escorted by 150 Minneapolis Camels. He will be met by local Camels with a band at the station, and a parade to a hotel will be formed, and after dinner the crowd will go to the temple. An elaborate program is being prepared for the occasion.

OBITUARY

James W. Munn, assistant general passenger and ticket agent of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, died suddenly in Chicago March 13 of heart disease. He had been with the road since 1879.

Henry C. Patterson, who installed the first electrical lighting plant in Berlin, Germany, and Milan, Italy, dropped dead at Decatur, Ill., March 13 of heart disease.

Rt. Rev. John Scarborough, D. D., Protestant Episcopal bishop of New Jersey, died at his home in Trenton, N. J., March 14. He was in his eighty-third year.

Judge C. M. Masters, aged 73, former county judge, leading lawyer, former supreme master of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and former grand master of Masons of Wisconsin, was found dead in his garage at Sparta, Wis., March 14. It is thought death was due to heart failure.

Dr. James J. Sheppard, one of New York state's leading educators and principal of the high school of commerce in that city since its organization in 1902, died at his home in Morsemoor, N. J., March 13. After being graduated from Harvard in 1894, Sheppard taught schools in Decatur, Ill., and Minnesota and Iowa.

HABEAS CORPUS IS TEST CASE

The habeas corpus proceedings in which Sheriff John R. Meining is directed to show cause why Henry Johnson, convicted in the municipal court for selling liquor over the bar at Charles Sholund's saloon after the latter's license had been revoked and sentenced to the county jail, should not be released from custody will be heard this afternoon in district court before Judge Cant.

The proceedings is in the nature of a test case. Johnson has at no time since his arrest been under detention at either the city or county jail. He has been out on bond or bail ever since his arrest and when the matter comes up this afternoon he will be in the custody of the sheriff in the court room.

The contention of McCoy & Hanson, attorneys for Johnson and Sholund, is that the conviction of Johnson is illegal, first because the Hicken ordinance is unconstitutional and second because the local authorities interfered in spite of the fact that a writ of certiorari from the supreme court was in effect at the time the arrest was made. On this point the attorneys for Sholund claim that the writ issued by the supreme court stayed proceedings and gave Sholund the right to operate his saloon until April 7, when the council's actions in revoking the Sholund license would be reviewed by the higher court.

The habeas corpus writ was returnable before Judge Cant this morning at 9:30 o'clock but the attention of the court was occupied with other matters during the entire morning session.

CUYUNA RANGE OUTPUT TO BE DOUBLED THIS SEASON

Established Mines Are Blocking Out New Fields of Ore.

Drills Busy in New Locations and Activity Seen Everywhere.

Brainerd, Minn., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.) — Mining men of the Cuyuna range are assured the production of the range will this season be twice or more than that of last year. On all sides one sees evidences of activity. Drills are being placed in new localities. Established mines are blocking out new fields of ore. Stockpiles are growing in size. Many of the mines are preparing their workings so as to be in shape to ship heavily from their shafts as soon as navigation opens.

The pioneer producer of the range is the Kennedy mine of the Rogers-Brown Ore company at Cuyuna. The Kennedy has in stockpile over 60,000 tons. It is provided with underground and surface electric haulage. Considerable heavy timbering was done during the winter and the mine put in shape for heavy shipments from the shaft this season. By some it is predicted the mine will ship 300,000 tons this year.

The Armour No. 2 mine of the same company north of Ironton and Crosby has now about 90,000 tons in stockpile. The Armour No. 2 has worked steadily all winter, and will ship from shaft and from stockpile this season. It is equipped with surface and underground electric haulage. Recently a contract was let to the Cuyuna Range Power company for current to run a 1,200-gallon electric pump.

At this date H. J. Kruse, superintendent of the Rogers-Brown Ore company, is not positively assured as to the Armour No. 1 being mined. It had previously been reported at various times that the mine, now silent, might be worked this season and shipments made from the shaft when navigation opened.

Other North Range Mines.

The Jamison & Peacock lands north of Crosby, have been explored by drills of Cole & McDonald and give every assurance of the location of another north range mine. The same pleasant anticipation holds good with the property of Chisholm, Williams and Magoffin near by, also definitely explored. The Meacham near by may also be worked.

The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine near Iron Mountain and the Cuyuna-Duluth at Ironton are stockpiling and getting out a lot of high grade ore. The Adams mine of Cuyler Adams and associates at Oreland in stockpiling and penetrating the rich ore body. Little water, only about 150 gallons, is being pumped. The Iron Mountain mine near Manganese, which has its shaft down and the ore body blocked out, is in readiness to ship extensively this season. Test shipments of ore were made to the furnaces and highly satisfactory results achieved.

The Barrows mine at Barrows is hoisting daily with large crews and the stockpile is growing. In 1913 the mine easily shipped 10,000 tons, its allotted quota, in the last two weeks shortly before navigation closed. Its shipments this year will greatly exceed 1913.

The Pennington pit mine west of Ironton and the Inland Steel company's Thompson pit mine north of Crosby each have a shovel and crews at work getting in readiness for the opening of the shipping season. The Pennington last year shipped over 100,000 tons and will certainly duplicate the performance this season. The Thompson mine was converted from an underground proposition to a pit mine. Some new boilers are expected this week at the Pennington.

At the Rowe Mine.

At the Rowe pit mine of the Pittsburg Steel Ore company at Riverton new electrical equipment is being installed. One shovel has worked all winter assisting to get the pit in shape for early shipping. Electrical power is used for the pumps, sandsuckers and hydraulic work as well as the machine shop and other points. New, variable high speed motors are being installed. The town of Riverton expects a large influx of population when the Rowe mine commences its heavy shipping.

At the Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company mine, six miles east of Brainerd, the new town of Woodrow, named after President Woodrow Wilson, is rearing its head. The mine has been christened the "Wilcox," in honor of a steel man of Eastern Canada. Superintendents of the mine are figuring on the installation of electric power to run their hoists, pumps, engines, air compressor, etc. Electrical power may be bought from the Cuyuna Range Power company and the mine may install a small steam auxiliary as a reserve. Ray Seelye, in speaking of the mine which has started its three-compartment timber shaft, said no records would be broken in sinking. Good work was to be done and all possible contingencies provided for, but no undue haste was to be made.

Brainerd-Cuyuna.

The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in the city limits of Brainerd has started work on its second shaft, the first having not been unwatered to date. Heavy pumps are on the ground ready for installation in the second shaft when needed. The sinking of the second shaft will serve to unwater the first. To penetrate the quicksand area Capt. John Martin has bought a lot of 40-foot steel piling which will be driven at 60-foot depth, the point where trouble was encountered in the first shaft. The second shaft is now down 13 feet. J. R. Harrington of Hibbing is expected to soon commence drilling on the Holland lands he optioned from the city.

Test pitting is reported to be in progress on the Longyear property near Cuyuna. Increased tonnage from the north range and the pit mines will cause the Soo to double track its line from Riverton to Iron Hub. The Northern Pacific will soon build its extension running from the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine to the Duluth-Brainerd mine where shaft sinking and development work is in progress. By June 1 the Northern Pacific will have commenced work on a spur from Loerch to the Wilcox mine a mile south from the main line.

Drilling Is Active.

B. B. Gaylord of Crosby has two drills at work, one near Fort Ripley and one operating in section 26, township 47, range 29. Lands owned by Dr. R. J. Sewall of Crosby and associates and situated in the east half of the northwest quarter, the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 13, township 47, range 28, may soon be drilled. The Hale-Bradley Exploration company has put a drill three miles south of Brainerd on what is known as the Stillings place owned by Mrs. Fred D. Stillings and the Caseys. The Longyear Exploration company is drilling at the county poor farm property, one drill being in the surface.

The company of which P. W. Donovan is the superintendent has a drill in section 13, township 45, range 30, beyond the Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company's property and one in section 7, township 45, range 29.

The Vermes-Cuyuna Mining & Development company has established an office in Duluth in conjunction with its Brainerd office. The company drilled for a year in lots 1, 2, and 3 in sections 8, township 46, range 29 and, it is claimed, proved up a large body of ore, a vein 750 feet wide being found at a depth of 35 feet. The drilling has consisted, it is said, of twenty-one holes with an average depth of about 100 feet.

Changes in Interests.

Harry H. Hill and associates have sold to Lewis E. Hayden for $3,040 the southwest quarter of section 15, township 138, range 29. The Immigrant Land company has given to the Cuyuna Northern Railway company subsidiary of the Northern Pacific, an easement deed to a strip 100 feet in width across the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 33, township 47, range. The J. J. Howe Lumber company has quit-claimed to G. G. Weaver and J. H. Murphy of Brainerd part of government lot 3, of section 25, township 45, range 31 extending along the Mississippi river on unplatted land within the Brainerd city limits. Jacob Held has sold to Anna Held, an undivided nine-tenths interest in the north half of the southeast quarter of section 8, township, 138, range 25. Charles B. Aske has sold to the Hill Cuyuna Mining company the southwest quarter of the northwest quarter and the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 36, township 44, range 32. M. B. Cullum of Duluth has sold to the same company lots 1 and 2 in section 15, township 47, range 29. Anna Held and husband have sold to Bernard F. Lamersen an undivided eight-tenths interest in the north half of the southeast quarter, and the north half of the southwest quarter of section 8, township 138, range 25, for $2,000.

Robert B. Whiteside of Duluth has made a transfer of a large number of holdings to the Cleveland Mineral Land company situated in 1-138-26, sections 2, 10, 11, 3, 9, 12, 14, and 15, township 138, range 26; in parts of sections 3, 4, 7, and 9 of township 138, range 27. To the Cleveland Ore Land company he conveyed also a lot of lands partly in sections 14, 15, 23, 24, 26, 35, 18, 19, 20, 29, 30, 31 and 32 of township 138, range 26 and in parts of sections 5, 7, 8 and 10 in township 137, range 26.

IN THE CRYSTAL FALLS DISTRICT

Cleveland Cliffs May Sink Exploratory Shaft in Section 12.

There is much interest in the Crystal Falls district of the Menominee range as to the intentions of the Cleveland Cliffs company with reference to its property in section 12, 42-33, south of the Dunn mine, the exploration of which was undertaken following the discovery by the Longyear interests of the great deposits in section 13, adjoining at the south. Diamond drills have found ore in section 12, but as yet no shaft-sinking has been started. It is expected that at least an exploratory shaft will be put down this year. The deposit apparently is one of much value.

What plan of mining will be adopted at the Longyear interests' big Judson property in section 13 has not been determined. Only drifting on the initial level, down 300 feet, has yet been done, the ore lying 145 feet from the shaft. The shaft soon will be put down to another level and the deposit further explored. Several thousand tons of ore mined during the progress of the drifting is in stock. The property has been excellently equipped with buildings and machinery and will join the shipping ranks this season.

Another new Crystal Falls producer this year will be the Carpenter property of M. A. Hanna & Co. of Cleveland. The shaft has been sunk to a depth of 300 feet. The ore body is 500 feet distant. The iron-bearing formation has now been entered into by a drift and with the deposit actually opened the permanent shafthouse will be erected and the Carpenter made ready to ship.

Plans for the erection of permanent buildings at its property in the Cascade district of the Marquette range are being made by the Cascade Mining company. The group will include an engine house, a shop building, a miners' change house, an office and a boiler house, the latter already practically being completed. Good headway is being made with the work of sinking the shaft. Three crews are employed on eight-hour shifts. The shaft has attained a depth of 700 feet. The ore body, the existence of which was determined by diamond drilling, is 1,200 feet beneath the surface. A steel headframe will be erected during the summer as will additional dwelling houses.

BULLWHACKER IS DOWN FOR A WEEK

Merely for the Purpose of Installing a Kelly Filter.

Butte, Mont., March 14.—The Bullwhacker has been closed down for a week to enable the management to make some needed changes. The principal one will be the installation of a new Kelly filter that will keep the solution used in the electrolytic process from becoming muddy.

During February the new plant was in operation most of the time and the results were very satisfactory. The report that the Bullwhacker had closed down was used to depress the stock on the market until the explanation of the shutdown was given out by the management.

BUTTE & ZENITH CITY UNWATERED

Expect Further Development to Open Up Good Ore Bodies.

Butte, Mont., March 14.—The work of unwatering the shaft of the Butte & Zenith City mine, near Nissler, has been completed and development work will now go forward rapidly. The station on the 500-foot level has been cleaned up and put into shape and crosscutting on the level has been resumed.

The shaft was sunk last year a depth of 480 feet and a crosscut was run about 200 feet to the north at that time when the big flow of water was encountered. This resulted in suspending further development work there until machinery and pumps that could care for the water could be secured.

There are some very promising indications at the mine and it is the belief of Supt. Newton that with the further development some good ore bodies will be opened up.

CORBIN COPPER COMPANY PAYING FOR ITS CLAIMS

When Property Is Paid for, Will Raise Development Fund.

Claimed Work on Radersburg Road Will Start This Spring.

Butte, Mont., March 14.—The Corbin Copper company is paying for the Gambrinus and other mining claims it purchased last year in the western section of the city, but at the present time it has not any money for the purpose of developing the property. A payment on the claims was made a week ago, and there yet remains some $40,000 to be paid on or about April 1. It is stated that this money is already assured through an arrangement made by President R. M. Edwards of Houghton, Mich., with Eastern financiers. Upwards of two weeks ago the work of sinking the shaft on the Gambrinus claim was stopped through lack of funds, and as the electric power and water is shut off it does not appear as if any start would be made in resuming work for some time. The shaft is down in the Gambrinus about 300 feet and old time miners declare that while there was no question but that the Gagnon vein ran through the ground it would not be found before a depth of anywhere from 1,500 to 2,000 feet had been gone. Eastern advices are to the effect that the directors have determined first to pay for the property and afterwards negotiate for funds with which to carry on operations. It is stated that a large number of the stockholders are behind in the last assessment ordered, and unless this money is forthcoming within a short time the stock will be sold. With this money and additional money it is proposed to raise on the property, the shaft sinking work can be resumed. In this city there are a number of bills outstanding for labor, electric power and general supplies.

Butte-Ballaklava.

Development work on the 1,600-foot level of the Butte-Ballaklava property is prosecuted with vigor. Crosscutting for the big vein was commenced a short time ago with an estimated distance of 160 feet to go. Manager Newton figures that he will cut the vein somewhere about the close of the present month.

Iron Mountain Tunnel.

The hearing in the Federal court for the application of a receiver for the Iron Mountain Tunnel company is to come up on March 16. Lawrence A. Ramage of New York, who is at the property in the capacity of trustee for the New York bondholders, is getting matters straightened out as fast as possible and he says that he will be able to show that the assets of the company are but $150,000 whereas the judgment asked is for $648,000. He says that the security covered by the deed of trust is altogether insufficient to meet the obligations and that the assets are not enough to pay the bonded and general indebtedness. The conditions of the deed of trust have been ignored and labor liens are unpaid, while the interest on the bonds has not been paid since February, 1913. It is alleged by Mr. Ramage that those in charge even neglected to keep the property insured, and that real estate was sold and the money derived therefrom was not applied to pay off any of the inudebtedness. Mr. Ramage says that after he has secured the appointment of a receiver he will endeavor to make arrangements for the operation of the property. Some mining engineers who examined the mine and mill a short time ago report that the prospects for making the property a profitable producer are excellent. The mill is well equipped with modern machinery and electric power has been installed by means of a pole line.

Road to Be Built.

The mine owners in the Radersburg district have received information from New York to the effect that George Haldern has received positive assurances of the money being forthcoming for the railroad, and that the work of completing the road would be commenced not later than May 1. As all the grading has been done with a big force of men it is believed that the road can be completed and in operation by fall.

Tuolumne.

The management of the Tuolumne company says that there is now no question but that the vein cut a couple of weeks ago on the 2,400-foot level is the Jessie. At first it was estimated that there was about one foot of ore and it now turns out that there are eighteen inches, running 23 per cent copper on the average, with 12 ounces of silver to the ton. Drifting has commenced and the ground is shown to be well mineralized, the showing being much better than that on the 2,200-foot level. The management is satisfied that the drifting will result in encountering a rich body of ore.

Davis-Daly.

The development work in the Belmont mine of the Anaconda company, where some very rich ore bodies have been opened up, gives encouragement to the Davis-Daly company that the cross-cutting now going on will result in the opening up of the western extension of the Belmont in Davis-Daly ground. The work of running this crosscut is expected to be completed to the Belmont line in the course of a few weeks. The Davis-Daly company is shipping around 200 tons a day just now and it is said that the net profits for February ran around $10,000. There is every indication that the shipments in the near future will be increased to 300 tons a day.

To Develop Property.

The announcement of James Breen of Spokane that he has $1,000,000 capital back of him to develop a property just outside of Helena which has been idle for several years, has attracted a great amount of attention. Mr. Breen has organized a company and he says that in the next few months he will spend $150,000 in development work and the erection of a mill. If by fall it is found that the property is valuable enough development work will be started on a large scale.

Barnes-King.

The old directors and officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Barnes-King company a few days ago. The stockholders and officers made an inspection of the North Moccasin mine and the mill and expressed themselves as very much pleased with everything about the property. Since the last meeting the mill has been greatly improved by the addition of some new machinery, which practically doubled the capacity of the plant.

TUOLUMNE IS HARMONIOUS

Its Annual Meeting Ends Peaceably After Spirited Verbal Combat.

Hickey Again in Control and Also Heads Pilot-Butte.

Butte, Mont., March 14.—The annual meeting of the Tuolumne Mining company, held in Butte yesterday, was like the proverbial month of March—it came in like a lion and went out like a lamb.

The afternoon session was marked with bitterness and strife, with vehement personalities indulged in. Shortly after 3 o'clock a recess was taken to permit the committee on proxies to check up the list. It was during this recess that a committee on harmony got busy and brought about the happy ending to the eventful meeting. A compromise was reached by which Daniel Shields and Richard Ferns, a close friend of Shields, were placed as two of the seven directors on the board. The others agreed upon were Edward Hickey, Charles R. Leonard, J. W. Pratt, T. E. Murray and N. J. Bielenberg.

This leaves the friends of Mr. Hickey in control.

The new directors met immediately after the adjournment of the stockholders and elected Mr. Hickey president, N. J. Bielenberg first vice president, J. W. Pratt second vice president, J. J. Harrington secretary, and Lyman Roscoe treasurer.

At the meeting of the directors, Mr. Shields seconded the nomination of Mr. Hickey for president to show that the hatchet had been buried.

Glowing Report.

Supt. John L. Neenan of Tuolumne made a verbal report in which he set forth facts more favorable than those contained in the official written report. Arthur Cooley, the company's engineer, also made a favorable report on the mine's condition. It was brought out that assays of the vein on the 2,400-foot level, which is now two and one-half feet wide, ran as high as 20 per cent copper and thirty-five ounces in silver. This is a big improvement over the first developments on that level and leads to the opinion that Tuolumne may get better with depth.

Mr. Hickey remarked to some of the directors at the close of the meeting that with harmony in the ranks, Tuolumne will yet make a good mine.

The report of President Edward Hickey was submitted at the afternoon meeting. The production of the mine from Jan. 1, 1913, to Dec. 31, was 34,276.5 tons of dry ores and the recoveries of the smelter after the deduction of the usual percentages were 1,880,514 pounds of copper, 77,571.76 ounces of silver and 140.0 ounces of gold. The average copper contents of the ores for the year were 3.84 per cent copper, 3.2 fine ounces silver and .0058 gold. The value of the ores treated, after deducting freight charges and smelting, was $200,217.77. The production during 1913 was about 13,000 tons below that of 1912. Mr. Hickey says:

President's Statement.

"The appearance of the vein on the 2,400-foot level strengthens our belief that with depth the vein is developing permanency and greater values. With a very good showing on this level, to abandon further sinking on this vein would be throwing away a most favorable prospect. The decrease in high-grade ore in the intermediate levels has been disappointing, but the prospect of regaining them we regard to be favorable.

"At no point below the 1,400 level has the vein shown as favorable indications as on the 2,400-foot level. The vein as shown on the crosscut and in the drifting discloses 18 inches of ore on the hanging wall, which assayed 13 per cent copper and 13 ounces silver."

The sentiment was unanimous in favor of the plan of sinking the Tuolumne shaft to the 2,800 level. The opinion was expressed that the money needed to do this additional development work could be realized from the profits of the mine. There is on hand in the treasury about $22,000, it was stated, and this, with a little more, will be all that is required to meet the expense for this work.

Pilot-Butte Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Pilot-Butte company was held at the company's offices in the State Savings bank building Monday morning. The annual report of Supt. Paul A. Gow was voted to be a very satisfactory one. The following directors were elected: Edward Mickey, W. J. Pratt, Charles R. Leonard and John J. Hatton of this city, W. P. Jahn of Milwaukee, Patrick Sheehan of Seattle, N. J. Bielenberg of Deer Lodge, T. E. Murray of St. Paul, and George A. Musser of Milwaukee. The directors afterwards elected the following officers: Edward Hickey, president; W. J. Pratt, second vice president and treasurer; Jerry J. Harrington, secretary.

The report of Supt. Gow showed that the shaft had been sunk 361 feet during the past year ending Dec. 31, and that during the past two months 113 feet had been sunk, bringing the shaft at the present time down to a depth of 2,083 feet. From the 2,200-foot level only the two hoisting compartments are being sunk. This will afford ample facilities for the exploration of the 2,400-foot level when reached, and the third compartment may be raised out later when required.

After detailing the development work done on the various levels, Mr. Gow says that on the 1,800-foot level the middle vein was developed to the southeast of the shaft for a distance of 216 feet.

Average Assays.

Eleven samples taken from the back of this drift over a distance of 180 feet show an average assay of 7 ounces of silver, 1.3 per cent copper and 18 per cent zinc, with an average width of 3.4 feet. In this drift a fault was encountered. Immediately south of the fault the drift was found to be in ore averaging about two feet in width and assaying about 6 per cent copper and 17 ounces in silver. On the 2,000-foot level lies the middle vein, about 27 feet northeast of the shaft, and has been drifted on for a distance of 299 feet to the southeast of the main crosscut and 140 feet to the northwest of the main crosscut. The face of the east drift shows the vein to be about 9 feet in width, carrying 2½ feet of ore, assaying 4.1 per cent copper and 3.5 ounces of silver. In the west drift a sample taken assayed 4.7 per cent copper and 7.1 ounces of silver for a width of three feet. An average of five samples taken over a distance of 35 feet shows 5.4 ounces of silver, 1.7 per cent copper and 10.6 per cent zinc for an average width of five feet.

It is expected that the middle vein on the 2,200-foot level will be cut within a few days. On March 15 shaft sinking will be resumed and continued to a depth of 2,400 feet. It is estimated that the middle vein on the 2,400-foot level will be reached by June 10. After the completion of this work it is hoped to commence regular shipments.

MAKE SAVING OF MILLIONS

Calumet & Hecla to Apply Leaching Process to Waste Sands.

One of Most Important Advances in Recovery of Copper.

Houghton, Mich., March 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Calumet & Hecla will soon begin to erect a plant for the leaching of the copper remaining in the waste sand after it has passed through the regrinding mills, by a process never used before in the Copper country. This is one of the most important advances so far made here in the recovery, or mill metallurgy, of copper. It means millions to the Calumet & Hecla and the Tamarack. The last great step was the regrinding by means of Chilean and Hardinge mills with the aid of Wilfley tables, resulting in the recovery of five pounds more than by the old methods at a cost of less than 5 cents a pound. The first regrinding plant had thirty-eight Chilean mills, one cylindrical tube and one Hardinge conical tube mill, and in the five years of its use has averaged in earnings $175,000 with a capacity of 1,500 tons daily. This has been employed wholly on the sands of the conglomerate. The second, which will be completed this spring, will be able to treat 3,000 tons a day and will regrind the sands lying along the shore and extending far out into Torch Lake. Its equipment will be sixty-four Hardinge mills which have the preference here, as they require so few repairs, and Wilfley tables. About 3,000 tons of the sands that will daily pass through this plant will be the very fine portion, or "slimes" as the mill men term them, that will go directly to the tables. Strange as it may seem, the greater recovery is yet to be made. The sands as they lie on the lake front are said to average very close to 15 pounds a ton, some of that deposited early running to nearly double that quantity. The new leaching process is the result of experiments at the company's laboratory and the company owns the rights to its use. No information concerning the process has yet been given out by the management. It is learned from the best authority that it has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that the new process will retrieve the astounding amount of seven to eight and one-half pounds, making a total of twelve to thirteen pounds, or 75 to 90 per cent, which will be recovered from what was regarded for many year as hopeless waste. The new plant will be located immediately north of the mills, and it is known that considerable land has been bought by the company for the purpose. It is said that its capacity will be about 4,000 tons.

La Salle.

La Salle's best promise seems to be at the bottom of No. 2 shaft, where on the fifteenth and sixteenth levels the ore is of good grade. No copper of commercial grade with any extent was found until the twelfth level was reached. About three-quarters of No. 1's territory has been opened up with a fair showing of minable ground. The copper is disclosed in rather a deceptive form. It is of the small-barrel size, surrounded by much calcite or spar, and appears heavier when taken out of the mine than when concentrated. So far the metal of this mine would seem to be of rather a low grade in no great quantity. However, there has been but little stoping at No. 1, and as there has been so much ground opened, the rock can be taken out at a low expense. This shaft runs to an angle of 60 below the twenty-fourth level, and as the shaft is now bottomed at the twentieth, it is doubtful if it will be carried any lower. No. 2 can be extended to about the thirty-fifth level. There is room for two shafts between No. 1 and No. 4 with great depth, so that if any good values are found to extend to the south of the former, there is ground enough for a good-sized mine. It is probable that at some future date the Osceola lode will be opened up again on this property, as the lower levels of old Osceola along the boundary are in excellent ground. No. 1 is producing about all the rock possible now, 150 to 175 tons daily. No. 2 is only working day shift, but the night shift will be resumed very shortly. The mine is well financed, $202,000 on hand June 30, 1913.

New Arcadian.

New Arcadian is finding the exceptional quality of copper disclosed in the crosscut to continue as the drifts are being driven. The northeastern drift will prove up the ground adjacent to the New Baltic, and trenching will be done on that property as soon as the snow goes, and probably exploration by shaft will be undertaken. The night shift will be started next week at the New Arcadian. The new hoisting engine will be installed about the first of next month, and the shaft will be sunk so as to test the lode at lower levels.

Quincy.

Quincy is now about up to normal in its working force. A few more miners can be taken on at No. 8. A carload of miners came in last Saturday from the iron mines of Western New York. About as much new work is being done as before the strike and No. 8 shaft is being sunk from the fifty-seventh to the fifty-eighth level. Sinking will be very soon begun again at No. 6 from the sixty-ninth to the seventieth levels and at No. 2 from the seventy-second to the seventy-third.

Mohawk.

Mohawk received about seventy-five miners this week from outside, making the number of men employed at the mine, exclusive of the mill, 340 as against a normal of 800. It will be remembered that this county, Keweenaw, was in the hands of the strikers for a long period. Consequently it is taking quite a time for the intense feeling to die away. Night shift has been resumed at the shafts that are working Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5. No mining operations have as yet been started at No. 6.

Franklin.

Franklin has commenced drifting on the Allouez conglomerate where it was recently opened on the thirty-second level. The crosscut has been carried fifty-three feet beyond the lode and as soon as the drifts have been driven seventy-five feet each way, it will be again extended. The drainage of the mine has been done up to the present time by the means of—ballers or large tanks that take the place of the skips which carry the rock. The pumps could not be started working until this week so that the skips could not replace the ballers. The three assays from the sample that the writer saw blasted off last week and which the men thought would run higher than the two previously made ran 35.2 pounds a ton in comparison with 31.3 and 32 pounds. Men enough for the work are easily obtained as there are many who are working at other mines and are glad to return. President Edwards inspected the new lode Tuesday afternoon, having arrived that morning from Boston.

Victoria.

Victoria has entered the good shoot for the distance of about forty feet and Supt. Hooper states that it will compare with any stretch of similar length on any amygdaloid in the district. This looks very good for the mine as the twenty-second and the twenty-third levels, particularly the latter, have been in this good shoot for a long time. If the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth, where the loading station is now being cut, average up to the mineralization encountered on the twenty-second and twenty-third, a new shaft will be sunk on this shoot about 1,200 feet east of the No. 2 shaft. Work has been started again at No. 4 shaft, 3,455 feet east of No. 2. Operations were discontinued here about a year ago. At that time drifting had been begun towards No. 2, but a stretch of broken ground was met with just after leaving the shaft, where the copper was of good grade, and the lode was lost for some time, but was found again and the drift was driven about a month or so when the shaft was closed down. A study of the geology reveals the fact that in a short distance the zone of the disturbed formations will be passed through.

South Lake.

South Lake began bailing out the shaft, as since the granting of the injunction order has been restored. As there are no openings to speak of the shaft will be ready in a short time.

Winona.

Winona's annual report will show that there has been considerable of a gain in the recovery of the metal through the use of the Hardinge conical tube mills.

JACKLING DRAWS $500,000 A YEAR

Receives as High as $250,000 for Experting One Mine.

D. C. Jackling, the Utah mining engineer, recently made his income tax report in Salt Lake. It seems that he has an annual income of $500,000 a year. Recently he received $250,000 as one fee for examining a single property. This is very interesting "dope" for engineers, and the Salt Lake Tribune says of it:

"Among the late reports to reach the office was that of D. C. Jackling, operating head of the Utah Copper company and several other low grade copper mines, who is one of the largest income tax payers in this district. The reports of taxpayers are treated as confidential by the government and no figures are given out.

"However, it is understood that Mr. Jackling will pay the income tax on more than half a million dollars. His salary and income from companies in which he is interested will aggregate approximately $400,000. In addition to this Mr. Jackling receives large fees when engaged in the capacity of examination expert. His fee for a week's examination of gold properties in Alaska recently is said to have been $250,000. It is also said that he received a similar fee for his examination of the petroleum fields in California, which required ten days' time. However, these fees in some instances are exempt, because he accepts stock in corporations for which he conducts examinations for his services. It is estimated that his total income, including salary, revenue and expert fees is nearly a million dollars a year.

"Mr. Jackling is the operating head of the Utah Copper company, the Ray Consolidated, the Chino Copper company, the Nevada Consolidated, the Butte & Superior, and the Alaska Gold Mines company. He is also the operating head of the following railroads: The Ray & Gila Valley, the Nevada-Northern and the Bingham & Garfield. In addition to this he is president of the Utah Power & Light company and a director of the California Petroleum company."

LARGER OUTPUT BY CALUMET & ARIZONA

March Production to Increase as New Smelter Runs Better.

Douglas, Ariz., March 14.—The announcement that both smelters are to add largely to their ore reserves during the month; that the Calumet & Arizona will probably have a largely increased production for March as the new machinery gets into better working order and the men more familiarized with it, while the Copper Queen expects to continue the same general average maintained during February was the leading feature of the week in local circles.

It is particularly interesting to note the work of the Western district at this time as well as future indications which are of the best. More than 5,000 men are now on the pay rolls of the two big mining companies and more ore is being extracted as well as more ground explored than at any time in the history of the camp. Of immense importance, in its bearing on Douglas, as well as Bisbee, is the churn drill exploration of Sacramento hill. This mountain of iron, lime and low grade copper, has been prospected as deep as the creek level with churn drills, which are now driving to greater depth. It has been proved that the hill can be milled at a profit and then smelted. From it will be drawn the bulk of the supply for the Copper Queen's new concentrator. It is to be a steam shovel proposition, according to the general understanding, similar in its operation to the vast low grade workings of the Nevada Consolidated at Ely, Nev., and the Utah Copper company at Bingham. Local rumor at Bisbee confidently predicts that where the towering mountain of today stands, within a few years there will be an absolute "flat" if not depression.

NEW CRUSHER AT BUTTE-DULUTH

Enlarged Plant May Be Ready for Operation By April.

Butte, Mont., March 14.—Work is going steadily forward at the Butte-Duluth on the improvements there and the big 1,000-ton crusher is rapidly nearing completion. The building was finished some days ago and the machinery is now being installed. The new battery of leaching machines is also being rushed and will be in readiness for operation by the time the crusher is completed. Capt. Wolvin hopes to have the enlarged plant ready for operation by April 1 or soon afterward.

TO SINK SHAFT AT BUTTE & LONDON

Work Will Be Vigorously Prosecuted When Equipment Arrives.

Butte, Mont., March 14.—The next few months promise interesting developments at the Butte & London property. A double drum electric hoist of 425-horse power made by the Nordberg company has been installed and preparations are going forward rapidly for the installation of a 2,800-cubic feet compressor and a 200-gallon station pump capable of pumping that amount of water from the 1,100-foot level to the surface.

As soon as the necessary additional equipment arrives work will be vigorously prosecuted at the Butte & London shaft. The machinery ordered for this shaft will be sufficient to sink it to the depth of 2,500 feet and with additional pumps thoroughly prospect to that level if deemed advisable.

The Butte & London Copper Development company has conveyed to the Greensdale Exploration company 102.83 acres of the Greendale placer claim, and under the contract between the Butte & London and the Rainbow Development, the latter is to begin development work on this claim and takes its pay in stock of the Greendale Exploration company. There is now a shaft 1,130 feet deep on the claim. By sinking it 500 feet further and by crosscutting the property on the 1,600 level from the north boundary to the south boundary, the Rainbow company, under the contract, is to receive 51 per cent of the stock of the Greendale Exploration company.

BUSY BUILDING SEASON IS LOOKED FOR BY ARCHITECTS

New Construction Work Expected to Reach Big Proportions.

Many Small Homes and Business Blocks for Western Suburbs.

Permits issued by the building inspector during the present week made a creditable showing, the list numbering eleven, with the cost of improvements placed at $61,600. At the rate since Jan. 1 and taking into consideration the various large jobs in sight, new construction in Duluth this year promises to reach large proportions.

This week's permits were swelled in the taking out of one for $50,000 by the board of education for the new brick school now under erection on Eighth street, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues east, Jacobson Bros., the general contractors for the school, have started work on the foundation and will bring it to completion in time for the next fall term. The plans were prepared by Holstead & Sullivan, architects.

A permit for $5,000 was issued to H. Brown for a frame dwelling in Kenilworth park, and one for $2,800 was taken out by J. Lassard for a hollow tile dwelling on Onelda street, between Forty-third and Forty-Fourth avenues east.

Architects are now all actively engaged on plans for new commissions just taken in hand and it is expected that much of it will be ready to go out for figures within the next three weeks. In the meantime contractors are fairly well employed in pushing through work now under way. An unusually large number of men are being employed for this early in the season in the various branches of the trade.

A feature in building operations in the city this season promises to materialize in the erection of homes and business blocks at Gary, New Duluth and in West Duluth and the West end. Lumber dealers and supply houses are already being called upon to figure on many bills of materials for work to be started about the beginning of next month.

Holstead & Sullivan will have plans out for figures next Monday for a home to be built for C. E. Wallace at 2101 East Fourth street at an estimated cost of $8,000. It will be of brick and will be modeled after the colonial style of architecture.

* * *

A school to entail an estimated expenditure of $25,000 is to be built at Pine City, Minn., during the coming summer. According to the plans being prepared by Kelly & Williams, architects, it will be of brick, two stories and a basement, and will be modernly appointed in every respect. In the basement will be located a manual training department, a gymnasium and the furnace room. On the first floor will be the principal's room, three class rooms and a large assembly room. A domestic science department, including a kitchen, pantry and dining room will be placed on the floor above. The plans will be ready to go out for figures in two weeks.

* * *

The new school at Cromwell, Minn., of which Kelly & Williams were the architects, is nearing completion, and the roof is now being placed on the Pine City armory, for which the plans were also prepared by them.

* * *

Edward P. Shurick, architect, who recently opened offices at 1005 Torrey building, reported a number of residence plans already in hand.

He is preparing plans for a local real estate firm for three houses to be built at Lakeside. He has also in preparation plans for a frame residence for Z. Kohnekwitz at Hibbing to cost about $3,800.

* * *

The Lakeside Land company has let the general contract to Gustafson & Olson for a frame house to go up at Juniata street and Fifty-eighth avenue east. Stack Bros. are the contractors for the heating and plumbing. The plans were prepared by Arthur Hanford, architect.

The same architect has plans in hand for a frame dwelling for H. G. Duan to be built at Woodland avenue and Garden street, and to cost about $5,000.

* * *

The handsome new home of W. J. McCabe on Lewis street, Glen Avon, is nearing completion. The Hanford Construction company is the general contractor for it.

The following permits were issued during the week at the office of the building inspector:

To board of education, brick schoolhouse, East Eighth street, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues	$ 50,000
To A. Heast, frame dwelling, Ninety-fifth avenue west and Fillmore street	500
To E. Takala, frame dwelling, South road between Howard-Gnesen road and East road	450
To O. Erickson, addition, West Second street, between Park and Fir avenues	100
To J. Lassard, hollow tile dwelling, Onella street, between Forty-third and Forty-fourth avenues	2,800
To Zalk & Josepis, repair fire-damaged store, West Michigan street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues	1,000
To P. Bukavich, frame dwelling, New Duluth	500
To Clara E. Morrison, stone foundation, Lewis street, between Columbus and Abbotsford avenues	750
To P. Doughetty, alterations, East Third street, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth avenues	300
To H. Brown, frame dwelling, Kennilworth park	5,000
To C. Greeve, repairs, Ironton	200
Cost of improvements	$ 61,600
Number of permits, 11.

GOOD INQUIRY FOR PROPERTY FEATURES REALTY MARKET

Keystone Capitalists Inspect Lots in Steel Plant District.

International Realty Associates Close Deal for 36.02 Acres.

Business in real estate circles was featureless during the present week. Inquiry of an encouraging nature was reported by the various offices, but the number of transactions actually closed up was comparatively small.

Another party of capitalists from a Pennsylvania point were here at the beginning of the week looking over some properties in the steel plant district and as a result it is expected that a big sale of lots will be put through within a few days.

Negotiations for a large tract in West Duluth, to be utilized as a site for a proposed factory, are reported to be making progress. The principals have expressed themselves as gratified with the location offered and its owners are hopeful of closing a deal shortly.

The recent visit to Duluth of members of the International Realty associates' executive resulted in the closing of the proposition submitted by Duluth operators for the purchase of a block of 36.02 acres, extending from the corner of Victoria and Princeton avenues, as outlined in The Herald a week ago. Arrangements are now being made to start work on the building of roads and extensions of sewers and water mains through the tract as soon as the weather will permit, it being proposed to have it ready to offer on the market early in June. None of the lots will be platted in less than fifty-foot frontage and in view of its being a high-class residential district, reasonable building restrictions will be imposed.

A gratifying phase in the realty situation commented upon by operators this spring comes in the exceptionally good rental demand being met with for all classes of properties, both of houses and flats. No difficulty is being experienced by rental agents in finding tenants and it is the general story that there are fewer vacancies at present than in several years back.

The N. J. Upham company advised that the present week had been its busiest in some time. Included in the sales effected were two building lots in the West end, a house and lot on Piedmont avenue and a block of five lots in West Duluth for the Duluth, Winnipeg and Pacific railroad.

* * *

A. W. Kuehnow, president of the Gary Land company, reported sales of six lots in Gary First and Central divisions, all of them to outside investors.

* * *

The Alliance Real Estate company sold two lots in Ironton Fourth division. The buyers in each case promise to improve this spring.

* * *

The Whitney Wall company sold to Thomas Mullaney of Chisholm a tenacre tract in Hall & Linderberg's addition, at a consideration of $800.

* * *

Sales of four lots in the West end were advised by the Hoopes-Kohagen company. The buyers are planning to improve immediately in the building of homes. The office also effected sales of some lots in its Park Drive division, near Chester park.

* * *

Charles P. Craig & Co. sold for the Lakeside Land company to local parties two lots on Fifty-eighth avenue east, Lakeside, for immediate improvement. The office also received earnest money on the sale of a home at Lakeside. Two acres of cleared land, with a house, at Greysolon farms, were besides disposed of by the firm. Arrangements have been made to start work on the building of two four-room houses at Greysolon farms within the next ten days for two recent purchasers of market gardening tracts there.

* * *

Substantial inquiry for Lakeside property was noted by the Greenfield Realty company. A busy season is expected to be ushered in as soon as the snow clears off so as to enable the inspection of lots by prospective buyers.

* * *

W. M. Prindle & Co. sold building lots during the week in both Kenilworth and Crescent View parks. Considerable building is already being planned at each of these locations.

* * *

O. P. Stocke sold to Louise T. Hanson a house and lot on Fifth street near Twenty-third avenue west at a consideration of $3,600.

BUILDING MEN WILL MEET HERE

National Association of Owners and Managers Coming in July.

It is expected that about 400 building managers from all parts of the country will attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers which will be held in this city July 14 to July 17. Plans for the big midsummer convention are now being made by local real estate and building men.

Whitney Wall, who is a member of the executive committee of the national organization, declared yesterday that the object of the gathering is to secure greater co-operation in methods among building managers in the United States and Canada. "The occupation of building managers," said Mr. Wall, "is becoming a well recognized profession. An efficient building manager is able to almost double the rental value of an office building."

SUNNY FLORIDA

This five-room Bungalow makes an attractive home for a small family.

This Fine Home on a ten-acre farm of the best Orange Grove land for only $1500.00 on EASY TERMS

$300.00 cash and $12.00 per month without interest or taxes. Our land has RICH, MOIST SUBSOIL which does not require irrigation and is unlike most Florida land.

We Will Help to Start You in the poultry and fruit business, and will furnish half of the capital to purchase a farm, build a home and poultry houses and buy the poultry, supplies, etc., to a few strictly reliable, honest people who are not in position to undertake the work alone. We offer this because we are on the land raising poultry and are winter-farming, planting orange groves and know just what can be accomplished. We are making lumber for home-seekers only who wish to build their own homes, and will furnish them finished lumber delivered on their farms for about one-half the price charged in other places. We can do this as we have our own mill and are manufacturing lumber for our own use. We will sell you a farm, if you prefer, without any buildings, for a cash payment of only $1.00 per acre down and $1.00 per acre per month, and you can take immediate possession of your farm if you wish to do so. We have new potatoes grown from the seed in seventy days that will yield an income of twice the value of the land, on which they are now growing.

Did you ever see a "King" Orange?

They are seldom seen in the north. If you would like to see the kind of oranges you can grow on one of our farms we will send you a small sample box charges paid for $1.00. If you would like a large box of the assorted oranges and grape fruit, that you may have a better knowledge of the quality of the fruit that is grown here, we will ship you a box for $3.50, F. O B., Jupiter, Florida. If you would like any of the oranges or grape fruit kindly mail your orders to E. W. Philo, Jupiter, Florida. For full particulars about our Florida POULTRY, FRUIT AND VEGETABLE FARMS kindly address E. W. Philo, 8 Lake St., Elmira, New York.

FARM AND FRUIT LANDS.

WHY DON'T YOU LEARN MORE ABOUT SUNNYSIDE GARDENS and the great opportunities offered there for the profitable growing of small fruit, such as strawberries, raspberries, currants, etc.; also poultry raising and truck farming?

DO YOU KNOW

that strawberry growers in this district have made as high as $1,000 per acre? There is a reason for this. Why not inquire? And that these 10-acre suburban farms can be bought on monthly payments of $10 to $12.50 per month.

WOULDN'T IT SEEM TO YOU that the land at Sunnyside, which is located only four miles from the city limits of Superior, where the combined population of Duluth and Superior amounts to nearly 150,000 and growing rapidly, would have a great speculative value?

Sunnyside has two macadamized auto roads leading into Superior and Duluth, as well as three railroads and a dozen trains a day; also daily mail and telephone service. The land is level, free from rocks, easily cleared and a fine soil for intensive cultivation. It offers you every advantage possible even to the extent of living there and working in the city if you want to.

ASK US

for our descriptive matter telling what others are doing, and we will send it to you free of charge, together with maps, prices and other interesting information. Over 100 have already bought 10-acre farms here.

LEGAL NOTICES.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Fifteen Hundred Twenty-four ($1524.00) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Janet Lenore Costello and D. H. Costello, her husband, Mortgagors, to Harry C. Strong, Mortgagee, bearing date the 11th day of November, 1912, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of December, 1913, at 8:30 o'clock A. M., in Book 288 of Mortgages, on page 341, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz.:

The Easterly seventy-five (75) feet of fractional Block Sixteen(16), Longview Addition to Duluth; Lot Five (5) and Easterly one-half of Lot Six (6), and Easterly seventy-five (75) feet of Lot Four (4), Block Seventeen (17), East Lawn Division of Duluth, according to the plats thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of St. Louis, the premises conveyed hereby being that portion of said Block Sixteen (16), Longview Addition to Duluth, and of said lots in Block Seventeen (17), East Lawn Division of Duluth, that lie between the Westerly line of Twenty-fourth Avenue East and a line drawn parallel therewith and seventy-five (75) feet Westerly therefrom. Subject to the terms and conditions of that certain agreement duly recorded in the office of the said Register of Deeds in Book "S" of Miscellaneous at Page 238, in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditsments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County in the Sheriff's office in the Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County and State, on the 6th day of April, 1914, at 10 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of Fifteen Hundred Twenty-Four Dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Twenty-five ($25) Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated February 17, A. D. 1914.
